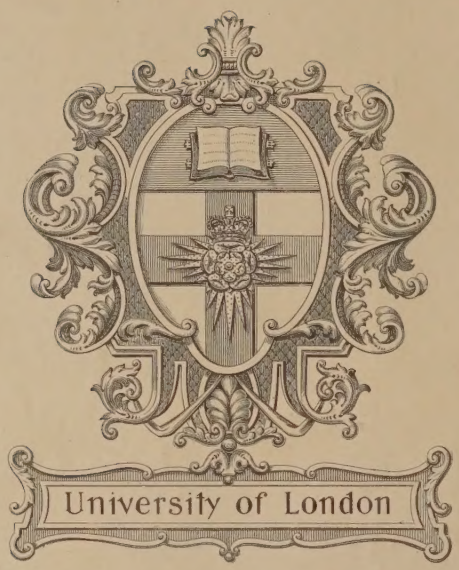
REFERENCE ONLY

Parliamentary papers

PARL. PAPERS
FOR REFERENCE ONLY.



REPORTS

FROM

COMMISSIONERS:

TWENTY VOLUMES.

—(4.—Part II.)—

KINGSTON-UPON-HULL BOROUGH.

Session

31 January —— 12 August 1854.

VOL. XXII.—Part II.

1854.

REPORTS FROM COMMISSIONERS:

1854.

TWENTY VOLUMES:—CONTENTS OF THE FOURTH VOLUME.—PART II.

N.B.—THE Figures at the beginning of the line, correspond with the N° at the foot of each Report; and the Figures at the end of the line, refer to the MS. Paging of the Volumes arranged for The House of Commons.

KINGSTON-UPON-HULL BOROUGH:

[1703-I.] MINUTES of EVIDENCE taken before the COMMISSIONERS appointed under Her Majesty's Royal Sign Manual, to inquire into the Existence of CORRUPT PRACTICES in the Borough of Kingston-upon-Hull:—PART II. - - - - - p. 1

I.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE COMMISSIONERS

Appointed under Her Majesty's Royal Sign Manual

TO INQUIRE INTO THE EXISTENCE OF CORRUPT PRACTICES

IN THE

BOROUGH OF KINGSTON-UPON-HULL.

PART II.

Continuation of Evidence (13*th July to* 16*th August, inclusive*).

Presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty.

LONDON:
PRINTED BY GEORGE EDWARD EYRE AND WILLIAM SPOTTISWOODE, PRINTERS TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.
FOR HER MAJESTY'S STATIONERY OFFICE.

1853.

[1703 II] [1703-I]

LIST OF WITNESSES TO PART II.

	Page.
Abbey, Richard	1117
Acrid, Robert	1907
Adams, George	1705
Adams, John (High Street)	1176
Adams, John, junior	1118
Aitkin, John	1475
Akit, John	1178
Allen, John	1133
Allison John	1480
Ansdell, James	1907
Anthony, William	1723
Armstrong, William	1119
Arnett, William	2122
Arnold, Charles	1119
Arnold, Joseph	1119
Arnold, Matthew	1120
Ash, Robert	1462
Askworth, Timothy	1497
Atkin, George Hall	2047
Atkin, James	1723
Atkin, John	1701
Atkinson, Henry	1753
Atkinson, John	1503
Attley, William	2011
Ayre, William	2012
Bailey, George	1533
Bailey, John, senior	1178. 1179
Bailey, John, junior	1179. 1180
Baines, The Right Hon. Matthew Talbot, M.P.	1869
Bamford, Mr. Charles, jun.	1512
Bannister, Mr. Anthony	1439
Barker, William	1908
Barkworth, Mr. Henry	1385
Barkworth, Mr. John Boulderson	1449
Barnard, James Hilton	2103
Barnett, Charles	2092
Barnett, Mark Ambler	1208
Barnham, Isaac	2114
Barron, William Stephenson	2007
Barton, John	2124
Basket, William Kirby	1620
Bates, William	1136
Batty, George	2111
Bearpark, Richard	1537
Beautyman, Edward	1535
Beautyman, Francis	1724
Beautyman, John	1725
Beautyman, Thomas William	1121
Beautyman, William	2078
Bell, Edward	1930
Bell, George	1725
Bell, George Parkinson	2104
Bell, John	1210
Bell, Mr. John Pearson	1360
Bell, Richard	1726
Best, Edward	2011
Best, George	1173
Biggins, John	2054
Binks, George	1123
Binks, George, junior	1124
Binks, John Dixon	1908
Binks, William, junior	1617
Birch, James	1727
Birkett, Henry Parnell	1727
Blackstone, William	1125
Blakey, Marshall Edmund	1915
Boanson, William Martin	1504
Booth, James	1728
Bower, Gabriel	1728
Bower, Richard	2018
Boyden, John (York Street)	1729
Boyden, John (Seaman's Almshouses)	1886
Boyd, William	1909
Boyle, Mr. Richard	1500
Bradley, George	1730
Briggs, Thomas	1180
Bright, Mr. Henry Smith	1641
Brocklebank, James (Collier Street)	1295
Brocklebank, James (Eastcheap)	1730
Brodrick, Mr. John	1290. 1458
Brough, Robert	1698
Brown, Archer	2112
Brown, Charles	1936
Brown, Daniel	1110
Brown, David	2113
Brown, George	2112
Brown, James, Esq.	2128
Brown, John (Francis Street)	1731
Brown, John (Prospect Street)	2037
Brown, Joseph	1910
Brown, Mr. Samuel	1984
Brown, Samuel	1137
Brown, Robert	1548
Brown, Thomas	1910
Brown, William (Beverley Road)	1731
Brown, William (Hedon)	2113
Bulmer, John	1933
Burn, David	1485
Burn, William	1478
Burnham, George Smith	1732
Burrill, William	2085
Burstall, Mr. William	1473
Burton, William	2056
Butler, John	2102
Butler, The Hon. Charles Lennox	1849. 1853
Bycraft, James	1915
Calvert, David	1910
Calvert, Thomas	2058
Campbell, George	1546
Cammell, William	2097
Campbell, John	2062
Carr, Alexander	2007
Carr, Henry	1829. 1831
Carlton, Thomas	1703
Carrick, Mr. Theophilus	1657
Carrick, William Baldwin	2068
Carter, John	1531
Carter, Stephen	1732
Casson, John	1147

	Page
Caswell, John	1935
Cattley, Mr. Richard	1364
Cattley, Richard Carter	2019
Champney, Thomas	2047
Chapman, Thomas	1491
Charlton, William	1209
Cheeseman, Charles	1125
Cheeseman, Samuel	1484
Cherry, Daniel	1478
Christie, James	1544
Clappison, Francis	1527
Clappison, Richard (Trippett)	2019
Clappison Richard (North Street)	2090
Clark, Daniel	1732
Clark, Edward	1733
Clark, Henry	1544
Clark, John	1911
Clark, William (Drypool)	1545
Clark, William Taylor	1733
Clark, William (Humber Dock Street)	2060
Clarkson, John	1759
Clay, James, Esq.	1807. 1814
Close, James	1543
Coates, John	1790
Coates, Thomas	1126
Colbeck, Mr. William Christopher	1528
Colley, George Henry	2083
Colley, John	1138
Colley, William	1181
Collins, Mr. Edward Francis	1412
Collison, James Beswick	2094
Collison, Mr. Robert	1674
Congers, Joseph	1127
Conkerton, Richard	2065
Conkerton, William	1734
Conyers, Charles	1542
Cook, Thomas	1181
Cooling, John	1734
Cooper, Benjamin	1543
Cooper, Dawson	1544
Cooper, William	1911
Cooper, Richard	2125
Corner, Robert	1735
Coulby, Benjamin	2061
Cousins, Robert	1127
Cousins, William Rea	2095
Coverdale, Charles	1735
Coverdale, William	1498
Crackles, Thomas	1128
Craven, Mr. George Popple	1465
Creighton, Henry	2086
Creighton, James	1884
Cribbs, John	1172. 1178
Crouch, George	1736
Croft, Thomas (Trinity Almshouses)	1511
Croft, Thomas (Witham)	1912
Croft, Mr. William	1896
Cumming, James	2056
Cutt, Mr. William	1699
Cuttle, David	1790
Cuttle, Richard	1737
Dale, John Henry	1128
Dalton, John (Drypool)	1538
Dalton, John (Wellington Street)	1738
Dalton, Thomas	1738
Dannatt, Philip	1534
Dannatt, Robert	2122
Darley, Timothy	2098
Davis, Edwin	1253. 1520
Davis, William	1490
Dawson, Joseph	2060
Dawson, William	1885
Day, William	1740
Dean, Thomas	1741
Dent, Joseph	1487
Dibb, Joseph	2056
Dick, Thomas	1916
Dickinson, John	1540
Digby, Mr. Thomas	1662
Dixon, John	1460
Dixon, Joseph	1742
Donaldson, Williamson	1743
Doran, John	1743
Drabwell, Thomas	1129
Drant, Joseph Henry	1540
Dring, Robert	1884
Drury, Joseph	1743
Drust, Thomas	1744
Duncan, John Richardson	1672. 1677
Duncan, Samuel	1962
Dunn, John	1744
Dunwell, Thomas	1539
Dunwell, William	1594
Eaby, Charles	1942
Ellerman, John Herman	2016
Ellis, John	1714
Ellison, Holgate	1130
Elwood, Daniel	1131
Eratt, James	1883
Ethrington, Oswald	1745
Ethrington, William (Union Street)	1541
Ethrington, William (Finkle Street)	1746
Everingham, William	1747
Fairclough, William	1483
Farrah, John	1505
Farrah, Joseph Robinson	1507
Farrah, Robert	1507
Farrall, Nathan	1182
Farthing, Mr. William	1467
Faulkner, Jeremiah	1748
Featherstone, Robert	1747
Feetam, John	1943
Fenwick, Robert	1591
Fenwick, Thomas (Roper Street)	1570
Fenwick, Thomas (Paradise Place)	1912
Fewlass, Robert	1748
Fillingham, Joseph	1571
Finley, John	1913
Finley, William	1571
Firth, Joseph	1182
Firth, William	1550
Fisher, David	1502
Flewitt, John	2119
Forbes, Edward	1913
Ford, John	1748
Forsey, Thomas	1754
Forsey, William	1755
Foster, Edward Wilson	1570
Foster, George	1183
Foster, John	1756
Foster, Joseph	1757
Foster, Richard	1549
Fowler, Robert	1523
Fox, Joseph	1757
Frankish, James	1131
Frankland, John	1758
Frazer, William	1768

	Page.
Frear, John	1887
Freeman, William	1132
French, Henry	2020
Frith, James	1914
Frost, William	1550
Gaines, Edward	1138
Galloway, Mr. John Hewitt	1814
Garforth, Thomas	1758
Gell, John	1885
Gibson, Isaac	1759
Gibson, Mr. Henry	2004
Gibson, Thomas	1573
Gilder, John	2084
Giles, George	1486
Gill, John	1914
Gilliatt, Thomas	1916
Gleadow, Mr. Thomas Ward	1394
Glen, Edward	1183. 1184
Glover, Thomas	1573
Goddard, William Roger	1550
Goderich, Viscount, M.P.	1944. 1962
Goldsmith, William, sen. (Elijah Street)	1149
Goldsmith, William (Elijah Street)	1763
Good, Samuel	1718
Good, William	1760
Goodreck, Charles	1761
Gould, George	1915
Gould, Samuel	1762
Gould, Thomas	1762
Graby, William	1763
Graham, Robert	1572
Grant, George	1116
Grasby, Joseph	1920
Gray, John	2123
Gray, John Adamson	2099
Gray, William	1764
Grayburn, William	2075
Greasley, Thomas	1176
Greaves, Archibald	1553
Green, John	2057
Grice, David	2114
Griffin, William	1139
Griffin, William Semmers	1764
Grimdril, Stephen	2121
Grime, William	1185
Grisewood, Matthew	1885
Grover, George	1765
Grover, James Yeal	1765
Gruby, William	1173
Haddon, James	1765
Halcrow, James	2008
Hall, Andrew	1581
Hall, Edward	1766
Hall, John (Prince's Street)	1139
Hall, John (Baker Street)	1751
Hall, John (Steeple's Entry)	1767
Hall, Thomas	1576
Hall, William	1967
Haller, Thomas	1967
Hallett, James	1577
Hamilton, George	1931
Hammerton, William	1767
Hammond, Charles	2089
Hanger, George	1768
Hanlan, James	2087
Hanmer, Sir John, Bart., M.P.	2027
Hannah, James	1510
Hanson, Thomas	1967
Harding, Charles	1498
Hare, Marmaduke	2009
Hargrave, Henry	2103
Harper, George	1186
Harper, James	1497
Harris, Mr. John	1305
Harrison, James (High Street)	1579
Harrison, James (Mill Street)	1768
Harrison, John	1977
Hart, Edward	1580
Hart, James	1769
Hartley, William	1547
Harvey, Thomas	1578
Haswell, Richard	1174
Hawksley, William	1922
Headley, Robert	1581
Headon, George	1770
Headon, William	1574
Heinsworth, John	1140
Helas, James	1771
Hender, James	1771
Heron, John	2115
Heseltine, Thomas	1883
Hesse, Samuel	1968
Hewitt, William	1187
Hicks, John	2058
Hill, John	1887
Hill, Robert	1140
Hilton, William	2093
Hines, John	1548
Hirst, John (Collier Street)	1771
Hirst, John (Cumming Street)	1977
Hirst, William	1141
Hitchin, William	2048
Hoddall, James	1482
Hodson, William	1204
Holder, William Thomas	2009
Holdstock, Thomas	1141
Holdsworth, William	1114
Holdsworth, William Barber	1481
Holmes, George	1492
Holmes, George Henry	2063
Holmes, John Ward	2021
Horncastle, Charles	1711
Horner, William (Salthouse Lane)	1499
Horner, William (Fish Street Court)	2022
Howard, Robert	1580
Howgill, Thomas	1187
Hudson, George	2048
Hudson, Henry	1678
Hudson, James	1772
Hunsley, George	2114
Hunt, William	1583
Hunter, James	1143
Hunter, John	1887
Hunter, Joseph	1978
Hunter, William	2094
Huntley, George	1555
Hutchinson, Joseph	1144
Ingram, Benjamin	1583. 1584
Iveson, Mr. Arthur	2108
Jacks, William	1185
Jackson, Charles	2086
Jackson, John Gildart	1704
Jackson, Thomas	1933
Jackson, William (Humber Street)	1144
Jackson, William (Beverley Road)	2022
James, Sir Walter	1791
Jarratt, Thomas	2051

	Page.
Jefferson, John	1790
Jefferson, William	1772
Jeffree, Henry William	1189
Jenkinson, Thomas	1773
Jenkinson, William	1482
Jennings, Joseph	1490
Jessop, John	1773
Job, William	1968
Johnson, Charles	1774
Johnson, Henry	1166
Johnson, James (Hedon Road)	1937
Johnson, James (Gt. Passage Street)	1979
Johnson, John (Witham)	1556
Johnson, John (Tinkle Street)	1774
Johnson, John (Prospect Street)	2078
Johnston, Thomas	1145
Johnson, William Arundel	1774
Jones, Joseph	1206
Jones, William	2050
Kates, William	2115
Kay, Isaac	1769
Kay, Isaac Gibbs	1190
Keighley, Robert	1718
Kellington, Mark Luke	1775
Kelsey, Enoch	1776
Kemp, George Gooddy	2053
King, Charles	1145
King, James	1777
Kirk, Mr. William	2084
Kyne, Robert	2110
Ladley, James	1483
Lambert, Charles Henry	1114
Lambert, James	1777
Lambert, John	1509
Lambert, Mr. Percival	1706
Lambert, William	1978
Laming, Benjamin	2064
Langdale, Marmaduke	2059
Laverack, Joseph	1481
Laybourne, Robert	1717
Leak, John	1778
Leake, Francis	1484
Leake, Robert (Hedon)	2116
Leake, Robert (Hedon)	2119
Leake, Samuel	2116
Leake, William	2023
Leaper, Joseph	1778
Lee, Henry	2089
Lee, John	1779
Leeson, Henry	2007
Leisby, John	1970
Lenham, Thomas	1886
Lenham, William	1969
Leonard, Abraham	1146
Leonard, Abraham, junior	1146
Lewis, Benjamin	1969
Levett, Norrison	2078
Lickiss, Thomas	2116
Liddel, Thomas	1779
Lidgard, Thomas	1373
Lile, Isaac	2125
Linward, Thomas	1970
Little, John	1493
Loft, Mrs. Ann	1149
Low, William, senior	1780
Low, William, junior	1780
Lowden, Samuel	1781
Lowry, George	2023
Luccock, Christopher	1936
Lundy, George	1190
Lusby, Samuel	1930
Lusby, William	1781
Lyon, John	2061
Lyth, James	2067
M'Clarrow, William	1191
Mackrill, Joseph	2054
Malcolm, Jesse	1109
Maloney, Timothy	2017
Malory, George	1782
Mangham, Joseph	1488
Marshall, George Walton	1133. 1753
Marshall, James	1557
Marshall, William	1783
Martin, Leonard	1584
Martin, William	1558. 1559
Mask, William	1191
Mason, Benjamin Barnett	2094
Mason, Samuel	1884
Matson, John	1784
Matson, Robert	2059
Matson, Thomas (Hessle Road)	1150
Matson, Thomas (Regent's Court)	2059
Matthews, Richard	1504
Maw, Thomas	1586
Mawmill, William	1970
Mayers, Miles	1979
Mayor, William	2090
Meek, John	1888
Mennell, William	1979
Merrikin, George	1784
Metcalf, David	1785
Metcalf, Thomas	1192
Metcalf, William (Scott Street)	1864
Metcalf, William (Wincolmlee)	1491
Middleniss Robert	1520. 1553
Miller, Charles (Drypool)	1715
Miller, Charles (Brook Street)	1786
Milner, William	1786
Milner, William (Grimsby Lane)	2050
Mitchell, Edward Hind	2024
Mitchell, James Henry	1787
Mitchell, Richard	2025
Mitchell, Thomas	1577
Mitchell, William	1980
Moat, John	1546
Monday, Joseph	1719
Monkman, John	1787
Moor, Emanuel	1193
Moor, Thomas	1209
Moore, John Bramley, Esq.	1831. 1852
Morley, William	1788
Morriss, John	1150
Morrison, John Alonzo	1151
Mortimer, William	1585
Mortson, Thomas	1971
Moses, John	1789
Moses, John Lee	1584
Moses, William Agar	1864
Mowforth, William	1789
Murgatroyd, William	1403
Murray, James	1152
Nelson, George	1152
Nequest, Peter, senior	1154
Nequest, Peter, junior	2123
Newbald, John	2037
Newlove, Matthew	1979

	Page.
Newlove, Thomas	1560
Newman, John	1980
Newmarch, John	1750
Newstead, Thomas	1863
Newton, George Beeforth	1560
Newton, Henry	2038
Nichol, William	1715
Nicholson, James	1153
Nicholson, William	1154
Noble, George	1588
Norman, George	1587
Norton, John	1497
Norton, William	1876
Oliver, Frederick	1973
Oliver, Ralph	1588
Omer, George	1589
Ormsworth, Jesse	1207
Osbourne, John	2099
Ounsworth Samuel	1155
Oxtoby, Daniel	1865
Oxtoby, George	1865
Oxtoby, John	1865
Oxtoby, Robert (Colonial Street)	2012
Padley, John	2068
Page, James	1978
Page, John	1973
Page, Thomas	1590
Page, William	1194
Park, Mr. Godfrey Richard	2107
Parker, Thomas	1865
Parkinson, William	2092
Pashley, William	2099
Peacock, Thomas	1866
Pease, Mr. Arthur Burton	1592
Pease, Mr. Joseph Walker	1470
Peck, John	1464
Peck, Mr. John	2126
Pellett, John	2039
Pennington, Thomas Luke	1980. 1999
Pepper, Henry	1589
Pere, William Dennis	1155
Petch, Thomas	1562
Peterson, Mark	1156
Pickering, John Noble	2124
Pim, Wakefield	2073
Platts, William	1483
Plaxton, Charles	1984
Plummer, James	1867
Plummer, John	1866
Pope, John	2083
Popplewell, Charles	1563
Porle, William	1973
Postell, Francis	1868
Postell, James Edwin	1868
Potchett, Joseph	2117
Pounsbury, William	1876
Powdrell, Joseph	1877
Prance, William John	1877
Pratt, Stephen	1889
Priestley, Anthony	1878
Prissick, Mr. Thomas Butterworth	1962
Pulleyn, Jonathan	1405
Pullon, Thomas	1974
Purdon, William	1938
Ramsey, William	1700
Randerson, William	1157
Ranson, John	1878

	Page
Readhead, John	1166
Reed, Thomas	1879
Reed, Mr. Walter James	1669
Revell, Joseph	2006
Reynards, Thomas Jackson	1880
Rhoades, John	1157
Riby, James	1621
Richardson, Mr. John	1694
Richardson, Henry	1935
Ridley, James Atkin	1880
Rippon, Thomas	2095
Robinson, Charles (Carr Lane Hospital)	1888
Robinson, Christopher	1881
Robinson, Henry (Cogan Street)	1882
Robinson, Henry (Salthouse Lane)	2120
Robinson, John (Sykes Street)	1158
Robinson, John (Trippett Street)	1499
Robinson, John (Carr Lane)	1505
Robinson, John (Spittal Street)	2096
Robinson, Samuel	2072
Robinson, William (Union Street)	1881
Robinson, William (Old Post Office Entry)	1934
Robson, James	1595
Robson, Matthew	1159
Roe, John	1890
Rogers, Philip	1621
Rogerson, Thomas	1890
Rollitt, Mr. John	1253. 1435. 1999. 2020.
Rose, Charles	1891
Rosindale, Henry	1565
Ross, Josiah	1891
Rotherforth, John	1686
Rowcliffe, John	1879
Rowland, William	1974
Rowley, Thomas	1682
Rowen, Robert	2040
Rowntree, John	1891
Russell, William	2057
Ruston, William	1595
Sacker, Benjamin	1626
Sanderson, Thomas	1195
Sands, John	1489
Saunt, James Thomson	1941
Savage, Thomas	1889
Scott, George	1113
Shaw, James	1982
Shaw, Thomas	1159
Shawson, Henry	1940
Shearn, Edward	1981
Shepherd, Benjamin	1892
Sherburn, George Thomas	1697
Siddons, William	1160
Sigsworth, David	2042
Silbon, William	1196
Silverwood, William	1892
Simpson, Charles	2070
Simpson, George	1975
Simpson, Thomas	1893
Simpsom, William	1160
Sissons, Isaac	1893
Sissons, Jacob	1893
Sloman, John	1132
Smelt, Edward	1626
Smith, Francis	1894
Smith, George (Osborne Street)	1894
Smith, George (Drypool)	1894

	Page.
Smith, James (Witham)	1189
Smith, James (Southcoates Old Town)	2042
Smith, John (Edward Street)	1616
Smith, John (Trippett Street)	1895
Smith, John (Kingston Court)	2104
Smith, John Francis	2061
Smith, Richard	1477
Smith, Stephen	1917
Smith, Thomas (Groves)	1111
Smith, Thomas (Cotton Street)	1494
Smith, Thomas (High Street)	1502
Smith, Thomas (Pier Street)	1917
Smith, Thomas (Blue Bell Yard)	1940
Smith, William (Sykes Street)	2010
Smith, William (Adelaide Street)	2100
Smithson, Alfred Charles	1942
Smithson, James William	2016
Smithson, Thomas	1942
Sotheron, Smith	1495
Southwood, Samuel	2092
Sowter, George	2079
Spencer, John	1161
Spencer, John Barker	2100
Spink, John	1169
Spring, Joseph	1906
Stalper, John	1917
Stalper, John, junior	1932
Stalper, William	1932
Stamp, Thomas	1941
Stave, William	1161
Steeple, George	1424. 1434. 1435
Steeple, William Bollan	1468
Stephens, Henry Stafford	1199
Stephenson, Edward (Lime Street)	1595. 1610
Stephenson, Edward (Hodgson Street, Groves)	2043
Stephenson, John Edward	1508
Stephenson, Robert	2045
Stephenson, Samuel	1982
Stephenson, Thomas	2117
Stockdale, James	1625
Stockdale, William George England	1983
Storr, William	1625
Story, William	1918
Stromach, John	2077
Stubling, Mr. John	2105
Stuart, John	1622
Stubbs, James (Scott Street)	1492
Stubbs, James (Scott Street)	2081
Stubbs, William	1493
Suddaby, John	1200
Sutherland, Robert	2044
Sutton, Edward	1888
Swift, Thomas	1175
Sykes, Mr. Joseph	2082
Sykes, William	1940
Tadman, Ralph	1703
Tadman, Robert	1627
Tadman, Thomas	1629
Tait, Matthew	1639
Tall, Mr. James	1603
Tall, Mr. John	1598
Taylor, James	2052
Taylor, John	1486
Taylor, William	1113
Temple, Thomas	1490
Terrington, Samuel	1112
Thistleton, William Henry	1202
Thistleton, Henry	2097
Thomas, Isaac	1975
Thomas, Jonathan Ashton	1918
Thomas, Mr. William	1601
Thompson, Colonel Thomas Peronet	1798
Thompson, Charles	1632
Thompson, George	1633
Thompson, James	1919
Thompson, Mr. Thomas	1783
Thompson, Thomas	1162
Thompson, William (Old Dockside)	1202
Thompson, William (Wincolmlee)	1479
Thompson, William (Walker Street)	1919
Thorley, Robert	1919
Thornley, John	1511
Thorp, Edward	1203
Time, George	2088
Todd, Thomas	1920
Tomlinson, Charles	1163
Townend, William	1632
Train, Richard	2070
Tricker, Frederick	1685
Trowell, Richard	1921
Tulley, James	1921
Turnbull, William George	1272
Turpin, John	2046
Turpin, Robert	1975
Turvey, William	2101
Twining, Mr. Edward	1677
Valentine, William	1163
Varley, John	2085
Waddie, James	1702
Wadsworth, William	1922
Walker, Mr. Henry Whytal	1420
Wallis, William	2010
Walton, Captain Samuel Standidge	1605
Ward, Hugh	1923
Ward, James	1923
Ward, The Rev. Henry	1613
Ward, Thomas (Albion Street)	1324
Ward, Thomas (West Street)	2094
Ward, William	2071
Wardale, William	1164
Warden, William	2062
Ware, Charles	2026
Wass, John	1487
Warwick, William	2122
Warrener, John	1708
Watkinson, Johnson	1611
Watkinson, Robert	2102
Watkinson, Thomas	1478
Watson, Charles	1923
Watson, James	2093
Watson, John Green	1924
Watson, Joseph (Garden Square)	1637
Watson, Joseph (Wellington Street)	1720
Watson, Robert	2086
Watson, Samuel	2064
Watson, Thomas (Salt House Lane)	1164
Watson, Thomas	1634
Weatherill, Robert	1924
Weatherill, Thomas	2008
Webster, Abraham	2077
Webster, John Kite	1204
Welburn, George	1134
Welburn, John	1135
Welburn, Thomas	1136
Wells, Mr. Charles	1412

	Page.
Wells, Mr. Robert 1210.	1687
Wells, Thomas	1830
Wells, William	2095
West, Charles	1925
West, George	1640
West, Mr. Stephen	1295
West, William	1681
Westerman, George	2069
Westerman, John	2070
Westerman, Joseph	2069
Wheat, James Jackson	1165
Whinham, Robert	1115
Whipp, John	1925
Whitaker, Capt. Thomas	1599
Whitaker, John	1137
Whitaker, Robert	2118
Whitaker, William Burley	1165
Wilberforce, Walter	2121
Wilberforce, William	1636
Wildbore, John Morfitt	1638
Wilde, Thomas 1179. 1180. 1181. 1184. 1558. 1576. 1754
Wilkinson, Mr. Charles	1352
Wilkinson, Mr. John	2080
Wilkinson, Daniel	1637
Wilkinson, David	1931
Wilkinson, Edward	1926
Wilkinson, Joseph	1976
Wilkinson, Richard	1932
Wilkinson, William Challans	1926
Williams, James	2008
Williams, John	1976
Williamson, Thomas	1569
Willingham, George	2118
Willingham, William	1510
Willson, Joseph	2076
Wilson, William Hurst	1171
Wing, James	1636
Winter, Thomas	1639
Wise, William	1635
Wood, Isaiah Swann	2086
Wood, James	1976
Wood, John	2010
Wood, John Brocklebank	1927
Wood, Thomas	1927
Wood, William	1927
Woodcock, William	2085
Woodhouse, Charles	1167
Woodmansey, William	1174
Woodward, William	1168
Worsdale, Charles	1635
Wray, Samuel	1928
Wride, Francis	2041
Wrigglesworth, Thomas	1929
Wright, Mr. George	1169
Wright, Edward	1495
Wright, George	2120
Wright, John	2120
Wright, Matthew	2118
Wroot, William	1929
Yeall, Mr. Charles	1341
Yeaman, John	1168
Young, George Morrell	1204
Young, John	2074
Young, John Hope	1930
Young, Robert	1205

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

FREDERICK SOLLY FLOOD, ESQUIRE;
JOHN DEEDES, ESQUIRE, AND WILLIAM BALIOL BRETT, ESQUIRE;

The Commissioners appointed under the Act of the 15th & 16th Victoria, chap. 57, for the purpose of inquiring into the Existence of Corrupt Practices in the Borough of Kingston-upon-Hull.

At the Town Hall, Wednesday, 13th July, 1853.

Thirty-first Day.

Jesse Malcolm sworn, and examined.

Jesse Malcolm.
13th July 1853.

42,577. Where do you live?—In High Street.
42,578. In this town?—Yes.
42,579. What is your business?—A wharfinger.
42,580. What rent do you pay?—I am rated at about 420*l.* in High Street.
42,581. Are you a voter as a householder?—Yes.
42,582. How long have you been such a voter?—Since the Reform Bill.
42,583. Are you also a freeman?—No.
42,584. Did you take an active part in the election of 1852?—As a canvasser in part of High Street,—the north end of High Street.
42,585. For which side? the orange or the blue?—The orange.
42,586. Were you a member of any committee?—Yes.
42,587. Which committee?—Lowgate Ward.
42,588. Do you know a person of the name of Thomas Wood?—Yes.
42,589. Did you canvass him for his vote for Clay and Goderich?—Yes.
42,590. Did you give him a note to the town clerk, after the election, for getting work for the corporation?—I do not know whether it was before or after.
42,591. You gave him a note to get him work for the corporation?—Yes; he complained that he was several years in High Street, and never had any money from the corporation, and I thought it was his own fault in not applying. The corporation gave a turn to every tradesman in the town.
42,592. Are you a member of the corporation?—No.
42,593. The note you gave was to the town clerk?—No, to the committee.
42,594. Thomas Wilde was one of the orange party?—When I asked him for his vote, he did not say what he was.
42,595. I mean the man who was examined on the 8th of June, who says he is a sawyer and a publican?—No, a whitesmith.
42,596. You canvassed him for his vote?—Yes; and he gave me no promise at the time I canvassed him.
42,597. What was the work for that you gave him a note? to support Clay and Goderich?—No.
42,598. I will read you his evidence, and you will see how far you agree with him. Do you remember his asking you before you voted at the election to give him a note?—I offered to give him a note; he said he had had no work for several years from them.
42,599. I will read you what he said. Did he ask you before the election to give him a note as soon as the election was over?—No, he never asked me for a note; I proffered it. He was complaining that he never had any work from the corporation.
42,600. He also said that he asked you to write him a note after the election, and asked you before the election?—I proffered him one that he might call any time, and I would give him a note.
42,601. Did you give him that note as a supporter of Clay and Goderich?—No, it was not that; he had had no work from the corporation, and I thought he had a right to it.
42,602. How do you mean you thought he had a right?—Because they divided the work among the different tradesmen of the town.
42,603. What work had the corporation to give?—Whitesmiths' work every quarter. They give it to the different tradesmen of the town,—the joiners' work as well.
42,604. Do the corporation, then, employ a considerable number of tradesmen?—They appoint one for each different work every quarter.

Jesse Malcolm.

13th July 1853.

42,605. They change every quarter, do they?—Yes.

42,606. So as to take the tradesmen in rotation?—Yes.

42,607. At the time you asked him for work, I believe you took the opportunity of asking him for his vote?—He would give me no promise at the time.

42,608. So I understood?—I never knew he had voted, indeed.

42,609. It so happened that on the same occasion when you were canvassing, he took the opportunity?—Yes; he complained very much that he had no work from the corporation.

42,610. When you asked him to vote?—Yes.

42,611. Then did you say he should have some after the election?—No; I cannot swear that.

42,612. I thought you gave him a note?—Yes; I thought he had been overlooked.

42,613. You did it in order to put him in a good humour, and to satisfy him?—He was cross upon that account.

42,614. And you gave him a note to put him into a good humour?—I did not give him any note at the time. I told him he might call at any time.

42,615. You promised him the note?—Yes.

42,616. What did he say then?—I came away.

42,617. Did he not say he was obliged to you, or thank you?—I do not know that he did; he was in a very bad humour when I called.

42,618. Not quite so bad a humour when he found he was to get work?—No; I came away, and left him in that humour.

42,619. Do you remember what was in the note?—No, I do not.

42,620. You wrote?—Yes.

42,621. Do you remember what you put in it?—He complained of being so long out of work from the corporation.

42,622. Did you say anything about the vote?—No, nothing about Clay or Goderich, or any vote.

42,623. You gave him the note to put him in good humour?—I do not know it was that; I thought it was very hard upon the man, his not having work. He seemed to be a good workman.

42,624. It was the ordinary case of a voter taking advantage of election times, to get his grievances set right?—I do not know that.

Daniel Brown.

DANIEL BROWN sworn, and examined.

42,625. Where do you live?—Cleveland Street.

42,626. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes, and a shop.

42,627. What rent do you pay?—£12.

42,628. And are you a freeman?—No.

42,629. A householder?—Yes.

42,630. Do you know anything of a committee that met at Mr. King's room during the last election?—No.

42,631. A committee which met at Mr. King's rooms?—No.

42,632. Were you canvassed by the blue party?—Yes.

42,633. Did you promise them your vote?—Yes.

42,634. How long before the election?—I cannot say to the time. Perhaps two or three weeks, or four weeks; I cannot say exactly the time.

42,635. You promised them to vote, but you say you did not vote?—No, I did not.

42,636. Why did you not vote?—The orange were so many ahead that I thought it was of no use.

42,637. When did you determine not to vote?—The election day.

42,638. When?—The same day of the election.

42,639. They could not be ahead until the election had been on some time?—The afternoon I went up.

42,640. What time?—It might be towards three o'clock,—between two and three, or near three.

42,641. Where did you go to poll?—Nowhere; I went there, and walked round to see the state of the poll.

42,642. You had promised to vote for the blue party?—Yes.

42,643. Do you mean to say the only reason you did not vote was because you found the orange ahead?—Yes.

42,644. If everybody had abstained from voting for the blues on that account, would they not be much more behind?—Yes, no doubt they would.

42,645. Did you speak to anybody about your vote?—Yes.

42,646. Who spoke to you about it?—When I was going round, I saw a man of the name of Petch.

42,647. What did he say to you?—I told him I was going to vote, but I saw the state of the poll, and that it was of no use voting; so him and me came out together.

42,648. Had he promised the blues?—Yes, I suppose he had.

Daniel Brown.

13th July 1853.

42,649. I ask you whether your not voting at all was in consequence of the committee I have referred to?—No, it was not.
42,650. Nothing to do with it?—No.
42,651. Do you know Mr. Mandeville?—No.
42,652. Do you know a man of the name of Groves?—No.
42,653. Did you have your name set down for the blues?—I suppose it was.
42,654. Where was it done?—It was in my shop, if I am not mistaken.
42,655. How long before the election?—I cannot say exactly.
42,656. As near as you can remember?—It might be two or three or four weeks; I cannot say to the exact time.
42,657. For how many days were you set down?—None.
42,658. What do you mean by saying your name was set down?—To vote for them.
42,659. Who put you down?—He was a man of the name of Stephenson.
42,660. Were you to get any money for your vote if you voted?—No.
42,661. Did you ever vote before?—No.
42,662. At any former election?—No.
42,663. Do you mean you were only canvassed in the ordinary way, or that your name was put on a list or not?—On a list to vote.
42,664. On the day of the election, did you see any body of persons going about preventing others from voting?—No.
42,665. You never saw them?—No.
42,666. Did any people speak to you about not voting, or advise you not to vote?—I do not remember that they did.
42,667. Do you mean to say, on your oath, your not voting was entirely from your own act?—Yes.
42,668. Or was it in consequence of what somebody said to you?—My own act.
42,669. Entirely?—Yes.
42,670. Were you at all afraid to vote?—No.
42,671. Did you hear that the persons who voted against the rights of the people were to be marked men?—Yes, I heard of it.
42,672. Have you never given that as the reason why you did not vote?—No.
42,673. Did the blue party see you afterwards about your not voting? those whom you had promised, what did you say to them for not voting?—I do not know that I saw any one.
42,674. Did they not speak to you and ask you why you did not vote since the election?—I have talked with people in the shop about it, and told them the reason that I did not.
42,675. Who were the people to whom you promised to vote, and who took your name down?—I cannot say; I had Messrs. Moore and Butler in my shop, and told them I should support them if I voted.
42,676. Did you not tell them you would vote and support them?—I told them I should support them.
42,677. And that your name was put down?—For anything I know.
42,678. You told them it was?—I believe it was; I do not know anything to the contrary.
42,679. I ask you then, since the election, if you had not been asked by the blue party why you did not vote?—Not to my knowledge.
42,680. Do you know Thomas Smith, of Cleveland Street?—Yes.

Thomas Smith.

THOMAS SMITH sworn, and examined.

42,681. Where do you live?—Cleveland Street Groves.
42,682. Are you a householder?—Yes.
42,683. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes; 20*l.* I am assessed at.
42,684. Are you a freeman?—No.
42,685. Were you canvassed at the last election?—Yes, they canvassed me.
42,686. What party?—Both parties.
42,687. Did you promise either?—No.
42,688. How long have you been a householder?—Ten years in that house.
42,689. Did you promise to vote for the blues or the orange party?—No.
42,690. Neither?—No.
42,691. Was your name put down in any list?—I do not know whether they put my name down or not 42,692. When the blue party canvassed you, what did you tell them?—They wished me to give them a vote, but I promised no one.
42,693. What did you tell them, I ask you?—I told them I did not promise any one 42,694. Did you promise to vote on the day of the election?—I did not; I was out of town that day.
42,695. Why did you go out of town?—I had some business out of town.

Thomas Smith.

13th July 1853.

42,696. Did you go out of town in consequence of hearing that persons who did not support a particular cause would be marked men ?—No ; I did not go out of town for that cause.

42,697. Where did you go to ?—I went to Beverley.

42,698. Why did you not go the day after the election, or the day before ?—The reason why was, my business did not suit any other day,—I was requested to go that day.

42,699. Do you know the man standing by your side, the last witness, Daniel Brown ?—No, I do not not.

42,700. He says he knows you ?—I know him by sight, but I am not much acquainted with him ; he lives near me.

42,701. Did you have any conversation with him about going away ?—Nothing at all.

42,702. Did you have any conversation at all with him about not voting ?—No.

42,703. Not a word ?—No.

42,704. Neither before nor or on the day of the election ?—I told them when they solicited me that I should not vote for either party ; when Mr. Clay and Mr. Gresham came in, I told them I should not vote for any party.

42,705. You did vote in 1847, did you not ?—No, I never voted at all ;—not for ten years.

42,706. Were you not a runner for Mr. Brown in the election of 1847 ?—No.

42,707. You were set down ?—No, I am sure I was not.

42,708. You have been a householder for ten years ?—I have ; but I never was registered before the last year.

42,709. You did not vote in 1847 ?—No.

42,710. Nor run for anybody ?—No ; I voted for no one since I went into that house.

S. Terrington.

SAMUEL TERRINGTON sworn, and examined.

42,711. What is your business ?—A little in the baking line.

42,712. A baker ?—Yes.

42,713. Are you a householder ?—Yes, I am a householder.

42,714. What rent do you pay ?—I am paying 6*l.* now, but not anything which comes against it.

42,715. Are you a freeman ?—Yes.

42,716. When were you made a freeman ?—About ten years ago.

42,717. Did you vote at the election of 1847 ?—No.

42,718. In 1852 did you vote ?—Yes.

42,719. For whom ?—Clay and Goderich.

42,720. Did you have a committee room ?—Yes.

41,721. When did they give a committee room ?—The polling day.

42,722. Were you paid for it ?—Yes.

42,723. How much ?—10*s.*

42,724. Who by ?—Mr. Boulter.

42,725. Where did you live ?—16, Cleveland Street.

42,726. How came your room to be taken ?—About seven or eight days previous to the polling day there came Mr. Boulter and Mr. Peck, and asked me if I would let them have a room for their use as they wanted it for a committee room. I told them I was rather inconvenienced ; they said it was very far off to the polling booth. I consented ; they did not say they would give me anything for it. I let them have it, and about a fortnight after I was going down to Drypool, and Mr. Boulter called me in and said they left me 10*s.* for the use of the room.

42,727. At your room ?—No, at Mr. Boulter's ; he said he had 10*s.* for me for the use of the room.

42,728. When might this be ?—About six or seven days after the polling day.

42,729. Was your room used at all ?—No, they never came in it ; but we cleared all away and kept everything ready for them if they wished to make use of it.

42,730. There were chairs and tables in the room, I suppose ?—Yes ; and we removed them out of the way on purpose, if they thought proper to make use of it.

42,731. Had you promised to vote for Clay and Goderich ?—Yes, a fortnight before.

42,732. Did Mr. Boulter give you any name, or any reason to expect any person would come ?—No ; all he asked me was, who are you going to vote for.

42,733. Did he give you in the names of any committee who would come ?—No ; not at all.

42,734. He asked you who you were going to vote for ?—Yes ; and I said Clay and Goderich.

42,735. What did he say ?—He said, very well ; that is all he said, and I never heard anything more about it, neither one way or the other.

42,736. Where was the room ?—At 16, Cleveland Street.

42,737. Is it near the polling booth that you polled at ?—No, it is some distance off.

S. Terrington.

13th July 1853.

42,738. Is it near any one of the polling booths?—No; it is some distance off—half a mile; one is in Witham, and the other in the Groves.

42,739. You say he asked you who you should vote for?—Yes.

42,740. Was the matter about the room mentioned at the same time?—Oh dear, no, not at all. When Mr. Boulter first asked me, I told him I should vote for Clay and Goderich; that was a fortnight, I dare say, before he asked me about the room, and there was no room at all mentioned then; that was only a day or two before the polling day that he asked me about the room—or I do not know it was only one day that they asked me about the room. they were down in the Groves looking for one 42,741. Did the blue party apply to you for the room?—No.

42,742. Did you vote at the election of 1847?—No.

42,743. Never before?—No.

42,744. Did you make out any bill?—No.

42,745. Did you send in any bill?—No.

42,746. Did you apply to have your room taken?—No, not at all.

William Taylor.

WILLIAM TAYLOR sworn, and examined.

42,747. Where do you live?—Wilmington.

42,748. What is your business?—A hosier and beer retailer.

42,749. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

42,750. How much?—£15.

42,751. Are you a freeman?—No.

42,752. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

42,753. For whom?—Clay and Goderich.

42,754. Did you have a committeee room?—No.

42,755. Was there no committee room taken at your house?—No.

42,756. Did you have your name set down?—Not that I am aware of.

42,757. Did you apply for a committee room?—No.

42,758. Were you canvassed for the blues?—Yes.

42,759. Did you apply to them for a room?—No.

42,760. Did they ask you for a room?—No.

42,761. Did you receive any money at all for the last election?—No.

42,762. Either for a room, or otherwise?—No.

42,763. Did you have a flag?—Yes.

42,764. And a staff?—Yes.

42,765. Where did you get them?—I bought them.

42,766. Who of?—Mountil and Kirk.

42,767. Did you buy it yourself?—Yes.

42,768. And paid for it with your own money?—Yes; I applied for one and could not get one.

42,769. Where did you apply?—At King Street; I understood they were giving them away; I applied, and I found I was too late.

42,770. Did they ask you to have your name set down?—No.

42,771. What did you want the flag and staff for?—I do not know exactly, I am sure; because I intended to vote for Clay and Goderich, that is all.

George Scott.

GEORGE SCOTT sworn, and examined.

42,772. Where do you live?—In Cleveland Street.

42,773. What is your business?—A grocer and licensed victualler.

42,774. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

42,775. What rent do you pay?—None at all.

42,776. Is it your own?—Yes.

42,777. What are you rated at?—£14 a year.

42,778. Are you a freeman?—Yes, but I never took it up.

42,779. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

42,780. Are you on the register as a 10*l.* householder?—I am; I never took my freedom up.

42,781. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

42,782. Did you have a committee room for the orange party?—Yes.

42,783. Did you apply for one?—No.

42,784. Did they offer one to you?—No.

42,785. Anybody?—No.

42,786. Did you receive any money for the orange party in any way?—No.

42,787. Were you canvassed by the blues?—No.

42,788. Not canvassed?—No.

42,789. Never applied to the blue party?—No.

42,790. Did you have any committee room in the Holderness Ward?—Not there.

42,791. You had no room there at all?—No.

George Scott.

13th July 1853.

42,792. Neither for the orange nor the blue?—For neither.
42,793. Did you vote before the last election?—No.
42,794. Do you mean that there was no room in your house engaged as a committee room?—Not one.
42,795. Nothing said about it?—Nothing said at all.

W. Holdsworth.

WILLIAM HOLDSWORTH sworn, and examined.

42,796. What is your business?—A wireworker.
42,797. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.
42,798. What rent?—£42.
42,799. Are you a freeman?—No.
42,800. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.
42,801. For whom?—Clay.
42,802. A plumper?—Yes.
42,803. Were you upon his committee?—Yes.
42,804. Where?—Fish Street.
42,805. Did you make out a bill for your time?—Yes, part of my time.
42,806. Have you got it, or a copy of it with you?—I have not.
42,807. What was the amount you charged?—£3.
42,808. Who did you take it to?—To Mr. Wells.
42,809. Which Mr. Wells?—The hairdresser.
42,810. Where does he live?—Mytongate.
42,811. Why did you take it to him?—He was the deputy chairman.
42,812. Of that ward?—Yes.
42,813. Was that the committee of which Alderman Forester was the chairman?—Yes.
42,814. What shape was your bill in?—It was merely for part of the time being secretary for the Fish Street room, and the other for being polling clerk on the day of the election.
42,815. How much of the 3*l.* did you charge for your time?—There was a guinea, I think, if I am not mistaken. I wish to speak correctly,—one guinea for the polling day only, the rest for spare time, time devoted to the room.
42,816. It is the market place committee?—Yes.
42,817. You were a member of the committee, I see?—Yes.
42,818. Was that sum paid?—Yes.
42,819. You said the 3*l.* was paid and was partly charged for your time, and partly for being a polling clerk?—Yes, quite correct.
42,820. How much do you charge for your time out of it?—Deduct the guinea off, that would be 1*l.* 19*s.*
42,821. What were you doing the time when you charged for your time?—I had been there from the first to the last, but Mr. Isherwood left on the Wednesday, if I speak correct.
42,822. You did something that Mr. Isherwood had done before?—Yes; I finished it up.
42,823. If I understand, the 1*l.* 19*s.* you charged was for your loss of time when one of the committee, and the rest for what you did when you succeeded Mr. Isherwood?—Yes, that is quite correct.

C. H. Lambert.

CHARLES HENRY LAMBERT sworn, and examined.

42,824. Where do you live?—In Carr Lane.
42,825. What is your busines?—A dispensing chemist.
42,826. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
42,827. How much?—£40 a year.
42,828. You are not a freeman, perhaps?—Yes, I am.
42,829. When were you made a freeman?—I think in 1841.
42,830. In 1839, perhaps?—No, I think it was August, 1841.
42,831. At whose expense? or did you pay your own charges?—I paid my own charges.
42,832. Did you vote in the election of 1847?—That would be Clay and Baines?
42,833. Yes; when Clay, Baines, and Brown were the candidates, in 1847?—Yes; I did.
42,834. Did you receive any money in anyway at that election?—No.
42,835. Did you have any room engaged at that election?—No.
42,836. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.
42,837. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Lord Goderich.
42,838. Did you have a committee room at your place?—No.
42,839. Did you take a room of a man of the name of Fell?—Yes; I did.
42,840. He has told us that you took his room upon the polling day?—I did.
42,841. Did you pay him for it?—I did not.
42,842. What was he to have for it?—I believe I told him two or three guineas, I cannot say which.

C. H. Lambert.

13th July 1853.

42,843. That was on the polling day?—Yes.

42,844. And was for Clay and Lord Goderich?—It was for his vote.

42,845. And for that party?—Yes; when I asked him,—I was canvassing that neighbourhood—he said he would not vote without an interest.

42,846. Finding Fell very willing, did you make other engagements of the same kind that day?—No; not that I know of.

42,847. Did you get any people to have their names set down?—I did not.

42,848. Before or on that day at any time?—No.

42,849. Was Fell the only person you applied to for his vote?—No; I canvassed Waterhouse Lane.

42,850. The only person you paid for voting? I take your own expression?—He was the only person in Waterhouse Lane.

Robert Whinham.

ROBERT WHINHAM sworn, and examined.

42,851. Where do you live?—No. 11, Waterworks Street.

42,852. What is your business?—Hat and cap maker and furrier.

42,853. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

42,854. How much?—£15.

42,855. Are you a freeman?—No.

42,856. How long have you had this house?—I have voted two general elections.

42,857. Do you know a Mr. Warrendale?—Yes.

42,858. Did he promise you six days' pay on the Tuesday?—No.

42,859. Did you promise Warrendale six days' pay to get his name set down, as he has told us you did?—I took him to get his name set down, not to give him any promise.

42,860. At Saville Street?—Yes.

42,861. For Clay and Goderich?—Yes.

42,862. Did you take anybody else?—Yes; I took other voters.

42,863. At Saville Street?—Yes.

42,864. Do you remember their names?—I am sure I hardly can say their names now; there were five or six.

42,865. Do you remember their names, any of them?—I remember Warrendale and a man of the name of North; he did not vote at all.

42,866. Did you vote?—Yes.

42,867. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.

42,868. Did you receive anything yourself—any money?—Yes; I received for labour done.

42,869. How much?—I think about 2*l.*

42,870. Who from?—I received part of the money from the Temperance Society and part of it from Mr. Galloway's office.

42,871. When were you paid?—The money was sent to my house, part of it, and part of it I went to Mr. Galloway's office and received.

42,872. When?—At the election time.

42,873. Before or after, or when?—Before the election.

42,874. Both sums before?—Yes.

42,875. Were they both sent to your house?—Partially—so much per day. We had part from the Temperance Society, and so much from Mr. Galloway's office.

42,876. Was that for your vote?—No, for labour; I was delivering circulars from six o'clock in the morning till ten at night, and voters' cards; I was a porter.

42,877. Who employed you for the Temperance Society?—I believe Mr. Hopwood; I gave my name in prior to this.

42,878. When did you apply to him?—I gave my name down about three weeks before the election, stating I would go with them, and I had no knowledge of anything being given.

42,879. When did he send to you?—He sent the notes in twice, in two different weeks; we were three days employed one week, and four the following week.

42,880. When did he send to you to come and be employed?—No doubt the week before the election.

42,881. Did he ask you how you were going to vote?—No.

42,882. Did he know it?—I put my name down to go with them in the choice of their men; that was the understanding we had.

42,883. What do you mean? to go with them in the choice of the men?—Of the most suitable men to represent the town, and we considered Lord Goderich and Mr. Clay were the most suitable men.

42,884. Were you on the Temperance committee?—No; I was on no committee.

42,885. What did you do that Mr. Galloway paid you for?—Work and labour,—running about, taking out circulars.

42,886. When did you do it?—Three days one week, and four days the week following; in two different weeks—the week prior to the election, and the election week.

42,887. When were you paid for that?—The first payment I think that we received

Robert Whinham.

13th July 1853.

was the Saturday, and the next I think on the day of the election, or after the day of election—the day after I think; near about then.

42,888. Was your name down in Saville Street?—I do not know; I was told it was, but I never saw it down.

42,889. Did you apply at Mr. Galloway's to be employed?—No.

42,890. They sent to you, did they?—Yes; I gave my name down, as I said before, to Mr. Hopwood; that is where I got my employment.

42,891. When I say "set down in Saville Street," I mean upon the list of those people who were to be paid?—I never received a farthing, or made application for any.

42,892. Very few people have received anything; was your name down upon the list of runners who were to be paid at Saville Street?—I was there backwards and forwards.

42,893. Was your name upon that list?—I am not aware; I never set it down or saw it down.

42,894. Are you a member of the Temperance Society yourself?—No, not now; not at present.

42,895. Were you at that time?—No.

42,896. You knew what you took the men to Saville Street for?—To have their names set down.

42,897. As runners?—Yes.

42,898. And to be paid for it?—Yes.

42,899. That was the understanding?—Yes; that was the understanding.

George Grant.

GEORGE GRANT sworn, and examined.

42,900. Where do you live?—Brook Street.

42,901. What is your business?—A carrier.

42,902. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

42,903. How much?—£18.

42,904. Are you a freeman?—No.

42,905. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

42,906. For whom?—Clay and Goderich.

42,907. Was your room hired?—No.

42,908. Did you hire a room of Mr. Tesseyman?—Yes.

42,909. How much for?—£5.

42,910. Was that for Tesseyman's vote?—I never said anything about his vote.

42,911. Did you know he was going to vote orange?—I did not know it; I thought he would.

42,912. Was it not to secure his vote that you took his room?—No; it was not for that.

42,913. I he had said he was going to vote blue, should you have taken his room?—Yes; if he would have let it.

42,914. Were you canvassing for the orange party?—No.

42,915. Who for?—For no party.

42,916. Then you were taking a room for nobody, were you?—No.

42,917. Who was the room for, if you were canvassing for nobody?—It was for a committee room for Clay and Goderich.

42,918. What did you mean by saying you were not canvassing for anybody?—I was not canvassing for his vote. He said the blues wanted his room. I said, "You had better let the orange party have it;" and he said, "You shall have it if you will take it;" and I said I would.

42,919. For 5*l.*?—For 5*l.* He said he had got as much as 15*l.* formerly for his room, so I thought it was very cheap for 5*l.*

42,920. When was this?—I think it would be about a fortnight or ten days before the election; I am not certain.

42,921. After you had taken his room, whom did you report to that you had done so?—I told my partner I had taken it.

42,922. Who is your partner?—Mr. Sississon.

42,923. Were you on the committee?—No.

42,924. Did you tell Tesseyman of any persons that would occupy the room?—No.

42,925. Did you give him a list of any people?—No.

42,926. Or of any use the room was to be put to?—No.

42,927. Did you report that you had engaged the room to any committee?—No.

42,928. Did you ever use it yourself?—No.

42,929. Did you ever send anybody to the room?—No.

42,930. Did Mr. Sississon, your partner?—I dare say he was in it, but I am not aware that he was.

42,931. Did you take at the time a letter you had had from the blues?—No; I had had no letter.

42,932. Did you see a letter which Tesseyman had had from the blues?—No.

42,933. Did not Tesseyman give you a letter that he had had from the blues?—No.

George Grant.

13th July 1853.

42,934. Or show you one?—No.

42,935. Or show it to Mr. Sississon in your presence?—I cannot say that.

42,936. Did you ever see a letter that Tesseyman said he had had from the blues?—No, never.

42,937. Do you mean to say you have never heard of it, just attend?—No; I think not.

42,938. We are not satisfied with that. Do you mean to state upon your oath that you have never heard of the letter that Tesseyman said he had had from the blues—now be careful?—Yes; I want to be careful, and I do not remember anything of the kind.

42,939. My question is, whether you had ever heard of a letter that Tesseyman had from the blues, and which had come in some way to your partner, Mr. Sississon?—I never heard any particulars of that kind.

42,940. Did you hear the fact?—I never heard the fact. There may have been such a remark made in my presence, but I have no recollection of it.

42,941. Attend to these questions. Do you mean to state to the Court that this is the first time that you ever heard of such a letter?—Yes.

42,942. And that you say upon your oath?—Yes, I do.

42,943. Did you not understand that Mr. Teeseyman always voted for the people who took his room?—No, I did not. He had always voted blue, and he had had blue committee rooms on previous elections, and my idea was that if his room was taken for the orange that more than probable he would vote orange.

42,944. And it was for that reason that you took it?—In one sense it was—in the hope that he would vote for us, for I felt great interest for that party.

42,945. Where did you get the 5*l* from?—I never got it at all.

42,946. What do you know about Tesseyman getting 15*l*. for his room on another occasion?—I do not know anything more than what he said, that he had got 15*l*., I think, at Sir Walter James and Sir John Hanmer's election—that he had made 15*l*. of his room at that time; that is simply the statement that he made.

42,947. And you believed him, did you?—Yes; I believed him. I believe it to be true.

42,948. Do you believe it now?—I believed it before.

42,949. Do you really believe now that he had got the 15*l*., or that it was a mode upon his part of enhancing the value of his room?—I believed that he had got 15*l*.

42,950. And you thought that you had made a good bargain when you got it for 5*l*.? I thought it was cheap in comparison.

Richard Abbey.

RICHARD ABBEY sworn, and examined.

42,951. Where do you live?—No. 4, Stamforth Place now.

42,952. What are you?—A shoemaker.

42,953. What rent do you pay?—I lodge with my mother; I do not hold a house.

42,954. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

42,955. When were you a freeman?—In 1839.

42,956. At whose expense?—At the Conservatives' expense.

42,957. The blues?—Yes.

42,958. Did you vote at the election in 1841 for Mr. Clay?—Yes.

42,959. And you were paid some money for your vote then by Mr. Thistleton?—Yes, I was.

42,960. How much?—30*s*.

42,961. And you voted for Mr. Clay alone?—Yes.

42,962. That was for your vote, was it?—I cannot say what it was for.

42,963. You do not know anything else that it was for?—Yes; I was on as a runner, one of the messengers.

42,964. And got 30*s*.?—Yes.

42,965. What did you do in 1847?—I voted for Mr. Clay.

42,966. Clay alone in 1847?—Yes.

42,967. Did you receive any money for your vote?—10*s*., I believe.

42,968. Who paid you that?—I am sure I cannot tell you.

42,969. When were you paid?—After the election.

42,970. Do not you remember where you got it?—At Mr. Galloway's office.

42,971. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.

42,972. Who for?—Moore and Butler.

42,973. For the blues?—Yes.

42,974. How came you to vote for the blues?—Because I was out of work, and I wanted employment.

42,975. You got your name set down?—Yes.

42,976. For how many days?—I was on twelve or thirteen days.

42,977. How much money did you get?—At three payments I received 7*s*., 10*s*. 6*d*., and 30*s*.

Richard Abley.

13th July 1853.

42,978. Was it paid you before or after the election?—The 30*s.* was paid after the election, the second day after.

42,979. Where?—At the Waverley rooms.

42,980. Where was the 7*s.* paid you?—At the Waverley Street rooms.

42,981. And the next sum?—All at the same rooms.

42,982. And the 30*s.* after the election?—Yes.

42,983. All at the same place?—Yes.

42,984. You were out of work, were you?—Yes; I was out of work.

42,985. Did they ask you to vote for them?—Mr. Wells was the gentleman who solicited me.

42,986. And you told him you wanted employment?—I told him I was out of employment, and I asked if he could give me something to do.

42,987. You promised to vote for them?—Yes.

42,988. Robert Wells?—No; I think it was Charles Wells.

42,989. Who paid you?—Mr. Craft.

John Adams, jun.

JOHN ADAMS junior sworn, and examined.

42,990. Where do you live?—26, Reform Street.

42,991. What are you?—A waterman.

42,992. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

42,993. At what rent?—£7 10*s.*

42,994. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

42,995. Were you a freeman at the election in 1841?—Yes.

42,996. Did you become free in 1839?—No.

42,997. When?—1838.

42,998. At whose expense?—My own.

42,999. At the election in 1841 who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.

43,000. You received some money from Thompson for your vote, I believe?—No.

43,001. You had your name put down?—No.

43,002. There it is?—I was on as a messenger in Holderness ward.

43,003. You had your name set down as a messenger?—Yes; I was on three weeks. I received 30*s.* a week at Mr. Stark's.

43,004. When were you paid?—Every Saturday about two o'clock.

43,005. What did you do?—I was on at the Blue Bell in Witham. I carried out notes; there were only two of us and the secretary.

43,006. A messenger?—Yes.

43,007. And you voted for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

43,008. Was your name put down in any list?—Not that I am aware of. Mr. Charles Hammond offered me 5*l.* to vote for Hanmer and James.

43,009. That was for the blue party?—Yes; about a week before the election.

43,010. You did not take it, did you?—No; I should have been very sorry, if it had been three times that.

43,011. In 1847 what did you do?—I voted for Clay and Brown.

43,012. Did you receive any money then?—Yes.

43,013. How much?—I received 10*s.* from Brown, and 15*s.* from Clay.

43,014. When did you get that 10*s.* from Brown?—I got it on the Saturday after the election.

43,015. What was that for?—That was for taking in the boards and flags of an evening, and delivering them out in the morning.

43,016. And 15*s.*, was that for your vote?—No. After I had done with Mr. Brown's party in the morning, I went to the Wilberforce rooms, and Mr. Wilde employed me there. I minded the door; and at night I went to take in the boards and flags again at the Bull and Sun, in Mytongate, and I got 15*s.* for that.

43,017. On the polling day?—No; the Saturday after.

43,018. Was the 15*s.* for that day only?—No, it was for four days; and the 10*s.* was for four days.

43,019. What day was the election?—It was on a Thursday.

43,020. What days were you employed?—I was employed on the Monday morning, and I was discharged on the Thursday.

43,021. Was that both for Mr. Clay and Mr. Brown?—No; I was paid separate.

43,022. Were you employed for both at the same time?—About three quarters of an hour between the two—between being employed for one and the other.

43,023. Then you gave half of each day to Mr. Clay?—No; I gave the most to Mr. Clay.

43,024. And part to Mr. Brown?—Yes.

43,025. The same day?—Yes; and I got 10*s.*; and if I had not had two tickets, Mr. Mitchell told me, and George Steeple, that I should not get anything at all.

43,026. You got two 5*s.* tickets?—Yes; and if I had not had them to show I should not have got anything at all.

43,027. It was 5*s.* a day?—No; it was half-a-crown a day for four days.

John Adams, jun.
13th July 1853.

43,028. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich; and would again if they were to come.

43,029. Did you get your name set down anywhere?—No; I was on as a messenger for a month.

43,030. Where?—At Saville Street.

43,031. Did you get your name put on any list?—No.

43,032. Did you apply to be a messenger?—Yes; before they came into the town, on the Friday, at Mr. Richardson's in Saville Street, and he set me on; he was the chairman.

43,033. Did you apply to them to be a messenger?—Yes. I went on the Thursday night to him, and he said I was to come in the morning,—that was the Friday, and then Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich came in on the Saturday.

43,034. How much did you get?—Four guineas for four weeks. 3*s.* 6*d.* a day for working from ten to ten.

43,035. What was the number in Saville Street?—It was at Mrs. Hopper's; it was opposite to Mr. Wilde's.

W. Armstrong.

William Armstrong affirmed, and examined.

43,036. Do you carry on any business?—Yes.

43,037. What is your business?—I am a druggist.

43,038. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

43,039. How much?—I am assessed at 18*l.* a year.

43,040. Are you a freeman?—No.

43,041. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—I am sure I cannot say what year I I voted; my memory is very defective.

43,042. See if that is your handwriting. (Book No. 13.) There is the name of William Armstrong written there in the nature of a receipt?—No.

43,043. Do you know any other William Armstrong? Do you know what William Armstrong it is?—I do not indeed. I have a cousin who is a burgess, I believe, but whether that is his writing or not I cannot say.

43,044. Do you know his handwriting?—No, I do not.

43,045. Is his name William?—Yes, it is. What does that signature mean?

43,046. It is a receipt for 30*s.*?—I never received any money in my life.

43,047. You say that is not your handwriting?—No, it is not.

43,048. We want you to tell us whose handwriting it is?—I do not know; it is not mine.

Charles Arnold.

Charles Arnold sworn, and examined.

43,049. Where do you live?—Raywell Street.

43,050. What is your business?—A ropemaker.

43,051. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; I am lodging at my brother's house.

43,052. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,053. When were you a freeman?—In 1839 I got my freedom.

43,054. At whose expense?—The orange.

43,055. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.

43,056. In consequence of that?—Yes.

43,057. You received some money from Mr. Thistleton?—Yes; I received 30*s.*

43,058. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.

43,059. In 1847 did you vote?—Yes.

43,060. Who for?—Clay and Baines.

43,061. How much were you paid then?—Nothing. I have not received anything but 30*s.* since I was a freeman.

43,062. In 1852 you received nothing?—No.

43,063. Did you vote?—Yes.

43,064. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

43,065. Are you the son of Peter Arnold?—Yes.

43,066. Do you know if your father voted at that election in, 1841?—I believe he did. I cannot be certain, but I believe he did.

43,067. Your father is ill, is he?—Yes; he is very ill.

Joseph Arnold.

Joseph Arnold sworn, and examined.

43,068. Where do you live?—Raywell Street.

43,069. What is your business?—A ropemaker.

43,070. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; I am a freeman.

43,071. But you live in a house. Do you pay rent, or are you a lodger?—I am living with my brother.

Joseph Arnold.

13th July 1853.

43,072. When were you made a freeman?—In 1839.
43,073. At whose expense?—The orange.
43,074. Did you vote for them at that election in consequence?—Yes; the following election.
43,075. For Mr. Clay, the election in 1841?—Clay and Thompson.
43,076. How much did you receive for your vote?—I received 30*s.* for six days.
43,077. And signed a receipt for it? there is your name in that book. (Book No. 13.) Did Mr. Thistleton pay you?—Yes.
43,078. Is that your writing?—Yes; I think it is.
43,079. In 1847, did you vote for Mr. Brown?—No; I voted for Clay and Baines.
43,080. How much money did you get then?—Nothing.
43,081. Did you receive any money from Mr. Brown at that election?—No.
43,082. You were not a runner for Mr. Brown, were you?—No.
43,083. Is there any other Joseph Arnold?—No; not that I know of.
43,084. In 1852, did you vote?—Yes.
43,085. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,086. Did you receive any money?—No.
43,087. Or promise?—Yes; I got a promise of six days.
43,088. Who from?—The orange.
43,089. Who gave you the promise?—It was Mr. Wilde put me down; that was after I had promised though.
43,090. After you had promised, you were put down at Mr. Wilde's, were you?—Yes; Mr. Wilde put me down for six days.
43,091. And you expected to get paid?—Yes.
43,092. How long before the election was that?—Perhaps a fortnight.

Matthew Arnold.

MATTHEW ARNOLD sworn, and examined.

43,093. Where do you live?—Raywell Street.
43,094. What is your business?—A ropemaker.
43,095. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,096. How much rent?—£4 16.
43,097. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,398. When were you made free?—In 1818.
43,099. At your own expense?—No.
43,100. What party?—The blue party.
43,101. Do you know Peter Arnold?—Yes.
43,102. Is he your father?—Yes.
43,103. Did you receive 30*s.* for him from Thistleton for the 1841 election?—I believe I did.
43,104. You have given a receipt for it?—Yes; it is very probable I might have forgotten it.
43,105. Did you let him have the money?—Yes.
43,106. Was it for voting for Mr. Clay?—It was for Clay and Thompson; it was joint.
43,107. At the election in 1841 how much did you get for your own vote?—Just the same.
43,108. 30*s.*?—Yes.
43,109. And you voted Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
43,110. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I voted for Clay and Baines.
43,111. Did you receive any money for your vote?—No.
43,112. Did you receive any money from either party?—No.
43,113. Nothing at all?—Nothing.
43,114. Do you know if your father voted for Brown in 1847?—He voted the same as I did, Clay and Baines; the whole four of us were Clay and Baines.
43,115. Did he receive the money for you?—He received no money for me; we none of us got any money.
43,116. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,117. Did you receive any money?—No.
43,118. Were you promised any?—No.
43,119. Was your name set down?—I got to understand my name was put down, but I never saw the person that put it down.
43,120. You believed it was set down?—Yes; I got to understand that by my brothers.
43,121. And that was to get paid something?—Yes, it was with that expectation; I considered it in the the light of a promise.
43,122. Did you afterwards hear that your name had been taken off?—Yes; I did.
43,123. Was that before the election?—Yes, it was before the election.
43,124. That you heard your name had been taken off again?—Yes.
43,125. Who did you hear it from?—I told Mr. Wilde myself, I believe, to take it off; it was him, I understood, that put us down.
43,126. When you voted did you expect to be paid?—I look at these promises in the light of promises and no more; they are sometimes payable and sometimes not payable.

Matthew Arnold.

13th July 1853.

43,127. But you hoped to be paid?—Of course we naturally expect it if we have a promise; I never asked for it; I gave my promise before I got to understand that I was put down. It was the next day that I got to understand that I was put down for six days. I never went to see about it myself.

43,128. But when you voted you understood you had a promise to be paid?—No further than this,—that I was put down for six days.

43,129. And you thought if other people were paid, you might as well be paid?—That was not always the case.

43,130. Did you hope to get paid?—I could have done with the money; I am only a working man; I have nothing but what I work for; I have never received any money since that election of Clay and Thompson's.

43,131. At the time you voted for Clay and Goderich, did you believe you would get 30*s.* from that party?—It was natural to think so.

43,132. And you believed it?—It was natural to think so, but I was not sure whether I would get it or not.

43,133. You believed it in consequence of your name being put down?—I could not be sure that I should get it on account of its being put down.

43,134. But you believed in consequence of your name being put down?—It was natural too look for it, that is for a certainty.

43,135. Do you know anything about the name being taken off afterwards? did you give any directions about it?—Yes.

43,136. Did you give any order to have it done, or what?—Yes; I told Wilde, myself, to strike me off.

43,137. For why?—I can tell you for why. I got to understand a few days before that day that they were paying 10*s.* for the election before in King Street, and I was out of work at the time, and I went to see if I could get it, and when I got there they had stopped payment. I went and saw Mr. Wilde, I think, a day or two after, and he told me that I was down in the poll book for Clay and Brown. Now I never voted for Clay and Brown, I voted for Clay and Baines. I told him through such a mistake as that, it was rather hard that a man should be done out of his money upon that account.

43,138. Did you get the 10*s.*?—No.

43,139. In consequence of not getting the 10*s.* did you do anything?—I did nothing.

43,140. You have not told us how your name came to be taken off?—I had got to understand that he had put me down for six days, and I told him he might strike me off. I had done without money for so many years that I thought I could do without this election. I have not had a deal of money for voting these last twenty years.

43,141. After you had had your name struck off, did you still expect that you would be paid?—No, I did not.

43,142. You told us several times that you did; you said, when you voted you hoped to be paid?—Then it was a misunderstanding of mine; I could not expect it. I misunderstood you, I am sure.

43,143. You ceased to expect it when your name was taken off?—After I told him to strike me off I certainly could not expect to be paid.

T. W. Beautyman.

Thomas William Beautyman sworn, and examined.

43,144. What is your business?—A merchant's clerk.

43,145. Do you pay rent for a house?—I do.

43,146. Where do you live?—No. 26, Adelaide Street.

43,147. What rent do you pay?—£10.

43,148. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,149. When were you made free?—In 1839.

43,150. At whose expense?—I did not pay anything; I do not remember now.

43,151. Which party, the orange or the blues? you must know that?—I do not indeed; I do not remember. I went to the Mansion House because I heard others were taking up their freedom.

43,152. And we have heard that they were taken up at the expense of one or the other party.—I am sure I do not know; I would speak of it if I knew.

43,153. Whom did you vote for?—I voted for Thompson, the election of 1841.

43,154. Who else?—Clay and Thompson.

43,155. Did you not hear that they had taken up your freedom?—No, I did not hear it.

43,156. Did you never hear it?—No.

43,157. Do you mean to tell us that you never had the curiosity to find out who took up your freedom?—I never have.

43,158. Perhaps you do not know that it was ever paid?—There was 1*l.* 14*s.* 7*d.* marked upon my burgess oath. I was given to understand that that was paid at the time; I did not pay it.

T. W. Beautyman.

13th July 1853.

43,159. Who applied to you to take your freedom up?—I heard there were a many parties going down to the Mansion House; they had ceased charging, that was my understandig of it when I went down.

43,160. That they admitted people for nothing?—Yes.

43,161. That is what you thought?—Yes; I was never asked a single question about it.

43,162. You took an oath?—I took an oath when we went before the council, when the burgess oath was administered to a great many at the same time, I suppose forty or fifty.

43,163. You are speaking upon your oath now?—I am aware of that.

43,164. And you mean to state you do not know at whose expense your freedom was conferred upon you?—I never did.

43,165. You never inquired?—No.

43,166. How much did you get for your vote in 1841?—Nothing.

43,167. You voted for Clay and Thompson?—Nothing.

43,168. Did you make any application for any money?—No.

43,169. Did you know Thistleton?—I did. Thistleton, I believe, met me in the Market Place, and wanted to set me down, and I said, "No, I will not be set down."

43,170. For the election?—Yes; that election. I had 5*l.* offered me by the other party.

43,171. Thistleton first?—I said I should vote for the old Colonel and Mr. Clay.

43,172. But you saw Thistleton?—Yes.

43,173. And he wanted you to have your name set down?—Yes.

43,174. Did you not consent?—No.

43,175. What did you say?—I said no.

43,176. Did you see him write it down?—I merely met him in the Market Place, when I was going about my business.

43,177. Did you ever know that it had been set down?—No.

43,178. I am requested to ask you whether you do not know and understand perfectly well that Thistleton took your freedom up?—I do not know, indeed. I never saw Thistleton or any other party, or had any conversation respecting it.

43,179. You always voted as a freeman?—Yes.

43,180. And you never knew how you became a freeman?—Yes; in 1839, I suppose it was taken in the ordinary way.

43,181. But who paid the expense?—I do not know, indeed.

43,182. There are two parties, the orange and the blue?—Yes.

43,183. You know them by "orange," and "blue"?—Yes.

43,184. And you mean to represent you do not know at all which party it was?—I do not, indeed.

43,185. You are not asked the name of the person, but which party?—I do not, indeed.

43,186. You have no belief upon the subject?—Of course, it could make no difference to me, if I knew it; if I was cognizant of it, I would tell you, but I do not remember any party speaking to me upon it.

43,187. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.

43,188. Who for?—Baines and Brown.

43,189. Did you receive any money at that time, at the election?—After the election; of course I had no promise at the time or anything of the kind.

43,190. Tell us what you received?—I think a gentleman afterwards met me and said, 'Here is a sovereign for you to have a bottle of wine, as you voted for us." I never expected anything, but the party meeting me and offering me a bottle of wine, I was not going to refuse it.

43,191. You took it?—Yes.

43,192. Who gave you that?—A party met me in High Street.

43,193. Tell me the name?—I do not know him.

43,194. A man gave you a sovereign and you do not know his name?—He did; I never expected it. I was not asked; it was two or three days after the election.

43,195. You are a person whom we expect to give some better answers than these. want to ask you whether you mean to state to us upon your oath that a person gave you a sovereign to get a bottle of wine, and that you have no idea who that person was?—I do not know him.

43,196. Have you never heard of him?—No.

43,197. Did you ever see him before that day?—I have no recollection.

43,198. Will you swear that you had not seen that man before he gave you that sovereign?—I will not swear that, because I am not aware; I might have seen the man several times and not know him, and still not recollect it.

43,199. When was that?—Four or five days after the election.

43,200. What did he say to you?—He said, "You voted on our side, here is a sovereign to get a bottle of wine." Those were the whole of the words.

43,201. Where was that?—In High Street, in the town.

43,202. In 1852, did you vote?—Yes; I voted in 1852.

43,203. Who for?—Moore and Butler.

43,204. Blue?—Yes.

T. W. Beautyman.

13th July 1853.

43,205. Did you get any money?—Afterwards.

43,206. How much?—A party sent me down. I think, about a pound, that was to pay some little expenses that I had been put to in canvassing on the election day.

43,207. Was that a pound, or what was it?—It was about a pound.

43,208. Was it in silver?—Yes.

43,209. Who sent it to you?—I do not know who sent it; it was sent to me for some little incidental expenses that I was put to on the day of the election, when I was canvassing.

43,210. Did somebody bring it to you?—One of my brothers brought it to me.

43,211. What is his name?—I believe it was John.

43,212. Do not tell us you believe, you must know, it was your brother?—It was John or Percival; it was one of the three,—they were aware I was at some expense.

43,213. Upon your oath, which brother was it?—I do not know.

43,214. You must know?—I think it was Percival.

43,215. But just now you thought it was John?—I could not swear which it was; they would know.

43,216. What did John or Percival, whichever one it was, say to you?—"They have sent you this down." Of course I should never have made any application to them, or never intended anything of the kind.

43,217. Who sent it?—I do not know who sent it; I never inquired; of course I should never have made any application to any parties. I never expected anything for my vote.

43,218. I understood you to say that you had rendered some little services?—Yes; I was canvassing.

43,219. Which ward was that for?—I went on board some of the steamboats to see parties.

43,220. For which Ward?—The steamboats that lie in the Hull Docks; they call that the Holy Trinity Ward.

43,221. Who did you report your canvass to? which committee?—Down in Minerva Terrace.

43,222. Do you know Anthony Bannister?—Yes; I have known him from a boy.

43,223. Now, I ask you upon your oath,—I am sorry to put the question to you in that way,—whether you do not know that that money came from Anthony Bannister?—I do not, indeed.

43,224. Upon your oath?—Upon my oath, I do not know.

43,225. Do you believe, upon your oath, that that money came from Anthony Bannister's? now take care.—I certainly am speaking the truth in all I know.

43,226. You had better be careful. I ask you, upon your oath, whether you believe that that money came from Anthony Bannister?—I do not know who it came from.

43,227. I ask you, upon your oath, whether you believe that money came from Anthony Bannister? now be kind enough to answer that question.—I do not know who it came from.

George Binks, sen.

GEORGE BINKS, senior, sworn, and examined.

43,228. Where do you live?—In Scott Street.

43,229. What is your business?—I was a painter; I am too old now.

43,230. Do you occupy a house?—No.

43,231. Are you a lodger?—Yes.

43,232. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,233. When were you made free?—In 1794 or 1796, I do not know which; I think it would be 1796.

43,234. At whose expense?—My own.

43,235. You used to vote at the former elections?—Yes.

43,236. When people got paid 4*l.* and 2*l.*?—Yes; I voted at two elections in my former days. I voted for Sir Charles Towner and Mr. Staniforth.

43,237. Did you get paid for those votes?—Yes.

43,238. What was the money at that time?—Two guineas a vote.

43,239. You got that, did you?—Yes.

43,240. And paid as a colourman or a runner, whatever you may term it?—Yes.

43,241. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—In 1841 I voted for Thompson and Clay; I cannot recollect, Thompson I know.

43,242. How much did you get for your vote at that election?—Nothing.

43,243. Your son George Binks got it for you; there is your son's receipt; your son has signed a receipt for 30*s.* for you?—That may be, but I never received it; if they have got it they may have shared it among themselves or what not; I never got it. Possibly they may have said something to me, but I have no recollection of it now.

43,244. You got paid in former times you told us?—Yes.

43,245. Did you get any money at this election?—No; I got paid in 1804 by Mr. Thornton, four guineas.

George Binks, sen.

13th July 1853.

43,246. When did you vote next?—I never received a farthing to my knowledge since that time,—indeed I did not poll for several elections; I was in the Customs.

43,247. Is that the only money you ever received?—No; I received for Mr. Charles Towner, the first election, when I took up my freedom.

43,248. In 1847, did you vote then?—Yes.

43,249. Who for?—I think I should vote for Mr. Clay, for the orange party.

43,250. Did you receive any money then?—Not a farthing to my knowledge; I do not recollect.

43,251. You have got it in that book, perhaps if you did (referring to a small book of the witness's)?—If I did I have it here; all the monies I received above sixpence are in this book, that I swear. No, I have not received any.

43,252. In 1852, who did you vote for? at the last election—Clay and Goderich?—I voted for Goderich and one of the blues.

43,253. One of the blues and one of the orange?—Yes.

43,254. Has your book got anything for that?—No.

43,255. Who did you vote for, Moore or Butler?—Bramley Moore, I think, and Lord Goderich.

43,256. Did you get any money from Bramley Moore?—No.

George Binks, jun.

GEORGE BINKS, junior, sworn, and examined.

43,257. What is your business?—I was a painter.

43,258. You are one of the officers of the corporation?—Yes.

43,259. Do you pay rent for a house?—No.

43,260. You get a lodging, perhaps, from your office?—No; the house is my own.

43,261. At what rates do you stand?—I am rated at about 6*l.*

43,262. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,263. When were you made free?—In 1824.

43,264. At whose expense?—My own.

43,265. In 1841 your name appears in this book as receiving money for your father, 30*s.*?—Yes; I am not positive about it, whether that is meant for my father or one of my elder brothers.

43,266. Here is the receipt, signed "G. Binks junior, for G. Binks senior," (Book No. 13)?—I think as their is not a John Binks in it, I must have received it for him, since I have been listening for a few minutes.

43,267. Where is John Binks?—He lives now in Pierce Street; he lived then in Sheffield Street. Allow me to explain that: When I went to receive the whole of the amounts of my brothers who voted that way, I did it to save trouble, and I received it for my father at the same time.

43,268. Your father, yourself, and several other brothers?—Yes; there are other brothers that do not appear there.

43,269. You seem to have received for three of your name?—Yes.

43,270. Your father, yourself, and one of your brothers?—Yes; that would be to save them the trouble.

43,271. What was done with the money? your father says he never had it.—It was mentioned to him, though I will not be positive that it was received, and he said, "I do not know anything about it; I did not authorize you to receive the money." I think those are the words, "You can divide it among you, I can do without it."

43,272. That is a matter that you ought to remember; you received money for another person, how came you not to pay it?—The money would be offered, and he said, "Divide it among yourselves."

43,273. Are you sure of that?—I will not swear those were the words, but that is my impression; that is the thing—something like it; but at first when I heard of it, I had an impression that an elder brother who is at Sheffield was the man; one was at London, one was at Sheffield, and one at Worksop.

43,274. How much did you get yourself at that election?—I believe I got 30*s.*

43,275. That was for your vote for Clay and Thompson?—It might be for my vote; I believe it was for employment, in various ways. I was employed—I remember one circumstance—I was employed at that election in 1841; here is an article here (producing a card) which I happened to fall in with, where I was authorized to go to a certain booth in Osborne Street—

43,276. Perhaps you say it was for your vote and services?—Not exactly for my vote, because no man would have bought me to have voted any other way.

43,277. This card is merely telling you the booth that you are to vote at?—That card was to look after the interests of the orange party at that booth; and while I was at that booth and stood in the passage, I saw a few transactions that took place there with respect to the bribing.

43,278. That is what you call your employment?—Yes, and various other things; I was employed—not put to do anything particular—but left to my own discretion, to do as I liked.

43,279. You were always to vote for them?—Yes; and I always will vote for them and never vote any other way. George Binks jun.

43,280. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.

43,281. Did you receive any money at that election?—No. 13th July 1853.

43,282. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Goderich and Clay.

43,283. Did you receive any money at that election?—Nothing.

43,284. Did you receive any promise of anything?—No.

43,285. For your vote?—Not in the least.

WILLIAM BLACKSTONE sworn, and examined. W. Blackstone

43,286. What are you?—A wood turner.

43,287. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

43,288. How much?—Eight guineas.

43,289. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,290. When were you made free?—By servitude.

43,291. In what year?—I can produce the burgess oath, and that will tell you; in 1824.

43,292. Who paid for it? which party, or did you pay the expenses yourself?—I paid for it myself.

43,293. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

43,294. How much did you get for your vote—30*s.* did you not? and sign your name for it? Is that your writing (Book No. 13)?—Yes.

43,295. You got 30*s.* for your vote in 1841?—Yes.

43,296. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

43,297. Did you get any money for that vote?—I voted for the two Reformers.

43,298. Did you get any money at that election?—No; I do not think I did. I do not recollect any.

43,299. In 1852 who did you vote for,—last election?—I polled for Clay and Lord Goderich.

43,300. Did you get promised any money?—No; I never made application.

43,301. Did you get your name set down anywhere?—No.

43,302. Why not?—Because I wished to be a freeman.

CHARLES CHEESEMAN sworn, and examined. C. Cheeseman.

43,303. Where do you live?—No. 6, Castle Place, Castle Street.

43,304. What is your business?—A sailmaker.

43,305. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

43,306. How much?—Ten guineas; that is, my house. Do you mean to say with the workship and all.

43,307. Yes.—Sixteen guineas altogether.

43,308. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,309. When were you made free?—In 1816.

43,310. At whose expense?—My own.

43,311. You received some money at the election in 1841?—I believe I did.

43,312. In two payments?—No.

43,313. It is so in the book, 25*s.* and 5*s.*?—No.

43,314. How much did you receive?—I received, I believe, either 10*s.* or 15*s.*

43,315. Look here at what you signed your name to (Book No. 13), is that your writing?—No.

43,316. Whose writing is that?—That would be my son's who is dead, Charles Cheeseman. I believe I received 15*s.*; that was a few days after the election.

43,317. Who did you vote for at that election in 1841?—I voted for Colonel Thompson and Mr. Clay.

43,318. And you got 15*s.*?—I did. I believe that was the following day. I was paid at the Durham Ox.

43,319. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

43,320. Did you get any money at that election?—No.

43,321. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

43,322. How came that?—Well, if I should state how it came, it was merely upon political views of the question, and no other.

43,323. Did you get any money?—Nothing.

43,324. Any promise?—No; I never applied for anything, and never expect anything

43,325. Did you get your name set down?—No; I never authorized anybody to put my name down anywhere at either of the elections.

C. Cheeseman.

13th July 1853.

43,326. Do you mean to tell us that you did not get any money in 1852?—I meant to say upon my oath I never received a farthing from anybody.

43,327. Not in 1852?—No. A man may not change his ideas now without being suspected of doing wrong.

43,328. Certainly not when people were bribed once?—I never was bribed once.

T. W. Claivis

THOMAS WOOD CLAIVIS sworn, and examined.

43,329. What is your business?—A cooper.

43,330. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

43,331. How much?—£10.

43,332. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,333. When were you made a freeman?—In 1820.

43,334. At whose expense?—My own.

43,335. In 1841 did you vote?—Yes.

43,336. Who for?—Clay and Thompson.

43,337. And received 30*s.*, I believe, for your vote?—No.

43,338. Look at your own handwriting (Book No. 13.) Is that your writing?—That is my writing, but I never received 30*s.*

43,339. That is a receipt for 30*s.*?—I did receive money. I received, I think, 15*s.*,—either 15*s.* or 20*s.*, I will not be sure which.

43,340. Just now you said you got nothing.—No, I did not.

43,341. Who paid it you?—I think it was paid at the registration office.

43,342. Who paid you? did Thistleton pay you?—No, he did not pay me, although he set my name down.

43,343. Was he there when you were paid?—No; I do not think he was; I think I was paid at the registration office.

43,344. You got paid three times?—I got paid in twice.

43,345. Here is your own handwriting,—15*s.*, 5*s.*, and 10*s.*?—I have not got all that.

43,346. You have written it down, that you did, in your own handwriting?—The figures have been put to it perhaps after.

43,347. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.

43,348. Did you get any money at that election?—Yes.

43,349. Who from? which party, or from both of them?—From the Liberal party—the orange.

43,350. For Mr. Clay?—Yes.

43,351. How much did you get?—10*s.* and 5*s.* I was a messenger on both elections at the Holderness ward booth.

43,352. 15*s.*? was that all you got there?—That was all.

43,353. Did you get nothing from Mr. Baines?—That was all I got. I expect it was from both.

43,354. Where was it paid you in 1847?—At the registration office.

43,355. The same place?—Yes.

43.356. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich.

43,357. Did you receive any money?—Not any.

43,358. Did you receive any promise of money?—No; I did not seek it.

43,359. Was your name put down anywhere?—No.

43,360. Not at any place—any committee room?—Not anywhere.

Thomas Coates.

THOMAS COATES sworn, and examined.

43,361. Where do you live?—No. 8, Cottingham Terrace.

43,362. What is your business?—A joiner and builder.

43,363. Do you pay rent for a house?—I am rated at 119*l.* a year.

43,364. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,365. When were you made a freeman?—In 1837.

43,366. At whose expense?—At my own.

43,367. At the election in 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I did not vote at all. I had been away previous to that; I was not entitled to a vote.

43,368. Do you know any other Thomas Coates?—No; I do not know any other.

43,369. You can write, of course?—Yes.

43,370. You say you have been a freeman some years?—Yes.

43,371. Do you know of any other person formerly of the name of Thomas Coates?—No; I do not.

43,732. Did you vote at the election of 1847?—Yes.

43,373. Who for?—Clay and Baines.

43,374. Did you receive any money?—Nothing.

43,375. Was your name put down anywhere?—No.

43,376. In 1852?—Clay and Goderich.

Thomas Coates.

13th July 1853.

43,377. Did you receive any money then?—Nothing.
43,378. Nor any promise of money?—No; no promise.
43,379. Do not you know of anybody else of the name of Thomas Coates?—No; I do not know of any other person.
43,380. Nor you did not in 1841?—No, I did not.
43,381. Where did you live in 1841?—I lived in Aldborough Street, I believe.
43,382. Did you receive any money in 1841?—I never received any in my life.
43,383. Were you canvassed by the blue party at the last election?—I canvassed for the orange party.
43,384. I ask you, did the blue party canvass you for your vote?—I do not think they asked me.
43,385. We hear they went round?—They did.
43,386. Did they not ask you?—I believe they knew me and did not ask me; they knew who I had voted for. I voted for the other party.
43,387. You saw some of the blue party before the election?—I saw them going round, but they never asked me.
43,388. Do you know anything connected with the blue party at the last election?—I do not know anything.
43,389. We are told that you know something connected with the blue party. I merely tell you upon that that if you do, it is your duty to tell us what it is upon your oath?—Yes; but I do not know of anything. I never interfere with anything, only the party I canvassed for.
43,390. If anything has come to your knowledge as to that party, or the last election, or any matters at elections, you are bound to tell us?—I would freely tell you if I knew anything.
43,391. Have you ever said you did know something?—No.
43,392. Have you ever said you would not split against them?—No; I never said anything of that sort.
43,393. Or words to that effect?—No.
43,394. You ynow what I meant by splitting?—Yes.
43,395. Did you live in Church Lane?—No; never.
43,396. In 1841?—No.

Joseph Congers.

JOSEPH CONGERS sworn, and examined.

43,397. Where do you live?—No. 63, Ropery Street.
43,398. What is your busines?—A shipwright.
43,399. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,400. How much?—6*l.*
43,401. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,402. When were you made free?—In 1810.
43,403. Who paid for your freedom?—I took it up myself.
43,404. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Clay only.
43,405. And you received some money I believe for that vote?—30*s.* I believe.
43,406. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay I believe.
43,407. Did you receive any money at that election?—Nothing.
43,408. In 1852, who did you vote for?—The blues, both.
43,409. Moore and Butler?—Yes.
43,410. Did you get your name set down for them?—It was set down at my own house; but nowhere else.
43,411. Did you get any money for your vote?—I got 17*s.*
43,412. When was that paid to you?—A fortnight after.
43,413. Where was it paid?—At Mr. Wells's office.
43,414. And by Mr. Wells?—I cannot say; I do not know Mr. Wells. It may be paid by him, I cannot say, but it was paid at his office.
43,415. Were others paid at the same time?—Yes; there were others paid. There was only one of us went in at a time.
43,416. Did you vote a plumper in 1847 and 1841?—Yes.
43,417. Both times?—Yes.

Robert Cousins.

ROBERT COUSINS sworn, and examined.

43,418. What is your business?—A shipwright.
43,419. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,420. How much?—4*l.* 10*s.*
43,421. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,422. When were you made free?—It is past my recollection almost; I think it was in O'Neil and Villiers' election.
43,423. At whose expense were you made free?—They paid for it. They took my freedom up.

Robert Cousins.

13th July 1853.

43,424. Did you vote in 1841?—I did poll, but I cannot recollect who I polled for.

43,425. You got some money for your vote—I believe 15*s.* after you voted and 15*s.* before? There is your mark in that book?—I cannot read.

43,426. But there is is your mark (Book No. 13)?—Very likely I did; I cannot say. I have lost my memory; it is right I dare say.

43,427. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.

43,428. How much did you get for that?—10*s.* from each party.

43,429. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore, and Butler.

43,430. How much did you get for that?—30*s.*; I got set down a fortnight before.

43,431. When were you paid?—After the election.

45,432. Where?—Mr. Stephenson's.

43,433. What Stephenson was it who paid you?—Edward Stephenson.

43,434. Where did he live?—Hodgson Street.

Thomas Crackles.

THOMAS CRACKLES sworn, and examined.

43,435. Where do you live?—No. 8, Hill Street.

43,436. What is your business?—Brushmaker.

43,437. Do you pay rent for a house?—I do.

43,438. How much?—12*l.*

43,439. Are you a freeman?—I am.

43,440. When were you made a freeman?—In 1839.

43,441. At whose expense?—The orange party.

43,442. And in consequence of that did you vote for Clay and Thompson in 1841?—No; I voted for them on principle.

43,443. You accepted their money for your freedom?—Yes.

43,444. And you were paid by Thistleton, I believe?—Yes.

43,445. How much?—30*s.*; under the impression it was a custom.

43,446. According to custom?—Yes.

43,447. According to custom, did you receive any money in 1847?—No; I voted for Mr. Clay.

43,448. How came you to depart from the custom? Why did you not stick to the custom?—Because I found it was erroneous and wrong. It was the custom, but a very bad one.

43,449. You gave up the custom?—Yes.

43,450. You voted for Clay only?—Yes; in 1847.

43,451. When you say you gave up the custom, do you say they offered you any money, and you would not receive it?—No.

43,452. Perhaps the custom gave you up?—Perhaps so.

43,453. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

43,454. And of course, as you had given up the custom, you did not apply for any money?—No; and I did not apply before. I was not aware my name was put down in 1841. I was told the money was there, and if I did not have it some other person would, so I thought I might as well have it as any one else.

43,455. In 1852, did you receive anything?—No.

43,456. Any promise?—No, nothing whatever.

43,457. Did you find your name set down there?—No, I was not aware it was set down, and I did not give anybody authority so to do.

43,458. Do you know Samuel Crackles?—Yes.

43,459. Is he your brother?—Yes.

43,460. Does he follow the custom with you?—I do not know.

43,461. Is that his writing (Book No. 13.)?—I will not swear to it.

43,462. As to your belief upon it?—It appears as his writing, but wrote in a state of agitation I should say.

43,463. Do you believe that to be his writing?—It is very probable it is.

43,464. Just answer the question?—I believe it is.

43,465. What has become of your brother?—He is in the town.

John H. Dale.

JOHN HENRY DALE sworn, and examined.

43,466. Where do you live?—Church Street.

43,467. What is your business?—A labourer.

43,468. How much are you rated at?—£5 4*s.*

43,469. And are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,470. When were you made a freeman?—In 1826.

43,471. At whose expense?—O'Neil's.

43,472. In 1841 you voted, I believe, for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

43,473. And received some money for your vote?—Five shillings for a runner; not for voting.

43,474. You received 25*s.* as a runner, and 5*s.* after, I believe?—No.

John H. Dale.

13th July 1853.

43,475. Do not say that?—No.
43,476. Do you know George Dicks?—Yes.
43,477. Did he not receive the money for you?—I do not know that he did.
43,478. Did he pay you any money?—No.
43,479. Never paid you any?—I do not know that he did.
43,480. Your name is set down for 30*s.*, and it appears there is 5*s.* you received yourself, and 25*s.* George Dicks received on your account; is that so?—No.
43,481. Do you mean to swear you never had that?—Yes.
43,482. Was that all the money you got?—Yes, that was all the money I got.
43,483. Who did you get it from?—From the committee room in Parliament Street.
43,484. At Mr. Stark's?—Yes, I expect it was; I do not know.
43,485. Was Dicks employed at that election? I do not know?—I do not know.
43,486. He is down here as having received 25*s.* for you. Can you write?—Yes.
43,487. Did you send Dicks?—No, I did not send any one, or authorize any person to do any business for me at election times.
43,488. You know your name was set down for 30*s.*?—No, I did not know it was set down, because, when I want it set down, I can go and set it down myself.
43,489. It is set down for 30*s.*, and you got 5*s.*?—I got 5*s.* for being a messenger.
43,490. On the polling day?—Yes.
48,491. Did Dicks receive 15*s.* for you?—No, I received it myself.
43,492. Did you make any mark in a book?—No.
43,493. Or give any receipt?—No.
43,494. When was the 5*s.* paid?—It was paid after the election.
43,495. After you had voted?—Yes.
43,496. In Parliament Street?—Yes, at the office.
43,497. How long after the election? on the Saturday after?—No, I think it was a fortnight or a week after.
43,498. They waited to see how you voted?—I cannot say.
43,499. Did they refer to the poll book to see?—No, they had no occasion to do that; they knew how I should vote.
43,500. Did you go to ask for the money?—No.
43,501. Did they send for you?—Yes.
43,502. How was that?—They told me I was to be a runner on the polling day; and after that I went to get the money.
43,503. You got 5*s.*?—Yes.
43,504. Was that all you received?—All I received.
43,505. Or did your wife receive anything?—No; my wife does not do business for me.
43,506. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
43,507. Who for?—Brown and Clay.
43,508. Is Dicks in the town now?—No, he is not in the town; he is gone to Australia.
43,509. When did he go to Australia?—He went about last October.
43,510. In 1847, did you receive any money for that election?—10*s.*
43,511. Who from, and who for?—Mr. Brown.
43,512. When was it paid you?—After the election.
43,513. How soon after the election did you receive it?—I could not say to a week or a fortnight.
43,514. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.
43,515. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,516. Did you receive any money?—No.
43,517. Any promise of money?—No.
43,518. Did you get your name set down?—No, not to my knowledge; it was not set down at all.
43,519. You had received money at both the other elections?—Yes.
43,520. Are you sure you had not been promised anything?—No.
43,521. Did you apply to be a runner?—No; I got plenty of running the other elections; I did not want any more.

THOMAS DRABWELL sworn, and examined.

Thomas Drabwell.

43,522. What is your business?—A brazier.
43,523. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,524. How much?—£7.
43,525. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,526. When were you made free?—At Staniforth's election; I cannot tell the date of the year.
43,527. At whose expense?—At the members' expense.
43,528. The blue or the orange?—Staniforth and Mitchell I voted for.
43,529. That is in 1818?—I should say it was.

Thomas Drabwell.

13th July 1853.

43,530. In 1841, you voted for Clay and Thompson, I believe?—Yes, I did.
43,531. Did you receive 30*s.*?—I believe I did.
43,532. For your vote for Clay?—Yes.
43,533. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Clay.
43,534. A bullet?—Yes.
43,535. Did you receive any money for that vote?—Yes, I did.
43,536. How much?—I do not know whether it was 5*s.*, or what it was; I cannot say exactly. I quite forget, I am sure.
43,537. You do not know how much it was?—No; I am sure I do not know.
43,538. Was it as much as you had before or less? was it 30*s.*, or 1*l.* or 10*s.*?—I am sure I cannot say. I cannot call to mind.
43,539. Who paid you the money?—I got 5*s.* My son received it for me. I did not receive it myself.
43,540. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,541. Did you get your name set down?—No.
43,542. Nowhere?—No.
43,543. Did you receive any money?—Nothing at all.
43,544. Did you receive any promise?—No.
43,545. You say your name was not set down anywhere?—No; nowhere at all. I never was at any committee room whatever.

Holgate Ellison.

HOLGATE ELLISON sworn, and examined.

43,546. What is your business?—A draper.
43,547. Do you pay rent for a house or premises?—Yes; for two.
43,548. Are they separate?—Yes.
43,549. What do you pay in respect of either?—The two together, 50*l.* a year.
43,550. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,551. When did you become a freeman?—I think it was in 1839.
43,552. At your own expense or at the expense of the blues?—I have been trying to recollect the particulars of it, but I cannot remember. My impression at the time was that there was some fresh act—that the town took up the freedooms some way or other; but I do not recollect paying any money myself.
43,553. The town took it up on both sides. Which side was it, the orange or the blue that you understood at the time?—I did not understand any particular party had taken it up. I thought it was some fresh regulation.
43,554. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I believe I did.
43,555. I understand your name is down in the book?—Yes.
43,556. Did you receive money at that election?—My late father who is dead, and my brother and myself all voted for the orange party, and I believe there was 4*l.* 10*s.* received for three votes.
43,557. John Ellison received for all the three?—Yes.
43,558. You got 30*s.*?—I cannot say; it went into the family.
43,559. Your father was keeping you at the time?—Yes.
43,560. John Ellison is your father?—Yes.
43,561. And he received all the money?—Yes.
43,562. And he is dead?—Yes. It was received.
43,563. Is your brother dead, Martin Ellison?—Yes.
43,564. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.
43,565. Did you receive any money for your vote at that election?—No.
43,566. Not from anybody?—No.
43,567. In 1852 did you vote?—Yes.
43,568. Who for?—Moore and Butler.
43,569. You changed a little?—Yes.
43,570. Did you get any money from the blues?—No; not a fraction.
43,571. Did you get your name set down anywhere?—I never got a farthing in my life. What I got my father got for me the first election.
43,572. You never received anything afterwards?—No.
43,573. You voted for Clay and Baines in 1847?—Yes.
43,574. Were you employed as a messenger for Mr. Brown?—No.
43,575. Were you set down as a runner?—No.
43,576. Are you sure of it?—Positive; not that I know of. If any one set me down it is unknown to me.
43,577. Were you on the committee of Moore and Butler?—No.
43,578. Any committee?—No.
43,579. Was there any committee at your house?—Yes.

DANIEL ELWOOD sworn, and examined.

Daniel Elwood.

13th July 1853.

43,580. Where do you live?—In Baker Street.
43,581. What is your business?—Coachmaker.
43,582. Do you pay rent for a house?—The house belongs to the firm—my partner and I.
43,583. What are you rated at in your business?—Between myself and my partner 10*l.*
43,584. You are a freeman?—Yes.
43,585. When were you made free?—In 1825.
43,586. At your own expense?—Yes.
43,587. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
43,588. Did you receive some money for your vote?—No.
43,589. Your name is down in our book for 30*s.*, but you did not get paid?—I did not get any money. I never applied for it.
43,590. Your name is set down for it, is not that so, but you did not get it?—No; not that I am aware of. I might promise them my vote, but as for any money, I did not look for any.
43,591. Do you remember Mr. Thistleton? did you know him?—Yes.
43,592. He is the man that has set down the names?—I think he had done it without my authority.
43,393. Did he not apply to you?—I think not.
43,594. He was a man who used to go about the town?—I almost forget that, but I know him.
43,595. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I think I bulleted Mr. Clay; I am not certain.
43,596. Did you receive any money?—No.
43,597. None at all?—None at all.
43,598. Or any promise of any money?—None at all.
43,599. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
43,600. Did you get anything for that vote?—No.
43,601. Were you on any committee?—No.
43,602. Did you supply them with a committee room?—No.
43,603. Or any goods?—No.

JAMES FRANKISH sworn, and examined.

James Frankish.

43,604. What is your business?—A cork cutter.
43,605. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,606. How much rent do you pay?—£7.
43,607. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,608. When were you made a freeman?—In 1839
43,609. At whose expense?—The orange, I believe.
43,610. Did you vote for them in consequence of that, at the next election?—Yes.
43,611. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
43,612. And you received some money, I believe, for that vote?—Yes; I was on as a runner.
43,613. How much money did you get?—30*s.* a week. I think I was on three weeks.
43,614. You got something more besides that, did you not? an odd 10*s.* besides?—I do not recollect it.
43,615. Was 2*l.* all you got?—I was on three weeks, and got 30*s.* a week for that.
43,616. Three weeks would be 4*l.* 10*s.* You got 5*l.* to make it even money?—I am sure I do not know. I could not take an oath upon it.
43,617. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.
43,618. Did you receive any money at that election?—Yes.
43,619. How much?—10*s.* for each party.
43,620. Before or after the election?—Before for Brown, and after for Clay.
43,621. In 1852 who did you for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,622. Did you get your name put down?—I was on as a messenger.
43,623. Did you get any money?—Yes; a guinea a week for four weeks, I believe.
43,624. You got paid that?—Yes.
43,625. What committee room were you at?—West Sculcoates in Francis Street.
43,626. Who paid you the guinea a week?—The chairman, I think, paid it.
43,627. Every week?—Yes.
43,628. Were you paid any of it after the election, or all before?—There was something paid after the election. I am sure I do not know what amount it was; not much.
43,629. How much?—I do not recollect.
43,630. 30*s.*?—No, nothing of the kind,—it was not 20*s.*; I do not think it was 15*s.* I do not know exactly.
43,631. You said you got so much a week; you were paid at the end of the week some fixed sum?—Yes; I received a guinea a week for four weeks, and there was something after, but I do not know what it was.

James Frankish.

13th July 1853.

43,632. How much was that something, to the best of your recollection?—I should think somewhere about 15*s.*

43,633. Besides?—Yes, but I cannot say exactly, for I do not know.

43,634. Four guineas and 15*s.* would be 4*l.* 19*s.* altogether; does that bring to your recollection that you had 16*s.* to make up the 5*l.*? is not that it?—I could not say.

43,635. Did they not give you 16*s.* to make up the 5*l.*?—I do not know. I could not say whether it was 15*s.* or 16*s.* or 17*s.* I do not know.

43,636. It was one of those three, I think?—Yes.

William Freeman.

WILLIAM FREEMAN sworn, and examined.

43,637. Where do you live?—Caroline Street.

43,638. What is your business?—A printer.

43,639. Do you pay rent for a house?—No.

43,640. It is your own?—No; I am a lodger.

43,641. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,642. When were you made a freeman?—About 1823, I believe.

43,643. At your own expense?—Yes.

43,644. In 1841 you voted for Clay and Thompson, I believe?—I did.

43,645. Did you receive any money at that election for your vote?—No.

43,646. You got it, did you not?—No, I did not.

43,647. Your brother gave a receipt for some?—After the election I was informed by my brother they were paying. I said I should not attend, and he said he thought I was very foolish. I said he might go and get it if he liked. He applied and he got it. I said he might get it, and he went and got it.

43,648. He went to get it?—Yes.

43,649. And paid it over to you?—No.

43,650. You never received it?—No, I never received it; I authorized him to receive it.

43,651. You made him a present of it?—If he could get it he might have it.

43,652. You made him a present of it?—Yes.

43,653. You authorized him to go and try for it?—Yes.

43,654. That is his handwriting, is it not?—Yes, I should think so; he told me he had got it,

43,655. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

43,656. Clay only?—Yes.

43,657. Did you receive any money that election?—No.

43,658. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

43,659. Did you get your name set down anywhere?—No.

43,660. Were you on the committee?—No.

43,661. Did you receive any money for your vote?—No.

Adjourned till to-morrow at ten o'clock.

THIRTY-SECOND DAY.—Thursday, July 14th 1853.

John Sloman.

14th July 1853.

JOHN SLOMAN sworn, and examined.

43,662. What is your business?—I am a merchant and broker.

43,663. Where do you carry on business, or live?—In Scale Lane.

43,664. What rent do you pay?—About 85*l.*

43,665. You are a voter for the borough as a householder?—Yes.

43,666. Are you also a freeman?—No.

43,667. How long have you been a voter?—Six years.

43,668. Did you take considerable interest in the last election?—I have taken an interest in it.

43,669. For Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich?—Yes.

43,670. And voted for them?—Yes.

43,671. And canvassed for them?—Yes.

43,672. Do you know a person of the name of William Hall?—Yes, in Brook Street.

43,673. Of the Imperial Measure?—Yes.

43,674. Did you canvass him for his vote?—Yes.

43,675. He is a freeman?—At the time, I do not know; I know he was a voter, because I asked that question of course.

43,676. Did you engage a room from him?—At the time, the room was engaged by the other party.

John Sloman.

14th July 1853.

43,677. It had been engaged by the other party?—Yes.

43,678. What took place between you and him?—I asked him if he would rather vote for the blues or the orange. He told me he had always voted for the orange side, but the blues had got his wife to accept the offer for the room, so he could not fall back from it, unless he got the same from the other party.

43,679. And then I believe you agreed to take his room, and set him down as a runner?—Yes.

43,680. £3, I believe, he was to have for his room? or was the amount stated?—No, the amount was not stated.

43,681. Was it not stated how much he was to have from the blues?—He said he was to have six days for the room, at 10*s.* a day, that would make 3*l.*; but I said I did not know anything about that, but he should go to the finance committee and get paid as much as the blues had offered.

43,682. Can you give us any other information that you are aware of yourself?—Not any that would be of any use at all.

John Allen.

JOHN ALLEN sworn, and examined.

43,683. Where do you live?—Victoria Rooms, in the Trinity House.

43,684. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

43,685. How long have you been a freeman?—1812.

43,686. You voted before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

43,687. Did you used to get your two guineas a vote?—Yes, at that time, I did; that was our regular pay.

43,688. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—No.

43,689. Who did you vote for?—No one; I was at sea at the time.

43,690. I mean when Clay and Thompson, and Hanmer and James were the candidates?—No, I never voted for them at all; I was at sea at the time; that is for a certainty.

43,691. Where did you live at about 1841, when you were in Hull?—I lived in Humber Street.

43,692. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I voted for Sir Walter James and Wilberforce. That was the last time all but this.

43,693. Did you vote in 1847 when Mr. Brown was a candidate?—No, I was not here then.

43,694. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

43,695. Who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore and Butler.

43,696. Did you get anything for your vote?—No, not one single farthing.

43,697. Did you get any money at the election at all?—No, not a single farthing.

43,698. Were you employed?—No, not anyway at all.

43,699. Had you a son of the name of John?—Yes.

43,700. Is he recently dead?—He is dead, but he never took up his freedom.

G. W. Marshall.

GEORGE WALTON MARSHALL sworn, and examined.

43,701. What is your business?—I am a seaman.

43,702. Do you occupy a house?—No, I am in the Trinity House.

43,703. You are a freeman?—Yes.

43,704. When were you made free?—I think in 1825.

43,705. Did you take your freedom up at your own expense?—Yes.

43,706. At the election of 1841 when Clay and Thompson were the candidates, did you vote for them?—Yes.

43,707. You received some money I believe, at that election?—From Mr. Clay I got 15*s.*

43,708. And what did you get from Colonel Thompson?—From Colonel Thompson I got 10*s.*

43,709. Was that for your vote and services?—I am sure I do not know what it was for.

43,710. In 1847, did you vote at that election?—I voted for Clay and Baines.

43,711. Did you get the money you have told me of at the other election, before or after the election?—After the election.

43,712. All of it?—Yes.

43,713. And in 1847 you voted for Clay and Baines, I think?—Yes.

43,714. Did you get any money at that election?—I got none from Mr. Baines. I got from Mr. Clay 7*s.* 6*d.*

43,715. When was that paid to you?—It was paid to me after the election was over.

43,716. By whom?—By Mr. Galloway.

43,717. How soon after the election?—I cannot say exactly to a week or so.

43,718. Where was it paid to you?—It was against Mr. Galloway's office door, in Bishop Lane. He sent down a little boy.

G. W. Marshall.

14th July 1853.

43,719. Did you go in and get the money?—No.
43,720. Who brought it to you?—A little boy.
43,721. What did he say when he brought it?—He did not say anything, except that was what Mr. Galloway sent me down.
43,722. And you got the 7*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.
43,723. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.
43,724. For Clay and Goderich?—No.
43,725. Who for?—Lord Goderich, and Mr. Bramley Moore. I thought I would not hurt one side any more than the other.
43,726. Did you get any money?—Not a farthing.
43,727. Not from either party?—No; neither offered me any.
43,728. Were you promised any before you voted?—No. He came to the Trinity House, so I promised him one vote.
43,729. Mr. Moore, you voted for him?—Yes.
43,730. Did you get any money from him?—Not a farthing.
43,731. From his party?—No.
43,732. Nor a promise of any money?—No; I never had a promise of a farthing.
43,733. Was your name set down anywhere on any list?—No.
43,734. Before the last election?—No.
43,735. Neither for Mr. Clay, nor Mr. Moore?—Lord Goderich I voted for.
43,736. Was it set down for Lord Goderich on any list?—It was set down when they came to solicit my vote.
43,737. Were you set down as a runner, or as a messenger?—No, I was not.
43,738. They merely canvassed you, that is all?—Yes.
43,739. You voted, I suppose?—Yes; I voted in Humber Street.
43,740. You voted one for each?—Yes.
43,741. Did they both take you up to vote, or how was that?—I went in this chair (an invalid chair). There were two policemen at the door, and they got me up and lifted me into the house.
43,742. Is it your own chair?—Yes.
43,743. Did they pay you for the use of it that day?—No.
43,744. They did not give you any money?—No.

George Welburn.

GEORGE WELBURN sworn, and examined.

43,745. Where do you live?—Salthouse Lane.
43,746. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,747. How much?—£6.
43,748. Are you a freeman?—Yes; a burgess.
43,749. How long have you been a burgess?—Ever since 1806.
43,750. Before the Reform Bill, did you get your 2*l.* a vote?—Yes.
43,751. In 1841, who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.
43,752. Did you get any money for your vote?—No.
43,753. Were you employed at all as a runner?—No.
43,754. You know Thistleton?—Yes; I know him.
43,755. Did he set your name down?—I am sure I do not know; I got nothing.
43,756. Did you tell him to do so?—I do not recollect anything about that. I do not know that I did.
43,757. Do you know that you did?—I know that I did not.
43,758. You got 30*s.*, and signed a receipt for it?—I do not recollect. It is my son, I think.
43,759. Was your son to sign for you?—No.
43,760. Had he a vote himself?—Yes.
43,761. He is dead?—Yes. I had four sons, and myself.
43,762. Can you write?—Yes.
43,763. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
43,764. Who for?—Bulleted Mr. Clay.
43,765. Did you get any money then?—I got nothing then.
43,766. After the election?—In 1852, I got 10*s.*
43,767. In King Street?—Yes; for the election in 1847.
43,768. Were you not paid some money at Mr. Galloway's, in 1847?—I got 10*s.* in King Street; I was paid there.
43,769. The same year you voted for Mr. Clay, were you not paid something at Mr. Galloway's office?—No.
43,770. Are you quite sure?—Yes.
43,771. You got 10*s.* in 1852 for the election of 1847?—Yes; that is all I got for three elections.
43,772. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,773. Did you get any money then?—Not a button top.
43,774. Was your name set down?—I do not know that it was; I got nothing.
43,775. Were you promised anything?—No, I was not; nor did I get anything.

George Welburn.

14th July 1853.

43,776. Did you ask for anything?—No; I never went about it.
43,777. Did you expect to have anything?—That is another thing.
43,778. That is a thing I should like to know; did you expect to have anything?—Yes; you know there are a many people deceived when they expect anything. I was not set down for anything, so I did not expect anything.
43,779. Did you tell them you should like to be set down?—I never told them anything about it.
43,780. You never said anything about it?—No.
43,781. Did they say to you, "Do you want to be set down?"—You want to know more than I know myself.
43,782. Did anybody tell you they would set your name down?—No, they did not; not that I know of. I got nothing, nor I went after nothing.
43,783. Your son George, who is dead, used to manage for the family, and take the money for all?—He took the money.
43,784. He signed four receipts, for all of you?—He may have done.
43,785. He got the money for all of you?—He has drawn it for my other sons.
43,786. And he drew it for you and the three sons of yours in 1841; he drew the money for all the family?—I got none of it.
43,787. I see here is his name four times over (Book No. 13). Is not that so, that your son George was the manager for all the family?—He used to do it sometimes.
43,788. You knew that very well, that he was the manager for them all?—I got nothing the last three elections but that 10*s.* that I tell you of.
43,789. Do not you know that in 1841 your son George managed for you all?—I know he did not manage for me, for I never received anything.
43,790. How came you not to get the money from him—he got the money?—I cannot help that; I did not know he got it.
43,791. Did you not know very well that he went and received the money for you, and for your other sons too?—No; I did not know anything about it.
43,792. Do you mean to say you knew nothing at all about it?—I did not.
43,793. Did you not hear from your son that he had been and got the money?—No; I did not hear it.
43,794. Did you not hear that he had set your name down, and his own, and your other son's too?—I have a son here; he can answer things better than me.

John Welburn.

JOHN WELBURN sworn, and examined.

43,795. Where do you live?—Salthouse Lane.
43,796. Do you pay rent for your house?—No; I am a lodger with my father.
43,797. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,798. How long have you been free?—In 1839.
43,799. Was it taken up for you?—No.
43,800. You took it up yourself?—Yes.
43,801. In 1841, had you a vote?—Yes.
43,802. For whom did you vote?—Clay and Thompson.
43,803. Did you get any money?—I received 30*s.*, which my brother brought, and my other brother received 30*s.*
43,804. What is your other brother's name?—Thomas.
43,805. And you had a brother of the name of George?—Yes.
43.806. Did George receive the money for you three?—Yes; he brought it home and I expect he received it. My father never received any of it.
43,807. Do you know if your brother received 30*s.* on account of your father?—That I do not know—he may have received it, but my father never saw it.
43,808. Do you know he managed that part of the business for the family?—There was no appointment for the management or anything of the sort. And I did not know I should get the 30*s* until it was brought.
43,809. You know now the fact that he did get money?—For two of us that I know.
43,810. Had George a vote at that time himself?—Yes.
43,811. Do you know he got 30*s.* for himself?—I do not know that he did; I expect he would.
43,812. Look at those three signatures; he has written his name three times over. (No. 13.)—That is his handwriting I believe.
43,813. Is your brother Thomas alive?—Yes.
43,814. In Hull?—He is here I expect.
43,815. In 1847 who did you vote for?—A bullet for Clay.
43,816. Did you get paid for that?—No.
43,817. Were you paid anything in 1852, for the 1847 election?—No.
43,818. Were you not paid something at Galloway's?—No.
43,819. Are you quite sure you were not paid at Mr. Galloway's office in 1847?—I am quite sure.
43,820. Nor any of your brothers for you?—No.
43,821. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

John Welburn.

14th July 1853.

43,822. Did you get anything at the last election?—No.
43,823. Was your name set down?—No, not to my knowledge.
43,824. Did anybody speak to you about having it set down?—No.
43,825. You are quite certain that nothing of the sort happened?—Quite certain.

Thomas Welburn.

THOMAS WELBURN sworn, and examined.

43,826. Where do you live?—Salthouse Lane.
43,827. Are you a lodger, or do you occupy a house?—I am a lodger.
43,828. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,829. When were you made a freeman?—I took up my freedom I think in 1837.
43,830. Did you pay for it yourself?—Yes.
43,831. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
43,832. Did you get 30*s.*?—Yes, I received 30*s.*
43,833. Did you receive it through your brother George?—Yes.
43,834. Can you tell whether he received money on account of your father?—No, I cannot tell.
43,835. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
43,836. Clay only?—Yes.
43,837. Did you get any money on account of that vote?—No.
43,838. Not at any time?—No.
43,839. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,840. Did you get any money?—No.
43,841. Nor any promise?—No.
43,842. Nor have your name set down?—No, I never desired it to be set down.
43,843. There was nothing of the sort spoken?—No.

William Bates.

WILLIAM BATES sworn, and examined.

43,844. Where do you live?—English Street.
43,845. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,846. How much?—£6 10*s.*
43,847. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,848. How long have you been free?—Since 1840.
43,849. Did you pay for it yourself, or was it taken up for you?—Paid for it myself.
43,850. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—Yes.
43,851. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
43,852. And gave a receipt for 30*s*?—No.
43,853. Is that your writing? (No. 13.)—Yes, it is my writing, but I do not know that I received it.
43,854. I suppose you have forgotten it?—Yes.
43,855. You cannot have any doubt that you received it?—No, that is my writing.
43,856. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.
43,857. Did you get any money on that occasion?—No.
43,858. No money that election?—No.
43,859. Do you swear that?—Yes, I swear that.
43,860. You did not remember the other till shown the book; neither before nor after the election?—No, I was set on as a clerk for three days, but for my vote I got nothing.
43,861. You were employed as a clerk?—Yes.
43,862. How many days?—Three or four.
43,863. How much were you paid?—A guinea.
43,864. You asked to be employed?—Yes.
43,865. Where were you employed?—At Wharam's, was the committee room.
43,866. At Wharam's, the beer shop?—The publican's.
43,867. Who was the chairman of the committee?—Mr. Day.
43,868. Were there many members of the committee?—Yes, there were a good few.
43,869. Was it a committee of the working men, or a committee of the gentlemen managing the election?—I am sure I cannot tell what it was.
43,870. What is Mr. Day?—He was a wine and spirit merchant; he is dead.
43,871. When were you paid the guinea?—I am sure I could not tell.
43,872. Was it before or after you voted?—I am sure I do not know; it was after I believe.
43,873. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,874. Were you employed at the last election?—Yes.
43,875. Where?—At Mr. Galloway's.
43,876. In what capacity?—As a runner, taking the speeches out.
43,877. How many weeks?—I was not employed any weeks; five days I believe.
43,878. How much did you get?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day.
43,879. 17*s.* 6*d.*, is that all that you got?—Yes.
43,880. Were you paid?—Yes.

William Bates.

14th July 1853.

43,881. Before or after you voted?—Before; it was a month before the election I think.
43,882. Were you employed five days?—Only at Mr. Galloway's.
43,883. You were employed elsewhere?—Yes, at the committee room in Porter Street.
43,884. How long were you there?—Six days.
43,885. Were you paid for that?—Yes, a guinea.
43,886. Had you any other employment?—No.
43,887. Did you get any more money?—Yes; I was two weeks engaged at the working man's committee.
43,888. Where was that?—In Dock Street.
43,889. How much did you get for that?—I got 1*l.* for two weeks.
43,890. That was 2*l.*?—No; 1*l.* for two weeks, 10*s.* each week.
43,891. Who paid you?—Mr. Moat.
43,892. Was that all the money you got?—Yes.
43,893. And you voted for Clay and Goderich?—Yes.
43,894. Were you paid all those times before you voted?—All but one.
43,895. Which one were you paid afterwards?—For Porter Street.
43,896. A guinea?—Yes.

John Whitaker.

JOHN WHITAKER sworn, and examined.

43,897. Where do you live?—Trinity House Almshouses.
43,898. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,899. How long have you been a freeman?—I am sure I cannot tell you. I think, maybe forty years.
43,900. You used to get the 2*l.* a vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes; then we did.
43,901. In the year 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—No.
43,902. Did you vote for Hanmer and James?—I polled; I am sure I cannot tell you who I polled for.
43,903. Is that your mark (No. 13)? Do you remember you made a mark in a book?—No; I never made a mark in it.
48,904. Did you know Mr. Thistleton?—Yes; I knew him.
43,905. Did he ever give you 15*s.*?—No; that he never did.
43,906. Did he set your name down?—I will not say who set my name down. I cannot say rightly I am sure; I do not know. Mr. Thistleton never gave me a farthing. I never received a farthing of him.
43,907. Do you recollect getting 15*s.* at the election in 1841?—No; I never got a farthing.
43,908. Have you voted at every election since the Reform Bill?—I cannot say,—no; I have not, because I have been at sea sometimes.
43,909. Have you ever voted without receiving money?—I do not know that I have. I may have received some after the election, but never a farthing before the election. I never got a farthing before an election in my life. I have, I acknowledge, after the election.
43,910. Do you recollect receiving 15*s.* after the election?—Who for.
43,911. For Mr. Clay?—Yes; I did once.
43,912. That was in 1841, when Clay and Thompson stood?—I only polled for Mr. Clay.
43,913. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown I polled for.
43,914. Did you get any money that election?—Yes, I got 10*s.* of Mr. Brown after the election.
43,915. Did you get anything for Mr. Baines?—No; not a farthing.
43,916. At the last election who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
43,917. Did you get some money this last election?—Not till after the election. After the election I got something. I never got a farthing before.
43,918. How much?—I got 1*l.*
43,919. Where was it paid?—In Dagger Lane, George Yard.
43,920. Who paid it?—I forget the man's name, I am sure.
43,921. Did you know anybody in the room?—No; I knew none of them.
43,922. You did not know any of them?—No.
43,923. Was it Mr. Wells?—Yes; that is the man.

Samuel Brown.

SAMUEL BROWN sworn, and examined.

43,924. Where do you live?—Grimsby Lane.
43,925. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,926. How much?—£20.
43,927. Are you a freeman or a 10*l.* householder?—A householder.
43,928. And not a freeman?—No.
43,929. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes

Samuel Brown.

14th July 1853.

43,930. Who for?—Clay and Thompson.
43,931. Did you get money for it?—Yes.
43,932. How much?—30*s.*
43,933. And signed a book?—No; I did not sign any book.
43,934. Somebody signed it for you?—Yes.
43,935. "For Samuel Brown, W. H. Nicholson"?—Yes.
43,936. Were you one of Nicholson's party?—He brought the money.
43,937. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay.
43,938. Only?—Only.
43,939. Did you get any money for that?—Nothing.
43,940. No money that election?—No.
43,941. Did anybody get it for you?—No.
43,942. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
43,943. Did you get any money at the last election?—No.
43,944. Were you employed?—No.
43,945. Was your name set down?—No.
43,246. Nothing said to you about it?—Nothing.
43,947. You did not ask for employment?—No.
43,948. Had you anything to do with Mr. Nicholson in 1847?—No, nothing.
43,949 Do you know what he was doing at the election in 1847?—Well, I do not know, I am sure.
43,950. Nor at the last election?—No; nothing to do with any of them.
43,951. Did Nicholson come to you at all?—No.
43,952. At either of the last elections?—No; he never came.

John Colley.

JOHN COLLEY sworn, and examined.

43,953. Where do you live?—Porter Street.
43,954. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,955. How much?—£10.
43,956. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,957. How long?—Since 1840.
43,958. Did you take it out yourself?—Yes.
43,959. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
43,960. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
43,961. Did you get 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes; I got 30*s.*
43,962. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I voted for Clay only.
43,963. Did you get any money for that?—10*s.*
43,964. Was that before or after you voted?—After I voted.
43,965. Who paid it?—Mr. Stead paid me.
43,966. Was that all you got at that election?—That is all I got.
43,967. At the last election who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
43,968. Did you get anything for that?—27*s.*
43,969. Was it before or after you voted?—It was part before and part after I voted.
43,970. Who paid the first?—The same party—Mr. Legitt.
43,971. Did he pay both?—Yes.
43,972 Where?—At the office next to Mr. Bannister's office; he had a room taken for the purpose.

Edward Gaines.

EDWARD GAINES sworn, and examined.

43,973. Where do you live?—Chapel Lane.
43,974. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,975. How much?—£20 a year.
43,976. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,977. How long have you been free?—Thirty-five years.
43,978. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.
43,979. Did you get the 2*l.* a vote?—Yes; and it ought to be got I think. It is no use knocking about without anything at all.
43,980. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I did not vote at all; I believe I missed one election.
43,981. Do you write?—Yes; I voted for Clay and Thompson; I did not know it was that year.
43,982. Is that your writing (No. 13)?—Yes.
43,983. You did vote for them?—Yes.
43,984. And you got 30*s.*, 15*s.* before and 15*s.* after you voted?—Yes, I think I did.
43,985. And signed the book?—Yes.
43,986. In 1847 who did you vote for?—That election I missed.
43,987. At the last election you voted for Clay and Goderich?—Yes.
43,988. Did you get any money?—No.

Edward Gaines.

14th July 1853.

43,989. Were you employed?—No.
43,990. Was your name set down?—No; I never asked such a question.
43,991. Nothing was said to you about it?—No.
43,992. How came it you did not try to get the money this time?—I hardly ever did, except when it was a regular thing.

WILLIAM GRIFFIN sworn, and examined.

William Griffin.

43,993. Where do you live?—Anne Street.
43,994. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
43,995. How much?—Six guineas.
43,996. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
43,997. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1826.
43,998. Did you pay for it yourself?—Yes; I know that very well—I paid 3*l.* for it.
43,999. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
44,000. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,001. Did you get 30*s.* for it?—I did.
44,002. Was that all you got?—That was all I got.
44,003. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
44,004. Only?—Only.
44,005. Did you get any money that election?—No.
44,006. Neither before nor after?—No, I do not recollect that I received it. I never received any money for that.
44,007. Are you quite sure?—Quite sure.
44,008. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,009. Did you get any money at the last election?—No.
44,010. Were you employed?—No.
44,011. Was your name set down?—No, not that I know of.
44,012. Was anything said to you about being set down?—No, not anything.
44,013. Are you sure that nothing was said to you about being set down?—No; I do not know that any person asked me to be set down, and I never applied for anything of the kind.

JOHN HALL sworn, and examined.

John Hall.

44,014. Where do you live?—Princes Street, Mason Street.
44,015. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,016. How much?—£5 10*s.*
44,017. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,018. How long have you been a freeman?—In 1839, I think.
44,019. Did you pay for it yourself or was it paid for for you?—I paid for it myself.
44,020. Did you vote in 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—In 1841 I voted for Sir Walter James and Sir John Hanmer.
44,021. Are you sure of that?—Yes.
44,022. Where did you live in 1841?—I lived in Lincoln Street.
44,023. Is that your writing (book No. 13.)?—No.
44,024. That is not your writing?—No, it is not.
44,025. Did you get any money or not of James and Hanmer?—I received 2*l.* from a gentleman; I paid 1*l.* 14*s.* for my freedom, and they thought it was not wisdom for me to lose it, and they made me a present of 2*l.*; that was in 1841.
44,026. Did they do that before or after you voted?—After the election a good bit; I got it.
44,027. Did you ask for it?—I did not ask for it particularly, but I did not refuse it when it was sent to me.
44,028. That was paid to you by a gentleman from James and Hanmer, I suppose?—I polled for that party.
44,029. And therefore they gave you 2*l.* for your freedom, is that it?—Yes.
44,030. Was that all you got after the same election?—Sometime I think there was a committee that was formed in Wincolmlee, at a plumber and glazier's; I forget what they call the man,—Linwood I think; I received 1*l.* from them, from a gentleman I did know; he was so disguised, that no one could know him.
44,031. Was that before or after you voted?—That was after the election.
44,032. Did you get any more?—I never got another fraction.
44,033. At no other time?—No; neither before nor after.
44,034. Who did you vote for in 1847?—I voted for Clay and Baines.
44,035. Did you get anything on account of that election?—No, not a farthing.
44,036. Were you employed?—Nothing at all.
44,037. Did you get anything at the last election?—I did not poll.
44,038. Why did you not poll?—I had been very ill; I did not feel disposed to poll.
44,039. Did you get anything for not polling?—I did not get anything for not polling, in fact, a thing of that sort was not named to me, and I did not name it to the party.

John Heinsworth.

14th July 1853.

JOHN HEINSWORTH sworn, and examined.

44,040. Where do you live?—Van Diemen's Land.
44,041. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,042. How much?—Six guineas.
44,043. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,044. How long have you been a freeman?—From 1826.
44,045. Did you pay for it yourself?—Yes.
44,046. You used to vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.
44,047. Did you get the two guineas a vote?—Yes.
44,048. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,049. Did you get any money for that?—I got 30*s.* some time after the election.
44,050. Was that all that you got?—Yes.
44,051. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I voted for Clay.
44,052. Did you get any money on that occasion?—Yes.
48,053. How much?—£1 8*s.* 6*d.*
44,054. Before or after you voted?—£1 the polling day, 8*s.* 6*d.* after.
44,055. Where was it paid?—At the Baltic, in the Pottery.
44,056. By whom?—I do not know who paid the 1*l.*, but Mr. Hall paid me the other 8*s.* 6*d.* some time after.
44,057. Nicholson was there, was he not?—He was not there then.
44,058. He was of the party?—Yes.
44,059. You were one of his?—Yes, I was one of his for Clay, no one else.
44,060. Was that all you got that election?—That was all.
44,061. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,062. Did you get anything the last election?—No.
44,063. Was your name set down?—I was set down at Mr. Christie's on a bit of paper.
44,064. Was it Christie who put you down, or Pettingell?—Pettingell.
44,065. You went there for the purpose?—I was taken there on purpose; if there was anything given I should get the same as the rest.
44,066. Did you get anything more?—No.
44,067. You were not employed?—Not employed at all.
44,068. Did you see Mr. Christie there?—No, not then.
44,069. Mr. Pettingell is his grandson?—Yes.
44,070. Who went with you to Christie's dram shop? two or three more?—There was a man they called Tasker.
44,071. He took two or three more I think?—There was only me.
44,072. You heard that he took up one or two more?—Yes, I dare say he did for anything I know, but he did not tell me.

Robert Hill.

ROBERT HILL sworn, and examined.

44,073. Where do you live?—Clark Square.
44,074. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,075. How much?—Eight guineas.
44,076. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,077. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1839.
44,078. Did you pay for it yourself?—No.
44,079. Who paid for it for you?—I do not know; I believe the orange.'
44,080. You voted for the orange in 1841?—Yes.
44,081. You thought yourself bound to vote for them as they paid for your freedom?—Of course I considered so.
44,082. You voted for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,083. Did you get any money for that?—No, I think not.
44,084. Is that your writing (No. 13.)?—Yes.
44,085. Now you have no doubt you did?—Not at all.
44,086. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.
44,087. Did you get any money that election?—Nothing at all.
44,088. Not before nor after?—No.
44,089. Were you employed?—No, I was not.
44,090. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,091. Did you get any money last election?—No.
44,092. Was your name set down?—No, it was not.
44,093. Were you employed?—No.
44,094. Was anything said to you about having your name set down?—No, nothing at all.
44,095. Or about getting any money?—Not a word.

WILLIAM HIRST sworn, and examined.

William Hirst.

14th July 1853.

44,096. Are you in the workhouse at present?—No, I am not; I have been, but I am not in at present.
44,097. Are you paying rent for a house now?—I have a room I pay rent for.
44,098. You are a lodger?—Yes.
44,099. Where is it?—Steward Street, Scale Lane.
44,100. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,101. How long have you been a freeman?—Just a bit before the Reform Bill.
44,102. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—No.
44,103. Did you vote in 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,104. And got 30*s.*?—Yes, my wife did; I did not get it.
44,105. And she signed the book, I believe?—I dare say that is right.
44,106. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown, I think.
44,107. Did you get any money then?—No.
44,108. After the election?—No.
44,109. Did your wife get any?—Not that I know of.
44,110. Were you employed at all then?—Yes; I believe I was.
44,111. How were you employed,—as a messenger?—Yes; carrying colours out and such as that.
44,112. How much did you get?—I think I was five days employed.
44,113. How much did you get a day?—4*s.* or 5*s.*; I am sure I have forgotten which.
44,114. Did you get more than 25*s.* in the whole?—No; I did not get that.
44,115. You got 1*l.*?—Somewhere thereabouts.
44,116. You asked to be employed?—Yes, I did.
44,117. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
44,118. Did you get 10*s.* from Brown besides that 1*l.*?—No, I think not.
44,119. Did you get any money last election?—No.
44,120. Were you employed at all?—No.
44,121. Had you not your name set down?—Yes, I believe my name was set down at the Conservative room.
44,122. As a runner?—They called me up one day as I was passing,—I was in the workhouse at that time.
44,123. What did they say to you?—They asked me who I was going to vote for. I told them I thought I should vote for the blues. He said, "Shall I set your name down?" I said, "If you please."
44,124. Did you expect them to give you something?—He said I should have four days' pay, the gentleman who was there.
44,125. How came you not to get it?—I never got a farthing yet.
44,126. Did your wife get it for you?—No.
44,127. Did you ever go and ask for it?—No, I have not.
44,128. Why did you not go and ask for it?—Because I have not heard of any person getting it.
44,129. When you voted, you expected to get it, did you not?—Yes.
44,130. You expected them to keep their promise?—Yes.
44,131. Who was the gentleman that told you you should have the four days' pay? do you remember his name?—Mr. Watson.

THOMAS HOLDSTOCK sworn, and examined.

Thomas Holdstock.

44,132. Where do you live?—Blenheim Buildings, Osborne Street.
44,133. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,134. How much?—£5.
44,135. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,136. How long have you been free?—Since 1839, I believe.
44,137. Did you pay for it yourself?—No.
44,138. Which party paid for you?—The orange party.
44,139. Did you vote in consequence for Clay and Thompson in 1841?—Yes.
44,140. Did you get 30*s.*?—Yes.
44,141. For your vote?—Yes.
44,142. Did you get anything more that election?—No; I got 30*s.*
44,143. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
44,144. Only?—Only.
44,145. Did you get any money that election?—I got a sovereign.
44,146. Was that before, or after you polled?—It was before.
44,147. Who paid it?—I do not know the person.
44,148. Where was it paid?—In the Pottery.
44,149. Was it a man that you do not know, or a man that you could not see?—It was a young man.

Thomas Holdstock.

14th July 1853.

44,150. Where was it given?—It was given at the Pottery, in English Street. I had a sovereign offered for the blues at the same time. There were two of them.

44,151. Do you mean that they were both there, and each of them offered you a sovereign?—Yes; I took a sovereign for the orange party, and refused the blue party,—I could not take theirs.

44,152. You voted for Mr. Clay?—Yes, only.

44,153. At the last election you voted for Clay and Goderich?—Yes.

44,154. Did you get anything then?—I was on a fortnight and three days as a messenger.

44,155. Where?—In Osborne Street.

44,156. At Dr. Hodgson's?—Yes.

44,157. Did you apply to be employed?—No; Dr. Hodgson put me on. I did not apply, and I am sure I worked very hard for what I did get.

44,158. And you got paid for it?—Yes.

44,159. How much?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

44,160. Was that all the money that you got?—That was all.

44,161. Was that paid before you voted, or after?—It was paid at the week's end,—every week,—that was for a fortnight.

44,162. Was any of it paid after you voted?—No.

44,163. Did you get anything for the polling day?—Yes; I was paid for the polling day. I got 5*s.* for the nomination day, and 5*s.* for the polling day.

44,164. And this was besides the week's pay?—It was besides the two weeks.

44,165. Have you a daughter?—Yes.

44,166. Do you know whether she had any money to keep for a person of the name of Carrall?—Yes.

44,167. What is Carrall's name besides?—Frank Carrall he is christened.

44,168. Where does he live?—I think he lived somewhere in the neighbourhood of Collier Street at that time.

44,169. How much money had your daughter to keep for him?—I cannot say exactly, but I think it was not less than a sovereign.

44,170. Was that money that he got from the blues, do you know?—Yes; he got that from the blues, and then he went and voted against them. A sweet pretty fellow he was I thought.

44,171. You voted orange?—Yes.

44,172. And how long before the election did he get the blue money?—I should say it would be three or four days; in fact, he told me there were a number getting it to some amount.

44,173. Did he tell you where?—I do not know, but there was a certain number of men came out singly that received so much from the blues.

44,174. This was at the last election?—Yes, the last election.

44,175. Do you know anything more about the blues?—Nothing at present; I should like to know more about them. I think a person that will go and promise a gentleman, and take his money, and then go and do him a private injury, is a scoundrel indeed

44,176. You do not know anything more about their paying money at the last election, do you?—No, I do not.

44,177. Did you get the two sums of 5*s.* for the nomination day and the polling day?—I was on as a messenger.

44,178. You got the 3*s.* 6*d.* besides?—Yes; I got two weeks' pay at 3*s.* 6*d.* a day; that was a guinea a week.

44,179. And two 5*s.* besides?—That was the week following.

44,180. The days that you got the two sums of 5*s.*, did you also get the the 3*s.* 6*d.* for each of those days?—Yes, of course; that made it up to something like 17*s.*

44,181. Then those two days you got 8*s.* 6*d.* each day?—No; we did not get the 3*s.* 6*d.*, we got 5*s.*, but including the 3*s.* 6*d.*

44,182. Did you get the 3*s.* 6*d.* besides?—No.

44,183. 5*s.* is what you got?—Yes; they made it 18*d.* more on account of the nomination day and the polling day.

44,184. You saw this man Frank Carrall yourself?—Yes; I think it was three, or four, or five days previous to the election.

44,185. He said he got a sovereign from the blues, and voted orange?—Yes.

44,186. Did he say how much he got for voting orange?—I never heard him say that; I think he got 14*s.*

44,187. Did he say so?—Yes.

44,188. For voting orange?—Yes.

44,189. And he had a sovereign from the blues?—Yes; he said he had a sovereign from the blues.

44,190. Which your daughter kept for him?—That I do not know.

44,191. She had it to keep?—Yes.

44,192. And then he got 14*s.* for voting orange?—Yes.

44,193. Did he say where he got the money?—I think from a man of the name of Postill.

44,194. Did he say where it was paid?—He did not say to me where it was paid.

Thomas Holt'stock.

14th July 1853.

44,195. Did he say at all where it was paid?—I think he went to Mr. Postill's shop—a hairdresser's.

44,196. You were not with him?—No.

44,197. Do you know when the 14*s.* was paid him?—I believe he got it at different times; I do not think he got it altogether. I believe he got the last of it about a month or six weeks ago.

44,198. Did he get some of the 14*s.* before the election, before he voted?—No; it was after the election.

44,199. Did you hear him say that he got any more money?—No.

James Hunter.

JAMES HUNTER sworn, and examined.

44,200. Where do you live?—Manor Alley.

44,201. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

44,202. How much?—£7.

44,203. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,204. How long have you been so?—Forty years.

44,205. Did you get 2*l.* a vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

44,206. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—No.

44,207. Do you write?—Yes.

44,208. See if you wrote that, will you? that name, James Hunter (Book, No. 13.)?—No; perhaps it might be my son's.

44,209. Do you know his writing?—No, I cannot particularly say I do; it is not my writing.

44,210. Do you believe that to be your son's?—It possibly may be; but really I cannot say.

44,211. Do you believe it is your son's, James Hunter?—It is much like his, but I cannot be positive.

44,212. Whom did you vote for in 1841? Hanmer and James?—Yes.

44,213. Did you get any money for it?—I think not; I believe not.

44,214. You must know whether you got money; did you get any money at that election?—No, I think I did not; I could not be positive.

44,215. Will you swear you did not?—I would not swear it.

44,216. Before or after the election?—I think neither, to the best of my recollection.

44,217. Not through a window, or in a dark passage?—No.

44,218. You know what I mean?—Yes.

44,219. Do you ever recollect voting without getting money?—Yes.

44,220. How many times?—Particularly the last two elections.

44,221. This is three elections ago: did you get it from behind a screen?—No.

44,222. Not in 1841?—I beg your pardon——

44,223. You think you did now?—Yes.

44,224. At a blacksmith's?—No.

44,225. Then where was it?—At Mr. Binks's, the painter, in High Street.

44,226. How much did you get?—A sovereign.

44,227. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

44,228. Did you get a little of Mr. Brown's money?—No.

44,229. Are you sure you got no money at that election?—I am sure of it.

44,230. And not employed?—No.

44,231. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

44,232. Did you get any money at the last election?—No.

44,233. Are you sure you voted for them?—Yes.

44,234. Were you set down as a runner?—Not that I know of.

44,235. Did they tell you that they would set you down?—No.

44,236. Do you belong to Lowgate Ward?—Yes.

44,237. They say you are set down as a runner?—It is unknown to me if I am.

44,238. Did they not tell you that they would set you down?—No.

44,239. They said nothing to you about it?—No; I never was canvassed, or never asked by any one.

44,240. You did not ask to be employed?—No.

44,241. Did you speak to any of your fellow workmen or mates about it?—No.

44,242. Cannot you give us any account of how they came to set your name down?—I cannot. If it was set down, it was not set down with my consent, or with my knowledge.

44,243. What booth did you vote at at the last election? where did you vote?—I am sure I do not know which.

44,244. They tell us that you did not vote at all?—I am sure I did vote, but I am sure I cannot say what booth I polled at.

44,245. They say your son voted for you?—No, he did not.

44,246. Are you quite sure that is not so?—I voted for myself; I know that.

44,247. Did your son get the money?—Nothing that I know of.

James Hunter.

14th July 1853.

44,248. Do you mean to swear that he did not vote at the last election?—He told me he did not; I could not swear it.

44,249. He was not on the register, I believe?—I am sure I cannot say.

44,250. Was he?—I do not know, I am sure.

44,251. You were never canvassed?—No.

44,252. Did you know the committee room for your ward the last election?—It was in Lowgate, I believe.

44,253. Did you go there a few days after the election?—Yes.

44,254. Who did you see there?—It was a Mr. Pullen, I believe, they call the gentleman.

44,255. You went there to get your pay?—Yes; they said after the election they were giving every man that voted 10*s.*, and I went to them and they said my name was not in the book.

44,256. You went there to get it?—Yes.

44,257. And you expected to have it?—Yes.

44,258. You expected it was set down, and they said it was not? and they would not give it to you?—They said they were paying all that had voted.

44,259. And what did you say when you went?—I told the gentleman my name, and he took up a book and said there was no such name.

44,260. That no person of your name had voted?—That no such person had a vote.

44,261. What they said was, that they would not pay you because you had not voted; is that what they said?—No.

44,262. It was not said then, because you had not voted:—No; they said they had not my name in the book.

44,263. You told Mr. Pullen that it was set down, and asked for the money?—I went and asked for the money. They said they were paying all that had voted, and as I had voted, I went.

44,264. All that had voted for Moore and Butler, you understood were paid?—Yes.

44,265. And you thought you were, therefore, entitled to the money?—Yes.

44,266. And they said you were not set down?—Yes.

44,267. You saw them paying other people, did you not?—Yes.

44,268. How many were there? were there many people?—A score, perhaps.

J. Hutchinson.

JOSEPH HUTCHINSON sworn, and examined.

44,269. Where do you live?—No. 18, Garden Street.

44,270. Do you pay rent for a house?—It is my own property.

44,271. What are you rated at?—£7.

44,272. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,213. How long since have you been so?—Since 1840.

44,214. Did you pay for yourself?—No.

44,275. Which party paid for it for you?—The Reform Association.

44,276. The orange party?—Yes.

44,277. Did you vote in 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

44,278. Did you think yourself bound to vote for them, as they paid for your freedom?—No, I did not think myself bound to vote.

44,279. You thought it was fair to vote for them?—It was through a brother of mine, and I told him I would not be bound to vote for them.

44,280. You let them pay the money?—Yes.

44,281. And you did vote for them?—Yes.

44,282. And you got some money from them?—I got 30*s.* afterwards.

44,283. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Baines and Clay.

44,284. Did you get any money at that election?—No.

44,285. Were you employed at all?—No.

44,286. Did you get no money after the election?—No.

44,287. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

44,288. Did you get any money at that election?—No.

44,289. Did you have your name set down?—No.

44,290. Were you employed?—No.

44,291. Did you ask to be employed?—No.

44,292. You said nothing about it?—No.

44,293. You had nothing to do with anything of the kind?—Nothing at all.

William Jackson.

WILLIAM JACKSON sworn, and examined.

44,294. Where do you live?—Humber Street.

44,295. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

44,296. How much do you pay?—£14.

44,297. Are you a freeman?—No.

William Jackson.

14th July 1853.

44,298. Are you a 10*l.* householder?—Yes.
44,299. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
44,300. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,301. Did you get paid for it?—No; I never got a halfpenny in my life for anybody.
44,302. Was your name set down by Thistleton?—Thistleton, the barber?
44,303. Yes?—Yes; but not then.
44,304. Did he set it down before you polled?—No; I never set down at all my name.
44,305. Did he set it down?—He set it down this last election; but I never voted the last election.
44,306. You are asked about the election of 1841: did he set your name down?—No, not that I know of, he did not.
44,307. Were you employed at all that election?—No, I was employed at nothing; I never did anything at all, but go to the vote and back again; that is all. I never was at any committee, or anything of the sort.
44,308. Was nothing said to you about setting your name down in 1841?—They set my name down.
44,309. Was anything said to you about it?—No, nothing at all; I did not know that it was set down.
44,310. Then you mean to swear that you got no money?—Yes, I will; I never got a halfpenny, and I never looked for any.
44,311. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.
44,312. Did you get any money then?—No.
44,313. Were you employed at all?—No.
44,314. You did not vote at the last election?—No, I did not.
44,315. Do you know Mr. Stark, the accountant?—Yes, I know him.
44,316. Did he set your name down in 1841?—Not that I know of.
44,317. Did he speak to you about it?—No.
44,318. Were you a runner at his place?—No.
44,319. There are some other William Jacksons?—Yes; there is a William Jackson—he is a barber,—who was always a runner.

THOMAS JOHNSTON sworn, and examined.

Thomas Johnston.

44,320. Where do you live?—In the Market Place.
44,321. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,322. How much?—Altogether 150*l.* a year.
44,323. Are you a 10*l.* householder?—Yes.
44,324. Not a freeman?—No.
44,325. What business are you?—A hosier.
44,326. Did you vote in 1841?—No, I was not a voter then.
44,327. Have you ever received any money?—No; never.
44,328. At any time?—Not at any time.
44,329. Have you been on any committee?—No; I never was on any committee.
44,330. You have had nothing to do with any election but voting?—Nothing but voting.

CHARLES KING sworn, and examined.

Charles King.

44,331. Where do you live?—Ropery Street.
44,332. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,333. How much?—£5 10*s.*
44,334. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,335. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1830.
44,336. Did you pay for your freedom yourself?—No; Mr. Burke, I believe.
44,337. Which party was that?—It was the blue party.
44,338. In 1841 who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson, I think.
44,339. Were you paid 30*s.* for that?—Yes; six days' running.
44,340. You applied to be employed, I suppose?—Yes, I got my name set down.
44,341. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I was at sea.
44,342. At the last election who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
44,343. Did you get any money last election?—I got 10*s.* for two days.
44,344. Was that all you got?—That is all I got.
44,345. Who paid it?—It was at Mr. Legitt's place; I think it was Mr. Legitt paid it.
44,346. Was your name set down?—Set down for two days, that is all.
44,347. Did he pay you before or after you voted?—After I voted.
44,348. Is that all you got?—That is all I got.
44,349. Did you say you did not vote in 1847?—I was at sea.

Charles King.
14th July 1853.

44,350. Are you quite sure?—Quite.
44,351. They say you were set down as a runner for Mr. Brown?—Perhaps I might be, but I was not here.
44,352. Do not you know any other Charles King?—No.

A. Leonard.

ABRAHAM LEONARD, the younger, sworn, and examined.

44,353. Where do you live?—27, Adelaide Street.
44,354. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,355. How much?—£10 a year.
44,356. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,357. When was your freedom taken up?—The first time of Mr. Clay's coming here.
44,358. Was that in 1839, when all the other freedoms were taken up?—Yes.
44,359. Did the orange party pay for it?—Partly; I think I paid a crown.
44,360. And they paid the rest?—Yes.
44,361. Did you vote for them in 1841, in consequence?—Yes.
44,362. Did you get some money for it?—Yes.
44,363. How much? 15*s.* was it?—I received a crown first, and something afterwards; I do not know what it was.
44,364. That was 10*s.*?—I could not say.
44,365. Was that paid part after you voted?—I think it was before.
44,366. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
44,367. And Mr. Brown?—No; Clay alone.
44,368. You were a runner for Mr. Brown?—No.
44,369. Were you paid any money by Mr. Collison?—No.
44,370. Are you quite sure?—Yes.
44,371. Were you paid money by Mr. Galloway?—Yes; half a sovereign.
44,372. Was that after you voted?—Yes; the Saturday after the election.
44,373. Was that all you got that election?—Yes.
44,374. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,375. Did you get any money then?—Yes; I was set down as a messenger a fortnight previous to the week of the election, at 3*s.* 6*d.* a day, I think, and during the week of the election up to the election.
44,376. Did you act as messenger?—Yes.
44,377. Where?—At the booth in Chariot Street; and I was fully employed all the time.
44,378. Who paid you?—Mr. Casson.
44,379. You applied to be employed?—Yes, I applied.
44,380. In 1841, besides what you got, the 15*s*, did you get anything from Mr. Stark as a runner?—I received 5*s.* first, if I remember right, of Mr. Thistleton; and then I received something from Mr. Stark; I could not say what the amount was.
44,381. 15*s.* it is put down here?—Possibly it may be; I cannot say.
44,382. Did you go to ask for employment, or did they send for you in 1852? how did that happen?—I made application.
44,383. You heard that they were setting names down?—Yes.
44,384. And you went to have your name set down?—Yes, I did.
44,385. How soon after that was it that you were employed?—I should say it would be a fortnight after.
44,386. Your name was set down, but you were not employed for a fortnight?—No; my name was not set down; I made application, but I was not set down.
44,387. When your name was set down, you thought you would get some pay when the election was over?—When it was set down it was on the Monday morning.
44,388. Your name was set down as an applicant a fortnight before you were employed?—The party who I made application to to be employed did not employ me at all; that would be a fortnight prior to my being set down. When I was set down, the party I made application to caused my name to be put in a list of messengers, and it was set down.
44,389. Were you employed as soon as your name was set down?—My name was put down on the Saturday, and I went on on the Monday.
44,390. I want to know about the first application that you made?—I was not set down at all.
44,391. Did not the man to whom you applied set your name down upon a piece of paper?—I do not know; Mr. Hodgson was the first man I applied to.
44,392. Mr. Hodgson was the chairman of the committee?—Yes.
44,393. And, having applied to Mr. Hodgson, did you not expect that you would be paid, at all events?—No, not at all; because he distinctly told me he could not put me down as a messenger at that time until the election was seen more about.
44,394. In consequence of that did you apply again?—Yes, about a fortnight afterwards.
44,395. You went to the committee room?—I met Mr. Galloway, and asked him if he could put me on.

A. Leonard.
14th July 1853.

44,396. What did he say?—I think he referred me to Mr. Todd, and Mr. Todd gave me a note, if I remember right, and I took it down to Mr. Mayfield. I took this note down to Mr. Mayfield; he opened it and read it, and told me I was—this was the Monday—that I was to call on Monday morning. I did do so, and I was placed on, and I was knocking about all day.

44,397. When you went to Mr. Galloway, I suppose they asked you how you meant to vote? I suppose they understood you were to vote for the orange candidate?—No; not at all.

44,398. Did they not expect that you would vote?—I never was asked such a thing.

44,399. Did you not expect that you were to vote for the people who employed you?—I never was asked.

44,400. So you have told me; did you not expect that you ought to vote for the people who employed you?—Yes; I do not know anything different.

44,401. I suppose you said so, or understood it perfectly well? it was very well understood that you were to vote for whoever employed you, was it not?—Yes, I was always for one party; I never was a man altering about, twisting and turning.

44,402. Were you paid anything after the election was over, in 1852?—Yes, I was paid; I think I received a small sum of money from Mr. Casson on the Saturday after the election.

44,403. How much was it?—I could not call to mind.

44,404. 10*s.* was it not?—I could not say, upon my word.

44,405. Mr. Casson is in court?—He can perhaps tell better than I, if he is in court.

44,406. Have you any doubt that it was 10*s.*?—I could not say.

44,407. Have you any doubt that it was 10*s.*?—Yes, I think I have; I do not know; I could not say.

44,408. You think it was 10*s.* do not you?—I could not say.

44,409. How much do you think it was?—I do not know; I received it; I cannot call to mind; it was done with; but Mr. Casson is here, and, perhaps, can tell you.

John Casson.

JOHN CASSON recalled, and examined.

44,410. How much did you pay this man?—I always paid my messengers on a Saturday night, and there was a broken week in the election week; what I paid the man I do not know. I made a return to Mr. Galloway's office, and the money was paid by Mr. Atkinson to me, and I kept no memorandum after it.

44,411. What was paid after the election was over?—That would be for the election week; there would be 3*s.* 6*d.* a day on the Monday and Tuesday, and the nomination day, and the polling day 5*s.*

44,412. When this man says he got paid two days, have you any doubt it was 10*s.*?—Not at all.

44,413. It was either 10*s.* or 17*s.*, according to whether he was on two days or four?—Yes; in the third week, I have no doubt it would be 17*s.*; two at 5*s.*, and two at 3*s.* 6*d.* I think the men were ordered to be paid more for the nomination day and the election day.

44,414. That was a general thing, that people actually employed got 18*d.* extra for those two days?—Yes, they did; that was at my committee room; I know nothing of any other to speak positively to.

A. Leonard, sen.

ABRAHAM LEONARD, sen. sworn and examined.

44,415. Where do you live?—Bluebell Entry.

44,416. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

44,417. How much?—£5 I think.

44,418. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,419. How long have you been a freeman?—Fifty years and more.

44,420. Before the Reform Bill did you get the 2*l.* a vote when others did?—I am sure I cannot tell; I got paid the same as other people for elections.

44,421. Was that 2*l.* a vote in those days?—Yes; 2*l.* and 4*l.*

44,422. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I polled for Thompson.

44,423. And Clay, did you not?—I am sure I cannot tell now.

44,424. Did you get 30*s.*?—No, I never got anything; I never should have done.

44,425. Do you write or do you make a mark?—I write.

44,426. Then look at that book (No. 13)?—That is not my signature.

44,427. A man of the name of Anderson wrote it?—I do not know.

44,428. Do you know any other Abraham Leonard besides your son?—No.

44,429. Did you know Mr. Stark?—Yes, I know Mr. Stark.

44,430. Did you get any money from him at that election when you voted for Colonel Thompson, in 1841? Were you a runner or a messenger?—I do not know; I cannot recollect.

44,431. Were you a messenger and employed at all at that election as a runner?—No; I was no runner.

A. Leonard, sen.

14th July 1853.

44,432. Were you a messenger?—No, messenger neither.

44,433. Will you undertake to swear that you did not get any money at all?—I do not believe that I ever got one farthing at that time.

44,434. You must go further than that, and say you are sure you did not; can you say that?—I cannot recollect that I ever did, not at Colonel Thompson's election.

44,435. Clay and Thompson's election?—No; I am certain I never got anything then.

44,436. Does your son write his name, or does he make a mark?—He can write.

44,437. Did your son get any money for you, do you know?—No; I think not.

44,538. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

44,438. Did you not vote for Brown, also?—No; I did not vote for Brown. I promised him, but I never polled for him; I think it never came to a poll.

44,440. Did you get any money from him?—No.

44,441. Did not Mr. Collison pay you some money?—No, not for Mr. Brown; he never did.

44,442. Did he pay you any money for anybody?—No.

44,443. Did he set your name down?—I do not know; I think not.

44,444. Were you paid any money by Mr. Galloway, at that election?—No.

44,445. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

44,446. They say he did: they say he paid you some money.—I am sure Mr. Galloway never paid me anything for Mr. Brown.

44,447. But for Mr. Clay?—No; nor for Mr. Clay neither.

44,448. Did he never pay you any money at all?—No.

44,449. Do you swear that he never did?—Yes.

44,450. You swear that you never got any money in 1847?—I never got any money then.

44,451. When did you?—I got paid at the election as other people got paid.

44,452. The election before the last? other people got paid, did you?—What election was that?

44,453. In 1847, when Clay, Baines, and Brown were the candidates?—I never got any money from Mr. Clay, until this last time.

44,454. At the last election, who did you vote for?—I polled for Clay and Goderich.

44,455. And what money did you get?—I got 31*s.* for hard working.

44,456. What were you working at?—I carried out notes from morning till night.

44,457. Did you ask to be employed?—No; I did not.

44,458. How came they to employ you?—They came to ask me if I was out of employment, and I told them I was; and they said they would give me a job to carry a few notes out, and I went and carried them out, and they paid me.

44,459. Was that when they asked you to vote?—No; they never asked me to vote for them at all.

44,460. All they said was that they would give you some employment?—Yes.

44,461. You understood if you got their money that you ought to vote for them?—No; I did not understand anything about that.

44,462. You thought they would be just as well contented if you voted blue?—Just exactly so; it did not make any difference to me. There was Mr. Davis in the Market Place came to me and told me if I did not poll for him, he was certain I should never have a place in the Charter House, as long as his name was Davis.

44,463. Is he a blue or an orange?—I do not know.

44,464. Who were you to vote for?—I was to vote for the blue party or I should not have a place in the Charter House; Mr. Davis said so.

44,465. Did you understand, if you did vote blue that you would have a place in the Charter House?—I understood that I would not turn my back on the orange, neither for the Charter House nor for Mr. Davis.

44,466. Who is Mr. Davis?—He is a linendraper in the Market Place.

44,467. What is his other name?—Edwin Davis.

44,468. When did he say that to you?—Before the election. He came to me in the shambles, and asked me who I was going to poll for. I told him no doubt I was going to poll for Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich. He said, "You are a man that wants a Charter House berth?" I said, "If I can get one." Then he said, "if you will poll for us, I will get you one, but if not, as long as my name is Davis, you shall not have one."

44,469. How long before the election was that?—It might be a fortnight or three weeks.

44,470. Were you employed by the orange at that time?—I was employed by the orange at that time.

44,471. Did he come to you again?—No; but he went to our house, and wanted to persuade my wife to do so.

44,472 To persuade your wife to persuade you?—Yes.

44,473. She did not succeed?—She would not submit to it. He said as long as ever his name was Davis, I should never have one if I did not poll for them.

44,474. What has he to do with the Charter House?—I do not know; I cannot tell you.

A. Leonard, sen.

14th July 1853.

44,475. Is he one of the council in the corporation?—No; not that I know of.
44,476. Is he one of the town council?—I cannot tell you; I do not know.
44,477. Did he offer you any money?—No; he did not.

Mrs. Ann Loft sworn, and examined.

Mrs. Ann Loft.

44,478. Is your husband, Benjamin Loft, too ill to come here?—He is so very infirm, he could not, except he was sent for in a cab.
44,479. Does he pay rent for a house?—He lives in the Charter House.
44,480. Is he a freeman?—Yes; he was born free.
44,481. In 1841, did he vote for Clay and Thompson, and did you get 30*s.* for him?—I cannot say; I know so little about electioneering matters. I can give very little answer to it.
44,482. You know more about money matters?—It is very little I know about that.
44,483. Do not you recollect your husband sending you to get 30*s.*?—I do not recollect it.
44,484. You make a mark, do not you?—I really do not remember.
44,485. You do not write your name?—I never hardly have anything to do with anything of the kind.
44,486. When you have to sign your name do you make a mark?—I do.
44,487. Do not you recollect your husband sending you to get 30*s.*, and that you made a mark in a book for it?—It might be so, but I really cannot call to mind just now. I wish he had been able to come and answer for himself.
44,488. Did you ever go to Mr. Anderson to get money in the committee room?—I am sure I do not know.
44,489. You must recollect if you ever went to get money for your husband's vote?—I myself never hardly attended to anything of that kind.
44,490. Did you once go and get 39*s.* for your husband's vote?—I really cannot remember just now; I might, but I really cannot say, to be certain.
44,491. Did your husband vote at the last election?—Yes.
44,492. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,493. Did you get any money?—Nothing at all; he never got anything except a little polling money—not this time—none for years.
44,494. When did he get a little polling money?—I do not remember.
44,495. Did he get some the election before the last?—No.
44,496. The time before that?—No.
44,497. You remember getting polling money once for him, do not you?—No.
44,498. Never?—Never.
44,499. Here is your name with your own mark opposite to it. You know what polling money is, do you not?—Yes; when we used to get it.
44,500. And you got it now and then for your husband when he was not able to go?—Yes; he has always been able until of late.
44,501. Since he has been bad you have got it for him?—No; I never got any for him since he could not go.
44,502. While he was busy?—No.
44,503. Do you recollect seeing that book before? (Book No. 13.)—I could not see it without my spectacles.
44,504. You do not mean to swear that you did not get that money?—I cannot tell, I am sure. I cannot say anything of the kind.

William Goldsmith, the elder, sworn, and examined.

W. Goldsmith

44,505. Where do you live?—Elijah Street.
44,506. Do you pay rent for your house?—No; I am a lodger.
44,507. What business are you?—I am out of business.
44,508. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,509. How long have you been a freeman?—Forty years, perhaps.
44,510. Did you vote in the year 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—Yes; I did.
44,511. Did you get any money for it?—No.
44,512. Thistleton got it for you? he seems to have signed a receipt for you for 30*s.* Did Thistleton get money for you?—No.
44,513. For Clay and Thompson?—No; he did not.
44,514. Just look at the receipt (handing book No. 13, to the witness).—Yes; I did sign it. I recollect it now; it is so long since.
44,515. You did get that, did you?—Yes.
44,516. Did you vote at the 1847 election?—Yes; I did.
44,517. Who for?—For Mr. Brown.
44,518. Brown only?—Only Brown.
44,519. Did you get any money then?—Yes.

W. Goldsmith.

14th July 1853.

44,520. How much?—A pound.
44,521. Was that paid before or after you voted?—After.
44,522. Who by?—I cannot tell you.
44,523. Where?—I am sure I cannot tell exactly. I do not bear in mind all these little things.
44,524. You cannot tell at all who paid you?—No; I cannot at present, I am sure.
44,525. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.
44,526. Who for?—Moore and Butler.
44,527. Did you get any money then?—Yes.
44,528. How much?—A pound.
44,529. Was that paid before or after you voted?—After; I was a runner.
44,530. Who paid you that?—Charles Brown.
44,531. Where?—At his house.
44,532. Where does he live?—On the Drain Side.
44,533. You applied to be employed as a runner, I suppose?—No; I did not exactly.
44,534. Not exactly, but very nearly?—I dropped in as a runner.
44,535. Was the pound all that you got?—Yes; all that I got.

Thomas Matson.

THOMAS MATSON sworn, and examined.

44,536. Where do you live?—In the Hessle Road.
44,537. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,538. How much?—£9.
44,539. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,540. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1839.
44,541. Was it paid for for you by one of the parties?—I believe so.
44,542. Which party?—I suppose the Reform party.
44,543. You voted for Clay and Thompson?—Not in consequence of it.
44,544. But you voted for them?—Yes.
44,545. Did you get any money?—30*s.*
44,546. Was that all you got?—Yes.
44,547. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.
44,548. Are you sure of that?—Certain.
44,549. Are you quite sure you were not paid by Mr. Galloway in 1847?—I never voted at all.
44,550. Where were you?—At home, here.
44,551. Why did you not vote?—Conscience.
44,552. Did anybody pay you for not voting?—No.
44,553. What do you mean by conscience?—I am here as a witness to tell you as a Christian the truth. I had no business to vote, consequently I did not vote.
44,554. You think it wrong to vote?—I think it not consistent with my professions.
44,555. You have never voted since 1841; is that so?—Yes.
44,556. You did not vote at the last election?—No.
44,557. You do not mean it is wrong to vote without being paid for it?—No; money is no object.
44,558. You got 30*s.* then?—Yes.
44,559. But your conscience has changed since then?—Yes.

John Morriss.

JOHN MORRISS sworn, and examined.

44,560. Where do you live?—Blackfriargate.
44,561. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,562. How much?—£5; part of a house.
44,563. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,564. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1839.
44,565. Which party paid for it?—Paid for it myself.
44,566. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
44,567. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,568. Did you get any money?—Yes.
44,569. How much?—30*s.*
44,570. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
44,571. Only?—Only.
44,572. Did you get anything then?—No.
44,573. Neither before nor after?—No.
44,574. Were you employed?—No.
44,575. Was nothing said to you about having your name set down?—No.
44,576. Nothing said to you about pay?—No; nothing at all.
44,577. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,578. Had you got anything then?—No.

John Morriss.

14th July 1853.

44,579. Were you not employed?—No.
44,580. Did you apply to be employed?—No; I did not.
44,581. Was your name set down?—No.
44,582. You had nothing to do with any money then?—Nothing at all.
44,583. Nor a promise of money?—No.
44,584. Were you a runner also in 1841?—Yes.
44,585. And got 5*s.* for that, besides the 30*s.*?—That was 30*s.* altogether, with the other 25*s.*
44,586. Mr. Stark paid you 5*s.*?—Yes.

JOHN ALONZO MORRISON sworn, and examined.

J. A. Morrison.

44,587. Where do you live?—35, Richmond Terrace.
44,588. Do you pay rent for a house?—I do.
44,589. How much?—£11.
44,590. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,591. How long have you been so?—Since 1826.
44,592. Did you pay for your freedom yourself?—I did.
44,593. Did you vote in 1841?—I did.
44,594. Clay and Thompson?—I did.
44,595. Were you paid in money?—I was seven weeks clerk, engaged for Mr. Clay for the East Sculcoates division ward.
44,596. How much were you yaid?—5*s.* a day.
44,597. For seven weeks?—Yes.
44,598. Was that all the money you got?—That was all the money I got.
44,599. Did you act as a clerk every day?—I did every day.
44,600. Were you set down in Thistleton's list?—No.
44,601. But your name is there "John A. Morrison"?—It is very possible it may be there; it was not put down by me.
44,602. It is not carried out with any payment; you only got paid your salary as a clerk?—I only got my salary for the duties I performed.
44,603. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.
44,604. Did you get any money then?—No.
44,605. Were you employed at all?—No.
44,606. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Moore.
44,607. Did you get any money last time?—I did not.
44,608. Any employment?—No employment.
44,609. Are you quite sure? It is said you were paid by Mr. Galloway for Mr. Clay in 1847?—I was not.
44,610. How come you to vote one and one; that is a thing I cannot understand?—I might be under this impression. I have been in the employ of Mr. William Thomas for upwards of thirty-six years, and I have invariably voted against him, and it made very little difference to me. He has been a most kind and liberal employer towards me, and I thought it was no less than I could do to vote in that interest.
44,611 Which interest?—For Mr. Moore's party. Mr. Thomas never once inquired of me which way I should vote, knowing I always did vote on the orange side, and I did that on my own account; it was my own free offering.
44,612. It would have been just as good if you had stayed away altogether?—So it would very possibly, but sometimes you have your own whims about these things.
44,613. Were you at the blue supper at the De-la-Pole Tavern?—I was.
44,614. Tell us something about that;—that was at the last election?—Yes; a blue supper ticket was sent to me.
44,615. How long before the election?—I should say three or four weeks before the election.
44,616. Of what parties was the supper formed, and on what ground was it given, do you know?—A ticket was sent down to me at half past six; the supper was to take place at seven. I did not arrive until eight, and I was placed in an anteroom with about six or seven or eight more; but I never went into the principal room where the chairman and vice-chairman sat. I certainly looked in at the door, and saw Mr. Harris and Mr. Ward, a clergyman of this town, and Mr. Yeall, and a person of the name of Pullen, but I did not go into the large room; I only stayed at the door.
44,617. You had your supper in a small room?—Yes.
44,618. That was because there was not room in the large one?—Yes.
44,619. How many people were there at the supper, about?—I understood somewhere rather more than a hundred.
44,620. Were they voters?—All of them voters, as I understand.
44,621. And were they all blue voters?—I could not say to that, because I was not one myself.
44,622. Did you understand it was a supper of the blue party?—I did not understand it till I got there. I did not know what the purport of it was.

J. A. Morrison.

14th July 1853.

44,623 When you were there you saw it was a supper of the blue party?—Yes.

44,624 Did the persons who supped there pay for their own suppers?—No.

44,625. It was paid for for them?—Yes.

44,626. Do you know who paid for it?—I do not. I should think the most ready way to get to know would be—Mr. Wood, the reporter of the Hull Packet, sat next to me, and got the report. He was allowed to go into the room, and I should think he could give you all the evidence of who were there and all the speeches.

44,627. Were there any toasts given?—I never heard any toasts given.

44,628. Did you stay all the time?—No; I took a glass of wine, and came down stairs immediately.

44,629. Was Mr. Barkworth there?—I do not know Mr. Barkworth, although a native of the town.

44,630. Was Mr. Pullen the deputy chairman?—He was.

44,631. He seemed to be the manager?—Yes.

James Murray.

JAMES MURRAY sworn and examined.

44,632. Where do you live?—In Mason Street.

44,633. Do you rent a house?—No; it is my own.

44,634. What is it rated at?—£12.

44,635. What business are you?—I have been the master of a ship.

44,636. Are you a freeman?—No; not a freeman.

44,637. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—I think I did.

44,638. Did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I think I did.

44,639. Did you get any money on that occasion?—None at all.

44,640. Was there a committee room taken in your house in 1841?—No; never.

44,641. No committee room engaged?—Not one.

44,642. You never were paid as for a committee room?—Nothing at all; never in my life.

44,643. You are quite sure you never had any money paid to you on account of the candidates at any election?—Quite sure; I never got a farthing or gave a farthing in my life.

44,644. Was your name set down?—No; not that I know of; I never promised anyone.

44,645. Do you know another James Murray?—I do not. I know an Edmund Murray in Bond Street, but I never promised any one.

George Nelson.

GEORGE NELSON sworn, and examined.

44,646. Where do you live?—Dixon Square, Market Place.

44,647. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; I am a lodger.

44,648. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,649. How long have you been so?—Fourteen years.

44,650. Did you pay for your freedom yourself?—I did.

44,651. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—Yes.

44,652. Who for?—Clay and Thompson.

44,653. And got paid for it?—Yes; I was employed by Thistleton as a runner, and got 30*s.* for it.

44,654. Employed as a runner, where?—At the Blanket Row committee room.

44,655. You were on Thistleton's list?—Yes; I got 30*s.*

44,656. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Clay only.

44,657. Were you paid at that election?—Yes; I got 10*s.* for my expenses. I was in Lincolnshire, and I was sent for, and came over, and I got 10*s.* at the Wilberforce rooms.

44,658. Were you not paid something at Mr. Galloway's also?—Not a halfpenny.

44,659. How far did you come from?—From Cleethorpe; I was very ill at the time.

44,660. How did you come?—By steam packet from Grimsby.

44,661. What did it cost you?—I think the fare was 1*s.* each way, and I was here two days, and I had to pay my lodgings at Cleethorpe at the time; I took a bed for a week, and I charged 10*s.*, and got it. Mr. Stead, I think, paid me.

44,662. Is that all you got?—That is all I got.

44,663. You mean you were paid for your lodging here for two days?—Yes.

44,664. What did you want to stay here two days for?—They would not pay me till a day or two after the election. I was detained a day or two before I got it.

44,665. Did you charge for those two days?—I charged 10*s.* altogether; they asked me what my expenses were, and I said 10*s.*

44,666. What were your expenses?—My fare each way in the packet, and a shilling a night at Cleethorpe.

44,667. That was for your lodgings at Cleethorpe?—Yes.

44,668. That is 4*s.*?—There is no more than my time.

George Nelson.

14th July 1853.

44,669. The last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,670. Did you get any money then?—Not a halfpenny.
44,671. Were you employed?—No; not in any way.
44,672. Was your name set down?—No.
44,673. Was nothing at all said to you about money?—Nothing at all.
44,674. Nor any promise?—No, not any.

JAMES NICHOLSON sworn, and examined.

James Nicholson.

44,675. Where do you live?—Marine Place, Henry Street, Pottery.
44,676. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,677. How much?—£6 11*s.*
44,678. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,679. When was your freedom taken up?—About forty-five or forty-six years since.
44,680. Did you pay for it yourself?—Yes.
44,681. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes; a long while.
44,682. Did you use to get your 2*l.* and 4*l.*?—We used to get the 2*l.* and 4*l.*
44,683. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes; I think I did.
44,684. Did William Henry Nicholson get 30*s.* for you?—Not that I know of.
44,685. Did you get 30*s.*?—I am sure I cannot tell you now since that time; perhaps I might.
44,686. You think you did, perhaps?—Perhaps I did; I cannot say exactly. You will have it down, and most likely it will be correct if you have it down in the book.
44,687. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I polled for Mr. Clay and Mr. Brown.
44,688. You were one of William Henry Nicholson's party at that time?—I was one at Mr. Hall's, the Baltic; that was the man that had the party.
44,689. William Henry Nicholson was one of the party?—Yes; he was there.
44,690. He rather managed for you?—He did not manage for us; he managed for Hall, because Hall was shortsighted.
44,691. Is William Henry Nicholson any relation of yours?—Yes; he is my son.
44,692. He may have got the money for you in 1841?—I cannot exactly say about that.
44,693. How much did you get in 1847 at the Baltic?—I got a sovereign, they tell me, from Mr. Galloway,—I am not sure,—and we got 19*s.* from Mr. Brown.
44,694. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
44,695. What did you get this time?—I got 17*s.* 6*d.*
44,696. Who paid you that?—I do not know who it was that gave it me; I got it on the basin side, close beside the dock basin.
44,697. Did you go into a room for it?—Yes.
44,698. Were there many people in the room?—No.
44,699. How many?—There was only myself and the man that paid me, I think, at the time.
44,700. You do not know him?—No; I should not know him again if I was to see him.
44,701. Were there more waiting outside?—Yes; there were a many waiting outside, and many before. I did not get mine till a good bit after the election, but it was for my services for running about, I expect.
44,702. How many were there waiting about the door?—I dare say there were a score.
44,703. Can you tell us a little more particularly where it was?—I am sure I cannot tell you the number of the house.
44,704. Was that all you got for the last election?—That is all I got for the last election.
44,705. Had your son anything to do for you this last election?—Only to attend to carry the notes out; that made them give me 17*s.* 6*d.*, I expect.
44,706. But your son, was he engaged?—I cannot say anything at all about him; he is upgrown, a man for himself now, and I cannot tell what he transacts; he does not tell me what he transacts.
44,707. Did he do anything for you this last election?—No; nothing at all.
44,708. Did he ask you for your vote?—No; besides if he had it would not have been any better, because if he had been for the other party, I should have been for Bramley Moore.
44,709. You did not tell him to make a bargain for you?—No; I did not.
44,710. Was he very busy about the election?—No; he was, whether or no, going to the poll, as I could learn.
44,711. Was he not very busy during the election time, about election matters?—No; not that I know of; he does not live with me; I cannot say what he was doing; I do not see him perhaps more than once a month, for all he lives in the same street.
44,712. Had you a son of the name of James Nicholson?—I had.
44,713. Is he dead?—He died in Bombay.

James Nicholson.
14th July 1853.

44,714. How long ago?—About eighteen months ago.
44,715. Was he of the party at the Baltic?—Yes; he was at the Baltic.
44,716. And he got money as you did?—Just so.
44,717. In 1841 and 1847, both?—Yes.

P. Nequest, sen.

PETER NEQUEST, sen., sworn, and examined.

44,718. Where do you live?—Cogan Terrace.
44,719. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; it is is my own.
44,720. What is it rated at?—£12.
44,721. Are you a freeman?—No.
44,722. A 10*l.* householder?—Yes.
44,723. Did you vote in 1841?—No.
44,724. Did you not vote when Clay and Thompson were candidates?—No; I believe not.
44,725. Here, you signed your name (Book No. 13)?—Maybe I did, I have forgotten; it may be the case.
44,726. This will refresh your memory; is that your writiting?—Yes.
44,727. Now you think you did vote?—Yes.
44,728. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,729. And got 30*s.*?—I do not know that I got anything; I am sure it has quite slipped my memory.
44,730. But that is your writing?—Yes, it is.
44,731. In 1847, did you vote?—Yes.
44,732. Who for?—Brown and Baines.
44,733. Were you paid for either of those parties?—I had 5*s.* from Mr. Brown, or that party.
44,734. Was that all you got at that election?—That is all I got.
44,735. Either before or after?—Before or after.
44,736. Where were you paid the 5*s.*?—In a public house at the end of West Street I do not know the name of the house.
44,737. Was it the Blue Bell?—Yes; I believe it was.
44,738. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,739. Were you paid anything?—No.
44,740. Were you employed?—Yes.
44,741. Where?—Put down as a runner in Saville Street.
44,742. And not paid anything?—No.
44,743. You expected to be paid when others were?—Yes, that I did, of course; they had me employed the polling day to run for them.
44,744. You were employed the polling day?—Yes; they sent for me the day before.
44,745. Were you not paid for that?—No; not a farthing.
44,746. At the time you voted, you expected you would be paid?—Yes; to be sure I did.
44,747. It was at Wilde's, at 21, Saville Street, that you were set down?—Yes.

W. Nicholson.

WILLIAM NICHOLSON sworn, and examined.

44,748. Where do you live?—No. 37, Roper Street.
44,749. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,750. How much?—£7.
44,751. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,752. How long have you been free?—From 1839.
44,753. Was it paid for you?—It was paid for me.
44,754. By which party?—The Reform party.
44,755. Did you vote for them in consequence in 1841?—In 1841 I voted for Clay Thompson.
44,756. I suppose you thought you ought to vote for them in fairness, as they paid for your freedom?—Decidedly.
44,757. Did you get any money?—Yes; I was paid as a runner.
44,758. How much?—30*s.*
44,759. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Brown and Baines.
44,760. Were you paid anything then?—No.
44,761. Neither before nor after the election?—No.
44,762. You were not of the Baltic party?—No; I was not.
44,763. Are you any relation to those Nicholsons?—No, not at all; I have not a relation of the name of Nicholson living, except my own family.
44,764. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.
44,765. Who for?—Moore and Butler.
44,766. Did you get anything?—No.

W. Nicholson.

14th July 1853.

44,767. Were you employed?—No.
44,768. Or set down?—No.
44,769. You had nothing to do with anybody?—Nothing at all.
44,770. Were you ever at any of the committee rooms?—No.
44,771. Were you canvassed for your vote?—I was canvassed by both parties.
44,772. How came you to vote for Moore and Butler?—By my own wish.
44,773. I only want to know the reason?—By my own wish.
44,774. The orange party took your freedom up?—Yes; but I did not vote for the orange party the time before.
44,775. Not in 1847?—No.
44,776. You thought, voting once, you had worn out that?—Yes.
44,777. They were all orange in 1847? there were no blues? Who did you consider the blues?—Mr. Brown was considered a blue; I believe he took the colour of blue. It was for Brown and Baines I polled.
44,778. But Baines was an orange, was he not?—No; pink.
44,779. He was a reformer?—Yes.

W. D. Pere.

WILLIAM DENNIS PERE sworn, and examined.

44,780. Where do you live?—In New George Street.
44,781. Do you pay rent for a house?—No.
44,782. Are you a lodger?—No; it is my own house.
44,783. What is it rated at?—£8.
44,784. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,785. How long have you been a freeman?—Twenty three years.
44,786. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.
44,787. Did you get the 2*l.* and 4*l.*?—No.
44,788. Never?—No.
44,789. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
44,790. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
44,791. And got paid?—Yes; 30*s.* I believe.
44,792. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
44,793. Who did you vote for?—For Mr. Clay.
44,794. Only?—Only.
44,795. Did you get anything then?—No.
44,796. Neither before nor after?—No.
44,797. Were you employed?—No.
44,798. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes, I did.
44,799. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
44,800. Did you get any money then?—No, I did not.
44,801. Were you employed?—No.
44,802. Was your name set down?—No.
44,803. Was nothing said to you about money at all?—No.
44,804. Or about employment?—No.
44,805. You were to have nothing for you vote?—Nothing that I am aware of.
44,806. Were you ever at any of the committee rooms?—Only on the day of the election, I was in the Wilberforce rooms, that is all.
44,807. What were you there for?—I only went there to see the stir, that is all.
44,808. You did not go there to get your name set down, or see what you could get?—No.

S. Ounsworth.

SAMUEL OUNSWORTH sworn, and examined.

44,809. Where do you live?—Ann's Court, Spencer Street.
44,810. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,811. How much?—£4 10*s.*
44,812. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,813. How long have you been so?—Between forty and fifty years.
44,814. Did you get the 2*l.* and 4*l.* before the Reform Bill?—I did.
44,815. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I believe for Clay only.
44,816. You got 30*s.* for it?—A pound, I believe.
44,817. You signed your name to 1*l.* 10*s.*?—No.
44,818. Here is your own signature.—I may be mistaken.
44,819. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Clay.
44,820. Were you of the party at the Baltic?—No.
44,821. Were you paid any money?—Not a farthing.
44,822. Are you quite sure you were paid nothing at that election?—I am sure I received nothing but in 1841; from that time I never received anything.
44,823. You were not of Nicholson's party, or Hall's party, at the Baltic?—No.
44,824. Had you no promise in 1847?—No.

S. Ounsworth.

14th July 1853.

44,825. Did you apply for anything?—I applied in the year 1841.

44,826. After 1841—in 1847?—No. I think that was not Mr. Clay's election, was it?

44,827. Yes; Clay and Baines?—I think it was Colonel Thompson I got the money for.

44,828. You are asked how you came not to get money in 1847?—I never applied for it.

44,829. You did not hear that the money was stirring?—No; I never thought that anybody got anything.

44,830. You got none at the last election?—No.

44,831. Was your name set down at the last election?—Yes. I believe they canvassed me for my vote.

44,832. Was it set down as a runner?—No.

44,833. Or to get money when others did?—I never got a farthing that way.

44,834. You are asked whether it was set down to get money after the election was over?—No.

44,835. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

44,836. Was your name set down?—No. I never got any money, nor never was promised any.

44,837. Did you ask for any?—No; I never asked for any.

44,838. Did you ask for any emplopment?—No.

44,839. Was nothing said to you at the election about being paid for your vote?—No.

44,840. Or being paid for your employment?—No; nothing was said of the kind. I recollect I had a son at the time at my house ill with the rheumatics, and Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich came to solicit my vote; in consequence of that I asked him if he would allow a little for the young man who had been so many weeks out of work, and he told me he could not, because it would be considered as bribery; therefore, you know, I got nothing, and there was no promise of anything.

44,841. Was that the only time you spoke of getting something?—That was the only time I spoke of that.

44,842. Was that your son, Joseph Ounsworth?—Yes.

44,843. Was that the son you are speaking of?—No; he is a stonemason; that is the shoemaker.

44,844. He did vote after all?—He lived at London, but he came down for the good of his health—the one I speak of.

44,845. Did your sick son vote?—No.

44,846. What was his name?—John.

44,847. Was he a voter?—Yes; he is a freeman.

Mark Peterson.

MARK PETERSON sworn, and examined.

44,848. Where do you live?—New George Street.

44,849. Do you pay rent?—Yes.

44,850. How much?—£5.

44,851. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,852. How long have you been a freeman?—Since Mr. Mitchell's first election; he was here twice.

44,853. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

44,854. Used you to get the 2*l.* before?—Yes.

44,855. In 1841 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

44,856. And Thompson?—I think not, but I will not be sure of that.

44,857. Did you get 30*s.*?—No.

44,858. How much?—Nothing.

44,859. Is there any other Mark Peterson besides you?—No, not in Hull that I know of.

44,860. They have put you down that you got 5*l.*?—No; I cannot do that.

44,861. £5 altogether; that you were a runner at Mr. Stark's for five weeks at a pound a week?—That was Mr. Hutt's election.

44,862. No; when Clay and Thompson were the candidates, you were paid for several weeks by Mr. Stark?—Yes, I was paid, but that was at Mr. Hutt's election.

44,863. No; it was in 1841 when Mr. Stark paid you?—Then I was paid there; it is my mistake.

44,864. You were paid for five weeks, were you?—Yes.

44,865. Four weeks at 25*s.* a week, is that it?—Yes.

44,866. Was that as a runner or a messenger?—As a runner.

44,867. And you applied for work?—Yes.

44,868. Did you get any more?—No.

44,869. What did you do in 1841?—Carry notes out, and letters when they were wanted.

44,870. Were you out of work?—Yes.

44,871. Did you understand if you were employed and got work, that you were to vote for Mr. Clay?—No; I never voted for a man in my life; I never was asked by the master to vote.

Mark Peterson.

14th July 1853.

44,872. Did you expect, if you got employment, that you were to vote for Mr. Clay?—Yes, of course.

44,873. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay only.

44,874. Did you vote for Baines or Brown?—No; nothing to do with them; I never saw them.

44,875. Did you get any money that election?—No, I did not ;but after the election I got a pound.

44,876. Who did you get it from?—I believe they called the gentleman Sissons that brought it to me.

44,877. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

44,878. Did you get anything that last time?—Yes.

44,879. How much?—I was employed as a committee man and received 3*l.* after the election was over.

44,880. Where were you employed as a committee man?—In the Sykes Street committee room; after the election, about a fortnight.

44,881. Who paid you?—I forget the gentleman's name, in Trinity House Lane.

44,882. What did you do?—I canvassed.

44,883. You did not go and sit at the committee, and decide what the committee was to do?—No, I did not; I was there some time.

44,884. Who employed you?—Mr. Sissons.

44,885. Did you ask to be employed?—They came to me and asked me. They canvassed me and they said I might go there and they would set my name down, and I went.

44,886. They came and canvassed you for your vote, and told you to go and get your name set down?—Yes.

W. Randerson.

WILLIAM RANDERSON sworn, and examined.

44,887. Where do you live?—Snell's Entry, High street.

44,888. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

44,889. How much?—£6.

44,890. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,891. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1824.

44,892. You polled before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

44,893. And got your two guineas and four?—Yes.

44,894. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

44,895. Did you get 30*s.*?—Yes.

44,896. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.

44,897. Did you get any money at that time?—No.

44,898. Were you employed?—No.

44,899. Was your name set down?—No.

44,900. How came you not to get money then?—I was very busy at the time.

44,901. At the last election who did you vote for?—Goderich and Clay.

44,902. Did you get anything at the last election?—No.

44,903. Was your name set down?—No.

44,904. Were you employed?—No.

44,905. Did you ask for employment?—No.

44,906. Was anything said to you about being employed or paid?—No; nothing was said to me.

John Rhoades.

JOHN RHOADES sworn, and examined.

44,907. Where do you live?—New George Street.

44,908. Do you pay rent?—Yes.

44,909. How much?—£14.

44,910. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,911. How long?—Since 1839.

44,912. Was it taken up for you?—Yes.

44,913. By which party?—The orange.

44,914. Did you vote in consequence in 1841?—Yes.

44,915. For Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

44,916. Were you paid 30*s.*?—No.

44,917. How much?—10*s.*

44,918. £1 10*s.*?—10*s.* is all I got.

44,919. Thomas Swift you employed to receive the money?—Yes.

44,920. He gives a receipt for 30*s.*?—I only got 10*s.*

44,921. Was he to have a pound himself?—No; certainly not.

44,922. He got 1*l.* 10*s.* for you?—He only gave me 10*s.*

44,923. Do you know where he lives?—No; I have not seen him for years.

44,924. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

44,925. Did you get anything then?—No.

John Rhoades.

14th July 1853.

44,926. Nothing before nor after the election?—No.
44,927. Were you employed?—No.
44,928. Who did you vote for last election?—Clay and Goderich.
44,929. Did you get any money?—No.
44,930. Were you employed?—No.
44,931. Was your name set down?—No.
44,932. Nothing said to you about employment or pay?—No.
44,933. You are quite sure?—Quite sure.

John Robinson.

JOHN ROBINSON sworn, and examined.

44,934. Where do you live?—Sykes Street, Princes Gardens.
44,935. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,936. How much?—£4.
44,937. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
44,938. How long?—1826, I took my freedom up.
44,939. You used to get the 2*l.* and 4*l.*?—Yes.
44,940. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—No. I was in the blue party. I always have been blue ever since I polled.
44,941. Did you vote for Hanmer and James then?—Yes.
44,942. Did you write your name?—I can write it, but very badly.
44,943. Did you get any money from Hanmer and James?—Yes.
44,944. How much?—£1, I believe.
44,945. Was that all?—£1.
44,946. Are you sure only 1*l.*?—I cannot recollect any more.
44,947. When was it paid, before or after you voted?—After the election.
44,948. Who by?—I cannot tell you who by.
44,949. The man was disguised, you could not see who it was?—I do not know who it was.
44,950. Is not that so?—I have a bad memory; it is now so long since. I know I got 1*l.*
44,951. You did not see the man's face?—No.
44,952. Is that your writing (No. 13.)?—Yes; I should not wonder, but what it is.
44,953. How comes that? that is 30*s.* from the orange?—It is not my name then; I never polled for the orange, or had a halfpenny of them; that I can take an oath of. If I never was to move out of the place.
44,954. You think that is your writing?—I could not swear to it; it is badly wrote; I am not a writer.
44,955. At that time, did you know another John Robinson?—There are several John Robinsons, no doubt.
44,956. In 1847, who did you vote for?—For the blues; that would be for Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown.
44,957. Did you get any money then?—I got 10*s.* from Brown, nothing from Baines.
44,958. Was that before or after you voted?—After I voted.
44,959. Where?—I cannot tell you; in Wincolmlee—Mr. Yeal paid it.
44,960. At the last election, who did you poll for?—Moore and Butler.
44,961 Did you get anything that time?—I got 1*l.*
44,962. Before or after you voted?—After I voted.
44,963. Where?—I got paid in Saville Street. Mr. Purdon paid me; the auctioneer.
44,964. Was that at a committee room?—No; the committee room was in Worship Street, that I belong to.
44,965. Where did he pay?—At his own house.
44,966. Were there other people there waiting to be paid?—Not when I went.
44,967. You saw nobody but Purdon?—No.
44,968. How came you to go to Purdon?—I got to know that he was paying, that is all.
44,969. Somebody told you they had been paid by him?—Yes.
44,970. Who is that?—Some of the men.
44,971. Who told you?—I got paid at twice. I got 10*s.* at first.
44,972. Who told you to go to Mr. Purdon?—Some other freeman. I cannot tell exactly now who it was.
44,973. Was there more than one told you so?—There was some one came to our house to tell me the second time; that is all I know. I could not swear that is my writing at all. I am certain I never got a halfpenny from them.

John Scott.

JOHN SCOTT sworn, and examined.

44,974. Where do you live?—In Francis Street, East.
44,975. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
44,976. How much?—£14.

John Scott.

14th July 1853.

44,977. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,978. How long have you been a freeman?—It will be twenty eight years since I got my freedom, or 1827, one or the two.

44,979. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

44,980. Did you get 2*l.* and 4*l.*?—No; I never got anything.

44,981. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

44,982. You got something then?—Yes; I got 30*s.*

44,983. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay alone.

44,984. Did you get anything then?—I think after the election sometime I went to Mr. Galloway's office to get 5*s.*; but they told me it was not in the shape of paying for the election. He would make a present to me.

44,985. Is that all you got?—That is all I got so far for it. I have not had anything else.

44,986. You went to him to ask for something?—A report was going that they were paying something; however, they denied it when I got there that they were doing anything of the sort.

44,987. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

44,988. Did you get anything then?—Not a halfpenny.

44,989. Was your name set down?—No.

44,990. No promise?—No; not a promise of anything; never had it put to me, or never asked.

44,991. Did you not go and look if they were paying?—Not anywhere.

44,992. Never had anything to do with it?—Not anything to do with it. I did not promise any person till I went to poll myself.

44,993. Did you go to Saville Street at all?—No, I never knew there was such a place.

44,994. You did not know there was such a place?—I knew there was such a place.

44,995. You did not know there was a Mr. Wilde?—I did not know there was such a man in the town, until the scrutiny took place.

Matthew Robson.

MATTHEW ROBSON sworn, and examined.

44,996. Where do you live?—Clark Square, Sykes Street.

44,997. What rent do you pay?—Eight guineas.

44,998. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

44,999. How long?—Since 1818.

45,000. Did you get your two guineas and four guineas before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

45,001. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

45,002. And got 30*s.*?—Yes.

45,003. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I bulleted Mr. Clay.

45,004. Did you get anything that election?—No.

45,005. Were you employed at all?—No.

45,006. Got nothing?—Nothing.

45,007. The last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

45,008. Did you get anything then?—No.

45,009. Any promise?—No.

45,010. Was your name not set down?—No.

45,311. Nothing said to you about it?—Oh dear, no; nothing of the kind.

45,012. About promise or money?—No.

45,013. Are you sure of that?—Quite sure.

45,014. Did you expect six days' pay?—I did not expect anything of the kind; I never got a promise of anything of the kind.

45,015. You were not promised it, but did you expect six days' pay?—No, I never expected it.

45,016. How came you to get nothing in 1847?—I never thought of anything of the kind; my name was put down in 1841, and I did not know anything about it.

Thomas Shaw.

THOMAS SHAW sworn, and examined.

45,317. Where do you live?—Air Street.

45,018. What rent do you pay?—£20.

45,019. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,020. Did you vote in 1841?—No, only voted this last election; never before.

45,021. Who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

45,022. You are right, I suppose? you are quite sure of that? There is a Thomas Shaw here (No. 13.)?—It is not me.

45,023. Did you get anything from Moore and Butler?—No.

45,024. No money at all?—No.

45,025. Were you employed.?—No.

Thomas Shaw.
14th July 1853.

45,026. Any room taken at your house?—Nothing but just go to the poll and back again; that is all I had to do with them.
45,027. That is all you had to do with the election?—Yes.
45,028. Do you know anybody else of your name?—There are a many Thomas Shaws', but not in Air Street.
45,029. Look at that handwriting, and tell me if you know whose it is?—I do not.
45,030. It is not your own?—No.

William Siddons.

WILLIAM SIDDONS sworn, and examined.

45,031. Where do you live?—Air Street.
45,032. What rent do you pay?—£3 15*s.*
45,033. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
45,034. How long have you been free?—Since in 1839.
45,035. Was your freedom taken up for you?—Yes.
45,036. By which party?—The orange party.
45,037. Did you vote for them in consequence in 1841?—Yes.
45,038. Did you also get 30*s.*?—I got nothing except 5*s.* for being a messenger on the day of the poll, for Clay and Thompson.
45,039. You were a messenger on the polling day?—Yes.
45,040. Did you have your name set down before that for employment?—Yes, as a runner at that day.
45,041. You were one of the 5*s.* men on the polling day?—Yes, and a very dear 5*s.* it was; I worked very hard I am sure for it.
45,042. Did you work so far as to go and vote during the time?—I was from booth to booth.
45,043. Did it encourage you to go and vote?—Yes.
45,044. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay only.
45,045. Did you get anything that election?—Not a farthing.
45,046. Were you employed at all?—No.
45,047. At the last election, did you have any money?—No.
45,048. Were you employed?—No.
45,049. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,050. Was your name set down?—Yes.
45,051. Where?—In Chapel Lane.
45,052. You were to have been paid if others were?—I never expected it.
45,053. What did you go there to have your name set down for?—No one asked me, and I never asked any one; they were setting names down, and I went to get mine down.
45,054. That was in order to get something if others did?—I never expected it.
45,055. Tell us something that we can believe. Do you mean to say you set it down to see how your name would look on paper? You never had seen it on paper before?—I did not see it on paper; a man wrote it down.
45,056. You went there for the purpose of having it set down?—Decidedly.
45,057. You know what setting down names is, because you had your name set down in 1841. When was it set down?—It was before the last election.
45,058. How long before the election?—I cannot tell to a day or two, perhaps a week.

William Simpson.

WILLIAM SIMPSON sworn, and examined.

45,059. Where do you live?—Osborne Place, Osborne Street.
45,060. What rent do you pay?—I am a lodger.
45,061. You are a freeman?—Yes.
45,062. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1834.
45,063. By which party was your freedom taken up?—The orange party, I believe.
45,064. Did you vote for them in consequence in 1841?—Yes.
45,065. Were you also paid money?—No.
45,066. £1 10*s.*?—No such thing; I never received a farthing. (Book 13 was produced.)
45,067. That is your receipt? Do you write? Yes.
45,068. Just see if that is your writing (handing book 13.)—No.
45,069. Is not that your writing?—No.
45,070. You swear that?—I swear that.
45,071. Do you know whose writing it is?—No.
45,072. You do write pretty well, do you not?—Yes.
45,073. Are you sure of it?—I never received a farthing.
45,074. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
45,075. Were you paid any money that election?—No.
45,076. Were you not at Mr. Galloway's?—No.
45,077. Neither before nor after the election?—Neither before nor after.

William Simpson.

14th July 1853.

45,078. Were you not at the Wilberforce rooms?—No, except the night before the last election; not at the '47 election, I was not at the Wilberforce rooms.

45,079. Who did you vote for the the last election?—Clay and Goderich.

45,080. Were you paid anything at the last election?—No.

45,081. What were you at the Wilberforce rooms about?—I went there to hear the speaking, that is all.

45,082. Was your name set down?—No.

45,083. Nothing said to you about it?—No.

45,084. Did you not apply for employment?—No, I never was canvassed at the last two elections, not the 1847 or the 1852.

JOHN SPENCER sworn, and examined.

John Spencer

45,085. Where do you live?—126, Porter Street.

45,086. What rent do you pay?—£16.

45,087. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

45,088. How long have you been a freeman?—Ever since 1820.

45,089. Did you get some money before?—Once I did, from Mr. Sykes.

45,090 In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I did.

45,091. Did you get paid for that?—Well, after the election was over some time, I was told that I was to go up, and if I went to Bishop Lane I should get 30*s*. I went and got it; I did not get my name set down; it was set down before by somebody.

45,092. You set your own name down when you got the 30*s*.?—Yes, I signed my name then.

45,093. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

45,094. Did you get anything then?—Not then.

45,095. Neither before nor after?—No.

45,096. Are you quite sure?—Quite sure.

45,097. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

45,098. Did you get anything then?—No.

45,099. Any promise?—No.

45,100. Your name was down?—Not by my sanction.

45,101. Who spoke to you about it?—No one.

45,102. Did you have nothing to do with any money?—No, nothing at all.

45,103. Did you know Saville Street?—No, I did not.

WILLIAM STAVE sworn, and examined.

William Stave.

45,104. Where do you live?—Humber Dock Wall.

45,105. What rent do you pay?—£16.

45,106. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,107. A 10*l*. householder?—Yes.

45,108. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.

45,109. Who for?—Clay and Thompson.

45,110. Did you get 30*s*.?—I did; I did not apply for it; I never was entered.

45,111. You took it?—I was sent for and it was given to me apiece after—a good while after.

45,112. You took it and you signed your name for it?—No, I did not sign; it was laid down on the counter and I went and took it; they told me I was to take it. I gave them no receipt.

45,113. In Bishop Lane?—In Blanket Row.

45,114. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Clay.

45,115. Did you get anthing then?—Nothing; that is all I got.

45,116. Then you never had any other money?—No, nothing.

45,117. Not from any one?—Nothing at all.

45,118. Who did you vote for the last election?—Goderich and Clay.

45,119. Did you get your name set down?—No, nothing.

45,120. Do you know of Wilde's place in Saville Street?—No; I never went after him.

45,121. Do you know it? that is my question.—Yes; I know Mr. Wilde.

45,122. Did you know he had a place for setting down names in Saville Street?—I cannot say; I never was at it.

45,123. Did you hear it before the election was over?—Yes.

45,124. Did you talk about it?—I might have talked about it; I never was at it I know, for I never bothered my head about it at all.

T. Thompson.

14th July 1853.

THOMAS THOMPSON sworn, and examined.

45,125. Where do you live?—Davies Street.

45,126. What rent do you pay?—I pay 32*l.*, not for the dwellinghouse, but as the qualification for my shop.

45,127. What are you?—A ship and engine smith.

45,128. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,129. Did you vote in 1841?—No, I was not elligible at that time.

45,130. Did you vote in 1847?—No.

45,131. The first time you voted was at the last election?—I voted at the last election.

45,132. You got nothing for voting?—I did not expect anything.

John Todd.

JOHN TODD sworn, and examined.

45,133. Where do you live?—Commercial Court, High Street.

45,134. What rent do you pay?—£6.

45,135. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

45,136. How long have you been a freeman?—I was admitted to my freedom in 1819.

45,137. Did you vote before the Reform Bill?—Yes.

45,138. Did you get the 2*l.* and 4*l.*?—Yes.

45,139. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

45,140. Were you paid 30*s.*?—I was employed as a clerk for Clay and Thompson.

45,141. For how long?—About five weeks.

45,142. How much were you paid?—4*s.* a day.

45,143. For five weeks?—Nearly five weeks.

45,144. Did you apply to be employed?—Yes, I always apply.

45,145. Was it for Clay and Thompson?—It was Thompson at first, and then they united; the committee room was at Scale Lane at that time.

45,146. Did you get any money besides the 4*s.* a day?—No, that is what I got.

45,147. Did you get some money from Mr. Stark?—I have no recollection of getting it from Mr. Stark.

45,148. You say you were a messenger?—No; I was employed as a clerk.

45,149. As a clerk for Colonel Thompson?—At first.

45,150. After the parties united, did you not get money from Mr. Stark—three days at 5*s.* a day?—I am sure I have no recollection.

45,151. You got 30*s.* altogether?—I was employed five weeks altogether as a clerk.

45,152. Here is your signature to what you got altogether (referring to Book 13)?—Let me look at it, if you please. (The book was handed to the witness). That is my writing.

45,153. You were paid 30*s.* as a runner?—I did not know I was down in Thistleton's list.

45,154. That is Thistleton's list, and there is your own writing in it?—He has given it without asking for it.

45,155. You took it?—Yes, I did.

45,156. He asked you to sign your name there, and you did?—Yes.

45,157. After you polled?—Oh yes.

45,158. You took all you could get?—Of course I took it.

45,159. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.

45,160. Did you get any money then?—I was employed as a clerk for Mr. Brown.

45,161. How much did you get?—I was paid 4*s.* a day then.

45,162. For how long?—I was employed about three weeks, if I remember aright.

45,163. 4*s.* a day for three days for Mr. Brown?—At the Bull and Sun, Mytongate.

45,164. Mr. Brown was here three days?—Yes, he was; but there was a committe before that time.

45,165. A committee from hand to mouth for any money they could get?—I was employed a fortnight.

45,166. Who put you on the committee?—There was Mr. Peck in Blackfriargate, and Walker.

45,167. What Walker—John Walker?—Yes.

45,168. The basketmaker?—Yes; they were the principals that employed me.

45,169. They employed you three weeks?—Yes.

45,170. And they made Mr. Brown pay for you and some others?—They paid me a fortnight; I was employed by Mr. Wells.

45,171. One of the clerks?—I was paid three weeks.

45,172. Did you get any more?—No.

45,173. Nobody offered you any money?—No.

45,174. Are you quite sure?—Yes, quite sure.

45,175. Now, at the last election, were you employed?—I was employed at the central committee room.

45,176. As a clerk?—I certainly was; I always apply.

15,177. For how long?—For above a month,—3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

45,178. What committee room?—Mr. Galloway's.

John Todd.

14th July 1853.

45,179. Bishop Lane?—Yes.
45,180. How much did you get?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day.
45,181. Did you get anything besides that?—No; I was employed as a general clerk, for any purpose.
45,182. What purpose? what to do? to set in the office?—Yes, all the day; from nine o'clock in the morning till seven in the evening.
45,183. How many people used to come in a day?—We had a room up stairs; there was a deal of people in during the day about different things. A gentleman of the name of Brady was the secretary, and he used to send word for anything there was to do. I attended regularly every day, and there were other clerks there as well as me.
45,184. Then the principal business in 1847 that Walker was about was hunting for a candidate?—Yes; the fortnight I was there before Mr. Brown came.

C. Tomlinson.

CHARLES TOMLINSON sworn, and examined.

45,185. Where do you live?—Wincolmlee.
45,186. What rent do you pay?—12*l.*
45,187. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
45,188. How long have you been a freeman?—Ever since 1806.
45,189. You used to get the 2*l.* and 4*l.*?—Yes; and six bags of coal in the winter for a good fire.
45.190. In 1841, who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.
45,191. Did you get 30*s.* for that?—I did not get it; my Missus got it, after I went to sea, I believe.
45,192. You had been set down before, and you meant to have something if other people did?—If other people got it, I expected to have some.
45,193. Your name was set down to get it if others did?—Yes.
45,194. Did you get anything more than the 30*s.*?—No; I am sure I did not.
45,195. Were you employed by Mr. Stark?—No; I know nothing about Mr. Stark.
45,196. They say you had 5*l.*?—I wish I had; I would have bought a pair of new boots with it.
45,197. Were you employed at all at that election?—No; I was not employed at all, not that I know of, only to look about as others were and see the thing.
45,198. In 1847 did you vote?—I was at sea.
45,199. At the last election did you vote?—Yes.
45,200. Who for?—Lord Goderich and Mr. Clay.
45,201. Did you get anything?—I was employed under him about a month.
45,202. Where?—At Mr. Galloway's office.
45,203. What as?—As a runner—carrying out circulars, and such as that.
45,204. How much did you get?—1*l.* a week.
45 205. Something more for the polling day and the nomination day?—Yes; I was paid some addition to that.
45,206. You applied, I suppose, for employment?—Yes; I did. I had nothing at all to do, so I thought if I could get a job I would accept of it the same as the rest; it would be a little towards the head.
45,207. Do you remember how much additional you got for the polling and nomination days?—I am sure I do not know whether I got 4*s.* or 5*s.* a day for the two days, I am sure.

W. Valentine.

WILLIAM VALENTINE sworn, and examined.

45,208. Where do you live?—Blackfriargate.
45,209. What rent do you pay for your house?—20*l.*
45,210. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
45,211. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1826.
45,212. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
45,213. For Clay and Goderich?—Yes.
45,214. Did you get 30*s.*?—I believe I did, near upon it, from Mr. Thistleton; I do not think it was so much as that, but it may be.
45,215. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
45,216. Who for?—Baines and Clay.
45,217. Did you get any money then?—No.
45,218. Were you employed at all?—No.
45,219. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,220. Did you get anything from them?—No.
45,221. No employment?—No.
45,222. Were you set down?—No.
45,223. You know what is meant by asking you that question?—Yes.
45,224. You had nothing of the sort to do?—No.
45,225. You are doing a good business, are you, in your own trade?—Pretty fair.
45,226. You are respectable in the market, or something of that sort?—Yes.

William Wardale.

14th July 1853.

WILLIAM WARDALE sworn, and examined.

45,227. Where do you live?—English Street.

45,228. What rent?—18*l.*

45,229. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

45,230. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.

45,231. How long have you been a freeman?—It was taken up in 1839.

45,232. By which party?—The Reform party.

45,233. The orange?—Yes.

45,234. Did you vote for them in consequence in 1841?—No; that did not influence me at all.

45,235. What you got?—No.

45,236. You did not think you were bound to vote for them if they paid for your freedom?—I did not care about their taking it up for me, because I could have taken it up myself.

45,237. Perhaps you were paid the money back?—Oh dear, no.

45,238. You did not understand they would expect you to vote for them when they paid for your freedom?—No; nothing of the sort. I do not think they would ask me such a thing; they knew my principle before that.

45,239. If you had voted against them you would have paid the money back?—I made no promises.

45,240. You did vote for them?—Yes; from principle.

45,241. And you were paid 30*s.* on principle?—Nothing of the sort.

45,242. Do you write?—Yes; I do.

45,243. Just look at your own writing (handing Book 13 to the witness)?—Oh dear, no; I can write my name down, and I have always, ever since I could write, voted one way.

45,244. Is that not your writing?—No; it is not my writing.

45,245. You swear it is not?—Yes.

45,246. Is there another William Wardale?—There is War*dells.*

45,247. How do you spell your name?—Wardale.

45,248–9. This is dell?—We spell ours dale.

45,250. Have you ever received money at any of the elections;—No, sir.

45,251. You swear it? Did you have your name set down?—I do not think they would ask me such a question.

45,252. Have you paid back the money that was paid for you as far back as 1839?—I never considered that I had to pay anything.

45,253. Have you paid it back?—No.

45,254. Then you must not be surprised if these questions are asked?—I am not surprised. I am willing to answer any questions you put to me.

45,255. Now attend to me: in 1839 when they paid for your freedom, what do you suppose they did it for?—I do not know for that, about what they did it for. I was going to take it up myself.

45,256. What do you suppose at the time they did it for?—I expected they thought I should vote for them; there is not the least doubt of that.

45,257. Why did you not say that before? Supposing that they meant that you let them pay for it?—Yes; of course they paid for it; I say again I was not bound by them.

45,258. You left it to them?—They mentioned it to me.

45,259. What did they mention to you?—I knew they had not taken it up; they said they would pay for it, and I said I was going to do it myself. I left it entirely to them whether they did it or not, because I did not bind myself to vote for them.

Thomas Watson.

THOMAS WATSON sworn, and examined.

45,260. Where do you live?—Salt House Lane.

45,261. What rent do you pay?—Twelve guineas.

45,262. Are you a freeman?—I am a householder.

45,263. Did you vote in 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

45,264. Were you paid 30*s.*?—I was to have had 30*s.*

45,265. I ask you?—I have had nothing yet; not a farthing.

45,266. Is that the way you sign your name?—It is not my signing, I dare say.

45,267. Look at it (handing Book 13. to the witness)?—It is not mine.

45,268. Look at it; do you write your name?—Yes; I wrote that.

45,269. Do you always write your name, or do you sign with a mark? that mark with a sort of smudge upon it?—That is not mine, and never was.

45,270. You never had any money at all at any election?—No; the only election was 1801.

45,271. Did you ever have your name set down as a runner?—No; not at the three last. I polled for Mr. Clay three times, and I never received one halfpenny.

Thomas Watson.

14th July 1853.

45,272. Do you know Thistleton?—I did know him.
45,273. Did he not receive money for you?—He might, for me, but I have not got it.
45,274. Did you authorize him to receive it?—No, Sir, I did not.
45,275. Here is another Thomas Watson who received 30*s.* by the hand of Thistleton?—I never had any.
45,276. Did you never hear of it before?—The only people I voted for were the Tories.
45,277. The election of 1841 I am speaking of?—That was before.
45,278. Before what?—Before 1841.
45,279. What happened then?—I had to come home, and I got some money for my expenses.

JAMES JACKSON WHEAT sworn, and examined.

J. J. Wheat.

45,280. Where do you live?—30, Richmond Terrace.
45,281. What rent do you pay?—I am sure I cannot tell; I am a lodger.
45,282. Are you a freeman?—I am.
45,283. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1830.
45,284. Did you pay for your freedom yourself?—I did.
45,285. Did you vote in 1841?—I did.
45,286. Clay and Thompson?—Clay and Thompson.
45,287. Did you get 30*s.*?—I did.
45,288. Did you vote in 1841?—I did not.
45,289. In the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,290. Did you get anything then?—I did not.
45,291. Was your name set down?—No.
45,292. Were you employed?—No.
45,293. Did you apply to be employed?—No.
45,294. Or to be set down?—No.
45,295. Nothing said to you about it?—No.
45,296. Had you nothing to do with the election but to vote?—Nothing whatever.

WILLIAM BURLEY WHITAKER sworn, and examined.

W. B. Whitaker.

45,297. Where do you live?—Cumberland Street.
45,298. What rent do you pay?—Five guineas.
45,299. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
45,300. How long have you been a freeman?—Ever since 1839.
45,301. Which party took up your freedom?—The orange.
45,302. Did you vote for them in consequence?—Yes.
45,303. Were you paid 30*s.* besides?—Yes; for my expenses. I was an an out of town voter.
45,304. You were paid 30*s.*?—Yes.
45,305. How much did it cost you to come?—Fourteen miles I walked, and then from Barton; that is all. I had to come over from Barton in the packet.
45,306. You did get 30*s.*?—Yes.
45,307. Who paid you?—I do not know who paid me. I got it at the room up against the Lane.
45,308. The Wilberforce rooms?—Yes, I got it there.
45,309. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Brown and Baines.
45,310. Did you get anything that time?—Yes.
45,311. How much? Was it for Brown?—Yes; I got it for my expenses.
45,312. Where did you live?—Hessle.
45,313. How much did it cost you to come from Hessle?—It cost me my walk.
45,314. Who paid you?—I do not know; I was paid out of a window.
45,315. At the last election who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,316. Did you get anything that time?—No, not a halfpenny. I was promised some, but I never got it.
45,317. Who promised you?—Mr. Anderton, of Hessle.
45,318. Did he set your name down?—Yes. I lived at Hessle then.
45,319. Is he blue or orange?—I expect he is orange. He said he would pay me for my loss of time.
45,320. He was to set your name down, was he?—He said he would give me 10*s.* for my loss of time, and pay me for the two days. I was two days out.
45,321. Did the blues canvass you at all?—Yes.
45,322. What did you tell them?—I had nothing to do with them.
45,323. Did you not tell them you wanted a little money?—No.
45,324. What did you tell them?—I told them I should not promise anybody.

John Redhead.

14th July 1853.

JOHN REDHEAD sworn, and examined.

45,325. Where do you live?—Mytongate.
45,326. What rent do you pay?—£8 a year.
45,327. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
45,328. How long have you been a freeman?—About twenty years.
45,329. Did you vote in 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
45,330. Did you get 30*s.* for that?—No.
45,331. How much?—Nothing at all.
45,332. Are you quite sure you got nothing?—I am quite sure.
45,333. Were you set down in Thistleton's list?—No.
45,334. Did Thistleton speak to you?—No, nothing at all; I never heard anything at all about it.
45,335. You were not set down by anybody?—No, not that I know of.
45,336. Were you employed at all?—No.
45,337. Do you know Nicholson at the Baltic?—No, I do not.
45,338. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.
45,339. Did you get anything that election?—I got 10*s.*,—my wife did.
45,340. Was it after you voted?—That was after I voted.
45,341. That was for Brown, was it?—Yes; that is all I got.
45,342. Where was it you got it? at the Blue Bell?—In Hale's Entry—Mr. Stamp's room.
45,343. At the last election, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
45,344. What did you get?—Nothing at all.
45,345. Were you not employed?—No. I never got a farthing.
45,346. Did you see Mr. Legitt?—No.
45,347. Are you quite sure you got nothing from anybody?—Not a farthing.
45,348. Did your wife get any?—No.
45,349. Do you know Mr. Purdon?—No.
45,350. Did you hear that he was paid money?—Nobody ever paid me a farthing.
45,351. Did they leave it at your house for you?—No.
45,352. Are you sure of that?—I am sure of that.
45,353. Do you know Pullen?—No, I do not know him; but I am sure I never got any money.
45,354. After the election did you get it?—Never since Hutt and Hill's election.
45,355. Did you ask for it?—No, never asked for it.
45,356. Did you hear that people were getting paid?—I heard they were getting paid, but I never expected anything.
45,357. And so you did not go for any?—No.
45,358. Did you hear where they were paid?—No, I did not.
45,359. Did you ask about it?—No, I never asked about it.

Adjourned till to-morrow at ten o'clock.

THIRTY-THIRD DAY.—Friday, July 15th 1853.

Henry Johnson.

15th July 1853.

HENRY JOHNSON sworn, and examined.

45,360. What are you?—A freeman.
45,361. What business are you?—A tinner and tinplate worker.
45,362. Where do you live?—Blackfriar Gate.
45,363. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.
45,364. What rent?—£13 a year.
45,365. Do you vote as a householder?—No; a freeman.
45,366. And also a householder?—I am not registered as a householder.
45,367. How long have you been a freeman?—About six years. I think I took up my freedom in 1845; I think it was in 1845—in June 1845. I did not look at my burgess oath when I came out.
45,368. Had you a right to vote in 1841?—No.
45,369. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
45,370. Who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.
45,371. Did you live at that time in Finkles Street?—I did.
45,372. Were you paid for your vote on behalf of those gentlemen?—I was paid 30*s.* for Brown's election.
45,373. By Mr. Mitchell?—Yes.
45,374. Before or after the polling?—After the polling.
45,375. Was it long after?—Four or five days after; I should not like to say to a day or two.
45,376. Did you poll in 1852?—Yes.

Henry Johnson.

15th July 1853.

45,377. Who for?—Moore and Butler.
45,378. You were very active during the election?—No; I think not.
45,379. Were you not engaged at the Shakespeare—Mr. Steeple's?—I was there.
45,380. Do you know Mr. Steeple?—I know him, but I was not engaged under him.
45,381. Were you engaged by him?—No.
45,382. Were you engaged with him?—No; I never was with him all the election.
45,383, Were you at the Shakspeare?—I had my name down; I was set down as a messenger, and I took out notes for the parties there.
45,384. Your name was set down?—My name was set down as a messenger.
45,385. Where?—At the Shakespeare.
45,386. How long before the election?—I think about seven days,—six or seven days.
45,387. Who were you engaged by?—Mr. Davis was the chairman.
45,388. Who were you engaged by?—I do not know; I cannot answer that.
45,389. You simply went there and got your name set down?—That is it, Sir.
45,390. Were you paid?—Yes.
45,391. What was it?—It was £1 7*s.* 6*d.* I received.
45,392. Before or after the election?—Part before and part afterwards.
45,393. Who paid you?—I think Mr. Aitkin paid me part before,—for five days as a runner.
45,394. And part after?—Yes.
45,395. By whom?—I think it was Mr. Jackson was the other party that paid me; I received a little bit of paper from Mr. Davis, and Mr. Jackson paid it.
45,396. After you had stated you had voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
45,397. I ask you whether you were employed at the Shakespeare looking after voters?—No; I merely was employed in taking out votes and such like, or anything of that kind.
45,398. Were you employed taking care of voters?—No I was not.
45,399. Where was it you attended?—I attended as the Shakespeare.
45,400. Were there many voters came there?—There were several came.
45,401. Were there five, fifteen, or twenty-five?—I should say I saw twenty, or perhaps a little more; I do not like to mention the number.
45,402. Were there many people paid when you were there?—I did not see any one besides myself; there were several waiting.
45,403. How many waiting?—About a dozen, I should think, were on the stairs when I was there.
45,404. Was it at the Shakespeare you were paid?—Yes.
45,405. While you were attending at the Shakespeare, how many people were employed like yourself?—I really cannot say.
45,406. Was there one?—There were more than one.
45,407. Give us the best idea you can?—I should think about eight or nine, perhaps a dozen. I do not like to say.
45,408. Employed?—Employed.
45,409. From eight to twelve?—From eight to twelve.
45,410. What were they doing?—Similar to myself, employed in carrying out notes.
45,411. How many notes do you think you took out between that and the first day you were employed?—Perhaps two or three.

C. Woodhouse.

CHARLES WOODHOUSE sworn, and examined.

45,412. Where do you live?—I live in Stephen Street, and my shop is 26, Shambles.
45,413. What is your business?—A butcher.
45,414. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
45,415. How much?—£13 a year.
45,416. Are you a freeman?—No.
45,417. Did you vote at the election of 1841—Clay, Thompson, Hanmer and James?—Yes.
45,418. Who did you vote for?—Thompson and Clay.
45,419. You were paid 30*s.*, I believe?—I was, and very acceptable it was at that time to me.
45,420. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I bulleted Mr. Clay.
45,421. Were you paid for your vote?—No.
45,422. Did you not get anything?—I never got anything after the first time I had the 30*s.*
45,423. Did you get paid for that election in 1852, when the men were paid?—No.
45,424. You got nothing at any time?—Not anything.
45,425. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,426. Was your name set down anywhere?—Not that I know of; not anywhere but where I voted.
45,427. Did you get any promise for your vote?—No; I never asked for anything.
45,428. Were you employed at all at the last election?—No; I was not.
45,429. Did you apply for employment?—No; I did not.
45,430. Your name was not set down anywhere?—No; not that I know of.

W. Woodward.

15th July 1853.

WILLIAM WOODWARD sworn, and examined

45,431. Were do you live ?—Ann Street, near the gas works.
45,432. Do you pay rent ?—No.
45,333. Are you a lodger ?—No.
45,334. Are you a freeman ?—Yes.
45,435. When were you free ?—I cannot exactly say the year.
45,436. As near as you can ?—About the time of O'Neil's election.
45,437. Did they pay for your freedom ?—Yes.
45,438. In 1841 did you vote for Clay and Thompson ?—I voted Clay and Thompson.
45,439. And got 30*s.* afterwards ?—No ; I think not.
45,440. The book says so ?—I was put there as a runner.
45,441. And got 30*s.* ?—I got paid for being a runner.
45,442. How much did you get paid altogether ?—I should think I did get about 30*s.* ; but it is so long since that I cannot recollect. I have no books and papers.
45,443. We have got a book ?—I dare say it is right.
45,444. When were you paid ?—I was paid by Clay's committee about that time.
45,445. Part before and part after ?—Yes.
45,446. In 1847, Clay, Baines, and Brown, did you vote ?—Yes ; I voted for Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines that time.
45,447. Did you get any money at that election for your vote ?—I got half a sovereign.
45,448. From which party ?—From Mr. Brown's.
45,449. When was it paid ?—It was paid after the election.
45,450. Where ?—It was paid over North Bridge after I had voted.
45,451. At what house or place ?—It was at the sign of the Noah's Ark.
45,452. In 1852 did you vote ?—I voted for Goderich and Butler.
45,453. Did you get your name set down for something, or not, as a runner ?—Yes ; I got it for Goderich.
45,454. Where ?—I got that in Humber Street.
45,455. Did you get any payment for that ?—I received 27*s.* 6*d.*
45,456. From whom ?—From Mr. Davis.
45,457. You say you voted for Goderich and Butler ; you mean Bramley Moore and Butler ?—I did.
45,458. You got 27*s.* 6*d.* ?—Yes, I did.
45,459. Did you get any more money ?—No.
45,460. You were paid that by Mr. Davis ?—Yes.
45,461. Were you employed ?—I was employed.
45,462. What to do ?—As a runner.
45,463. When were you set down ?—I am sure I cannot tell exactly ; perhaps a week.
45,464. A week before ?—Aye.
45,465. When was the money paid you, can you tell me ?—I cannot.
45,466. Was it before or after the election ?—After the election.

John Yeaman.

JOHN YEAMAN sworn, and examined.

45,467. Where do you live ?—Osborne's Gallery, Trippett.
45,468. Do you pay rent for a house ?—Yes.
45,469. How much ?—£6 10*s.*
45,470. And you are a freeman, I dare say ?—Yes.
45,471. What is your business ?—A shipwright.
45,472. When were you made a freeman ?—1820, I believe, I took my freedom up.
45,473. At whose expense ?—My own.
45,474. Did you vote in 1841 ?—Yes.
45,475. Clay and Thompson ?—Clay and Thompson.
45,476. Did you get 30*s.* afterwards ?—Yes, I did.
45,477. From Mr. Clay's party ?—Yes, from that party.
45,478. In 1847, Clay, Baines, and Brown ?—Clay and Brown.
45,479. Did you get any money before or after that election ?—Half a sovereign after the election and twenty after.
45,480. 20*s.* I suppose you mean ?—Yes.
45,481. Where were you paid ?—I was paid at the Noah's Ark.
45,482. 10*s.* for Mr. Clay, and 20*s.* for Mr. Brown ?—Yes.
45,483. In 1852 who did you vote for ?—Bramley Moore and Butler.
45,484. Were you employed by them ?—Yes ; four days as a runner.
45,485. Was your name set down ?—Yes.
45,486. At what place ?—Here in Lowgate.
45,487. How much did you receive ?—£1.
45,488. When was it paid you ?—After the election.
45,489. Where ?—Here in Lowgate.
45,490. You were paid at the same place were you ?—Yes.

John Yeaman.

15th July 1853.

45,491. Who paid you?—I am sure I do not know the gentleman's name; I really cannot say.
45,492. Did you have a piece of paper given you; a slip of paper?—No; I had not.
45,493. How long after the election was it you were paid?—About three or four days.
45,494. Were others there with you?—Oh, plenty before I had to get paid.
45,495. They had poll sheets there to see how they voted?—Yes; most likely.

John Spink.

JOHN SPINK sworn, and examined.

45,496. Where do you live?—Mytongate now; I lived in Wincolmlee at the time of the election.
45,497. Are you a householder?—Yes.
45,498. What rent do you pay?—I pay about 50*l.* altogether.
45,499. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
42,500. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.
45,501. Who for?—Clay and Thompson.
45,502. Did you receive any money?—Never.
45,503. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.
45,504. Clay, Baines, and Brown; who for?—Mr. Clay.
45,505. Did you receive anything at that election?—No.
45,506. In 1852, Clay and Goderich?—Yes.
45,507. Did you receive anything then?—No.
46,508. Do you know a man of the name of Ellerton?—Ellerker.
45,509. He told us he had voted blue for forty years; did you put him down for six days' pay for voting orange at the last election?—That is right, Sir, I believe.
45,510. You promised him six days' pay if he voted orange?—I said I would set his name down, that he might get the same as other people did.
45,511. Did you also say he would get something handsome?—No; I said he would get paid the same as the other people did for his vote.
45,512. Did you set anybody else down in the same way?—Yes, several.
45,513. Mention their names?—I do not know particularly; there was Mr. Lowther.
45,514. Where did you set them down?—In the canvass book, as I called at their houses.
45,515. Did you send the list to Saville Street?—No.
45,516. What did you do with the names?—I entered them in the canvass book.
45,517. What became of the canvass book?—It went to the district committee room.
45,518. Which?—Sykes Street.
45,519. What was done with them there?—I am sure I cannot say that; I never saw them after.
45,520. They were all entered in your book?—Yes, all I canvassed.
45,521. And returned in your book to the committee room?—Yes.
45,522. As runners?—No.
45,523. The eight or ten you mentioned?—No, there would not be more than four or five set down.
45,524. For the six days?—For the six days.
45,525. You distinguished them in the book in some way, and explained it to the committee?—I entered them to be set down six days.
45,526. So that the committee would know who to put down to send to Saville Street?—Yes; I was one of the general committee myself.
45,527. No doubt these found their way to Mr. Wilde?—I should think they would.
45,528. Were you a member of the committee in 1847?—Yes.
45,529. Which party?—The orange.
45,530. Both times?—Yes.
45,531. Can you give us any information of the elections in 1841 and 1847, the setting down names?—I never had anything to do with the setting down names at all till between two and three days before the last election.
45,532. Did you in 1841 or 1847 secure any votes in any way?—I secured a good many, not with any promise of any reward.
45,533. By canvassing in the ordinary way?—Not by promises of money; I never saw any money pass in my life.
45,534. You never set down any runners?—No.
45,535. You did not secure any votes by promises of payment?—No.

Mr. G. Wright.

Mr. GEORGE WRIGHT sworn, and examined.

45,536. I believe you were one of the central committee at the last election?—Yes, I was.
45,537. Where do you live?—Nelson Terrace, Spring Bank.
45,538. Do you vote as a householder or as a freeman?—As a householder.

Mr. G. Wright.

15th July 1853.

45,539. What rent do you pay?—A variety of qualifications I have; I do not know how much rent I pay; several hundreds a year throughout the borough.

45,540. What are you?—A merchant.

45,541. Give us some idea?—I should say my firm pay 500*l.* a year.

45,542. You voted, perhaps, at the elections of 1841 and 1847?—No, I did not; I believe I was not on the register.

45,543. You were first on the register in 1852 for a vote?—Yes.

45,544. How long have you been on the register?—I am not certain whether I was on the register in 1847; I was qualified, but I think I was omitted by mistake; I did not vote at all events; I voted in 1852.

45,545. You are not a freeman?—No, I have not that honour.

45,546. You have been qualified about seven years?—Yes.

45,547. I believe you attended the central committee pretty often?—Yes; I did pretty frequently.

45,548. We find it reported on the first of July, that you had evidence that the blues were going to bribe; will you be kind enough to explain this entry to us?—I believe that statement is rather incorrect, and a great deal exaggerated. I merely reported I had heard so, but where I heard it I cannot recollect; I have taxed my memory frequently since I saw the statement in the papers, and I cannot say positively where I heard it, I have heard so many reports. I merely reported that I had heard of rumours of that kind; it appears the committee have made a mistake in that, for what purpose I do not know.

45,549. The entry is recorded that you had evidence?—No.

45,550. That they were going to bribe? You may have been furnished with that evidence?—I said nothing of the kind. I gave no evidence at all; I see it stated I gave my authority. I gave no authority at all; it was merely a rumour in common conversation with some one, who it was I do not know. I have endeavoured to recollect, but I cannot say positively. I heard of many rumours, so many curious people were always coming to me.

45,551. On that report did the orange party become more active in that respect, in the way of securing votes by money?—I cannot say; it scarcely was the province of the general committee—the central committee to work the money part of the business.

45,552. Did the central committee on that come to any resolution to do the same?—It was a question for consideration; it was well considered, but what the ultimate resolution was, I do not know of my own knowledge.

45,553. I understand you cannot give us any actual evidence?—I had no evidence; I was much surprised to see it stated I had given evidence on authority; I had no authority.

45,554. Where did you see it stated?—In the newspapers.

45,555. But it is in the committee book?—I did not see it.

45,556. The minutes have been read?—I saw the minute book a few times at my earlier attendance on the committee, but after then I have no recollection of it.

45,557. The minute book professes to take down your own words?—I think it is incorrect; if I had had any authority, I think that authority would have been stated. I had no positive authority for what I said, as you have stated it. I heard the rumour in a dozen rooms or more perhaps.

45,558. They might have received the information in a difierent way?—Both parties were becoming very active at that time.

45,559. It was early in the election?—Yes, it was.

45,560. You might have received the information in such a way that would not have enabled you to mention it more than generally to your committee? now, for us, you will feel there is a greater pressure on you, and you are bound to tell us.—I believe I should have had no reservation then if I had had any authority, and now I should tell you with the greatest pleasure if I could, but I cannot at the moment recollect who I heard it from. Many parties—in fact it was the common source of conversation, that our party and that their party were going to do the same. I heard from the other side, "our party are going to bribe extensively, and you will not get on if you do not."

45,561. After hearing the rumours about the blues, did you take any active part in getting names set down or sending them to Saville Street?—Never, excepting in one instance a man came to me and I said you had better go to Mr. Galloway; who he was I do not know.

45,562. What did he come to you for?—He wanted his name set down. I said I should not take any steps of the kind, he had better go to Mr. Galloway. I believe all applications of that kind were referred to him; I took no steps whatever.

45,563. Did you engage any rooms?—No.

45,564. What we call sham committee rooms?—I never did anything of the kind.

45,565. You do not mean to say you were not aware that committee rooms were engaged?—Yes, I heard of them afterwards.

45,566. My question is directed to your personal engagement of them?—No, I engaged none whatever.

45,567. You knew it was being done?—I had some idea, but not positively.

45,568. Till after the election then?—Of course I knew after the election.

Mr. G. Wright.

15th July 1853.

45,569. Had you any doubt about it, that it was going on at the time?—Before the election or after?

45,570. During the election?—I did not think much about it; if I had been asked, I should have said it was going on on both sides.

45,571. You did nothing to prevent it?—I do not know I was called on to do so; it never came under my observation particularly.

45,572. You agreed with the rest of the committee?—I was not one to create any discord in so small a matter as that.

45,573. You agree if there had been neither sham committee rooms, or names set down, and promises of money, that neither Mr. Clay or Lord Goderich would have come in?—I should say it would be very hard work as elections are conducted in this place—as I have heard. I have had no experience previous to the last election.

45,574. I suppose you voted for Clay and Goderich?—Yes, of course I did.

45,575. Did you have any share in the election of 1847?—No, not actively; not at all.

W. H. Wilson.

William Hurst Wilson sworn, and examined.

45,576. Where do you live?—Fish Street.

45,577. What is your business?—A publican.

45,578. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

45,579. How much?—Twelve guineas.

45,580. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,581. How long were you a householder?—Ever since 1826.

45,582. In 1841 did you vote?—Yes; I have voted ever since the Reform Bill.

45,583. As a householder?—Yes.

45,584. In 1841, how did you vote?—Clay and Thompson.

45,585. You had a committee room, I believe, in that year?—We had that year.

45,586. How much did you receive for it?—10*s.*

45,587. Who paid you?—Mr. Peck.

45,588. Where were you paid?—A week, or two, or three weeks, or four weeks after, it might be; I cannot say exactly.

45,589. When was the room engaged?—A week before the election I should think, or ten days.

45,590. Did many people meet at your room?—Yes, several came there; there were papers in the window "Committee room here."

45,591. Who sent the committee to you? from which district or central room did they come?—The Market Place ward.

45,592. Did any of the general committee of the Market Place ward attend at your room?—They used to come and call in at times; Mr. Peck was the chairman there.

45,593. Did Mr. Peck attend as the chairman?—He did. He did not stop all the time; then somebody else came.

45,594. You say your name was taken down for six days?—He did not say particularly how long.

45,595. How long before the election?—Four, or five, or six days before the election.

45,596. You got more than 10*s.*?—I did not.

45,597. You did not?—No; Mr. Peck brought it.

45,598. When did he pay you?—A few days after the election.

45,599. Only 10*s.*?—No, no more; I did not require anything, but he brought 10*s.*

45,600. There was a list of rooms like yours, and they were to get two guineas each; that was altered to 2*l.*?—I never got anything of the sort; I never got 2*l.*; I got 10*s.*

45,601. Did somebody else get the rest for you?—Not that I know of.

45,602. Do you mean you received neither directly nor indirectly more than 10*s.*?—No.

45,603. At the time they engaged it, you did not expect anything?—I did not expect anything; I was yearly in the cause and I did not expect a farthing.

45,604. Did the committee that came to your room act for Mr. Clay or for Colonel Thompson?—Both parties.

45,605. I am told your room was the room of Colonel Thompson and had nothing to do with Mr. Clay; is that so?—It had to do with both.

45,606. Mr. Peck had nothing to do with Mr. Clay?—He had at the time.

45,607. Do you know that Mr. Peck had nothing to do with Mr. Clay?—He was for Colonel Thompson.

45,608. Colonel Thompson only?—He acted for them both.

45,609. He told us not?—He was the very man that brought me the 10*s.* after it was over; I never went to look for it.

45,610. Had you ever seen Mr. Galloway there?—No.

45,611. What did Mr. Peck say when he paid you the money?—He said nothing particular; he said he had brought it for my committee room, that is all.

45,612. What did they say when they took it?—They asked me if I could spare it; I said certainly; they did not say a word about pay at all, and I did not expect any pay.

45,613. They knew you would vote for them?—I never promised my vote.

W. H. Wilson.

15th July 1853.

45,614. Had you been canvassed?—No, not at all; it is of no use canvassing me.

45,615. Do you mean to say, that when they came to ask to have the room they would not know which way you meant to vote?—I have known Mr Peck for years, that is why he came.

45,616. He knew which way you voted?—Perhaps he might think so.

45,617. He said nothing to you, but gave you 10*s.* for your room?—It was after the election was over he brought it.

45,618. You did not expect any?—I did not.

45,619. How soon after the election?—It may be a fortnight after; I cannot say exactly.

45,620. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay, a bullet.

45,621. Did you receive any money at any time for your vote?—Not one farthing.

45,622. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

45,623. Did you at any time receive any money, or promise of money for your vote?—I got 10*s.* that time.

45,624. When?—Ten days after the election.

45,625. Who from?—Alderman Forester.

45,626. Where did he pay you?—He brought me a little bit of paper, and sent me to King Street for it. I attended to him and nobody else the nomination day; that is what he brought the bit of paper for.

45,627. What did you do for him on those days?—He was alderman in the booth, where I was attending on him with letters that were to go to Bowl Alley Lane, and sometimes to the central committee room, everywhere where he wanted to send me those two days, I took.

45,628. He knew which way you would vote?—He might think; I did not ask him anything about voting.

45,629. What agreement was there, if any, between you and Alderman Forester about employment?—There was no agreement at all; he came and knocked at our door with a stick the night before the nomination day; he wanted to speak to me. He asked me if he could depend on me to-morrow, and the next day to attend to him and nobody else. I said I would; he said nothing about pay.

45,630. He paid you afterwards 10*s.*? He sent me afterwards to Mr. Atkinson with a bit of paper to get 10*s.*

45,631. When he engaged you, you had your own business at the time?—Yes; my Missus managed the house.

45,632. Did she manage the business in your absence?—Yes.

John Cribbs.

JOHN CRIBBS sworn, and examined.

45,633. Where do you live?—Air Street.

45,634. What is your business?—A tanner.

45,635. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

45,636. How much?—£12 a year.

45,637. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,638. Were you a householder—did you vote as a householder in 1841?—Yes.

45,639. A 10*l.* householder?—Yes.

43,640. In 1841, Clay and Thompson, Hanmer and James, who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.

43,641. You had a room, I believe as a committee room, hired by Thistleton, at the election of 1841?—Yes, I believe I had.

45,642. You know it?—Yes.

45,643. How much did you get for it?—I got nothing for it; I never let the room.

45,644. Who did let it?—My wife did.

45,645. How much did she get?—She never told me, but kept the brass, and never told me what she got for it.

45,646. Did you ever ask her?—Yes; I have asked her, but she would never tell me.

45,647. You asked and she never would tell?—Yes; I asked her this morning.

45,648. You wish us to believe that?—I am speaking the truth.

45,649. Did you hear that other people got 2*l.*?—I heard some had two guineas.

45,650. You did hear what your wife got?—No, I did not.

45,651. How much?—She said she was to have two guineas, but she never got it; she got part of it, but she would never tell me how much. I do not know what she got.

45,652. When did she tell you she was to get two guineas?—When she let the room; I expect I was not there; I was at my work.

45,653. In 1847, Clay, Baines, and Brown, did you vote?—Yes.

45,654. Tell us for whom?—Mr. Clay.

45,655. Did you get any money?—No.

45,656. At any time?—No.

45,657. Any room engaged then?—Not that I know of.

45,658. Mr. Clay only?—Mr. Clay alone.

45,659. 1852?—Clay and Goderich.

45,660. Did you receive any money?—No.
45,661. Did you receive any money?—Never.
45,662. Did you get your name set down?—No.
45,663. Did you have a room?—No.
45,664. Were you at any committee?—No.
45,665. Belonging to any association?—None at all.

John Cribbs.

15th July 1853.

GEORGE BEST sworn, and examined.

George Best.

45,666. Where do you live?—Cleveland Street.
45,667. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
45,668. What rent?—£9 a year.
45,669. What is your business?—Agent to a person at Sheffield.
45,670. Are you a freeman?—No.
45,671. Did you vote as a 10*l.* householder in 1841?—Yes.
45,672. You are an agent for Thistleton; did he engage a room for the committee at that election?—Yes; he engaged a room.
45,673. How much did you get from him for that?—£2, I believe.
45,674. Where was it paid you?—It was some time after, but I forget now.
45,675. After the election?—Yes.
45,676. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.
45,677. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I voted for the two Liberals.
45,678. What was done at your room? who met there?—There was scarcely anybody when they engaged it, but very few people came.
45,679. You did not expect them much?—No.
45,680. In 1847, Clay, Baines, and Brown's election, who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.
45,681. Did you receive any money at that election?—No.
45,682. Any promise?—No; no promise at all.
45,683. 1852?—Mr. Clay.
45,684. Did you receive any money?—No.
45,685. Any promise?—Nothing at all; not a farthing.
45,686. Was your name set down?—No; not that I know of; they came to my house.
45,687. Were you employed as a runner?—No.
45,688. No room engaged?—No room.
45,689. You said you were not a freeman?—No.
45,690. Your rent is 9*l.*?—Yes, now; but I lived in a house previously at 40*l* rent. I let it now.
45,691. You have got a house of your own besides?—Yes.
45,692. What other premises have you besides the 9*l.* house?—I had twenty altogether—the public house and small tenements together.

WILLIAM GRUBY sworn, and examined.

William Gruby.

45,693. Where do you live?—Castle Street, now, Sir.
45,694. What is your business?—Clerk to Mr. Liddell, the brewer.
45,695. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
45,696. How much?—£28.
45,697. Are you a freeman also?—Yes.
45,698. Did you vote as a 10*l.* householder in 1841?—Yes.
45,699. Clay and Thompson?—Yes; Clay and Thompson.
45,700. Did you have a room in your house engaged as a committee room by Thistleton?—No.
45,701. Or by anybody?—No.
45,702. Had you a room as a committee room at the election?—No.
45,703. In your present house or at any other house?—No.
45,704. Were you paid anything for the room?—No.
45,705. Do you know anybody that were there besides yourself?—Yes; there was a man of the same name in the town.
45,706. William Gruby?—Yes, that was the person; I had a cousin of the same name, but he is not in Hull.
45,707. In 1841?—Yes.
45,708. Has he gone away?—Yes.
45,709. Did you act on any committee yourself at that election?—I believe that my name was down as a committee man, but I did not take an active part.
45,710. Did you attend the committee?—Occasionally.
45,711. Where was that?—I am sure I forget which room particularly.
45,712. Did you secure any votes by promises of payment?—No.
45,713. Did you get names set down?—No.

William Gruby.

15th July 1853.

45,714. Was it done to your knowledge at the committee room at the election?—Not that I am aware of.

45,715. In 1847 and 1852 you voted probably?—No.

45,716. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Clay and Thompson, I think it was.

45,717. Clay, Baines, and Brown?—Clay and Baines.

45,718. In 1852?—Clay and Goderich.

45,719. Where is your cousin gone to?—He went to New York.

45,720. Had he a vote in 1847?—I am not aware that he had.

45,721. Your cousin has been gone more than six years to New York?—Yes; I believe he has been gone more than that.

45,722. He did not vote in 1847?—No.

Richard Haswell.

RICHARD HASWELL sworn, and examined.

45,723. Where do you live?—Great Union Street.

45,724. What is your business?—A master bricklayer.

45,725. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

45,726. How much?—£27 odd.

45,727. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,728. Did you vote a householder at the 1841 election?—Yes.

45,729. Clay, Thompson, Hanmer and James; who for?—Clay and Thompson.

45,730. You had a room engaged as a committee at your place?—Yes. I did not know it till after the election. I had a colour sent me.

45,731. How did you come to know you had?—I was in the committee of the district at the time of the election.

45,732. How was it you came to know after the election that your room was engaged?—A person of the name of Jesse Matson came and told me.

45,733. Did you receive some money?—£2.

45,734. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.

45,735. Did you receive any money?—No.

45,736. Did you hear after the election that your room had been engaged?—No; I would not have anything.

45,737. You mean that they offered you something, and you would not take it?—No; they chose me on the committee again, I would not attend.

45,738. You received nothing from either party?—No.

45,739. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

45,740. Did you receive anything then?—No.

45,741. Were you promised anything?—No; I would not attend.

45,742. Was your name set down?—No; I would not attend.

45,743. Was your room engaged?—No.

W. Woodmansey.

WILLIAM WOODMANSEY sworn, and examined.

45,744. Where do you live?—Humber Street, at present.

45,745. What is your business?—I am a cooper by trade, but keep a tavern.

45,746. Are you a freeman?—No; I am not a burgess.

45,747. What rent do you pay for the house?—I pay 19*l.* nearly.

45,748 Did you vote as a householder at the election of 1841?—Yes, I did.

45,749. Clay and Thompson?—Clay and Thompson.

45,750. Were you a publican then?—Yes.

45,751. And was there a room engaged at your house?—No.

45,752. Were you paid for a room?—No.

45,753. Was there no room as committee at your place?—No.

45,754. Nothing of the kind?—No.

45,755. Had you a relation of the name of William Woodmansey at that time—a man of your own name?—I had at a place called Harplean, a country village.

45,756. I ask you if you had anybody of your own name at the time living in the place?—I have a son.

45,757. Do you know whether he had a room engaged at his house?—No.

45,758. Did you ever get any money for the room at the election?—No; I did not.

45,759. Do you know Mr. Thistleton?—Yes; I believe I did; the barber, I believe.

45,760. You did not know him?—I think I did.

45,761. Did he not engage your room?—No; he did not. In 1841 you are speaking of?

45,762. Yes, I am?—No.

45,763. In the election of Clay, Thompson, Hanmer and James?—No; I did not.

45,764. Your name was down on the list of 72, whose rooms were engaged: by Thistleton at that election. Just remember, if your room was not engaged, you were not paid?—I was not; I declare not.

45,765. Was anybody paid for it for you?—Not belonging to me.

W. Woodmansey.

15th July 1853.

45,766. Did anybody that did not belong to you?—I never heard there was anybody heard anything of the sort; I did not.

45,767. In 1847, had you colours?—Yes; and I had a room as a committee room, in 1847.

45,768. Had you colours in 1841?—Yes; I had colours.

45,769. Were you paid anything?—No.

45,770. On any account?—No; not a halfpenny.

45,771. In 1847, you had a room?—I had a room as a committee room.

45,772. What committee? which side?—It was on Mr. Clay's account, I believe.

45,773. Did you get some money for it?—Yes.

45,774. How much?—£2.

45,775. Are you not wrong? was not it in 1841?—No.

45,776. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Baines and Clay.

45,777. Where were you paid for the room?—I received it at Mr. Galloway's office, from his clerk,—I expect after the election.

45,778. Did any committee meet there?—There was one or two; that was all I think.

45,779. Was no list of any committee that were to meet given to you?—There was a person came and said it was wanted as a committee room, and he slept in the house all night.

45,780. That person did not give you a list of the committee?—No; he did not.

45,781. He slept there?—He slept there all night.

45,782. In 1852, what did you do?—I voted Clay and Goderich.

45,783. Was your room engaged?—No.

45,584. Did you receive any money?—No.

45,785. Any promise?—No.

45,786. Was your name set down?—I did not promise any one before the polling day.

45,787. Did you not allow them to put your name down? did you permit them to put your name down in some of these lists?—I do not think they got my consent to that.

45,788. I dare say you have been thinking for the last year about it; cannot you tell us?—I am rather dull of hearing.

45,789. It is not long ago; the 1852 election?—I do not know; I gave not my consent.

45,790. When did you first hear it was down?—I cannot say, I assure you; I did not promise any one on the day I polled.

45,791. I suppose you heard it was down? did you hear it was down or not, at any time?—I cannot say, I did.

45,792. You are keeping us a long time?—My memory is frail. I do not think it was taken down with my consent; I promised nobody.

45,793. But you must know if you consented?—I cannot say.

Thomas Swift.

THOMAS SWIFT sworn, and examined.

45,794. Where do you live?—Prospect Place.

45,795. What is your business?—A shipwright.

45,796. What rent do you pay for a house?—Ten guineas.

45,797. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,798. Did you vote as a 10*l.* householder at the election of 1841, Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

45,799. I believe you had a room engaged for a committee at that election?—I think not. I do not know that I had.

45,800. I believe your name is down?—Very possibly it may be; I do not think it is with my consent or knowing.

45,801. Did you receive any money for your room?—No; not for a room.

45,802. What for?—I was in business as a licensed victualler; it was money for business transactions, but not for a room.

45,803. For beer and drink?—Yes, and brandy.

45,804. Had you not a room appointed for a committee?—No, I think not. I had a large room.

45,805. Can you undertake to say on your oath you had not, because you are on the list as having had one? would you say you did not?—It is twelve years ago; I should not like to be on my oath that I did not.

45,806. I mean, whether there was not a room appointed for a committee room at your house?—I positively cannot say. I received nothing for a room, to my knowledge.

45,807. How much did you get altogether?—I cannot tell you that, I am sure.

45,808. Can you tell me within a few pounds?—I cannot.

45,809. Did you get a sovereign?—No.

45,810. Nor 5*l.*?—I should not wonder if I received 5*l.* or 6*l.*

45,811. Will you undertake to say on your oath, that in the 5*l.* there was not included a sum for the room?—I cannot do that.

45,812. In 1847, Clay, Baines, and Brown, did you vote?—Yes.

45,813. Was your bill settled after the election?—Yes, it was.

Thomas Swift.

15th July 1853.

45,814. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
45,815. Did you receive anything?—No.
45,816. Had you any room engaged?—No.
45,817. No money?—No.
45,818. Any promise?—No.
45,819. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,820. Did you receive anything then?—No.
45,821. Was your name put down?—No; not with my knowledge.
45,822. Was your room engaged?—No.
45,823. You got nothing for drink this last time?—No; not a farthing.

Thomas Greasley.

THOMAS GREASLEY sworn, and examined.

45,824. Where do you live?—Francis Street.
45,825. What business are you?—An auctioneer and innkeeper.
45,826. What rent do you pay for your house?—£19.
45,827. Are you a freeman?—No.
45,828. Did you vote as a 10*l.* householder at the election of 1841—Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
45,829. Was a room appointed at your house for a committee?—Yes.
45,830. Did the committee meet at it?—I really cannot recollect whether they did or not; I cannot say. There used to be meetings there at night, but not the united committee; I believe, there was a united committee then.
45,831. How long before the election was your room appointed?—I should think probably three weeks.
45,832. How much were you paid for it?—£2.
45,833. How often did anybody meet there?—I think not above three or four times.
45,834. Who were they?—The was an amalgamation, if I can recollect aright, and it was before the time that they united, that the meetings were. I refused to have a committee room,—I had been asked to have a committee room for Thompson, and I refused; and I think that was the reason they did not meet after, much.
45,835. It was used for Thompson separately?—Yes.
45,836. After the amalgamation, they did not meet?—I think not.
45,837. Had you a list of the committee that were to meet at your house?—I do not recollect; I think not.
45,838. How did you know who to let in if you had no list? would you let in anybody that came?—At that time I believe we did, because it was preparatory to the election.
45,839. Do you mean blues and oranges indiscriminately?—There are both blue and orange houses.
45,840. Not a place where they would go to learn secrets?—It might be; there would be both blues as well as oranges.
45,841. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.
45,842. Did you receive anything?—No.
45,843. Any promise of any money?—No.
45,844. Any room engaged?—No.
45,845. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
45,846. Did you receive a promise?—No.
45,847. Any room engaged?—No.
45,848. You did not, I suppose, get your name set down?—I did not.
45,849. Do you know who appointed your room to be a committee room in 1841?—I am sure I do not know whether it was Mr. Wilde or not; I believe it was; I really cannot swear to it; I think he was there.

John Adams.

JOHN ADAMS sworn, and examined.

45,850. Where do you live?—High Street.
45,851. Did you ever live in Christopher Street?—No Sir; I lived in Harcourt Street, Drypool, at the time of the election; I have shifted since.
45,852. What is your business?—A ropemaker.
45,853. What rent do you pay for a house?—I occupy a room only.
45,854. Are you a lodger?—No; I am with myself.
45,855. What rent do you pay?—£5.
45,856. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
45,857. When where you made a freeman?—In 1806.
45,858. At the election of 1841, who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all at that time; I was in the customs.
45,859. Where did you live in 1841?—Wentworth Street, Drypool,—no, I did not live there, I lived in Union Place, Witham.
45,860. You say you did not vote in 1841?—I did not.

45,861. You are down as having voted for Clay and Thompson in 1841?—I was in the customs.

45,862. Had you a son?—Yes.

45,863. Of the same name?—Yes; John.

45,864. You had no vote then?—No.

45,865. In 1847, did you vote?—Yes.

45,866. For Mr. Clay?—Clay and Brown.

45,867. Did you receive any money?—No.

45,868. Or any promise?—No.

45,869. In 1852, Clay and Goderich?—No; Moore and Butler.

45,870. Did you receive any money?—I did not.

45,871. None from Moore and Butler?—No.

45,872. We hear they paid money; did you not get some?—No, I got none. I believe there was some money paid to my name, but I never received it. I never got it.

45,873. Why did you believe that? who told you so?—I was in the room in Humber Street; there was some money paid there; I think there was some paid to my name; I did not receive it.

45,874. You said you were there?—I was.

45,875. Who got it for you?—I am sure I do not know whether my son got it or not; not for me.

45,876. Did you tell him he might have it himself?—I did.

45,877. If he could get it?—Yes.

45,878. Why did you tell him that? is that what you call speaking the truth?—I wish to tell you the truth.

45,879. Your son had it for you by your leave?—My son voted the same way as I did. I have two sons.

45,880. Your son voted Clay and Goderich?—Yes; and my other son George, he voted Moore and Butler.

45,881. I want to know how much your son got?—I think, he got 30*s*.

45,882. You were in the room?—Yes.

45,883. Who paid the money?—I do not know the gentleman's name that paid it.

45,884. How many were there in the room together?—Six.

45,885. Where was the room?—Sir John Falstaff's.

45,886. When was it?—It was the polling day after I had voted.

45,887. Was that 30*s*. all for yourself?—Yes; it was paid to my name.

45,888. You said you had another son who voted the same way?—Yes.

45,889. Did he get some money?—Yes.

45,890. Was he present?—Yes.

45,891. How much did he get?—He got 30*s*.

45,892. Had they got a book that was produced?—There was a little book or a piece of paper; I do not know which.

45,893. To see how you voted?—No; we had voted then.

45,894. What was the book or paper for?—Just to put the names down upon.

45,895. Did you give a receipt?—No.

45,896. Did you not put your name on some book?—No book whatever.

45,897. Did you give any receipt for it?—No; the money was laid down on the table and I did not take it up; I told them I would not have it.

45,898. You told me there were six in the room with you at the time, and your son and your other son?—No; only one.

45,899. Who were the other four? what were their names?—I do not know; they were strangers to me. I only knew one, besides my son.

45,900. What was his name?—Labon.

45,901. When the six went out, what happened then? did six others go in?—No.

45,902. Were there some others waiting?—No, there were not.

45,903. Did some others go in before you?—No, not that I know of; not to my knowledge.

45,904. How came you to go there to get the money?—I went along with my son; he asked me to go in with him.

45,905. How came you to hear of that place, as a place where to get money?—My son, and three or four others were talking about it at the outside in Humber Street; nobody told us.

45,906. Saying it was going on, that is talking about it?—There was talking about it.

45,907. Which of your sons was it who was there with you?—George.

45,908. Is Henry your son?—No; George and John are my two sons.

45,909. One voted blue, the other voted orange?—Yes.

45,910. Did John tell you how much he got for the orange?—He did not.

45,911. Did you hear it?—No, I did not; I never heard it.

45,912. Did he say he got something?—No.

45,913. Did he say he got nothing?—No, he did not; he said nothing to me, for we were not very friendly.

John Cribbs.

15th July 1853.

JOHN CRIBBS recalled, and examined.

45,914. Have you ascertained from your wife what it was she got for the room?—Yes; she says she got 2*l.*

John Akit.

JOHN AKIT sworn, and examined.

45,915. Where do you live?—York Street

45,916. What is your business?—A painter.

45,917. What rent do you pay?—Six guineas.

45,918. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

45,919. When were you made a freeman?—About twelve years since now.

45,920. In 1839, perhaps, when a good many were made?—Somewhere thereabouts, I believe.

45,921. And at whose expense?—My own.

45,922. Did you vote in 1841?—No.

45,923. Not at all?—No.

45,924. Are you sure you did not vote?—I am sure I did not.

45,925. Were you on the register?—I was not a burgess then.

45,926. You must have been wrong about your freedom: you said you took it up in 1839?—Perhaps I was.

45,927. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

45,928. Only?—Only.

45,929. I believe you were afterwards paid some money at the Wilberforce rooms?—Yes, 10*s.*

45,930. By Mr. Galloway, or some person?—Yes.

45,931. In 1852, who did you vote for, Clay and Goderich?—Yes.

45,932. Did you receive any money?—No.

45,933. Any promise?—No.

45,934. Did you get your name put down?—No.

45,935. Were you a member of any committee?—No.

John Bailey, sen.

JOHN BAILEY, sen., sworn, and examined.

45,936. Where do you live?—Upper Union Street.

45,937. What is your business?—A cowkeeper.

45,938. What rent do you pay?—I live in a small house of my own.

45,939. What are you rated at?—£16, I believe.

45,940. Are you a freeman?—No.

45,941. Did you vote as a householder, at the election of 1841?—I am sure I do not know. I do not know who I voted for at that time: I troubled my head very little about election matters. I voted for Clay and Goderich the last time; but I never troubled my head with elections at all.

45,942. In 1841, you got nothing, did you?—Never a farthing in my life.

45,943. We want to know how you voted for the sake of our information?—I generally did vote for the orange, but I never troubled my head with elections at all.

45,944. There is a John Bailey who voted in 1841 for the other side; altogether for the blues?—I am sure I do not know who it is.

45,945. Where did you live in 1841?—I have lived in Upper Union Street these thirty years.

45,946. Then John Bailey of Upper Union Street, voted for Hanmer and James; that is you?—Yes.

45,947. You say you got nothing?—Never a farthing in my life; nor never had any offered, nor was ever at any committee room, or anywhere else.

45,948. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I voted for Clay and Goderich this last time. I am sure I do not know about 1847.

45,949. Mr. Clay only, then?—Yes.

45,950. And did you not get some money at the Wilberforce rooms?—I never was there.

45,951. Never in your life?—No, never; nor never had any money offered.

45,952. You know where the Wilberforce rooms are?—I do not know; I never knew of any such place. I never had any offered in my life.

45,953. You never were there?—I never was there.

45,954. In 1852, you voted for Clay and Goderich?—Yes.

45,955. That you remember?—Yes.

45,956. You say you never had anything?—Never anything, nor never had any offered, never in all my life; neither this election nor any other.

45,957. There is put opposite your name in 1841, this, that you promised Clay and Thompson, but voted for Hanmer and James?—I never did anything of the sort; I never promised any one.

John Bailey, sen.

15th July 1853.

45,958. In 1841 ?—No ; I never promised any one.

45,959. Do you know who you voted for in 1841 ?—This last time I voted for Clay and Goderich.

45,960. But in 1841, twelve years ago ?—I am sure I cannot say.

45,961. If you do not remember who you voted for, perhaps you cannot remember who you promised ?—I do not recollect it at all.

45,962. Opposite your name it says that you promised to vote for Clay and Thompson, but voted for Hanmer and James ?—It is not me ; not to my recollection.

45,963. In the poll book you voted for Hanmer and James, there is no doubt ?—I do not recollect it.

THOMAS WILDE recalled, and examined.

Thomas Wilde.

45,964. Look at this book (Poll Book of 1841) it is marked. Can you explain that ?—No doubt that is correct, that he promised, but voted for Hanmer and James.

JOHN BAILEY, sen., recalled, and examined.

John Bailey, sen.

45,965. Are sure you did not promise ?—I never promised anybody.

45,966. Will you listen to me : Will you swear that in the year 1841 you did not promise to vote for Clay and Thompson ?—No, I will not swear it, because I do not know ; I speak the truth and nothing else.

JOHN BAILEY, jun., sworn, and examined.

John Bailey, jun.

45,967. Where do you live ?—Mechanic Lane, now Hunt's Place, Hessle Road.

45,968. What is your business ?—A labourer.

45,969. Do you pay rent for a house ?—Yes.

45,970. How much ?—£5.

45,971. Are you a freeman ?—Yes.

45,972. When were you made a freeman ?—In 1842.

45,973. At whose expense ?—My own.

45,974. In 1847, who did you vote for ?—Clay and Baines.

45,975. Were you not employed as a runner for Mr. Brown ?—No ; I was put down, but it was put down on the order of Mr. Walker ; I got 10*s*.

45,976. You were put down as a runner for Mr. Brown and got 10*s*. ?—Yes.

45,977. Did you run anywhere ?—I did run with some notes from the Bull and Sun, just as I was going to my breakfast.

45,978. You voted for Clay and Baines ?—Yes.

45,979. Did you receive any money afterwards from Mr. Galloway ?—No.

45,980. For somebody at the Wilberforce Rooms ?—No.

45,981. Did you receive anything either for Mr. Clay or Mr. Baines ?—Not a farthing ; I should have voted for Mr. Brown, but when I got there, where I had been running with some bills, he was declaring out ; the last thing in the day it was. I believe I was the last but two that voted at the polling place in Porter Street.

45,982. You got some money for your vote afterwards ?—No, not a fraction.

45,983. You meant to have voted for Mr. Brown ?—I got 10*s*. the polling morning, from Mr. Mitchell in White Horse Yard.

45,984. To vote for Brown ?—Yes.

45,985. They were declaring off you say ?—I thought it was no use, and so I thought I would go and vote on the winning side.

45,986. The winning side paid you something ; so they say ?—Not a farthing.

45,987. They say they paid you at the Wilberforce rooms ?—Not a fraction.

45,988. In 1852, did you vote ?—Yes.

45,989. Who for ?—Clay and Goderich.

45,990. Did you receive any money ?—Yes ; I was on Mr. Wilde's staff ; I was one of his staff.

45,991. At Saville Street ?—Part of the time.

45,992. How much did you get paid ?—I think about three weeks altogether ; a guinea a week.

45,993. Were you employed ?—Yes, constantly, all the time.

45,994. And paid weekly ?—Yes ; every Saturday night.

45,995. Did you expect 30*s*. besides ?—No.

45,996. Not if others got it ?—No ; I did not expect it.

45,997. You were not down in what we call Wilde's list of people who were to get money ?—No, not to get the money ; all I got was by the week. I was not down for any more, and I did not expect any more.

45,998. In Saville Street ?—I was in Saville Street part of the time, and the remainder in Chapel Lane with Mr. Rawson ; rather two noted places, I think.

John Bailey, jun.
15th July 1853.

45,999. What did you do?—Sometimes I was attending the door, and sometimes running out with circulars and notes, and sometimes fetching Mr. Rawson's tea, when he could not go home to it.

46,000. And sometimes drinking it?—I never got a glass of ale but one, all the time.

46,001. But drinking his tea?—No, he drank it of course; he could not get away, so I fetched it for him.

Thomas Wilde.

THOMAS WILDE recalled and examined.

46,002. Was this man on your list?—For a day or two.

46,003. On the general list?—No, I think not.

46,004. What did he really do?—Nothing, or next to nothing.

46,005. He got 3*l.*?—Yes; we had a room to set down at, and I engaged a staff for it.

46,006. He got 3*l.* for three weeks, but was not employed?—Yes.

John Bailey, jun.

JOHN BAILEY, jun., recalled, and examined.

46,007. What do you say to that?—I was in constant attendance from eight o'clock in the morning to nine or ten at night, all the time.

Thomas Wilde.

THOMAS WILDE recalled, and examined.

46,008. This was one mode of paying them?—Yes.

46,009. You necessarily gave them something to do?—Yes; we would send them out; I sent a man sometimes up to my own house with a note with nothing in it.

Thomas Briggs.

THOMAS BRIGGS sworn, and examined.

46,010. Where do you live?—Scott Street, No. 37.

46,011. What is your business?—A joiner.

46,012. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

46,013. What rent do you pay?—10*l.*

46,014. Are you a freeman?—No, a householder.

46,015. Did you vote as a housholder at the election of 1841?—The election before the last, I voted for Clay and Baines.

46,016. But did you vote at the election of 1841?—For Thompson.

46,017. Clay and Thompson, did you not?—Yes.

46,018. Did you receive anything?—No.

46,019. Nothing at all?—No.

46,020. Did you let them have one of your rooms?—No, not at all.

46,021. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.

46,022. And you got 10*s.* from Mr. Galloway?—No; nothing of the sort.

46,023. At the Wilberforce rooms?—No; not a farthing piece from any party in my life.

46,024. Did anybody get it for you?—No.

46,025. Have you got a son named Thomas Briggs?—No.

46,026. They have got your name down as having received 10*s.* at the Wilberforce rooms?—I never received a farthing at any election in my life.

46,027. Have you a son named Thomas?—I had one.

46,028. Had you one in 1847?—He died this year.

46,029. Do you know whether he received any money?—Nothing at all; I never knew anything about it.

46,030. You say you never got any money by your own hands, or anybody else's?—No; not from any party in my life.

46,031. Did your son vote in 1847? you had a son of the name of Thomas Briggs in 1847?—Yes; I had a son, but he died this year.

46,032. He was not a voter in 1847?—No; he never was a voter, I believe. I am sure he was not.

46,033. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

46,034. I shall not ask you any more about money, because you mever had any?—No.

46,035. You say you never had a farthing in your life?—I never got anything in my life.

46,036. Did you ever hear of your son getting any money, or being at the Wilberforce rooms?—No.

THOMAS WILDE recalled, and examined. Thomas Wilde.

15th July 1853.

46,037. It appears that somebody has got the money in the name of Thomas Briggs?—Yes. I have no doubt it was his son Thomas. I was there at the time, and I believe he came with some more out of that district.

46,038. You have no doubt that he got it in the name of the father, as if sent by the father?—Yes; out of the bracketed list. He might be one of them, but I do not know.

46,039. You say you recollect the son coming?—I think I do; there is no doubt but that he got it.

WILLIAM COLLEY sworn, and examined. William Colley.

46,040. Where do you live?—Blackfriargate alley.

46,041. What is your business?—Eatinghouse keeper.

46,042. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

46,043. What rent do you pay?—£18.

46,044. Are you a freeman?—No.

46,045. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—No.

46,046. In 1847, you did, I believe?—No.

46,047. Had you a vote in 1841?—No.

46,048. Nor in 1847?—No; not until this last election.

46,049. Do you know another William Colley?—No.

46,050. Nobody else of your name?—I think there is one in George Street.

46,051. In 1852 did you vote?—Yes.

46,052. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.

46,053. Did you get any money?—No.

46,054. Any promise?—No.

46,055. Was your name set down?—No.

46,056. Did you have a room occupied?—No.

46,057. Do you know what number you are upon the register?—I am sure I do not.

THOMAS COOK sworn, and examined. Thomas Cook.

46,058. Where do you live?—No. 4, Egginton Street.

46,059. What is your business?—A Shipwright.

46,060. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

46,061. What rent do you pay?—£7.

46,062. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,063. When were you made a freeman?—In 1826.

46,064. At whose expense?—My own.

46,065. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—Yes.

46,066. Who for?—Hanmer and James.

46,067. Did you get any money at that election?—Not that I recollect.

46,068. Did they engage your room?—No.

46,069. Are you sure you got no money?—I think not.

46,070. That is not being sure?—I am almost certain; but I do not recollect receiving a farthing at that election.

46,071. Before the election or after?—Neither before nor after.

46,072. For your vote?—No; not for my vote.

46,073. You did at the next election, in 1847?—Yes.

46,074. You voted for Mr. Clay?—Yes.

46,075. How much did you get?—5*s*.

46,076. Where was it paid you?—It was paid in the yard by the foreman.

46,077. What yard do you mean?—In the ship yard.

46,078. By what foreman?—They call him Thomas Lee.

46,079. When did he pay you?—He drew the money for the people working in the yard, and he brought me 5*s*.

46,080. My question is when he paid you?—It would be after the election.

46,081. How long?—Maybe two or three days after the election.

46,082. How many did he pay in the yard besides you?—I do not know; there might be four or five.

46,083. Did they work in the same yard?—Yes.

46,084. Your mates?—Yes.

46,085. What were their names?—Newman was one, I think; I am sure I do not know the rest. Absalom Lee would be another.

46,086. Where does Thomas Lee live now?—He is away in India.

46,087. Do you remember the other names? you have given us two.—I cannot exactly say just now; they were working there at the time. There would be Michael Webster, a sawyer.

46,088. Where did Lee get the money?—I believe he got it from Mr. Jalland.

Thomas Cook.

15th July 1853.

46,089. Did he say so?—I think he said so; he was running about two or three days, I think he said, after the election, about it, to try and get it.
46,090. Did you vote a bullet for Mr. Clay in 1847?—Yes.
46,091. Clay only?—No; Clay and Baines.
46,092. Did you get any money from Mr Baines?—No; not a farthing.
46,093. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore.
46,094. A plumper, for for Moore and Butler?—Moore and Butler.
46,095. Did you get any money?—Yes.
46,096. How much?—10*s.*
46,097. When was it paid?—It would be two or three weeks after the election; maybe more.
46,098. Where?—At Mr. Catley's office.
46,099. By whom?—Young Mr. Catley.
46,100. Was it for both votes?—Yes; it was for both votes.
46,101. Was that all you got?—That is all I got.

Nathan Farrall.

NATHAN FARRALL sworn, and examined.

46,102. Where do you live?—Lime Street.
46,103. What is your business?—A shipwright.
46,104. What rent do you pay for a house?—I am not a householder.
46,105. Are you a lodger?—Yes; I am merely a lodger.
46,106. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,107. When did you become free?—At Graham's election.
46,108. In 1818?—I suppose it would be then; I do not know; I cannot say exactly.
46,109. Was it at your own expense?—Yes.
46,110. Did you get 4*l.* and 2*l.* in the early days?—Of course; I got I should think 4*l.*; I do not know exactly, but I got what it was usual to pay them. I do not know what it was.
46,111. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—I did not vote at all.
46,112. Why not?—I thought I would not.
46,113. Did somebody persuade you not?—No.
46,114. Nobody made it worth your while?—Nobody made it worth my while; it was to satisfy myself.
46,115. In 1847, you changed your mind perhaps, and thought you would vote?—I did vote in 1847.
46,116. For Mr. Clay, I believe?—Yes.
46,117. And you got some money, I think?—Yes.
46,118. Where were you paid?—In William Gibson's ship yard, in Lime Street.
46,119. How much?—10*s.*
46,120. When? after the election?—I think it was.
46,121. Who paid you?—Thomas Lee.
46,122. Were you one of the party of the man who was last here?—I was in the same yard.
46,123. I think he mentioned your name?—I think it is very likely he would not know me at that time.
46,124. You only got that 10*s.*?—Yes.
46,125. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore and Butler.
46,126. How much did you get from them?—Nothing.
46,127. Did you get your name set down somewhere?—No.
46,128. Had you not a promise to get anything?—No.
46,129. Did they ask you to set your name down?—No.
46,130. Did the orange try you?—Not as for putting my name down; they asked me for my vote.
46,131, The time before, you voted for Mr. Clay?—Yes.
46,132. Then you changed a little?—I changed.
46,133. Had you not a good reason for changing?—Merely to satisfy myself.
46,134. A money reason I mean?—No, I did not get a farthing; nothing at all.

Joseph Firth.

JOSEPH FIRTH sworn, and examined.

46,135. Where do you live?—Water House Lane.
46,136. What is your business?—A licensed victualler.
46,137. What rent do you pay for a house?—£90 a year.
46,138. Are you a freeman?—No.
46,139. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—No.
46,140. Were you on the register?—No; I was not living in the town.
46,141. In 1847?—Yes.
46,142. Did you vote for Mr. Clay?—No.
46,143. Do you know anybody else of your name in the place?—I believe not.
46,144. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown.

Joseph Firth.

15th July 1853.

46,145. A plumper?—Yes.
46,146. There is a gentleman of your name who got some money at the Wilberforce rooms?—It was not me.
46,147. There is a Joseph Firth put down in 1847 as having received 2*l.* 10s. there?—That is not me. There is a Firth, a painter, in Osborne Street.
46,148. Is Joseph Kemp Firth any relation of yours?—No.
46,149. You did not get any money I suppose?—No, never.
46,150. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Butler and Moore.
46,151. Did you get anything?—No.
46,152. Any promise?—No.
46,153. Do you know Joseph Kemp Firth?—I know him by sight.
46,154. Do you know anything you can disclose touching the matters of these three elections?—No; I do not.

George Foster.

GEORGE FOSTER sworn, and examined.

46,155. Where do you live?—Southcoates, in the Holderness Road.
46,156. What is your business?—A cowkeeper.
46,157. Do you pay rent for a house?—House and land.
46,158. How much?—£72.
46,159. Are you a freeman?—No.
46,160. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—No.
46,161. Perhaps you were not entitled to vote then?—No.
46,162. Did you vote at the election of 1847?—Yes.
46,163. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.
46,164. Were you employed as a runner by Mr. Stark?—No.
46,165. Did you get anything?—No.
46,166. Where did you live in 1847?—In the Holderness Road.
46,167. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.
46,168. Did you get any promise or get your name set down?—No; not a farthing.
46,169. Any employment?—No.

Edward Glen.

EDWARD GLEN sworn, and examined.

46,170. Where do you live?—Junction Dock Wall.
46,171. What is your business?—A turner and cabinetmaker.
46,172. What rent do you pay for your house and premises?—£18.
46,173. Are you a freeman?—No.
46,174. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—No.
46,175. You were not entitled to vote perhaps?—No.
46,176. In 1847, I believe you voted?—Yes.
46,177. For Mr. Clay?—Yes.
46,178. And received some money at the Wilberforce rooms?—No.
46,179. Who got it for you?—I do not know; I never got any.
46,180. You got it did you not?—No.
46,181. Your name is down in the list?—I never got anything.
46,182. Did you go after it?—No; I never had my name set down for it, so I should think I should not get it.
46,183. There was no setting down, but people got it afterwards?—I never got it.
46,184. Edward Glen is down there; did you know a person of that name besides yourself in 1847?—No.
46,185. Then I think, if you remember, you did get the money?—No; I never got any.
46,186. Did anybody get it for you?—I could not say.
46,187. You could say if you got it afterwards?—I never got any or looked after any.
46,188. Do you mean to say upon your oath you never got any money at that election?—No.
46,189. You know nothing about it?—No.
46,190. Did you ever get any money at any election?—No; never.
46,191. Did you hear that somebody of your name got money?—It was not me.
46,192. That is not an answer to my question. Have you heard that anybody of the name of Glen got money?—I never heard of anything of the sort.
46,193. Did you send for it?—No.
46,194. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Clay and Goderich.
46,195. Did you get anything?—No.
46,196. Any promise?—I never applied.
46,197. Did you get any room taken?—No.
46,198. Was your name set down?—No.
46,199. Were you ever at the Wilberforce rooms?—No.

Thomas Wilde.

THOMAS WILDE recalled, and examined

15th July 1853.

46,200. Do you know anything about this?—I fancy myself that there was some money sent on to their shop; they had nine voters there. I cannot recollect exactly, but I think there was some sent on to the shop that he is master of, for some voters that are there.

Edward Glen.

EDWARD GLEN recalled, and examined.

46,201. Were there nine voters that all plumped Clay?—Yes; there were nine of us altogether.

Thomas Wilde.

THOMAS WILDE recalled, and examined.

46,202. Was that so?—I think if you look at the list you will find some of them among that.

46,203. You know that there were several together at the place that he worked at?—Yes.

46,204. And the money was sent to all the voters who worked with the witness?—Yes.

Edward Glen.

EDWARD GLEN recalled, and examined.

46,205. Did you hear that any of those men got money?—Not a farthing.

46,206. Did you never hear that?—Never a farthing.

46,207. What do you mean by "never a farthing"?—Not a farthing at that election.

46,208. What do you mean by saying there were nine of you?—There were nine of us voted out of the shop.

46,209. All working for the same master?—Yes.

46,210. Did they have money?—No; I never heard of it.

46,211. I thought you said you knew there was money sent to the shop?—No; Wilde said that.

46,212. What are the names of them?—There was Henry Drinkall, Bethell Thorp, Thomas Dixon, James Wilson, Henry Grant, Samuel Birch, Henry Glen, and Edward Glen. I believe that is all.

46,213. That is eight?—I do not recollect who the other was. I am sure I forget who the other was; but I knew there were nine voters.

46,214. Did your master vote the same way?—Yes.

46,215. Did he ever give you any money?—No.

46,216. In addition to your wages?—No.

46,217. What is your master's name?—Henry Glen.

46,218. What relation is he to you?—A brother.

46,219. Do you work for him now?—Yes.

46,220. All nine of you voted one way?—Yes; we had men that worked for us who voted on the other side.

46,221. Your master, and yourself and men, making altogether nine, voted one way?—Yes.

46,222. Those who voted the other way, did you hear them say that they got money?—No; never heard them say anything about it; I only know of one.

46,223. Who was he?—Thomas Metcalf.

46,224. Who did he vote for?—Brown and Baines, I believe.

46,225. Did any of these men get their names set down that you know of?—Not any that I know of.

46,226. They kept it from you?—I never heard tell of it. Mr. Clay canvassed our shop, and we all promised him there and then. We knew he was coming down, and we all attended the shop on purpose.

46,227. All of you promised?—Yes; all of us promised him a plumper, and we plumped Clay.

46,228. Did Metcalfe promise?—He was not there.

46,229. Did Mr. Clay ask for plumpers?—Yes.

46,230. You say Metcalfe was not there?—He was not there; he worked out; he did not work in the shop. He said if they had wanted him to vote the same way as us, he would have voted that way. I asked him which way he voted. He said he voted for Brown and Baines, and if he had known which way we were going to vote, he would have voted the same way.

46,231. Metcalfe said that?—Yes.

WILLIAM GRIME sworn, and examined.

William Grime.

15th July 1853.

46,232. Where do you live?—Trippet Street.
46,233. What is your business?—A seaman.
46,234. What rent do you pay for your house?—£6.
46,235. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,236. When were you made a freeman?—About thirty-two years since.
46,236. Did you pay for it yourself?—No; I do not know who paid for it.
46,238. In 1841 did you vote for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
47,239. Did you get any money?—30*s.* for a runner.
46,240. Who paid you?—I do not know I am sure. Mr. Stafford paid me 10*s.*, and I do not know who paid the other.
46,241. Was that before or after the election?—After.
46,242. All of it?—Yes; I think so.
46,243. Do you remember where you got the other 20*s.*?—At the next door to the committee, at Mr. Binks'.
46,244. Binks the painter?—Yes; I believe he was a painter.
46,245. Was that after the election?—Yes.
46,246. That was paid through a hole in the door, was it not?—I do not know, I am sure, that it was.
46,247. You did not see the man?—I did not know the gentleman; I did not know his name.
46,248. You did not see the man at all that paid you?—Yes, I did.
46,249. How was he dressed?—I am sure I cannot say now; I did not take notice.
46,250. In 1847 who did you vote for? Clay and Brown, did you not?—I polled for Clay and Brown.
46,251. You were a runner for Brown, I think, and were paid by Mr. Mitchell?—I do not know, I am sure, whether I received 10*s.* from Mr. Brown or not.
46,252. It was paid by Mr. Mitchell, was it not?—Yes; most likely it would be.
46,253. When were you paid that?—I do not know; it would be after the election I think.
46,254. Were you paid anything for the other gentleman?—Yes.
46,255. How much did you get for Mr. Clay?—I received 1*l.*, and then there was something paid after I went to sea.
46,256. Who got it for you?—My wife.
46,257. She told you how much of course?—I think it was 18*s.*
46,258. Then you got 1*l.* 18*s.* from Mr. Clay?—Yes.
46,259. At the election of 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
46,260. You were a runner, were you not, for the blues?—Yes.
46,261. In Lowgate?—Yes.
46,262. How many days?—I am sure I do not know how many days,—perhaps ten or twelve days at the committee.
46,263. How much were you paid?—I was paid 30*s.*, I think, or 1*l.* 15*s.*, I do not know which.
46,264. And you voted for them?—Yes.
46,265. When were you paid?—After the election.
46,266. Where you paid?—At the committee room in Lowgate, close by.
46,267. Do you know how many days after?—I am sure I cannot say how many days after.
46,268. Who paid you?—Mr. Pullen, I think.

WILLIAM JACKS sworn, and examined.

William Jacks.

46,269. Where do you live?—I live in Bourne Street.
46,270. What rent do you pay for a house?—Eighteen guineas.
46,271. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,272. When were you made a freeman?—In 1839, I think.
46,273. At whose expense?—At my father's.
46,274. Did you vote for the orange party at that election,—for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
46,275. In 1841?—Yes.
46,276. Did you receive any money?—Yes.
46,277. How much money did you get for your vote?—I did not get anything for my vote; I received 3*l.* for keeping the door in Parliament Street; at the office I got paid.
46,278. How long did you keep the door?—A fortnight, every day.
46,279. And got 3*l.* for it?—Yes.
46,280. What were you to do at the door?—To let them in as they were going in and out.
46,281. To let them in?—Any party that came.
46,282. What door was it?—The office door at Mr. Stark's.

William Jacks.

15th July 1853.

46,283. Could not everybody go in?—No; only as they called them in. Anybody would come who wanted to see him. I had to tell the names.

46,284. Would that last six days?—A fortnight I was there.

46,285. Did you take in the names of everybody that called?—No; I had nothing to do but to let them in.

46,286. If you had gone away and left the door open, they would have gone in?—You misunderstood me. I told them the names as they went in; if they wanted to see any parties I told them, and they said, "Let them in."

46,287. You went and reported the names?—Yes.

46,288. And sometimes they said, "Do not let them in"?—If they did I did not let them in.

46,289. Did they say so sometimes?—No; I did not hear it.

46,290. Did you let in everybody?—I let in everybody they told me.

46,291. Your business was to stand at the door and repeat the names?—Yes.

46,292. In the way a butler or a footman does at a gentleman's house?—Anyway you like to name it; I am not particular about it.

46,293. You voted you say?—Yes.

46,294. Who kept the door then, when you went to vote?—I do not know. I did not take particular notice who kept it, and I did not care a deal.

46,295. Did they give you permission to leave the door while you went to vote?—I do not know; perhaps I took permission.

46,296. How long were you at the door?—A fortnight I told you.

46,297. I mean were you there every hour, every day?—Sometimes I went away to get a glass of grog. I could not say that I left it altogether, but sometimes I did for a couple of hours, or three hours.

46,298. What time did you go in the morning?—About ten.

46,299. And sometimes twelve?—I dare say it was.

46 300. And sometimes two?—I was not very particular.

46,301. How did you receive the money?—I received it 30*s.* a week.

46,302. Who paid you it?—I was paid at Mr. Stark's office. I could not tell the gentleman's name. I could not tell him again if I saw him. All I know is I got the money.

46,303. Was anything paid afterwards?—No.

46,304. Did that carry it up to the election?—I could not say.

46,305. If you cannot tell us we cannot know it.—I bothered my head so little about it. I have other business to bother my head about than that.

46,306. Were you very much neglecting your business at the time?—Not particularly at that time, or I would not have attended to it.

46,307. What was your business?—I was an earthenware dealer.

46,308. In 1847, did you keep any door or what?—No; I kept nothing.

46,309. Did you get any money?—No money at all.

46,310. Did you vote?—Yes; I did.

46,311. Who for?—Baines and Clay, I think it was.

46,212. Did you get nothing at any time?—Not anything at all.

46,313. Some were paid in 1852 for Mr. Clay?—I was not paid anything at all; not a halfpenny.

46,314. Was any room engaged?—No room; not anything.

46,315. In 1852 did you vote?—Yes.

46,316. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.

46,317. Did you get any promise?—Not any promise, or anything at all.

46,318. Was your name set down?—Not any name set down, or anything at all.

George Harper.

GEORGE HARPER sworn, and examined.

46,319. Where do you live?—Deighton's Terrace.

46,320. What is your business?—A labourer.

46,321. What rent do you pay for a house?—£7.

46,322. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,323. When were you made free?—In 1837.

46,324. At whose expense?—My own.

46,325. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—No.

46,326. Why not?—I was in the country.

46,327. In 1847 you voted, I believe, for Mr. Clay?—No.

46,328. Who for?—Brown and Baines.

46,329. You were a runner, were you not for Brown?—No.

46,330. Mr. Bannister paid you some money I think?—No.

46,331. For two days? Just remember,—were you not paid some money for the election of 1847, as a runner for Mr. Brown?—Yes; I believe I was.

46,332. This paper says so, and I fancy it is right?—Yes.

46,333. How much did you get?—5*s.*

46,334. From Mr. Bannister?—Yes. I believe it was.

George Harper.

15th July 1853.

46,335. You were also paid some money, I believe at that election, by Mr. Galloway at the Wilberforce rooms?—No.
46,336. You voted for Brown and Baines?—Yes.
46,337. In 1852, who did you vote for? the last election?—Moore and Butler.
46,338. Did you get any money?—No.
46,339. Nothing at all?—No.
46,340. How was that?—I never was promised anything, or never asked for it.
46,341. Did you not ask for any?—No.
46,342. And were not promised?—No.
46,343 You had no room for them?—No.
46,344. You got nothing and was promised nothing?—No.
46,345. Did anybody get anything for you?—No; not that I am aware of.
46,346. You never had it?—No.

William Hewitt.

WILLIAM HEWITT sworn, and examined.

46,347. Where do you live?—No. 47, Francis Street West.
46,348. What is your business?—I am a clerk.
46,349. What rent do you pay for a house?—Ten guineas.
46,350. Are you a freeman?—No.
46,351. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—I think not.
46,352. When Clay and Thompson, and Hanmer and James were the candidates?—I think not, but I am not quite sure.
46,353. Had you a vote then in 1841?—I think I had.
46,354. You had a vote, but did not vote?—I voted so seldom that I do not recollect. I do no think I voted then.
46,355. In 1847 you voted a bullet, did you not, for Mr. Clay?—It is possible I did.
46,356. Mr. Clay, and somebody else perhaps?—Yes.
46,357. Where did you live then?—I lived in Francis Street then.
46,358. Did you ever get anything at the Wilberforce rooms?—No.
46,359. From Mr. Galloway?—No.
46,360. Are you sure you voted?—I will not be sure.
46,361. Are you sure whether you voted or not, in 1847?—I am not quite sure whether I did, or not.
46,362. If you did, who did you vote for?—For the orange party.
46,363. They were all orange then, Clay, Baines, and Brown; there would be no blues. —It would be for Mr. Clay, if at all. I voted for Mr. Hutt.
46,364. Did you vote for Mr. Clay?—I am not quite sure.
46,365. You had a vote as far back as Mr. Hutt's election?—Yes; I voted for Mr. Hutt on that occasion.
46,366. You are the William Hewitt of Francis Street West, in 1847?—Yes.
46,367. You did live in Francis Street West, in 1847?—Yes.
46,368. And you never got any money, you say?—No.
46,369. You are sure of that part?—Quite sure of that part.
46,370. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.
46,371. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.
46,372. Did you get anything, or any promise?—No, never.
46,373. Was your name set down?—No.
46,374. Was any room of yours taken?—No.

Thomas Howgill.

THOMAS HOWGILL sworn, and examined.

46,375. Where do you live?—Ropery Side in the Pottery, near the Hessle Road.
46,376. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
46,377. How much?—£6 a year.
46,378. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,379. When were you made a freeman?—In 1830.
46,380. At whose expense?—My own.
46,381. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.
46,382. Who for?—Sir John Hanmer, and Sir Walter James.
46,383. Did you get any money for that?—No.
46,384. After the election?—No, not any.
46,385. Not for your vote?—No.
46,386. No money at any time?—No.
46,387. Did anybody get any for you?—No, not then.
46,388. You say not then?—No.
46,389. Afterwards?—No; not that election, I am certain.
46,390. Then, perhaps you will tell us better about the election of 1847. Who did you vote for then?—I voted for Clay and Brown.
46,391. What did you get then?—I received 1*l.* 19*s.*

Thomas Howgill.

15th July 1853.

46,392. Was that paid at the Baltic?—Yes; I got a pound before we went, and 19*s* after returning.

46,393. You were one of Mr. Nicholson's party?—Yes.

46,394. At the election of 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

46,395. You were a runner, were you not?—Yes.

46,396. For Mr. Butler?—Yes.

46,397. How much did you get paid?—I was three weeks there, and I had a pound a week.

46,398. When were you paid?—Every Saturday night.

46,399. Did that continue up to the Saturday after the election?—Yes.

46,400. The election was on the Thursday?—Yes; that made three weeks altogether of my being at it.

46,401. Were you paid the last week, the Saturday after the election?—Yes.

46,402. Where were you paid?—At the committee room in Waverley Street.

46,403. What did you do?—Ran out with the bills and circulars.

46,404. Was your name put on a list?—They put me on that morning that I went there, at the Waverley Street rooms.

46,405. At the first beginning of it?—I was not on the first begining,—they started before I went.

46,406. But at the first beginning of your going, your name was put upon a list?—Yes.

46,407. That morning at the Waverley rooms?—Yes.

46,408. And you promised your vote for these gentlemen?—I did not promise at all at that time.

46,409. When had you promised them?—I never told them, until I went to poll in the morning; I never satisfied any of them; I would not.

46,410. Did they keep on asking how you would vote?—No; there was one or two asked me, and I told them I should use my own time; I should use my own discretion.

46,411. Did many of your committee ask you?—Yes; one of our young gentlemen did. I know the gentleman when I see him, but I do not know his name.

46,412. But you would not tell them?—No, I did not.

46,413. Did the orange come to you?—They were at our house frequently.

46,414. Did they offer you money?—No.

46,415. Did they ask you to get your name set down?—No.

46,416. They did not ask you?—No; because they knew I was in polling for the blues.

46,417. You said just now, that you did not know it yourself?—I have understood you wrong; I said they were at our house frequently, but I never promised them.

46,418. And you said it was no use your promising them, because they knew you were for the blues?—They knew I was a blue man.

46,419. Then they knew more than you did yourself?—They wanted to get me if they could.

46,420. You told us you would not tell anybody who you would vote for?—No, I would not.

46,421. And now you say the orange knew you would vote blue?—There were a many in the town knew me, and knew that I always voted blue; they knew I was a blue man.

46,422. And they knew you would vote blue?—Most likely.

46,423. And they knew it at the committee room?—I expect so.

46,424. When did you tell them at your committee room that you were going to vote for them?—The polling day morning.

46,425. Not till then?—No, none of them knew until the polling day morning; that I am confident of.

46,426. Did they send somebody up to see that you voted all right?—Of course there was somebody went in the cab with me.

46,427. Who went with you?—Mr. Plaxton.

46,428. Who else went with you?—No one.

46,429. You two in a cab?—Yes.

46,430. Was Mr. Plaxton one of your committee?—Yes.

46,431. What did he go with you for?—To see whether I polled for them or the others; I cannot say.

46,432. I thought so, but I want you to tell me?—I cannot tell you my reason; I do not know.

46,433. And then you got the last pound at the end of the week?—Yes.

46,434. In 1847, you knew William Henry Nicholson?—Yes.

46,435. Did you see him at the last election?—I saw him frequently; he does not live a long way from me.

46,436. Busying himself in canvassing?—I do not know the last time whether he was canvassing or not. He was frequently about the streets as I always see him every day. I could not ascertain that he was doing anything of that kind.

46,437. Did you ever see him at your committee room?—I saw him once.

46,438. How long before the election?—About a week I should think.

JAMES SMITH sworn, and examined.

James Smith.

15th July 1853.

46,439. Where do you live?—In Witham.
46,440. Where did you live in 1841?—In Sykes Street.
45,441. What is your business?—A mariner.
46,442. Do you pay any rent for a house?—Yes, 9*l.* and taxes.
46,443. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,444. In 1841, did you vote for Clay and Thompson?—No, I was not in the town.
46,445. You did not vote for anybody?—No.
46,446. You had a right to vote, but did not vote?—Yes; I was at sea.
46,447. And you did not vote?—No.
46,448. Had you been at sea long when the election took place in 1841?—Yes; I had been at sea a good while. I have not polled for twelve years—it is twelve years since I polled.
46,449. Did you not vote in 1847 or 1852?—The last time I polled was for Hanmer.
46,450. That is just the very time you have been asked about. In 1841, then, you were not absent, because that was in 1841?—Yes.
46,451. You voted for Hanmer and James?—No, Hanmer alone, a bullet.
46,452. Did you get any money?—A sovereign; it was nine months after, in the winter.
46,453. Who paid you?—A gentleman.
46,454. Where?—It was in Mason Street at Mr. Dalton's.
46,455. How came you to get it?—A gentleman left a card for me to go in at 6 o'clock to that house.
46,456. What house?—Mr. Dalton's, the academy, in Mason Street.
46,457. You voted Hanmer and James?—No, Hanmer alone.
46,458. You lived in Sykes Street then?—Yes.
46,459. The James Smith who lived in Sykes Street voted for Hanmer and James; I have got the poll book before me. You went to Mr. Dalton's house?—Yes.
46,460. And got a pound?—Yes.
46,461. Where was the house?—In Mason Street.
46,462. They left a card for you?—Yes, they left a card at our house.
46,463. To say that you were to go and get the money?—No; a card to say I was to call on there, and the gentleman gave it me; it was tied up in a piece of paper, and the gentleman said, "That is for you."
46,464. For your vote at the last election?—Yes.
46,465. You had been at sea?—Yes; I had been away.
46,466. Did you not vote in 1847, or 1852?—No.
46,467. You have not voted since?—No.

HENRY WILLIAM JEFFREE sworn, and examined.

H. W. Jeffree.

46,468. Where do you live?—No. 6, Spring Bank, at the corner of Spring Street.
46,469. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
46,470. How much?—£20.
46,471. What business are you?—A grocer.
46,472. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,473. When were you free?—In 1843.
46,474. Did you vote as a householder in 1841?—I do not know, I am sure, how my name stood on the register.
46,475. You could not have been a freeman?—No, not in 1841.
46,476. Did you vote at all?—Not at all in 1841.
46,477. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I think for Mr. Clay.
46,478. I believe you received some money afterwards at the Wilberforce rooms?—Not that I know of; not a fraction from any one.
46,479. Mr. Galloway says so?—I never was in the room before the election of Clay and Goderich; I was in the room at that time.
46,480. Did you get any money for your vote in 1847?—No; I never received a farthing from any one.
46,481. Did anybody get it for you?—I do not know; I never heard of it. I never received a farthing in any shape, way, or form, from any one.
46,482. You might have made it a present to some one else?—I never made it a present to anybody else in any shape or form.
46,483. Are you quite sure of that?—Yes.
46,484. Your name is not a very common one?—No; if anybody received it I am unconscious of it, but it never reached me.
46,485. In 1852, what did you do?—I polled for Clay and Goderich. No one knew at the time the way I was going to vote, for I was visited by Mr. Pearson and Lord Goderich and Mr. Clay, and I said I should not promise any one at the time. I never promised any one. Mr. Clay said I had polled for him the last time, and what did I refuse for? I said of course I should give him no denial.

H. W. Jeffree.
15th July 1853.

46,486. What was the use of keeping back to the last day?—I was canvassed by all parties, and I did not wish to give any offence, and so I kept it back until the last day.

46,487. Did you say plainly, "I will vote for you," or "I will not vote for you"?—Yes, of course; but it becomes a matter of delicacy when canvassed by all parties; and being in business you do not wish to give anybody an offence if you can help it.

46,488. You are down here for 10*s.*?—I never received it in any shape or form. I never knew anything of it. I never received a farthing in my life from anybody for electioneering purposes.

46,489. I can understand not promising when a man is standing out to get the most money for his vote?—I never stood out for that purpose.

46,490. It is the only object a man can have?—I never stood out for that purpose. I did not wish for anything of the sort.

Isaac Gibbs Kay.

ISAAC GIBBS KAY sworn, and examined.

46,491. Where do you live?—Osborne Street.

46,492. What is your business?—A currier.

46,493. What rent do you pay?—Nine guineas.

46,494. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,495. When were you made a freeman?—January 1st 1840.

46,496. At your own expense?—Yes.

46,497. Did you vote at the next election in 1841?—No.

46,498. Were you on the register in 1841?—I do not know; I was in London at the time,—in 1841 I was in London. I took my freedom up January 1st 1840.

46,499. Then in 1847, who did you vote for?—I was not on the register.

45,500. Were you not?—No.

46,501. Being absent?—Yes; I was neglected and not on the register. I was omitted being on the register.

46,502. Did you get any money at the Wilberforce rooms?—Never.

46,503. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

46,504. Did you get any money at that election?—Not a fraction.

46,505. You are brought here as a person who is said to have received money at the election of 1847, at the Wilberforce rooms?—It is false.

46,506. And your name is down upon the list as having received money: that is the reason that you are brought here?—It is false.

46,507. Do you know George Kay?—Yes.

46,508. You never had any money?—Never.

46,509. Who is George Kay?—They call my father George Kay.

46,510. George Kay the elder is your father?—Yes; and there was a George Kay the younger, but he is dead.

46,511. Do you know an Isaac Kay?—No.

46,512. Did your father, George Kay, live at Hessle in 1847?—He did.

46,513. Where does he live now?—In Lister Street. He is from home at present; he is not there, but that is his residence.

46,514. Do you know anything about your father receiving money in 1847?—No.

46,515. Is he a man in good circumstances?—Yes.

46,516. He goes away for the benefit of his health now and then?—Yes; he is a man that lives upon what little he has. He has a sufficiency I dare say.

George Lundy.

GEORGE LUNDY sworn, and examined.

46,517. Where do you live?—Mytongate.

46,518. What is your business?—A tobacconist.

46,519. What rent do you pay for a house, or premises?—£25 a year.

46,520. Are you a freeman?—No.

46,521. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—No.

46,522. Had you a vote?—No; I was not of age then.

46,523. Did you vote at the election of 1847?—Yes.

46,524. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.

46,525. Did you get some money at the Baltic?—There was a little.

46,526. That is the thing we want to know?—I believe there was 2*l.*

46,527. When you say you believe there was, you mean you got 2*l.*?—I think there was, but I cannot remember exactly.

46,528. Who paid you?—I believe there was Mr. Mitchell and some other party.

46,529. Was young Mr. Galloway there, and a man of the name of Jones that was paying at the Baltic?—I do not know I am sure. I remember there were two or three gentlemen, but I do not know the parties' names.

George Lundy.

15th July 1853.

46,530. Did you get more than the sum you mentioned, 2*l.*?—No.
46,531. In 1852, did you vote for Clay and Goderich?—Yes.
46,532. Were you employed at that election?—No.
46,533. Did you get any money?—No; I did not require anything.
46,534. Any promise?—No.
46,535. You did not get your name put down?—I did not wish anything. I was very much disgusted with myself for having had anything to do with the other.

W. M'Clarron.

WILLIAM M'CLARRON sworn, and examined.

46,536. Where do you live?—Trippett Street.
46,537. What business are you?—A shipwright.
46,538. What rent do you pay for a house?—£5.
46,539. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
46,540. When was that?—In 1839 I took my freedom up.
46,541. At whose expense?—I do not know whose expense it was.
46,542. The orange perhaps?—Yes.
46,543. Did you vote for them in consequence?—Yes, I did.
46,544. Clay and Thompson?—Yes.
46,545. Did you get some money besides?—I got a sovereign.
46,546. Where did you get that?—I do not know the gentleman. I got it here in Parliament Street.
46,547. After the election?—Before the election.
46,548. All of it?—Yes.
46,549. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Brown and Baines.
46,550. Did you get any money?—10*s.*
46,551. For both of them was that?—Yes, for both of them.
46,552. When was that paid you?—Paid by Mr. Mitchell, the tobacconist.
46,553. Mr. Mitchell paid for Mr. Brown, we hear?—I got nothing but 10*s.*
46,554. But Mr. Mitchell paid for Mr. Brown and not for Mr. Baines; is that so? You said you got it for both?—Yes.
46,555. Mr. Mitchell did not pay for both?—Mr. Mitchell gave it me.
46,556. Mr. Mitchell was against Mr. Baines?—I do not know, but I polled for Baines and Brown.
46,557. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore and Butler.
46,558. You were a runner, were you not?—No.
46,559. Were you not?—No.
46,560. Were you not down as a Lowgate runner?—No.
46,561. Did you not get some pay?—No, not a halfpenny piece.
46,562. "William M'Clarron, two days in Lowgate"?—I belonged to the Lowgate ward; but I never received a halfpenny,—not a halfpenny piece.
46,563. You got nothing?—Nothing.
46,564. And you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
46,565. Did you get any money at all?—Not any money at all.
46,566. Did they promise you any?—They never promised me anything.
46,567. Did they put your name down?—Yes.
46,568. Where did they put your name down?—A man of the name of Watson put my name down in Lowgate ward.
46,569. What was it put down for?—He asked me who I was going to poll for, and I never heard any more of it; and I went to see if I could get the two days' pay, but I did not get it.
46,570. You expected it when you voted?—I expected it, but I did not get it.
46,571. You afterwards went to ask for it?—Yes.
46,572. Why did they not pay you?—I do not know. I did not get it.
46,573. What did they say?—The man said he had not my name down in the book; and Mr. Watson told me he would see it righted; but I never got a halfpenny piece.
46,574. When you voted you expected to get 10*s.* for your vote sometime?—Yes.

William Mask.

WILLIAM MASK sworn, and examined.

46,575. Where do you live?—In Carr Lane.
46,576. Are you in the hospital?—Yes.
46,577. Which hospital is that?—The Merchant Seaman's Hospital; it belongs to the Trinity House.
46,578. Is that on the Beverley Road?—No; on the Anlaby Road.
46,579. You call it the Seaman's Hospital?—Yes.
46,580. You are a freeman, I suppose?—Yes.
46,581. When were you made a freeman?—In 1806.

William Mask.

15th July 1853.

46,582. Did you pay for it yourself?—My owners paid for it, that I served my time with.

46,583. In 1841, did you vote?—Yes.

46,584. For Clay and Thompson?—I voted for Mr. Clay and James, I think it was.

46,575. No, Clay and Thompson?—I cannot say; my memory is bad I have had two strokes.

46,586. Where did you live at that time?—In Carr Lane.

46,587. You voted for Clay and Sir John Hanmer?—Yes.

46,588. How much money did you get for that vote?—I got 15*s.* from Mr. Clay, and I got 10*s.* from Hanmer.

46,589. Before or after the election?—One was before, and the other was after.

46,590. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I cannot tell who I voted for; but I did not vote for Mr. Clay. I did not vote at all for Mr. Clay the second time.

46,591. Baines and Brown, perhaps?—Yes.

46,592. Were you in the hospital at that time?—No.

46,593. How much money did you get for that vote?—Nothing.

46,594. You said you had a stroke?—Yes.

46,595. Then you have forgotten it perhaps?—I got nothing at that time.

46,596. Did you ask for some money? did you try and get some in 1847?—No, I never made any application anyway whatever.

46,597. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

46,598. I understand you got some money for that?—Yes.

46,599. How much did the blues pay you?—I got 17*s.* paid as a runner, and I got my four days' pay.

46,600. You were in the hospital then?—Yes.

46,601. And were paid four days as a runner?—Yes.

46,602. And got 17*s.*?—Yes.

46,603. When were you paid?—After the election maybe a fortnight or three weeks; I cannot say.

46,604. Where were you paid?—In George Yard.

46,605. That is not the hospital yard, is it?—No, George Yard. Mr. Wells was the chairman.

46,606. Who paid you?—Mr. Wells himself.

46,607. How many other people in the hospital were paid by the same party at the last election, by the blues? How many other people with you were paid?—I know one, that is John Whitaker, he was paid along with me. We both went together.

46,608. Did he get the same money?—He got a pound.

46,609. How was that?—He had a day extra to fetch his son to vote, from Hessle.

46,610. How many are there in your hospital, voters?—There were ten in Carr Lane.

46,611. Is the hospital in Carr Lane?—Yes.

46,612. Did they all vote the same way?—Most of them did; not all.

46,613. For the blues?—Yes.

46,614. Do not you know that some of the others got paid by the blues, besides the one you mentioned?—There is John Hill, he got a pound.

46,615. You talked this matter over among yourselves, I dare say?—Yes.

46,616. Who else got any?—I told you Whitaker; I cannot say of any more.

46,617. Do you say they all voted for the blue party?—Nearly. There were some did not get anything.

46,618. How do you know that?—Because they said they did not. Charley Robinson said he got nothing, and an old man of the name of Sutton, he got nothing.

46,619. Do not you remember any more who did get something?—No; there was a man of the name of John Meek,—he got nothing.

46,620. Did you hear any of them say they got anything from the orange party, in the hospital?—There was one man got something. I do not know what he got. He split his vote; he had one for the orange, and the other for the blues.

46,621. He got some from each side?—I do not know indeed,

46,622. How much did he get from the orange?—I do not know at all what he got; he did not say.

46,623. What is his name?—They call him George Marshall. I do not know what he got.

46,624. Is that all you know about the people in your place?—Yes, that is all I know.

Thomas Metcalf.

THOMAS METCALF sworn, and examined.

46,625. Where do you live?—No. 5, Vauxhall Groves.

46,626. What is your business?—A cabinetmaker.

46,627. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; my daughter does.

46,628. And you lodge with her?—Yes.

46,629. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,630. When were you made a freeman?—I think it was in 1825 when I took my freedom up.

Thomas Metcalf.

15th July 1853.

46,631. At your own expense ?—Yes.
46,632. At the election of 1841, did you vote for Thompson and Clay ?—I voted for Mr. Clay.
46,633. And Colonel Thompson ?—Yes ; that would be it. I believe I voted for Mr. Clay.
46,634. Did you get some money for your vote ?—No.
46,635. Nothing at all ?—No.
46,636. Not from either party ?—No.
46,637. Are you sure of that ?—Yes.
46,638. Did anybody get any money for you ?—No.
46,639. In 1847, did you vote ?—Yes.
46,640. Who for ?—Clay and Baines.
46,641. Did you get some money at the Baltic ?—Yes.
46,642. How much ?—£1 19*s.* altogether, I belive.
46,643. Who had the money for you ?—I do not know the party I received the first of.
46,644. Nicholson, was it not ?—A person of the name of Nicholson was there ; I did not receive it from him. I believe the landlord paid me 19*s.*
46,645. In 1852, did you vote ?—Yes.
46,646. Moore and Butler ?—Yes.
46,647. What bid you get for that ?—Nothing.
46,648. Did you apply to them for employment ?—I did, towards the latter end, and I expected they would set me down for three days, but when I went for payment they said there was a mistake.
46,649. When you voted, you thought your name was down for three days ?—I expected so.
46,650. And you expected you would be paid for three days, when you voted ?—Yes.
46,651. And you went for the money, and they told you your name was not down ?—They said it was some mistake ; that it was not down.
46,652. And you did not get the money ?—No.
46,653. In 1841, are you sure that some of your family did not get the money for you ?—I am quite sure. I worked three weeks for the parties, and I went times enough to Mr. Galloway's office, and could not get it.
46,654. You went for it, but could not get it ?—Not a halfpenny. Three weeks and a day I was working.
46,655. Was your name set down ?—I was told it was, by parties I relied upon, and they never denied it when I went for the money.
46,656. And you thought it was, when you voted ?—It was never denied to me that my name was down, and that I had not done my duty, but they never paid me.
46,657. You never got the money ?—No.

Emanuel Moor.

Emanuel Moor sworn, and examined.

46,658. Where do you live ?—Dock Street.
46,659. What is your business ?—A joiner.
46,660. What rent do you pay for a house ?—19 guineas.
46,661. Are you a freeman ?—Yes.
46,662. Did you vote at the election of 1841 ?—No.
46,663. Were you not entitled to vote ?—No ; I did not take up my freedom till 1842.
46,664. In 1847, did you vote ?—Yes.
46,665. For Clay and Baines, I believe ?—Yes.
46,666. And you got some money at the Wilberforce rooms ?—No.
46,667. They say you did ?—They say wrong then.
46,668. Emanuel Moor is down ?—No ; I never was in the Wilberforce rooms in my life.
46,669. Do you know Nathaniel Moore ?—No.
46,670. You do not know such a person ?—No.
46,671. Did you ever hear of any money being paid there ?—Never.
46,672. Was any money brought to your house ?—No.
46,673. And paid to you ?—No.
46,674. Or for you ?—No.
46,675. Or for your benefit ?—No.
46,676. In 1852, you voted for Moore and Butler, did you ?—Yes.
46,677. Were you at Manchester before that election ?—Yes.
46,678. Did you come from Manchester to vote ?—Yes.
46,679. Did you receive any money from either party, for coming from Manchester ?—Yes ; I received 36*s.* to come from Manchester.
46,680. From whom did you receive it ?—From a gentleman in Manchester ; he keeps a stationer's shop there, at the corner of St. Ann's Square.
46,681. What did he say to you when he gave you the 36*s.* ?—He asked me a few questions which way my mind was for. I did not intend coming. I had a good job

Emanuel Moor.

15th July 1853.

there, but he said he would pay me my travelling expenses, 18*s.* each way; that is first class; he would give me 36*s.*, and 10*s.* for two days' pay; and I had not been at Hull for a few months, and I thought I might as well have a cheap passage as pay for it out of my own pocket.

46,682. The people you travelled with in the first class, did they find out what you were coming about, or did you come in the third class?—I came in the third class.

46,683. You received first class fare, and came in the third?—Yes; that would pay the extra expenses.

46,684. Who paid you the other 10*s.*?—The same gentleman that paid the 36*s.*

46,685. All at the same time?—No. When I came back they called on me; they wanted me to call round. I came down the Thursday, and I went back the Friday evening, and I think on the Wednesday following I did not call down, but his clerk came down to where I was working, and he said, "There is 10*s.* due to you any time you call for it;" and I called for it, and received it.

46,686. Before you came away with the 36*s.*, did the gentleman tell you to look in again when you came back, to see how the thing went on?—Yes; to see whether I polled for the party that paid me.

46,687. You did not call when you went down?—No; I met with a few friends at the station.

46,688. I suppose you did not tell him the fare was more than 36*s.*?—I did not tell him anything about that.

46,689. What is the third class fare?—8*s.* 4*d.*

46,690. The fare was not as much as you got?—You want some refreshment upon the road, you know.

46,691. Who is the gentleman at the stationer's?—I cannot tell you his name, but if I was there I could take you to the shop direct; it is in St. Ann's Square, Manchester.

46,692. You were paid the 10*s.* also in Manchester, if I understand you?—Yes; in the same office where I was paid the 36*s.*, and the same gentleman paid me.

46,693. Did the gentleman at the stationer's say that the blue party kept an account with him?—Yes; and his clerk came down to me several times. I did not intend coming down at all.

46,694. He said the blue party kept a little account with him?—Yes.

46,695. And there were some other Manchester voters besides you, I suppose, who wanted a trip in the same way that you did?—I dare say there were some more.

46,696. Who came down with you, upon the same matter?—Two or three more voters. I think they were for the other party. I asked them no questions; they had a right to do as they liked.

46,697. You all travelled in the same carriage?—Yes.

46,698. All come together?—Yes.

46,699. And of course you talked about it?—Yes. I could have had money at the railway station from the other party, if I liked.

46,700. Who offered you the money?—One of Mr. Walker's friends.

46,701. Did you come with Walker from Manchester?—No; but I came with some of the party; but when I promised a party, and took money to vote for them, I did not want my expenses from two.

46,702. Who did the orange party get their money from in Manchester, do you know?—It was from a friend of Mr. Walker's. Walker was not there at the time; he was at Hull. It was a party who had been doing a little business for him up there.

46,703. They paid him?—He was there, and he had money to pay them.

46,704. Did this stationer, at the corner of the square, pay any of the blues besides you?—Not that I am aware of. I do not know that there was any blue party came from there, except myself.

46,705. You did not find out that there was?—No.

46,706. Either before you came, or after you got back?—No; not that I am aware of.

46,707. I do not quite understand what the 10*s.* was for?—It was for two days' loss of time. I was making about 7*s.* a day at the time, so I was out of pocket by it.

William Page.

WILLIAM PAGE sworn, and examined.

46,708. Where do you live?—No. 14, North Walls.

46,709. What is your business?—A shipwright.

46,710. What rent do you pay for a house?—12 guineas a year.

46,711. And are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,712. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—Yes.

46,713. Who for?—Hanmer and James.

46,714. Did you get some money for that vote?—I think I got 5*s.*

46,715. 5*s.* altogether?—That is all I got.

46,716. When did you get that?—I think it was after the election.

46,717. Who paid you?—I do not know.

46,718. Where was it, do you remember?—At the Lowgate Ward.

46,719. In Lowgate Ward committee room?—Yes.

William Page.

15th July 1853.

46,720. At the committee room, was it ?—Yes.
46,721. Did you do anything ?—I was set down as a runner.
46,722. When ? on the day of the election ?—Yes.
46,723. Before you voted, or after ?—Before I voted I was set down as a runner.
46,724. And was paid afterwards ?—Yes.
46,725. The same day ?—Yes.
46,726. In 1847, what did you do ?—I polled for Baines and Brown.
46,727. Did you get any money for that vote ?—10*s*. I think I got.
46,728. Who paid you that ?—I got that paid before the election.
46,729. Who paid you ?—I do not know who paid it.
46,730. Where ?—We got paid at the committee room.
46,731. There are several committee rooms, I dare say; do not you remember which committee room ?—In Lowgate Ward here.
46,732. 10*s*. ?—Yes.
46,733. Before or after the election ?—Before the election.
46,734. Before you voted ?—Yes.
46,735. For Mr. Brown was it ?—I expect it was for Mr. Brown.
46,736. Did you vote for Moore and Butler at the last election, in 1852 ?—Yes.
46,737. Were you a runner for Mr. Butler ?—Yes.
46,738. For how many days were you set down ? two days ?—Yes.
46,739. How much money did you get ?—I got a sovereign.
46,740. When were you paid ?—After the election.
46,741. Where ?—At the committee room.
46,742. You keep on saying "committee room;" I want to know where ?—In Lowgate ward.
46,743. Did you get anything for the orange party ?—No.

THOMAS SANDERSON sworn, and examined.

T. Sanderson.

46,744. Where do you live ?—I live in Cuthbert Street, Drypool.
46,745. What is your business ?—A shipwright.
46,746. What rent do you pay for a house ?—Six guineas.
46,747. Are you a freeman ?—Yes.
46,748. When were you made free ?—In April 1843.
46,749. Did you vote at the election of 1847 ?—Yes.
46,750. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Clay only.
46,751. Did you get any money for that vote ?—I got 10*s*.
46,752. When were you paid ?—After the election.
46,753. Where ?—I had it brought to me.
46,754. At your own house ?—No; at the yard which I worked at.
46,755. Who brought it to you ?—A man of the name of Thomas Lee.
46,756. How long after the election ?—I do not know; two or three months, perhaps. I do not know exactly.
46,757. In 1852, the last election, did you vote ?—Yes.
46,758. Did you vote for Clay and Lord Goderich ?—Yes.
46,759. Did you get your name set down ?—No.
46,760. Did you receive any money ?—No.
46,761. Did you receive any promise of money ?—No.
46,762. Did you get a room engaged for a committee ?—No.
46,763. You did not receive anything, nor a promise of anything ?—I did not receive anything whatever.
46,764. Were you paid any money at the Wilberforce rooms, at any time ?—Never.
46,765. Your name is down, "Thomas Sanderson ?"—No, it was not me.
46,766. They say you got 10*s*. at the Wilberforce rooms ?—No; I never was in the Wilberforce rooms in 1847.
46,767. Was the money sent to you from the Wilberforce rooms ?—I do not know where it was sent from. I told you I had it brought to me.
46,768. Do you know Benjamin Sanderson ?—Yes, I do; he is my brother.
46,769. How did your brother Benjamin vote at the last election ?—I do not know.
46,770. Do you know whether he was employed at Mr. Gibson's ?—He was previous to the election I believe, but he has not been since.
46,771. What party did Mr. Gibson take ?—The blue party.
46,772. Do you know whether your brother voted orange or blue, or not at all ?—I think he voted.
46,773. Which way ?—I think he voted on the orange side.
46,774. Did he get any more employment at Mr. Gibson's ?—No, I think not.
46,775. He did not get any afterwards ?—No; I do not think he did.
46,776. Did you hear that he lost his employment in consequence of not voting for Clay and Lord Goderich ?—I do not know.

T. Sanderson.

15th July 1853.

46,777. But did you hear that?—I have heard such a report, but I do not know it for a truth.

46,778. How long had he worked for him before that?—Five or six years.

46,779. Regular work?—Nearly so.

W. Silbon.

WILLIAM SILBON sworn, and examined.

46,780. Where do you live?—Castle Street.

46,781. What is your business?— A publican.

46,782. What rent do you pay for your place?—£43.

46,783. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,784. What is the sign of your house?—The Junction Dock Tavern.

46,785. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.

46,786. Who for?—Hanmer and James.

46,787. Did you get any money at that election for your vote?—Not any.

46,788. Did you get any money at all?—Yes.

46,789. Were you employed by Mr. Stark?—Yes.

46,790. How much did you get paid?—I was not employed by him; I got 3*l.* from Mr. Stark.

46,791. What for?—I do not know what for.

46,792. Did he pay you 3*l.* for nothing?—Yes, before the election.

46,793. What did he say? "Here is a present of 3*l.* for you?"—Yes.

46,794. That is what he said?— Something similar.

46,795. Did he ask you which way you were going to vote?—He did.

46,796. What did you mean by telling me a minute ago, that you got no money? I asked if you got any money.—Not after the election. You asked me afterwards; this is prior to the election.

46,797. I did not ask you that question?—£3 I got on the Saturday evening prior to the election.

46,798. You did not vote that side?—No; I never promised that side.

46,799. You took a present of 3*l.* for nothing?—I was then in a good situation and it was sacrificed through it.

46,800. How was that?—I was steward of the Water Witch at the time.

46,801. A steamer?—Yes.

46,802. You lost your situation for not voting as the 3*l.* meant?—Of course it would be through that.

46,803. Did you get any money for voting the other way?—No.

46,804. After or before the election?—No.

46,805. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I bulleted Brown.

46,806. Did you get any money?—I was assisting Mr. Bannister as a clerk.

46,807. In 1847?—Yes.

46,808. You assisted him in 1852 also?—Yes.

46,809. Take 1847 first: you assisted Mr. Bannister then?—Yes.

46,810. Where did you assist him?—At the Blue Bell, in Prospect Street.

46,811. For how long?—A couple of days, perhaps.

46,812. What did you do there?—I was at the Blue Bell, in the room where the committee was held.

46,813. Acting as clerk?—Yes.

46,814. How much did you get?—I think Mr. Bannister gave me 2*l.*

46,815. Before or after the election?—I think it was after the election.

46,816. How long did you continue at the Blue Bell after the election was over, winding up the business?—Not any time.

46,817. Did you not assist Mr. Bannister at all after the election?—No.

46,818. You were paid afterwards?—Yes, I got paid afterwards.

46,819. Where did you go to get your money?—I believe I received it at the Blue Bell two or three days after the election.

46,820. Were others paid at the same time?—Yes, I believe there were.

46,821. A good many?—Yes.

46,822. Did they all get the same sum as far as you know?—Yes, there were several got it I think.

46,823. Did you not assist in making those payments?—Yes.

46,824. You told me just now you did not?—I paid several. I had the permission o putting several names down, and I paid the money.

46,825. I asked you whether you assisted after the election, and you told me you did not. Did you assist in making these payments after the election?—Yes; I received the money and paid it over to the different parties.

46,826. You stated the contrary?—I was not employed after that time.

46,827. You assisted in making the payments?—I had the money given to me afterwards, and I paid the parties whom it was due to.

46,828. Where did you pay them?—I believe I paid them at the Blue Bell.

W. Silbon.

15th July 1853.

46,829. How long were you occupied in making the payments at the Blue Bell?—I was not many hours.

46,830. What day was it?—I am sure I cannot say.

46,831. You can tell me whether it was a few days after the election or not?—Upon my word I cannot say. It was after the election, at all events.

46,832. Do you remember the total sum of money you paid away?—It would not exceed a many pounds.

46,833. That will not give me any idea whether it was 20 or 5*l.*?—Under 20*l.*

46,834. You paid 2*l.* a head?—Yes.

46,835. That was the general sum?—Yes, I believe it was.

46,836. And included yourself in the number?—Yes.

46,837. They had all voted, I suppose, in the same day you did?—I believe they did.

46,838. Do you know the names of the parties you paid? have you got a list?—No, I think not.

46,839. You had a list which you paid by?—No; I had not any list at all.

46,840. You said the money was given to you to pay them?—The names were down in a book on the table, and the men, as they came up to the door, were paid; I went and got the money and gave it them. I know the parties if the names were called over.

46,841. Perhaps you will look through the book, and we shall be obliged to you to give them?—There is a Mr. Campion, and I think there was an Oliver; I think so.

46,842. Perhaps you could make out a list and let us have it to-morrow morning?—I really could not call the names to mind.

46,843. Suppose you looked at the poll book, that may refresh your mind?—I do not think it would.

46,844. Can you remember any besides Campion?—I think there was Thomas Oliver.

46,845. Perhaps you could make out a list and let us have it to-morrow morning?—I will try if you wish.

46,846. Do you know Campion's Christian name?—I do not know; I think those were the two; as for any other, I really cannot call it to mind now.

46,847. Do you remember any others?—No, I do not indeed. I think those would be about the only two that I did pay; there were several names that I did put down, but I did not pay them.

46,848. Perhaps you saw them paid?—No, I did not see them paid. I had no doubt they would be paid, but I did not pay them.

46,849. You said you paid about 20*l.*?—I said considerably under 20*l.*

46,850. I said 50*l.* first and you said 20*l.*?—I said considerably under 20*l.*

46,851. Is it Charles Campion, of Trinity House Lane?—Yes, that is the man; a tailor.

46,852. You remember him?—Yes; him in particular, I can think of.

46,853. What books do you speak of that were lying on the table?—Similar to what have been here.

46,854. Committee books?—Yes, there was a committee held at the Blue Bell.

46,855. And those books had the names in them?—Yes.

46,856. Did you conclude your business with Mr. Bannister that day the payments were made?—Of course; I merely gave in to Mr. Bannister the names I had down, as we termed them runners.

46,857. And the books were left there?—Yes.

46,858. With Mr. Bannister?—Mr. Bannister was at the table with other persons.

46,859. Was he the principal person?—I do not know who was the the principal person at the time.

46,860. Who gave you the money?—I believe I received it from Mr. Bannister.

46,861. In 1852 did you vote for Clay and Goderich?—No.

46,862. Moore and Butler?—Yes.

46,863. You let a room then I think, to Mr. Bannister; did you not?—No.

46,864. Did he take one of you without your letting him?—No; I took one of another party.

46,865. For Mr. Bannister?—No; I do not say it was for Mr. Bannister.

46,866. Did he not use it?—No.

46,867. We are told he did?—I took one on my own responsibility.

46,868. How much did you get for it?—I took one of another party.

46,869. Tell us all about it yourself?—I took one and paid three guineas for it. At all events, it was paid for the room. I did not for pay it, but it was paid for.

46,870. Who was this person?—Mr. Sherbon, in Fish Street, a neighbour of mine. I was then residing in Fish Street.

46,871. You took it on your own responsibility? for what party did you take it?—For Moore and Butler, merely as a committee room.

46,872. What use did you make of the room?—We had several parties that wanted to be put on as runners, and they were going to give their interest to Moore and Butler, and I put them on as runners at the rate of 3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

46,873. How many did you put down at 3*s.* 6*d.* a day?—I do not suppose it would exceed fourteen. I forget the quantity now, but we will say from twelve to fourteen, then I am speaking within bounds.

W. Silbon.

15th July 1853.

46,874. You put them down yourself?—Yes.

46,875. What did you do with the list?—The list was given over to Mr. Bannister.

46,876. How many days were they down for?—I think altogether would be about seven or eight days.

46,877. Did you for the room?—No; I did not pay for the room myself. I engaged the room, and it was paid for.

46,878. I thought perhaps you paid for it?—No; it was paid for by another individual.

46,879. Who was that?—Mr. Ride, Mr. Bannister's brother-in-law.

46,880. And these men at 3*s.* 6*d.* a day, did you pay them, or who paid them?—I paid them myself.

46,881. When did you pay them?—After the election. I paid some of them prior to the election that were set on as runners, and then I paid the others after the election was over. I think five days was the last payment I made each individual, which amounted to 17*s.* 6*d.* each.

46,882. Some, you say, that had been doing something, you paid before?—Yes.

46,883. And some that had been doing nothing you paid after?—They all did something.

46,884. I thought you said you paid those that had been set on as runners afterwards?—No; I say some were paid two and three days prior to the election, and I paid the rest after the election was over.

46,885. You said some that were set on you paid before the election, and some after?—I said some prior to the election, I paid them, and the rest stood over till after the election was over—the Saturday week following—until after the election was over.

46,886. Then there were some who were not set on? you say, those that were set on you paid before the election, and the others, of course, stood over?—I allude to the whole quantity of them, but I drew the money to pay them before the election came on, the Saturday night prior to the election.

46,887. Did you have the same list to pay them by?—I made out a list myself.

46,888. You put the names on a list yourself?—Yes.

46,889. Did you have the same list back to pay them by?—No; I gave the list in when I went for the amount of money, and I have never seen it since.

46,890. Did it appear by any list you gave to Mr. Bannister what money you had paid to each person?—It appeared on the list the money I required to pay each person.

46,891. And you received that money?—Yes, and paid every individual.

46,892. And their names were left with Mr. Bannister?—Yes; I believe those lists went to the central committee.

46,893. Did you make any other payment at the last election of 1852?—No.

46,894. Excepting these?—No.

46,895. Nothing for any other room?—No; this room was to have been paid for by me. I went down, but I did not see Mr. Bannister, and, of course, through my not calling again, Mr. Ride called to settle for the room.

46,896. Did you receive anything yourself at that election?—No.

46,897. The last one?—No.

46,898. Nothing at all?—No.

46,899. You mentioned the person whose room you took?—George Sherbon, in Fish Street.

46,900. Is a tradesman?—Yes, a grocer; a neighbour to me at that time.

46,901. A blue voter?—Yes.

46,902. Did you secure Sherbon's vote by that?—Yes I did.

46,903. And you also secured a place where runners could attend; that was another object of the room, was it?—Decidedly; of course.

46,904. And they were to take pieces of paper about?—Yes; several of my friends were voters. I was in the public business at the time, and they wanted to be put on as runners.

46,905. That was one of the uses made of the room?—That was about the principal part.

46,906. You could not have runners unless you had a room to run to?—There were parties who had money from me voted the other side. I have been away; I have been to Australia and back. I only ascertained last week that some parties, who received money from me, went and voted on the other side.

46,907. You have heard of those people?—Yes; I have heard of one in particular.

46,908. You can make out a list of these fourteen, I dare say, between this and to-morrow morning?—I do not think I could; I have no papers. I tell you the papers and the names I had I gave to Mr. Bannister. I never kept a copy of them; and if I had, through removing, and one thing and another, I have not anything at hand.

46,909. The poll book would help you, probably?—I do not think it would, there are so many names alike. Parties came and set their names down as runners, who were strangers to me; this one I allude to was with Mr. Barkworth; I forget his name. I paid him the money myself, and he went and voted opposite to us.

W. Silbon.

15th July 1853.

46,910. You can try and make out a list; go to Mr. Bannister and try?—No; I think it would be useless.

46,911. We require a list from you?—Perhaps Mr. Bannister will be able to give it.

46,912. Messengers, that were quite unnecessary, were sent backwards and forwards, in order to keep them in employment, to give them the appearance of doing something?—Yes.

46,913. Was there a man of the name of Worter?—No.

46,914. You know he was not there, so I dare say you can tell us who was?—I do not know such a man.

46,915. You will only give us the trouble of going through the poll book, and keeping you here a long time in order for you to tell us what the names are?—I really could not call them to mind; it is an utter impossibility.

46,916. We must require you to make out as good a list as you can?—It shall be done as far as is in my power. Mr. Bannister, perhaps, has a copy of it.

46,917. Give your attention to it, it will not take you long. You seem to have been a careful agent, and I have no doubt you can tell the names with a little consideration. One of the Charlton's?—Thomas Charlton, do you mean?

46,918. Yes?—Yes, I know that man, but he voted against us. I do not want such men as them that come over one.

46,919. If you will assist us with a list it will save a deal of trouble?—As far as regards that, if I can get a copy of the names, and give a copy of the names, it shall be given in to you. I will use my utmost endeavours.

46,920. Were you paid for your trouble yourself last year?—No.

46,921. Not at all?—No.

H. S. Stephens

HENRY STRAFFORD STEPHENS sworn, and examined.

46,922. Where do you live?—10, Hessle Road.

46,923. What business are you?—A shoemaker.

46,924. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

46,925. How much?—£8.

46,926. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

46,927. When were you made free?—About 1843, I think.

46,928. At whose expense?—My own.

46,929. Did you vote at the election in 1847?—Yes.

46,930. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay and Mr. Brown.

46,931. Did you get some money for your vote at the Baltic?—No.

46,932. You were paid some money at the Baltic?—No; never was in the house.

46,933. Your name is down?—It is false.

46,934. Did somebody bring you some money from the Baltic?—No; I never saw any nor any of the party.

46,935. Do you know anybody else of your name?—I had a brother, but he was not on the list at the time. He had not got put on the register.

46,936. Do you know young Mr. Jones and young Mr. Galloway paid money at the Baltic for the election of 1847?—No; I never saw any of the party.

46,937. Did you not receive any money at all after the election was over?—Yes; I received 10*s.*

46,938. When did you get that?—I got 5*s.* from Mr. Bannister; 5*s.* before I polled, and 5*s.* after at the Blue Bell.

46,939. I made a mistake about the Baltic?—Yes.

46,940. Where did you get it?—At the Blue Bell; 5*s.* of Mr. Bannister before I polled, and 5*s.* after.

46,941. At the same place?—Yes.

46,942. In 1852 did you vote?—Yes.

46,943. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

46,944. Did you get anything for that?—Not for voting.

46,945. What did you get for voting, or what did you get something for?—I was set down, and had five days as a runner.

46,946. Where was that?—At the committee room in Sewer Lane.

46,947. What committee room was that?—It was the marine department.

46,948. Where they looked after the sailor voters?—Yes.

46,949. Where Mr. Prissick was?—Yes.

46,950. Did he put your name down for you?—Yes.

46,951. What did you do for him?—I carried several notes out.

46,952. For five days?—I was five days in attendance.

46,953. How much money did you get?—£1 2*s.*

46,954. When were you paid?—About a week or eight days after the election.

46,955. Who by?—Mr. Prissick.

46,956. Where?—In my own shop.

46,957. You told him which way you should vote, I suppose?—No, I did not; I had promised my vote before I was set on.

H. S. Stephens.
15th July 1853.

46,958. Then he knew it, I dare say?—I do not know; he was not there when I promised it.

46,959. Where did you promise it, and to whom?—I promised Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich themselves.

46,960. When they canvassed you?—Yes.

John Suddaby.

JOHN SUDDABY sworn, and examined.

46,961. Where do you live?—In Charles Street.

46,962. What is your business?—A commission agent.

46,963. What rent do you pay for a house?—£11.

46,964. Are you a freeman?—No.

46,965. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—No.

46,966. Were you not on the register?—I was in Hull, but not on the register.

46,967. Did you vote at the election in 1847?—Yes.

46,968. Who for?—Mr. Brown.

46,969. Did you get any money for that?—None at all.

46,970. Never expected any?—No.

46,971. Several people have told us they had money forced upon them?—Nobody ever offered me any, so of course I could not get it.

46,972. Did you live at Wincolmlee at the time of Mr. Brown's election?—I did.

46,973. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.

46,974. Who for?—Moore and Butler.

46,975. Did you receive anything at that election?—No.

46,976. Did you have a committee room?—No.

46,977. Was your name set down anywhere?—No.

46,978. Did you formerly keep the Delapole tavern?—Yes.

46,979. Up to how lately?—I left it in September, 1851.

46,980. That is a house that has been a good deal frequented by the blues, I believe?—I do not know, I am sure.

46,981. At the election of 1847, the blue party met at your house?—There was no committee room there. They were only there a day or two at the election.

46,982. People meet except at committee rooms very often?—There were the clerks had their victuals there in 1847; they got dinners and tea there too.

46,983. They got their meals there?—Yes; dinners and teas, in 1847.

46,984. What clerks?—Of Mr. Brown's committee.

46,985. Of all his committees?—No; only four or five of them—three or four—I forget the number exactly.

46,986. Were there any names set down there?—No; there was no committee room there.

46,987. Very likely not?—I never knew of any name being set down there. There were no books kept there; the committee room was not very far off.

46,988. Did you vote blue at that election?—I voted for Mr. Brown.

46,989. There was no room at your place kept for putting down names?—No.

46,990. Was there any money paid there after the election?—I never saw any paid.

46,991. Did you hear of it?—I believe there was none. I never heard of any payment there, and I do not think anybody else ever did.

46,992. Were you there at the election of 1841?—Yes.

46,993. What occurred with the blue party then? did they have any room at your house?—No; no room at all.

46,994. Did any parties meet there?—No.

46,995. Were any names set down there?—No; I never knew of any; I never saw anything such as an election book in that house, only at municipal elections.

46,996. Did you know of payments being made at your house in 1841?—No.

46,997. Not any?—No.

46,998. Did you make any yourself?—No.

46,999. Did you pay any parties?—Never.

47,000. Did you receive any money to pay them?—No.

47,001. At any of these elections?—I believe once it was three half sovereigns; I took it only in the street, and took it over to three men; that is all the money I ever saw at an election.

47,002. What election was that?—Brown's election.

47,003. Who gave you that money?—Either Mr. Yeall or Mr. Robinson, I will not be sure which; one of the two.

47,004. What to do with it?—To pay it to three men.

47,005. What were their names?—Three Drinkalls.

47,006. Did you pay them?—I think I did.

47,007. Was that after the election?—It was during the poll.

47,008. Were they on their way up to poll?—They were going to poll then, and they all three went and polled for Mr. Clay.

47,009. Henry Percy Drinkall, John Drinkall, and the other?—Yes; one is dead, one in jail, and the other is a sawyer.

47,010. Are those the only people you paid?—Yes.

47,011. At that election?—Yes.

47,012. Did they break your windows then?—Yes.

47,013. In 1841?—No; in 1847.

47,014. Who broke your windows?—Some of Mr. Clay's friends, I suppose.

47,015. Who paid you for that?—Nobody. I never was paid yet.

47,016. Did you see any other money paid excepting that you have mentioned?—No; I never saw any money paid.

47,017. Not at any time?—No.

47,018. Which of the Drinkalls is in gaol now?—It is the young one.

47,019. Is it John?—I do not know the name; it is the young one.

47,020. What is the name of the one that is dead?—I do not know his name. I know Henry Percy Drinkall, he is the eldest.

47,021. It is not him?—Not him.

47,022. Did you take care of any money for the blue party?—Never had any to take care of for them.

47,023. Did not keep any for them?—They never trusted me with a shilling, only what I tell you.

47,024. You had left before the last election?—Yes.

47,025. We hear there was a supper at the Delapole?—Yes.

47,026. Did they invite you to it as the old landlord?—I do not know whether they did; I was not there.

47,027. Did they not ask you as the old landlord?—I do not think they did; I have no recollection.

47,028. You would have recollected it?—I should if I had had it.

47,029. Had you a good supper at the 1847 election?—Never a supper at all that I recollect.

47,030. Had you any dinner before the election?—No.

47,031. Neither supper nor dinner?—No.

47,032. In 1841?—No; I never heard tell of an election supper in my life there.

47,033. Or dinner?—No; except at municipal elections we have. When Mr. Davis beat Mr. Collins, we had a good supper then.

47,034. Did you know anything of these Drinkalls?—I knew them all well enough by sight.

47,035. Did they all work together for Henry Glen?—I do not know where they live; they live in George Street. I know Henry Glen, but I do not know whether they work for him. I think not,—I think the two young ones are labourers.

47,036. We hear that the eldest worked for Mr. Glen?—Yes; he is a sawyer. I think they worked as deal carriers, or something of that sort.

47,037. I will read the names; tell us which it is: James Drinkall, the younger,—is he one of them?—I do not know their Christian names at all, only Henry Percy Drinkall.

47,038. Do you know where they lived?—No; I think they lived in George Street, but I never was at the house.

47,039. Colton Square, New George Street,—do any of them live there?—I do not know Colton Square; I do not know which it is.

47,040. Hyperion Street?—I do not know which is Hyperion Street; I think it is Drypool. I do not know where any of them live. I never was at their house.

47,041. You paid three half sovereigns to these three Drinkalls?—Yes; I did.

47,042. To vote blue, and they voted orange, all the men sold you bulleted for Clay?—Yes; they went to vote directly for Clay.

47,043. They got money to vote for Brown?—Yes; they were willing to be set on as runners; the time was very short; they said they had been about a day or two, and were to have half a sovereign each to vote for Brown; that was the understanding. I took the money across the street; I had it not in my hands only two minutes.

47,044. The money was paid for the purpose of their voting for Brown?—Yes.

47,045. And they took it for that purpose?—Yes.

47,046. That is, you told them what you gave it them for?—That is what they asked for, and they would not go to vote without they were paid; that was it.

47,047. Did you not go up with them to see how they voted?—No; I never went a yard.

47,048. Did you canvass much for the blues?—No; very little.

47,049. In 1841?—No; very little. I had only just come to Hull.

47,050. You did canvass for them?—I only canvassed a very little.

47,051. Did you secure some voters for the blues?—No; I do not know that I did.

47,052. In 1847?—No; I do not know that I did. I did very little that way. It is very likely I might ask people to vote, and I dare say I should.

47,053. Can you give us any information about those elections besides what I have asked you to?—I cannot.

John Suddaby.

15th July 1853.

47,054. Did you understand that those Drinkalls got more money from the orange side? —I do not know what they got,—I do not know anything about it, as to what they got.

47,055. You do not know how they came to vote the other way after taking Mr. Brown's money?—I do not suppose it was principle. They had no principle only to get what they could, that was all.

W. H. Thistleton.

WILLIAM HENRY THISTLETON sworn, and examined.

47,056. What is your business?—Hairdresser.

47,057. Where do you live?—81, High Street.

47,058. What rent do you pay for a house?—£14.

47,059. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

47,060. When were you made a freeman?—In 1838.

47,061. At whose expense?—My own.

47,062. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.

47,063. Who for?—Clay and Thompson.

47,064. Were you employed by Mr. Stark?—No.

47,065. They have put you down?—I am not aware of it.

47,066. Did you get anything?—No.

47,067. Did you get anything anywhere that election?—No, not at all.

47,068. Nor any promise?—No.

47,069. Did you vote at the election in 1847—the next election?—Yes.

47,070. Who for?—Clay and Brown.

47,071. Did you get anything that election?—Yes.

47,072. What did you get then?—About 2*l.*

47,073. Where paid?—At the Baltic tavern.

47,074. By young Mr. Galloway?—I believe young Mr. Galloway was there, and one of the Jones's.

47,075. At the last election of 1852, who did you vote for?—Clay and Goderich.

47,076. Did you get anything for that?—No.

47,077. Any promise?—No.

47,078. Were you employed?—Not at all.

47,079. You had no committee room?—No.

47,080. Are you any relation to James Morris Thistleton?—Yes; brother to him.

47,081. Was your brother formerly in the same business as you?—Yes.

47,082. Your brother was an active man at the elections here; can you give us any information on either election?—No; I never took any active part in those elections.

W. Thompson.

WILLIAM THOMPSON sworn, and examined.

47,083. Where do you live?—Old Dockside.

47,084. What is your business?—Coal merchant.

47,085. What rent do you pay for your house and premises?—£19, where I am now.

47,086. A freeman?—No.

47,087. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—No.

47,088. Were you not entitled to vote?—No; nor in 1847 either.

47,089. You voted in 1852?—Yes.

47,090. Who for?—Moore and Butler.

47,021. Do you know a man of the name of John Flowers, of Salthouse Lane?—No; I cannot say that I do.

47,092. He is a tailor in Salthouse Lane?—Yes, I remember him now.

47,093. Did you see him before the last election?—I saw him on the election day.

47,094. Did he tell you he had promised to vote for the orange, or that he was going to vote for them?—I do not remember; I was placed on the committee but never served at all, or never interfered in the matter.

47,095. I ask you, whether John Flowers told you the election day he was going to vote for the orange?—He never told me anything of the sort.

47,096. Did you ask him?—I never interfered with him at all.

47,097. Did you ask the question?—I do not remember.

47,098. You say you saw him?—Yes; he was pushing about a good deal.

47,099. Did you not ask him how he was going to vote?—No.

47,100. He is a tailor?—Yes; he was in a person of the name of Stray's shop.

47,101. Did he not make you a suit of clothes?—Not exactly.

47,102. How near to it? a pair of breeches?—No, nor a vest either, not a stitch; he never made me anything in his life.

47,103. I am told you ordered a suit of clothes of him to get him to vote blue?—No.

47,104. Which way did he vote?—I cannot tell which way.

47,105. He voted your side?—Then I am much obliged to him.

W. Thompson.

15th July 1853.

47,106. Did he not tell you he was going to vote orange?—No.

47,107. And did you not give him some order in his business on condition he would vote blue?—No; I never took that interest in elections.

47,108. You are speaking upon your oath?—Yes; and I will tell you the truth.

47,108. Is this so or not?—It is not so.

47,110. Did anything pass whatever?—Not a word.

47,111. About your giving him an order if he would vote the other way?—No.

47,112. Did anything pass about his vote?—Not a word.

47,113. Did you speak to him the polling day?—Yes, of course, different things; I do not remember what might pass; I was running about a good deal. I was standing in Lowgate in this person's shop.

47,114. Whose shop?—A person of the name of Stray, a tailor; there were several other people there. They might be talking about voting. I do not remember what was said.

47,115. Did any one else give him a promise of an order if he would vote blue while you were there?—I do not remember; I do not think there is any person likely to give him an order.

47,116. Did he live anywhere near Mr. Stray?—They both lived at the end of the street, nearly so.

47,117. Does he work in the shop?—Flowers has a place to himself in Salthouse Lane.

47,118. Each had separate shops?—Yes.

47,119. We are told you did try to get him to change this way?—No; I never took that interest.

47,120. You would be anxious for your party?—I did not care about it. I did not care about voting at all.

47,121. Did you get anything yourself?—Not exactly.

47,122. You say not exactly?—I was out of pocket for loss of time.

47,123. Did you not get it paid to you?—No; I did not want it.

47,124. You never applied for it?—No.

47,125. You did not spend any money out of pocket on the blue party?—No; I only neglected my own business.

Edward Thorp.

EDWARD THORP sworn, and examined.

47,126. Where do you live?—Nile Street.

47,127. What is your business?—Nothing.

47,128. Do you pay rent?—Yes.

47,129. For a house?—Yes.

47,130. How much?—£16.

47,131. Are you a freeman of the borough?—No.

47,132. Have you never been a freeman?—No.

47,133. Were you a voter at the election in 1841?—No.

47,134. You voted for Hanmer and James?—No.

47,135. You do not remember it perhaps. I see by the poll book a person of your name voted for Clay and Thompson; do you remember if that was you, in 1841?—I do not recollect it.

47,136. There is an Edward Thorpe who lived in Charles Street voted for Clay and Thompson, is that you?—No.

47,137. Did you ever live in Charles Street?—No.

47,138. In 1847 did you vote?—Yes.

47,139. Who for?—Mr. Clay.

47,140. And got 10*s.* I believe?—No, I did not.

47,141. Mr. Stark says you had 10*s.*?—No.

47,142. At the Wilberforce rooms?—No.

47,143. Did you get it?—No.

47,144. Did anybody get it for you?—No.

47,145. Did you hear of the money being paid there?—No.

47,146. Never heard of it?—No.

47,147. In 1852, did you vote?—Yes.

47,148. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.

47,149. Did you get anything then?—No, not a farthing.

47,150. Do you know somebody else of your name?—No.

47,151. Did you ever vote for Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

W. Hodgson.

15th July 1853.

WILLIAM HODGSON recalled, and examined.

47,152. You know this man?—Yes.
47,153. Do you know his memory to be bad?—Yes.
47,154. Do you think he is now capable of giving evidence we can rely upon?—I should doubt it.
47,155. Your opinion is he is not?—Yes.

J. K. Webster.

JOHN KITE WEBSTER sworn, and examined.

47,156. Where do you live?—Anlaby Road.
47,157. What is your business?—A bricklayer.
47,158. What rent do you pay for a house?—The house is my own.
47,159. What is it rated at?—£3, I believe.
47,160. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
47,161. When were you made free?—In 1842.
47,162. Did you vote at the election in 1847?—Yes.
47,163. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.
47,164. You were paid some money afterwards, I think, at the Baltic?—Yes.
47,165. How much did you get?—£2.
47,166. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
47,167. How came you to vote for them?—I changed my principles.
47,168. Was it the principle of getting paid for it?—No; it was not for that exactly.
47,169. Did you get any money?—Yes.
47,170. Did you get paid for it?—I got paid four days.
47,171. How much did you get?—17*s.*
47,172. When paid?—About a fortnight after the election.
47,173. Who paid you?—Mr. Wells.
47,174. At his office?—Yes.
47,175. When did you promise the blues?—I never promised them at all.
47,176. Were you canvassed by the orange?—Yes; both parties.
47,177. And would not promise either?—No.
47,178. Was your name set down on Mr. Wells' side?—No, not until the morning of the election.
47,179. And you got paid for four days 17*s.*?—Yes.

G. M. Young.

GEORGE MORELL YOUNG sworn, and examined.

47,180. Where do you live?—The Retreat, Hood Street, Jenning Street.
47,181. What is your business?—A labourer.
47,182. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
47,183. How much?—About 7*l.*
47,184. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
47,185. When were you made free?—In 1840.
47,186. Or 1839?—Yes, 1839.
47,187. At whose expense?—My own expense.
47,188. Did you vote for the blue party?—Yes.
47,189. Did they pay for you?—I paid for it myself.
47,190. They say you did not pay for it?—I paid for it at the time, but it was paid for afterwards.
47,191. Who paid you the money back?—Mr. Hammond, I believe.
47,192. Was it before the next election which took place in 1841?—Yes.
47,193. Mr. Hammond was of the blue party, was he?—Yes.
47,194. Did you vote for the blue party in consequence of getting this money?—No; I voted for the blue party.
47,195. Did you receive the money for your freedom before the election?—My freedom was taken up before the election.
47,196. You paid for it yourself in the first instance?—Yes.
47,197. Were you repaid by Mr. Hammond before the election?—Yes.
47,198. Did you not say you should vote for him?—I never was asked.
47,199. When did you receive the money?—A few days after.
47,200. A few days after you paid it?—Yes.
47,201. Did you go and say "I have paid 3*l.*"?—No.
47,202. How came he to give you 3*l.*?—It did not cost that money.
47,203. Why should Hammond pay you 3*l.*?—It did not cost that.
47,204. How much was it? I thought you said 3*l.*?—I did not say so.
47,205. How much did it cost?—4*s.* or 5*s.*, I believe.

G. M. Young.

15th July 1853.

47,206. You voted for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
47,207. Did you get any money for your vote?—I got 10*s.*, I believe, before the election, and a sovereign, I believe, after the election some time.
47,208. I am asking about 1841, when you voted for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
47,209. And you got that money?—Yes.
47,210. Who paid you?—I am sure I do not know the gentleman's name.
47,211. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Brown and Baines.
47,212. Did you receive some money for your vote that election?—I got half a sovereign.
47,213. When was it paid you?—Directly after I polled.
47,214. Who by?—I do do not know who it was.
47,215. You got some money at the Baltic, I think?—No, I did not; not a halfpenny.
47,216. You are a cautious man, just consider: did you not get some money at the Baltic?—No, I did not.
47,217. Who did for you?—No one that I know of.
47,218. The 10*s.* you got was for Mr. Brown?—Yes.
47,219. Did you get anything for Mr. Baines?—Yes, 5*s.*
47,220. And nothing for Mr. Clay?—No; I never voted for Mr. Clay.
47,221. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
47,222. Did you get some money for that?—Yes.
47,223. How much?—A sovereign.
47,224. When was that paid you?—Perhaps a fortnight after the election.
47,225. Where?—At the Three Crowns, in Lime Street.
47,226 Who paid you in Lime Street?—I do not know who the gentleman was; there were two or three gentlemen were there, I do not know any of them. I was not there two minutes; there was no one in the room.
47,227. How much did you get?—20*s.*
47,228. Were there others there?—There was no other freeman in the room but myself.
47,229. But others were standing outside ready to follow you in?—No.
47,230. Or went in before you?—I do not know; I was at work at the time.
47,231. Were you the only man?—No, I did not know of this; but a man came to me and said they were paying. I was at work at the time and I slipped away and went and got paid; I was not a quarter of an hour away.
47,232. Had you had your name set down for the blues?—Yes.
47,233. Is Robert Young your relation?—No.

Robert Young.

ROBERT YOUNG sworn, and examined.

47,234. Where do you live?—Staniforth Place, Hessle Road.
47,235. What is your business?—Shipwright, by trade.
47,236. Are you married?—Yes.
47,237. And have got six sons?—I had six.
47,238. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
47,239. How much?—I pay 5*l.* for the house, and 2*l.* I pay for a bit of a garden, I have the other side.
47,240. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
47,241. When were you made a freeman?—About 34 years since, I think.
47,242. You got some money at every election since?—I have not been here at every election.
47,243. All those you have been at?—I generally was paid the same as all freemen were.
47,244. In 1841, were you here then?—Yes.
47,245. Who did you vote for?—I believe I voted for Clay and Goderich last time. I think I was not here at that election.
47,246. Was there more than one? because Robert Young, of Staniforth Place, voted in 1841 for Hanmer and James; is that you?—Yes, that is me.
47,247. What did you get then?—I do not know that I got anything.
47,248. After the election?—I do not remember getting anything.
47,249. You said you generally got money?—Yes; the same as what the others were paid I got. I do not remember the date; I have not been in the habit of being at home at all times.
47,250. Others got 1*l.* apiece at that time?—I did not get a pound to my knowledge.
47,251. You have forgotten it?—I do not know that I have.
47,252. In 1847 did you vote?—Yes.
47,253. Who for?—Clay and Brown, I believe, that election.
47,254. You got some money at the Baltic?—Yes.
47,255. How much?—I think I got 30*s.*, to the best of my knowledge.
47,256. Was that all you got that election?—Yes.
47,257. Did some of your sons vote that election?—Yes; I think they did; I think they would.

Robert Young.

15th July 1853.

47,258. Did you get some money for them?—No; I am sure I did not.

47,259. Your wife takes an interest in voting, does she not?—I am sure I do not know what my wife does.

47,260. I suppose you are at home sometimes?—I do not know whether it be a common practice.

47,261. Do your sons live with you?—They did; they are married.

47,262. How many are freemen?—Four are free, I believe. I have four; I have lost two.

47,263. You had six free?—Yes; there would have been if they lived.

47,264. They did not all take up their freedom?—No; four of them.

47,265. And yourself, that would be five?—Yes.

47,266. Did your sons vote blue?—Some of them did; one, I think, did; that one polled orange.

47,267. Who did you vote for in 1852, the last election?—Moore and Butler.

47,268. You get your money generally before the election, do you not?—No.

47,269. Did you get paid before that election?—No.

47,270. Do you know Mr. Prissick?—Yes.

47,271. Perhaps he is here now?—He was here; I have seen him here.

47,272. Did you not tell him you never voted until you paid?—No.

47,273. Upon your oath, remember?—I did not.

47,274. I ask you that question upon your oath?—I did not, to my knowledge, say anything of the sort.

47,275. The question I put to you is, whether you ever told young Mr. Prissick you never voted until you were paid?—No such a thing; I never could look for that any more than what other people do.

47,276. Did you ever say so?—No; not to my knowledge; I never said any such words.

47,277. What did you get at the last election for Moore and Butler?—I was put on as a runner at 2*s.* 6*d.* a day. I think I was eight days on.

47,278. You got 1*l.*?—I got more than 1*l.*

47,279. How much did you get?—Half a crown a day.

47,280. That came to 1*l.*?—It might be that; the days are a little more, but that is what I got.

47,281. When were you paid?—I was on one week three days, and the other week I was paid after the election, after we had polled.

47,282. Three days one week?—Yes; three days before the election came on.

47,283. That was paid before the election?—Yes.

47,284. When were you paid the other?—After the election.

47,285. Where?—At a place against Mr. Bannister's, going up to the Quay side, Minerva Terrace.

47,286. Who paid you?—I think the man's name is Legitt.

47,287. This was the last election?—Yes.

47,288. Did your sons vote at the last election?—Yes; some of them did.

47,289. The same way as you did?—I do not know that they did. I do not know. I do not know how they polled, I am sure. I do not know who they polled for.

47,290. Did they not go up with you?—No.

47,291. Did they tell you they got any money?—No.

47,292. Any of your sons?—No; not any such thing.

47,293. Did your wife get any orange names set down to your knowledge?—I do not know that she did.

47,294. Did you see any list of names that she had?—No; I did not.

47,295. She is active for the orange, is she not?—I do not know; they call on a woman for one party. I do not know that she is any more for one party than another in that respect.

47,296. She is rather for the party that pays the best?—I do not know; women are always for money the same as anybody else. I never had any in my hands. I was paid no more than any other poor man.

Joseph Jones.

JOSEPH JONES sworn, and examined.

47,297. Where do you live?—No. 6, Lansdowne Terrace, Beverley Road.

47,298. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

47,299. How much?—Forty guineas.

47,300. Are you a freeman?—No; I am not.

47,301. Did you vote at the election in 1841?—No; I was not on the register; I have been absent from England.

47,302. In 1847 you were?—No; I was under age.

47,303. You paid the voters?—Yes; I paid the voters, eighty of them.

47,304. With young Mr. Galloway?—Yes.

47,305. Eighty of them?—I believe eighty or eighty-two.

47,306. What did you pay from Mr. Jones? Had you a list with you?—There were

Joseph Jones

15th July 1853.

eighty in the room, I was told, and as they came out Mr. Galloway put down the names, and I gave the money.

47,307. He ticked them off?—He wrote them down on a list at the time.

47,308. And you gave them the money?—Yes.

47,309. The list that has been shown to us is not very correct; do you think if you were to look at the list you could correct it?—It would be almost impossible for me to see who they were, unless Mr. Galloway can give me the original list.

47,310. Have you not a list?—I never saw that list.

47,311. Did you keep any copy of list?—No, I did not. I was then articled to Mr. Galloway, the solicitor, and his son kept the list; he wrote down the names, and I paid the money.

47,312. Did you pay any others, excepting at that place for that election?—No; I did not.

47,313. Did you have anything to do with the election of 1852?—Very little; I was with Mr. Clay jun., but I did not pay money.

47,314. Did you vote?—I did not.

47,315. Had you a vote?—I had not.

47,316. Then you never have acquired the right to vote?—I believe I am on the register now.

47,317. Not for 1852?—No, I have not.

47,318. Never exercised it?—No.

47,319. Can you give us any information as to the last election?—No, I cannot, indeed.

47,320. Any little matters that have escaped us, either one side or the other?—I believe not; not with regard to the payment of any money. I was certainly at one dinner the day of the election at the Cross Keys.

47,321. The colour is immaterial to us?—I cannot give any information with regard to bribery.

47,322. Where was this dinner?—At the Cross Keys, on the evening after the election.

47,323. Are you in business?—Yes; with my father.

47,324. Alderman Jones?—Yes.

47,325. Did you make any payment at all at the last election?—No, not any.

47,326. To anybody?—No.

47,327. Did you set down any names?—No.

47,328-9. Did you take part in any canvass?—No.

47,330. Not a member of any committee?—No.

Jesse Ormsworth.

JESSE ORMSWORTH sworn, and examined.

46,331. Where do you live?—St. James Street, in the Pottery.

47,332. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; I live on my own property.

47,333. What are you rated at?—I think 10*l.*

47,334. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

47,335. When did you become a burgess?—It is a long while since.

47,336. When was it?—I think it was when Mr. Staniforth put up.

47,337. Did you use to vote in the old times when they paid more money than they do now, and get two guineas and four?—We used to vote then, and every person took two guineas, I believe.

47,338. Everybody that liked?—Every person that was to come and claim it after the election was over so long a time. I do not know whether there was a stated time.

47,339. I suppose you fell into that custom?—Yes; up to that I saw it was bribery, and I never received anything since that of any member. I always voted free from them.

47,340. It took you some time to find out that, did it not?—No; I began to see about it more. There was a good deal more instruction in the newspapers, and so on; it opened my understanding to let me see it was bribery.

47,341. In 1841 who did you vote for?—I voted for Clay most probably.

47,342. Who was the other party? Hanmer and James?—No; I did not vote for them, I always voted for what I call the Liberal party.

47,343. Did you get some of their liberality on that occasion?—No; nothing of the sort; no liberality. I should be very sorry; I know better than that. I should be ashamed to take anything by way of bribery.

47,344. Had you a son of the name of Jesse?—I have not a son at all.

47,345. Had you any relation of the name of Jesse Ormsworth, who took up his freedom in 1839?—I am sure I do not know that I have a relation of the name of Jesse Ormsworth.

47,346. Do you know anybody else of your name?—I do not know, I am sure. I do not know whether a brother of mine has a son named Jesse; I am sure I do not.

47,347. Where did you live in 1847?—I lived in St. James Street.

47,348. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I think I voted for Baines and Clay.

47,349. And in 1851 for Clay and Goderich?—Yes; I dare say it was; I believe so.

Jesse Ormsworth.

15th July 1853.

47,350. I am almost afraid to ask you whether you got any money in 1847?—You may be afraid; I shall be quite affronted; quite offended at you. I hate the idea of it.

47,351. What did you do with all that you had received?—There were two gentlemen came to me to ask for my vote; as soon as Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich had got settled in the town, they came to ask me. "No," said I, "I do not think it is right you should ask me. I had rather that it was that we should go to the poll, and not be solicited at all." And he said, "It has not come to that." "Well," said I, "I shall promise for Mr. Clay and Viscount Goderich, and I shall stand to that, you may depend upon it." And I saw no more of them until they sent me a card where I was to vote; I saw no more of them. I went and voted, and that was all that passed.

47,352. Do you know Samuel Ormsworth?—Yes; he is my brother. I do not know which way he voted.

47,353. Do you know Joseph Ormsworth?—No; I have only him, a brother, living.

47,354. Look at that, and tell me if that is your brother's writing (No. 13.) Look at the signature, "Samuel Ormsworth," and tell me if that is your brother's writing?—Yes; I believe it is his writing.

47,355. Look at the other, next to it, "J. Ormsworth"?—That is his son.

47,356. All those people got 30*s.* each. Now look a little bit further, you will see Jesse Ormsworth?—I have not wrote that.

47,357. That is money paid in 1841?—That is not me. I never received any money I swear.

47,358. Perhaps your brother received it for you?—I am sure I cannot tell that.

47,359. 30*s.* apiece for the four Ormsworths?—What time was this?

47,360. In 1841, in Clay and Thompson's time?—I never received a farthing, that I am sure of.

47,361. Do not you recollect that is what you got?—This is Samuel Ormsworth's handwriting, and this is his son's (No. 13.). I never received a farthing of money since that time before Denison and Thornton.

47,362. "Jesse Ormsworth, by Davis," who paid it; John Ormsworth was paid by Davis, and "Samuel Ormsworth and Joseph Ormsworth" were paid by Thistleton; you do not remember that, you say?—Is that person living now?

47,363. Yes.—I should like to see him. I am sure I never received a farthing.

M. A. Barnett.

MARK AMBLER BARNETT sworn, and examined.

47,364. Where do you live?—Chariot Street.

47,365. What is your business?—A provision dealer.

47,366. What rent do you pay for a house?—£20.

47,367. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

47,368. When were you made a freeman?—In 1839.

47,369. At whose expense?—The corporation's, I believe.

47,370. The orange, you mean?—Yes.

47,371. Did you vote at the election of 1841 for Clay and Thompson?—No.

47,372. Who for?—James and Hanmer.

47,373. When you say the corporation took up your freedom, what do you mean by that?—The orange party took it up.

47,374. And you voted against them?—I did.

47,375. Why did you do that?—I was with a master then, and got my freedom; and at the election since, I was for myself, and had a deal of customers, and was obliged to vote for them.

47,376. Did you get some money for your vote?—I got 1*l.* after the election.

47,377. Where did you get that?—There was a man brought me a card, and I went and got it at a house in Medley Street.

47,378. How soon after the election?—Perhaps a month.

47,379. Who paid it you?—A man in the house in Medley Street; I don't know who he was.

47,380. Was he behind a tub?—No; before a table when he paid me.

47,381. Who did you vote for?—A bullet for Brown.

47,382. How much did you get for it?—£1 for that.

47,383. When was it paid?—After the election.

47,384. Did you see the gentleman that paid it?—Yes, when I got the last 1*l.*, I did.

47,385. Who was he?—Mr. Bannister.

47,386. Was it paid at the Baltic?—No, I got it at Mr. Bannister's office in Humber Street.

47,387. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

47,388. Did you get some money for that?—I got nothing then.

47,389. Did you get your name set down?—No.

47,390. You thought it was down perhaps?—I expected it was, but I thought wrong.

47,391. And you did not get any money because your name was by mistake left out of the poll book?—I do not know, I am sure.

M. A. Barnett.

15th July 1853.

47,392. When did you go to ask for it?—I never went at all.

47,393. How was it that you, who thought your name was set down, did not go for the money?—I did not go and ask for it; I saw the clerk at the committee room, and he said it was not down, and so I never went about the money.

47,394. You thought it was down?—Yes; they asked me to put it down, and I said, I had no objection.

47,395. That is what did occur? You said you thought your name was down?—I expected it was; I did not go and ask them to put it down.

47,396. Why did you think it was down?—Only they put me down without saying anything.

47,397. They knew your colour?—I never changed my colour.

47,398. Did they not canvass you from time to time?—Yes; Clay and Thompson, Moore and Butler.

47,399. Did you always say which way you should vote?—I told Mr. Clay I should not vote for him.

47,400. You thought your name was down for the other party?—Yes.

47,401. The clerk told you it was not?—Yes.

47,402. So that you did not go and apply for the money?—No, I did not.

47,403. Was not this what occurred when they canvassed you: they said they would set your name down, and you said they might do as they liked?—No; I said I should vote for them.

47,404. And did they not say they would set your name down?—I expected they would do so.

47,405. And you expect they said so to you?—Yes.

47,406. And you answered that that they might do as they liked?—I told them they might set my name down to be with them.

William Charlton.

WILLIAM CHARLTON sworn, and examined.

47,407. Where do you live?—Wellington Lane, Beverley Road.

47,408. What is your business?—A cabinetmaker.

47,409. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; it is my own.

47,410. At what are you rated?—£7, I believe.

47,411. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

47,412. When were you made a freeman?—I suppose eight years ago.

47,413. At whose expense?—My own.

47,414. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.

47,415. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Thompson.

47,416. Did you get some money for your vote?—Yes; I got 30*s.* that time.

47,417. When were you paid?—Some time after the election.

47,418. Where?—At the Durham Ox, I think.

47,419. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.

47,420. Were you absent?—I was not residing in the town at the time.

47,421. You lived too far off?—Yes; I was at Scarborough.

47,422. In 1852, did you vote for Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich, at the last election?—Yes.

47,423. Did you get your name set down?—No; nor never was canvassed, nor never exchanged one word with any person at the election; and no person exchanged a word with me. I had just my own way.

47,424. Did your own way take you to vote in this way?—My own way took me to vote in this way, and will do it again, I dare say.

47,425. Did it also take you to get any money?—No, it did not, because there was not a word exchanged.

47,426. That is not always necessary?—Yes, it is; it is not done without words.

47,427. Was your room engaged?—No, it could not be done without words, and I tell you I never saw any person upon the election business at all; I never had a word exchanged with any person about it. You asked me if I was canvassed?

47,428. You have a good memory, and I did ask you that?—Yes.

47,429. Now I ask you if you ever got any payment at all?—No, nothing; I did not want anything.

Thomas Moor.

THOMAS MOOR sworn, and examined.

47,430. Where do you live?—26, Humber Street.

47,431. What is your business?—I keep a glass and china shop.

47,432. What rent do you pay for the premises?—£29.

47,433. Are you also a freeman?—No.

47,434. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.

Thomas Moor.

15th July 1853.

47,435. Who for?—To tell you the truth I do not know who it was. I have generally been a blue.

47,436. Where did you live in 1841?—I think it must have been in Queen Street.

47,437. Clay and Hanmer?—Yes; I believe that was it.

47,438. Did you get anything for your vote at that election?—No.

47,439. Not from either party?—No, neither party; I never received a farthing in my life from any of them.

47,440. You are not a freeman?—No.

47,441. In the elections of 1847 and 1852, did you vote?—Yes.

47,442. You never received anything?—I never received a farthing and never asked for any.

47,443. Nor ever paid money to any one?—I never had anything to do with them; I never bothered my head with it, one way or the other; I told them I voted for them, and that is all I did about it.

Adjourned to to-morrow at ten o'clock.

THIRTY-FOURTH DAY, 16th July 1853.

John Bell.

16th July 1853.

JOHN BELL sworn, and examined.

47,444. Where do you live?—New King Street.

47,445. Do you occupy a house there?—Yes.

47,446. At what rent?—It is my own house.

47,447. What are you rated at?—I believe 9*l.*

47,448. What is your business?—A tea dealer.

47,449. Are you a freeman of this borough?—No.

47,450. Do you vote as an occupier?—Yes.

47,451. How long have you been entitled to vote?—The last election.

47,452. You were not qualified before the last election?—No.

47,453. Who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

47,454. Were you paid?—No.

47,455. Did you get any money?—No.

47,456. Were you a member of any committee at the last election?—No.

47,457. Were you employed at the last election in any way?—No.

47,458. Was there any committee met at your house?—No.

Mr. R. Wells.

Mr. ROBERT WELLS sworn, and examined.

47,459. You are a solicitor in this town?—Yes.

47,460. Where do you live here?—37, George Street.

47,461. What is the rent that you pay, or are rated at?—I pay no rent; the house is my own.

47,462. What are you rated at?—£30 a year, and for my office 30*l.* a year.

47,463. Are you also a freeman?—I am not.

47,464. You are qualified to vote as a householder only?—Only.

47,465. How long have you been so qualified?—Twelve years, or eleven years and a half rather.

47,466. You were not qualified at the election of 1841?—No, I was not.

47,467. Did you vote at the last election?—I did.

47,468. Who for?—Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler.

47,469. Did you vote in the year 1847?—I did.

47,470. Who for?—Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines.

47,471. Have you lived for a considerable time in Hull?—All my life, except about a twelvemonth in London, when I was a clerk there.

47,472. How long since?—I am now in my fortieth year,—I have lived here thirty-nine years.

47,473. Have you made yourself active upon elections prior to the last election?—Never since I have been in practice. When I was a clerk, I was engaged once at the election of Mr. Schonswar.

47,474. How long have you been in practice?—Eighteen years and a few months.

47,475. And ever since then you have been active in election matters?—Never till Mr. Brown's election in 1847, I never interfered in elections directly or indirectly.

47,476. When did you commence taking an interest in the election which took place last year? at an early a period?—I was first spoken to on the subject on the last week in May, and I was retained, I believe, on the 4th of June, at the general meeting of the Conservative party.

47,477. You were retained the 4th of June?—I think it was the 4th,—it was there or thereabouts. I was in London on the 2d, and two days after I was retained.

47,478. Who were you retained by? a meeting of gentlemen?—I was asked to take the office by Mr. Thomas Ward on behalf of the committee.

47,479. That was in May?—That was the last part of May; I think the last week in May.

47,480. Was that with reference to any particular candidate, or with reference to any party?—Yes.

47,481. Who?—Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler. When I was first spoken to, one candidate only was known for a certainty to be here.

47,482. Who was that?—Mr. Moore.

47,483. When spoken to first, Mr. Moore alone was the only one known as a candidate?—He was the only one known to a certainty that would stand at that time.

47,484. And the other was talked about?—The other was talked about, without the name being mentioned at that time.

47,485. Mr. Butler was talked about, but nothing about being a candidate?—No; when I was first spoken to Mr. Butler was not mentioned. The person that is the second candidate at that time had not announced himself, nor had been introduced to the public.

47,486. A second candidate was talked about, but the the second candidate was not?—Certainly.

47,487. Both of those gentlemen were strangers to the town, I believe?—Both.

47,488. Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler were both strangers?—Both.

47,489. Do you know how Mr. Moore was introduced into the town?—In the first instance I do not. I was present at a meeting of the Conservative party in this town.

47,490. Have you heard how he was introduced?—I have not.

47,491. What is the first that you heard of his introduction into the town?—The first I heard of his introduction was, by being present at the latter part of a meeting of the Conservative party, held at the George Inn, I think in the early part of the month of May; at that time Mr. Moore's name was mentioned, and at that time, I believe, there was no intention on the part of the Conservative party.

47,492. Call them by their local names, orange and blue?—I will call them by their colours.

47,493. We wish to avoid any reference to politics: a meeting was held of the blue party?—Yes; at that time there was no intention, I believe, to have two candidates, and a resolution was passed, which I supported, to endeavour to save the town a contest at all, by having one appointed on behalf of the blues, and one on behalf of the orange.

47,494. A resolution was come to in which you concurred?—Yes; I supported it personally; I spoke in favour of it.

47,495. For what?—To avoid a contest, by having one on behalf of the blues, and one on behalf of the orange. Each party to nominate one.

47,496. Was Mr. Moore present at that meeting?—He was not.

47,497. Had he, to your knowledge, ever been present at any meeting in Hull as a candidate?—He had not to my knowledge, or to my information.

47,498. Was that a numerous meeting of the blue party?—The room was pretty full. It is a large room.

47,499. And influential?—Yes.

47,500. And was that resolution generally adopted?—It was adopted, so far as I could judge, almost unanimously.

47,501. Who was chairman of that meeting?—I rather think a Mr. Pease of Hessle Wood was; I think he was, but I am not certain.

47,502. Was that the elder Mr. Pease?—Yes, I think it was.

47,503. He is a banker, is he not?—Yes; he is a member of the firm of Pease and Liddell, in this town, and resides at Hessle Wood. I am not certain, but I think he was the chairman at that time. If he was not, Mr. Thomas would be in the chair, who was the president of the Operative Conservative Association; one of the two, but I do not know which it was.

47,504. Were the proceedings of that committee entered in any book?—I do not know. I had nothing whatever to do with the management of the proceedings of that meeting; I came in late.

47,505. Still you might know the fact, one way or the other, without seeing it?—I do not know whether they were or not. I have the minutes of certain proceedings concerned with certain part of the proceedings.

47,506. If you will have the goodness to produce them, it will save time?—I have them not here. If you will make a note of them I will get them.

47,507. Up to this time now that we are sitting here, do you know how Mr. Moore came to be introduced to the town?—I do not; that was arranged entirely by other gentlemen.

47,508. Who was that arranged by?—My impression is that it would be arranged by Mr. Ward, Mr. Beadle, or Mr. Pease; some of those gentlemen who took a very active part at that time, you have got down. I am not certain that Mr. Pease was in the chai at the committee.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,509. I have it,—"Mr. Ward, I think, or Mr. Thomas"?—Yes; or else Mr. Thomas.

47,510. How soon did Mr. Moore arrive in the town?—It was sometime about the dissolution of Parliament, which, I think, was about three or four weeks after. I think Parliament was dissolved the last week in June; and I think Mr. Moore did not arrive until about a week or so before that time. I know there was a lapse of about five weeks before the election took place and the time we commenced proceedings.

47,511. Perhaps you can remember it by knowing what party came first; we know Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich arrived here the 14th of June?—It would be about the same time. My impression is they were down here first, and Mr. Moore was here a day or two days after. The question is, whether or no the blue candidates came down before the orange candidates.

47,512. I am distinguishing Mr. Moore's arrival from Moore and Butler's, and the time Mr. Butler arrived; I want to know if Mr. Moore came here alone before there was any coalition with Mr. Butler?—I think they both arrived together—it is my impression, on the same day. I met them both together the same evening. I do not know that they came together.

47,513. Did not Mr. Moore come alone at first before the joint entry?—I believe now on a little thought, that they both came together; and what is very singular, they both travelled in the same carriage, and did not know each other,—they were not introduced. I think I heard that said on the day after their arrival.

47,514. Are you quite sure that Mr. Moore had not been here alone?—To the best of my belief, he had not.

47,515. When did you here of Mr. Butler first?—Hear of his being a candidate?

47,516. Yes, when he was spoken of?—On the 3d of June, on my returning from London.

47,517. Do you know by whom he was introduced?—I know who went up to London for the purpose of getting another candidate to come down.

47,518. Who was that?—Mr. John Balderson Barkworth was one of the gentlemen who went up, and Mr. Harris.

47,519. Both those gentlemen went up to London in quest of a second candidate?—I believe so.

47,520. Having fixed the fact that there were two candidates, I want to know how it was that there was a second candidate notwithstanding the resolution that there should be but one?—In consequence of the orange party having announced their intention to have two.

47,521. That does not exactly answer my question: there being a resolution, had that resolution been communicated or in any way admitted by the orange party that there should be but one candidate?—I do not know.

47,522. Had there been any meeting between either of the committee, or a deputation of the influential gentlemen on either side?—I do not know, but I believe it was inserted in the public papers, not as an advertisement but as a matter of public announcement that such a meeting had taken place and such a result.

47,523. You are alluding to the meeting of the blues?—Yes.

47,524. I want to know what steps did the blues take to carry it into effect—the resolution that there should be but one?—I cannot tell; I was not retained at that time.

47,525. You might know it although you were not retained?—I never heard.

47,526. Did you simply pass the resolution as read that day, and interlined at the moment?—My belief is that something was done, but I do not know as I went to London, and it was only on my return in the latter part of May, that I knew the matter was going forward to a contest at all, and I was then asked to undertake it.

47,527. When did you first hear of the probability of their being a contest? At the time of the meeting it was anticipated there would be none?—We hoped so, but we could not tell.

47,528. The meeting was held for the purpose of preventing a contest?—A meeting was held for the purpose of considering what should be done at the ensuing election. I do not know that the meeting was held for that purpose to begin with, but the resolution was come to at last.

47,529. Can you name the time when Mr. Barkworth and Mr. Harris went to London?—I think I can; it was during the interval between my first being spoken to and my return from town. I had occasion to go up to town the 1st or 2d of June, for the business of the Hull Guardian Society, and during the interval I understood that they had been up to London for the purpose of making some inquiries, or they had been somewhere. When I came back I was informed that there would be but two candidates.

47,530. Do you mean that Mr. Harris and Mr. Barkworth were in London before then or not?—I cannot tell whether they were in London before me or after, or at the same time.

47,531. Did you see them?—No, I did not; nor did I know that they had been there until my return home.

47,532. When did you return home?—I returned home, I think, it was the 3d of June. It will save a great deal of trouble if I state this, that I had nothing whatever to do in any way with the introduction of the candidates here; I know nothing of their appointment or agreeing, until I was asked to undertake the management of the election.

47,533. I am directing these questions to you not for the purpose of getting your own knowledge, but for the purpose of getting any information that we can, or that you possess?—I tell you exactly; Mr. Thomas Ward, the chairman of the committee, can give you all the information upon that point, I have no doubt.

47,534. When did you first hear Mr. Bullen's name mentioned?—Upon my return from London; I think it was on the 3d of June.

47,535. When was the committee formed?—At the meeting which took place on the 4th of June.

47,536. The day that you were retained?—The day upon which my retainer was confirmed by the party.

47,537. Who was the chairman?—Mr. Ward. I have handed in a list of the chairmen, deputy chairmen, and the members of the several committees, to this Commission already.

47,538. Did you organize that meeting?—I did not.

47,539. Did you organize the committees?—I did not.

47,540. Who did?—They were organized by the persons present by appointment then and there.

47,541. Just tell us what took place for the purpose of commencing them?—I believe at the previous meeting that papers had been sent round among the gentlemen present,—a meeting had been held previous to my being there,—to know who would or who would not accept the office of committee men at the ensuing election. At that meeting, when the candidates were announced, on the 4th of June, the names of the gentlemen were taken down who had consented to act as the working committee.

47,542. That is for the central committee?—Yes; for the central committee.

47,543. How were these sub-committees or district committees formed?—They were formed by extracting from it certain lists of names, and names of such gentlemen that were presumed would be most likely to do business in certain localities, and their names were called and they were asked to do so.

47,544. Were the district committees formed that day?—Some of them were, I believe, but another meeting was called afterwards.

47,545. How many district committees were there?—Nine.

47,546. Nine district committees and one central committee?—Eight district committees and one general. I have presented a list of the whole.

47,547. Where did the general committee meet?—At the rooms which were taken in Bowl Alley Lane.

47,548. Was that a public house or a private house?—A private house; it was a cabinet-maker's premises, and the front part of it was down.

47,549. Was it your duty to attend on the general committee?—I did so day by day from that time until the close of the election.

47,550. Then the committee sat daily?—Yes; the whole day.

47,551. Was it announced in the first instance that the committee would sit daily?—I do not know that it was announced, but they did sit daily. We commenced the business directly and worked close at it until the close of the election.

47,552. Who were the gentlemen who principally attended upon the general committee?—Every day we had meetings of the chairman and deputy chairman of each district committee.

47,553. At the general committee?—At the general committee, I think, nearly every day; but I believe that is about it. I know I shall save you some trouble; I can refer you to all the minutes of all the meetings.

47,554. Who else were the gentlemen who principally attended to the general committee?—The chairman and the four vice chairmen of the general committee or some others of them.

47,555. Who were they?—Their names are there mentioned, I believe; Mr. Ward was the chairman.

47,556. Who were the four vice chairmen?—I will give you them: Joseph Walker Pease, John Harris, and Henry Barkworth, and I think there were two others selected out of the district committees.

47,557. You have only given us three?—There was another one appointed originally, but he never attended the meeting; that was Mr. Charles Bamford, junior. He was appointed in the first instance but never attended.

47,558. We want the names of those who attended?—Those three attended: Mr. Pease, Mr. Henry Barkworth, and Mr. Harris.

47,559. Who were the two other gentlemen?—I think Mr. Davis was one.

47,560. In the Market Place?—Edwin Davis, I believe.

47,561. He was chairman of the district committee, was not he?—He was, but they selected two others from the district committees, for the purpose of making them deputy chairmen of the general committee. I do not remember the names of the five now; he was a member of the district committee.

47,562. Who were the two gentlemen who were specially appointed to attend?—Mr. Davis was one, and I do not recollect the name of the other one.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,563. Does this list assist you?—This list only contains the names of the chairman there and the deputy chairman also. I do not find which of those were there; there were two others, I know, appointed from the district committee: Mr. Davis was one, but I do not remember who the other was now; it was done afterwards.

47,564. What was the general course of business at the general committee every day? tell us the order in which the things were done, and what was done?—We had to receive hour by hour, or rather every two or three hours, the returns of the canvassing from the different committees, and clerks employed had to enter those in the proper books.

47,565. Every two hours?—I cannot say that exactly, but we received them as fast as we could get the account of the list of the canvassing of the different streets; we had those to enter in the several registers distinct—a general register, we had to give answers to incidental questions as to persons who had removed from one district to another district, and communicate that to the other district to which they had gone.

47,566. And the questions of employment also?—Certainly; we received applications for employment in different forms; we had to make arrangements for securing the votes, not merely of persons in the town, but of those who were absent, and not merely the non-resident freemen but the non-resident householders within the distance of seven miles.

47,567. I presume you had lists of the absentees?—Certainly, we had.

47,568. What else?—There was what was done day by day. I think it was pretty much the general nature of the business as it is at all elections; the object is to secure the votes from the different parties, and when you have 5,000 electors to canvass there is plenty to do.

47,569. We want to know what the committee did?—Every day, or thereabouts, the committee, by their chairman, or deputy chairman, assembled.

47,570. Was that the first thing in the morning?—No; generally about one o'clock in the afternoon.

47,571. Do you mean the chairman and deputy chairman came to the general committee?—Yes.

47,572. For what purpose?—For the purpose of conferring as to the course of proceeding to be adopted there that evening, and during the next day, before they met again.

47,573. Was not a most unreserved communication kept up at all times between the district committees, and the general committee?—I believe so; it always appeared to me to be so.

47,574. Were there books for making entries of persons' names who desired employment?—Those would be kept by each district committee.

47,575. Was there one also at the central committee?—Only those employed at the central committee. Those persons who applied for employment at the central committee, unless absolutely required for the purpose of the central committee, were referred to the several districts or wards in which they resided, to make their application there.

47,576. Was there no entry or minute of such application made in any book or paper kept by the general committee?—In some cases there were, and the minute book I have handed in, contains the names of a number of persons who did so apply.

47,577. What did the staff of the general committee consist of?—Do you mean the clerks?

47,578. The whole staff?—At the time, in one room, I think I had ten clerks employed, and in another room, I had four clerks employed. We never had less, on an average, than about twelve clerks employed.

47,579. Can you tell their names?—The names of the clerks are put down, not in a regular list, but the minute book contains the names of persons who applied to be clerks, and then, when they were employed, you will find a memorandum that is put at the side, "engaged," or "employed.

[The minute book marked A. C. was produced.]

47,580. Who engaged the clerks?—They were engaged principally by myself.

47,581. With the sanction of the committee?—Sometimes with, and sometimes without.

47,582. But with their cognizance?—They left it to me, as the only solicitor who had the charge of the election, to make my own appointments about the staff of my clerks, to get through as I could.

47,583. What rooms were there engaged there?—We first had two rooms—the two upper rooms—and then we took a large one below additional. We found there was so much interruption to the business going forward in the other room, that we were obliged to take another one.

47,584. After that, you had more rooms?—Not in that house.

47,585. Had you, as auxiliary to the general committee?—I believe there was another room taken towards the time of the election—just about, I think, when the election began. That was for four weeks afterwards, when we began business.

47,586. Where was that?—That was a room taken in Quay Street, but I never heard of it until after it had been taken.

47,587. What number in Quay Street?—No. 7, I believe.

47,588. How near was it to where your committee met?—It was not very near; Quay Street is immediately behind this building. Bowl-Alley Lane is nearer the Market Place.

It would be the distance, going the nearest way, of about 150 yards, to go round by Manor Street.

47,589. Were there any other rooms engaged, belonging to the general committee?—No; none that I am aware of, and that room I have mentioned at No. 7, I believe, was only engaged for the purpose of paying the expenses of the out-voters, and was engaged in the last week; so I was told.

47,590. Who attended there?—I only know from report; I never was there, but I believe Mr. Henry Barkworth, or Mr. Harris attended occasionally.

47,591. Was Dickinson, Mr. Gibson's clerk, there?—I heard he was employed for the purpose of keeping the accounts of the persons employed.

47,592. Tell us all you heard?—Understand I never was in the place until after the election was over. I understood that Mr. Barkworth and Mr. Harris, in order to relieve the central committee from the trouble of having to settle with these men for their expenses of coming over, took a room for the purpose of paying them.

47,593. Do I understand you that Mr. Dickinson was there?—I believe he was employed as a clerk to make entries there, as a clerk with Mr. Gibson.

47,594. Have you heard of any other names in connexion with it, and that room?—I have not.

47,595. You never were there yourself?—Not until after the election.

47,596. You knew that it was before the election took place that it had been engaged, I presume?—Yes; but I did not know the place. I only heard that they were paying these parties in Quay Street; I did not know the room.

47,597. You heard it during the election?—I heard it during the election.

47,598. You knew, before the election took place, that this room was engaged? you understood it, at all events?—Not before the nomination day, I did not know it.

47,599. Were the out-voters paid before or after they voted?—I believe that most of them were paid before they voted for their expenses in coming over.

47,600. I observe you lent all, and drew a distinction. What other payments were made afterwards?—I do not know that they were paid anything else, but for their expenses.

47,601. I thought you dropped the word "service"?—I do not know that they were paid anything at all for services; I have not the least notion that they were.

47,602. For loss of time, it is sometimes called?—It may have been, but I do not know it. I did not pay them, nor have I heard that they were.

47,603. Forget for a short time the lawyer, and recollect as a witness. We do not ask only things that you know of your own knowledge?—I can only tell you that which I believe.

47,604. This is the book which has been handed in, intituled "Alphabetical List of Non-resident Voters." Can you tell who that was prepared by [B. C.]?—I believe this was prepared at the central committee room. This is one of the books we ordered to be prepared for the purpose of keeping an account of the non-resident voters.

47,605. I can see several payments in it; can you tell me whose handwriting they are in?—I see they are in various handwritings. There is an handwriting appears to be that of Mr. Henry Barkworth, and there is another entry which appears to be in Mr. Barkworth's writing.

47,606. They are in several writings?—Yes, in several.

46,607. You mention three rooms at the central committee; was one of those kept private?—We tried to do it so: it was intended to be so, so far as we could, but we could not do it; we could not keep it private; we were constantly interrupted.

47,608. Was it a large room, or another room besides the three you mentioned?—The rooms were all about the same size—the one in front, the one behind. The lower room below was used for the clerks; that was kept most private.

47,609. And one of the upper rooms you attempted to keep as private as you could?—Yes; the upper back room.

47,610. Which was the committee room?—That was the room.

47,611. Which?—The back room.

47,612. The back room up stairs?—Yes, the large back room.

47,613. Was that the room which all the committee had access to?—Yes; but when the district committee assembled day by day, we then used to adjourn into the front room, because it was more convenient, and our papers would not be liable to be disturbed.

47,614. Was it considered more private than the back room?—No, but it was more convenient; before, the clerks were sent down stairs to be out of the way, as the district committees assembled there.

47,615. Did they assemble there while the general business was being transacted in the other room—the district committees?—Yes. No business was transacted in the other room, because we came to them immediately they came.

47,616. The general committee met in the back room?—Yes.

47,617. And the district committees in the front room?—Yes.

47,618. Was that up stairs or down?—Up stairs, upon the same floor.

47,619. Was the business going on in both the rooms simultaneously?—No; the district committees met for a specific object, to meet the general committee on general business at the hour for the district committee assembling; then the general committee came in to them.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,620. At other times was any use made of that room?—Yes; some of the clerks used to occupy it.

47,621. And they were turned out for that time?—Yes, exactly.

47,622. Were there any sub-committees to the general committee who had a room to themselves?—No.

47,623. You seem to hesitate, to observe.—I must take time to think before I answer the question.

47,624. You know what I mean by saying the more private part of the business? Where was that transacted?—In the general committee room.

47,625. Was the same mode of carrying on business adopted before or after the candidates arrived?—Yes; with this exception, that part of our business, after they arrived, consisted in making arrangements for their personal canvass of different districts and different streets.

47,626. Did the candidates then come daily to the committee room?—I cannot say that they came daily.

47,627. But most days?—I have seen them, I think, most days there, just before they went out on the canvass, merely to take directions for their canvass.

47,628. How soon was any arrangement made relating to the expenses of the election?—Do you mean as to who should pay them?

47,629. Any arrangements at all with a view to the expenses, because you were embarking in a contest that would necessarily create an outlay of money in some way or another?—I know the arrangement was made before we embarked into it.

47,630. What I want to know is this—what is the first arrangement which bore upon the question of expenses?—I cannot tell you, because I did not make one. I believe Mr. Ward and the committee made all the arrangements before the candidates were announced. I know Mr. Ward told me that all arrangements were made about money matters, so I never asked any more questions about them.

47,631. That they were completed?—I understood so.

47,632. How soon did you learn that?—I asked Mr. Ward that question afterwards, on the very first morning after the candidates came here, whether all the arrangements had been completed about money matters, and he told me that they had.

47,633. Did you learn from him what arrangements had been made?—I learned from him that each of the candidates were to advance a certain sum of money.

47,634. What sum?—£1,200 each, not exceeding that; that that should be the maximum; that is all I learned from him.

47,635. Did you learn where any deficiency was to come from?—Upon a subsequent occasion he told me that if the expenses should exceed that maximum sum which the candidates agreed to pay, that that would be defrayed by subscriptions which had been, or would be raised.

47,636. Which did he say, had been, or would be?—I cannot say. I know he said subscriptions, but whether he said had been, or would be raised, I do not know. I understood that any deficiency that might take place during the long contest, would be raised by subscription.

47,637. How soon was that after the 4th of June?—I think you have stated the day when the orange candidates came down.

47,638. Yes, they came down on the 14th.?—Ours came down the next day, I believe, or that day, much about the same time; and it was the day after the candidates came down that I asked Mr. Ward that question.

47,639. What question?—As to whether or no all arrangements had been made about expenses.

47,640. I thought you said the 4th of June?—No.

47,641. You asked the morning after the candidates came?—Exactly; I knew on the 4th of June that a sum of £1,200 had been agreed to be paid by Mr. Bramley Moore, as the maximum amount of any expenses that he might be liable to, as far as he was concerned.

47,642. Who told you that?—Mr. Ward.

47,643. What observation did you make upon that?—None, whatver.

47,644. Did he ever show you, or did he at that time, or at any time, at all events, show you a list of subscriptions?—No, not at any time.

47,645. I do not mean to go into anything in relation to 1847, but it is necessary that I should ask you a question now. Do you know what Mr. Brown's expenses came to?—About £3,000, I believe.

47,646. You were aware of that at the time?—Yes.

47,647. Do you still think that you made no remark when Mr. Ward said that £1,200 was all that was to be spent?—That was for one candidate; the other, of course, would have to raise the same amount.

47,648. Still, a great portion of the expenses are not increased in any way by the addition of a second candidate, are they?—That may, or may not be, the case; that depends upon the arrangements made with the legal agents.

47,649. What additional expenses would there be beyond paying an additional lawyer, and the additional expenses of the sheriff?—If they were conducted by the same committee, there would be no additional expenses.

47,650. And it was intended here that if there were two candidates, supposing Mr. Moore had been alone, and I understood you to say it was not agreed that there should be a second candidate until afterwards —— ?—I am speaking of June the 4th; at that time it was known that there would be two candidates.

47,651. At that time you had only heard that Mr. Moore was to contribute £1,200? —On June the 4th.

47,652. And you knew nothing about any other?—I understood the second candidate was to advance the same sum, but I did not know it.

47,653. Did you at any time before the election hear of any second subscription?—Do you mean before the day of election?

47,654. Either before or since, or up to the present time, if you like?—Mr. Ward has told me, I think, on more occasions than one, that any amount above £2,400 would be defrayed by subscription.

47,655. I want to know if you have ever seen any list with the names of the subscribers?—Never.

47,656. Or have you seen any paper, or heard of any document containing any sum of money?—I have not.

47,657. You have never heard of such a thing?—I have not.

47,658. You have heard that the election cost a great deal more?—I have.

47,659. How much?—I heard it cost above £3,000, but I do not know the amount. All financial matters were managed by Mr. Ward.

47,660. I want to know what Mr. Ward's communications were?—If he told me I should tell you, but I never heard.

47,661. Did you ever ask?—No, I never asked.

47,662. Now I want you to fix the date, as near as you can, when Mr. Ward told you that the sum over and above 2,400*l.* would be defrayed by subscription?—I have told you that was at a conversation when I spoke to him, the day after the candidates came down here.

47,663. What you told me was this, that the sum of 1,200*l.* was agreed to be paid by each of the candidates, and then at some time subsequent it was agreed that the surplus should be paid by subscription?—I have told you that on the 4th of June, or thereabouts, I was informed by Mr. Ward that 1,200*l.* had been agreed to be advanced by Mr. Moore as the maximum sum to be paid towards the expenses of the election; that a similar sum of 1,200*l.* was expected to be paid by Mr. Butler, and after those two gentlemen had been here, I asked Mr. Ward the question again, whether he was quite satisfied about all the election expenses.

47,664. I want the date of that second inquiry?—That would be the day after those two gentlemen came down.

47,665. That is the same day; you fix the day as the date of your first conversation? —No, excuse me, my first conversation, I said, took place on the 4th of June; the two candidates came down about the 14th of June, about the same time as the other two came down, and on the evening of that day when they came, I, along with others, met them; we dined with them, and the next day when in conversation upon the business of the election, I asked Mr. Ward whether he and his friends were perfectly satisfied about the expenses of the election, and then it was that I understood from him that if there should be any deficiency above the 2,400*l.*, that it would be defrayed by subscription, and I never asked him any more questions about it until the election was over.

47,666. You were satisfied with that answer?—Yes, perfectly so.

47,667. Then I take for granted that it passed in your mind the extreme improbability that the 2,400*l.* would be sufficient?—I had my doubts about it, and I will tell you why; we had been waiting then, parliament had been expected to be dissolved day by day, and that had gone on over a period of three weeks; we were obliged to keep on our expenses, and staffs, and clerks, and committee rooms, during the whole of that time, and what might be very good expenses to put down for an early canvass, or an early election, would not be very good expenses, or a probable amount, where it is postponed for a period of four or five weeks.

47,668. And you knew that Mr. Brown spent a 1,000*l.* a day?—No.

47,669. You have told us that he expended 3,000*l.* in three days?—He spent 3,000*l.* at that election.

47,670. In three days?—It was not three days.

47,671. We have been told so?—It was Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

47,672. Thursday was the polling day?—Yes; but there were expenses incurred at that election which had no occasion to be incurred at this; that we took very good care of.

47,673. We have heard of an arrangement that you entered into with Mr. Galloway, now be so good as to give us your recollection of that arrangement, and your recollection of the date also?—Will you have the kindness to give me my minute book?

47,674. That will not tell you. I am alluding to a transaction that occurred long before. I want your recollection of an arrangement that you entered into with

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

Mr. Galloway and Mr. Stead?—I think there is some minute about it in this book, but if not, I will tell you the best I can from memory.

47,675. Cannot you recollect any arrangement made with Mr. Galloway before the arrival of the candidates?—Yes.

47,676. That is what I want you to do.—Yes; I can do that. I called upon Mr. Galloway——

47,677. Begin at the beginning, if you please, and tell us what took place.—I was very anxious that some arrangement should be made with the solicitors for the orange party for preventing the great expense consequent on the employment of runners; our committee was besieged with applications by voters and other persons to be employed as runners, and I had no doubt that the committee upon the other side would be the same; I therefore advised with the general committee upon the propriety of making an arrangement with the committee upon the other side, for the restriction of the number of persons whom we should each employ in the capacities of messengers, doorkeepers, and runners, for each committee room and the central committee, and having received the sanction of the chairman—

47,678. Tell us what took place, what was said upon that.—By whom?

47,679. By anybody.—They coincided with the view I took.

47,680. What was said upon that occasion?—They agreed that it was perfectly right that we should do so, for the purpose of keeping down the expenses, and also for the purpose of preventing anything approaching to treating or bribery at the ensuing election. The district committees had been expressly warned by the general committee on more occasions than one.

47,681. Had been warned previous to your making this precaution to them?—Yes; at the very first meeting they assembled, Mr. Ward, in addressing the members of the committee, expressly warned them against the practice of paying money to voters, which practice on previous elections had too often existed.

47,682. Do you remember what it was that Mr. Ward said? as nearly as possible tell us his words.—I cannot do that; I will give you the substance of his address.

47,683. I would rather that you would give us his words.—I cannot do it at this distance of time; I can tell you the substance of his address: it was a most emphatic caution to the members of the committee not to be engaged in any acts which could have even the appearance of bribery.

47,684. Which had been too often; did he say how often?—I cannot say; he alluded to the practice that had taken place on former occasions, and he said there was a determination upon the part of the candidates themselves and others, to be no parties to anything of the sort.

47,685. Meaning the practice of an almost unlimited number of runners?—I have no doubt he alluded to that, because he also expressly forbade them treating the voters or paying any expenses for that purpose.

47,686. Cannot you tell us anything nearer from your recollection of what Mr. Ward's words were?—I cannot really pretend to give the words of the gentleman's address. I gave you the substance pretty accurately, I believe, but I cannot give his exact words. I know well that caution which he made so emphatically at that meeting was repeated upon several occasions at our meetings.

47,687. Did you understand that Mr. Ward was cautioning against the employment of runners, or against bribery of a different description? what did you understand yourself from the effect of it?—I understood him that he was cautioning them against paying any monies whatever to the parties for the purpose of securing their votes in the way of bribery. I do not know that the word runners was mentioned, or that the word messengers was mentioned, but I know perfectly well at subsequent meetings, in answer to questions put by members of the district committees as to whether we might employ runners or not, I told them over and over again that they must not do so.

47,688. Your own view of the law was that it was illegal?—My own view of the law was, that the employment of runners speciously for the performance of an assumed service was illegal, but that you had a right to employ runners for actual service, and pay them fairly for the actual services which they had performed.

47,689. You have stated your view somewhat generally, your caution; can you recollect anything more particular than remembering the caution that you yourself gave to your own committee?—Yes, I can very easily; and the subsequent arrrangement with Mr. Galloway was founded upon that caution.

47,690. If I understand you, your caution to the committee was previous to your arrangement with Mr. Galloway?—Yes.

47,691. And subsequent to it as well?—Yes.

47,692. What was the caution that you gave to your committee?—The caution that I gave to them was this,—that we must be excessively careful to avoid the payment of any monies that would have the construction of bribery under the bribery acts. I was asked on more than one occasion as to what it was, and I told them specially as to the employment of runners.

47,693. You put your construction upon the Act of Parliament, and left them to draw theirs?—I put my own construction and told it to them.

47,694. That is leaving them to construe the Act of Parliament for themselves?—No; I put my own construction, and I told it to them.

47,695. And cautioned the committee to pay no money that would have the construction of bribery?—Certainly not.

47,696. Are those, as nearly as you can recollect, the words you used?—I did; and further than that, I told them in answer to questions, as to what would have that construction.

47,697. What did you tell them as to what was your view of what would bring them within the bribery act?—I told them if they put a number of runners upon their books, and paid them when their services were not wanted, for the purpose of procuring their votes, that that would be bribery.

47,698. What else did you tell them?—I told them also that they must be careful to avoid giving them drink, or treating them in any way.

47,699. What else?—I do not know that I gave any other representation than that, and that was quite sufficient for the purpose.

47,700. Did you tell them what they might do?—Yes; in answer to the question as to what runners they might employ, I told them such as were absolutely necessary for their services, and the committee determined what number they would have. I told them that we might employ persons to perform our work absolutely required, and pay them for it.

47,701. Voters?—Yes, voters or otherwise, that is so far as the bribery acts were concerned.

47,702. I want to know what you said, not your view of the law, but what you told them then?—I told them that we should be at liberty to employ such a number of runners as were absolutely necessary for the absolute performance of the service.

47,703. You told them they might employ persons necessary and pay them?—Yes, precisely; for absolute services.

47,704. Was anything said either by you or by them as to employing the necessary number with a view to influencing their votes? did you understand that?—Perfectly; I I do not know that there was. I can give you the minutes of one of the meetings when this matter was discussed.

47,705. What is the date of it?—The 12th of June, 1852.

47,706. What is the minute?—"Present, Mr. Ward."

47,707. You have not given us any date to this time, when you explained the law?—In the first instance?

47,708. Do you mean upon the 4th June?—No; upon the 4th June Mr. Ward made his statement.

47,709. When did you explain the law?—Not then.

47,710. When?—When we first assembled in committee, which most likely would be a day or two afterwards, in general committee. The 4th was the time of the original arrangement, and this meeting of Mr. Ward's took place two or three days after that. It was the only meeting where Mr. Ward met the whole of the committee at dinner, which took place at that time.

47,711. That would not be the 4th June?—No; it would be a few days after that.

47,712. He met them at dinner?—Yes, at the George Inn.

47,713. A few days after?—A few days after the 4th June.

47,714. Was your advice before or after Mr. Ward's speech to the chairmen?—My advice to the central committee would be before then.

47,715. How could that be? if you consider a moment, your retainer was confirmed the 4th June.—It was.

47,716. Upon the same day, Mr. Ward and some other gentlemen met; you said you came in late?—No; all that took place long before.

47,717. Long before you were appointed?—Yes; a month at least before Mr. Ward met the members of the committee, a few days after the 4th June.

47,718. At the dinner?—Yes; a few days after; I cannot say the number of days.

47,719. Some time between the 4th and the 12th, I presume?—That would be so.

47,720. Now read that minute upon the 12th June.—"At a meeting of the central committee, held at their rooms, Bowl Alley Lane, on Saturday, 12th June 1852: present Mr. Thomas Ward, chairman; succeeded by J. W. Gleadow, vice-chairman; Mr. J. Brodrick, J. Pulleyn, R. Wells, Mr. Davis, Mr. W. Cutt, Mr. R. Cattley, Mr. G. Craven, Mr. C. Yeall, Mr. W. G. Turnbull, Mr. S. West, Mr. P. Lambert, Mr. C. Wilkinson, Mr. J. G. Jackson, Mr. H. Gibson, Mr. H. Croft, Mr. William Croft, and several other gentlemen connected with those districts. It was resolved, That each committee return a list of runners they have, or may employ, and the terms whereon they are engaged. That no runners be employed for the present beyond those actually engaged in present service; and the names of all applicants for runners be taken down by the district in which they now reside, as applicants only. And all voters who have removed to have their place of residence sent to the committee of the district in which they reside, and be canvassed and dealt with accordingly. The committee clerks to have 5*s.* per day, and double for the last two days of the election. The doorkeepers and messengers, who are in actual employ, to have wages at the rate of 1*l.* per week. The times for payment of the persons so employed to be settled by the chairman and deputy chairman. That the candidates be invited to return to Hull as early as possible, in order to visit the different districts and wards, and the various societies or parties in the town. Ordered, that the private cards of each candidate, and a circular, requesting the vote and interest, be sent to each voter."

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,721. They must have been in Hull before that?—They were in Hull certainly before the 12th. I told you I could not tell exactly when they first came. I know they were down about the 14th. They came down one evening to the George, and made an address there, and they returned, and were sent for again. They did not go into any public canvass until after that.

47,722. You must have been mistaken when you say they were never here till they came together?—I do not know that I said they were never here. I told you I could not say exactly when they first came.

47,723. That was the 12th?—Yes, on the Saturday.

47,724. I will put the words into your mouth,—attend to the question and the form in which I put it: Did you understand that the advice so given was with a view to insure a pure election, or a careful election? Do you understand the difference?—The advice so given was to insure that our election should not be set aside on the ground of bribery; that was the object under which the advice was given.

47,725. I do not know whether you mean that as an answer to my question?—I do certainly; but if you like to put the question in any other form I will answer it. I felt that to be my duty as a solicitor.

47,726. That is not what you were asked: you were asked what was Mr. Ward's advice to import?—I thought you meant my advice.

47,727. No, Mr. Ward's advice?—I beg your pardon.

47,728. Your business was to take care of the legal part?—Precisely so; that was my business.

47,729. You did not consider yourself as being the arbiter of the consciences of the people, but of their legal business?—That was my business.

47,730. I mean Mr. Ward's advice; did you understand that to be in the same sense as your own?—I understood Mr. Ward's advice and address to have this import and effect, that they should endeavour to secure an election upon principles of purity.

47,731. You are sure of that?—That was the impression I entertained distinctly.

47,732. Was it conveyed in language that might be understood as language simply requiring his hearers to be extremely careful?—No; it was conveyed in language as explicit as language could be, that they were to endeavour to carry through a pure election, so far as I could judge.

47,733. All your language previous was referable to either state of things.—My answers before were to convey facts; if you ask as to motives, I will endeavour to give the best answer I can.

47,734. What was to be understood by the hearers?—I have stated I understood most distinctly that they meant to fight the election on purity principles. That was my understanding.

47,735. You saw Mr. Galloway previous to the date of the 12th?—I saw Mr. Galloway upon the 12th.

47,736. Was there not some correspondence between you and Mr. Galloway previous?—Upon the 15th I wrote to Mr. Galloway; upon the 12th I saw him.

47,737. Previous to the 12th?—I think there was, but I cannot fix the date precisely by the correspondence.

47,738. There is a minute in the orange committee book of the 10th.—Will you have the kindness to read the minute to me, and it will refresh my memory?

47,739. Have you a correspondence book?—I have a copy of the letter of the 15th.

47,740. I meant your recollection of it? I have Mr. Galloway's.—I will give you my recollection.

47,741. I am speaking particularly with reference to the 12th?—I believe I saw Mr. Galloway twice before any arrangement was made upon the subject of these runners; I can fix one date to a certainty, that was the second time; the first I cannot. I called upon Mr. Galloway at his office.

47,742. Can you give the date of that?—I cannot say to the day. I can the second day; I can give the date of that exactly.

47,743. Was it before the 12th? Are you now speaking of something done in consequence of that minute or not? if previous to that minute it could not be done in consequence of it.—I believe I saw him on the 12th,—in fact I know I did. I believe I saw him before the 12th.

47,744. I will give you another date to assist you: do you remember a placard or circular being issued upon the subject of bribery upon the 10th?—By whom?

47,745. By the blue party, your party?—I do not.

47,746. With clauses relating to the Bribery Act?—I do not. There were numbers of circulars printed which I never saw, except when I saw them stuck up in a room. I never gave any directions; they were settled by the committee. If you will show me the one to which you allude I will tell you if I know it.

47,747. Be so good as to look at that letter, and see if it is in your own handwriting, dated the 10th of June (handing a letter to the witness).—Yes; that is my handwriting; the signature is mine.

47,748. Read that letter.—"Moor and Butler's committee room, 10th June 1852." This is a circular addressed to the different members of the committee of chairmen and deputy chairmen of the district committees. "Gentlemen,—Herewith I beg to send you a copy of the clauses of the statutes 5 and 6 Vict., chap. 102, against the bribery and treating of voters, to which I beg to draw the attention of the district committees, in order that the canvassers may be strictly cautioned against infringing the above provisions in the least degree." That is signed by me, and this was sent round to the whole of them.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,749. And annexed to that is an extract?—No; this is not the handbill.

47,750. That is the circular?—Yes; this is the circular sent round to our own committees. I thought you meant some handbills which had been published.

47,751. Was that printed?—No; they are copied by the clerks.

47,752. Did you give an explanation, for there is none in that, of the construction to be put upon the Act of Parliament?—There is no construction here.

47,753. You sent them the Act of Parliament, and left them to interpret it?—That is to begin with; but I also told them at this meeting of the 12th, which formed the subject of the conversation, as to what I believed bribery would be construed to be.

47,754. Was that in writing?—No. When I say no, I have no recollection of putting it in writing; I have a perfect recollection of cautioning the members of the committee personally.

47,755. Was that done in consequence of any vote or instructions, or was it done from your own position as legal adviser?—It was done from my own position as adviser; I should of course mention it to the chairman and deputy chairman before I sent it out.

47,756. Was it in consequence of that that the minute was made of the 12th?—I cannot say that.

47,757. Is that your belief, that it was?—No; I have no belief upon the subject at all [redacted] us what took place now with reference to that; was it the same day? I [redacted] you had a conversation with Mr. Galloway; does that bring it to your mind [redacted] not.

[redacted] is stated by Mr. Galloway, in his evidence, that he had an interview with you upon the day that is dated?—It is perfectly possible he may; I believe I had an interview before the 12th. I cannot say that it was the 10th.

47,760. What took place?—I pointed out to him the desirability——

47,761. I would rather that you would use your own words as near as you can.—That is more than I can do; I will not take upon myself to say what my words were then.

47,762. As near as you can.—I represented to him the desirability of having an arrangement made with the orange party about the number of runners and messengers we employed.

47,763. The desirability of limiting the number of runners?—Yes; that we could not tell when Parliament was going to be dissolved, and that I should like to make an arrangement with him for the purpose of limiting the number until Parliament was dissolved; and that when Parliament should be dissolved,—when the labours of the committees would necessarily be greater and require more assistance, that then we might increase them.

47,764. Then each party was to do as they pleased?—Nothing was then said as to what each party was to do; that the arrangement should be made up to that time because we could not tell what number each would require,—it would entirely depend upon the consideration of each party as to what they would require.

47,765. And nothing was said as to any limit afterwards?—There was not.

47,766. Can you recollect what Mr. Galloway said?—Mr. Galloway concurred in my view, and said he would mention it to his committee.

47,767. Tell us all that took place with reference to it. You did come to an arrangement with Mr. Galloway?—Yes.

47,768. Now I want to know the steps by which you arrived at that arrangement?—I saw Mr. Galloway upon the Saturday, and upon that occasion I think Mr. Burges was present.

47,769. I want to come before Mr. Burges was present,—you came to an arrangement with Mr. Galloway before you saw Mr. Burges?—The first time that I saw Mr. Burges was the time I was making these arrangements with Mr. Galloway.

47,770. Before any arrangement was come to with Mr, Galloway at all?—Before any arrangement binding upon his committee was come to.

47,771. Do you mean Saturday the 12th?—I find by my own letter that I saw him the 12th.

47,772. Had you seen Mr. Burges then?—I believe I saw Mr. Burges on the 12th, in the room, when Mr. Galloway was here—upon the Saturday; I did not know Mr. Burges before.

47,773. The gentleman whom you have since learnt to be Mr. Burges?—I learnt at the time because Mr. Galloway introduced me to him.

47,774. What took place then?—We again conversed upon the subject which I had before mentioned to Mr. Galloway; Mr. Galloway personally coincided with me.

47,775. What was said by anybody?—I believe the arrangement we then made was that we should exchange letters in which we should limit the number of runners, doorkeepers, and messengers to be engaged by each committee for the general and the district committee rooms until the dissolution of parliament, and on the 15th of June I wrote to Mr. Galloway a letter; that was on the Tuesday.

Mr R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,776. Do not go to any later date. It was agreed that you should exchange letters as to the number of runners and doorkeepers until the dissolution of Parliament?—Decidedly.

47,777. At that meeting was the arrangement limited to the period?—It was either then or the Monday morning that we fixed the precise number; one of those two days.

47,778. You said that Mr. Galloway coincided?—Yes.

47,779. Did Mr. Burges make any observation?—No; Mr. Burges did not make any observation at that time.

47,780. From his manner you concluded that he coincided with Mr. Galloway?—I could not draw any conclusion upon the subject. He was perfectly silent; he offered no opinion upon the subject.

47,781. Tell us all that took place. Mr. Burges, I presume, was introduced to you as the solicitor to Lord Goderich?—Yes; I do not know that he was until after we finished our conversation.

47,782. Do you mean to say that Mr. Burges seemed to sit still, and take no interest in the matter?—Mr. Burges seemed to sit still, and listen to what was going on; he did not talk to me upon the subject.

47,783. Did he talk with Mr. Galloway?—No.

47,784. Did he remain in the corner as any stranger might?—Yes, precisely.

47,785. Listening to what was going on?—Yes.

47,786. And taking no part one way or the other?—Not so far as conversation was concerned with me.

47,787. In what other way?—Merely by listening to what was taking place; he appeared to take notice of what was taking place, but he made no remark to me. I did not even know that Mr. Burges was engaged in the election; I looked upon Mr. Galloway, Mr. Bell, and Mr. Todd; and Mr. Galloway I looked upon as the solicitor, and head of the legal department. I did not know that Mr. Burges was concerned in the matter.

47,788. You were seeing Mr. Galloway upon a confidential matter?—I

47,789. And you found a stranger in the room?—Yes.

47,790. Was it not immediately explained who he was?—Before we left the room Mr. Burges was introduced.

47,791. A man who is a stranger would not sit by in a confidential communication between you and another solicitor?—I should never hesitate to speak upon a matter of that sort before a gentleman in Mr. Galloway's own committee room, if he had no objection. I should not have minded the whole town hearing my conversation.

47,792. At his office?—Yes, at his own office.

47,793. Was the subject of the runners having been employed upon previous occasions alluded to as a matter desirable to be avoided?—I do not know that it was. I had met Mr. Galloway, and we conversed first alone upon the subject. When I called the second time I found this gentleman there, who I afterwards understood was Mr. Burges, present, and I think there was another gentleman present. I am not certain Mr. Burges was the only person who was present in the room.

47,794. Was that Mr. Stead?—I do not know that it was Mr. Stead. I think there was some other person, but I do not know who it was. I know Mr. Burges was there, and then I conversed with him upon the subject of getting the arrangement made, and we agreed to exchange notes upon the subject.

47,795. What I want to know is this—whether before arriving at a conclusion, you began by alluding to a practice as having prevailed, and one which it was desirable to abstain from for the future?—Not in the presence of Mr. Burges, I did not; but Mr. Galloway and I did personally in the first instance.

47,796. You did before, but not upon this occasion?—No; my conversation in the presence of Mr. Burges was, merely for the purpose of getting an arrangement completed, the nature of which had been discussed before by Mr. Galloway.

47,797. And it was agreed that you should exchange letters?—Yes; and this meeting took place, either on the Saturday or the Monday, but I cannot say which of those two days.

47,798. And did you exchange letters?—I did. I wrote this letter, and I received one.

47,799 Will you read it?—This is dated the 15th of June, 1852, and is addressed to Messrs. Galloway, Bell, and Burges, solicitors; at that time I did not know Mr. Stead was engaged in the matter at all. "To Messrs. Galloway, Bell, and Burges, solicitors for the committee of Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich. Dear Sirs,—Pursuant to the conversations which I had with you on Saturday, and this morning, I beg to inform you that this committee have resolved, that, until the dissolution of Parliament shall take place, no more than one doorkeeper, and two runners, or messengers are to be employed for each of the district committee rooms. At the central committee rooms we necessarily require a greater number of messengers, but we intend to limit that number to six. The only exception we intend to make to the above resolution will be in the case of sudden emergency requiring the appointment of an additional messenger for a special purpose, and for one day only. The rate of wages to our doorkeepers and runners will be £1 per week. Our committee intend to adopt this regulation implicitly and in good faith, and we will thank you to say on behalf of the committee of Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich, whether they will at once adopt and agree to the same regulation in your committee rooms, and elsewhere. I am, dear Sirs, yours truly, Robert Wells."

47,800. Have you got Mr. Galloway's letter?—The reply came from Mr. Todd, I think, but I have it here.

47,801. Let us have it, from whoever it came?—It is the next day, June 16th 1852. "Dear Sir.—I am instructed by the committee of Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, addressed to Messrs. Galloway, and other gentlemen, and to say that the terms and conditions therein named, as to the engagement of doorkeepers, messengers, &c., by the committee of Messrs. Moore and Butler, will be adhered to by the cemmittee of Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich. I am, dear Sir, yours respectfully, C. S. Todd." "To Robert Wells, Esq., Central Committee, Messrs. Moore and Butler, Bowl Alley Lane."

47,802. Do you know that arrangements of that description had been made at previous elections?—I never did know it. I never was engaged at any former election but Mr. Brown's, personally.

47,803. Except 1847?—Yes, in 1847; except when I was a clerk, twenty five years ago.

47,804. When you were a clerk, you would acquire information?—If your question extends to that time?

47,805. Yes, it does.—I never was engaged in any election at all, except the first of Mr. Schonswar; that is twenty five years ago. At that time I was a clerk in this town. I have no recollection, at that time, as to any arrangement of the kind to which you refer. I never was engaged, or had anything to do with elections, either voluntarily or professionally, until this [illegible]e of 1847.

47,806. What I want to know is this: have you never heard, that arrangements for limiting the number of runners were made upon any previous elections? or is this, in your belief, the first time of an attempt made to limit the number?—I never heard that any such arrangement was made before.

47,807. Do you believe that this was the first attempt made in Hull, to limit the number?—I cannot form any belief upon the subject.

47,808. I ask you have you heard?—I have never heard.

47,809. You have never heard of any previous attempt to limit the number?—No.

47,810. Have you ever heard tell that there was an understanding that the employment of these runners was not to be made use of, for the purpose of a petition, upon any occasion? Have you ever heard of an arrangement, or understanding, that the employment of the runners was not to be made the ground work of a petition?—Never.

47,811. Did you ever hear this,—that when such an arrangement as you made with the orange was made in Hull, there was added to it an understanding, that in case of a petition, no advantage should be taken of the employment of runners?—Never.

47,812. You never heard of that?—Never.

47,813. I am using the expression in the largest possible sense. Did you ever hear any arrangement or understanding, that the employment of runners, either upon the polling day, the nomination day, or previously, was not to be made the subject of a petition to Parliament?—Never.

47,814. Nor any arrangement or understanding to that effect?—I never heard of such a thing.

47,815. Or to the like effect?—I never heard of such a one until I read it in the paper, the other day, as having been stated by some gentleman in this court.

47,816. That was Mr. Burges?—Yes, I think it was Mr. Burges.

47,817. You never heard of any arrangement of that description?—No.

47,818. Or of any description having been made, or any arrangement, or any understanding that the employment of runners was not to be made the subject of a petition?—I never had the least idea; in fact, when I read in the paper Mr. Burges's examination, and heard that statement, I felt surprised.

47,819. You heard that Mr. Burges made that statement?—I read the statement in the newspapers.

47,820. You have heard that he said so?—Yes, I did.

47,821. Was there any understanding at all, of any sort or kind, with reference to what was to be done after the dissolution of Parliament?—None whatever.

47,822. Each party was left to pursue his own course?—It was left entirely on open question.

47,823. I thought I understood you to say, that upon some occasion, something was said about the polling and nomination days?—Yes. I have read the minute of the 12th of June, that the clerks were to be paid double upon the polling and nomination days.

47,824. That only related to your own committees?—Yes.

47,825. That was no part of the conversation or arrangement with Mr. Galloway?—Certainly not.

47,826. How soon did you either hear of the rule being broken by the orange party, or did you hear of any complaint being made that you had broken it? which of those things occurred first? You undersand my question?—Perfectly.

47,827. I want to know which you heard of first?—In a very few days I heard that that rule had been broken by the orange party.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,828. Did you hear that they had broken that, before you heard that they complained of your breaking it?—I heard of it before I heard any complaint that we had broken it.

47,829. Tell us what it was you heard?—I heard that they were employing a greater number of messengers or runners at their committee rooms than we had agreed should be employed.

47,830. Just give us, as near as you can in the date, how soon you heard that?—I think I heard that in the course of three or four days afterwards.

47,831. Was it as much as that? because we hear you came to Mr. Galloway and made a complaint yourself, in less time than that.—I did go to Mr. Galloway and made the complaint myself.

47,832. You made the complaint.—Yes, certainly, on more occasions than one.

47,833. We have been told you made a complaint in the course of that very week; the 17th has been named, the day after?—The 16th is the day I got the answer; I have no doubt it is very shortly afterwards.

47,834. I want to fix how near it was according to your recollection of that?—I cannot say to two, three, or four days, but it was very shortly that we heard complaints.

47,835. It may be two, three, or four; shall I take that as your answer?—Yes.

47,836. Might it have been as soon as the next day?—Yes, it might have been.

47,837. According to your recollection are you sure it was during the course of the same week—the week ending the 19th?—Yes, according to my recollection, it was.

47,838. You have very little doubt that you heard it in the course of that week?—I have very little doubt that it was in the course of that week.

47,839. When you did hear it, did you go to the committee room and make a complaint?—I made a complaint to Mr. Galloway personally at the committee room.

47,840. Where was that?—At his own committee room.

47,841. In Bishop Lane?—In Bishop Lane.

47,842. Who was present? whom did you see there?—I think there was no one present but himself; he was called out of the committee room.

47,843. What did you say?—I told him the arrangement we had made, we heard was broken by his party at several of the committee rooms.

47,844. Did you say more than that?—I told him that we must have the arrangement kept up. His reply was that he was not aware that it was so; that he would make inquiry about it, but he was sorry to say he had heard the same complaint about members of our party. I said "Very well, I will make inquiry, and if there be anything of the kind, I will stop it."

47,845. He recriminated, in fact?—Yes; he told me of that which he said he had heard.

47,846. Did you say what your own party would do if the orange party persisted in that course that you had heard they had taken?—Certainly not.

47,847. Tell us all that you said.—I think I have done so; our conversation was a very short one; I had no time to talk to him much about it. I went to him and requested that he would at once have the matter looked into.

47,848. I suppose you heard again upon the same subject?—We did, and again I saw him.

47,849. How soon did your party come to any resolution upon the subject, or take a different course in consequence?—I do not know that our party took any different course at all until after a dissolution of Parliament; they had no instructions to do so, nor do I believe they did so.

47,850. According to your belief do you think that that arrangement was faithfully carried out by the members of your committee?—Yes, I do believe so, because I never heard to the contrary.

47,851. Up to the time of the dissolution of Parliament?—Up to the time of the dissolution of Parliament.

47,852. When was the dissolution?—I think Parliament was dissolved about ten days before the election, about the 28th, I think it was, I am not certain, but you very likely have had some information about that; then, upon the 26th of June, I find the subject was a matter of discussion by the whole of our committee, and this resolution was passed: "The district committees to ascertain and inform this committee on Monday the number of committee rooms and runners employed by the opposite party, and their names." On the 24th of June the same resolution was passed.

47,853. Let us have that first.—The chairman urged upon the committee the necessity of ascertaining particulars of the engagement of persons as runners by the other parties, with names and dates.

47,854. He urged that, and no resolution appears to have been come to upon it until the 26th, when attention was drawn to it?—Upon the 23d, the question was discussed whether we should appoint any more or not, and this resolution was come to; that was in consequence of what we heard at that time; at that time great complaints were made of the appointment of more upon the other side.

47,855. The complaints continued?—Yes; and this resolution was passed. The truth is, some members of our committee said, "It is useless our endeavouring to carry through the arrangement if our opponents break faith in this way;" and they wanted to urge upon us the necessity of appointing more doorkeepers and messengers, to do our work than were really employed, and I opposed it; and this resolution was passed in consequence. These are the minutes of the meeting.

47,856. What meeting?—The 23d, then held. After some discussion upon the propriety of appointing more messengers to each of the committee rooms, "Resolved,—That the number of runners should not be increased, or any more employed without the consent of the central committee. That the servants and messengers employed, be paid weekly in full. That no colours be sent to houses, except committee rooms. That the returns of the district committees be sent in to the central committee before ten o'clock, or, at the latest before twelve o'clock, daily. The arrival of vessels to be well looked after, and communicated to the districts in which the voters in such vessels reside."

47,857. You said you opposed the proposition to increase the number?—Yes.

47,858. Do you recollect what you said?—I cannot tell you the words I used. I can tell you the substance of my observations.

47,859. Can you remember anything more than that it was said in your committee that it would be useless to continue your arrangement, if your opponents continued to break faith, and urged the appointment of extra doorkeepers and messengers; that you considered it useless, that they would beat you out of the field?—They were commencing a system as our committees believed, in point of fact, in order to secure votes in spite of the arrangment we had made.

47,860. I presume it was perfectly well understood by your side as well as theirs, that that was a mode of securing votes?—Yes; it was perfectly well understood: the town knew that well enough; every person connected with the elections, knew they would take sides accordingly.

47,861. It was well known that hiring a man was another mode for buying his vote?—There is no doubt in the world, that if persons were hired and merely called runners, and you gave them nothing at all to do, that it was for the sole purpose of getting their votes.

47,862. And even if they had got something to do, that the vote was part of the bargain?—Nothing was said on the subject; but I have no doubt it would be a part of the bargain. Some persons must be employed, and of course there would be a preference given to voters, and that they would expect them to vote for them.

47,863. Not only a preference, but it was considered having them in their employment? that it was a pull upon them?—I have no doubt that it was considered that if a man was engaged in your service, and had the opportunity of knowing what took place at the committee rooms—I will not say all, but many things—it would be expected, that he came there to support the party by whom he was engaged.

47,864. And he would not be employed except upon such an understanding?—We should not employ a person unless we believed he was going to support us; it would be an act of suicide on our part to do so.

47,865. You understood the meaning of the words, "I want you to employ me," in the sense that "I mean to vote for you"?—I have no doubt if a person came to me and said, "I wish to be employed by you, can you employ me?" that if we had employment we should employ him. We should expect that party when he entered the committee room to be employed by us; if he had a vote to give it us of course.

47,866. And I presume it never would be considered in words to say "You must promise your vote first"?—Certainly not; and what is more, I do not believe such a question ever would be put.

47,867. It was perfectly unnecessary?—Yes; a person who would so come and vote against you, you would look upon him in the light of a traitor.

47,868. When a person said, "I want to be employed," you take him to mean, "if you employ me I will vote for you"?—If he were a voter no doubt of it.

47,869. Suppose he was not a voter?—Then he could not vote for us.

47,870. Would he be employed?—Certainly, if he wanted employment. I know at Mr. Brown's election, there were a great many persons employed who were not voters.

47,871. And a great deal of money was spent in three days?—Yes; but you had to do three weeks' work in three days.

47,872. And in a great hurry?—Yes; we had to take everybody that came, voters or not voters.

47,873. That was not the case last time?—Certainly not; we had too much time to mature our plans. The difficulty was, to protract the canvass—to keep the canvass open all that time was a difficult matter.

47,874. You found that the canvass could have been completed in much less time, could it not?—I have no doubt the canvass could have been completed quite as well, if gentlemen set to work, in two weeks, as only half doing it in the way they did in five weeks. As a rule, if people have too much time, they rarely do things as well as when they are obliged to do it promptly.

47,875. Your opinion is, that a good canvass can be completed in a fortnight in Hull?—It is a short time; but I should say with proper arrangements you may do it very well in three weeks. After all, it is a question of division of labour. If a man has a week to do it in, he may canvass the whole town. Give me committees disposed to work and ample funds and resources for the purpose of employées, and I will undertake to canvass the whole town in seven days as well as three weeks; that is, if I have plenty of good committee men.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,876. At the last election you employed I presume none but voters? the messengers that you did employ—that limited number?—I am not aware that any were employed; yes, I think there were some, but very few indeed.

47,877. Generally speaking?—As a rule, the men employed were voters; there is no mistake at all about that.

47,878. If you found a person not a voter, who happened to have some peculiar qualification for his work, being much more intelligent than others, then you would employ him?—Yes; of course.

47,879. Had you many applications from non-voters?—I think not.

47,880. Very few I dare say?—Very few I should think.

47,881. You employed those voters who applied to be employed?—Not of necessity.

47,882. But generally?—They were referred to the several committees for them to exercise their discretion.

47,883. I understood you were from the very first besieged with applications for employment?—Certainly.

47,884. And you sent them to the district committees?—Yes.

47,885. As fast as they came?—As fast as they came; we should never have got on with our own business unless we had done so.

47,886. The voters whom you did employ were some of those who had applied to be employed?—Certainly.

47,887. There was no occasion to send out to search for people?—No; we had not to advertise for employment; we had plenty of appliants.

47,888. And did the applications for employment commence as soon as you had got the committee formed?—Yes.

47,889. A great number?—Yes.

47,890. Had you repeated applications from persons who being refused once came back again?—Yes; I think so. You know this has been rather a disgression from the course of examination we were taking. We got to the last point of my recollecting an interview where I made a complaint to Mr. Galloway. I had a subsequent interview with Mr. Galloway and Mr. Burges on this subject at our own committee room.

47,891. What was the date of that?—It would be in a few days after. I cannot say precisely when it was.

47,892. Was it during the same week?—I think it would be after the 28th, and I will tell you why.

47,893. Do you recollect previous to that, seening Mr. Galloway when Mr. Burges was present?—The first that I saw of Mr. Galloway and Mr. Burges was, as I said, in Mr. Galloway's office, in his back office, the second time that I saw Mr. Burges.

47,894. When you made the complaint?—When I made the complaint of the employment of runners. Mr. Burges was not present.

47,895. When was the first time you made a complaint at the meeting at which Mr. Burges was present?—I do not know that I ever made a complaint when Mr. Burges was present.

47,896. Might it have been so and have escaped your recollection, because Mr. Burges is mentioned as having been present at a complaint made by you?—I read Mr. Burges's examination on that subject, and I think he is mistaken.

47,897. I will put the words into your mouth; do you recollect at a meeting at which Mr. Burges was present, these words being used,—that you said to Mr. Galloway, "Mind this agreement is to be kept"?—No.

47,898. Or the substance of it?—No.

47,899. In Mr. Burges's presence?—I remember being present with Mr. Galloway and Mr. Burges at our own committee room, when we had this question discessed. Mr. Galloway and Mr. Burges called upon me at our own committee room in Bowl Alley Lane, when this question was discussed, and there it was that I had the conversation with them.

47,900. You have heard what occurred with regard to Mr. Burges's evidence? Mr. Burges stated the first acquaintance that he had with any agreement of this kind, was from hearing you say to Mr. Galloway, "Mind Mr. Galloway, the agreement which we have made is to be observed." Mr. Burges then went on to say some further conversation took place, in which I do not think he said he took any part; but after you left, he then inquired of Mr. Galloway what agreement you had been referring to, and then for the first time, he became acquainted with such an agreement; that is the substance of his evidence?—Mr. Burges must have been referring to the first time I saw him, when I was endeavouring to conclude the terms of the arrangement with Mr. Galloway. If you remember, I have stated that I saw Mr. Galloway twice. On one of those occasions Mr. Burges was present. Mr. Galloway and I personally acquiesced in an arrangement, subject to conformation by our respective committees. When I saw him the second time it was for the purpose of knowing what the committees would do. I had no conversation with Mr. Burges on that occasion, and Mr. Galloway would communicate the result by an exchange of notes. I I was to do the same. The next time I saw Mr. Burges, was at our own place of business in the committee room in Bowl Alley Lane, where Mr. Galloway and he came together; and we then conversed on the subject of the breach of his engagement.

47,901. Are you alluding now to the interview that took place on the 28th of June, or thereabouts?—Yes.

47,902. Then drop that for a moment and go back to the previous time. Mr. Burges fixed the date of the interview, at which he was present, in the week ending the 19th of June?—That would be so; that would be Monday the 14th.

47,903. When you complained of the infraction of it?—I do not know that Mr. Burges was present when I complained of the infraction, in the first instance.

47,904. Then you do not remember the interview I want?—Certainly not; and when I read the account of that interview in the paper I said, I am satisfied Mr. Burges is mistaken.

47,905. He spoke of two interviews, one on the 28th, and another on the 29th?—I had only two interviews with Mr. Burges; one at which he said nothing, and the other at which he spoke, and I can say no more of the first than I have said; that was when Mr. Burges was present, when I spoke to Mr. Galloway about completing the engagement.

47,906. The words I took down were "At an interview at Mr. Galloway's office with him, Mr. Wells was present, Mr. Wells said, 'Recollect we have an agreement that we are to employ three runners and one secretary at each committee room up to the day of nomination, and then as many as we please'. Mr. Galloway, Mr. Wells, and I were present"?—That was not the arrangement.

47,507. I am telling you what he said. Then he said, "After Wells left, I got from Galloway some knowledge of the setting down system." Those are the words of Mr. Burges, I believe?—That conversation to which Mr. Burges alludes, must have been the first one to which I alluded, when we were completing the arrangement. It had reference to a conversation between Mr. Galloway and myself privately on the Saturday previously.

47,908. Not one of the occasions on which you complained?—No.

47,909. Then there was an interview on or about the 28th?—Yes.

47,910. What is your recollection of what took place then?—Mr. Galloway and Mr. Burges called at the central committee room in Bowl Alley Lane, and the conversation had reference entirely to the alleged infraction of the rule on both sides. I had made before that repeated complaints of the same kind. Mr. Burges and Mr. Galloway called to converse with me on the subject, and I gave Mr. Galloway the names of some of the houses and committee rooms where the infraction had taken place upon his side.

47,911. Can you give us them now?—It was in the Pottery district, which I spoke to him about at the time.

47,912. I want to see the extent of the information that you conveyed?—I mentioned two or three houses at that time.

47,913. Can you tell us now the names?—I cannot tell you all the names.

47,914. You mentioned the Pottery?—Yes; that is the South Myton district.

47,915. You mentioned them to him?—Yes; I gave him some instances, and one of those he said he had heard was so, but he would take care and have it altered, and the others he would inquire about. I remember that conversation well from another circumstance. I said to Mr. Galloway and Mr. Burges, "I think it right to tell you that we are in possession of some of your proceedings, which you must be very careful about."

47,916. You said so?—I said so to him; I said, "You have opened a committee room in King Street, the windows of which are all covered with whitewash from the top of the house to the bottom, and where we know you are paying voters for Mr. Clay at the last election." I said, "We have full information of your proceedings there, we know who pays the money, and we know how the tickets are issued, for we had one in our possession this morning; and you may depend on it whatever may be the result of this election, you will have to hear about it again, I caution you." They said scarcely anything about it. Mr. Burges seemed confused about it, and Mr. Galloway half smiled; and they left.

47,917. Mr. Burges seemed confused, and Mr. Galloway smiled?—Yes; Mr. Galloway half smiled and they left. I thought they should know that as a parting information for them.

47,918. Did Mr. Galloway seem surprised?—No, not at all.

47,919. Did he say something about your doings?—No, he did not do that.

47,920. He did not recriminate then?—No; he had not the chance.

47,921. He had the chance once before and used it?—He had the chance of making an allegation once before. I wish to be careful about that. He made no counter statement at all, none whatever.

47,922. What I want to know is whether he brought any counter accusation against you?—No, none at all.

47,923. I want to know how soon it was your party came to the resolution to employ a considerable number of runners after that agreement?—It would be after the dissolution of Parliament, and not before.

47,924. You adhere to the statement that the resolution was carried out so far as you are aware up to the dissolution of Parliament?—So far as I am aware, and I will tell you

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

why I think so; because I made it my practice to go round every night to the committee rooms, from six to nine o'clock, to visit every committee room, and I generally took one gentleman from the central committee. Mr. Thomas Ward Gleadow went with me, in order to see how the proceedings of each committee were conducted, and to give every information or assistance that we possibly could, and on those occasions I never found more runners employed or doorkeepers than we had agreed to employ; that was before the dissolution of Parliament.

47,925. Have you got any book, or paper, or document, which shows the exact statement of the number of persons you employed previous to the dissolution of Parliament?—I have not.

47,926. You have had it, I presume?—I have not.

47,927. When I address you, I address the whole blue party?—I can only answer so far as I know. Each district committee employed their own runners, and their own messengers. Each district committee paid them; they were paid by their applying for their money weekly from the chairman and his assistant financier, who gave them the money for the purpose, and they paid them themselves; therefore I have no means of knowing what number of runners they employed.

47,928. Surely people do not pay money without making some entries in a book?—They would do so, and present an account every week.

47,929. Have you any doubt that at some time or another there have been in existence documents, papers, and books which would contain a statement of the names of all the runners employed up to the dissolution of Parliament?—I have no doubt there have been such documents—there must have been such documents.

47,930. Have you made inquiries what has become of them?—I have not.

47,931. It would save an immense deal of time if we could have them?—I will tell you how you will get at it. Each committee every week made out an account of the money they wanted, for the purpose of paying the clerks, doorkeepers, and messengers, or the runners; that account was sent in to the central committee every week and presented to Mr. Harris, who acted as the assistant to Mr. Ward, and was checked by him, and the money paid by him from Mr. Ward to the chairman or deputy chairman of each committee, and they took the money and paid the parties themselves; and those accounts will be found in Mr. Harris or Mr. Ward's possession.

47,932. Will that show the gross amount?—It will show the number of persons employed each week.

47,933. It will not show the names?—No; but when you ask the deputy chairman of each, they can tell you who they were. I am sorry I cannot give you the information. I cannot give you the information you want.

47,934. Have any of the committee the means of making up such an account as will enable us to examine it at our leisure?—An account of the names of the several persons employed before the dissolution of Parliament, and after, and each week, and their names?

47,935. Yes. I want to keep them separate before the day of the dissolution of Parliament and subsequent?—I cannot tell whether they can or cannot, and I will tell you why I cannot, because I have not the accounts which were presented every week.

47,936. Have you not the materials, or have not your party rather the materials for making out a paid balance sheet?—I presume that the gentlemen themselves who presented the account of the runners employed will know who they were, and can make a return, but I have not the opportunity of doing so.

47,937. I wish to know whether those gentlemen have the means of doing the particular thing I ask?—I presume each chairman of each committee can do it.

47,938. What was done with the papers after the election?—Some were sent to me and some were not. I applied for several, and they were not sent to me. Those particular accounts to which you refer, were not left with me, they would be left with the chairman, because he had to pay the several accounts.

47,939. Do you know whether he has them now?—I do not know; I presume he has.

47,940. When were your payments concluded?—Every week they were made.

47,941. But when did you conclude paying for the election? how soon was it before you closed the accounts?—I should think it would be three weeks after that all the accounts were closed.

47,942. You think it was three weeks?—No; about three weeks or a month at the outside. They got all the accounts in as quick as they could, including the tradesmen's accounts, and other accounts of that kind. When I say closed, the last account that was paid was my own, and that was not paid at that time, but it was paid very shortly afterwards.

47,943. Have you seeh such a thing as the paid balance sheets of the week at the central committee?—I have.

47,944. Where are they now?—With Mr. Ward, I believe. I never kept any one of them; they were handed over to him at the time as his vouchers for the payments.

47,945. Have you heard that they have been destroyed?—I have never heard that.

47,946. Not until now?—Not until you put the question now.

47,947. All we know is that we have applied for them and have not got them?—All I can say is I can give no information about it. I can only give the circumstances that they go to.

47,948. We will trace them?—I tell you every week the accounts were presented to the central committee room for the payment of the messengers, doorkeepers, and clerks, at each committee room. The accounts were checked by Mr. Harris who assisted Mr. Ward in the financial operations. The accounts were taken by Mr. Harris to Mr. Ward, and the money was brought to the central committee room aud paid to the chairman or deputy chairman, who were to take it back to their own district committee rooms for the purpose of paying the persons whose names were put down in those lists; and not one of those lists have I ever kept in my possession; it was no part of my business to do so.

47,949. Were the persons employed upon a list?—I cannot tell.

47,950. Where would the names be?—They would have them down no doubt, the chairman and the deputy chairman.

47,951. On what paper would they have them?—I cannot tell that; they would have them in some minutes of their own proceedings; every committee was furnished at the commencement of the election with a book like this, for the purpose of making minutes of its own proceedings, and for the entries of the different persons then employed. Those books I have not got.

47,952. Were they furnished also with a cash book?—They were not; this is the only book sent to them to make minutes of the proceedings.

47,953. And did they get themselves cash books or balance sheets for the purpose of filling up, to keep an account of the separate payments?—I do not know indeed, I never saw them. I only know at the end of the week they produced a sheet of paper stating what they would require.

47,954. Was there an account kept at the committee which you were specially attached to yourself—any books or papers which contained the accounts of the payments to the clerks and messengers?—There was but it was taken to Mr. Ward—to his own private office, which was in the same street.

47,955. Did all the payments go through Mr. Harris's hands?—I cannot say that.

47,956. Or receive his sanction?—I cannot say that, but Mr. Harris assisted Mr. Ward.

47,957. Was Mr. Harris the treasurer?—He acted as a sort of financial assistant to Mr. Ward.

47,958. Mr. Harris and Mr. Ward were a financial sub-committee?—Yes, for matters in the town, and Henry Barkworth for matters out of the town; so that Mr. Henry Barkworth, or Mr. Harris, or Mr. Ward can give the fullest information on those points, I cannot; they can give it you. I think Mr. Henry Barkworth's finance matters were connected with the out-voters, but Mr. Harris was the general assistant in the finance matters in the town.

47,959. Was there any application book at all kept at the central committee?—Applications for runners do you mean?

47,960. Yes?—I have one here in the minute book.

47,961. They are made in the minute book are they?—Yes.

47,962. In a separate book?—No.

47,963. Are the names of all the persons employed at the central committee in that book?—I believe so.

47,964. Of all the persons who were employed?—Yes; except the last day of the election when we could not do that, and I will tell you why. The last two days of the election, the nomination day, and the election day, we were compelled to form a very extensive list of names for the purpose of carrying the polling returns between the eighteen polling booths and the nine district committee rooms, and one sub-committee room. For that purpose the preparations were rather elaborate, at the same time they tended to make the result more certain in ascertaining the correctness of the returns as expeditiously as possible.

47,965. Who made those arrangements?—Mr. Joseph Walker Pease and myself, and I can give you some notion of them. It was necessary in the first instance to have two central clearing houses for the reception of the returns of every polling booth, and to have slips taken off by a number of clerks to be sent from those two clearing houses to the central committee room, and corresponding slips sent to the other committee rooms, so that the proper officers and committee men at each place should have the fullest opportunity of knowing how fast the voting went on, and what voters had to be brought up.

47,966. How many men were employed?—I cannot tell you how many men were employed. I can tell you how many were engaged; the employment required upwards of 300 to do it.

47,967. And there were 300 so employed?—There were upwards of that. I made a calculation that it would take 432 to do it properly.

47,968. You are talking of the polling day?—The nomination day and the polling day.

47,969. You did not want the clearing houses for the nomination day?—They had to to be drilled into their work for the purpose; otherwise, they would not be ready for the work at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

47,970. A kind of rehearsal?—As events turned out, a very unnecessary one.

47,971. Who discovered this process, or this scheme for giving this tremendous employment?—I did.

47,972. How many did you say?—432. I will give you the way in which it was done. We had cards printed for every one of these clearing houses with the names of the messengers put upon them, and the names of the places they had to go to, and the name of the place they had to run from.

47,973. And that required a great deal of printing, as well?—Of course it did.

47,974. You seem to draw some distinction between those that were required, and those that were employed; you say 432 would be required?—Yes; more were required than were employed.

47,975. How many were employed?—The next morning, of those men that had been retained on the Wednesday, and drilled for the purpose, there were 300 of them minus; at 8 o'clock in the morning I had the staff to organize as I could.

47,976. Had they been paid?—No, of course not, not by us; not by the blues.

47,977. Did your plan require besides that number of men, a large quantity of printing?—Yes.

47,978. Did it require anything else?—Yes, it required a staff of clerks and a superintendent at each clearing house.

47,979. How many clerks do you think would be necessary for such a purpose?—I can tell you, at the Sculcoates clearing house there were two superintendents and six clerks.

47,980. 432 were required?—432 altogether.

47,981. Messsengers?—No runners.

47,982. Do you mean 432 including the clerks?—No, for this scheme.

47,983. And how many clerks?—First, I must tell you there were two central clearing houses.

47,984. About how many clerks?—At the Sculcoates clearing house there were 2 superintendents and 6 clerks, at the Hull and Myton clearing house 3 superintendents and 18 clerks; 6 clerks to each superintendent.

47,985. Were there separate rooms engaged for the purpose?—Yes; there were two supernumerary clerks at the central committee. And now let me explain why this was required.

47,986. We have got 432 and 31?—Yes; and I can give the particulars of the 432.

47,987. Give the gross number first?—463 and 14. There were 2 doorkeepers at each of the two clearing houses, that is 4; an additional doorkeeper at each of the district committee rooms, that is 9; and one doorkeeper at the out-voters' room.

47,988. Were there any more persons required of any sort?—No, except a solicitor, who undertook the charge of one of these rooms—Mr. Saxelbie; he consented to take the charge of the clearing house in Castle Street, and manage the 18 clerks.

47,989. It required a solicitor?—Mr. Pease and Mr. Saxelbie undertook the management of that, and another solicitor was employed for that time.

47,990. Did it require anything more?—No.

47,991. That would occasion an expenditure of money?—No; nothing, except the engagement of the room, and the refreshments for the men, while they were at work the whole time.

47,992. Then I make it out that it required an increase of force of 478?—Yes, that is it.

47,993. Besides that, there were the extra expenses; there would be the printing?—Yes; there were cards for the purpose of getting and securing admission to each of the rooms, which had to be printed.

47,994. Of the 478, how many were forthcoming upon the polling day?—Upwards of 300 were not to be found at the time—at half past seven in the morning, when these men were to be at their posts.

47,995. How many were at their posts on the nomination day, for drilling?—That I cannot tell you, because I was not there, nor have I heard, but they were engaged by each of the district committees for that purpose; the district committees had orders to provide a certain number for this special purpose.

47,996. Each district committee had to furnish a certain quota?—Yes, for this affair.

47,977. What have you heard was the number which actually underwent the drill?—That I do not know; I only had the returns made.

47,998. What was the quota of the central committee room?—I cannot answer that question; I only know the district committee rooms were called upon to provide some. I do not suppose we were to find any ourselves.

47,999. How many were each district committee to provide?—I cannot tell now; they would be divided among them.

48,000. A part of the plan was, that they were to be drilled on the nomination day for service on the polling day?—A part of the plan was that they were to be engaged on the nomination day.

48,001. To be drilled?—They were to be told what their duties would be; they were to be told you are to go at a certain time in the morning, and have a certain card given you, and that will tell you to go from a certain post, to a certain post as fast as you can run, and bring returns; and when you have left your return, you will have to take another return from that point to another point. The whole plan was arranged by cards.

48,002. And they received their instructions upon the nomination day?—Those were the instructions given to the committees to give them.

48,003. Did you hear any complaints that they did not give the instructions?—No; the door keepers did not do their duty. If they had all been encamped until the next morning, I dare say they would have been safe against the attacks of the enemy.

48,004. That was a weak part of the plan?—That plan we had no authority to do in law.

48,005. We have heard of a blue supper?—I have never heard of any blue supper during the election. I heard of a blue supper some six weeks before the election; I read it in the paper.

48,006. You heard no complaints of their not having attended to receive their instructions?—No.

48,007. But the next morning they were minus?—Yes.

48,008. There were not a hundred to be found?—No; and then I had to organize a staff from whatever source I could, for the purpose of carrying the messages backwards and forwards.

48,009. How many did you succeed in getting?—I could only tell you by reference to what was paid. I have got a list here.

48,010. How did you act? was there a person on horseback?—There was a person on horseback going about. I saw a minute which led me to suppose so. I do not know who made the observation, but there has been a gentleman spoken of as being a flying courier; instructions were sent off instantly at 8 o'clock in the morning, as soon as we found that no messenger came, and we had not got our runners,—messages were sent off. You must organize a force from whatever source you can; we must have the messages backwards and forwards and the committees had to set to work and find a force in their own neighbourhood as they could.

48,011. You had to organize them?—There was no organization, it was at an end then.

48,012. Your expression was just now that the next day you had to organize a force as well you could?—We had to form one as well as we could.

48,013. How many did yot get together?—I cannot tell you, because my business laid at the central committee room. Instructions were sent to the district to get as many as they could.

48,014. How many did you succeed in getting?—Of the original number not a hundred.

48,015. And then you had to get others?—Yes.

48,016. How many more beyond the hundred did you get?—I do not know.

48,017. Did you succeed in making up the whole, in getting the 300 more?—I cannot tell you; I will tell you why. I was not at the district committee rooms; I had enough to do to attend to the polling booths.

48,018. You did not go to make yourself acquainted with it?—Certainly not. I sent instructions to them, and said they must get up their own force as they could, it would be too late to have any particular attention on my part; they could only have the orders.

48,019. You thought the result of the election hinged on the successful carrying of it out?—Yes; supposing that force had been properly retained, and supposing they acted up to their work it would have made a great difference; it would have changed the election entirely.

48,020. It would have made a difference of 300 votes?—It might have done if they were all voters, certainly; one night changed the aspect of affairs, by some talismanic process.

48,021. When did you communicate this plan to the central committee?—I will hand in these cards which will show the system. (A bundle of printed cards was handed in.)

48,022. These are the cards the men received?—Yes, for going from room to room; and unless they possessed one of these cards after the election was over, they would not be paid. It answered two purposes; one as an admission card to the booths, or places to receive the lists or returns, and another for production to the committee at last, for the purpose of being paid for their services.

48,023. One card says, Mr. Bramley Moore, and Mr. Butler, messenger, number (blank), of 61 Wincolmlee. Then the man's name, the number (blank), "polling booth central." What does that mean?—To go from polling booth such a number, to the central committee.

48,024. Those furnished with a card in that form?—Yes.

48,025. And another to the deputy sheriff?—That is for admission to the deputy sheriff's booth.

48,026. Admit Mr. (blank), being a blank for the messenger's name, as attendant or runner for J. B. Moore and C. L. Butler; signed, John Crowther Metcalfe Harrison, Esq., Sheriff?—Yes; so that by that means, we could ensure the admission of our attendants there, and the other card was to prove that they had been engaged in this service.

48,027. And when were those cards given to the men?—Those cards were given to the men on the nomination day, or the day before; I do not know which. Those are cards only to the central committee room.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,028. But they are all of a similar form. Each messenger, or attendant, had two cards like each of those I have now read with his own name upon it?—Precisely.

48,029. One card for the purpose of getting into the sheriff's booth, the production of the other to get payment?—Yes; and those cards would not be delivered until the election day morning in the rooms; when the parties came they would be given those cards to go out with; they were ordered to be there at half seven o'clock.

48,030. Who filled them in?—They were filled in by the clerks in the committee rooms, or by my clerks at the time.

48,031. Upon what information?—Upon the information received from the district committees. My notion is that all these cards would be filled in at each district committee room.

48,032. So that the cards would be ready for the purpose, on that information?—Precisely; they were all prepared at the central committee or each district committee room for delivery on the morning of the day, half an hour before hand, for them to go to their work.

48,033. Each district committee, then, had a list from which they made these cards?—Doubtless they would have for their own guidance; we must have so many more ready to perform certain work, and to be in certain districts at a certain time.

48,034. Each of these men were to get their instructions upon the nomination day or the day before?—From the committee that appointed them.

48,035. Would he not get a card then?—No, he would not.

48,036. You said they were given on the nomination day?—The instructions were given to them, and cards would be given the morning of the election to the parties; it would not do to have the cards out two days before they were wanted.

48,037. It would take some hours, as the men were to be on duty at half-past seven?—They would not be wanted until eight; we dared not entrust those cards the night before to any persons, because if we did so they could be distributed indiscriminately, and we should not know whether distributed or not, and they were to be handed over in the morning as a card or passport to receive admission to the different booths or stations to perform their work.

48,038. Then they were to be paid of course for the two days?—That is 10s.

48,039. 5*s.* each day after the election?—Yes; but many were done so, especially those who assisted at the central committee room, because we had not a staff, because we had to organize a fresh staff in the morning, and they were paid only one day; in consequence of the defection of those parties engaged, we were obliged to organize a fresh staff in the morning.

48,040. How did you get a staff?—By the most extraordinary exertions.

48,041. What were the exertions?—The committees being ordered to get as many hands as they could to take care that they were running from this post to that. I need not describe to you that it creates an immense amount of confusion, but we had no alternative.

48,042. Were the cards that were distributed already prepared?—I do not know that they were; I gave the orders myself to the parties that were at the central committee room.

48,043. These were the cards that were made?—Yes; I have a bundle here that have been made as those cards.

48,044. How many have you there?—There are about fifty of them here, I think; these are all of the central committee room, if I mistake not.

48,045. These are all that have been made?—These are all that have been made that I know of.

48,046. At the central committee room?—Yes.

48,047. Were the cards prepared at the different committee rooms or all at the centra committee room?—The cards for the central room would be prepared at the central room; the cards for the other committee rooms were not prepared there. I have none of those. I have no doubt at all that they were handed in to the parties who had to pay them for their services, when they got the amount of money from the chairman to pay the different runners engaged at each district committee; those are the only cards I have, and those I produce to show the system.

48,048. Before the cards were distributed to the men, were they prepared at the central committee room, or at each district committee?—At the central for the central, and at the district for the district, because they were engaged.

48,049. Were they sent to the district?—No; we never saw them afterwards; we got these all printed to begin with by the central committee.

48,050. And sent them in blank?—Yes; to the district committee rooms.

48,051. How many were there printed?—I do not know; I cannot tell.

48,052. Who printed them?—I cannot tell you that; there were several printers engaged in the town, I do not know who printed them.

48,053. Are you sure those at the central committee room were not issued until the morning?—Those at the central room were not, because they were filled in the morning, and the staff organized in the morning so far as I may use the term organization under such circumstances.

48,054. Who were employed at the central room to run in the quest of persons to supply the vacancies caused by the defaulters?—Several parties.

48,055. Can you tell us any of them?—I cannot.

48,056. Surely you can tell us some one?—I cannot.

48,057. Were they members of the committee?—They were partly members of the committee, and some were not; for instance at the central committee they would have to endeavour to collect them from their own set; at that time I had too much to attend to, finding myself entirely deprived of the services of so many who had been engaged for that purpose; I had too much to do for the purpose of getting it done as fast as I could, without paying particular attention to who did it, but I cannot remember the names now.

48,058. Are you sure you cannot remember any names?—Yes; George Steeple was one; he was an active man; he would be sure to be engaged in getting up the forces.

48,059. As to Ransom?—Ransom was my clerk. I do not know whether he was or was not.

48,060. Steeple?—I have no doubt Steeple would book for a great many.

48,061. Where is the book from which these cards were made, or the paper?—I do not know that there is any.

48,062. You told us it could not be made without it?—Yes; I will tell you why: I remember when those cards were issued from the central committee room, there were persons engaged as they came into the room, and these were filled up, and sent up to their posts.

48,063. Those are the persons who supplied the places of the defaulters?—Precisely.

48,064. I want to know where is the book from which the parties originally attended to the duty were taken?—I do not know.

48,065. You have already told us they were made from the book?—I have said that each committee would make it from some list, or a book

48,066. I am speaking of the central committee?—They would make it from their own lists, but where those lists are I do not know, nor do I know that I ever saw it.

48,067. You were the principal party engaged in it; it was a pet project of your own?—Yes, so far as the project was carried through it was so; but I have no notion of where the book is, if there was such a thing, any more than a stranger.

48,068. Who kept the application book of the central committee?—It was left on the table for any person to fill in the name of any member of the committee who did send.

48,069. It was not made from that book?—I cannot say whether it was or not.

48,070. Would the person be appointed from that book?—I cannot tell you.

48,071. Unless there was some check, how would you know who the persons were who were there?—I know those cards were pink on that morning.

48,072. I am not talking of those particular pieces of card; I am now going back to the time when the original cards were prepared for the purpose of being issued. You did not postpone it until the last possible moment, who you should employ? you carefully considered the names of the persons you should employ?—I cannot say that.

48,073. Have you any doubt of it?—Oh no; we had to appoint a large force.

48,074. You did not leave it until the last moment, until half past seven in the morning?—It was done the day before.

48,075. Who did it?—I would take time; it was done by my clerks, and partly by the district clerks.

48,076. From what materials?—Only by getting the information of such persons as were willing to be engaged as runners.

48,077. That would appear from some book?—Yes; but I have not any book.

48,078. Were there any such books?—I have not such a book; I never saw it.

48,079. How could it be done without?—You ask me to account for that which I do not know.

48,080. I ask you to account for the absence of a book which you said you could not have gone on without; you began by saying it was impossible to carry it intoeffect without that book?—I began by saying you could not do this without having the list made of the persons to be filled in, so and so; still I have not that list, and I do not know where it is, nor do I know I ever saw it.

48,081. Where was the list taken from?—I cannot tell you.

48,082. You knew the course of the business?—The course of business was that each district committee was requested to furnish——

48,083. Not the district, but I ask as to the central committee?—We had to get information from the district committees for the purpose.

48,084. The men that were employed from the central committee, where did their names appear?—I do not know; we had to procure them.

48,085. Do you not know how they were prepared? what was the course?—It was in this way: the returns would come in from different committee rooms to say that certain parties would be wanted for the district committee rooms, for the purpose of being engaged by them for the district committee rooms, and the central. I had under me two active intelligent clerks who carried the matter through.

48,086. Who were they?—M. Rossindale was one, and Mr. Fowler was the other.

48,087. How did they proceed?—I cannot tell you; they received the orders to get it done along with the others, and all they had to do was to see that the matter was going on right.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,088. How many different persons were employed in making out these?—I cannot tell you.

48,089. Were there 10,000?—Not to my knowledge. I can tell you how many clerks I had in my own establishment, and the central committee room.

48,090. Many were employed in the morning; there are nine before me in nine different handwritings?—I have no doubt all the clerks engaged would be employed filling up them at the time when told to do it; we had only half an hour to fill them all up, and get it done as well as we could.

48,091. They would take these names out of some book or paper?—No; they were brought by Mr. Steeple or some person or other; they were put down in a book.

48,092. I want to know this; when this plan was resolved upon?—A few days before.

48,093. How many do you call a few?—I cannot say to a week.

48,094. It might have been a fortnight?—My impression was that the whole plan, I am satisfied it was arranged after the dissolution of Parliament, and therefore there were only ten days for the whole concern, I think, to the best of my recollection.

48,095. When was it resolved upon? I understand you to say the plan was invented by you about the time of the dissolution?—Yes; I had some conversation with a very active electioneerer, Mr. Turnbull, on the best mode of preventing the confusion consequent upon the getting the progress of the voting; one object was to keep the central committee room as clear from the rest of all the communications as possible, by having a limited number, but we had to have eighteen sets of messengers coming to us every half hour with the returns.

48,096. That is not an answer to my question exactly. I want to know simply the question of date—when it was that this was invented by you?—I should say it would be about a week before the election, as far as I can remember.

42,097. When was it resolved upon?—I cannot fix the date of it.

48,098. Was it resolved upon the same time you suggested it?—I think it was or within a day or two afterwards.

48,099. Was the suggestion submitted in writing to the committee?—I believe the message was sent in writing to the committee, requesting them to furnish the names of such persons.

48,100. At the central committee?—I do not know that it was in writing; I think the probability is it would not be so.

48,101. Was there a discussion about it?—Yes.

48,102. Were you present?—Yes; Joseph Walker Pease and I had an arrangement.

48,103. What was said about it in the discussion? was any observation made by the committee, or any member of it?—I cannot remember that there was; the question of arrangement was left to them to carry through, and I think Mr. Turnbull spoke upon it as being a very desirable plan; that is the gentleman who first spoke to me upon the subject.

48,104. Did anybody see that this was very early applied?—I cannot remember; it must have been within the last week, because the polling booths were not fixed until after the 30th of June.

48,105. Then it was in the last week?—Yes.

48,106. And then it was discussed?—Yes.

48,107. Was it resolved upon immediately?—It was resolved that it should be done, and Mr. Pease and I had to arrange the plan, and we did so.

48,108. Was that the first commencement of any increase of the staff?—No; I think not.

48,109. When was the staff first increased?—After the dissolution of Parliament.

48,110. Immediately on the dissolution of Parliament?—Immediately upon the dissolution of Parliament I think we increased our staff either one or two for the purpose of carrying messages.

48,111. Were they all increased?—Throughout the whole of the books, I believe they were all increased by one.

48,112. By one messenger?—By one messenger.

48,113. Are you sure it was not more than two?—I cannot say; they may have done so without my knowledge.

48,114. How many were there at your own?—I think we had four originally, and then we had six, that is, at the general committee room. Now I have got the names of the messengers in the Castle Street clearing house; those are they who were engaged in the morning, and who, I believed, were paid for their services (handing a list in).

48,115. Where?—They were paid at the room itself.

48,116. Where were these engaged?—They were engaged for the South Myton; I think you will find the heading upon it.

48,117. How much were they paid? 10*s.* each?—I believe so.

48,118. Who paid them?—They would be paid at the room, most likely I think, by Mr. Robert Ash, who was one of the sub-committee appointed to look after that; he and Mr. Pease were together at the same place. I will tell you how they were paid. Mr. Robert Ash presented to me his account, stating the amount of money owing to these parties, and I sent that to the chairman ; the chairman sent the money to Mr. Ash, and Mr. Ash paid them.

48,119. Is this the South Myton?—It is called the Hull and Myton clearing house ; there were two clearing houses at the time.

48,120. There would be similar lists at the general clearing house?—I believe so, but I never saw it.

48,121. Who would have to pay them?—Mr. Turnbull.

48,122. Who would have had the management of the other clearing house?—You asked me a question what they were paid. I do not know the amount paid to them ; whatever amount was paid, it was paid by Mr. Ash.

48,123. You understood it was 10*s.*?—I understood just now it was only 5*s.*, for that particular purpose.

48,124. That is, the persons only employed that day?—Yes.

48,125. The others were to have 10*s.*?—Yes, for the two days if employed ; therefore, I only give the information second hand.

48,126. I understood you to say that the original people, had they attended, would have got 10*s.*—those that attended and were originally got at, but the people who were fetched in from the high ways and bye ways only got 5*s.*?—Yes, those that enlisted that morning at the central committee room were paid 5*s.*

48,127. Were they all defaulters?—We had scarcely any ; the cards you see there were filled up that morning by the clerks.

48,128. Had you the cards filled up ready for the other persons?—I do not know ; I believe they were.

48,129. Have you any doubt about it?—I have no moral doubt ; I do not know it as a certainty ; they were filling up cards for the purpose.

48,130. Can there be the least doubt the cards were filled up in the evening of the nomination day, ready for the morning?—I have no doubt.

48,131. What would become of those cards?—They would be sent to the different district rooms, but where they are I do not know.

48,132. I ask of the cards for your own committee room?—I do not know ; there were a great number of cards that were distributed that were useless ; those that were useful were made and kept ; all those cards of course would be used and paid upon, and the others would be useless.

48,133. What would be done with the cards of the people who became defaulters that were ready filled up?—They never got them.

48,134. That is hardly the reason ; I ask where they are now?—They would be destroyed, I presume. I have not got them ; they were returned to me, and would be utterly useless.

48,135. Did you send them in blank in to the different district committee rooms to fill up, or were they filled up?—I cannot tell you.

48,136. You have told us this, that they were distributed at each district committee room and filled up there?—And my belief is this, that all the cards were sent to them in the first instance, and then the district committees would have to fill up those for their own district ; that is my impression, and that is my belief.

48,137. Attend to me. Did you send to each district committee sufficient for the number that they were to furnish?—I have no doubt that that would be the case.

48,138. Where would they get cards in the places of those which had become useless by the persons who had defaulted?—If they were in blank they would fill them up themselves.

48,139. You have already told us these were filled up the night before ready for delivery the following morning?—Yes.

48,140. As the people defaulted, consequently the cards were useless?—Yes.

48,141. Where did they get the fresh cards?—I do not know that they got fresh cards.

48,142. There is not an erasure upon any one of these?—Those are for the central committee rooms ; those are the cards we paid upon ourselves.

48,143. How many were there printed?—I do not know.

48,144. Did you supply more cards to the district committees, or an equivalent?—My impression is, that we should send to them a certain proportion for each district committee room, with a request that they should get them filled up.

48,145. You knew how many each district would require?—We knew we should want a certain number altogether.

48,146. Your system was such, that you knew the day before the nomination day precisely how many each district committee would furnish to make up the exact number of 478?—I believe the plan was this,—the cards are only filled up with the names and the numbers of the votes, and the places they had to go to would be filled up in the central committee room, and the name of the person to be left blank ; I sent to the district committee and they would fill in the names of the persons after they receive them, but what became of the cards, I do not know ; I have never seen them.

48,147. The committees would have the cards filled up with the people's names?—They ought to have had.

48,148. And no doubt they had?—I presume they had.

48,149. Those cards became useless by the men's not attending?—Certainly.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,150. Because you would not deliver Mr. Smith Mr. Jones' card, where did they get the other cards in the hurry of the moment at about half past seven, when they found themselves without cards?—I do not know that they got any more cards.

48,151. Did you send them new cards on the polling day?—I do not know that I did.

48,152. Where did they get them?—They would have to pay the runners by entries upon the lists.

48,153. Do you mean to say they had no cards?—I do not say so.

48,154. You practically do say that?—I do not, excuse me.

48,155. I want to know had they separate pieces of card supplied to them for the purpose of making use of them?—I cannot say, because I did not see them.

48,156. Who settled the quota?—Mr. Pease and I went through them, and settled the quota.

48,157. And surely you can tell us what each district would furnish?—We should have to divide by the number of committee rooms there were in the district.

48,158. And give each an equal number?—Yes.

48,159. Would that be by dividing 478 by eight or nine, whatever it was?—By nine; they may have had a surplus sent to them for anything I know, in order to fill in the surplus for anything I know, or can tell; we prepared them according to our plan so far as the names of these clearing houses were concerned.

48,160. You expected that the plans would work well?—Yes.

48,161, The result is that it broke down?—Yes, for want of men.

48,162. You anticipated the breaking down, and had double the number of cards that were necessary?—You are asking that which I cannot answer.

48,163. If I understand you, at the central committee room the cards were all completed ready for distribution at half past seven?—Yes, and we had blank cards in our place, and we filled them up with the names of persons as they came in, and sent them out.

48,164. Now go back a little. Did you receive occasional applications in writing from an influential class of voters, desiring people to be employed as runners, and the like at the election?—I believe applications were made from persons, but they were always invariably referred to the several districts to which they belonged.

48,165. I ask as to your own?—I cannot say we had many; but doubtless, we had some.

48,166. A great many?—I cannot say that.

48,167. What was the course of business with respect to them?—The persons that generally applied were persons that came themselves and said, "Will you put us down as runners?" Our answer is, "We don't want any more at present, but we will enter your names in the book." And so we entered them in the book until Parliament was dissolved.

48,168. Did you enter all who applied?—All who applied we put down; we either put them down, or said what district do you belong to; and if we had required any we should have referred them to that district; all that belonged to our district we put down.

48,169. Were there others who sent to the several districts?—Yes.

48,170. Did you make memorandums of the applications made by gentlemen of influence, supposed to be able to influence voters, for such a purpose as that?—I cannot say without reference to the memorandum which I have here. Here is Thomas Richardson, recommended by John Chapman; and Thomas Glowerwood, Scale Lane, recommended by Mr. Oldfield; doubtless, that was so.

48,171. Would those be brought before the committee?—I do not know that they would.

48,172. Who would they be brought before?—No one that I am aware of because the book is laid before the committee for examination, whenever they chose.

48,173. Be so good as to look at that letter, and tell me what was the course of business taken on that letter (handing the letter). Who is that gentleman?—He is a solicitor in this town, employed by me to look after a certain class of voters.

48,174. Which class of voters was he to look after?—The pilots.

48,175. He is the son of a pilot, I understand, himself?—I do not know that he is the son of a pilot, he is a relation.

48,176. Read it out.—

"DEAR SIR,

"Stray, the tailor, corner of Salthouse Lane, a client of mine, has, he tells me, five voters at his disposal, and I can see that he is evidently wavering. I have spoken to our client, Mr. Cutt, in the Market Place, who is a large creditor of Stray's, on the subject, and he has seen him, but it will be as well for you to ascertain who else knows him, with a view to bring further influences to bear. My partner's father is very likely to go with us this election. He is at present from home, but on his return, which will be in a day or two, it will be desirable to secure his co-operation as he has some influence in Myton, where I understand you are weak at present.

"Yours truly,

"Parliament Street, Tuesday afternoon. "ROBERT BELL."

48,177. What would be the course of proceeding upon receiving such a communication as that?—I should make a communication to some of the committee.

48,178. Have you any recollection of that letter?—No, it is one of many.

48,179. What would be the course of proceeding on the receipt of such a letter, written by a gentleman who has got five votes at his disposal?—That letter would be referred to the Lowgate Ward committee where Stray, the tailor, resided.

48,180. That would be the course of proceeding?—Yes.

48,181. What would be the course of proceeding with reference to where it was alluded to that the man was in difficulties?—We should leave it to the discretion of the chairman or deputy chairman of the committee of the ward to which the letter referred.

48,182. Look at that letter, and tell me whether you can tell me what was done upon that letter?—It is from Mr. Edwin Davis; I do not know who it is to.

48,183. It comes from you, out of your custody?—Yes, all the correspondence I sent en masse without selection. "I beg to call your attention to the meeting of several freemen voters in the neighbourhood of Edgar Street and Alfred Street, who meet for the purpose of making a stand for fees to vote; Huttons, Hessle Road, and at the Crown in Wincolmlee, appear to be the places they hold such meetings. Your kind attention will oblige yours, &c., Edwin Davis." This is the first time I have seen this letter.

48,184. What would be the course of proceeding upon the receipt of such a letter as that?—It would be referred to the chairman of the committee of the South Myton ward to attend to.

48,185. What do you mean by attend to it?—They would have to see the person, and see what it was he meant; and either the management referred to the general committee, or to adopt such course as they thought fit to adopt.

48,186. What committee would it go to?—To the southern division of the Myton district, the committee of which Dr. Bell is the chairman at present.

48,187. We have heard a little about that party,—one was here yesterday. Do you know the people who met at the Crown, headed by a man of the name of William Jefferson?—I did not know there was such a place as the Crown, or there was such a person.

48,188. Do you not know the party that met there?—Certainly not.

48,189. Do you know anything of Jefferson?—I did not know his name.

48,190. You never heard of his name—William Jefferson?—No, I never saw that letter before; I have no recollection of seeing it before.

48,191. During the election you heard there were a good many parties, such as described in that letter?—I have heard of reports.

48,192. A great number of them?—No, I did not.

48,193. Not of people, but of numbers of "lots," as they have been sometimes called—of people meeting at different public houses for the purpose of selling themselves?—Not during the election, I did not hear it.

48,194. But during the contest?—No, not during the contest.

48,195. Had not you heard of them?—I had heard of such things, but not often.

48,196. Was it discussed in the committee what was to be done with these?—I have no recollection of matters not mentiond in committee; I know very well what would be the course of procedure, and I am sure it would be referred invariably to the several committees of the districts.

48,197. I suppose what occurred in your own district?—We did not interfere; the central committee is not a district, but it has the superintendence of the whole.

48,198. It would be sent to its own district?—Yes, it would.

48,199. Do you know what their course of proceeding was?—I do not.

48,200. Did you never attend the district committees?—Every night I used to go there to see what was going on.

48,201. There is a gentleman, whose name has been mentioned, who knows something more than you do about that, Mr. Croft; would it be any part of his duty?—There were two Crofts, William and Henry Croft.

48,202. Either of them?—I have no doubt in the world if a communication was made to him, it would be part of his duty to attend to it, that is, if it was in his beat; and he divided the district into canvassing districts.

48,203. What I want to know is, was your attention, up to the close of the election, ever called to meetings of that kind of persons such as those who are referred to in that letter? do you recollect that?—I have no recollection of having my attention called to any meeting of the kind.

48,204. You answer the question in the very words that I make use of: Did your attention ever fall upon it without being called to it?—I was once stopped by a person in the street, who told me there was a number of persons prepared to vote; he told me that there were 120 men. The man had the appearance of a sailor—I do not know who he was—he stopped me near the central committee room. And I said, I have nothing to say to you, I cannot attend to you.

48,205. That is one instance; now I want to know whether you ever heard of these meetings of parties during the contest?—I have an impression that I have heard of such meetings on one occasion or more, but I never paid any attention to them, and I never attended to them.

48,206. Were they discussed at the committee?—No, not at the central committee.

48,207. Did you hear of such parties having been engaged by your party?—Never.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,208. Or having been purchased?—No, I did not, never.

48,209. Have you heard of Nicholson?—No, I do no remember the name.

48,210. You never heard of him? do you mean that you never heard up to this time, of anybody of the name of Nicholson. You do not know William Henry Nicholson?—I know a person of the name of Nicholson a voter; he is a sailmaker, a respectable man.

48,211–2. I say nothing against his respectability?—I never heard of any person of the name of Nicholson purchasing votes.

48,213. A man of the name of William Henry Nicholson?—I have not the least notion to whom you refer; I know a Mr. Nicholson a sailmaker, he is Robert Nicholson.

48,214. The man I mean is a sailmaker, and a dealer in votes?—Where does he live? The person I mean lives at the corner of Myton Gate, and keeps a shop.

48,215. The person I mean is as notorious as the mayor of the town, he lives in English Street?—I do not know such a person; I never heard of the name that I know of before now.

48,216. Did you ever hear of Wharam's party by report?—Since the election, but not previous.

48,217. You never hear of it before?—No.

48,218. Did you ever hear during the election, among other modes of obtaining peoples votes, that of obtaining them the means to emigrate?—Yes, I have.

48,219. Was that the subject of discussion during the committees?—It was discussed before me, but not before the general committee.

48,220. Do you remember receiving a letter from Mr. James Pease on the the subject?—Will you all you allow me to look at it, if you please?

48,221. Yes; read it (handing it).

"SIR, "East Sculcoates Ward.

"In the absence of Mr. Turnbull, I write for information on the following:—What answer is be given to voters who are desirous of being sent out by government to Australia; we have several cases, and we hear that the orange men are promising to have them sent out. Now the government are in want of men to send out, can we not forward the interests of these men?

"I remain, Sir,

"Yours truly,

"JAMES R. PEASE."

I do not know to whom this letter is addressed; I remember the subject being discussed.

48,222. Can you tell me what was the answer that would be gived to that?—That it could not be done; that is the answer that I would advise, under the circumstances.

48,223. Now do you mean to say that it was not done?—I do not know.

48,224. Can you pledge your oath that it was not done?—I pledge my oath that I do not know that it was done.

48,225. I do not ask that; I observe that whenever pressed you shrink into that word?—Yes, and I intend to do so, as far as my oath is concerned.

48,226. I ask to your belief?—If you ask me as to my belief, I answer I have no belief; I cannot have the least belief upon the subject.

48,227. Have you not heard that it was?—I have not heard that it was.

48,228. Have you not heard it proposed to be done in the committee room?—No.

48,229. And you pledge your oath that at no meeting in the committee room was that subject, I will not say resolved upon by the committee, but was that singular project not entertained?—I have said it was discussed, and I gave my opinion upon it.

48,230. Look and see if you can find any minute in the committee upon it.—I will look through; I have no recollection of any decision being come to and entered upon the proceedings at all. I know perfectly well what my opinion upon the point was, and that was expressed.

48,231. Do you think there is any entry of it?—I should think there is not.

48,232. That brings me to this question, I want to know why not?—We made no minutes; these are minutes of proceedings and discussions at the central committee when all the committees met.

48,233. You have just told us it was the subject of discussion at the central committee?—True; but it does not necessarily follow that it should be the subject of entry. I do not say that this book contains an account of all the proceedings of the committee.

48,234. Of your own committee?—Certainly not. I am aware there is a great deal; this contains the result of resolutions passed when the district committees assembled with the central committee.

48,235. Was there another minute book?—No; this was the only one.

48,236. Was there no minute made then, of what took place when the district committees were not present?—I do not know that there was.

48,237. Do you know that there was not?—I do not know that there was not.

48,238. And you do not know that there was?—I do not indeed; my impression was that the central committee was sitting from morning till night discussing all sorts of subjects. We made no formal minutes of our proceedings as to what we did, and when the district committees assembled we made the minutes and the resolution passed there and entered in here; but as to what passed at the central committee from morning to night minutes were not made; we should never have got through the business if it was so.

48,239. Was there any decision upon this discussion?—I have not the least recollection upon the point; I only know the matter was discussed, and I gave my opinion upon it.

48,240. You do not know whether they decided to do it or not?—No.

48,241. Can you recollect what the amount of printing was?—I never knew the amount, I never saw it.

48,242. Was it considerable?—It was a large amount.

48,243. Did it include the advertisements, hand bills, and so on?—I should presume that the printing bills would be separate from the advertising bills.

48,244. Did you advertise the addresses in all the newspapers?—I think they are advertised in one; I do not think they were advertised in both. I do not know the addresses were advertised in all the newspapers; I know they were advertised in the "Hull Packet."

48,245. Is the Hull Packet a newspaper?—Yes.

48,246. That is what I asked you?—I do not know that they were advertised in all the newspapers.

48,247. Were there more then one?—I do not know that.

48,248. Was it for the purpose of economy?—I cannot tell.

48,249. The Hull Packet is a paper in your own interest?—It is.

48,250. I presume you would want to make your opponents converts by the admirable addresses that were published. Did you advertise them in only one newspaper?—I do not know whether we advertised in one or more; there was a sub-committee appointed to attend to all the printing matters, with which I did not interfere.

48,251. Do you remember whether there was any application made on behalf of the large printing establishments?—I have some recollection of an application being made for the insertion of addresses in the "Hull Advertiser" newspaper.

48,252. Look if that is it (handing a letter)?—This is the one.

48,253. The "Hull Advertiser" is a newspaper, I believe, having extensive circulation in this town?—It has, very; my impression is that it has the most extensive circulation.

48,254. Now read it.—

"On behalf of Mr. Collins, allow me to solicit an order for the insertion of the addresses of Messrs. Moore and Butler, and as you favoured the "Herald" last week, Mr. C. thinks you can have no objection to give him the alternate week.

"Your favourable reply will oblige,

"Your obedient servant,

"THOMAS STOW."

"Mr. R. Wells.

Addressed to myself.

48,255. Was that application granted?—I will not pledge my memory as to that, to say whether it was or was not; I think it was not to the best of my recollection. I mentioned this to the committee.

48,256. Look at the top.—There is "No" on it; I thought it was number.

48,257. Whose writing is that?—I think it is my own writing.

48,258. Why should you not advertise in the paper of the larger circulation in Hull?—Because I obeyed the orders of the committee I received on the subject, when I spoke to them.

48,259. What did you tell the committee?—I should write a letter and present it to them.

48,260. Why would they not advertise in the paper that had the largest circulation?—They gave no reason to me.

48,261. I should like your reason?—So far as I was personally concerned, I would have advertised in all the papers freely.

48,262. Did you advise the committee to do that?—I would have done it.

48,263. Did you?—I did not.

48,264. Why not?—I can give no reason why I did not; I would have done so if I had asked for directions.

48,265. You say you would have done it, and therefore you invite me to ask the question if you did?—I say so far as I was personally concerned, I should have had no objection.

48,266. Why did you not?—For the plain reason, I handed it over to the printing committee and they said, "No."

48,267. That is not an answer to my question; you said you would have done it yourself?—I said that I would.

48,268. You would have advised it?—I have not said I would advise it, but I would so far as I was personally concerned; I should have no personal objection to do so.

48,269. No personal objection to do it?—There was no compulsion upon me to do it, I was not bound to advertise in this paper or that; I handed it over to the gentlemen who had the power to give the directions.

48,270. I want to know why you did not advise them?—Because it was no part of my duty to advise them.

48,271. Was the reason because it was a paper of different politics?—Not so far as I was concerned.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,272. You said if you had had a voice in it, you would have advised the insertion?—Yes.

48,273. Did you advise it?—No.

48,274. You did not mention what your opinion was?—Certainly not; I handed it over to the committee.

48,275. Who were the printing committee?—Thomas Wood, Gleadow, and another gentleman. Mr. Thomas Wood himself was generally in the chair at the general meetings.

48,276. Who else was?—Here is a resolution here of who they were to be:—"Mr. Harris, Mr. Gleadow, and Mr. Henry Barkworth, be a sub-committee to decide upon orders for printing.

48,277. You simply write the word "No" against your own judgment?—Yes, that is my writing.

48,278. Thinking it ought to be done, you wrote "No?"—I should write "No" when I received the order; it is my business to do so.

48,279. Was there any separate account kept of the ordinary, as distinguished from the extraordinary expenses of the election?—I do not know; I did not keep any accounts of the election.

48,280. That is not an answer to my question?—I cannot answer the question any further.

48,281. Have you heard whether there was?—I never heard. Mr. Wood kept all the accounts of the expenses of the election, and how he kept them I do not know.

48,282. Have you heard that there was any separate account kept of the ordinary weekly expenses from any other?—I have said that the ordinary weekly expenses were kept in lists, and handed in to the chairman, who paid upon it.

48,283. When the election was over, were they all united?—I do not know, nor did I hear; I cannot answer the question.

48,284. Just look at that letter (handing a letter).—This is the 9th of July.

48,285. The day after the election?—Yes; it is a letter bearing my own signature at the bottom.

48,286. Is not that the original letter?—No; this is not my signature.

48,287. This is a letter, in which you request to be furnished with the ordinary expenses?—Precisely so; and that account of the ordinary expenses was sent every week, and paid every week.

48,288. I understand you to say that you had nothing to do with the expenses?—You ask me if there was any separate account of the ordinary expenses, and the general account kept.

48,289. And you, instead of answering, said you had nothing to do with it?—No. You spoke of the accounts; I did not keep the accounts. These are papers merely sent to me as the mere instrument—the mere conduit pipe, as it were. When they came to me, they were handed over to the finance committee of the election, to deal with; and I should see no more of them, as their agent; they were placed in the proper course.

48,290. I want to know the meaning of the word "separate," distinguished from the use of the word additional?—I say here, "send the account of your ordinary weekly ex-"penditure or liability, up to, and inclusive of, to-morrow." The ordinary weekly expenditure consisted of the clerks, and doorkeepers, and runners, and pens, ink, and paper. I suppose that was brought up to the end of the week.

48,291. Now what is separate?—"And also an account of all additional expenses and liabilities, "with lists of names, of messengers, or runners, engaged up to, and inclusive "of, yesterday."

48,292. I want to know what is that additional that you wrote for?—Under the head of additional expenses, would be included, no doubt, the living of the committee rooms themselves; any flags or colours they may have had for the committee rooms, and expenses of the gentlemen engaged canvassing, which they may have charged.

48,293. Look at the words.—The words are, "additional expenses or liabilities, with "lists of names, of messengers, or runners, engaged up to, and inclusive of, yesterday."—the ordinary weekly expenditure. There are a certain number of runners every week engaged, not exceeding a certain number, but on the last two days we knew perfectly well they would have a great many more, which we required to be furnished with.

48,294. Were those accounts, which you there wrote for, furnished?—I have no doubt they were.

48,295. You are the person who writes for them?—I have no doubt they were furnished.

48,296. What has become of them?—They would be handed to the chairman.

48,297. What has become of them?—I do not know what has become of them.

48,298. Did you receive them?—They would be received, and handed over to the chairman.

48,299. Mr. Ward?—Mr. Ward.

48,300. Do you remember writing for them?—Yes; and I tell you why and when I wrote that letter. I wrote it as the representative of the committee; the returns would come in to the central committee, and be dealt with by them, examined by them, and handed over to the chairman to settle. I have none of these returns myself.

48,301. You have no doubt of it they were sent in?—I have not the least doubt that they were all sent in.

48,302. I have mentioned to you several papers we have been calling for; had you communicated to Mr. Ward or Mr. Harris, that these papers were required by us?—I have not.

48,303. You received a letter requiring you to do so?—I received a letter, requiring me to produce all such papers as that.

48,304. You were asked to supply all the papers relating to the election?—All that I had, and all that I could get.

48,305. Have you not spoken to Mr. Ward about what papers were in existence?—I told Mr. Ward he would have to produce all papers connected with the expenditure; and he said he should be prepared to produce all connected with the expenditure that he had.

48,306. Did he say he had them?—I do not know what he said.

48,307. You mentioned one additional committee room, added for the purpose of paying the out-voters?—Yes.

48,308. Can you give me the date that it was added?—I did not know there was such a one, until I heard they were getting paid; therefore, I thought they would only be appointed the last day of the election.

48,309. Was there any other additional committee room besides that one?—There was a sub-committee at the Market Place ward committee room, appointed at the request of some parties, I do not know who; and to be held in Fish Street, a few days before the election.

48,310. Are those all the additions that were made?—I know of none others; the North Myton Committee asked for leave to appoint one; and the West Sculcoates leave to appoint an additional committee room, in each of the districts, a day or two before the election; and leave was granted to appoint another committe room. They said they could not get through their work, and one was appointed at the Black Horse, in Carr Lane, and the other somewhere in Charles Street, I do not know where.

48,311. Are those the only additional committee rooms that you are aware of?—Those are the only additional committee rooms, sanctioned by the central committee.

48,312. And that were appointed, is my question?—I have heard that there was a committee room in this town not appointed by the central committee; but that, I believe, was a volunteer, of the existence of which I did not know for several days, held at the South End, near Mr. Bannisters'.

48,313. Were there any more by the authority of the central committee?—None, that I know of.

48,314. How many additional committee rooms besides? You say you heard that there was one next to Mr. Bannister's?—There was one that I heard of, but not for several days after it had been engaged, which I understood was a volunteer committee room, in which I never was.

48,315. What do you mean by a volunteer committee?—I understood there had been a party engaged at the last election for the South Myton ward, who were very anxious to carry on a committee room of their own, and had made one of their own, and would do so again. I never went into it; the committee never attended it, and the person who had the charge of this, was a person of the name of Legitt.

48,316. He organized the committee?—If there was a committee, he organized it himself.

48,317. Next door to Mr. Bannister's?—Next door but one to Mr. Bannister's. I know it was between Mr. Bannister's and Brownlow's.

48,318. When did you first hear of it?—The first time I heard of it was, to the best of my recollection, the last week in June.

48,319. Was it organized by any resolution or authority of the committee?—It was not.

48,320. Give us altogether how many there were organized by the authority of the central committee?—There were nine to begin with; one, two or three days before the election at Fish Street, that is ten; and another in Charles Street, or Worship Street, was eleven, and I do not know of any other; it was somewhere in that district, as auxiliary to the recognized committee room of the West Sculcoates district

48,321. Were those done by the district committees, or by the authority of the central committee?—They were done, I believe, by the authority of the central committee.

48,322. Give us the date of the Fish Street one; when was that?—I will see if I can find it down. I do not remember it; I remember it was done two or three days before the election.

48,323. That will do. Was the authority given for that, two or three days before the election?—It was.

48,324. And the one in Charles Street?—That would be about the same time.

48,325. Was there a sub-committee formed for the purpose of meeting there?—There was none formed by the central committee. I believe they divided themselves, to make their own sub-committee for the purpose.

48,326. It was not a sub-committee, but a divisional committee?—Yes; in Carr Lane I know there was one, and Mr. Ellerman had the care of it.

48,327. Carr Lane is one of your committee rooms?—That is an additional one.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,328. That makes twelve?—Yes; that is the first one I mentioned.

48,329. Which Ward is Carr Lane in?—In the Northern division of South Myton ward.

48,330. Who managed Carr Lane?—Mr. Ellerman.

48,331. Who managed Charles Street?—I do not know.

48,332. Have you ever heard?—I have not.

48,333. Have you heard the name of anybody who was at the one in Charles Street?—I have not.

48,334. You have never heard any name?—I heard it spoken of. Mr. Craven was the deputy chairman of the West Sculcoates district.

48,335. Were not those committee rooms to have a staff on the polling day, for the clearing house?—No.

48,336. They did not enter into your calculation?—No.

48,337. You mentioned that the staff was increased by the addition of one messenger immediately after the dissolution, but the central committee by two?—Yes; these are the resolutions upon the point, on the 30th of June.

48,338. Be so good as to attend to the question. You said the staff was increased by one messenger, except the central committee, which was increased from four to six?—Yes.

48,339. Read the resolution now?—After that took place, there was a meeting, I find, upon the 23rd of June, upon which the resolution was passed, that the number should not be increased.

48,340. I want you to read me the one of the 30th of June?—"Resolved that an additional committee room, for the despatch of business, be appointed in each ward and division of wards, as supplementary to the present committee room, upon the best terms, and in the most advantageous position which may be practicable; and a flag and messengers be appointed for each; but that the expense of such room shall be limited to three guineas. The number of runners or messengers, to be increased, when required for business up to a number not exceeding twelve for each district; and a letter to be sent round to the different districts accordingly. District committees are earnestly requested to send the addresses, namely, Streets or Squares, or other particulars of those voters who have removed from the town, to Leeds, Manchester, and other large towns. Mr. Joseph Pease junior, and Mr. Gleadow, be a sub-committee, to look after the voters, who have left the town; and Mr. Caswell be appoined clerk for the purpose."

48,341. Were those resolutions acted upon?—I believe so; but I never had a return to me of the additional committee rooms.

48,342. Was there a letter sent to the chairman, and deputy chairman, of each ward?—I have no doubt that there would be.

48,343. When I asked you, a little while ago, all you told me was, that they were increased from three to four, whereas, after, they were increased to twelve?—That is afterthat.

48,344. I asked you whether at any time before the election, the number was increased, and your answer was, that the number was increased from four to six in the central, and in every other one increased by one additional messenger?—Yes.

48,345. You believe that these regulations were acted upon?—I believe they were.

48,346. The dissolution of Parliament was before June 30th?—It was before that. I have the date in my own diary.

48,347. Was there any other increases of messengers?—There may have been without my knowledge, but I do not know whether there was or not.

48,348. Do you know of any?—My impression is there must have been an increase.

48,349. What is the ground of your impression?—The ground of my impression is, that a great number of applications were made for payment for runners; I should say a much greater number than that amount would have warranted.

48,350. About what number would be required to meet the demand for payment? What number of messengers would the amount of money paid produce?—I do not know the amount paid; but I have understood that above 400 persons were paid.

48,351. Who has told you that?—I have ascertained that by checking from the register book the number of applications at the time, and I know they come to above 400.

48,352. Do you call them the register books?—Yes. When the different lists of the committees were sent in, of the applications for runners, they were checked with the register books, and I know there were about 400 by that means.

48,353. Have you that register book?—No, I have not. I have handed in the whole of the register books.

48,354. And in those books you have handed in, the names of the persons applying are ticked off?—No; I cannot say that. The lists were sent from the different committees.

48,355. What became of the lists?—They were sent to the chairmen, or, at least, they were returned to the persons who brought them, and I presumed they would be returned to the chairmen, because they would not get paid without.

48,356. During the course of the contest, did you hear that the orange party were engaging an excessive number of committee rooms?—I did.

48,357. How many did you hear?—I never heard any number stated; but I heard in several streets they had many; in High Street and some of the streets in the neighbourhood especially.

48,358. Were they particularly named, the places where this took place?—They may have been, but I do not recollect them now. I know it was stated generally that there were a great many additional committee rooms taken by the orange party.

48,359. When did you hear that?—That was shortly before the election; I think some three or four days before the election. The greatest complaint that I heard was three or four days before the election, but so late as June the 29th. I had returns made of the additional rooms taken.

48,360. I want to know whether, on the 29th of June, in consequence of the letter written the 28th of June, you received the return?—I did; and several of those returns I have here. Parliament was dissolved the 2d of July.

48,361. Go back for a moment. Your resolution to employ additional messengers was before the dissolution?—It is passed on the 30th, the day before.

48,362. That was a breach of your agreement?—To that extent it was, so far as they were engaged.

48,363. You told us you had been complaining to Mr. Galloway several times, and on the 28th of June you seem to make an unlimited addition almost?—Yes.

48,364. That resolution puts on 108 at once?—Yes.

48,365. Have you got those returns relating to the sham committee rooms?—Yes; I have them here,—"Osborne Street, South Myton District, 29th of June."

48,366. A letter was written on the 28th of June requesting returns to be made, and information of the goings on of the orange party?—Yes.

48,367. Upon the 29th, I believe you received returns from all the districts?—We received returns; I cannot say from all the districts, I have several of them here. We received many. Here is one of the South Myton district, Osborne Street division.

48,368. Have you got those returns with you?—Yes; I believe those are all that I have. (The witness handed the same letters.)

48,369. Having got those returns in, were there not a number of additional committee rooms taken by the blue party of the same sort?—I believe that some more were taken, but I do not know what number.

48,370. Of the same sort?—That I do not know. I heard that some of the district committees had engaged additional committee rooms.

48,371. Did you hear that they took a blue one for every orange one that was opened in their district?—No; I did not hear that, certainly.

48,372. But you heard that there were a number of additional rooms engaged?—I heard in the Holderness ward they were about doing so. They wanted to engage several, and I objected to it.

48,373. Who did you hear that from?—I cannot say now, but it was mentioned.

48,374. Who did you object to?—That I cannot say; but there was a list of several rooms they wanted to appoint, and I objected to the appointing of any more.

48,375. Did you give your reason?—Yes, I gave this reason,—that I looked upon the appointment of committee rooms except for actual use, as purely colourable.

48,376. You gave as your reason that it was bribery?—I gave as my reason that it was purely colourable and to get voters; and if in that way, it was bribery.

48,377. I want to know who you gave that caution to?—I do not know.

48,378. You knew it was done?—I knew it was done.

48,379. After the caution from you that it was illegal?—I do not say they were appointed after that; I know that several were appointed.

48,380. Do you mean that they did it first and then asked your opinion afterwards?—That I do not know. My first answer was generally as to the whole town, and I remember that in the Holderness ward district a list of several additional committee rooms was suggested, and I expressed my opinion that they ought not to be appointed. Whether they were appointed I do not know.

48,381. I want to know whether the suggestion as to illegality was given before or afterwards? whether they did it with their eyes open or shut?—I do not know. I believe they were not appointed at that time.

48,382. You think they were not done until ascertained that it was illegal?—I do not know that they were done then.

48,383. Assuming that it was done?—If they were done, my impression is that it was afterwards. I said it ought not to be done.

48,384. Your opinion is that there were several?—I heard that there were.

48,385. Have you not heard, since the election took place, at all events, that there were a number of additional rooms taken in the Holderness ward?—I have.

48,386. Have you any reason to believe that to be untrue?—I believe that they were taken. I have no reason to dispute what has been stated upon that point since the election.

48,387. At the time when the resolution was passed, calling for further information respecting the orange party, I believe this resolution was passed; it is so short that I will read it myself. 28th of June. "That the messengers be paid one guinea per week instead of a sovereign as heretofore. Secondly. That in consequence of further information received by this committee, this committee deem it now desirable that the wages of the messengers of the several committees be paid in full at the end of every week, and that all the arrears be immediately discharged." What was the object of passing the first resolution? Why were the wages raised?—We found that our opponents were paying a guinea a week instead of a pound, and therefore we determined they should be placed upon an equality.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,388. You considered the probability was that if yours only got a pound a week you would lose their votes?—I have no doubt of it; some of them said they would leave us unless they received the same wages as the other side.

48,389. Do you believe you would have lost a number of votes if you had not raised them to an equality with the other side?—I believe we should have lost some of those persons we engaged if we had not raised them to the same amount.

48,390. You think they would have gone over for the sake of a shilling a week?—I believe they would. I was told that they said they would.

48,391. That carried their services, that is to say, their votes?—That is the corrollary.

48,392. Listen to the next part of this resolution, it goes on thus:—"In consequence of further information received by this committee, this committee deem it now desirable that the wages of the messengers of the several committees be paid in full at the end of every week"?—Yes.

48,393. First of all, what was the information upon which that resolution was passed?—I believe it was that the payment of the wages only partially created great dissatisfaction among the runners, and the messsengers, and that dissatisfaction they had expressed very strongly. It was communicated to the several committees, and the general committee therefore determined to rescind the resolution they had made before upon the same subject which you find in that minute book, and to say they should be paid up their wages, and be paid up to the end of the week.

48,394 Were you afraid that that dissatisfaction also would go to the extent of your losing their votes?—That was the opinion of the committee, that they would do so.

48,395. An opinion which I dare say you coincided with?—No doubt.

48,396. In order to save the men's votes, it was necessary that the wages should be paid in full at the end of the week, and that all arrears should be discharged?—Yes.

48,397. Was it said that they would go over upon that account?—I do not know that it was said so, but I know that was the opinion entertained, that it would have that effect.

48,398 And was that opinion entertained in consequence of statements made by the men themselves?—I believe so.

48,399. From whom had the suggestion emanated to keep back part of the wages?—By some members of the committee; but I do not know who they were.

48,400. Was it Mr. Edwin Davis?—I do not know whether it was or not.

48,401. What was the reason of that? Was that because it was thought you would have a pull upon them?—My believe is, it was resolved at one time to pay them only a large proportion of the wages to prevent them running away. The object was to secure the continuance of their services; to have them at the time of the election. I have not the least doubt of it.

48,402. And their votes at the termination?—No doubt of it, certainly.

48,403. A resolution was first passed upon the 25th of June which is not entered here; be so good as listen while I read you the resolution upon which I have a question or two to ask you. "Upon the motion of Mr. S. West it was resolved, that the resolution passed yesterday upon the subject of the payment of the wages of the runners or messengers, and doorkeepers be rescinded." Now, the first thing I wish to call your attention to is, upon the 25th there is no such resolution?—It is very likely in draft, but it has not been copied. I have the resolutions in draft.

48,404. I have been reading the 25th of June, which rescinds one passed the day before, and that of the day before is not here?—I do not appear to have the draft of that, but I know what it was.

48,405. Why was not that resolution entered here?—All the resolutions were written in draft at first, in order to be copied by the clerk. You observe they are all in one handwriting.

48,406. You cannot tell why that is not entered?—I can give no reason.

48,407. You observe upon the 23d of June there is a resolution upon the same subject. "Resolved that the servants and messengers employed be paid weekly in full." Upon the 25th something is done, we do not know what; and upon the 26th, that which was done upon the 25th is rescinded?—I know how that was from memory; what took place as to the wages.

48,408. What passed upon the 26th is this:—"That the wages of the present week be paid in full, but that afterwards three-fourths of the wages be only paid weekly until the conclusion of the election, when the balance will be paid, and the district committees be paid accordingly. Is that the resolution you allude to that was come to for the purpose of securing the votes of the persons?—That would be one; but I think there would be more resolutions than one upon it. They changed their opinions very frequently and unnecessarily.

48,409. There are four—the 23d, the 25th, the 26th, and then the 28th?—I have no doubt the entire question depended as to whether it was politic or not to pay them in full or only partially, and that policy being to secure their votes at the election. I have no doubt of that.

48,410. Upon a reference to your minutes, it appears that repeated discussions took place several times before the dissolution of Parliament as to the increase of the staff of messengers and runners; did that occur repeatedly?—I believe it did several times; but I cannot say how many times.

48,411. And that no actual resolution one way or the other was come to?—Not until that; it is mentioned in the book.

48,412. How it is done is another matter; because on the 23d of June the resolution is passed, that the increase should not take place without the consent of the central committee?—Yes; and there was a strong desire upon the part of the district committees to put down runners, and increase the staff; they urging as the reason that it was done upon the other side, and I opposed it strongly.

48,413. Before the dissolution, you did increase the number of messengers materially?—I see the resolution is passed two days before.

48,414. Is not that quite as much a breach of the engagement as any breach which you charged against the orange?—It was quite as much.

48,415. Then, from the beginning of the election you set down, the names of all persons who applied?—As applicants.

48,416. And that was in order that you might not make them angry?—That was in order to make use of them afterwards if we wanted them for their services; but we told them, point blank, we did not require them then.

48,417. That setting down was to bind them and to bind you?—I do not consider that, and I will tell you why: the man who applied to have his name set down, if he thought proper, might have gone anywhere else; we were not bound to anything, nor was he when we set his name down; at the same time, supposing we wanted any further assistance, and that man came and said, "You put my name down," I should think we would have his assistance.

48,418. You set his name down to satisfy him?—Yes.

48,419. And to prevent him going to the orange?—I do not know that; it was his own application; he came to us.

48,420. Supposing you had heard a man was already set down in an orange list, would you have set him down in yours?—I would not.

48,421. Your party I mean?—I have no reason to suppose that they would, so far as I know.

48,422. Were not the names of the applicants set down in order to satisfy them, and prevent them going over and voting for the orange, or promising the orange?—I cannot go to that extent.

48,423. If you had refused to set them down, what would have been the consequence, in your judgment?—If they were men wishing to vote for political motives, and wishing to have employment, they would not have gone to the other side, but if they were men who wanted to obtain money they would.

48,424. Which was the majority?—I would not like to offer an opinion of the majority.

48,425. Would you have thought it safe to refuse to set them down?—I should not have hesitated to do so.

48,426. Would you have thought it safe to do so?—The probability is, I should have put them down rather than otherwise.

48,427. Would you not consider that a pledge to give them something after the election?—Not unless they were engaged upon actual service I should not; I told them so distinctly, all the parties that came to me.

48,428. You were aware, according to the established custom of Hull, that it was the practice to pay everybody whose name was set down, whether employed or not?—I was aware that that had been done.

48,429. Were you not aware, as a man living in Hull, that that was the system?—I am quite aware there was a system of setting down and paying everybody who was down, and I am aware that I made up my mind that I would be no party to it this time.

48,430. Did you tell the people that you would not?—Whenever they applied to me I said, "We will take your name down, and as soon as we want persons for actual service we will employ you."

48,431. Tell us who you told that to?—To every person who applied.

48,432. Is not that the common form?—I do not know; I am not so conversant with elections as to give that opinion.

48,433. Was not that setting down of names virtually a breach of the agreement as much as anything else?—I did not consider it was, and I will tell you why; inasmuch as our arrangement was, that we should not employ any person until a certain time, and the fact of setting them down gave to them no means of claiming money until they were employed.

48,434. There is a question I omitted to put; to come back to the 12th of June, before that correspondence which is dated respectively the 15th and 16th of June, you had engaged some messengers and runners of course, who were in existence from the first?—Yes.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,435. Your district committees also had engaged runners?—Yes.

48,436. Did not some of them engage more than the agreement contemplated?—I do not know that they did; but they wished to do, and therefore we opposed it.

48,437. Had they not actually done it then?—I do not know it, nor have I any recollection that they had done so; there was a discussion upon that subject upon the 12th of June.

48,438. For the purpose of that I will call your attention to it; upon the 12th of June I read this minute, "That each committee return a list of runners they have or may employ, and the terms upon which they were engaged." I presume that was communicated to every district committee?—They were all there, I think, at the time, but I have no doubt, in addition to that, it would be communicated to all the district committees in the ordinary way of business.

48,439. And each committee would be conversant of the passing of that resolution?—Yes, that was our practice, to send a resolution which affects the committee to each committee.

48,440. Was there any return made in obedience to that resolution?—I believe there was.

48,441. Were there any of the district committees who had already engaged more than the number subsequently provided for in the letter of the 15th of June?—I do not remember whether there was or was not.

48,442. If I understand your statement of this arrangement it had no longer life, if I may say so, than the dissolution?—Certainly; that was expressed in writing.

48,443. On that, of course, you do not agree with Mr. Burges, whose account I read to you?—Mr. Burges says it was not till the nomination day; that is his mistake.

48,444. You do not agree with him in that?—Certainly not.

48,445. If I understand you, the interpretation I put on that would be, that that would be a mode, and was intended probably to be so, of saving each party a considerable expense, which might otherwise be incurred before the dissolution?—It was.

48,446. It could have no other effect?—No; my object was to save money, and let the burgesses who applied for employment know that we were resolved not to put on a large staff until we had absolute necessity for it.

48,447. On that understanding of the arrangement, after or at the dissolution you would be at liberty to put on as many messengers as you thought fit?—Yes.

48,448. To employ as many runners?—Yes.

48,449. Without reference at all to what the other side were doing?—Yes.

48,450. You were asked as to the accounts that were furnished to you consequent upon your letter of the 9th of July?—Yes, an account of runners employed.

48,451. Referring to the ordinary expenditure and additional expenditure?—Yes.

48,452. You have said you have no doubt those accounts were furnished to you?—I have no doubt they were.

48,453. Before you handed those accounts over did you examine them?—Yes.

48,454. You went through them?—Yes.

48,455. Before they went to the chairman, Mr. Ward, they would have passed through your hands?—They would, most of them if not all.

48,456. Should you consider yourself in a situation to express a judgment as to the payment of the charges in these accounts?—I was not in a situation to do so.

48,457. Why did you do so?—I looked to see whether or no any of the persons who were applying to be paid had been paid by any other committee applying to us, who had been engaged for us.

48,458. Do I understand you, if those accounts had contained on the face of them charges for a considerable number of runners and committee rooms, that you would have passed them on without considering you had any check on the payment?—No; if I had seen charges for a great number of runners and committee rooms which I had conceived had not been employed for any purpose connected with the election, I should have made an objection. I had no control over the accounts except to cast them up and pass them forward to the central committee, to ascertain whether or no any of the persons who had been paid in one committee were applying to be paid in another; and on that I transferred the account to the person who gave it me, and he would have to go to the chairman to have it settled.

48,459. That transfer to the person who gave it you would be in the nature of an approval of that amount by you?—An approval only to the extent that those parties had not applied to be paid elsewhere; as to whether actually employed or performed actual services, that was a matter I left entirely to be settled between the chairman or deputy chairman of the sub-committee and chairman of the whole.

48,460. If I understood you, you took no cognizance of the nature of the charges?—I did not.

48,461. None at all?—If for runners, not. I merely asked "Were all these parties engaged by you?—Yes; they had been engaged in services." Then I checked them with the other lists to ascertain that they were not to be twice paid; we found there were applications to do so sometimes, and then that was sent by the chairman of the district to the general committee.

48,462. These additional 400 names, and the rooms referred to as appointed from time to time, would appear, in some shape or other, on the face of those accounts?—They would.

48,463. You were the solicitor of Messrs. Moore and Butler; did you not think you had a control over the funds?—Not the slightest.

48,464. You had not?—No.

48,465. Was it expressly agreed that you were not to have?—It was expressly arranged. I was merely to act as solicitor for carrying through the organization of the election, the machinery of the election; but so far as the funds Mr. Ward, the chairman, managed the whole of them, and I have never interfered except at his request.

48,466. Was it arranged beforehand?—I cannot say it was arranged beforehand. I made up my mind from the beginning to have nothing to do with financial matters, and he made up his mind that he would.

48,467. Did you inform your principals of that?—My principals were the committee. I had no personal conference or engagement by Mr. Moore or Mr. Butler.

48,468. Did you not receive remuneration from them?—I received from the chairman of the committee.

48,469. I mean from the candidates?—Not from the candidates personally, except what came out of the money they subscribed of course.

48,470. You did not receive any personal payment from them in respect of your own professional charges or services?—No; it was paid by Mr. Ward on behalf of the committee.

48,471. You said you understood there had been a volunteer committee room, of which a man of the name of Legitt had the management?—I did.

48,472. When did you first hear of that?—I believe I first heard of that, to the best of my recollection, about ten days or so before the dissolution of Parliament.

48,473. I want you to explain a little more what you mean by a volunteer association, who is Mr. Legitt?—I do not know who he is. I know him when I see him, but I do not know what is occupation is.

48,474. What do you mean by a volunteer association? What did you understand was done there?—I first heard in this way: I was informed there was a committee room; some person or persons, I do not know who, came down to our general committee room, and spoke about the Minerva Terrace committee room. I asked what they meant.

48,475. That is one you are speaking of?—Yes; they said the blue committee room at the Minerva Terrace. I said I had none, I did not know of any committee room at the Minerva Terrace; and I made inquiries, and I found there was such a one under the management of Mr. Legitt.

48,476. When you say you made inquiries you went to see?—No; I never was in the room in my life.

48,477. Who did you inquire of?—I made inquiries of the chairman in the market place committee.

48,478. Who was that?—Mr. Edwin Davis; and he said he understood there was such a committee.

48,479. He was the chairman of the ward?—Yes.

48,480. What did he say was done there?—He told me there was such a committee, and that it was managed by this man. I said, "Well, we cannot recognize that, there was no committee appointed by the central committee."

48,481. That is no answer; did he tell you what was done there—did he say what was done?—I do not remember the precise conversation we had. I made inquiries, and I understood it was some voluntary committee formed by some parties, and Mr. Legitt had the management of it.

48,482. Did he tell you how many they consisted of?—He did not.

48,483. They were called blue?—They were called blues, and they were blues, no doubt about that.

48,484. Did he say he had ever been to see them?—No, he did not say it to me, nor did I ask him.

48,485. Did you ask him how he got information?—No.

48,486. Did you hear of their paying money there?—Yes, afterwards.

48,487. When did you first hear of it?—The first time I heard of them paying money was about ten days after.

48,488. After what?—After the first I heard of it.

48,489. That was before the election?—Yes; I heard there were runners appointed there, and they were paid.

48,490. Who told you that?—That is more than I can say. It is more than I have a recollection about.

48,491. Did Mr. Davis?—No; he didnot tell me that.

48,492. I dare say you can tell me who did?—I cannot, I am sure.

48,493. It seems to me to be a thing that would create an impression on the blue central committee, and a thing they would inquire into and sift out to the bottom?—It seems to me so. It may not be. I understood this was a volunteer committee, and intended to act on their own impulses and on their own management, and to have no interference with us, and we did not interfere with them.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,494. And to pay with its own money?—I never was told that.

48,495. Tell me what money you understood they were to pay away?—I understood there were runners appointed there for the purpose of canvassing and looking after the district they were appointed to canvass.

48,496. You say a similar association had existed in 1847?—No; I say Mr. Legitt I was informed had been a very active canvasser for Mr. Bannister in 1847, and that Mr. Legitt, who had very great influence over a large class of voters that year, was disposed to exercise it over a large class of voters this year.

48,497. Blue voters?—Yes. And that this room had been taken for the purpose of carrying on the regular committee proceedings.

48,498. And the blue party of course were to have all the benefit of it?—No doubt of it, of course.

48,499. You said, I think, you did not know whether they paid away their own money. Did you hear at any time whose money they paid the runners with?—Yes; afterwards I did hear.

48,500. When did you hear that?—On the 1st of July I heard it, because the sum of 50*l.* was sent from the central committee room to that room for the purpose of paying expenses.

48,501. That was to a certain extent a recognition of them?—A recognition as a body, but not interfering with their proceedings.

48,502. Was any other money sent to them during the election?—I believe not.

48,503. Was that 50*l.* sent in consequence, and after the matter had been submitted to the central committee for their consideration?—It was sent after it had been submitted to the chairman of the central committee, and sent by him with an express order that the money was to be applied to legitimate purposes, and that order was sent to them.

48,504. That is according to what you told us long ago that the election was to be a pure one?—I am stating the fact as to the order.

48,505. When you say the communication was made to Mr. Ward the chairman, why do you say that; how do you know it?—Because I paid it myself.

48,506, And from whom did you receive the application?—An application came to me at the central committee room for a sum of money, to be sent down to that committee room. I spoke to Mr. Ward upon the subject.

48,507. Was that the same day?—On the 1st of July, I spoke to Mr. Ward upon the subject; I said the committee room was not recognized by us. I told him I made inquiry, and understood it was carried on by a man who had the management of Mr. Bannister's election party in 1847; and they required this sum for the purpose of being paid. They wanted 75*l.*; Mr. Ward thought about the matter, and he said; "They may have 50*l.*, but it must be applied for proper purposes, and not in any way towards bribery."

48,508. Did you take it back to them?—I sent it to them with a note to that effect.

48,509. Who took it?—It was sent to my own office by my partner, or my clerk, and I sent a note with it.

48,510. Probably you kept a copy of the note?—I kept a copy of the note.

48,511. Have you got it?—I think I have. It is 40*l.* I think. "I send you 40*l.*, which please apply in payment of legitimate expenses."

48,512. Who is it addressed to?—The letter is addressed to Mr. Bannister, who is the master of Legitt; at least I understood he had been. He was not in his service at that time, but he had been his master at the time of the election, in 1847.

48,513. He still seemed to be keeping up some communication with Mr. Bannister?—Yes.

41,514. Did Mr. Bannister act at the room?—I think he did.

43,515. You have not told us how you received the communication?—Mr. Bannister's clerk brought the communication.

48,516. Was it in writing?—It was.

48,517. Have you got it?—I have not.

48,518. What was that clerk's name?—I forget his name.

48,519. Is he about now?—He is with him now, I dare say. Mr. Ride, that is the name of the person; he brought the note and I sent the money on.

48,520. Probably the note was from Mr. Bannister, as you sent the note to him?—Yes.

48,521. Did you send it the same day?—The same afternoon.

48,522. In cash?—In cash.

48,523. Sovereigns?—No, Bank of England notes.

48,524. That was 40*l.*; that was not quite enough, was it?—No.

48,525. When did you send them some more?—In a few days 25*l.* more was sent.

48,526. Have you got a note?—No; I sent no note with that.

48,527. You did not say anything about "legitimate expenses?"—No; the first warning was sufficient. I can tell you when I sent the other, it was the second of July not the first.

48,528. You sent the first sum on the second?—Yes.

48,529. That is the very day of the dissolution?—Yes; and on the 9th 20*l.*; that is all I sent them.

48,530. Do you know of more going?—No more going; but after the election Mr. Ride presented an account of the number of runners, and he was referred by me to Mr. Ward for that amount.

48,531. Perhaps you do not know personally what became of that account?—I do not.

48,532. What was the sum asked for?—I think at that time there was a balance, to the best of my recollection, of 60*l.*; but I am not certain.

48,533. You mean a balance wanted?—Yes.

48,534. Giving credit for 20*l.* or 40*l.*?—Yes; they were all put down, the persons for whom the money was wanted.

48,535. Credit appearing upon the account for the 40*l.* received, and the 20*l.*?—It left money still wanting of 60*l.*

48,536. You might know from Mr. Ward; did he tell you he paid them that money?—He has not told me so, but I have no doubt he has.

48,537. Did you see Mr. Bannister, in consequence of these notes, at any time?—I did; in consequence of the first note.

48,538. And he drew your attention, or you drew his, to this room of which you have been speaking at the Minerva Terrace?—No; he did not to me, nor I to him.

48,539. Did you inquire of him how long it had been?—No.

48,540. He did not tell you?—No.

48,541. You said you had determined not to interfere?—We made no inquiries. I understood that Mr. Legitt, who acted for them, had had the management of a large number of voters, for the purpose of procuring the votes at the former election, and he at that time had the management of this room.

48,542. The subsequent account in respect to which the 60*l.* was wanted, I think you say, was in detail, and shows for what purpose?—Yes; the names, and the figures, and the items.

48,543. Was it entirely for the purpose of messengers and runners?—I think almost entirely. I will read the whole note which I sent to Mr. Bannister. Mr. Bannister applied for 70*l.*

48,544. You have his note?—No, I have not.

48,545. What became of it?—I destroyed it immediately after I received it.

48,546. That is the first note?—I never received but one.

48,547. Why did you do that?—Because I did not feel disposed to keep it. I threw it in the fire. I kept a copy of my own letter; I can assign no reason why, but I did so. There were many letters I destroyed from time to time during the election, but as I was sending money to a party, I kept a copy of my own letter.

48,548. But you may now remember it, and we will be obliged to you to tell it?—The letter is this: Mr. Bannister asked for 79*l.* in the letter, and I said—"My dear Sir, I send you forty pounds, which please apply in payment of legitimate expenses. If more be wanted for such purposes it will be forthcoming." 70*l.* he applied for, 50*l.* the amount sent was.

48,549. Your insertion of the words "for such purposes" would make it quite unnecessary for you to put again "legitimate"?—Yes.

48,550. That letter which says "I send you 40*l.*" enclosed 50*l.*?—Yes; and I entered it in my book at the time, as 50*l.*

48,551. Did you think Mr. Bannister's letter had reference to rather a delicate subject, and is that the reason you destroyed it?—I thought it had reference to a subject in connexion with a committee room which had not been recognized by the whole committee to begin with, and as it alluded to money matters I did not wish to keep it. Mr. Bannister being the mayor at the time, and wishing to have nothing to do with the election, I put it in the fire. It was addressed "private" outside.

48,552. Prudence was the reason?—Yes, I thought so. If a gentleman writes a letter on private election matters I must destroy it and not keep it by me.

48,553. This Act of Parliament does not regard private communications. Tell us what it was?—To the best of my recollection it said—"Will you send us 70*l.* by the bearer on account of the committee room?" or something to that effect. He had spoken to me about it on the preceding day, therefore I quite understood the nature of the communication, and mentioned it to Mr. Ward.

48,554. Then you had spoken to him about it that day?—Either that day or the day before.

48,555. Did you suggest that he had better make an application in writing?—I have not the least notion that I did.

48,556. He probably mentioned to you that he would want money?—He said so.

48,557. You did not report anything, probably, to Mr. Ward till you got the letter?—This money, I presume, had to be paid the end of that week. I do not know what the day of the week was.

48,558. I dare say you knew both Mr. Bannister and Mr. Legitt were gentlemen of great experience in managing the pecuniary arrangements of an election?—I know Mr. Bannister was, and that Mr. Legitt had been a most active canvasser at former times.

48,559. He used to frequent the Blue Bell?—We hear in 1847 that he had a committee room at the Blue Bell in North Myton.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,560. You had been engaged for Mr. Brown, in 1847?—Yes.

48,561. Had that brought you in communication with Mr. Bannister at the election?—It had.

48,562. He was active at that election?—Yes.

48,563. He was not a stranger to you on election matters?—No.

48,564. You knew his capacity?—Yes; my belief is if he had not been the mayor of Hull he would have worked in that capacity.

48,565. Did any others apply to you for any money?—Not until after the election was over, and then the accounts I alluded to were sent to me. The only money paid was the weekly expenditure of the central committee for which I received the cash of Mr. Ward or Mr. Harris, and paid them then and there.

48,566. You received the cash?—Sometimes I, and sometimes gentlemen at the table.

48,567. And eventually paid the bills?—Yes.

48,568. You were the solicitor of Messrs. Moore and Butler?—I do not say that; I was the solicitor of the blue party.

48,569. Had you any acquaintance with those gentlemen before they came to Hull?—None.

48,570. Neither of them?—None.

48,571. You were introduced to them?—I was, when they came here.

48,572. They were quite strangers to you?—Yes.

48,573. Perfect strangers?—Yes.

48,574. Had you much personal communication with them?—Very little indeed.

48,575. Did they attend the central committee room from time to time?—They used to come in the morning for the purpose of settling the course they had to take for canvassing during the day, and then used to drive up at the close and perhaps stay five minutes and go away, scarcely any conversation took place.

48,576. In arranging how the canvass should be conducted, was a district appointed each day with the streets and persons to be called on, or a district without names?—A district without names. A street list formed, and the chairman or deputy chairman connected with the district accompanied them, for the purpose of calling on the voters.

48,577. Did you have any communication whatever with Mr. Moore or Mr. Butler or either of them, on the matters of this other committee, or matters of that kind?—Certainly not.

48,578. Or any payment?—Never spoke to them on the subject.

48,579. About money at all?—No.

48,580. Did you receive any money from them?—No.

48,581. Do you know of any money coming from them?—I do not.

48,582. To Mr. Ward or others?—Mr. Ward told me he had received money from them.

48,583. What was the course? did they pay money into one of the local banks?—I do not know how it was paid. Mr. Ward told me he received money from them.

48,584. Where did these gentlemen stay?—Mr. Butler stayed at Detesio's Hotel—The Railway Hotel, and Mr. Moore at Abbey's Vittoria Hotel, at Southend.

48,585. No money from them passed through your hands?—Not one sixpence.

48,586. Merely as a conduit pipe, or any other way?—No way at all.

48,587. Where were the payments made that were made after the election?—By Mr. Ward, at his own office.

48,588. What is Mr. Ward's business?—A merchant. When I say at his own office, the central committee room was kept up a little longer, but not the central committee; and some of the money was paid by Mr. Ward in his own counting-house, which is next door to the contral committee room.

48,589. I need hardly ask whether the resolution to which your attention has been drawn of the 30th of June, as to the additional committee rooms and runners, would not be the means of giving employment to a great many more people?—I have no doubt it would.

48,590. As many as 150 or more?—I have no doubt it would.

48,591. There is no limit put on the runners short of twelve to each?—Yes; that is the 108 to begin with.

48,592. The committee rooms I do not know whether they were ad libitum?—I do not know what restrictions were made with respect to additional committee rooms. I before said what the advice I gave on that subject was.

48,593. Was this plan of yours, which did not succeed, a plan entirely of your own?—It was a plan that was my own; but the suggestion of its necessity came from Mr. Turnbull, and I had some conversation upon the necessity of preventing the intricacy and the confusion too prevalent at elections for the purpose of getting proper returns and getting voters up—those that had not polled at the election. We determined not to have the central committee room troubled unnecessarily with the receipt of the returns from all those 18 polling booths at once, and I therefore suggested to him the plan of having two clearing houses. He at once mentioned one clearing house for his district, in the first instance. I thought it better to have two clearing houses, and that these clearing houses should be the first recipients from the polling booths in the respective districts, and these returns should be incessantly copied down by the clerks; 18 in one room, and six in the other, and that there should be a staff of men employed to send a complete return of the whole to the central committee every half hour.

48,594. I merely asked whether the plan was entirely your own thought?—The plan was my own; but the necessity was suggested by Mr. Turnbull.

48,595. No doubt it occurred to you it would be a means of increasing the expense?—No doubt; but it appeared to me of paramount importance our getting the information speedily.

48,596. You thought, though increasing the expense, it was increasing it entirely legitimately?—Certainly I did, and I think so now.

48,597. A clever mode of increasing legal expenses?—I thought it was a good mode of increasing our means of information, and the expense must follow as a natural consequence.

48,598. Did you think it a good mode of increasing the legal expenses?—That idea never crossed my mind; the idea was solely to obtain the result, and it was to get the information as soon as I could.

48,599. No doubt it increased the expenses?—Yes.

48,600. Then you take the other part of my proposition?—No, I do not.

48,601. Do you think the expenses were illegal?—No.

48,602. My question is, whether you thought it a mode of increasing the legal expenses?—I thought it would be the best mode of effecting the object; and the expense was not so much a consideration as long as I could get the object effected. My object was to secure the return of the two gentlemen. I knew it was a very important thing to get the information most speedily of the state of the poll, and how the voting went on, and to do that without confusion, and that required arrangement, and that that arrangement created expense; but I did not consider that.

48,603. That number who happened to disappear the morning of the polling day; supposing they had been at their posts, part of them of course would have been at the poll?—Yes.

48,604. That would not have altered the election?—If all those had it would have carried the election in our favour.

48,605. I suppose you have looked through the poll since, and seen how those 400 voted?—No. I do not know their names. I have looked through the poll since, and I have compared the result of the number of promises sent to us by the different districts.

48,606. You petitioned against the return on account of bribery?—Certain of the gentlemen connected with the blue party petitioned. I had nothing to do with petitioning.

48,607. I presume your party did?—No, they did not.

48,608. It would have been a very important thing to have shown the 400 voted orange; it would have raised a suspicion?—There was a petition against these two gentlemen.

48,609. It would have been considered a material question if you could have found that these 400 men voted orange it would have raised some suspicion?—Yes; but I had nothing whatever to do with the petition or its conduct.

48,610. Not you individually?—No.

48,611. Do not you believe some of your gentlemen connected with it took a little pains to ascertain the result?—That was the petition of some gentlemen connected with the party.

48,612. I want a short answer to say how you knew the names of the persons who promised?—I could not do so without ascertaining the names of the persons in the list, and that list we have not.

48,613. That is what you are asked. It must have crossed your mind at the time that a scheme by which you paid 400 persons would have increased your influence at the election?—It may have crossed my mind, but it was not done for that purpose.

48,614. It did cross your mind?—I do not say it did.

48,615. Did it not?—I do not know it did or not.

48,616. Will you say it did not?—I will not say it did not, certainly. It is one of the most important things to be attended to in elections.

48,617. Did it occur to you to advise your party, when the election was over and your party being defeated, that it would be a prudent thing to ascertain how your defaulters voted?—I did take the trouble to ascertain how many of our promises had left us.

48,618. I want your answer to my question, because that would tell but little. There were persons who had done something more than promise; they agreed to attend on a particular day, a promise not to be misunderstood?—Yes.

48,619. Did it not occur to you that it would be a prudent thing, to ascertain how those parties, who not only promised to vote, but also promised to do a specific duty, had voted?—No; because there was no prudence in the matter. The election was over, and we could not help the matter one way or the other. I had no ulterior object in view; my business was to conduct the election up to the close of the poll.

48,620. This is what I want to know; you represented the defeated party?—Yes.

48,621. And very soon heard it was the intention of your party to petition?—I did not hear it.

Mr. R. Wells.

16th July 1853.

48,622. Mr. Rollit told us he commenced making inquiries immediately?—I heard it was the intention of certain parties to do so, but I do not recognize that as the act of the party.

48,623. You knew, very shortly after the election, not that the whole party, but some portion of the party, contemplated a petition?—Yes; contemplated making inquiries in cases of bribery.

48,624. Hearing a petition was contemplated, although you were not professionally engaged in it, having been engaged as you were and having reaped some little advantage from it, did it not occur to you, as a mode of advancing the cause which you took a good deal of interest in, that it would be a prudent thing to ascertain how those people that ran away from you had voted?—It did not so occur to me.

48,625. We have asked once or twice about the appointment of the quota of these persons, whether they were to be found by the district committees or to be sent to the central committee and apportioned out. I see there is a letter of yours of the 6th of July, which seems to point to it; there is one to each chairman. Does that letter bring it to your mind whether all that could be found would be sent to the central room, or whether the apportionment would be made from the district rooms?—We could not get a return made of that number properly, and therefore we prepared cards in black, and I went round to the committees the evening before, for the purpose of drawing up the number.

48,626. Did you yourself take the cards with you to fill up?—I do not know that I did.

48,627. You said you did?—No; I sent the cards.

48,628. One of your people probably took them down?—Yes.

48,629. And they were to drum them up, and the names were to be inserted at each place?—Precisely; that was my object.

48,630. It was all to be done on the close of the nomination day?—It was to be amply ready for the parties to take out the next morning. I speak to the best of my recollection as to the process.

48,631. Have you the means of telling me how many cards were sent to each district room?—I cannot tell, nor have I the means; my impression is, we should divide the number wanted.

48,632. You told us you sent some additional?—Yes; we sent some to each.

48,633. You would not fix on some certain number to be sent to each?—No.

48,634. It would be upwards of fifty?—Yes.

48,635. This plan only had its life a few days before the election?—Certainly.

48,636. Do you know whether it was mentioned to Messrs. Moore and Butler?—I do not.

48,637. Do you know whether it was, I suppose of course it was, generally communicated to the central committee and known by them?—Yes; because Mr. Joseph Walker Pease had to undertake the arrangement of the matter with me.

48,638. And he was on the central committee?—He was deputy chairman, and generally presided at the meetings of all the district committees.

48,639. And you think the time would be somewhere about the 4th or 6th of July?—About the 4th of July, I think; it might be nearly a week. It took some time in arranging.

48,640. I suppose there was no doubt that Mr. Bromley Moore and Mr. Butler would be in the town at a time so shortly before the election?—Yes. I do not think they left after they came down to canvass.

48,641. That would be about the 14th of June?—Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler were here the 11th of June and addressed the electors, and went away; and then we sent for them to come down again to canvass, and that was the first time. I have a copy of their speech here, and I find the date from that.

48,642. The scheme, or plan, was entered in some way in the general committee book, I suppose?—I do not know that it was.

48,643. Was Mr. Pulleyn, who was deputy chairman, the same gentleman who was the petitioner to the House of Commons who unseated the members?—I believe so; the deputy chairman of one of the district committees.

48,644. Deputy chairman of Lowgate?—Yes.

48,645. And as deputy chairman he would also be a member of the general committee? He was.

48,646. Who was the other petitioner?—Mr. Henry Whytal Walker.

48,647. He was a member of a district committee?—He may have been.

48,648. Did you hear he had a large party of voters shut up?—I heard it since the election, not before.

48,649. Have you heard it among your party?—No; I believe it is in the evidence of some gentleman here.

Adjourned till Monday morning at ten o'clock.

THIRTY-FIFTH DAY.—Monday, 18th July 1853.

Mr. JOHN ROLLIT recalled, sworn, and examined.

Mr. John Rollit.

18th July 1853.

48,650. You were the principal conducting agent on the part of the petitioners?—I was.

48,651. Pray did Mr. Wells communicate to you the fact that a large number of messengers were being engaged by your party, and that none were to be found at their post on the day of the election?—I do not think Mr. Wells did communicate that to me. I heard it from various other quarters, but Mr. Wells I had very little communication with on the subject of the election. I almost doubt if we exchanged a word except just in court the other day.

48,652. You have heard it from other quarters?—I have heard it from the chairman of the different districts, that they had sustained considerable inconvenience in consequence of the defection of parties whom they depended on to carry out the machinery in the election.

EDWIN DAVIS sworn, and examined.

Edwin Davis.

48,653. What is your business?—A draper.

48,654. Where do you live?—Market Place; I reside in Lister Street, but my place of business is in the market place.

48,655. What rent do you pay?—The house in Lister Street is my own, but the house in the market place I give 350*l.* a year for.

48,656. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder?—I came to Hull in 1841; ever since then.

48,657. 1847 was the first time you were entitled to vote?—In 1847 was the first time I voted.

48,658. Are you a freeman?—No.

48,659. Did you take any interest in the election of 1847? Do not enter into any detail but simply, did you take any interest in it?—Yes, the slightest.

48,660. Who did you vote for then?—Brown and Baines.

48,661. And in 1852, you voted for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes.

48,662. And you took a good deal of interest in that election?—I did.

48,663. You were also, I believe, chairman of the Market Place ward committee?—Yes.

48,664. Which met at the Shakespeare Inn, Humber Street?—Yes.

48,665. Do you remember the day on which the committee was organized?—No, I do not.

48,666. It was early in June?—I can tell you; it would be early in June, it would be full six weeks before the election.

48,667. As much as six weeks before?—I believe so.

48,668. When all the committees were formed?—Yes, I think that was about the time; I think it was six weeks before; I can tell you better by-and-by.

48,669. Have you a memorandum there?—I have a few memorandums made by my clerk just now.

48,670. Was there a minute kept of the proceedings in the district committee?—Yes; but not a very regular one.

48,671. Have you got it?—I have not.

48,672. What has become of it?—Immediately after the election I had a circular from Mr. Wells to forward all the papers connected with the election to him. Those I had first of all removed to my own house; I packed them up in a newspaper, and I ordered them to be sent to Mr. Wells, or the central committee, and I have been looking for them very minutely, and cannot find them. I have asked all the persons at the central committee, and also at Mr. Wells office, and they are not forthcoming. I am still under the impression that one of my boys took the papers to the central committee or to Mr. Wells's office. I have asked all the parties connected with both the establishments, and I cannot find them.

48,673. You made inquiries of the boy whom you believed to have sent, and he gave you to understand that he took them?—I have a great number of boys, and I would order a little bit of string to be put round this parcel, wrapped in the newspaper, and order them to be sent, and I should not hear anything more about it.

48,674. Did you ask the young persons at your establishment whether they remembered taking such a parcel to Mr. Wells?—I have made inquiries; they took a number of parcels both to the central committee and to Mr. Wells about that time. Mr. Wells is my attorney, and they would be very frequently in communication with that office; several of my young persons.

48,675. I understand you to say you remember doing it up and giving it to one of the young persons in your establishment?—I remember doing it up and putting it on the table in the sitting room.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

48,676. But in the ordinary course of things would that go to Mr. Wells?—Certainly.

48,677. I do not understand you to say that you remember giving it to anybody, but only doing it up?—It was merely packing it up and leaving it on the table.

48,678. In the particular stages you would do with it as any other parcel which you wished to arrive at its proper destination?—I did so.

48,679. Have you any more doubt about this going than you have of any other parcel?—Not any.

48,680. In a large business like yours you cannot speak positively to any parcel?—No; I was quite astonished when Mr. Shean wrote to me for the papers, and I found the papers were not forthcoming.

48,681. Is it your belief that that was so?—I believe it to be so sincerely.

48,682. I understand you to say you inquired of all your boys?—Yes; of all those I thought I could get the information from.

48,683. Of Mr. Ward?—I have not seen Mr. Ward; I have inquired of the principal clerks, the two head sort of men at the central committee; Mr. Rossendale and Mr. Fowler were the two principal persons, and I have inquired of them.

48,684. Have you any other papers?—There were very few, but everything I had was packed up in that parcel.

48,685. What is that memorandum?—I wanted some information, and I asked the man I employed as a clerk, to put down in a book, every thing he could remember of the election.

48,686. This is a list of the committee rooms?—The committee rooms, and a list of the runners I had, so far as he could remember, regularly employed runners, and the clerks and chairman of the committees. Mr. Shean has had this book, and he has taken a copy of it I expect.

48,687. Just hand me the book (it was handed to the Commissioners). When did you first hear that Mr. Moore was to be a candidate?—It was some time before the committee was formed.

48,688. We have heard that neither of the gentlemen were in any way connected with the town, that they were perfect strangers to the town?—Quite so; I never saw them before.

48,689. I ask you, generally, if you can throw any light upon it how they came down to Hull?—That I cannot. A communication was made to me, on which I went down to Mr. Ward's office; and at Mr. Ward's office, who was the chairman afterwards, there were several gentlemen; Mr. Barkworth was one, Mr. Pease was another, and several other gentlemen. A communication had been made to me somehow, that they would be glad to see me, or something of that nature. I went accordingly, and that was the first I knew of Mr. Moore's coming; Mr. Butler then was not named.

48,690. What was the date of that meeting?—I could not tell that.

48,691. Near about what time?—I should think it would be about a week before the formation, as I have mentioned, of the committees.

48,692. Have you heard since how it was that Mr. Moore was introduced to the town?—No.

48,693. You have never heard that?—No, not about Mr. Moore; about Mr. Butler, I was given to understand that Mr. Charles Bamford was instrumental in bringing him here, through the Carlton Club.

48,694. Who is he; Charles Bamford?—A gentleman residing at Cottingham.

48,695. You heard that Mr. Bamford went to London to the Carlton Club?—He was instrumental in bringing him; I did not hear any more particulars.

48,696. You heard nothing more than that?—No, nothing more than that.

48,697. Were you in attendance at the committee?—Yes, I was.

48,698. Did you attend at the general committee on meeting days?—It was requested that all the chairmen of the district committees should attend at a general hour each day at the central committee, and I was a frequent attendant there at first, especially; but I thought they were rather useless towards the last, and I did not attend them much.

48,699. What was the staff at your district committee?—You have got a list of them there; there is a list of the staff there.

48,700. Is this it, in the first page, "Market Place ward;" the list of names beginning with your own, Davis, and ending with the name of Ouston?—Yes.

48,701. Was Robert Todd the clerk?—Robert Todd was the clerk, and he is the person who wrote those memorandums in that book.

48,702. And Wray and Hetherington were the doorkeepers?—Yes.

48,703. And the three Smithsons and another person of the name of Todd, runners?—Yes.

48,704. Who engaged those?—They applied to have their names put down to be engaged, if any were engaged; and my clerk, Todd, engaged them, and I approved of them.

48,705. You use the ordinary expression, "applied to be set down;" I suppose you had a good many applications from persons to be set down?—Oh yes; I got that word from hearing it so much used lately in the newspapers from this examination.

48,706. What was the pay which the doorkeepers and runners got?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day; afterwards I think the doorkeepers were raised to 4*s.* a day; they grumbled.

48,707. Had you four runners in the first instance?—I had four runners in the first instance. The facts are as you have them here; I have examined them, and I find them to be correct.

48,708. And all of them were employed for three or four weeks?—All of them were employed for that time.

48,709. And two doorkeepers were employed for six weeks?—You will find the list there.

48,710. And Todd was your clerk for six weeks?—Yes. I had to change the runners very frequently, some once or twice. I made it a rule that I did not pay them till the end of the week, and unless they had attended at nine o'clock in the morning and were present all the day; when they did not attend at the proper time in the morning, we were very timid and cautioned and frightened about the new bribery act, and it had a considerable influence on our daring, and I did not pay them when they did not attend regularly. You will find a name there of a butcher who was very irregular in his attendance; I think his name is Smithson.

48,711. Is that William Henry Smithson?—A butcher, who frequently got drunk, and I stopped his wages at the end of the week.

48,712. There is a man of the name of Smithson who received money from the orange party and afterwards voted for the blue, is that the man you mean?—That is the one I am alluding to; he stated he left me because I would not pay him, or something of that kind, or that he had some difficulty in getting the money; that was the fact. Whenever he was not there there was a cross put against his name, and at the end of the week the 3*s.* 6*d.* for that day was stopped. I had a good many circulars to deliver, and he did not attend to that duty properly, and I therefore discharged him, putting him off altogether.

48,713. You mustered all your staff at nine o'clock in the morning?—Yes.

48,714. Did you see that they all attended throughout the day?—My clerk had orders from me to see to that, and to tick off the names, but if not to report it to me, and I did not pay them at the end of the week.

48,715. If they did not attend over the whole day?—If they did not attend the whole day, because at that time they were wanted the whole day.

48,716. The doorkeepers would be, but the runners would not?—Yes; we made it a point, perhaps a little more than was absolutely necessary, to send them out constantly with circulars summoning the committee, and anything else that could be found for them to do.

48,717. You made it a point?—Yes; we made it a point to do it.

48,718. That was done as a matter of caution?—It was done as a matter of caution and a matter of necessity.

48,719. But as a matter of caution?—It was done as a matter of necessity, but it was also with caution. It was done as a matter of caution. We wanted the labourers to the extent that we were employing men then.

48,720. You made work for them to do, in fact, is not that it?—That was about it.

48,721. Whatever the result may be from what had been done, of course the committee could have attended by the simple act of adjournment from day to day without a summons; you issued summonses in order to give them something to do?—That was the feeling; at the same time there was real labour to do.

48,722. There was other labour to do, but you increased the labour, in fact more than necessary, in order to employ your men?—And, as you say, as a matter of caution, to keep myself from doing that which was illegal.

48,723. Was that the general course of proceeding throughout the contest?—On my part?

48,724. Yes, on your part; was it general?—Yes; that was the plan throughout on my part. I must add to that, that I had a great number of applications to be employed, but I did not employ them; their names were put down, not with any other object at this time, save that of engaging them in case I had a necessity of parting with those that I had previously engaged.

48,725. Then did you consider the names set down in your book were set down with a view to their voting for your party?—Not at that time.

48,726. Supposing your party had been in want of a couple of hundred to discharge their business, do you mean you would have felt no objection in furnishing them?—Well, I should not have taken any steps at all about that.

48,727. You set these names down in the first instance with a view to know where you would get men to employ if you wanted them?—Yes.

48,728. Was it not also with a view to their vote that they were set down?—Not at that time.

48,729. In the first instance?—Not at the early part of the election; the names were put down, as I said, for labourers if they were required.

48,730. Did not the setting down their names comprehend a kind of tacit understanding that you would employ those persons if you had occasion for more runners?—I would answer it in my own way, if you please. At that time I had no motive of that sort, because I had no liberty of the kind to engage, or rather to make any half promise to persons of that sort.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

48,731. You promised to employ them?—I had no power to do so, but I took the names down with a view to reporting those names to the central committee. I thought as they were the mainspring they would be able to do something with those men which I dare not do; but I felt myself cramped all the time. I was quite certain that there would be more warmth diffused into our system before the day of the election came on, when, in case that should be so, we should have a number of names to apply to to use. I felt that. Although we went very timidly and cautiously to work for a great number of weeks on or about the nomination day, it was always understood with us that there was a little elasticity to be brought to bear upon our system after the dissolution of Parliament.

48,732. It was with a view to have the materials ready for that occasion. You put these names down as materials ready in case of necessity?—Yes.

48,733. In the first instance you put them down with a view to know where to get men if a proper occasion should arise?—Yes.

48,734. In the first instance, supposing the orange party, you having got the names down, wanted a score or two of extra runners, would you have supplied them to them; would you have done that?—Under my orders I should, but if I had been acting on my own will, I should not have done it.

48,735. Would that have been an application that would have surprised you, or would you have had any difficulty in complying with it? Supposing, in the early part of the contest, you found you had more persons than you wanted, and Mr. Wilde had asked you for the names, and had said he wanted a score more runners, would you have sent them to him?—I do not think I should. Will you allow me to hand you that (handing in a list). Mr. Shean asked me to remember all the names that I paid, and those are the names that I remembered.

48,736. In the first instance you did not want those men, but you always anticipated there would be work for a great number?—Just so.

48,737. At first you intended to pay only those who did work?—Yes; up to that time.

48,738. But you always anticipated before the election was ended work would be made for them?—Yes; and more hands would be wanted.

48,739. And was it understood from the beginning that it was probable there would be an increase of demand for runners?—The result of every discussion was that until the dissolution arrived no more hands were to be employed than a certain number, the few that I have stated, the four.

48,740. Was it understood both in your committee and by the applicants for the work that there would be a large demand ultimately?—Not in that way.

48,741. How then?—It was always stated you must not employ more or pay more than a certain number, but take down as many names as apply; the implication was in case a different determination was come to.

48,742. And in point of fact you did take down or set down everybody who applied?—Yes; with an understanding, distinctly stated, that they would not receive anything for that, but they would be employed if we had employment for them, and not to be paid until they were definitely employed.

48,743. And if employed I need scarcely ask you whether you did not expect they would vote for your party?—Yes; I have no doubt of that.

48,744. You made use of the words "with an understanding." I suppose you mean with a statement. You stated you would pay them if they were employed, and not otherwise?—Yes.

48,745. The statement made to them, I suppose you mean, rather than an understanding?—Yes; the statement made to them.

48,746. Because an understanding made is rather an ambiguous phrase; it was stated to them?—Yes; the statement was what I meant.

48,747. Those men expected that they would be used?—Oh yes; they expected they would be used and paid.

48,748. The having their names down was a bond of union, a kind of link to connect them with your party?—I do not think that. I felt, or rather I thought, that they expected to be paid. I do not think there was any union; they would put their names down with me and with the orange party as well, and one man would have his name down at four or five committee rooms, blue and orange.

48,749. You had every reason to expect there would be work for them at some time?—Perhaps I had. I think that was an understood thing, that there would be work and payment hereafter.

48,750. Was not that in order to induce them to promise their vote, not in words, but did you not give them that expectation in order to secure them?—They would expect that without it being given to them.

48,751. They expected your work, and you expected their vote?—Yes; that was tacitly understood; quite a regular understood thing.

48,752. That was the mode of carrying on the business from time immemorial, as far as your experience goes?—As far as I know it.

48,753. You never knew it carried to so great an extent as on the last occasion?—I never mixed up with a committee before in an election at Hull.

48,754. When was it, in fact, there was an increase of the staff? I will direct your attention to a date when it first took place. It is in evidence that on the 30th of June resolutions were come to as to the increase of the staff by all the district committees. Do you remember being present?—I remember attending a central committee meeting, and I was always an advocate to be a little bolder than we were, and not coquetting quite so much with purity as we pretended to do; and I remember going from the central committee on that particular day to my branch committee room, and putting a sort of fire into it. Get all we can, that was my general instructions.

48,755. That was the understanding?—That was the understanding. We were limited to twelve; I had made up my mind to go beyond that if I could.

48,756. Was that the day when these resolutions were passed?—I left the committee room on or about then and increased the staff.

48,757. It was on the day the resolutions were passed?—On the 30th they were increased, and I might have sixteen or eighteen instead of twelve.

48,758. At that time it was generally considered, was it not, that the prospects of Moore and Butler were not very bright?—On the contrary.

48,759. At that time was not the orange party considered, to use a technical phrase, the favourites?—No, I do not think so; the canvassing seemed to be favourable.

48,760. In your judgment it was a favourable canvass?—Yes.

48,761. You mean of all classes?—Of all classes.

48,762. We know, in point of fact, you polled the majority of the householders?—Yes; we had a great run of respectable persons promised us definitely.

48,763. What do you mean by respectable persons?—I mean respectable householders.

48,764. I presume you never anticipated the majority of the householders, did you?—I could not form an opinion.

48,765. You are aware the blue party have never yet had the majority of the householders since the Reform Act?—I have been told so. I have seen the result of one election, and it has appeared that they have had a majority of freemen, I think, voting for them; that is rather out of my province.

48,766. At all events you thought it prudent not to throw away a chance?—Yes. Do you mean to say that reason was the cause of our increase?

48,767. Yes.—Well we stood in a very unpopular position by the few we were employing. Every district chairman made complaints of his being in the position that he was; it was a general complaint to the central committee at the meetings of the central committee by the district chairmen that they stood in an unpopular position by employing the few they were, and the constant rumours that the other party were employing so many more than us.

48,768. The effect would be that the more there were employed the more votes it was expected would be got?—Well that would be the natural consequence.

48,769. The complaints were made by all the district chairmen?—By all the district chairmen to the central committee.

48,770. That you were not getting on favourably with your canvass, owing to your limited means?—If I were a judge of what the others were doing by myself. My room was overrun with persons who wanted to be definitely employed, and asserting that in scores they could get employed at the other committee rooms without hesitation.

48,771. By the orange party?—Yes; I do not assert that was the case, but that is what they said.

48,772. You are merely stating that as a mode of accounting for your own proceedings?—I mentioned it to the central committee that we were bored by that sort of application.

48,773. You do not know that they could have been, you merely know that that statement was made?—I have no proof of it that it was so, but only that they said so.

48,774. Now, do you remember hearing it discussed in your committee, the plan to have clearing houses; additional houses I will call it; Mr. Wells's plan. I do not know if you happened to be in Court on Saturday?—Yes; I was in Court on Saturday.

48,775. Did you hear Mr. Wells's description of that very ingenious plan?—I did; I said at the time,—I do not know whether I said it,—I thought it was rather a complicated piece of machinery that would never work, but only confuse.

48,776. You said you thought it was extremely ingenious?—I did not attend to it; it did not belong to me.

48,777. You never thought much of it?—I thought the object was a very futile one.

48,778. At any rate it would advance the interests of the election by increasing the number?—Any way it would advance the work at the election.

48,779. The real work?—Yes.

48,780. It was very ingenious as creating work?—That never struck me; but I must tell you, that so little did I think of the plan, that I paid no attention to the tickets or cards that were sent to me.

48,781. Just explain yourself; I do not exactly understand the sense in which you use the word "futile"?—Useless for the purpose.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

48,782. Just explain that expression; do you mean that the system itself was an impracticable one?—Yes.

48,783. And that the work, supposing it to have succeeded, was quite useless as respects the election?—Some plan at an election is very necessary, to see exactly how you stand every ten minutes or every half hour, to see who has voted and who has not voted; it is very necessary, and this was the plan adopted. I thought it was a bad plan, because where so much depended on the stability and sobriety of so great a number of persons employed, and on an exciting day like that, I thought it was impracticable.

48,784. Was that the reason that the system would not work?—Yes.

48,785. That answer, as to its being for creating work, never struck you?—That never struck me.

48,786. Was it discussed at the committee?—Not much.

48,787. Was it passed unanimously? was there no division upon it?—I never had my mind sufficiently attracted to the subject.

48,788. Did you yourself, or anybody else, speak or vote against it?—I do not know—I never was present when it was brought before the committee in its fully discussed form and any division was come to on the matter at the meeting; I was not there at any time that the question was discussed nor any division took place upon it.

48,789. However the system was attempted to be carried out in your district?—I have answered that before.

48,790. It was attempted to be carried out?—It was concluded that certain tickets should be sent to all the district committee rooms.

48,791. Now just explain, "that the tickets would be sent," go on and explain how it was intended to be carried out?—My impression was, that the districts should fill up out of their surplus names parties most likely to work this system. I thought it not a good one. Tickets were upon my table in the committee room, but to the best of my recollection I paid no attention to them, and did not attempt to carry it out. I think still orders were given to send as many men as were willing to go to the central committee, to put themselves in communication with the parties, to be of any use they could.

48,792. Do you know if there were other chairmen who also took the same view as you did?—No; I do not know that.

48,793. You were to furnish a quota, I believe, of fifty men, and to fill up fifty tickets?—Yes.

48,794. Did you fill up any tickets of that sort?—I did not fill up any to the best of my recollection; my clerk might have done it; I did not, nor did I enter into the matter.

48,795. We have been told, in the morning the men were missing; did you tell the men to be in readiness? although you did not furnish them with tickets, were the men told to be in readiness?—No; I took no interest in that system.

48,796. Did you make any endeavour to carry the plan into effect?—I think I did not. I cannot charge my memory that I did.

48,797. What did you do with your surplus runners? did you send them all to the central committee?—I gave to the clerk a general order, to send any one that he thought would be of use to the central committee, to send them there.

48,798. Did you desire your clerk to send all the surplus runners that you had to the central committee on that day?—No; I should tell him what was wanted, and my remark would be this: you must send any that you think will be useful to them that we have here.

48,799. How many men had you set down at your committee room altogether?—I should not know, because they would be applying day by day, and as they applied for engagements at my rooms, the clerk would say, you can go to the central committee.

48,800. How many did you set down at your committee?—That I could not tell. If I had my memorandums I should be able. I shall be able to let you know all this. There is a gentleman whose name I will mention, that assisted me in paying them immediately after the election,—a Mr. Aitkins,—a very straightforward person.

48,801. Can you furnish us with the list of the names that were set down, out of which number were selected those that you employed?—Yes; I gave you in a list of names.

48,802. This is a list of the names?—And that would form the quantity. I should not have more than that, scarcely those,—they are put down from memory; we might have forgotten some of the names, but that will be the bulk of them,—if there are four or five others, it is as much as there are.

48,803. Did you find employment for all that are put down here?—No.

48,804. How many do you think you did find employment for?—At a given day it was ruled that we might add to our committee rooms, or have an additional committee room.

48,805. Give us the number of men?—I was going to explain the number of men we engaged through that, on account of additional committee rooms.

48,806. Just furnish the date, about the date, when you began "increasing" the number of committee rooms?—I think it was on the day the tidings came down of the dissolution of Parliament.

48,807. Did it come down on the 2d or 3d of July? Parliament was dissolved on the 2d?—From my own memory, I could not say; I heard it on Saturday in this Court, but I could not say.

48,808. Probably you heard it on the same day?—It would come by electric telegraph.

48,809. On that day you determined on increasing the committee rooms?—I could not say that day, but about that time.

48,810. It was about that time?—About that time.

48,811. Do you know whether you did increase, in fact, your number of committee rooms before that day?—I did in my district, one, and I got a blowing-up for it.

48,812. Which was that?—It was in High Street; I gave 6*l.* for it.

48,813. Were you blowed-up for its being too dear?—Yes; as well as for having engaged it.

48,814. Which was it; because it was too dear, or that you had engaged it?—The engaging it. It was said that I did wrong, and that I had jeopardized the election by it.

48,815. Was it because you had given too much?—No; because I had engaged the room. When I took it I thought I should want it; my district is rather wide, and on canvassing that part a room to call at would have been advantageous I thought.

48,816. It was at the Lion and Key?—Yes; the Lion and Key. You have my book there.

48,817. When you did that you appointed a staff I presume?—Not at first.

48,818. How soon did you appoint it?—When it was agreed that more hands should be employed.

48,819. On the 30th?—About that time. I employed another clerk, a doorkeeper, and two runners for that room.

48,820. How soon was it that you added the staff to it after the room was engaged?—Well I think it was on the day, or about the day, that it was carried that we should increase our numbers.

48,821. On or about the 30th?—Yes; I engaged the room before.

48,822. How long before had you engaged the room?—I should think three weeks.

48,823. You engaged the room three weeks before, and the price was 6*l.*, and you sent a staff there on or about the 30th?—Yes.

48,824. What was the landlord's name?—You have it in that little book; if you give it to me I can tell you.

48,825. Is the landlord's name Pennington?—I am not certain; I think that is his name. I must tell you I was very much blamed for engaging that room by the central committee.

48,826. The proprietor of the Lion and Key, I dare say, whatever his name was, voted blue?—Yes.

48,827. You had very little doubt of that after you had engaged his room?—Well I should expect that he would.

48,828. It is considered that when additional rooms are engaged in this way, it is always expected the proprietor should vote for the party who employ him?—I am quite certain I should not have engaged a room unless I thought we should have had the vote, unless it was for some great convenience.

48,829. Is it Thomas Luke Pennington?—Yes.

48,830. Did you send a flag and a staff there?—Yes; there were actual work hours there. There was something for them to do afterwards; during the first three weeks there was nothing done, in fact; I only engaged it to have it in readiness when I wanted it.

48,831. To secure it?—To secure it.

48,832. Did you hear that the orange party were coquetting with Pennington, or was he coquetting with them?—No, I did not hear that.

48,833. Did you hear there was a good deal of coquetery going on between one side and the other in the engagement of rooms?—I was told that Pennington had always voted for the others before that.

48,834. He had always voted orange?—Yes.

48,835. Did he say he was going to vote orange then?—No, he was going to vote blue.

48,836. Before you hired the room?—No.

48,837. He did not say anything about voting blue?—No, he did not; he told me he was going to vote blue after we had got his room.

48,838. He was one of the sort of persons whom you thought it useful should have something?—I thought I should want a room in that district and I took it.

48,839. Did you think you would want Pennington?—As being the means of securing a vote. I have no doubt I should think of that. I do not know that that operated on my mind, but it really would have some weight.

48,840. What staff did you send?—I sent a Mr. Hellyer.

48,841. In what capacity?—As a clerk; and three runners.

48,842. Give us their names?—They would be on that bit of paper that you have got there.

48,843. They are included in this list?—Yes.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

48,844. Does this paper include the staff of the sub-committee ?—That includes the staff of all I had and all I paid, within two or three.

48,845. I do not know whether you paid the sub-committees ?—All the district chairmen paid every one themselves, or their deputy chairmen.

48,846. Paid not only their own staff, but paid their own sub-staff ?—Yes, exactly so ; those that were appointed and they were accountable to.

48,847. Did you send after that more than three runners ?—Three runners and one clerk.

48,848. You are asked if you sent more ?—No.

48,849. Why did you not send twelve ?—We had not the privilege; those twelve were only intended to go as far as the district committee rooms were concerned, and not to any sub-committee rooms.

48,850. What other addition did you make ?—One in Dagger Lane.

48,851. What was the name of that other ?—The Boy and Barrel is the name. I do not know the landlord's name, but I am told the landlord's name is Harvey.

48,852. Was that before or after the 30th ?—This would be the room that I did then bring into existence on that motion, on that day.

48,853. On the 30th ?—Yes, about that day ; the Boy and Barrel would be the one.

48,854. What did you pay for that ?—£ 2.

48,855. That was to secure his room and his vote ; you killed the two birds with one stone, did you not ?—Yes.

48,856. And did you appoint a staff there ?—Yes ; one clerk and three runners.

48,857. Who was the clerk ?—The landlord was the clerk also.

48,858. Was he paid also for that ?—No ; he was not paid additional.

48,859. Was he not paid for both ?—He was not paid for both.

48,860. Are you sure of that ?—Yes, quite.

48,861. Did he ask ?—I will not be positive.

48,862. It is not quite so sure that he did not ask as that he did not get it ?—I would not say that he was not paid ; besides, the fact is they were getting scarce by this time.

48,863. You were using up your list of runners in this way, the list of men you had got set down ?—Yes, but in a very small degree, because you see there were only six.

48,864. Did you add any more ?—No.

48,865. There were no others in your district ?—Not any more of my appointing, and of which I know anything. One day I was going along Fish Street, and I saw a blue flag out of a window, and out of curiosity I went in to see what was going on; it was in my district, and I knew nothing about it. I found a Mr. Sibbon there.

48,866. Sibbon's, a coffee house ?—Yes, in Fish Street.

48,867. What did you find there ?—I found a clerk writing, and some persons, two or three attending at the room in the form of runners. I asked him what brought him into existence ; he gave me some reason which was unsatisfactory, and I came away.

48,868. Have you heard since the origin of that committee room ?—No, I have not.

48,869. And do you recollect the answer which was unsatisfactory, what it was ?—Oh, we are work here, getting on famously, or something like that.

48,870. That was not unsatisfactory ?—It was not a satisfactory answer to my question.

48,871. You asked one question and he gave you some other answer ?—He gave me a cheering sort of remark, not an answer to my question, and I walked away.

48,872. Do you recollect what the answer was ?—We are going on gloriously.

48,873. You said to him, "Who appointed you ?" and the answer was, "we are going on gloriously" ?—Yes, that was it.

48,874. Did he say he was appointed by Mr. Bannister ?—No.

48,875. Did he mention his name ?—No.

48,876. Now Legitt's ?—Legitt's was a place that came into existence without my knowledge, and was existing some time before I knew anything of it.

48,877. Now what did you make inquiries about there ?—The first I heard of it was a great number of persons were applying to me to put their names down, and I refused to engage them, and they said, "we can get put down at Legitt's."

48,878. You said, "set down," just explain that ?—A number of persons called at the room to be employed, not only to be set down, but as we understood, to be employed, and I refused, and they said they could get it down elsewhere, 48,879. They could get what done elsewhere ?—Get themselves put down elsewhere.

48,880. And you refused to set them down ?—Yes.

48,881. And then they said they could get set down somewhere else ?—Yes ; and they were set down, employed, and paid.

48,882. They said they could be set down at Legitt's ?—Yes, nearly for a week before I thought it was an orange committee.

48,883. I understood you to say they said they could get set down at Legitt's ?—Yes ; that Legitt was setting down and paying, that was all.

48,884. Legitt's is in Minerva Terrace ?—Yes.

40,885. Next door but one to Mr. Bannister's ?—Yes.

48,886. Did Sibbon tell you who engaged him ?—I do not know ; I never did know.

48,887. Then did you go to Legitt's ?—I went to Legitt's. I went into the room. I saw a blue flag there, and I saw two or three men sitting round the room; I asked them what they were, and they said they were runners. I made no further inquiry but walked down stairs, and away I went to the central committee room.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

48,888. The room at Legitt's was in Minerva Terrace?—Yes; I went from there to the central room.

48,889. You went into Legitt's, in Minerva Terrace, and there you saw two or three runners?—I saw two or three men sitting round; they looked like sailors. Legitt was not there, and therefore I did not make any inquiries; those men said they were runners.

48,890. Did you mention what you had seen?—I went to the central committee room, and I mentioned what I had seen.

48,891. Who to?—I think it was to Mr. Wells; I do not know.

48,892. What did he say?—He did not seem to know anything about it.

48,893. Did you get any information at all?—No, I did not; save this sort of thing—I am trying to remember what impression I came away with—I think it was, let it exist and do not bother yourself with it. I left with this impression, that I was to come away and not bother myself about it.

48,894. About how long was this before the election; as much as a week?—I should think a month; about a fortnight or three weeks. From the confusion of things I cannot fix dates very well.

48,895. Tell us as near as you can?—I am afraid to say that it was a month, because I do not think it is so long.

48,896. It was a fortnight or three weeks to the best of your recollection?—Yes.

48,897. Did you ever hear any particular purpose that room was devoted to?—No; I never bothered myself about it afterwards.

48,898. You were told not to trouble and you did not bother?—It was not exactly in that language; that was the impression I came away with.

48,899. You were told not to trouble yourself about it and you did not?—Legitt, after this, used to come once a week to my clerk, with a list of runners he had down, to tick the names off with my clerk, to see if the same names were down at both places.

48,900. He had a book or paper containing a list as well as you?—He had a piece of paper.

48,901. Do you know how many Legitt had down in his list?—No.

48,902. It was to strike out double entries, I suppose?—Yes.

48,903. Out of which was the second entry struck, from your list or his?—Out of mine; I wanted to reduce any number I had; I was always anxious to bring mine down to the lowest number.

48,904. The double entry was reduced by striking the name out of your list?—Yes; where it was practicable.

48,905. If it was in his also?—Unless he was a practical working man of mine.

48,906. Unless he was a man already engaged and employed by you, of course, then you struck him out of his list?—Yes.

48,907. And where they contained two of the same name, then the reduction was made by striking the name out of yours?—Yes. I might mention it is very essential in such cases to have steady men, and especially as my committee room was at a public house.

48,908. You were anxious to reduce your unemployed list?—Yes; my unemployed number of names set down.

48,909. Your unemployed list?—Yes.

48,910. Do you remember any other sub-committees in your district?—No; there was no other, I believe. I was going about. I wanted to have another room in Blanket Row, that is close against the polling booth, on the day before the election, but I happened to go into the house of the person at whose house the polling booth was to be held, which the sheriff had appointed as a polling booth, and the man said he could not take me. I understood he afterwards stated I wanted to bribe him. I did not; at that time I really wanted a room close against the polling booth, and I did not get one, and could not get one.

48,911. What were those runners at these extra committee rooms employed in; in carrying messages from one to another?—In my committee room they were really hard worked.

48,912. But in these extra sub-committee rooms?—They were not at work, I think, very hard.

48,913. They had nothing to do?—They did bring circulars occasionally to the central committee room.

48,914. I suppose you made as much work for them as you could, but still could not find enough?—Sometimes we had work to do; letters to send to voters, or to any one else. It was a rule, wherever we heard of another voter that lived in another district, we used to send to the chairman of that district all the information we could get for him, as he belonged to that district, to see after him.

48,915. Did you exchange lists of doubtful voters among the different district committees; for instance, did the chairman of one district committee communicate to another chairman if he was in another chairman's district?—Every information about a voter in his district.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

48,916. We understand from Mr. Wells that the chairmen went there themselves every day?—So they did.

48,917. They had the opportunity of exchanging at the central committee?—Yes; but when we went there it was only generally half an hour, or an hour's discussion, upon other matters, not going into detail.

48,918. You could have carried it with you; there was nothing derogatory to your dignity to have carried it with you?—These are things occurring every moment; things that you hear every moment, and we were anxious to communicate everything that did occur as it occurred.

48,919. It comes to this, that you made as much work for the men as you could?—Not in this way.

48,920. In different ways?—We were anxious to give them employment; these were essential duties to perform.

48,921. They were in some instances, of course, and you made more if you could?—Yes; as a rule, we wanted to keep ourselves perfectly pure.

48,922. The disposition was to make work, and employ them with it, to keep yourselves within the clauses of the Act of Parliament?—Yes; there was a disposition for that.

48,923. I understand you to say this paper contains a list of all you paid, not all that you set down at your room?—I say there are some names which we might have forgotten, which are not in that list.

48,924. That you paid?—Yes.

48,925. And besides those, there were a list of persons that you set down whom you did not pay?—On the day of the election we would have considerably extended our liberality, if we could have got voters, and then I should have paid any other number that were set down, if they had voted for us. I might have had a great deal longer list than that, but on looking over them a day after the election to pay them, a great number of names I had got down did not vote for us.

48,926. After the election was over you looked carefully through it, to see how the men voted, before you paid them?—Yes; on the day after the election I must tell you how I paid them. My price for those I had engaged for any length of time was 3*s.* 6*d.* a day; on the day of nomination and on the day of election the payment was to be 5*s.* per day. As they came up on the day after the election to be paid I ticked off the book to see how many days they had been in attendance, and I calculated it if it was five or six days at so many 3*s.* 6*d.*, and some were there at 5*s.*, to see what the sum was. I also saw how they voted. I then put the amount in a piece of paper, and handed it over to two gentlemen who assisted me, one to tick off and see how many were there on each day. I calculated how much it came to. I put it in a bit of paper, and handed it over to another gentleman to pay them. I think his name was Jackson.

48,927. Did you not find, after the election was over, several persons who had voted wrong?—After all, have you any doubt that the whole of this list voted for you?—They all voted for us. I was going to say I did pay one or two that voted against us, because they were such useful men to me.

48,928. In the ordinary course of business it would have been a tolerably good criterion of their usefulness if they had voted right?—Not barely so; unless there was a better excuse for paying them than simply that they would not have been paid. I must tell you that Mr. Wells every day kept frightening us fearfully by sending us quotations from the Bribery Act, and all that sort of thing, damping us most tremendously in what we were doing.

48,929. He put his own construction upon the Act of Parliament?—Yes, he did.

48,930. Did he send you any instructions; anything more than the clauses of the Act of Parliament, and leave you to find out the meaning of them?—He only sent us the clauses, but the thing was discussed at the general committee. I wanted to win the election if I could. I wanted to do what was needful, as I thought, to win the election. There was liberality on the other side, but we were not allowed to give even so much as a glass of ale.

48,931. Had you several applications, after the election was over, with reference to the poll sheets; applications from persons who had voted on the other side?—No; I do not think we had more than one or two.

48,932. Can you tell us their names. This is one of the most material things, if you can find out those names?—I am sure I could not remember myself; I will charge my memory with it, and if I can I will inform you.

48,933. You see in a moment the importance of it?—Yes, I see your motive for it.

48,934. It is the pinch of the inquiry?—I had always a very good helpmate by me, who has a good memory, the gentleman on my right.

48,935. Perhaps he will be able to answer it by-and-by?—He will be able to answer it a great deal better than I can.

48,936. To the best of your recollection there were not more than two or three?—I do not think there were more than two. I paid one or two.

48,937. Were there more than one or two that applied to you?—I am sure I should be applied to by some that had not voted, and I should turn my back upon them.

48,938. You refused to pay them?—Yes.

48,939. With regard to the one or two you paid, you say they had been very useful?—They had been useful men, and steady.

48,940. When you paid them did you know how they voted; did you know then, or did that come out afterwards?—Yes; I paid one that I knew had voted against us, and I paid one, too, who had voted half against us, and half not.

48,941. I want to know if you knew it when you paid them, or found it out afterwards?—I am quite sure I knew one who had voted against us.

48,942. I dare say you gave him a bit of a blowing up?—It is no use when it is over.

48,943. Did you not ask him how he came to turn traitor?—No; if I had made up my mind to pay I should pay, irrespective of any further bother about it.

48,944. Let me finish this one matter; had the one you paid knowingly voted one and one?—Yes; I paid that one.

48,945. The one that you paid knowingly, knowing he had voted against you, had he given you one vote and the orange party one vote?—The one or two I paid.

48,946. I say knowingly, knowing they had voted against you; the one that you knew had voted against you, had he not given you one vote and the others one vote?—No; he voted against us entirely.

48,947. But I think I understood you, you will correct me if I am wrong, that you had several applications from persons who had voted against you, and you turned your back upon them?—Some; that might include two or three.

48,948. The one you did pay you considered he had broken faith with you?—No, I did not.

48,949. Why not?—I should have liked him to have voted, but I never had from him a promise that he would, or an understanding that he would.

48,950. What was your understanding about him?—My understanding was that he was a very steady good man.

48,951. Did you not understand he was going to vote for you, and were you not surprised that he did not?—I should be surprised if he did.

48,952. Do you remember his name; being so steady a man perhaps you might?—I do not remember his name; you will find his name, perhaps, in that list.

48,953. Look and see if you can find it (the list was handed to the witness)?—No, I could not point it out; there is the name of Bell there.

48,954. You think it was Bell?—I think it was Bell; I do not recollect the fact; I do know in one instance that was so. I will try to find it out and let you know.

48,955. Have you had applications also after the election was over, from persons to be paid who had done you no service beyond that of voting?—Yes.

48,956. How many do you think?—All of those, and there are more that are not done there; we will endeavour to get those names; all of those, except about twelve or fourteen, would be useless.

48,957. How many are there?—I think there would be about twenty.

48,958. There are twenty-eight here?—Up to about fourteen, sixteen, or eighteen, they would not have done anything. It appears that I am rather wrong; more worked of those than what I said.

48,959. At some nominal work, not real?—Yes; some real work.

48,960. We are not talking about the nominal work, the sending the messages?—No; in that sense a great number of them really worked, and most of them worked nominal work.

48,961. How many do you think did real active work at the election?—My impression is, as I said before, from fourteen to eighteen.

48,962. Amongst other work did you send out cards that had Mr. Moore's name upon them?—Yes.

48,963. Some of the cards had nothing but the name of Mr. Moore upon them (a card was handed to the witness)?—We sent out something similar to this, perhaps this might be one, with a circular.

48,964. Look at that (handing a printed circular to the witness and some printed slips)?—I believe these were included.

48,965. Was the work you have spoken of incurred by sending out the papers you have there, to every voter I believe?—These were sent to every voter I believe.

48,966. As part of the work?—As part of the work, the circular &c.; besides.

48,967. You left the candidate's card at every voter's?—Yes, we did.

48,968. It is the visiting card without any address upon it?—Yes; for them to give us a return call; we hoped so however.

48,969. The other is principally an extract from the newspapers, and headed "Hull election, great meeting at the public rooms to receive the two Conservative candidates." Then there follows an enormous quantity of eloquence, and with that you sent another Hull election paper, headed "Central committee room, Bowl Alley Lane, Hull election, 1852." That is a circular signed Moore and Butler?—Yes.

48,970. A circular of that description, with a card and that paper, was sent to every voter?—Yes.

48,971. Of what use was that but to make work for the runners?—If I remember right, it was to put the voters in possession of the sentiments of the Conservative candidates.

Edwin Davis.
18th July 1853.

41,972. It was to meet the Conservative candidates?—Yes; I was always given to understand by Mr. Bramley Moore that he was a free trader as well as a Conservative. Though a person might go under a colour, they might have certain sentiments.

48,973. Apart from the colour, shades of opinion?—Shades of ideas, differing.

48,974. In point of fact, was the principal object of that to make work for the runners?—No; not that transaction.

48,975. Part of it?—I think that identical work you are now alluding to was done to show the courtesy necessary to the voters of the town, and to get them if possible.

48,976. Have you any knowledge of how many copies of that speech was made?—Well, if all the town was done, it would require nearly 6000 copies.

48,977. Am I correct in supposing it is an extract from the type of a newspaper?—I think it was at the time.

48,978. The newspapers here have a very extensive circulation, have they not?—Yes.

48,979. All the local press has a very fair circulation?—Yes.

48,980. For a local press it is an extensive circulation. I suppose these speeches would be published in every paper in the town?—I think so. I recollect at one time Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler, it was thought, would not be able to make a canvass personally, and there were certain plans devised to remedy that as much as possible, and that was by sending out their cards and a circular and their sentiments with it.

48,981. We merely want to know whether it was not the same thing that had already appeared in the newspapers?—Yes.

48,982. The effect of it was to make employment for your runners, and to increase the charges for printing,—that was the effect of it; was that the object of it?—I think not.

48,983. Did you anticipate some political advantage from the mere circumstance of circulating this among the people? If that was the object, it would be more important to circulate it among the orange party. It was to make political converts, in fact?—My intention was to pay the like attention to all.

48,984. I am talking of the importance of it. You intended to send it to all, but it would be of more importance, would it not, to make converts?—I am always desirous of paying greater attention to my enemies than my friends in such a case.

48,985. Can you explain why it is that you did not advertise in the orange newspaper?—I disagreed with that. I wished all publicity to be given to it.

48,986. But it seems to me infinitely more important to publish in your opponent's newspaper than your own, and you thought so too?—Yes; I did not see all things managed. Every little minute thing could not be gone into by the central committee.

48,987. Did you hear that an application was made on behalf of an orange newspaper of great circulation for an advertisement and that it was refused?—I never heard it until Saturday.

48,988. You were not aware that it had taken place at the time?—No.

48,989. Were you aware at the time, in point of fact, that the advertisements were not published in the orange newspapers?—I scarcely looked at any papers at that time; I was too much absorbed in other matters.

48,990. I do not exactly understand this list; it does not contain a list of all that were paid?—No.

48,991. How many more do you think besides those would be paid?—As I said before, I do not think there would be more than five.

48,992. Whether employed or not?—Whether employed or not; there are twenty-eight there.

48,993. There were thirty-three names set down, that would be all you paid?—That contains the names of all.

41,994. This list contains the name of only one Smithson, and you said there were three?—I think you are wrong.

48,995. There is only one?—Those names will have to be ticked off to see if they are included; one of those Smithson's I discharged.

48,996. It would assist us a good deal if you will take back this list, as all of them are very ordinary names, and put the numbers to them at another time?—Yes; I have said I shall be able to remember the residue of the names, and I hope you will have a more distinct statement.

48,997. Put the number in the register. I see there seventeen or eighteen of the names you mentioned?—If you can get the memorandum by which I got the money, the detailed account which I generally gave in weekly to Mr. Harris, I think you will get that eventually.

48,998. Now, I dare say you have heard the name of George Brown in Warham's lot?—Yes.

48,999. When did you first hear of that body of men?—I should think a week or more before the election.

49,000. I wish you would be so good as to begin at the beginning, and tell us all you know about it,—the application as to your party; I do not want to go into the other matters?—I will do that more concisely.

49,001. Merely as far as you had anything to do with it?—I think on the night prior to the election,—I have seen what has been said on that matter before which has refreshed my memory,—on the night prior to the election one man or two came into my committee room.

49,002. George Brown?—I do not know any of their names.

49,003. Is it the person we now know to be George Brown?—I do not know any of their names. A man came in, and wished to speak to me; he was introduced to me by one of my committee men.

49,004. I will put it shortly to you; did you enter into a negotiation with him?—I will explain it. This committee room I had was a very inconvenient one. He was introduced to me by saying, "This is the person representing the lot." I went out into the lobby, and I said, inquiringly, "What do you want?" He was evidently mysterious, and I asked the landlord if I could have a private room for a moment.

49,005. We have been told you went into a double bedded room?—He said, "You can have that room upstairs, there is no one there;" and with that I was shown into a bed room. I heard what he had to say; he said there were thirty of them, and he gave me to understand that they wanted money. Interrogatingly,—not to offer it,—I said, "Would 30*s.* do for you? I have no authority to offer that." I did not offer it, and with a toss of the head, he said, "Double that," or something like that. I said "I have no authority even to put that question to you," and "good night."

49,006. Was that all?—That is all that happened. I have seen the statement about my putting 5*l.* under a candlestick; that, I beg to state, is not true.

49,007. State what it is, and your own contradiction. You have heard that stated?—I have. It has been stated that I offered 5*l.* at a house in Humber Street, each man, for a lot called Wharam's lot, and that I put it under a candlestick.

49,008. That statement is not true?—There is not a particle of truth in it. In an interrogating form I asked what they would want, would 30*s.* do.

49,009. Did you lay any sum of money, any coins, on the table, as a token of what you intended?—Not at all.

49,010. You produced no money?—I produced no money.

49,011. Did you not offer a distinct sum of 2*l.*, or 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Perhaps I might have put in the same manner, in an interrogating form, 30*s.* or 2*l.* I might have done so, but having no authority, and having no funds, I am positive that nothing transpired beyond that, as to increasing the sum. I never offered any, or promised any.

49,012. It has never been stated that you did; all that has been stated is, that a negotiation took place?—The reason that I went so closely into private communication with this man was, I had heard of them frequently, and I wished to know what the other party was doing, that I, in some definite form, should be able to represent it to the central committee.

49,013. If you said, "Will 30*s.* do for you?" they would take it as an offer; did they not understand it so?—They could not, because I said I had no authority.

49,014. When a man says, "Will 30*s.* do for you?" it is understood that 30*s.* is to be given?—Yes.

49,015. You stated that your principal anxiety was to win the election?—It was.

49,016. And until you were, as you stated, frightened a good deal by Mr. Wells, probably you intended to have recourse to all means that you thought could ensure that result?—If we could have got the means, I have no doubt every chairman's sentiments were the same.

49,017. That is the money?—Yes.

49,018. If you had got the money you intended to have resort to all the means that you thought could ensure that result?—Yes.

49,019. Then, if I understand you, you made that your leading principle; to secure the election, only you have, from time to time, been frightened by Mr. Wells referring you to the Bribery Act?—Yes.

49,020. Did he commence that very early?—Yes.

49,021. I do not quite understand what particular Bribery Act he referred to?—Nor I.

49,022. If I understand you, the result of your reading, or of his interpretation of that Act, whatever it was, was this; that some employment must be given to the persons paid?—Yes.

49,023. That was the result you arrived at, either from his information, or your own reading of the clauses?—From his information.

49,024. Then after that, as I understand you, your system was carried to this extent, that you made employment?—We made employment, as I stated, by agreement with the other party, but we still continued to make further employment; all we could to save ourselves.

49,025. In other words, if I understand you, you thought that that employment would make you safe, within the clauses you have referred to?—That was it.

49,026. With regard to the agreement, as you have spoken about it, you seem t have broken it from the commencement, because you employed at the beginning four runners, when the agreement was to have only three?—Yes, I did; but at the time I employed four, the number of three was not definitively impressed upon my mind.

49,027. At the time you first employed four, you mistook it for three, because Mr. Wells has told us that the number agreed on between the two solicitors was three, and you have told us at the commencement you had four?—I never properly understood,

Edwin Davis.
18th July 1853.

for a long time, whether three was the number or four; whether it was with a doorkeeper, or four without a door keeper.

49,028. But you had two doorkeepers instead of one doorkeeper, and three runners. You had two door keepers, three runners, and one clerk; so that from the beginning that was a breach of the agreement to the extent of the door keepers?—I must tell you I never was hearty in the matter; the thing was arranged for us.

49,029. You were still pointing your attention to some employment, whether real or colourable; that was what you were looking to under the bribery clauses; to some employment, whether real or colourable, rather than to the agreement which was to employ a certain number?—Yes; just as I remember, Mr. Wells stated this; unless there was an actual necessity there was no more.

49,030. But the necessity was not to arise, according to Mr. Wells's view, until the dissolution; and, according to Mr. Galloway's view, not until the nomination day?—An actual necessity of labour required, at the district room employing it. For instance, if the number agreed on was not sufficient to do the actual labour required, of course the chairman must have another or two, if actually necessary.

49,031. You seem to have created the necessity, according to your own evidence. You stated that at first you had no liberty to engage, but you did engage, beyond the resolution, from the very first?—It was never objected to.

49,032. Not objected to by whom?—By the central committee; as to that additional man.

49,033. It was a breach as regards the other party. Then you also said that you took down the names at first, to report them to the central committee, "as I thought they might do as I dared not do." What did you mean by that, that they might do what you dared not do?—As they had to pay them, they might engage them if they liked. Had I engaged them I should not have got the money from the central committee to pay them.

49,034. But eventually you did pay those whom you employed, and some few others?—Yes.

49,035. You thought you would not have the means to pay them, and you did not therefore dare to employ them, but that the central committee would venture and would pay them?—The additional persons that were paid, were only taken on under payment about, perhaps, the day before the nomination day, but principally for the nomination day, and the election day. The increased number to which I paid a salary came into existence about the day before the nomination day, and only then.

49,036. You stated, I think, that the number, as I understand, was about thirty-two or thirty-three, that you paid eventually; that was twenty-eight on the list, and you said there were four or five more?—I wish I could get the exact number for you.

49,037. That is about the number?—Yes, about the number.

49,038. Did you, in addition to this number that you paid, set down a good many more?—There were a great number more set down.

49,039. At your place?—Yes.

49,040. Who was it actually entered those names?—The clerk, as they applied.

49,041. I do not know if you have given us his name?—Yes; you have his name.

49,042. Robert Todd; he was the person that actually put them into a book, or on a paper?—Yes; upon a paper.

49,043. You saw that list from time to time?—I did.

49,044. What should you say would be the total number of those set down, to the best of your remembrance?—Well, I should think not more than fifty or sixty.

49,045. They did not exceed sixty, you think?—Including the whole.

49,046. Then would the others of them, beyond the thirty-three, be transferred to the central committee list?—There would be some, on the day prior to the election, sent by my clerk in reference to this application about the tickets, which I took no note of at my room. I said to the clerk, "Send what will be useful to the central committee, in reply to their requirement," and of course he would do so. How many he did send, I could not tell you.

49,047. You seem to have paid some more than you actually employed, why did you not pay the whole sixty?—I should not have got the money, and hence my anxiety to reduce the amount required.

49,048. How was the money furnished to you from time to time?—The account I made out for labour and what little expenses were incurred during the week were sent in on the Saturday morning to the committee room. I always looked upon Mr. Harris as the treasurer. It was left there for examination by somebody, I do not know by who, and the money was forwarded to us at our separate committee rooms at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon for payment of the men.

49,049. Did you send in their names?—Yes.

49,050. Suppose you said you had sixty, would you get the money?—I should not have got the money; I had difficulty in getting the money as it was; in one or two instances I felt so annoyed that I threatened to pay it out of my own pocket and have done with it, and not see them again.

49,051. The six guineas, did you pay that out of your own pocket?—I got them eventually to accept that transaction

49,052. Before the money was paid?—Before the money was paid, and that committee room and the district committee room were paid by the central committee, not by the chairman of the committees.

49,053. If they had furnished you with the funds you would have paid all the sixty?—Yes.

49,054. How was it they kept you so short?—Poverty they said.

49,055. Their poverty, but not their will, consented?—Their will consented, but their peverty would not let them.

49,056. Did they all get paid, those fifty or sixty?—No.

49,057. Did you send in the names?—I had nothing to do with the surplus lot; I have reason to believe that none of them went in to the central committee, but they went elsewhere.

49,058. To your own party?—Not to our party; my impression is that I have no data.

49,059. Where?—I say I have no data, my impression is so.

49,060. You seem to have found several means of employment which you mentioned to us, as far as you could; did you, in the end, pay all that you had sufficient money to pay, who had voted right?—I should tell you I keep a shop, and therefore it would be very inconvenient to me to have a lot of claims boring me in our shop when our shop was full of customers, and the very day following I told the clerk to get every figure ready to pay them at once, and the central committee stated they were going to pay some portion of the regular weekly expenses immediately, and the residue at some future period, perhaps a week; that would be equally inconvenient to me, and I proceeded then to have all the figures made out by my own clerk, to see what I had to pay, resolving that they should all be paid, if I paid it out of my own pocket; and I went to the committee room with money in my pocket to pay all that had any claims, whether I got the money or not previously, to avoid the inconvenience of callers; and I could not say now whether I paid the money before I got it, or whether I got the money before I paid it; I know that I had a sovereign and a half, or two sovereigns, perhaps three; I had some small sum of money to return to the central committee.

49,061. Did you include in those payments all of those you still retained in your list and who had voted right?—Yes. Some time after this I had an application for a sovereign or 30*s.* by a woman, stating that her husband was upon our list as a runner, and that he was gone to sea, but he had deputed her to get the money; I referred her to Mr. Wells, stating that any little balance I had had been paid over to him.

49,062. What was her name?—I am very sorry to say I cannot tell you; I have a sad memory of names. Well, she came again and again, and I referred her to Mr. Wells, and I think some one told me that Mr. Wells refused to pay her. The woman came again; she came so frequently, and stated such a pitiful tale, that I did give her a sovereign or 30*s.*, and I should have done the same because she annoyed me so much, but I believe her husband voted for us.

49,063. You mentioned some employment that you gave in this way; do you know a party who were at the hustings to shout?—I am obliged to you for mentioning it; I did employ a party.

49,064. Did you know of a party who were employed at the hustings to shout?—It was not at the hustings, it was at a room I engaged in the Market Place for Moore and Butler to speak from; there would be a crowd, especially as it was going to be opposite the dining room of Lord Goderich and Mr. Clay.

49,065. At the Cross Keys?—Opposite the Cross Keys; I saw some gentlemen there that I see here now sitting in the bow window.

49,066. What day was this? what time about the election I mean?—It was a week, I should think, before the election

49,067. When the candidates had arrived?—Yes; and when they were going about the different wards.

49,068. Then you hired a room at Dean's in the Market Place for those gentlemen to speak from?—Yes. The crowd I knew would be very great, and half the credit of the management of the thing would depend upon me, being in that district. A man of the name of Dry, I think R. Dry, and T. Tadman, came to me and said they could get 100 or 120 men for 6*d.* each, to do what I wanted them to do, to keep a hearing for the candidates on our behalf in the centre of the crowd.

49,069. You did not send them up into the bow window opposite?—No; that would have been the better plan, I think.

49,070. What did they do?—There was an enormous crowd, and there was squalling and hallooing, and I hired these men in the morning for the purpose being there to keep a hearing for the two candidates. Those two men said they could get more than a hundred, and I asked them how much a man they could get them at, and they said sixpence a man; they could get any number at sixpence a man. I had thirty half-crowns by me, and I gave those thirty half-crowns to Tadman and Dray to get those men to shout, halloo, and applaud.

49,071. While your candidates were speaking?—Yes.

49,072. Do you know how many they got?—I do not.

49,073. Did you hear their names at that time?—No, I did not.

49,074. Did they not furnish you with the names?—I cannot say; I think not.

49,075. Did you have their names at any time?—No, I think not.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

49,076. Do you know whether they were voters any of them?—No; they were below voters even.

49,077. Freemen, would they be of that class?—Yes; but they were not employed by me; they would be of that class alone.

49,078. It was not another mode of employment?—No, it was not at all; it was to get a hearing.

49,079. Were Dry and Tadman voters?—Tadman is a voter, but Dry is not I think.

49,080. I suppose you do not know how they distributed the thirty half crowns?—No; I was told afterwards that they did not apply the money to the purpose that they told me of.

49,081. Still there was a good noise made?—There was.

42,082. A good deal of shouting?—Yes, but it was all of no use; the other lot apparently had got possession, and whatever number we had for the purpose we were outdone in the same sort of way.

49,083. Did they meet you in the same way?—Well, we seemed to be outdone by them.

49,084. You spoke of some committee room that you engaged, did you apply to a man of the name of the name of Dewick for his room; Dewick, a wood turner?—I mentioned the name of Dewick.

49,085. Did you offer him 3*l.* for a room?—No doubt; that was the limit we had to go to.

49,086. And you said he was to vote for Moore and Butler?—I heard that he said so, but I never mentioned such a thing, inasmuch as I knew that he was on the committee on the other side, to the best of my remembrance.

49,087. Was the room of which you spoke next to the polling booth?—Yes, it was next the polling booth; but at the time I did not know it, for the under sheriff called on me afterwards to say it was so.

49,088. There was a man of the name of Tadman, whose name I have mentioned, did you pay him 10*s.* 6*d.* for a certain number of days employment?—I dare say I should if he had been at work three days up to the Saturday night, for we paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

49,089. Do you recollect also whether you paid him 30*s.* for a former election?—No.

49,090. You do not?—No.

49,091. You say you do not recollect it, or did you not do it?—I say I do not recollect it; I believe I can also add I did not do it; I do not think I, myself, can have forgotten it if I had.

49,092. Do you mean you did not pay any money on the late occasion as for a previous election?—Never.

49,093. Not to any one?—Not to any one.

49,094. With regard to this scheme of Mr. Wells', you did not much approve of it, I understand you to say?—I did not enter into it.

49,095. Did you consider it was rather a plan by which employment might be made, than that would advance the election?—I never gave it that consideration.

49,096. What did you think?—That it was to advance the work of the election.

49,097. To advance the work of it?—Yes.

40,098. Did you think it would advance the result?—No; that idea, as I said before, never entered my thoughts.

40,099. I understand you to have said that; did you think it was a plan that would advance the result of the contest?—Oh yes; if voters had been engaged, or if it had been the intention.

49,100. Advance the result in that way, by means of employment?—If it had been intended to engage voters to carry it out, but I never heard that it was.

49,101. Why did you offer so much money as six guineas at the Lion and Key; you told us just now the usual price was three guineas or 3*l.*?—I was giving, I think it was, two guineas a week for my own central committee room, I think it was 30*s.*, some sum like that for the central committee room. I was engaging them very early in the affair; calculating it at the rate of 1*l.* a week I thought would not have been too much at the time, not knowing what I should want; I made that calculation and gave that round sum 6*l.*

49,102, You did not do that with anybody else?—No.

49,103. I want to know why you did it in this case and not to others?—From no reason except with regard to many. I thought afterwards——

49,104. Was not your reason that the man was an orange voter?—No, it was not; for he would have let me the room for 3*l.*

49,105. You did not know?—No.

49,106. Did you give him six guineas without knowing whether he would take a lesser sum?—There was no reason given.

49,107. Was it the first that you took?—The first beyond the number specified in the book; the first I have taken except the central principal committee room.

49,108. The first additional room?—Yes.

49,109. Beyond the central and district room?—No; beyond the district committee room; the first I had taken besides the Shakespeare.

49,110. Did you make your own bargain for your own room?—At the Shakespeare?

49,111. Yes.—Yes.

49,112. What did you pay for that?—I asked the man what he wanted, and he told me some small sum.

49,113. I do not want the detail of the amount?—I asked what he wanted and he asked a small sum; I took him at his word and engaged it. Afterwards we heard that others got more, and we were obliged to raise the price from 15*s.* to 2*l.* a week, to the final sum, whatever it was.

49,114. Do you know of the Boy and Barrel, that you only engaged for 2*l.*?—No.

49,115. I cannot understand why you gave six guineas to others?—One was only a colourable price, and the other was for use.

49,116. You stated that there were some persons who came up to you to be paid, and you adopted the form of the question as we put it to you, that you turned your back upon those persons who did not vote for you; what applications did they make, and what did you say; they applied to be paid and what did you say; what did you give as your reason for not paying them?—Scarcely a reason at all, except to tell them to go about their business.

49,117. They were on your list?—Yes; but they had not voted.

49,118. I want to know what you said, "I shall not pay you because you have not voted for us"?—I should not be so impudent as that.

49,119. Turning your back on people coming to ask for 30*s.* or 40*s.* is not considered a payment or an equivalent to it; what did you say to them, I want to know?—I cannot remember what I should do or say.

49,120. These were men you could hardly say "go about your business" to; in the first place it would not be a very civil and proper manner to answer their request. I want to know what passed?—I should not hesitate much about the sort of civility; I should be as quick as I could, and have done with it.

49,121. Had you got the poll book before you when you were paying?—It was not there; none of those men came into the room the day I was paying, scarcely.

49,122 This was after the election?—It would be on meeting me in the street that these applications would be made.

49,123. Do I understand you to say, persons came to you who had voted against you, in your shop, or the place you attended to pay them at?—The men that came to the room; I was paying at the room.

49,124. When these persons came to you at the room who you found, had voted against you, I want to know what you said to them?—I do not think any more than one applied at the room that had not voted for us.

49,125. You said, "I turned my back on some who had voted against us, and did not pay them"?—If you will just listen,—while I was sitting at the table it would not be very easy to turn my back on them.

49.126. In the room?—It was not in the room, as I have said.

49,127. Was it in the street?—In the street, as I was promiscuously about; some stranger would meet me in the street and ask for them.

49,128. Only one applied in the room?—Only one.

49,129. And the others in the street; what did you say to them?—I should have said, "Go about your business," and walk away from them.

49,130. You thought it rather an impudent thing?—I thought they had no right to ask me.

49,131. I can understand what was passing in your mind; I want to know what you said to them; you must have given some answer?—I cannot tell you.

49,132. Some reason?—What could I say but "Go about your business."

49,133. You could say this: "You are down on my list; you were down to be employed, and you were down on the understanding that you were to be paid; as you did notv ote I shall not pay you"?—I should not stop to go into so much particularity as that.

49,134. I want to know whether you gave any reason?—I did not.

49,135. You did not give any reason?—Not such a reason.

49,136. What reason?—Why, no reason at all.

49,137. Then could each party understand the other without a word?—Exactly so.

49,138. They came and asked for money, and of course you would know how they voted?—Some of them would ask anybody for money, and try to get it too. This Tadman voted against us.

49,139. These people were on your list?—So was Tadman on my list.

49,140. Was he the one you paid?—I paid him before.

49,141. Before he voted?—Before the election, a week.

49,142. His case has no application to what I am asking about; why do you tell me about Tadman who you paid afterwards? do I understand you to say, you said nothing but "Go about your business"?—I should say that, and imply it by my actions.

49,143. That is by not putting your hands in your pockets and giving 10*s.*, I suppose?—Yes.

49,144. You thought that they, knowing how they had voted, would easily guess the reason?—It would be a piece of bold effrontery.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

49,145. You state when you saw the party of thirty, Brown's lot, you thought it was properly a matter of inquiry?—Yes.

49,146. You said also you had no authority to bargain with them?—No.

49,147. Suppose they had said, "We will take the 30*s.*," what would you have said then?—I could not have offered it.

49,148. You did offer it?—I did not.

49,149. Suppose they had said, "That will do"?—I should have said, "Very well; I will lay the facts before the central committee, and you shall have an answer."

49,150. Do you mean to say you would not have taken their names at once?—No.

49,151. You would not?—No; because they were well known; it would not have been necessary.

49,152. You mean you had not authority to complete the bargain with them?—No authority.

49,153. You were the chairman?—I had neither authority nor courage to do such a thing.

49,154. I do not mean authority to do this individually; you said you would have reported?—Yes.

49,155. Is there anything else upon which you wish to give information to the Commissioners?—There is one thing I will tell you gratuitously, lest it should come hereafter. On the day of the election, when I was very warm upon the subject, and I was very hopelessly pressed, nine men presented themselves to me; I could not tell you their names. They wanted to vote for us, and pointed out some of the orange party who were at their elbows ready to give them 30*s.* if I did not give them the same. I had had some of them in my employment before. I said, I dare not do so. I still went to another gentleman, an utter stranger to me, and gave him a handful of money, and I said, "Get those men if you can," and he did so. That is all I consider as decidedly bad that I did.

42,156. Did he get them?—He did, I believe.

49,157. Who was the gentleman?—I would ask as a favour not to mention his name; he is not here,—he is not to be found in England,—he was not a resident in Hull at the time. I have made inquiry for him since, and he has left the town where he lived; and if you would excuse his name I should be glad, as he is a stranger.

48,158. Is he in the United Kingdom?—I do not know.

49,159. We must have his name; we cannot omit one. We are liable to a penalty of 500*l.* a name?—Not if you do not know his name.

49,160. He is liable to it if he should be discovered; he is therefore entitled to come here, and to have the opportunity to get relieved of these penalties,—it is fair to him to give his name?—I will let you know it through Mr. Shaw.

49,161. I think you must mention it in Court; we want to know how much you gave him?—I gave him 18*l.* When he was away from the town,—it is more than 100 miles from here,—he remitted to me 4*l.* 10*s.* as the balance of that transaction.

49,162. What o'clock was it?—Twelve o'clock on the day of the election.

49,163. When he remitted the balance, was it in writing,—by a note?—By letter.

49,164. With the names of the parties that he had paid?—I think he did.

49,165. Perhaps you will let us have them?—The transaction was altogether over. I should put the money in my pocket and tear up the letter immediately.

49,166. Did you tear up the letter?—Yes; I am sure I did.

49,167. He might come to you again; it was rather important to keep the paper?—I did not.

49,168. Did you enter it on some paper?—No; nowhere.

49,169. Were you repaid by the central committee?—I put it down in a lump as sundries.

49,170. Did you never make any return of those names?—Yes; I think you will find a return of those names; I communicated them.

49,171. To the central committee?—Yes.

49,172. Where was this done?—I gave the money in the street.

49,173. Where were these nine people?—At a little public house nearly opposite my committee room; and by the bye, I recollect now, I fancy this public house I had previously taken and given a sovereign for the use of it for a day.

49,174. What was the name of the public house?—I could not tell you; it is just opposite my commiteee.

49,175. Is it the Sir John Falstaff?—Mr. Wilde will be able to tell you all these things.

49,176. There are not several public houses opposite?—I do not think so; I will get it, but I really did not notice sufficient to know.

49,177. What did you take the public house for?—I thought we should want a quiet room.

49,178. What did you take it for?—I thought we should want a quiet room to do any correspondence in, to tick off the names as they voted; and really to have a room for all the general purposes as well as the ticking off the names would produce such confusion, the ticking of the persons who had voted and fetching up the persons who bad promised would produce such confusion that a committee room would be needed.

49,179. To tick off the names as they voted?—Yes; to know who to fetch up.

49,180. Was there any other transaction of this kind?—No, not any; this is the only transaction that I know of that was not done straightforwardly.

49,181. We think you must tell us the name?—I cannot.

49,182. The name of the gentleman to whom you gave the money?—If I must I will. The name is Ouston—I cannot tell the Christian name—and he resided at Nottingham.

49,183. What is his business?—I do not know.

49,184. In what rank of life is he?—A very respectable young man.

49,185. Is he a commercial traveller?—I believe he is, now I am reminded of it.

49,186. Is he brother of the grocer in Hull?—Yes.

49,187. Is his name David Ouston?—No; I think not.

49,188. Is there anything else you can tell us, because you must tell us all?—I have told you all.

49,189. Is there not the name of John Smith amongst those persons paid? do you remember whether you set down that person's name, "John Smith"? Read that entry (handing a paper). "John Smith, 2, Owen Square," did that paper come to your hand with the name of John Smith upon it, or something written upon it?—I could not say "Yes," or "No."

49,190. After this paper came to you was this written upon it, "Is this man a runner on your committee?" signed "R. Todd," your clerk? that must have been written on it after it came?—Yes.

49,191. And this answer is written upon it by Charles Wells: "He resides at 26, High Street, and will be all right if employed," signed Charles Wells?—It would go through my clerk's hands.

49,192. I want to know whether this is not an answer to the question put to your clerk; the red ink is the question and the black is the answer to it?—I should think my clerk would tell you better about that; it did not come through my hands.

49,193. Did you not afterwards set him down after you had got the answer from Charles Wells?—I should think that he would be set down, very possibly he would be, but I do not think he would be set down at my committee.

49,194. There is one other person about whom I want you to give some information. Just see whether that is a note written by you to Mr. Ward and Mr. Moore (handing a letter): is that addressed to Mr. Ward the chairman of the committee?—Yes.

49,195. Who is the other gentleman to whom it was addressed?—Richard Bramley Moore.

49,196. The candidate?—Yes; this person I recollect came to me.

49,197. Read it?—"Dear Sir,—The bearer comes to me four, votes, to know if I will let him have handkerchiefs and ribbons, he says, to Mr. Moore's order; please say what I am to do. If such is the case countersign this. Yours, Edwin Davis."

49,198. Did you give any answer to that?—No; this man came to me in this way; in the first place, I did not believe him; he came and said Mr. Bramley Moore had ordered him to do so; I did not believe him, and tried to get rid of the matter in that way, and I wrote that letter.

49,199. Nothing was done on it?—Nothing was done.

49,200. Had you many applications of that sort?—No; that is the only one. That man Dry stated he had been with Mr. Bramley Moore all the morning, which I knew to be untrue; and he said that Mr. Bramley Moore had sent him to me to give him some handkerchiefs. I did not believe him, and so I got rid of him that way.

49,201. I believe you had a considerable bill at the last election for silk and ribbons?—No; I think only 1*l.* 18*s.*

49,202. What was your account against the candidates or their committee?—£1 18*s.*; at the former election, Brown's election, I received 200*l.*

49,203. I think you said you made peyments on the day of the election?—Not quite so soon, because the figures were not ready.

49,204. Was it in the week?—It was in the week, either on the Saturday, or before the Saturday of the same week.

49,205. Be good enough to furnish us with some additional names?—You shall have everything I have got.

49,206. Did you not pay some after that?—I think all were paid that week that came to the place to get paid; there was one left out that called on me at the shop afterwards.

49,207. Do you recollect paying William Watson, junior, a sum of 30*s.*?—I had some Watsons on my list; I think that must have been one.

49,208. A freeman?—Yes.

49,209. I am told it was on a Monday you paid him?—I should say if it was owing to him he would have been paid on the Saturday if he applied.

49,210. I want to be sure if you have got him on the list?—There was one Watson or two Watsons I paid.

49,211. You put their names down?—Yes.

49,212. We were told you paid Watson on the Monday, at the time you had a book with you making payments?—I should not have had a book for the purpose of making payments, because I had washed my hands of it on the Saturday, as far as I could.

Edwin Davis.

18th July 1853.

49,213. You have been asked about this interview in the bedroom of the Shakspeare, respecting Brown's party?—Yes; Wharam's party.

49,214. Did you not, in addition, pay some people in a bedroom, at the Shakspeare, at another time?—Never, to my remembrance.

49,215. Do you recollect a man of the name of Porrell and Blyth?—No.

49,216. Fox; do you remember paying that man, or producing some money in a bedroom at the Shakspeare?—To the best of my remembrance, that night going into the bedroom was the first night I had been in that room.

49,217. There might be other bedrooms?—Not that were comeatable at all.

49,218. Do you recollect paying any money in a bedroom?—Not that I remember.

49,219. Or making promises in a bedroom?—I cannot remember; I think not.

49,220. These are the names: Porrell, Blyth, Fox, and Oglesby?—Porrell is a name that I remember on one.

49,221. Perhaps he would be on your list—Porrell, Blyth, Fox, and Oglesby?—Oglesby was one of the nine; one of the names, very probably, on the list I have handed in.

49,222. Did you hear. on the morning of the election, that there was a considerable defection, at other committee rooms, of persons who were expected to have met at the different sub-committee rooms, for the purpose of carrying out Mr. Wells's scheme?—I did not hear that; I heard that there had been a great defection; that the parties that were our runners were going from us on the morning of the election; but, as connected with Mr. Wells's plan, I did not know.

49,223. Not as connected with it, but you heard generally there was a defection of runners?—Yes, as well as from myself.

49,224. Did you find it at your committee rooms?—Not so many; there must have been some.

49,225. You did not have any money from Messrs. Moore and Butler, or any of them?—No.

49,226. At any time?—No.

49,227. In any way?—No.

49,228. Exept in the way of payment?—All the money I got was from Mr. Harris, from the central committee.

W. G. Turnbull.

WILLIAM GEORGE TURNBULL sworn, and examined.

49,229. What business are you in?—A stock and share broker.

49,230. Where do you reside?—In Dock Street.

49,231. What rent do you pay, or what are you rated at?—£12 or £13 pay rent.

49,232. Are you qualified as a householder?—Yes.

49,233. How long have you been entitled to vote as an occupier?—I think from the second election after the passing of the Reform Bill, but I am not quite sure.

49,234. You were qualified in 1837?—Oh yes, certainly; I should think so.

49,235. Are you a freeman?—No.

49,236. Who did you vote for in the year 1841?—Hanmer and James, I believe; they were the Conservative candidates.

49,237. Did you take any interest in the election?—Yes.

49,238. For them?—For them.

49,239. Were you a member of the committee?—I was a member of the committee.

49,240. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.

49,241. Or take any interest?—Or take any interest; all the parties were orange.

49,242. In 1852 you voted Moore and Butler?—Yes.

49,243. And was chairman of the East Sculcoates Ward committee?—South Sculcoates.

49,244. East Sculcoates, the South Division?—It comprised part of the West Sculcoates as well as the East. I call it South Sculcoates. I think that a better mode of distinction.

49,245. East Sculcoates, South District?—Yes.

49,246. Were you appointed in the same way as the chairman; as we have heard other chairmen were appointed? Perhaps you can tell us whether you were in court and hear the evidence of Mr. Davis this morning?—Yes.

49,247. Were you made a chairman in the same way that he was?—I do not remember how he was appointed.

49,248. How were you appointed?—There was a meeting in Sculcoates, and I was voted chairman.

49,249. When did the meeting take place, as nearly as you can tell?—Perhaps five weeks before the election.

49,250. At the beginning of June or the end of May?—About five weeks previous to the election; it would be about the end of May or the beginning of June.

49,251. When did you first hear of Mr. Moore being a candidate; had you heard it at that time?—I should think two months before the election; about that, or perhaps more.

49,252. Had you anything to do with his introduction to the town?—I believe two gentlemen proceeded to London, or proceeded to Normanton, and had some conversation with him, and his name was then submitted to a committee.

49,253. Were those Mr. Harris and Mr. Barkworth?—No; I think Mr. Joseph Walker Pease and Mr. Barkworth.

49,254. They proceeded to Normanton, you say?—Yes.

49,255. To meet Mr. Moore?—Yes, to meet Mr. Moore.

49,256. And from that time he was a candidate?—Yes.

49,257. Can you give me any information as to how Mr. Butler became a candidate?—I believe that some gentlemen proceeded to London, and brought Mr. Butler at once down, which was submitted, and approved of.

49,258. They went in quest of a candidate?—They went in quest of a candidate.

49,259. About what time?—Some little time after Mr. Moore became a candidate.

49,260. Can you throw any light on how it came that there was a second blue candidate; we have been told, in the first instance, there was a desire to avoid a contest?—There was a very sincere desire.

49,261. Did you share it?—Yes; but I must candidly acknowledge I was always afraid that it would not be carried out, the opposite party having split into two sections, and there was no person to bind to any compromise.

49,262. Nobody to bind the orange?—Nobody to bind the orange.

49,263. Do you attribute to that circumstance the fact that the late contest took place?—Yes, I do.

49,264. What was your reason for not having one and one?—The peace of the town, and a very nearly equally divided constituency.

49,265. Had the expense anything to do with it?—I do not know; in my own mind it had not.

49,266. You, having taken no interest in the election in 1847, I dare say you know the fact that there was a union of both parties to create a contest at all hazards?—There was, I believe, and universally by the blue party.

49,267. There was a union of a number on both sides who compromised everything for the sake of a row or a contest?—Perhaps some of the party might have preferred one candidate and some another; I cannot at all enter into their reasons.

49,268. The reason I am coming to is this: is there, as far as you can tell, a party, consisting of both blues and orange, always anxious to have a contest?—I believe so.

49,269. That in order that money should be spent?—I believe so.

49,270. The desire prevails on both sides, does it not?—I believe so.

49,271. Do you attribute to that fact also the difficulty of effecting anything like a contest in order to avoid a contest, to the circumstance of a large number of persons, blues and orange, being desirous that a contest should take place?—I believe the blue party could control their friends, and would have consented to a compromise that would have been fairly and honestly carried out.

49,272. As a party?—As a party.

49,273. Are you not aware that both parties contain names of persons desirous always to have a contest?—I believe so.

49,274. I ask whether you attribute, in some degree, the contest of 1852 to that circumstance?—Yes.

49,275. I dare say you are aware, Mr. Turnbull, that there has been a contest here at every election since the Reform Bill, except one in 1839, when Mr. Baines came down with the writ in his pocket, and took everybody by surprise?—Yes.

49,276. In 1852, you kept a minute book, did you not?—I did.

49,277. Did you preserve the minutes?—I did.

49,278. Had you a large number of applicants to be set down?—Yes.

49,279. I dare say you found, as everybody has told us, that the words "setting down names" was perfectly intelligible?—No.

49,280. The words "set down," was a common form used by the applicants,—"set my name down"?—I find it has been from the proceedings of this Court, but it was not so in the committee of which I was the chairman.

49,281. What is the distinction you drew; what did they say to you; what language did they use? I am asking, not the result but what they said when they came in?—"Will you put my name down," or "will you employ me as a runner."

49,282. That is the form, is it?—Or, in some instances, "can you employ me as a runner."

49,283. Those were the two common forms of application; "will you put my name "down?"—Or, "employ me as a runner," or, a "messenger."

49,284. Did they use both?—No; some one, and some the other.

49,285. Two forms were made use of in the application?—Yes.

49,286. One was "put my name down," and the other form was, "employ me as a "runner?"—Yes.

49,287. Then upon that was the excuse of business to put down these persons on a piece of paper?—They were all entered in a book.

49,288. A minute book?—In a minute book (Book I.)

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,289. I believe you produced some papers which contain the weeks wages and cash account?—Yes.

49,290. The paper marked a contains a list of the wages, does it not?—Yes.

49,291. What was the staff of your own committee?—At the commencement, a clerk, a doorkeeper, and two messengers; one for the first day or two, but more the next days.

49,292. How soon were they increased?—Without referring I really cannot tell; approaching the election.

49,293. Not till the approach of the election?—I believe not. If you would permit me the use of the minute book I think I could be able to inform you better (the book was handed).

49,294. Did your committee meet at 17, Worship Street?—Yes; 17, Worship Street. It was increased on the 1st of July.

49,295. You have heard the minute read about increasing the number by twelve?—Yes.

49,296. When the resolution was passed on the 30th, I believe you were cognizant at the time of the increase of staff of all the district committees?—Yes.

49,297. How many was it increased to?—I think there was an increase of eight.

49,298. Why did they not go up to twelve;—I did not actually require them.

49,299. What did you require those eight for?—Plenty of work for them.

49,300. What was the work for them?—There were an immense number of removals in the district, into and out of the district; people had left the town, and it would be ascertained where they resided.

49,301. Were those people employed going from house to house to find that out?—They were employed to find it out.

49,302. Do you know how many there were of removals in your district?—I really do not know; a very large number.

49,303. Twenty?—Oh more, considerably.

49,304. Forty?—Perhaps not forty.

49,305. The messengers were employed going to the houses lately occupied by the people, and asking where Mr. so and so was gone to?—Yes. In some instance they were most difficult to be discovered.

49,306. Did you consider it absolutely necessary?—Absolutely necessary.

49,307. Besides that, were there any steps taken, and if so, what, for the purpose of creating work?—None, whatever.

49,308. What other work were they employed on?—There were communications necessary to be made to other committees with regard to voters.

49,309. What time did you require your messengers to attend?—At nine o'clock in the morning.

49,310. Were your runners selected out of the names of the persons set down?—In the first instance the people offered to be employed; I told them I would employ them when I could, or when I had an opportunity.

49,311. That is the answer you gave?—That is the answer I gave, and you observe in this book the dates at which times those people were employed (handing the book back).

49,312. When you appointed them did you ascertain they were voters?—Yes.

49,313. You employed none but voters, did you, if you could help it to the best of your judgment?—Yes, I did.

49,314. Who?—There is one man in the list who I knew was not a voter. I am speaking of the Worship Street committee.

49,315. Who is he?—At the committee room in Worship Street, not the clearing house. I employed a great number of men, who were not freemen or voters.

49,316. At the central committee room in Worship Street did you employ one man who was not a voter?—Yes.

49,317. What was his name?—I do not know.

49,318. Why did you employ him?—I believe I got a letter from Mr. Ward, asking me to employ that man; if I had any service for him he would be glad of it.

49,319. That was an exception to the rule?—Certainly it was.

49,320. You would not have done it but for the letter from the chairman?—Or I had known something of the man myself.

49,321. Thinking from something it was more than ordinarily expedient that he should be employed?—I believe his name was William Hasselgrave.

49,322. Do you know whether he was any relation to any voter?—No; I believe not.

49,323. With respect to the amount of business that there was to do. Supposing this had been a commercial matter, and the same work to be done for your own account, as a man of business, do you think you would have had occasion to employ half as many persons?—Certainly not; but in this instance, the slightest matter became of the greatest importance.

49,324. I am supposing that. You did not attend to my question. I am asking the matter as a matter of great importance?—You must be aware that at all elections you cannot get precisely the same quantity of work out of men that you would do at a time when there was no excitement prevailing.

49,325. No, you cannot get the same work done at elections; you never can, can you?—No.

49,326. That leads to the question I was going to put. Have you any doubt that, supposing this same work had to be done, merely by a person having a pecuniary interest in the matter, in furtherance of a mere commercial speculation, have you any doubt the same would have been done by half the same number of hands?—If it had been a mercantile affair, the staff that was appointed in the first instance would have been doubled; the doorkeepers at our committee room were sent with messages, and even the committee themselves went with messages: the men were much too hard worked. I am speaking of the original staff.

49,327. But by degrees you increased the number of the staff?—Yes.

49,328. I want to know this, whether it was not increased to an extent that would have been wholly unnecessary if they had been engaged in mere mercantile speculations?—No doubt, towards the election.

49,329. How long do you consider the men were over worked?—I should say two weeks I think, or three weeks; up to the first of the month.

49,330. June or July?—Up to the 1st of July.

49,331. When the staff was increased?—When the staff was increased.

49,332. But something is expected, is it not, Mr. Turnbull, from persons who have been engaged in furtherance of their own private wishes; it is expected they should give up some little time and attention to it?—Scarcely, from the class of people from whom the messengers were taken.

49,333. You think not?—Not many of them.

49,334. They were selected from that class of persons to whom money was a greater object than the furtherance of poli tical purposes?—I am very sorry to say I found a great deal of distress; and I should have been most happy to have employed ten times the number of people that I did.

49,335. I want to know whether these messengers were from that class of persons to whom money was a greater object than the furtherance of a political object?—I should think so.

49,336. That is the case with a large number of freemen?—Yes; and householders too.

49,337. You mean voters would be more select than those who applied, or is it the same thing?—Those who applied to me were persons of the description, generally speaking, that I have named.

49,338. Both freemen and the smaller class of householders you consider were more amenable to pecuniary interests than they are to political considerations?—Yes; there are many of them with very strong principles and opinions; but, perhaps, generally speaking, not so.

49,339. The large mass of them?—The large mass of them are, perhaps others more, perhaps others more so, pecuniary considerations.

49,340. There would be a class of persons who would be foremost in making application to you?—Yes.

49,341. Had you many applications from householders?—No; I believe it was generally in another way that they wished it.

49,342. The applications for employment were mostly from freemen?—Yes; and non-voters.

49,343. Did you set down all the applicants?—Yes; I believe so; I believe every one. They were not all employed, as you will see.

49,344. Did you set down every applicant that you had?—Yes; I believe so.

49,345. You did not refer them elsewhere?—No; not in the event of their residing in our own district; and there were a few others who I rejected altogether.

49,346. Why?—Because I was told they were employed elsewhere,

49,347. Do you mean on the other side?—No; I do not know whether they were employed. A Mr. Lake or Look called upon one; I don't know his name, but it is down in the district book.

49,348. Those who were employed were actively in employ in another district committee of your own?—I don't know whether the committee said anything about it.

49,349. You would scarcely have appointed any in the employ of the other party?—I should; they were residing in our district.

49,350. Just tell us about this Look, or whatever his name is?—Hare is the name; he called on me, and said, you should employ so many men; and he read the names over, and marked out those that resided in this district; there is a cross in the book opposite the names of all these people.

49,351. He did employ several men?—He did employ several men.

49,352. What did they do?—I did not inquire.

49,353. What did they do?—As runners.

49,354. Was it after the election?—Before the election.

49,355. As runner?—Several were.

49,356. What I understand by that observation is, I suppose, he was employing them as runners?—Yes.

49,357. Did he give any list at the time?—He gave me a list, which I had heard of, that he was ticking off the names of those who resided in the district.

49,358. You look out of that list numbers in your own district, and transferred them to your own?—No; I did not transfer them at all; I had nothing to do with them.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

Some of those men applied afterwards to be employed; those are the men that I refused employment to.

49,359. Why did you refuse them?—Because they were employed, and ought to have been employed elsewhere.

49,360. You would not put their names down?—I would not.

49,361. What did you say to them?—I made no remark to them, excepting I would decline putting their names down.

49,362. Did you give no reason?—As far as I remember to any one I gave no reason. I must say only two or three applied to me.

49,363. How came they in that book?—Because they belonged to the district; that is the district book.

49,364. Some were already down in your list I understand?—Yes; with the remarks opposite every voter's name.

49,365. Who was Mr. Hare?—I do not know.

49,366. What authority had he to set down?—I do not know.

49,367. What had he to do with the election?—That I am sure I do not know of my own knowledge. I know nothing with regard to him.

49,368. There was some question?—I inquired where his committee sat.

49,369. You understood Mr. Hare had a committee?—Yes; somewhere near the water side. I afterwards heard Mr. Bannister's name was coupled with that committee; but whether there was any foundation for it I have no means of knowing.

49,370. Did you understand where the room was?—I do not know exactly; it is in Humber Street, or near the water side.

49,371. Was it Minerva Terrace?—I am not sure; it is somewhere in the locality. I rather think it was Minerva Terrace, but I could not be positive.

49,372. Did you hear the name of Legitt mentioned in connexion with it?—No, I did not, to the best of my recollection. I know nothing at all about it. I know nothing about it except from rumour.

49,373. You never were there?—I never was there.

49,374. You know nothing about Hare?—I do not think I ever saw him before.

49,375. Did you report upon this matter to the central committee?—I do not think I did; I might have mentioned it; I am not at all sure.

49,376. Do you know what business Hare is?—I do not; there was a committee sitting in a certain street.

49,377. Who told you that?—Hare.

49,378. I suppose he gave you no information?—No information at all about it.

49,379. You merely heard Mr. Bannister's name as coupled with it?—Afterwards; I am not sure I heard Mr. Bannister's name.

49,380. Did you make any inquiries at all? did you ask Hare any questions?—No; excepting about the committee sitting in a certain place. I do not recollect any conversation. I got no information beyond that there was a committee sitting then at some place.

49,381. He would come for that special purpose?—He came for the special purpose to tell me who the people were.

49,382. Was it in consequence of a communication from you to him?—No.

49,383. How came he to you?—He said he was going round to the different committees to see if they were employing the same men in two places.

49,384. For the purpose of connecting the doubles?—Yes.

49,385. Did you hear it was prevailing to a certain extent that people had got their names down in two places?—I do not know that they did, for at the commencement of the election I strongly did urge that no man should be employed out of his own district.

49,386. During the progress of the contest did you hear that in point of fact some persons had managed to get paid twice over?—I do not recollect having heard such a thing.

49,387. Was it in consequence of such a practice having occurred that Mr- Hare came to you?—I believe, at the orange election of 1847, I had been told that some of the runners had been paid three and four times over.

49,388. What is about the date of Mr. Hare's calling upon you?—I do not know.

42,389. Did you understand that Mr. Hare called on you in consequence of some practice that had crept into the contest or something that had prevailed on former occasions?—I suppose in consequence of what had prevailed at former elections.

49,390. Now we hear that the householders were regarded differently from runners; how was that?—I have been told that committee rooms were taken by our party; I believe on the last election there were some taken in that way; but it was an entirely new system to me; the practice has never prevailed with the blue party, and was totally unknown to me before the last election.

49,391. You knew it was a practice that prevailed in Hull?—Yes.

49,392. But, as far as your knowledge is concerned, not amongst the blue party?—Excepting at the last election; I believe not till the last election.

49,393. It was an intelligible thing when a man came to ask you to take a committee room that he wanted to sell his vote?—I should suppose so, without the committee room was really required.

49,394. Had you appointments of that description?—I think one; but I am not sure.

49,395. What was that?—I think a person of the name of Boyd in New George Street applied.

49,396. Applied to you?—Yes.

49,397. What occurred? Was the room taken?—No; he wanted such a very exorbitant price for it.

49,398. How much did he want?—He wanted 5*l.* for it; he said he could get several votes. I was rather anxious to have it taken; the room was in a situation where it was at that time absolutely required.

49,399. You would have taken it, but for the price?—But for the price.

49,400. Did you take any extra committee rooms?—One.

49,401. Where was that?—Worship Street.

49,402. What number?—I do not know.

49,403. Who was the landlord?—Mr. Mayne; he is not a voter.

49,404. For what purpose was that?—It immediately adjoined or was close to the polling booth, and I had thought of a system of copying the sheets of voters, and it was, in consequence of that system, necessary to have a committee room immediately adjoining each polling booth. However, it was afterwards altered.

49,405. When did you engage it?—A week before the election, I should think, or ten days before the election.

49,406. Were any of his family voters?—None that I know of.

49,407. Was he a person of influence?—I should think not a great deal. I should say that in the first instance I had taken a room of a man named Robinson, which was close to this place.

49,408. What is his Christian name?—I do not know; it is close to this polling place; indeed it was taken as a polling place, and in consequence was not allowed to be used as a committee room.

49,409. Taken as a polling place by the sheriff?—Yes.

49,410. Was there a staff appointed to this room at Mayne's?—There was a clerk and doorkeeper or messenger; in fact he acted as both.

49,411. How many messengers were appointed to Mayne's?—Only one; he acted both as door keeper and messenger.

49,412. What did you do when you lost the room at Robinson's? Did he get a room for you? Did he get this room of Mayne's?—No; it was quite independent. Mayne happened to be in the house when Robinson came to tell me about it, and in consequence Mayne's was taken.

49,413. Was Robinson paid?—No. I perhaps should say that another room was also taken, but not as a committee room, from a person named Brumby; Mrs. Brumby; a public house.

49,414. What for?—The husband had always been a voter on the blue side. Immediately previous to the election his sloop was lost, and he was drowned, and in consequence I said, "If we do not use your house in any other way, I will give you a couple of pounds for the room."

42,415. Here is a minute, I think, which will refresh your memory. On the 1st of July is a minute in your book: "Took a room of Robinson for a second committee room this date for two guineas. On the following day notice having been given that a committee room could not be held there, in consequence of its being engaged as a room for polling, Robinson obtained a room from Mayne."—I think that is an error.

43,416. It is from your own minute book?—It is not in my writing, I think.

49,417. Some pains would be taken to keep this accurate; whose writing is it?—Purdon's, the clerk.

49,418. Would that not be taken down under your instructions?—Yes. I have no doubt Mayne and Robinson were in the room together, and left the room together. I cannot at all recollect what the conversation was, but I recollect that Mayne only was paid in the room.

49,419. And what arrangement was made between Mayne and Robinson probably you cannot tell?—I cannot tell at all about it.

49,420. Did you take Robinson's room?—Yes.

42,421. Was that in order to give him some advantage out of the election?—No; because it would be actually necessary, as I mentioned at the time, to have a room in the immediate locality.

49,422. Was Robinson a person to whom it was desirable to give some advantage?—He was a voter.

49,423. Where is this room of Robinson's?—At the corner of New George Street and Worship Street.

49,424. What is his Christian name?—I do not know.

49,425. Is that the room you wanted to take at 23, Worship Street?—If you will allow me the district book, I think I can furnish you with the name.

49,426. Are you sure it was not William Robinson, of 23, Worship Street?—It would be mentioned in the list of polling places, in one of the printed lists of booths and polling places.

49,427. In the list of booths there is no Robinson?—I may be mistaken in the room: it is the booth at the corner of New George Street.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,428. This is Thomas Robinson, New George Street voted Clay and Goderich?—Yes; that is the man.

49,429. Did the Robinson you mention vote against you?—Yes.

49,430. The only Robinson of any name at all in George Street voted for Clay and Goderich?—Yes; that must be the man.

49,431. I suppose Mayne can tell us in a minute who the man is?—Yes; Mayne can tell you.

49,432. Were there any other rooms taken in your district?—None whatever.

49,433. How many applicants were there to be set down altogether in your ward?—The minute book will show exactly, I believe.

42,434. Here is a book headed "List of applicants for situations." Is that it?—Yes.

49,435. There are thirty or forty; is that the list?—Yes; I believe, as far as I know, every name is down in this list, or ought to have been.

49,436. How many are there?—Forty-one.

49,437. Are those the applications that you had (referring to book I)?—Yes.

49,438. What does this mean; this entry here: "List of seamen returned to the central committee room, June the 18th?—Those were men that were absent in ships.

49,439. Have you heard of Mr. Wells's scheme?—I believe it was my scheme.

49,440. Perhaps you will detail what the scheme was?—At least it was improved, or perhaps not improved, but altered slightly by Mr. Wells.

49,441. Was it your scheme to have clearing houses, and employ 478 men?—It was my scheme to have a committee room, or a room taken adjoining every polling booth, and to have as many copies immediately taken as soon as it came out of the booth as there were committees in that particular district.

49,442. Was it part of your scheme that there should be 478 persons employed, the number stated by Mr. Wells?—I had no idea that number was employed.

49,443. That is not an answer to my question; the scheme was for that?—Certainly not. I employed a great number of persons, but not anything like such a number as that.

49,444. That is the scheme of Mr. Wells; I want to know how far it is yours?—I worked out the scheme in the whole of Sculcoates with much less.

49,445. You know, as it was, that the scheme required exactly 478 persons?—No, I do not indeed; that part of the scheme is not mine.

49,446. That is the very thing I want to come to. How far is it yours?—I carried that scheme out in Sculcoates; and I believe it would require about forty people to carry it out for Sculcoates.

49,447. In your ward?—No; for the whole of Sculcoates.

49,448. How many committees were there in Sculcoates?—East and West Sculcoates comprises a large portion of the town.

49,449. There are only two?—I beg your pardon, there are three there.

49,450. This is Mr. Wells's evidence, that it would take 478 persons to carry it out. He gave the exact number as applicable to you at rather more than fifty; fifty-three is the number that you would require?—Yes. In Sculcoates there are 1,500 voters, and I believe that about fifty would have carried that scheme out very well.

49,451. And fifty-three would do it better?—Yes.

49,452. Was it intended that fifty-three should be employed in your district?—Yes; approaching that number.

49,453. How many did you intend the scheme to employ altogether?—I did not calculate about it; my original idea was to have a committee room adjoining every polling booth, which would have employed perhaps a greater number of men than actually were employed or were necessary in the altered scheme.

42,454. You see it was not only to change within the ward, but also that they were to interchange between one district and another?—No.

49,455. That is Mr. Wells's project?—With regard to Sculcoates.

49,456. You agree that his system was to be the clearing system?—Yes; the clearing houses.

49,457. Was this subject discussed at the committee room?—No; it was not discussed there at all.

49,458. Why not?—It was an arrangement with the central committee.

49,459. You were a member of the central committee?—As chairman of the district I was.

49,460. The central committee communicated their demands to each district?—This was an arrangement made, I believe, principally with Mr. Wells, Mr. Joseph Walker Pease, and myself.

49,461. Just state your own view then of how it originated?—I suggested that it was not only desirable, but absolutely necessary, if possible, to have immediate notice of every man voting, and the sooner it arrived at the committee room the labour would be lightened so very much.

49,462. Did you, as the originator of this, make any calculation of the number of persons required?—Not the actual number; Mr. Wells did it, I think, in my presence.

49,463. And what did he bring it to?—I do not remember.

49,464. Was it it brought to 400?—I only tried it in the district I engaged to carry out myself.

49,465. As a man in business yourself, I dare say you knew it would merely require to multiply fifty-three by nine?—No; there are not twenty-seven committees. There was to work in Sculcoates; 1,500 voters and three committees.

49,466. There were nine district committees, as we understand?—Yes.

49,467. And the system was to be organised by each one of those nine?—No.

49,468. That is Mr. Wells' statement?—Mr. Pease managed for the whole of the other committees, and I managed for the whole of the committees in Sculcoates.

49,469. Then instead of being fifty-three, it would take 159 in Sulcoates at that rate?—I only calculated fifty for the whole of Sculcoates.

49,470. That is for the three district committees?—Yes; I only calculated fifty to carry out the whole system.

49,471. This is totally at variance with and irreconcileable with Mr. Wells. Mr. Wells has stated that there were to be in East Sculcoates 159, and that you complained on the morning of the election that there was a great deficiency from that number. Do you agree in that view of the case?—There was a great defalcation; each of the committees were to furnish so many men towards carrying out this plan; there was a great deficiency from one of the committees, a great deficiency indeed, and some deficiency in both the others.

49,472. Still, I want to know how far you agree with Mr. Wells in this: Mr. Wells stated that every district was to have fifty-three; if you had the superintendance of three that would make you require 159?—That is a mistake, I think.

49,473. You were to supply them?—I think from each there were only twelve, or fourteen, or fifteen people required, from each of the three committees; I think, as far as my memory goes, there were fourteen or fifteen required.

48,474. I see the result disagrees, but I do not see in what respect you disagree with Mr. Wells. Mr. Wells' statement is, that it was agreed between you and him that it was necessary that there should be fifty-three for each of the nine districts; in that you do not agree with him?—I do not.

49,475. He further stated, that in each of those fifty-three there was a deficiency the next morning?—There was a deficiency of the number.

49,476. The material thing is, was the deficiency short of fifty-three?—Fifty-three was for the whole of Sculcoates.

49,477. No; Mr. Wells said fifty-three for each committee room?—Fifty-three, as far as I remember, was never required for each committee room.

49,478. Then you disagree altogether with Mr. Wells' view?—I do, if that is Mr. Wells' view.

49,479. I call your attention again. Mr. Wells' statement is this, because he gave it with a most elaborate calculation: He said you merely have to divide 477 by nine; that is his statement; that gives the number to be furnished by each district. He says each district committee was to furnish its quota, and then he said, the whole number was 477, and you would merely have to divide by nine, consequently for East Sculcoates multiplied by three the number to be furnished by you would be 159?—I do not agree with that. There is a paper I have handed in, in which some of the numbers are put down and the dates.

49,480. I have it before me, and I am going to draw your attention to it in a moment. 477 persons, he says, altogether, with one solicitor, making 478. Now divide 477 by nine and you have fifty-three for each committee?—I do not agree in that.

49,481. That being so, tell me your view of it?—I conceived that about fifty men would have been able to carry out the system for the three committees.

49,482. You had only to do with one?—I had to do with three; I superintended the clearing house of both the Sculcoates.

49,483. There were only two clearing houses; that was all?—There were only two clearing houses; Mr. Pease arranged one, and I arranged the other.

49,484. Two clearing houses, one consisting of three districts, and the other consisting of the remaining six?—Yes.

49,485. What did you do towards carrying it out? Did you engage more people?—Yes, I engaged the clerks, and the necessary people.

49,486. See if that is the paper (handing a paper to the witness)?—This is the paper, but this is not complete. These were extra names of men from one of the districts, selected to serve at the proper time.

42,487. Go by steps. I want to know what the original arrangement was? Does that paper represent the number originally determined upon?—No, because this paper was merely as a sketch, to give the person who acted as the chief clerk in the clearing house. Do you wish to know his duties, and the manner in which it was carried out?

49,488. No; we have heard that. What I want simply to know is this, whether you have got any paper showing the names of the persons who were to have carried it on, according to the arrangement as originally proposed?—I believe not.

49,489. That paper then is only partially correct?—That paper is only partially correct, as to the names of the messengers employed.

49,490. I presume you had them on some paper?—We selected a certain number of names from each of the three districts; the chairman of the other two districts sent me in some names, and from the West Sculcoates, I think, there was only one man came or two men came, as I have stated before, out of fourteen or fifteen.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,491. What we want to arrive at, in order for a very obvious purpose, is to get, if we can, the names of the persons who were originally proposed to have attended to have carried this scheme into execution, in order that we may trace what has become of them; we hear already there were defaulters?—If I had them at all they are among the papers that I have handed in.

49,492. The only paper approaching it is the document before you?—Then I have not the paper connected with it.

49,493. That is one of the most hinging parts of the inquiry. As people usually do a thing for some reason, it is our province to inquire into that. Upon the paper there are only about twenty-one?—For my scheme, about double this number would amply carry out my intention.

49,494. Have you got any paper showing the names of the persons fixed upon to carry this shceme out?—I believe there was a paper; the lists were in the papers I have handed in, or I have not got them; there were lists.

49,495. That is the only paper to be found among them?—Then I have not got it, indeed.

49,496. Then, in point of fact, when the time appointed came, there were a considerable number of defaulters?—Yes.

49,497. Had you your cards made out ready?—They came in from the polling booths to the clearing house.

49,498. They went to the polling booths first?—No; we never had them at all at the clearing house.

49,499. Where was the appointed place of rendesvous?—There were men to be stationed at the polling booths, and when the cards were filled up they were to be carried to the clearing house.

49,500. Where was to be the place of rendesvous for all the runners?—Worship Street.

49,501. Was that the morning of the nomination day?—No; the morning of the election.

49,502. But was the duty of all these runners to carry out Mr. Wills' scheme, to attend at Worship Street?—Yes, for Sculcoates.

49,503. And then to be despatched upon their duties?—Yes.

49,504. At your committee room, No. 17, Worship Street?—Yes.

49,505. All were to meet there?—Yes.

49,506. Then you say, one is to go to one place, and another is to go to another place with a ticket?—Yes.

49,507. Were the tickets made out before the polling morning?—We had no tickets made out; there were no tickets.

49,508. Did you not receive tickets from Mr. Wells from the central committee room?—No; there were some tickets, to admit, I believe, to the polling booth.

49,509. And besides that tickets containing the names of the messengers? Mr. Wells tells us, and has shown specimens of them, that each messenger was to be furnished with two tickets, one a ticket of admission to the polling booth, the other a ticket on which he was to be paid?—I do not believe that existed in our district.

49,510. If not in your district, it would be very imperfectly carried out?—I cannot conceive the advantage of the ticket, or the use of it.

49,511. Were there names entered upon the tickets?—No, I believe not; I did not see them; I did not give my whole attention to that; I was the chairman of the district, and I could, of course, only give part attention to the clearing house.

49,512. They would have tickets to get entry to the polling booths?—Yes.

49,513. What has become of those tickets?—I do not know.

49,514. It was intended to pay them?—Certainly.

49,515. And afterwards, I suppose, those who did the duty were paid?—Yes.

49,516. Were they not paid by means of tickets?—I believe not; I had the names of all the men who were employed, and who were paid.

49,517. Surely that must be wrong? You could only have the names of persons who was intended to be employed?—Yes; the chairmen of the districts sent me in the actual names; I did not pay those men at all that came in from other districts; I paid the men that belonged to my own district, and I paid also a great number of others whose names are down here, who were labourers.

49,518. What mode had you for paying them?—From this system, their names and their duties.

49,519. The system would only show that they were intended to do the business?—The clerk's business was to have called the names over.

49,520. Then you would be satisfied simply with the attendance, without taking notice of whether they did their duty or not?—They must do their duty if they come back with the cards from the polling booths.

49,521. That is what I want to know, whether you gave them the cards?—It was the polling sheets.

49,522. That is the state of the poll; it is a totally different thing from the cards?—I have no recollection of the cards at all.

49,523. You do not remember the cards?—No, I do not remember the cards.

49,524. What mode had you for paying? How could you tell who they were?—We had a list of the names of the people.

49,525. You had a list containing the names of the people, as I stated before, who were intended to do the duty; not of those who had done it?—The man must have done his duty if his name is down on that list; for instance, Worship Street, No. 1; that man, Thomas so and so, it is his next turn to go and carry the card.

49,526. That would be perfectly so if there was anybody to watch them?—There was a person there for the purpose of folding the cards up, and dispatching them to the right place, to the different stations.

49,527. Do not call them cards; call them check sheets?—Yes; check sheets.

49,528. These are the hourly check sheets?—Yes; hourly check sheets.

49,529. This tells nothing; anybody might have brought this. This does not show that John Thomas did his duty; not the least?—It was very little consequence whether it was John Thomas or anyone else, as long as they came in accurately.

49,530. You got the tickets, but they do not furnish any means of paying the men; it has no name on it. Tell us how you did identify the men?—From their being employed; the clerk took the names down, and they were numbered generally.

49,531. The work is done out of doors?—They came into the house; after they delivered the sheet they came back again, of course, for another.

49,532. That only shows that some one of the men brought the check sheet?—No, it certainly does not show more.

49,533. The object of the clearing house is to analyse these, and to distribute the results?—Yes.

49,534. Were these analysed and cleared, in fact, as it is commonly called?—Yes.

49,535. They were cleared?—In our committee room they were.

49,536. In your committee room they were cleared during the day?—Yes.

49,537. Have you got any of the clearing slips?—They were marked off on the sheets.

49,538. That is not clearing; clearing consists of entering them again on a fresh paper?—They were copied from that; I considered that was the clearing.

49,539. This is a check sheet as distinguished from a clearing sheet?—They were copied from that on to the list of voters.

49,540. Eighteen check sheets there ought to be if this is rightly done; and these 18 check sheets would have to be all put first together on one paper, and then divided?—That cross upon them is all that was done.

49,541. Then it is not a clearing sheet if they were done by marks?—Yes they were.

49,542. Then the clearing system was not perfectly carried out?—Perhaps not. I will explain it. Those sheets were brought in from the polling booth; three copies were immediately taken of them. The original one was sent to the central committee, and each of the other three were sent to three other committees.

49,543. Then in point of fact it was a copy made rather than clearing?—Copies were made of those, and sent to each of the three committees of Sculcoates.

49,544. I understand that, because throughout the expression has been used clearing, which turns out to be an incorrect expression?—Yes; I thought so from the first.

49,545. It was not carrying out the system with the minuteness which the word clearing, would imply?—In our own district it was carried out. We knew immediately the voters who had polled, because they were marked off in a few minutes after they had polled.

49,546. Then your mode of payment consisted in paying from the list taken down, the appointment as checked by the clerk, who would vouch that the persons had done their duty?—Yes.

49,547. Have you some of the list?—The lists that is here is not quite complete. There were some other names to add afterwards. I believe those men whose names were added were voters.

49,548. What I want to know is, is there any mode of our arriving at the names of the persons who were to have done their duty?—I have no means whatever of furnishing you, if the papers are not there. I imagined that they were.

49,549. That paper is a list of those who did the duty; not those who were to have done it?—But there was a paper sent in from the other committees, stating the names of persons they intended to send to the clearing house.

49,550. Did you keep a general account of all the monies paid?—No, I did not.

49,551. Did you pay yourself?—Not altogether.

49,552. Did you pay anything?—Yes.

49,553. What was it that you paid yourself? Any of these clerks and messengers?—Yes; I think I paid the whole of the clerks in the clearing house.

49,554. Mr. Wells said that Mr. Ash paid for one, and you paid for the other?—I paid for the one in Sculcoates.

49,555. Cannot you give us a list of all you paid?—I cannot without, it is there. I have no other list.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,556. What is the list you handed in?—I do not know; I have not seen it.

49,557. What other papers then were there beyond those that you have handed in? Were they papers sent to the central committee room?—No; I have sent you all the papers that I possessed.

49,558. That you ever possessed?—That I ever possessed, to the best of my knowledge.

49,559. Do you think that your clerk has any?—I should think not.

49,560. Because in looking through these papers they furnish no means of ascertaining the extent to which the payments were going on. They do not tally, for instance. Can you tell from memory the whole amount that was paid through your hands?—I am sure I cannot. There was an estimate made out weekly, and sent to the central committee, and I received the amount from Mr. Harris. There was a rough copy, I believe, kept of them, and I imagined that they were among the papers I handed in.

49,561. Those would be the weekly pay sheets?—Yes; those would be the weekly pay sheets.

49,562. Besides those, were there any payments made by you that were not included in those papers?—I believe not; none whatever, to the best of my knowledge. I am not sure that the papers are all there; but to the best of my knowledge I believe they are.

40,563. How soon did you pay after the election was over?—On the Saturday I paid the greater part; in fact, almost every person that came on the Saturday was paid.

49,564. When you paid, had you the check sheets to see how the people had voted?—They were not complete. I had the check sheets, but they were not closed up to the last half hour.

49,565. Amongst the messengers and runners did you pay any who had not voted for Moore and Butler?—A great number.

49,566. Can you give us a list of those?—I cannot. Of the list you have there, the greater part of those are not voters. Ten or twelve are not voters; and of the whole of the clerks, eight or nine people, not one of them had a vote.

49,567. At the clearing house?—At the clearing house.

49,568. I am speaking of the committee rooms, and the runners as they are called. The messengers at the committee rooms, were there any of those who were not voters?—I think I have stated before there was one. There may be more, but I can only now remember one.

49,569. After the election was over, did you pay any that had not voted Moore and Butler?—I do not remember; I believe not.

49,570. Do you agree it was understood when the people were engaged that they should vote for the party that employed them?—You generally suppose so.

49,571. That is a general understanding?—It is the general understanding.

49,572. Had a person come and said, "Mind, I shall vote for Clay and Goderich," it would have been considered a sufficient ground for preferring somebody else?—Certainly. I should certainly prefer a person who would vote on the same side upon an occasion of that kind.

49,573. Was it a mode adopted for securing the vote, that you gave them employment?—I suppose so. It was absolutely necessary to employ a great number of people, and we preferred those who would vote the same way as ourselves.

49,574. What I want to know is, whether that was a well understood mode of securing a man's vote to give him employment?—I should think it was very well understood; but I believe that many of those people would have voted without being employed. Some of them would, at any rate.

49,575. You have said they were a class of persons to whom money was of more conquence than political principles?—Generally speaking, they were.

49,576. Were there many persons who had removed from your district who had become non-residents?—Several had become non-residents.

49,577. What were the means taken to secure their votes?—They were applied to to come over and vote, and they were promised the railway fare.

49,578. How was that carried on? By means of letters, or was there a sub-committee appointed to arrange it?—The names were called over of those who were at a distance at the general committee meeting, and so many people took a certain number of names, and wrote to the parties. They were divided among a certain number of gentlemen, who wrote to these people.

49,579. Did you pay them?—No, I believe not.

49,580. Who did?—I think they were paid by Mr. Henry Barkworth; but I am not sure whether they were or not.

49,581. Did he pay for all the districts?—Yes; for all the districts of out voters.

49,582. Did you canvass yourself?—Yes; a little.

49,583. Did you canvass a man of the name of William Boyd, a baker?—I think William Boyd is not a baker.

49,584. He is a household voter?—Does he live in New George Street?

49,585. Yes?—I do not think I did. I do not believe I did canvass him. I saw him in our own committee room, and spoke to him there; in fact, I was sent for to say that this man Boyd wanted to speak to me.

49,586. Was that the man you mentioned before, William Boyd? The Boyd that you mentioned with respect to the committee room?—He required five guineas for his room. I believe that is the person, if it is William Boyd of New George Street.

49,587. What did you offer him?—I was persuaded, and after some time I offered him 3*l.*

49,588. At that time did he propose to vote for Moore and Butler?—He said he would vote himself, and I believe bring three or four other voters, which, by-the-by, I did not believe.

49,589. The man I mean is a man who voted a plumper for Mr. Clay?—I must say that some one suggested that this man might be put down as a runner for so many days, and that would very nearly make the amount up. I refused to do that, for I said, "It does not want so many days to the election, and we cannot get the work out of the man.'

49,590. Was his name set down?—No; not at all.

49,591. You came to no agreement at all with him?—No agreement at all.

49,592. Did you canvass a man of the name of Clarkson?—No, I believe not.

49,593. Was he one of the persons that you paid?—I believe he was.

39,594. He was set down, I believe?—I believe he was set down. You will find his name in the book.

49,595. What was he?—I really do not know. I think he is in Mr. Thomas's employ, but I am not sure.

49,596. Do you mean Mr. Thomas, the brushmaker?—Yes. I believe Clarkson's name is in the book.

49,597. Did he do any duty?—I do not remember his doing any. I saw him repeatedly in the committee room, and I believe he did canvass, but I do not believe he did any great deal of work.

49,598. Do you remember how much he was paid?—No; I do not at all, but you will find it there I believe.

49,599. He formed no part of your regular staff?—No, he did not.

49,600. What is his Christian name?—I do not know indeed.

49,601. Were there any persons paid to whom money was considered as having been due on the former occasion in your district?—No, none.

49,602. Was there any other person besides those who I have named who were paid who really did little or no service?—I should perhaps say three or four,—but I really am not very sure, or more I really cannot say.

49,603. When you were paying, did you pay persons whom you could not recognize as having been at the committee room for the purpose of doing work; for instance, George West, of Scott Street, was he not paid as for a nominal demand on the previous election?—Not by us.

49,604. It is in one of your books, the memorandum book, "George West, of Scott Street, carpenter. He is a person who has five votes at his disposal, and wants pay for two days last election"?—I never heard of it.

49,605. It is in your own memorandum book?—This is Purden, the clerk's, writing.

49,606. Was he not paid?—No; to the best of my knowledge, not anything at all.

49,607. Was any application made?—No; it would have been in the minute book if there was one. The last election would be an orange election.

49,608. We merely want the entry explained?—The last election would be an orange election with which we had nothing whatever to do.

45,609. But some of the party took a good deal of interest in that election; Mr. Bannister and Mr. Legitt, and a good many more?—I am rather surprised that they did so.

49,610. Do you know if this man West was sent to Mr. Legitt or Mr. Bannister?—I do not indeed

49,611. You had taken no interest in the previous election?—None whatever.

49,612. Would not a man like that be sent to Mr. Bannister or Mr. Legitt, or some one of your party who had taken an interest?—No, I should think not.

49,613. Do you remember what was done?—I do not. I firmly believe that no notice was taken of the communication.

46,614. Why was such a note as that made?—The clerk was in the habit of putting down everything he heard; there is a great deal there; I believe many minutes which no notice would have been taken of whatever. I should certainly take no notice of that.

49,615. This memorandum book was open I presume to all the committees?—Yes.

49,616. Can you recollect, one way or the other, whether any notice was taken of that entry?—I am pretty sure that no notice would be taken of it.

49,617. Did you send any person at at all to Mr. Bannister or to Mr. Legitt, or any of the other committees?—No, none. I sent one man with an order upon Mr. Clay's committee for 10*s.*; to our own central committee.

49,618. Did you send any money to any of the voters?—Yes; several of those people who had not appeared on the Saturday I gave the money to Purdon for, and some two or three I gave the money to a servant of our own to deliver to them.

49,619. Was that after the election?—After the election, about the beginning of the next week, in consequence of their not having appeared on the Saturday to claim the money.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,620. Have you any mode of identifiing those to whom you sent money by your servant?—No, I have not indeed.

49,621. It was a female servant?—Yes.

49,622. Edward Wilkinson was one, was he not?—I am sure I do not know.

49,623. He has told us he was?—Then of course it was so.

49,624. As to Edward Wilkinson, what duty did he do?—I do not remember; there was a confusion; I believe there were two Edward Wilkinsons, and I am not sure we did not make a mistake there.

49,625. Was there an Edward Wilkinson employed?—I believe so; and I think you will find two Edward Wilkinsons.

49,626. Did you pay two Edward Wilkinsons?—I believe there were two Edward Wilkinsons paid; there were two Wilkinsons paid, and I believe there were two Edward Wilkinsons.

49,627. You said that the number of persons you paid who were not employed was about three or four?—I should say I paid about eighteen or twenty people altogether who were not voters.

49,628. Who were not employed, I say?—Yes, about three or four; but I really am speaking from guess; I could not accurately tell.

49,629. Can you distinguish them?—I do not know that I could.

49,630. All that were down among the applications were not employed, were they?—I believe all that were down among the applications were not employed.

49,631. First of all, they were not all employed?—They were not all employed, I believe.

49,632. Had you other applications from persons who were not employed, whose names were merely set down?—Merely applicants for employment.

49,633. And three or four of those were paid?—Some of those were paid. I will not confine myself to one or two.

49,634. Your belief is that they were not all paid?—My belief is that they were not all paid that are set down in the list.

49,635. So I think I understood you to say?—I did say so.

49,636. Of the applicants who were employed, some were paid and some were not?—Some were paid and some were not.

49,637. Is that the nearest information that you can give us?—That is the nearest information that I can give you.

49,638. Have you any list of the persons who were paid by you?—Yes; I believe you have it there.

49,639. Upon the weekly pay sheets?—Yes.

49,640. I am talking of those paid afterwards?—No; I have no further memorandum than that; there was no entry whatever made, but they were paid from the rough copies of the list that was sent in.

49,641. Who were those persons who did not come on the Saturday night, and to whom you sent the money by your servant; how had they been employed?—That I really do not know. I said before I am not quite sure as to the names of the persons to whom I did send the money by the servant.

49,642. Those persons have been before us, and rather seem to say that they were paid for nothing but their votes?—I said I believed there were some people who had done little or no service; I believe so.

49,643. Look at this, and tell me if you can explain the pencil entries of voters (Book marked "G")?—I cannot give you any explanation of it; it is in Purdon's, the clerk's, writing.

49,644. I have endeavoured to look through these numerous papers, and I will trouble you with a few questions upon them, and see if we can get any information from them by looking at them more carefully. There is a list (marked "A") of officers employed by the chairman of the East Sculcoates ward, south district; that seems to be a pay list for the week, from the 19th to the 26th of June, of four people, and the payments amount to 5*l.* 8*s.* Now the next one is a list that should have come before the other, for it is from the 10th to the 19th of June; it contains also a list of officers employed and paid; that would be during the time of the employment of a certain number of persons?—Yes.

49,645. Then the next one, commencing July the 3d, has a great many more names for that week. Will you just look at it, and tell me why you added that great number of names to the week commencing July 3d; who are those people?—They are clerks, messengers, and doorkeepers.

49,646. For your committee room?—For the committee room.

49,647. For your own committee room?—For our own committee room.

49,648. What is the number?—Twenty-one or twenty-two, I think.

49,649. And those are all paid, I see; I suppose so, as I understand the paper?—I believe so.

49,650. That is one of your own papers?—Yes, I believe so.

49,651. You can tell me; they are all paid?—Yes.

49,652. That would commence on the day after the dissolution, the 3d of July?—Yes.

49,653. Will you tell me why that great addition was made that day of messengers and runners at your room?—We had been long in the want of additional messengers, and from that moment the arrangement ceased with the opposite party.

49,654. You date it from the dissolution?—Yes.

49,655. And then you thought yourself at liberty to put on as many as you pleased?—At liberty to put on a certain number.

49,656. There was no limit by any agreement?—No limit by any agreement.

49,657. Then having had four in the two weeks previous, you add seventeen at once?—I see this is July the 3d. I was speaking to July the 1st, when eight were added.

49,658. You said you had not so many as four, there is pay for four?—The clerk was not taken into consideration; the clerk was not counted as one.

49,659. Is it one clerk and three runners the previous week; there are four altogether?—Yes; one is a clerk; one clerk, a doorkeeper, and two runners.

49,660. On the 3d of July you add seventeen?—On the 1st of July there is an addition of eight.

49,661. What list does that eight appear upon?—It appears on the 3d of July. I see from the minute book it is from the 1st.

49,662. They are in that list; that answers my purpose; the eight added upon the 1st of July are on the paper which appears to commence on the 3d?—Yes.

49,663. Then on the 3d or 2d you would make a still further addition to the eight?—Yes, it appears so.

49,664. Does not this pay sheet appear to commence from the 3d?—It does appear to commence from the 3d.

49,665. What do you do with those you put on on the 1st;—I believe they are included in that list.

49,666. But they ought to be paid more than those put on on the 3d; they ought to be paid from the 1st? These appear to be the payments from the 3d?—I believe the minute book is correct; from the 1st, so many of them.

49,667. Those people would be two days without any pay?—I think that could not have been, very well; I do not think it is likely.

49,668. Is there any other list which has relation to the days between the 1st and the 3d?—Not that I am aware of.

49,669. I see here several red marks and several other marks; what do these several things in the margin mean? They are ticked off with red ink?—I do not know.

49,670. Tell me what those marginal entries in red ink mean?—I do not know.

49,671. Were they made by yourself?—No.

49,672. I am told, if you look at that list it will appear that they are paid for uneven days?—Then that will account for the 1st.

49,673. Look at it? You will see that is so; you will see they are paid from a different time?—Yes.

49,674. Some of them are two days more than the rest?—Yes.

49,675. That tallies therefore with the statement that they were on on the 1st?—Yes.

49,676. Do you state that all those people upon this third list were actually employed?—I cannot say that.

49,677. Were they all voters?—Is there a man of the name of Hasselgrove there?

49,678. I think not?—Then I believe they are all voters.

49,679. Could you say how many out of them were employed?—I should imagine the greater part of them.

49,680. You cannot say how many?—I cannot say positively. There was an attempt made to call the roll every morning; but there was an irregularity in the attendance; some of them rather late.

49,681. You said you had been pressed at your committee room by applicants for employment?—Yes.

49,682. Had you received any intimation at all from the central committoe room as to putting on more in consequence of such applications?—No. I always urged at the central committee room to employ more people, and pointed out to them that the opposite party had broken their engagement, and I could prove it by a committee room in our own neighbourhood; still they said that without the very strongest proof it had better not be done.

49,683. The strongest proof of the breach?—Yes; of the breach by the other party.

49,684. Your reason for wishing to put on a greater number was the alleged breach by the other party?—Not only that, but I really required more assistance; the three people I mentioned before were not sufficient to do the work.

49,685. You said you had a good many applicants at your committee room? Were they complaining of not getting employment, or not getting set down in some way, and not getting work?—Certainly.

49,686. Was not that the reason you wished to increase the number?—Partly; but I really required additional assistance.

49,687. You required some additional, but others you put down from pressure?—From pressure.

49,688. And they were not all employed?—No.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,689. I see here some more names, passing from these pay sheets. I do not know whether they are in your writing; but look at these small slips of paper that are included between the one marked with the letter B, and before you come to the one marked with the letter C; tell me what they are?—(The witness examines some papers.) Here is a paper I observe: "Carr, Lincoln Street, 2*l.* 10*s.*;" that, as I believe, was information that he had received 2*l.* 10*s.* from the opposite party.

49,690. Did you put him on or employ him?—No; he was not in the district I belong to.

49,691. Is that paper you are looking at in your writing?—Yes.

49,692. There is another name?—"Kirby, Mason Street, Harris;" that is, Harris was was to see him; he was supposed to have some influence with that voter.

49,693. Do you know whether you secured him or set him down?—No; he voted against us.

49,694. There are several persons upon the next slip; were those persons set down upon your side?—Yes; these persons were set down. You will find them in the list in the minute book, and also in the pay sheets.

49,695. Is that the same list?—I do not know.

49,696. Mow many names are there there?—Nineteen.

49,697. Is there a tick or mark against those that would denote that they were paid?—I see there are some ticks, but what they relate to I have no idea.

49,698. Were they paid without the ticks?—I cannot tell; several of them were paid, I believe.

49,699. You say they would appear as set down in some other book?—Yes.

49,700. Which book is that?—In the minute book.

49,701. Those set down in this minute book have several ticks and marks against them; they were paid, were they?—Most of those that you see the date to; that is the date from the commencement of their work or employment, or putting down.

49,702. The date that they were paid from?—No; I do not say that. They were all paid. Those were actual names put down; payments for employment; those that have the dates to the names.

49,703. Those are different people from those that I drew your attention to on the pay lists?—No; they are the same people, and those in the minute book are the same people.

48,704. All the same people?—Yes; there might be an omission of a name.

49,705. Of the twenty-one you gave me?—Yes.

49,706. There are forty-one in the book?—I have said before, all those people were not employed, and not paid, in that book. Those are applicants.

49,707. Can you tell me from those papers now before you, whether those names to which I have last drawn your attention were either employed or paid or set down; were they all either set down or employed?—I believe they were almost all of them employed. They were set down, and I believe almost all paid.

49,708. Look at C; that appears to be a list of messenger stations?—Yes.

49,709. When was that made out?—The morning of the election.

49,710. Are those the names of the persons who were to carry things from one place to another?—A portion of them. There were some more added to those.

49,711. Were those part of the scheme we have been talking about?—Yes.

49,712. Were all the persons in that list paid?—I believe so.

49,713. And they were part of the persons employed in reference to the scheme and plan we have been speaking of?—Yes.

49,714. On the polling day?—Yes.

49,715. And not on any other day?—Some of these were employed other days as well; but the greater number of them were not employed but on that day.

49,716. How much did they get?—5*s.* They were not freemen, and not voters at all, the greater part of them.

49,717. Was that the time that you were very much pressed on account of the defection?—Yes.

49,718. And were those the best that you could get?—Yes; we were obliged to take them at a minute, in consequence of the number of people not coming, and also the detention at the polling booths of the men who were employed to perform this duty; and others were obliged to be got to supply their places.

49,719. That would be the reason you had not time to stand and ask for colours and voters?—No.

49,720. Is that the reason that you employed non-voters upon that occasion?—I employed the first men I could meet with.

49,721. You had no time, I suppose, to be scrutinizing, whether they were voters or what colours they were?—I knew they were not voters.

49,722. Do you mean to say you could have got blue voters at that time, and did not do so?—No; there would have been a difficulty to get them at that moment. As I stated to you, the crowding at the polling booths delayed the men returning to their duties.

49,723. You only employed non-voters when you could not get voters?—Certainly I should have preferred voters if they had done the work equally well.

49,724. If you employed non-voters you only got half your service performed; that would be so, would it not?—No.

49,725. Be kind enough now to look at the next, marked D? Are those some payments made in respect of some expenses at the clearing houses? Some receipts for rooms, are they not, or something of that kind?—Yes.

49,726. Were those some rooms that were engaged?—No; these were the clerks.

49,727. The clerks', names?—Yes, the clerks' names.

49,728. You will see their receipts further on; they seem to have had money for a room?—Here is one: Edward Hall; that is for the clearing house room.

49,729. There are several others that appear to be paid for rooms?—I think the second appears to be a memorandum merely; it is written in the clerk's handwriting, and it was a receipt made to pay, I fancy, Mayne, it strikes me, but it has never been signed.

49,730. Are there some more?—These are some payments made, I suppose, because it is headed, "Amounts paid;" but I do not know anything about the list at all.

49,731. Do you mean you do not know whether the rooms were used or not?—It has nothing to do with rooms; they are payments of 3*s.* 6*d.*, 7*s.*, and 5*s.*

49,732. Who to and what are they?—There is James Cuttle, 2*s.*; Thomas Page, 2*s.*

49,733. It is among your papers; what does it mean?—I cannot tell; I do not know whose writing it is; it is not the clerk's; certainly.

49,734. That paper C, is not that a list of runners or persons employed, and payments made to them?—Yes; most of those people were employed about the place. Thomas Page; he was a doorkeeper. I do not know what the 2*s.* means at all.

49,735. Are not those additional payments to what you mentioned already?—They cannot be additional to what is in the pay sheets.

49,736. They can be?—There was nothing paid but what was in the pay sheets, to my knowledge. It has been suggested that those may have been advances made by some one to these men.

49,737. We want your mind?—I cannot give it you. I know nothing of the paper; I never saw it before, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

49,738. The one which you suggested was Mayne's seems to be endorsed on the back of it "Brumby"?—Yes; Mrs. Brumby; she was to get 2*l.*

49,739. Were any of the people on your committee paid for their services?—I believe none whatever, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

49,740. Here is a list of them, I observe. Can you say that none of them were paid (handing book I to the witness)? Can you tell whether any of those upon your committee were paid for their services?—I observe the name of Henry Cammell. The house the committee was held in belonged to him; it is his own house. You cannot call that a payment.

49,741. You met at his house?—It was at his house the committee was held; we took it from him at the time.

49,742. Were any paid for attending and serving on the committee?—No; as far as I know; as far as I believe, not one.

49,743. Will you tell me——? Here is another list, called runners for the clearing house. They may be in some of the other lists we have referred to, or are they additional? The runners from the clearing house would not be in the pay sheets?—Those I believe are the names of eight people, and were sent from one of the other committee rooms to the clearing house.

49,744. What has it to do there?—It was sent for the use of the clearing house; these people were to be employed at the clearing house.

49,745. How did they find their way among your papers?—Because the papers all got mixed together at our committee and the clearing house papers.

49,746. You paid entirely?—I paid in our own committee room the entire of the clearing house expenses.

49,747. With the exception of Mr. Ash?—He paid for the town clearing house.

49,748. You think that list would relate to the runners for some other district?—Yes; they were not paid by us.

49,749. You or Mr. Ash paid them all?—These people it appears were runners at another committee room.

49,750. No other committee room paid the clearing house runners?—They were men that had been previously employed, and they were said to be the most steady men from the other committees.

49,751. You would pay them 5*s.* each?—No.

49,752. Why not?—Because they were previously employed at their own committee, and would be paid at their own committee.

49,753. Would they be used as clearing house runners that ought to have been paid, and would they get anything extra?—No.

49,754. All the runners were paid 5*s.* for the nomination day and the polling day, as distinguished from 3*s.* 6*d.*?—I believe they were paid 5*s.* a day for that week. I paid the men 3*s.* 6*d.* for the Monday and Tuesday, and 5*s.* for the Wednesday and Thursday; the nomination and the polling day. The men were perfectly satisfied with it; but finding other districts had given 5*s.*, they came to me, and complained, and in consequence they got the 3*s.* extra.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,755. For which days?—On the Monday and Tuesday, I think; making the 5s. each day.

49,756. Were they paid up to the Saturday?—I believe they were paid up to the Saturday generally.

49,757. That does make the week?—No. I thought you meant the preceding Saturday?

49,758. No; the subsequent Saturday?—No.

49,759. Not paid for the two days afterwards?—No, I think not; except the clerk was on a doorkeeper.

49,760. Here I find another list of people as voters for Worship Street district. What are those some other names set down, eight or ten of them? What does that refer to, do you know?—I am pretty sure it refers again to the clearing house.

49,761. I see Worship Street district; that is your own, is it not?—Yes.

49,762. Some eight or ten more names there; does it appear from that paper, when those were paid?—No, it does not.

49,763. Cannot you tell us?—Not one of them was paid in Worship Street.

49,764. What do those appear to be? Clearing house runners?—I presume so, from the nature of the paper. I do not remember to have seen it before. They were not paid in Worship Street.

49,765. Were they paid when you were paying the clearing house runners?—No.

49,766. Do you say then they were not paid at all?—I believe not; not one of them. At least they were not paid by the committee in Worship Street.

49,767. If you can furnish us with some information as to that it will save us a deal of trouble?—I am very sorry I have no means whatever.

49,768. They are among your own papers, and you or your clerk can explain them?—Some of those papers are new to myself. Very likely the clerk might be able to explain them.

49,769. This contains the names of applicants. It is called, "List of applicants for situations;" that is the heading of it?—Yes.

49,770. I see the 4th name "William Altass, 1, King Square, Sykes Street, application to the Hon. C. L. Butler;" what does that mean?—I believe most improperly a letter was written; he either wrote it himself or some one wrote for him, applying to be put on.

49,771. It says, "for situations;" what does that mean?—It means for a messenger or runner.

49,772. It says,—"List of applicants for situations during the election"?—Yes; that is for doorkeepers or clerks, or whatever a man was calculated for.

49,773. What was done upon that application?—Nothing.

49,774. Was he put on or put off?—He was not put on. The man had been blue before, but he went to the orange party.

49,775. After writing that letter?—After reading that letter.

49,776. Why do you consider it a very improper application?—It is a very improper application, I think, to make for any situation to a candidate.

49,777. Why, if a man goes around for a canvass, and a person says, "I should like to be employed," do you think that improper?—I think it is very improper to make it to the candidates.

49,778. If a gentleman goes around to them; Mr. Moore or Mr. Butler?—It is matter of opinion.

49,779. Do not you think it is likely the man would say he should like to have some employment?—No. His proper application was to the chairman of the ward or district.

49,780. Do you think that all employment would be tainted?—No; but it would be better to avoid such an application, because you know when a man asks for employment it might be supposed he was doing it colourably.

49,781. Is that the evidence you intended to give; is that the reason?—My idea of its impropriety arises from that. It might be supposed, if he was employed, it was done merely colourably. It was no real employment.

49,782. Will you look at those red marks at the side (book I); do they refer to payments?—These were the men that really were employed. It applies to the men that really were employed and taken on.

49,783. Can you say that?—I believe so.

49,784. I think you said those employed had got the date of their employment against them?—Yes.

49,785. There are also some red ticks that have not?—They may have been omitted.

49,786. The date omitted, or the employment?—The first name, Nathaniel M'Kay; that man was employed from the first, and there is no date placed opposite his name.

49,787. There are several that have the date and the red tick?—Yes.

49,788. And several that have the red tick without the date?—Yes; I can only see two or three, and two of those were employed from the first, and therefore the date was not put down.

49,789. But your general opinion as to it is, that those that have red ticks were employed, and those that have not were not?—I cannot say that; I believe so.

49,790. I think you said that those were paid who would be found in the book?—Yes; all those that were paid would be in that book.

49,791. And all in the book paid?—No, I do not say that.

49,792. You have just said you believed it?—All those that are ticked.

49,793. You said all those ticked you believed to be employed?—Yes, and paid; they were all paid. I do not say employed; more or less.

49,794. Those that were not ticked, were they paid?—I believe not at all.

49,795. Were not?—They were not employed; and never came forward.

49,796. Why were they not employed?—I will give you one reason, a man named Altass, you mentioned just now; he went to the other side, because we did not employ him.

49,797. He is struck through in pencil?—Yes; he went to the other side.

49,798. When were the payments made at the clearing house?—On the Saturday.

49,799. On the Saturday after the election?—At least the greater part of them. The clerks, I think, were not paid until the beginning of the next week, or the next week, some times.

49,800. Where was the room at which you paid?—17, Worship Street.

49,801. Your own committee room?—Yes.

49,802. Here is the name of Wilberforce: "This man will leave us if not employed." Was he employed?—I really do not know whether he was or not. I see there is run put opposite his name.

49,803. Run away?—That is he went to the other side.

49,804. The explanation of running on the other side is, that the man run, and did not do his duty; that he ran as a messenger?—I suppose it means there that the man broke his promise or word.

49,805. You can tell me whether or not the names that I have drawn your attention to in the pay sheets were all entered in that book?—I believe they are.

49,806. They all are?—I believed they are all entered in that book. In fact that book was a guide, and the dates at the side were a guide for making out the pay lists.

49,807. No doubt that must contain them all?—No doubt that contains the whole of them, to the best of my knowledge.

49,808. Do you know a person of the name of Nathaniel M'Kay?—Yes.

49,809. Is he in that book?—Yes; the very first name in it.

49,810. Did you pay that man 4*l.*?—At once? No. At different times, very probably.

49,811. Is he on your pay list?—Yes; from the first he was a messenger at 3*s.* 6*d.* a day; he was paid at that rate, excepting just previous to the election.

49,812. John Lowe; is he on your book?—Yes; I believe he is in the book.

49,813. Is he on the pay list?—I believe so.

49,814. There is no Lowe, I believe?—I remember the name.

49,815. There is a tick in red ink. Do you know what you paid these people in the book that are ticked; did they all receive the same, or different, or what?—They all received the same.

49,816. How much?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day. I do not know that every one of them were paid. They were to have been paid at the rate of 3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

49,817. You would not know how much you paid them?—No, not at all.

49,818. You have been asked about paying, by your maid servant, a person of the name of Wilkinson?—Yes.

49,819. Did you also pay, by your maid servant, a person of the name of Benjamin Clarkson?—I cannot say, positively.

49,820. Was there any name of Benjamin set down by yourself, in Worship Street?—There is no person of the name of Benjamin; Benjamin Clarkson there is.

49,821. Do you recollect sending, by your maid servant, to Benjamin Clarkson, 1*l.*?—No, I do not; but I sent some money by the servant to voters who had not come to the meeting on Saturday.

49,822. Did Clarkson do any work?—I have said before I should not suppose he had, except canvassing. I saw him repeatedly in the committee room.

49,823. You saw him in the committee room, and could not mention any work that he did?—No, I could not.

49,824. Do not you know that he was employed at that time as a brush maker?—I do not know it. I believe he was in Mr. Thomas's employment, but I did not know he was employed at that time.

49,825. Do you know a man of the name of James Hunter, of Shields Court?—I remember the name, but I do not remember him at all otherwise.

49,826. Did you pay his son 20*s.* after the election, or himself?—I really cannot say.

49,827. Shields Court, Manor Alley, he lives in. It is stated that you paid him at his own house in Dock Street 20*s.*, after the election; do you know anything about it?—No, I do not; I am certain I did not pay him myself in Dock Street.

49,828. James Hunter is one of the names in your book that is not ticked off?—I do not recollect James Hunter.

49,829. Do you recollect paying his son?—I do not recollect paying his son.

49,830. Did you at any time receive any money to make payments?—Yes.

49,831. At any time during the election?—Yes, repeatedly.

W. G. Turnbull.

18th July 1853.

49,832. From whom did you receive it?—From Mr. Harris.

49,833. Did you receive any money from anybody to make payments, except from Mr. Harris?—I did not.

49,834. Not at any time?—Not at any time.

49,835. Did you make any payment with your own money, and get repaid afterwards, except that you were repaid by Mr. Harris?—I never received any money from any one, except Mr. Harris.

49,836. Not from any one?—Not from any one.

49,837. Did you receive any money at any time to pay over to Mr. Harris?—No.

49,838. Do you know anything of the subscription that has been spoken of, partly to meet the expenses of the election?—No; very little. Do you mean the election, or the petition.

49,839. We have been told the sum of 1,200*l.* was to be furnished by each of the candidates. It is quite clear that that was not enough to pay the expenses. We hear that afterwards a subscription was made to meet the extra expenses?—I do not know of it.

49,840. You know nothing of it?—Of my own knowledge, I know nothing of it.

49,841. Have you anything else to disclose, or is there anything which you are enabled to disclose; not only that you have participated in yourself, but that you have reasonable ground to suppose will give us any information?—Upon our own side, I know nothing at this moment that I can call to mind.

49,842. We know of no difference of sides. For instance, I call your attention to a matter of considerable importance; we want to trace what has become of certain persons who voted against you; and, just as an illustration, suppose a person promised your side, and then voted against you, or, on the other hand, a person who had promised the orange party voted for the blues, can you give us any information as to that?—I am not aware of any parties that promised the orange and voted for the blue, but there were several promised us and voted opposite.

49,843. Can you hand in any list of them within your ward?—I cannot; but there are two or three names that I know.

49,844. Can you tell us anything else?—No, I do not know of anything.

49,845. There were no means of securing votes on your side, that we have not asked you about?—None, that I know of, whatever.

Mr. J. Brodrick.

Mr. JOHN BRODRICK sworn, and examined.

49,846. What business are you?—A wine merchant.

49,847. Where do you live, or carry on business?—My office, during the election, was on the Dock Side.

49,848. Where do you carry on your own business?—My office is No. 38, High Street, now.

49,849. What rent do you pay within the borough, or are rated at?—I scarcely know what we are rated at; I have only just got to them. The old office was rated at about 100*l.* a year.

49,850. At the time of the election?—Yes.

49,851. How long have you been a voter of the borough?—I should think about twenty years ago.

49,852. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

49,853. Then I must alter my question. Have you voted twenty years as a householder?—No.

49,854. About how long as a householder?—About nineteen years as a householder.

49,855. How long have you been a freeman?—Twenty-five years, I think.

49,856. Have you lived in Hull all your life?—Yes; I cannot exactly recollect the dates.

49,857. Have you taken a great deal of interest in the politics of the borough?—Yes, I have taken a share.

49,858. For many years?—Several years.

49,859. Whom did you vote for in 1841?—Hanmer and James.

49,860. You always voted blue?—Always voted blue.

49,861. Were you a member of any committee?—I think not, at that time.

49,862. Did you take any part in the election?—No, I did not take much.

49,863. In 1847, did you vote?—I voted for Brown and Baines.

49,864. Were you a member of either of their committees?—I think of the Holderness ward committee.

49,865. For who; Mr. Baines or Mr. Brown?—Mr. Brown.

49,866. In 1852 you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

49,867. And I believe you were chairman of the Lowgate committee?—I was.

49,868. Is that the list of the runners set down? Does that book contain a list of the runners (handing Lowgate book marked A)?—Yes, I believe it does.

49,869. Does it contain the name of all?—I should think it will.

49,870. What is that (a paper)?—I do not think I ever saw this before. I should fancy they were names of applicants who applied.

49,871. That is a list of the names of applicants?—Yes, it is, as far as I can recollect. Here is one man I know.

49,872. Looking at one name, does that enable you to say it is a list of runners?—Yes.

49,873. A supplementary setting down list?—Yes.

48,874. And the other one?—This is another list of runners, with the numbers on the register.

49,875. Can you give any information with respect to the introduction of Mr. Moore or Mr. Butler into the town; had you anything to do with introducing them?—No; I had not anything to do with introducing them into the town.

49,876. With either of those gentlemen being candidates?—No; I had nothing at all to do with that.

49,877. When was your committee organized; the same date as the others?—Yes; the same date as the others.

49,878. The end of May or the beginning of June?—About the end of May; the same time as the others.

49,879. And was the course of business at your committee room the same as at most of the others?—Pretty much the same. I do not think we entered all our minutes at the different meetings.

49,880. Had you a minute book?—I think we had, but we did not enter all.

49,881. What has become of that minute book?—All the papers I had were handed over to the central committee.

49,882. Except those papers produced now?—Yes; they were all put up together.

49,883. Had you a minute book?—Yes, there was a minute book, I am aware. Where it is I do not know now. I never saw it after the election.

49,884. Do your books or paper show the amount of money paid or received?—They would be put on a slip every Saturday night, and handed in to the central committee.

49,885. Check sheets?—Pay sheets.

49,886. And they went in to the central committee?—Yes.

49,887. Did they contain the names of all the payments made?—They contained the names and the disbursements every week at our committee room.

49,888. Would it contain an entry of all the payments made, both before and after the day of election?—I think it would, so far as our committee was concerned.

49,889. When your committee was organized, what did the staff consist of?—There would be two clerks and a doorkeeper and two runners, I think, as far as I can recollect.

49,890. Were you pretty regular in your attendance at the central committee?—Yes.

49,891. We hear the chairman attended every day?—I do not think I attended every day, but I was pretty regular when I was in town.

49,892. Did you occasionally see the candidates there?—In the morning I should see them there; they were only a very short time there in the morning; they called there to make arrangements for the canvass.

49,893. How soon did you increase the number of your staff?—I should think the latter part of June.

49,894. A minute has been read showing that the central committee determined on a large increase being made on the 30th of June?—Yes; I think it was about that time.

49,895. Did you make any increase before that?—I should think there might have been one more runner.

49,896. A small increase before the 30th of June?—Yes; we could not get through the work in our district without.

49,897. Was there a large increase made on the 30th of June?—Yes, I believe there was.

49,898. How many, do you think?—Really I cannot tell you. It will be in the books that Mr. Shaw has.

49,899. We have no books of that sort?—The books were sent in, at all events, I know.

49,900. How many, do you think?—I should think from ten to twelve. The book will tell you regularly every week the number.

49,901. I am sorry to say we have not got the book?—I have not seen it since the election.

49,902. What was the name of your first clerk?—Steadman.

49,903. You had two clerks?—Yes.

49,904. What was the name of the other?—Watson was the other but I could not depend on him.

49,905. Steadman was the active man?—Yes.

49,906. What is the name of your doorkeeper?—Faulkner; he was a messenger or a doorkeeper. No; Fenwick was the doorkeeper, and Faulkner was the messenger.

49,907. You mentioned one doorkeeper and two runners?—There was a messenger we had lived in the house, of the name of Faulkner.

49,908. Watson was a canvasser; you have him down so?—He came to me as a clerk, and did he not suit me, so I took Sleadman.

49,909. They were all voters?—No; Steadman was not a voter; the principal clerk was not a voter.

Mr. J. Brodrick.

18th July 1853.

49,910. How came you to appoint him?—Because I thought he was a very clever clerk.

49,911. Could you not get a voter easily?—I knew this man to be a clever man, and I thought I would employ him; he would be more use to me than a person I could not depend upon.

49,912. Something better than the ordinary run?—Yes.

49,913. The others were voters?—I believe the others were voters.

49,914. I presume all the persons whose names were set down in that list were voters?—Yes.

49,915. Was one of the objects of your employing these runners giving them employment to secure their votes?—Yes, no doubt of it.

49,916. Part of it?—Yes.

49,917. I dare say you agree with all the rest of the witnesses; they all understood that as well as you did?—Yes.

49,918. It was understood by both sides?—Yes.

49,919. We hear it was an understanding well ascertained here, that they gave their services, and the services and vote always go together?—Of course.

49,920. Now we hear that some caution was used by your lawyer about the number of persons employed, for the sake of avoiding the appearance of its being bribery?—We generally contrived to give them some employment; those we took on our list.

49,921. It was a subject of contrivance, was it not?—Yes, I suppose so.

49,922. Have you heard of the scheme which Mr. Turnbull and Mr. Wells are rivals as to who was the inventor of?—I heard of it it in Court yesterday. I did not think it would work, so I did not adopt it.

49,923. It was not carried out, I believe, in your ward?—It was not carried out at all.

49,224. You thought it was more ingenious than useful?—I did not think it would work at all.

49,925. Did you hear any discussion about it in the central committee?—I did not hear any discussion about it in the central committee.

49,926. Do you agree it was more ingenious than useful, except as a means of finding employment?—It was certainly one way of finding employment.

49,927. Did you hear that observed during the election?—I did not.

49,928. You think now that the scheme for employing 478 persons has more ingenuity than usefulness in it?—Yes; if it could have been carried out——

49,929. The principal part is its ingenuity?—Yes; if it could have been carried out, it would be one means of employing them.

49,930. What was the system you adopted in paying, after the election?—I did not pay myself any of the men.

49,931. Who paid in your ward?—I should think my deputy chairman, Mr. Pulleyn.

49,932. Did he pay from week to week?—He would pay from week to week.

49,933. You never paid at all?—I never paid at all.

49,934. Neither before nor after the election?—No.

49,935. Did any money at all pass through your hands?—No money at all passed through my hands.

49,936. In any way at all?—Not in any way at all.

49,937. I mean connected with the election?—Not in any way connected with the election, that I know of. I do not recollect now.

49,938. Was he assisted by a clerk?—He would be assisted by a clerk.

49,939. Were you present when he was paying?—No; I was not living in the town at the time; I was living in the country.

49,940. This paper that has been handed in to us contains an erased list of cab directors; is that another mode of finding employment?—If you will let me look, I think it will.

49,941. And confidential persons. The two first lists,—cab directors; what does that mean?—They were some of the persons that we could depend upon; and we sent them to bring up voters. They knew where they lived. And here is a list of confidential persons sent from the Lowgate ward; they would be other runners that we could place confidence in; that were sent to the clearing houses as they are called, as ordered by the central committee.

49,942. What is the meaning of those names being struck through? I have just compared one or two with the poll book?—I should think they belonged to another district.

49,943. The first name struck through is a name, on looking at the poll book, who voted for Clay and Goderich?—I do not know.

49,944. Would that have anything to do with his being struck out?—Yes, I think it would.

49,945. That was struck out when pay day came?—Yes.

49,946. Can Mr. Pulleyn explain that more than you?—Yes; he had more care of it than I.

49,947. Look at the other page, "Additional committee rooms," are they sham committee rooms?—Here are eight, I think.

49,948. And have you any doubt those were sham committee rooms, or some of them?—I suppose they were. Now here is Jackson with a cross against it.

49,949. That was genuine?—Yes, that was a genuine one.

49,950. And the others were sham?—Yes; I do not think there was anything carried on there.

49,951. That, you agree with the others, was one means of obtaining votes?—Yes; that was one way, I suppose, if we had been opposite to an orange flag.

59,952. If you saw an orange flag, you would hang out a blue?—Yes.

49,953. Do you know whether a staff of runners would be sent to those, or would that also be in Mr. Pulleyn's department?—Yes.

49,954. Mr. Pulleyn was a very active man?—Yes, a very active man. I think there was a staff of clerks and doorkeepers sent to Jackson's; the Greenland Fishery.

49,955. What was his for?—They were to see that the canvass was carried on properly; it was nearer than coming across the bridge to the Lowgate ward; we wanted a committee room in that neighbourhood.

49,956. Was it necessary, or was the room taken to make work?—It was necessary that we should have something in that neighbourhood.

49,957. Where did your own committee meet?—At Lowgate, at the Conservative Rooms.

49,958. Did the same gentlemen attend at both?—Perhaps they might. Some of them would call in here occasionally to see what was going on.

49,959. Be so good as to look at that. Do you remember receiving that note relating to Henry Grant, and the memorandum by Charles Wills? Read it; it is addressed to you?—"This person will vote for the blues, if temporary employment should be attended to."

49,960. That was addressed to you?—Yes.

49,961. I believe it was not attended to immediately, and a second memorandum made upon it,—a complaint of its not being attended to?—"The above return was made some days ago, but he has not been called upon."

49,962. Whose handwriting is that?—I really do not recollect whose handwriting it is.

49,963. What was done upon that?—I should think, if he was in our district, we should put his name down among our list of runners.

49,964. It is upon receiving such documents as that that you would put a man's name down?—I think we should, and we should give him employment the first opportunity we had.

49,965. You would be sure to get employment some time or other?—Yes; we should try.

49,966. There was never any doubt that there would be some employment made at some time?—Yes; we expected we should want all we could get.

49,967. Or payment instead?—Yes.

49,968. Is that the same Henry Grant of Hewitt Square, Carr Lane?—Yes.

49,969. The result appears to be, that he voted Clay and Goderich. Is that a very remarkable result, from that memorandum not having been attended to?—I dare say there was some on our weekly list that did vote Clay and Goderich.

49,970. Is not that the result to be expected from the person not being attended to, on such a note as that?—I think so, if his name is not on our list as paid.

49,971. May we take it, that all the persons whose names are mentioned in the application book were employed and paid, or nearly all?—Nearly all; I cannot tell. The names in the first instance were put down, and their addresses, and we were to send to them when they were wanted.

49,972. Your committee, I suppose, adopted every means they could to find employment for every one that they could; did they not?—They did, the last week of the election.

49,973. I mean during the last week of the election?—Yes.

49,974. If you had but a few more gentlemen like Mr. Wells you could have employed 10,000, I dare say?—If we had only work.

49,975. Look at that memorandum signed by yourself?—"I will see Arnott, and make all right with him."

49,976. Is that your writing?—The signature is mine.

49,977. Do you remember how you did make him all right?—I suppose by putting his name down as a runner, and paying him. I cannot tell how it was done; I did not pay him myself.

49,978. That would be the natural mode?—That would be the natural mode, no doubt of it.

49,979. You have already said, you did not receive any money yourself?—No.

49,980. Jackson, I believe, was your foreman at that time? Had you a person of the name of Jackson at that time in your employment?—Yes; he is my cellarman.

49,981. Did he receive anything?—He did not receive anything from me that I know of, and he did not receive anything from our committee room that I know of.

49,982. Or from the central committee room?—I do not know where he received it from, if any.

Mr. J. Brodrick.

18th July 1853.

49,983. That man Arnott voted the other way?—It is the first time he voted that way; he always did vote for the blues.

49,984. Did you hear at all that there was a scarcity of money on your side?—I was told so by the other party.

49,985. Do you know anything of the mode by which the expenses were defrayed by subscription; where they came from?—I really do not know where they came from.

49,986. Did you hear?—I did not hear.

49,987. Was the collection of subscriptions left to a few gentlemen?—To a few gentlemen.

49,988. And you mean you were not one?—I was not one.

49,989. The Hedon voters; did they fall within your department?—I went to Hedon with the candidates.

49,990. Did you go without the candidates?—I did not.

49,991. Had you the management of the Hedon voters, and the payment of them?—That is a mistake altogether.

49,992. Had you?—I had no management of the Hedon voters, except going to solicit their votes with the candidates.

49,993. That is mere form?—We generally go there.

49,994. That has nothing to do with the vote?—No. I think the result was very favourable on our side, at all events; they all voted for us except one.

49,995. I dare say they had their expenses paid?—I had nothing to do with the expenses.

49,996. Who did manage the expenses of the Hedon voters?—I am sure I do not know who took the management; it would be at the head committee room.

49,997. Mr. Stubbing?—Yes; he would have the bringing up of the Hedon voters.

42,998. Was he intrusted with the looking after them?—He was intrusted with the care of them.

49,999. What about this bottling up business?—I know nothing at all about it. I suppose it is a fabrication of Wilde's, and some one of his friends. I fancy he must have made a mistake between my name and a Mr. Palmer, a wine merchant.

50,000. You heard of the fact that there were some voters bottled up?—So I was told.

50,001. You heard it at the time?—Yes.

50,002. You know a place called the Mile House?—Yes; I know the place.

50,003. Did you know of a party of voters there?—No. I should have nothing to do with it; it is not in my district.

50,004. Whose district is it?—In the Holderness ward.

50,005. What do you mean by Mr. Palmer? Do you mean an orange gentleman?—Yes.

50,006. Have you any ground for saying it was Mr. Palmer?—Yes; I have some ground. I mean there were a great many persons in his house the night before the election.

50,007. Did you see them?—I was told so.

50,008. You yourself knew nothing about the voters who were bottled?—I did not see them, I am quite sure.

50,009. Who did you hear had the care of them?—I did not say they remained at Mr. Palmer's house, but they were there the night before the election, a considerable number, because they were seen by the opposite neighbours.

50,010. Was there anybody told you that we can send for? Who did you hear it from?—I heard it from Mr. John Hall, who lives opposite.

50,011. Do you mean Alderman Palmer?—Yes.

50,012. Do you know the Drinkalls, voters of this borough?—No, I think not. I do not recollect their names just now.

50,013. John Drinkall, Henry Percy Drinkall, and some others; did you canvass them?—I might have canvassed. If they were in our district I should canvass them, most likely.

50,014. You have no particular recollection of the name of Drinkall?—Not at present, without you can bring it to my recollection.

50,015. John Drinkall, of Hyperion Street?—That would not be in my district. I do not think I should canvass him.

50,016. You think he did not come to you to be set down?—I think not; I will not be sure about it.

50,017. Or the other one, Henry Percy Drinkall?—I think not; I think they would not come to us. If they did I should send them back into their district.

50,018. We may possibly have occasion to ask you a question when we have looked through those papers. Have you anything else you can disclose?—Nothing; only to deny the fact that I had any men bottled up.

50,019. Can you tell us of anything else?—No, I cannot at present. I have never seen any of the books since the election, or I might have ticked the names off.

50,020. Can you furnish us in any way with any list of any persons who promised, and did not perform their promise?—They were all marked down in the books that were handed in. I do not know anything as to who has got the papers and books; they were all sent from our committee room to the central committee room. I know nothing more about them; I never saw them afterwards. If that book was in my possession it is very likely there are memorandums and marks against the names of the persons who voted against us.

Mr. J. Brodrick.
18th July 1853.

50,021. Did you ever have any application from tradespeople for orders?—No; I think I had not personally.

Adjourned till to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

THIRTY-SIXTH DAY.—Tuesday, 19th July 1853.

JAMES BROCKLEBANK sworn, and examined.

J. Brocklebank.
19th July 1853.

50,022. Where do you live?—In Collier Street.
50,023. What is your business?—A painter.
50,024. What rent do you pay there?—£8 a year.
50,025. For a house?—Yes.
50,026. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
50,027. How long have you been free?—Ever since Colonel Thompson's election, in 1837.
50,028. Was your freedom taken up for you?—Yes.
50,029. By which party?—By Mr. Clay.
50,030. The orange?—Yes.
50,031. Did you in consequence vote for Clay and Thompson, the orange candidates, in 1841?—Yes.
50,032. Were you paid for your vote by either of those gentlemen?—No.
53,033. Did you not get any money at that election?—After the election.
50,034. How much did you get?—30*s*.
50,035. Where was it paid?—In Mr. Galloway's office.
50,036. In 1847, did you vote?—Yes.
50,037. Who for?—Bulleted Clay.
50,038. What did you get for you vote then?—Nothing.
50,039. You never got paid anything for that?—Not a farthing.
50,040. You are quite sure of that?—Quite confident of it.
50,041. Neither before nor after?—Not a farthing.
50,042. You did not see Nicholson then?—No.
50,043. Were you at the Baltic Tavern?—No; I never got anything whatever.
50,044. Did you vote last year, in 1852?—Yes.
50,045. Who for?—Clay and Goderich.
50,046. Did you have your name set down?—No.
50,047. Did you say you had not your name set down at all last year?—I am confident of it. If they have it it is quite unknown to me; I am quite confident it was not set down.
50,048. As a runner, or that description?—No.
50,049. And you did not expect to get paid after the election was over?—No.

Mr. STEPHEN WEST sworn, and examined.

Mr. S. West.

50,050. I believe you are a resident in the borough?—I am.
50,051. Have you been some time liuing in the borough?—I have always lived in Hull.
50,052. Where has your residence been?—My present residence is in the Holderness Road.
50,053. You either rent or are rated for a house, I presume?—Yes.
50,054. Do you rent a house?—I do rent a house, because I have just taken one; but the house I now hold is my own.
50,055. Is that property in respect of which you vote?—No; I voted in respect of property which we rent for trading purposes.
50,056. What are you rated at?—For the house, or for the yard?
50,057. The gross amount of your rating?—I think the rental of the firm in which I am a partner will perhaps be 1,200*l*. or 1,400*l*. a year rental.
50,058. Supposing it was let?—Yes.
50,059. What business do you carry on?—That of a timber merchant.
50,060. In partnership with other gentlemen?—Yes.
50,061. Have you taken some interest in the elections that have occurred since the Reform Act?—Only as a voter.
50,062. In 1832?—No; not any, except that I voted at the election in 1847.

Mr. S. West.

19th July 1853.

50,063. I said 1832, at the time of the Reform Act?—I did not take any.

50,064. Have you voted since that time?—In 1847 I voted.

50,065. For the first time?—For the first time.

50,066. Did you not vote in 1841?—I think not.

50,067. Were you qualified?—I was not; I was then living in lodgings.

50,068. In 1847, I presume, your political side was the blue, as it was at the last election?—It was.

50,069. Did you take any interest in the election of 1847, as being on any committee or anything of that sort?—No, not any.

50,070. Whom did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

50,071. You were not on any committee at all at that time?—Not on any committee.

50,072. Do you know anything, or could you give us any information with regard to that election of 1847, although you were not active in it?—I am not in possession of any information. I took very little interest in it, except going to record my vote.

50,073. Did you have any interviews with Mr. Baines or Mr. Brown?—None whatever.

50,074. Did you have any interference at all, or any arrangement of the financial matters?—Not any.

50,075. Did any money in any way pass through your hands in 1847?—Not the slightest.

50,076. You did not make any payments at all?—None whatever.

50,077. Did you set down, procure, or secure the names of any voters at that election?—I did not take any part whatever in it, except that of voting.

50,078. In the last election of 1852 you voted for Moore and Butler?—I did.

50,079. You were the chairman of the Holderness ward?—I was.

50,080. And you had a staff and vice-chairman, I suppose?—Yes.

50,081. And you were in the interest of Moore and Butler?—Yes.

50,082. You became aware, I suppose, of the arrangement that was made with regard to a certain number of messengers and doorkeepers at starting?—Yes.

50,083. And you extended your staff afterwards, as the rest did?—Yes; there was an extension.

50,084. I think you have furnished us with some books and lists that were in use at your committee?—No, I did not; they were not in my possession.

50,085. Who did you part with them to?—They never were in my possession; they were in possession of the man who acted as clerk.

50,086. Is that Mr. Todd?—Yes; and I believe he was arrested for debt, and sent to York Castle the day after the election.

50,087. Where did all the papers get to?—I have no knowledge whatever of them.

50,088. Where is Todd now?—I have no knowledge.

50,089. Has he been released from York Castle?—I have been told he has been seen in Hull recently.

50,090. There are a good many papers, we understand, connected with your room, which we should be glad to have?—I should be very happy to deliver them up to you if I had them at all, but I have not seen a scrap of paper from that time to this moment.

50,091. Have you seen Todd in Hull?—No, I have not.

50,092. Not until lately?—I have never seen him since the election day.

50,093. Was he here at the time of the election?—Yes.

50,094. Was that the time that he was taken away?—I think it was either the evening of that day or the following day, I am not quite sure which.

50,095. Look at that list; is it in your writing or Mr. Todd's (the Holderness list marked A)?—I think this would be in Mr. Todd's writing; it is not mine, certainly.

50,096. It was at the committee?—It looks like a document of that kind.

50,097. What was Todd's Christian name?—I am not quite sure about it; I think he lived in Holborn Street. He is not a voter, I think.

50,098. I will draw your attention to a note which is addressed to you, and perhaps you will be able to tell me what was done upon it:—

"Osborne Street room, June 19th, 1852.

"DEAR SIR,—One of my canvassers reports George Lowery, F. 154, of East Street, Drypool, as an applicant, and as a runner, if employed at once. He, John Lowery, of East Street, Samuel Lowery, of John Street, and Charles Lowery, of Church Street, all will promise; four votes. Will you see to this?

"Faithfully yours,

"Stephen West, Esq. CHARLES WELLS."

Do you know whether those names were put down upon your list as applicants for employment?—I think one of the Lowerys was put down.

50,099. The 19th of June is the date?—Yes.

50,100. And they were set down, you think?—I think one of the Lowerys was promised to be employed as a runner as soon as we had occupation for him, to the best of my recollection, but I could not be positive about it; I think so.

50,101. They do not seem to be on the list. Can you tell me whether those four names were added as applicants for employment?—I think not the whole of them.

50,102. Do you know which of them? Their names are Samuel, John, Charles, and George?—I do not know, indeed.

50,103. Did you know whether either of them were paid by Legitt?—That I do not know.

50,104. This is referred to you; it says, "Will you see to this?"—Yes.

50,105. I want to know what you would do upon receiving such a note as that? What would be the course at the committee room?—I saw one of the Lowerys, I think Samuel, and I asked him whether he was inclined to vote for the blue party, which I believe he had always been in the habit of supporting, and to the best of my recollection he said he was so inclined.

50,106. And did you then put his name down as an applicant for employment, or what did you do?—No; I did not put his name down.

50,107. But somebody did, I suppose? You would not carry it in your head all the time?—No; it has gone out of my head, if it ever was there.

50,108. He would be put upon some list, would he not?—Not of course; not of necessity. I saw him in the street, near to his own house, and I had some conversation with him upon the subject of the election, and at the time I saw him he spoke in rather a hasty manner.

50,109. You said he promised, I think. We do not want all the conversation?—He was disposed to vote for the blue party.

50,110. He hesitated, and you removed his doubts, and put him upon some list, I suppose?—No, I did not.

50,111. When I say, "removed his doubts," you canvassed him?—Yes.

50,112. He said he wanted to be employed by you, and you put him on some list?—No.

50,113. Do not you agree with the evidence that we have had from several gentlemen upon your side, that the usual course was where applicants came to make an application that the application was received, to the extent of putting the name down, and with the statement that employment would be given, if employment could be found; do you agree that that was the course?—That was the common practice.

50,114. It was a common practice in your ward also?—Yes.

50,115. That being the common practice, was there any difference with regard to the Lowerys?—He did not make the application.

50,116. Mr. Wells tells you to see to it; Mr. Wells directs your special attention to the Lowerys as four votes; and it says, "will all promise," with two dashes under the word "all," as a mode, I suppose, of securing four votes. Was there any exception made to what you have told me in the case of the Lowerys?—I have no certain recollection of his name being put down. He did not apply at the committee room. I saw him in the street near to his own house.

50,117. You said he hesitated?—Yes; to make any very positive promise.

50,118. Was that the reason that you did not put him down as an applicant?—No; I think that was some considerable time before the election.

50,119. The date of this is June the 19th; I suppose you saw him afterwards?—That would be three weeks. I really cannot say whether any of them were put down as runners or not. I should be inclined to think that one of the Lowerys was employed, but I cannot say positively.

50,120. Upon your staff in any way?—Yes. I wish to say I was from home a very great part of the time during the canvass, and therefore I am not so thoroughly acquainted with the transactions that took place at the Holderness ward committee room as I otherwise should have been.

50,121. Do you happen to know the names of the persons who were your staff in the first instance? How many doorkeepers had you in the first instance?—We had a clerk.

50,122. Did anybody else take the chair during your absence?—Yes; there were two gentlemen acted as vice-presidents in my absence.

50,123. What were their names?—Mr. Lambert, and I am not quite sure whether Mr. Field acted.

50,124. Who would be the active person when you were away?—Mr. Lambert was the deputy chairman.

50,125. How long were you absent?—I was absent, I think, more than once.

50,126. Do you mean for a day or two?—Yes; for a week or ten days at a time.

50,127. Was that after the committees had been formed?—Yes; it was after the committees had been formed.

50,128. And during your absence who would be the chairman principally?—Mr. Lambert, I think, was the person.

50,129. Your committee was appointed, and your staff too, I think, before you went away?—Yes, I think it was.

50,130. What number of doorkeepers and messengers had you at first?—We had one doorkeeper, and, I think, either three or four runners.

50,131. And a clerk?—We had two clerks for a day or two; but the committee's instructions were that we were only to employ one.

50,132. That was after the arrangement was first made?—Yes; and I was obliged to dismiss one.

Mr. S. West.

19th July 1853.

50,133. You put one of them by?—Yes.

50,134. Do you remember the names of the three messengers in the first instance?—We had two messengers who were not voters.

50,135. What were their names? Merely to identify them on the list.—Peacock and Wilkinson.

50,136. They were not voters?—No; not voters.

50,137. They were not extra to the three, but part of the three?—Yes; part of the three.

50,138. Who was the third in the first instance?—I think the doorkeeper's name was Wood; but I really do not recollect at this moment the names of the others.

50,139. You were instructed of the arrangement that had been made. Can you tell me whether or not you retained your staff according to that arrangement, until it was at an end, or did you enlarge the staff from time to time without much regard to the arrangement?—We confined our arrangements as near as possible to the instructions of the general committee.

50,140. That does not seem to have been always done so?—So far as I was concerned in the management of the affairs, I rigidly adhered to it, as far as practicable. I am not certain whether we might not have two additional runners. I believe the ward was the most extensive one.

50,141. I think there was some exception made in cases of absolute necessity?—There was. I think the ward was three miles in length.

50,142. Then you think you had one or two more?—I think we had; but I was obliged to offend many by declining to put them on and give them employment.

50,143. But their names were entered? That is involved in the general question put, whether all who made applications were not entered in some way with a promise of employment if it could be found. Was there not an entry made of their names?—There was no entry made of applicants.

50,144. You say some were offended; what at?—Because I could not put them into employment.

50,145. When the names were put on the list in this general way, of course it was well understood by both parties that they were persons who intended to vote blue?—That was of course expected.

50,146. Though nothing would be said in words?—Just so; a man would scarcely offer his services to the blue party if he intended to vote for the other party.

50,147. Can you tell me whose writing that is; it is a paper connected with your committee (No. 16.)? It would appear that somebody had written a note, saying that Thomas Winter, who is mentioned there, would secure those voters who were his relations?—I cannot speak to the writing.

50,148. Do not you know it, and where that came from?—I have not the slightest idea.

50,149. Are any of the ticks in it made by you? Can you tell me whether they mean that they are to be found in some other list, or what do they refer to? Does it mean that they have been entered in some book?—I do not think that I have ever seen that document before

50,150. You do not know the writing in any way?—No.

50,151. I see against all but two the letter F is put; do you know what that means?—I do not know.

50,152. "Freeman," it is suggested?—It is possible.

50,153. I see there are five Lowerys in it?—Yes; I noted that.

50,154. The paper is headed thus: "Thomas Winter;" do you know him?—No, I do not.

50,155. "Thomas Winter has seen all these men who are relations of his, and they have promised to vote for Moore and Butler;" and then follow twelve names?—I should suppose that has been a communication from some other district.

50,156. You do not know Thomas Winter, the person who says that these are all his relations?—No, I do not.

50,157. Do you know anything of the committee room which has been spoken of as Hare's?—In the Holderness ward?

50,158. Yes, I think it was?—Yes.

50,159. Where was this room of Hare's?—In Witham.

50,160. Do you know when that committee room was appointed?—I do not remember the date.

50,161. Was it one of the additional rooms that was made use of?—No; it was taken as a substitution of the first room we occupied.

50,162. You had Hare's room as a committee room?—Yes.

50,163. And you went there from your first place?—Yes.

50,164. You had Barratt's schoolroom; is that where you were at first?—Yes, we were there first.

50,165. And then you went to Hare's?—Yes.

50,166. I will draw your attention to one more, but I do not know whether you know anything about it; it is addressed to the chairman of the Holderness ward, signed Edwin Davis: "Harrison, Summergangs,—See to the above at once, there are several of them, and they are just on the tilt." I suppose that is, ready to run for either; do you recollect what you did upon that?—I do not recollect whether this note came into my hands or not; I do not remember. I think there is a man of the name of Harrison, a voter.

50,167. Summergangs, what is that?—That is the name of the place he lives at.

50,168. Where is that?—It is in the township of Southcoates; it is a distinct township in the parish of Drypool.

50,169. Do you yourself know of anything being done upon that, or have you heard of anything being done in consequence of that note?—I do not.

50,170. Is it John Harrison?—There is no Christian name.

50,171. Do you know whether John Harrison lives in Summergangs?—I do not know his Christian name; the man I mean is a small dairy farmer. I think John Harrison of Holderness Road is likely to be the man.

50,172. Will you just look at this, if you please? 3d of July, one of your papers; that list A contains the names of a good many persons, who, I suppose, had applied at your ward; there are a certain number of days set against several of the names?—Yes; I think I should be from home those days.

50,173. The first date there is the 3d of July; was that the kind of list that was made of persons who applied in the way I have mentioned to you? Was that the sort of way in which they were entered and put down?—Yes; I should think it likely.

50,174. In that sort of way?—Yes, I should think so.

50,175. The 3d of July is the first, then we come to the 5th of July; most of them have a certain number of days put against them, and they are ticked off; does that show that they were paid?—I cannot tell.

50,176. Who could tell that?—The clerk in whose handwriting this is.

50,177. Who is he?—Mr. Todd.

50,178. He would not necessarily pay the money?—He paid all the weekly money.

50,172. But this paper, the 3d of July, and that very long list afterwards, were not persons actually employed at your committee room; there would not be so many as that; look at the next list of the 5th of July some twenty or thirty?—This would be at the time I was from home.

50,180. Keep your attention to that one of the 3d of July, then the 5th; there are a great number of names put down all over the page?—Yes, there are.

50,181. Now, you will find in the margin the letters C and G against two or three of the names?—Yes.

50,182. Those I believe are not ticked off?—They are not.

50,183. Does that mean that those were not paid?—It has the appearance of their not being employed.

50,154. I see there is C and G set against that; that to me has the appearance that they voted Clay and Goderich?—Yes; just so.

50,185. And they are not paid; not ticked off? When you say employed, do you mean to say that all the names in that paper were actually employed to do work?—I cannot say that. I was not at home at the time.

50,186. Is not in your judgment the ready solution of there being no tick, the marginal remark of C and G, that they did not vote for you, and therefore were not paid?—It has that appearance.

50,187. And I see one who split his vote; he does not seem to have been paid afterwards; he voted Moore and Goderich?—Is that the name of John Lee Moses?

50,188. I do not remember the name?—There is such a mark.

50,189. Then there is no tick carried out with him as there is with those who voted for you?—No, I think not.

50,190. Was Todd, whose name you mentioned more than once, authorized to set names down of persons who came to make applications; would it be part of his course of business?—I am not aware whether he would put down names without any of the committee being present.

50,191. I did not ask that question, but whether it would be the course of his business to enter the names of applicants?—Yes; he would write the names down as clerk.

50,192. But you think it would be done in the presence of some of the committee?—Yes, I should think so.

50,193. And applications would be made in the committee room?—Just so.

50,194. And a list made of the applicants by the clerk, I suppose?—Yes.

50,195. Was not that done sometimes in your presence?—Yes; occasionally it was.

50,196. And then the names would be inserted by Todd?—Yes.

50,197. Actually written down by Todd?—Yes.

50,198. Who were the people who generally attended the committee, or were mostly there throughout? Can you give me the names of some of your committee who were most active in attendance? We want to know the course of business, and what was done, as you seem to have been absent a good deal?—Mr. Lambert, Mr. Field, and Mr. Hallett a ship builder.

50,199. Were the names set down in your presence?—Yes, occasionally.

50,200. You do not give me much information upon these things; but there is a list of parties who have flags, who were they (handing paper C to the witness)?—These were parties who put out the blue flag.

50,201. Were they publicans, or beerhouse keepers?—Three or four of them were.

Mr. S. West.

19th July 1853.

50,202. Public houses.

50,203. And of course they would be voters of the blue party?—Generally, I think so.

50,204. Or necessarily, if they voted at all?—I think Wing divided his vote between blue and yellow, and he had yellow colours as well as blue.

50,205. Thomas Wing?—Yes.

50,206. He kept an omnibus?—Yes.

50,207. And let his omnibus, and dogcart ,and things of that kind to you?—Yes.

50,208. Were those persons' names also set down in any list?—I am not aware of that; they are merely parties who wished to hang out the blue colours.

50,209. Those names would not be in any of the lists as applicants for employment, you think?—I think not. I think I can speak to all excepting two names, and one of them I believe was not in our ward.

50,210. Is James Wing also there?—No; only Thomas.

50,211. Turn to the paper marked D; I believe that is a list of committee rooms in your ward; I see the name that I have last adverted to, Thomas Wing, gets a committee room as well as a flag; how many are there in that list that have committee rooms?—There are eighteen names in this list.

50,212. We understand that is a list of commmittee rooms; is it so?—It so states at the top; it states, "List of committee rooms."

50,213. That is not written by you; that is written by somebody in your place?—Yes.

50,214. Have you any doubt about it?—I have no doubt about this. It appears that some of the names are put down as having a flag; now I think it possible that they might not all be engaged as committee rooms.

50,215. I have shown you, just before, a list of those who had flags, the last one; you can turn to it, and see if those are the same names. I suppose a "List of committee rooms" means a list of committee rooms, does it not?—That is the natural supposition, certainly, and I cannot say it is not so.

50,216. Do you know the rooms; do you know if there be such people having houses in your place?—Some of them I do; not all of them.

50,217. Whose writing is that in?—I think it is Todd's writing.

50,218. He would be the person who would naturally make an entry of such applications, I suppose?—The reason I throw a doubt upon their all being committee rooms is this, that there are one or two names that I believe never were committee rooms, or never spoke of or designed as such; that they merely applied for a flag; and I find a flag written against the names, which makes me think the list is not exclusively a list of committee rooms.

50,219. You think it includes too many?—I think it includes parties who merely applied to have a flag to hoist out.

50,220. Can you tell me whether rooms were used at the houses of those people?—I am not aware of it.

50,221. Or whether they were applicants for them, and they were not granted; or what does it mean? It says, "List of committee rooms," and not "List of applications"?—Yes.

50,222. Of course you understand what rooms I speak of; rooms that were paid 2*l.* or 3*l.* for,—3*l.*, I think, was the sum on your side,—in which no business was really transacted; those are the rooms I speak of.—Yes; just so.

50,223. None of these are among the general committee rooms?—Yes, I think the last of them is.

50,224. Hare's, Holderness, New Inn; is that it?—Yes.

50,225. I believe, as you say, there are one or two that have got a flag carried out against them, and against those there seems to be some tick or mark?—Yes.

50,226. Can you tell me whether or not there were rooms at those places, or whether they only had flags?—I have no knowledge of that document; but if you ask me my opinion of it, I will give it.

50,227. What is your opinion?—My opinion is that that contains a list of committee rooms, and of persons who had flags sent to them, not being committee rooms; that it contains both.

50,228. It may be then that the names in the former list are also in this?—It is possible; but it might be made at another time; that list might be made on some other day. I give that as my opinion, because there are two or three names there that I have strong reason to believe never were put down as committee rooms.

50,229. Some of them were sham committee rooms?—I think it is possible they were.

50,230. You know such things were done in your ward?—Yes, but I do not know to what extent.

50,231. But rooms were taken in this way as a means of securing the person's vote, and of not making use of his room?—There were two rooms which were taken expressly for the use of the Groves' district.

50,232. And the rest of the description I have mentioned; it is not very particular as to the number of them, but you know there were such rooms taken for such purposes in your ward, as well as in others?—I believe there were some rooms engaged that were not made use of.

50,233. What was the usual pay for those rooms, do you know?—I am not quite sure.

50,234. What do you believe?—I think it would be either one or two guineas, but I do not know; I did not make any bargain for any such rooms.

50,235. There seems to be a sort of understanding for a small amount, as far as we hear generally?—I do not know.

50,236. Here are eighteen voters from Hedon charged for dinners; a bill is sent in to your committee; "The committee of Moore and Butler to George Bailey; voters eighteen, from Hedon, 2*s.* each, 4*l.* 17*s.*"; do you know when that was?—I think that would be the day of the election.

50,237. Do you recollect seeing the bill at your committee room?—No. I think it was not sent in to the Holderness committee room; I think it would be sent to the general committee; I think so; I am not certain.

50,238. Where do you mean?—The central committee.

50,239. Where Mr. Ward presided?—Yes.

50,240. How did you receive the money to make the payments in your ward; who from; or how was it?—The clerk received it, I believe, at the central committee room.

50,241. Weekly?—Weekly.

50,242. The clerk received it from them?—Yes.

50,243. Did you make any of the payments yourself?—None.

50,244. Who made them all?—Mr. Todd.

50,245. Did he make them all?—Yes; all the weekly payments; he did not make the payments after the election, because he was absent.

50,246. When were the payments that were standing over until after the election made; when were they made, and who by?—I think the payments were made by Mr. Oxtoby.

50,247. Where did he make those payments?—That I cannot tell.

50,248. Surely you can tell us that?—I cannot.

50,249. Was Mr. Oxtoby one of your committee?—Mr. Oxtoby was one of our committee.

50,250. You were all concerned in this part of the business of your ward?—When the election was over I took no more interest in the affairs.

50,251. This was a part of the business relating to the election?—Yes.

50,252. Did you not take any part in seeing your accounts wound up and settled?—None whatever.

50,253. What is Mr. Oxtoby?—He is a corn merchant.

50,254. Do you know when he made those payments?—No; I do not know the date.

50,255. Do you know the amount of them?—No, I do not.

50,256. Do you know what they were for?—They were the ordinary expenses.

50,257. Ordinary expenses, of what kind?—Such as the payments for the committee rooms, and the payments for the runners and the doorkeeper, and all the men who had been employed.

50,258. Were you in Court yesterday?—Great part of the day I was.

50,259. Did you hear us speaking considerably about that scheme which Mr. Turnbull claimed the invention of, and Mr Wells also claimed?—Yes.

50,260. That mode of getting a communication from the poll to the districts?—Yes.

50,261. Did you furnish a quota of men in furtherance of that scheme from your ward?—That I do not know; that would be arranged when I was from home; I was from home in the week previous to the election. I only arrived from London on the night before the nomitation day, and that arrangement must have been carried on in my absence. I never heard of it until I heard it in Court yesterday.

50,262. They were to be used upon the polling day?—Yes.

50,263. Was not this important matter communicated to you on your return?—I never heard of it until I heard of it here.

50,264. According to Mr. Wells, it was to employ 477?—Yes.

50,265. Mr. Turnbull does not admit quite so many? Did you never hear of it until it was mentioned here?—Never.

50,266. How do you account for that?—By its being arranged during my absence; that is all I know in connexion with it.

50,267. 477 persons were to be employed?—It seems to me to be a very extravagant calculation; I cannot understand how the figures are come at at all.

50,268. Then you have not had an opportunity of considering it in detail, and how far you think it beneficial or not?—It appears to me to be a very cumbersome piece of machinery which never could work. I cannot conceive how such a number of persons could be employed.

50,269. I ask you whether you think it is anything more than a colourable mode of employing a good many people?—I should not put that construction upon it.

50,270. What construction should you put on the employment of 477 people for the purpose suggested?—That the employment of the people was for obtaining the object that Mr. Wells thought so desirable, to have correct returns of all the men as they voted.

50,271. Should you think it a real and substantial mode of employment which was necessary for carrying a fair election?—I should think it a desirable thing, if it could have been accomplished.

Mr. S. West.

19th July 1853.

50,272. Should you say necessary; necessary I mean in point of legal expenses; should you think it was a thing that was necessary in point of legal expenses for the carrying out of a pure election at the sum of about between 300*l.* and 400*l.*?—If I understand the object of the scheme, I should say that it was.

50,273. That it was necessary?—Yes; if I understand the object of the scheme was to send to each committee room a list of the names of the men who had voted, in order that the men who had voted might be looked after, and might be brought up to the poll, that that information would be of so much importance that it would require a considerable amount of labour and expenditure to obtain it.

50,274. And do you think as many as that number would be necessary in order to carry out the plan?—It would not strike me so.

50,275. Do you think it might as well be done with either fifty, sixty, or even twenty men?—That would depend upon the rapidity with which the returns were made.

50,276. You cannot ascertain the state of the poll every moment?—I take it it was not merely to ascertain the state of the poll, but a return of the name of every man as they are polled, so that a man comes from one committee room to another with a list of the names as they are polled, and they are struck out, so as to save any further trouble about them.

50,277. You think the number employed would be excessive?—I think it would be extravagant.

50,278. Do you know anything of some voters in Drypool and Sutton?—I know some voters there.

50,279. I think you returned to Hull on the night of the nomination day?—The night previous to the nomination day.

50,280. Do you know of some voters in Drypool and Sutton with regard to whom you were to make some arrangement?—No; I do not know to what you refer.

50,281. You know Ransome?—Yes.

50,282. Did you and Ransome make some arrangements with regard to some voters in Drypool and Sutton? They are in your district, are they not?—Yes.

50,283. I ask you whether, the night before the election, on the evening of the nomination day, you did not make some arrangement with Ransome with regard to some voters in Drypool and Sutton, who you were to look after?—No.

50,284. You do not remember anything of the kind?—Not at all.

50,285. Did you see any voters in Drypool and Sutton, do you remember, on the night of the nomination day? Had you not some conversation with Mr. Robert Wells about them?—No; I have no recollection of any distinct arrangement with reference to them.

50,286. Do you recollect seeing Mr. Robert Wells and Mr. Ransome, and being with them, about some voters in Drypool and Sutton?—No, I do not, indeed.

50,287. You said you do not recollect any distinct arrangement?—No.

50,288. Which would lead me to suppose you do remember something about them?—I do not know. I am not aware that I know Ransome; I do not know who he is.

50,289. Did you see Mr. Wells upon the subject? I wish to draw your attention particularly to this; it is the day after you came back. Ransome was a clerk of Mr. Wells at that time. I wish to draw your attention to whether, on the night of the nomination day, you did not see Mr. Wells, and make an arrangement with regard to some voters in Drypool and Sutton?—I have no recollection of having done anything of the kind. If you will tell me the nature of the arrangement I may be aware of it. I have not the slightest recollection of it now.

50,290. Do you remember any proposition or proposal by Mr. Wells with regard to securing some voters in Drypool and Sutton?—None, whatever; I do not remember anything peculiar about any voters in Drypool and Sutton.

50,291. First you say "peculiar," and then "not particular." I want to know if you recollect anything?—I have no recollection of anything of the sort.

50,292. Or any reference to them?—Not the slightest.

50,293. Did Mr. Wells ever allude to them the night of or on the nomination day?—I saw Mr. Wells several times about the time of the election, but I cannot say whether I saw him that night at all.

50,294. Did anything pass,—I do not tie you down to the particular day,—did anything pass that day, or other days, with regard to your seeing and making some arrangement with regard to Drypool and Sutton?—None whatever, that I can recollect at all.

50,295. You say you did not return until the day before the nomination day?—I did not.

50,296. Was there any arrangement that you knew of?—No; I am not aware of any.

50,297. What would be the arrangement with those voters?—I am not aware that there would be any arrangement for them distinct from the others.

50,298. Are they hamlets in Drypool and Sutton? Are they out-voters? Should you call them so, the Drypool and Sutton men?—Drypool is contiguous to the town; Sutton is three miles off.

50,299. Are they a class of men who insist upon having their travelling expenses?—Not from Drypool.

50,300. From Sutton?—If they come from the village, which is three miles off, they might.

50,301. Was not a proposition made to you by Mr. Wells, or somebody, with regard to these voters, which you refused to have anything to do with, because you said you thought it was a dangerous experiment? Did you not decline some proposition on the ground that you thought it was a dangerous experiment?—No; I do not remember it, I assure you.

50,302. Nothing of the kind?—No.

50,303. Do you recollect stating that some proposition was a dangerous experiment, or words to that effect, with regard to these men?—No, I do not.

50,304. Do you know at all what I am alluding to?—Not the slightest; I cannot bear it in mind at all I think it is something of which I am not cognizant, or if it has been mentioned to me it was mentioned in such a way as that I have at once dismissed it from my mind. I do not recollect anything to which it can refer.

50,305. Did you pay a man of the name of William Wright any money?—No.

50,306. 3*s.* 6*d.* a day, or some sum?—No.

50,307. Or Henry Wood?—There was a man of the name of Wood, employed as a doorkeeper.

50,308. You did not pay him yourself?—No, I did not.

50,309. Did any money pass through your hands at the election of 1852?—I think I gave Todd 2*l.* to pay away.

50,310. On what account was that?—I think it was for the payment of two men who were coming from a distance; boatmen or fishermen; something of that kind.

50,311. Where did they come from?—I do not recollect; Grimsby or Tetney.

50,312. What for?—Mr. Todd applied to me for some money; whether he ever gave them the money I do not know. I gave him 2*l.*

50,313. Voters, I suppose, they were?—Of course.

50,314. Was it before or after the election?—That was after the election.

50,315. Do you remember their names?—I am not sure whether it was Smith.

50,316. Both?—I made no memorandum at the time, and I spoke from memory only.

50,317. Did they get 1*l.* apiece, or 2*l.*?—£1 apiece. They were men who had been waiting. The statement to me was, that these men had been waiting with a boat for two or three days for the purpose of polling, and they were to be paid for their time.

50,318. From whom did you receive that money to make the payment?—I received it from Mr. Oxtoby.

50,319. I think the Smiths said they would not vote unless paid 1*l.* apiece? There is a memorandum here to that effect. Do you remember that being brought to your attention?—I remember a statement to this effect, that these men were boatmen or fishermen, and they would not remain and poll,—this was a day or two days before the election,—except they were paid 1*l.* each for their time. That is to the best of my recollection.

50,320. George Smith and William Smith?—I have no doubt those are the two men.

50,321. That would be, of course, before the election; you said you paid them afterwards; does that bring to your mind that you paid them before?—No; it was after the election.

50,322. They would not stop to vote unless paid 1*l.* each; the thing is not consistent?—They would have a promise of payment.

50,323. Were they satisfied with the promise? They said they would not stop?—I presume they would not.

50,324. "Want 1*l.* each to stop," I see the phrase is?—Yes.

50,325. Were they paid before or after; it is not very important?—My impression is it was after that I paid the money. I did not pay the men myself.

50,326. You gave it to Mr. Todd to pay them?—Yes.

50,327. That again you see puts us a little out in time of payment, because Mr. Todd was carried away on the election day, so that he could not have paid it afterwards?—I am not sure whether he was taken away the day of the election or the day after.

50,328. The time that Mr. Oxtoby was making the payments was some few days after?—I should say that would be a week or two days after.

50,329. Mr. Todd made these payments. Does that draw your attention to the time? You have told us that he was taken away on the election day?—I think I may be mistaken as to the day he was taken.

50,330. Or do you think the payment was made before? They say they will not stop to vote unless paid; do you not think they were paid before?—I think not; my strong conviction is they were paid after the election.

50,331. Did you put the names on the list?—No, I did not. I made no memorandum, or made no account.

50,332. Have you any reason for being clear about that; anything acting on your own mind; did you think it would not be safe to pay before they voted?—My strong conviction is, that I gave the money to Mr. Todd the day after the election, and I think I may be in error about the day on which Mr. Todd was arrested.

50,333. He voted, and therefore he would not be arrested at the soonest until the afternoon, or some time ——?—The election was on the Thursday, and, on considering,

Mr. S. West.

19th July 1853.

I think it is possible that Mr Todd was not arrested until the Saturday. I thought the day after; but it would be Saturday.

50,334. Your recollection is, that these two men, the two Smiths, were promised the money before the election, and were paid after?—Yes; that is my impression.

50,335. Who repaid you?—Mr Oxtoby.

50,336. That would be when he was making the other payments?—Yes; was clearing up the arrears.

50,337. Did you give any other money to anybody to make payments?—No, none; that is the only money that passed through my hands.

50,338. The only sum?—Yes.

50,339. The persons who asked to have their names set down were persons whom you knew were wanting money or employment?—They were generally poor men who wanted employment.

50,340. Then they would have been dissatisfied unless they had had their names set down for employment?—Yes.

50,341. You did that, and at the same time said to them, I think you say, that they would not be employed unless you had work?—Just so.

50,342. Did you not lead them to understand, at one time or another work would be given to them?—Yes; the general answer was to this effect - -—.

50,343. Attend to what I say? Did you not lead them to understand, at one time or another work would he given to them?—I do not think any promise was made.

50,344. Did you not lead them to understand that?—We told them when we could give them employment we would do so, but I do not think any promise was given to the effect, that employment should be found for them during the election.

50,345. I am aware it was not in words, but did you lead them to understand that?—I do not think it would amount to that.

50,346. Would it not be very dangerous with that class of men to let them suppose there was any doubt about it?—I do not know how that would be. Some of them, I dare say, went immediately, on finding they could not get employment, and offered their services to the other party.

50,347. You say they expressed great dissatisfaction at not being actually employed?—In several instances that was the case.

50,348. Had you any doubt in your mind that work would be found of some sort for them all?—I cannot say the idea ever occurred to me.

50,349. Was it not the understanding in your committee that work would be found at some time during the election?—I do not think it amounted to that. I think it merely amounted to this, that when we had occasion to employ a greater number of runners the men whose names were set down first should be first employed; that they must take their chance of whether we should have occasion to put in requisition so many names as we had applicants.

50,350. What I ask is, whether it was not well understood that some work or other would be found for all of them?—No; I do not think it amounted to that. It was understood, as soon as we could give them employment we should do so; and the prospect was, as the election approached, we should require a greater number of men.

50,351. You knew something of the system of Hull elections before?—I had heard a good deal about them.

50,352. Were you not convinced that it would be very dangerous to leave those men without employment at some time or another?—Yes; I was aware it was hazardous.

50,353. Did you not always intend that they should have work at some time?—Certainly not, excepting work could be found for them,

50,354. Bearing in mind that these were persons who were always paid before when set down, was not the same practice to be carried out at this last election?—It never occurred to me that they would be paid excepting they were employed.

50,355. That I assume in the question. Was it not equally certain that they would be employed?—No; I do not see that there was any certainty of their being all employed. I do not see there is any certainty of that.

50,356. Was not this statement about being employed made in consequence of the caution of Mr. Wells,—in consequence of the caution that Mr. Wells had given about the Bribery Acts?—It was.

50,357. Was it made for any other purpose but to meet Mr. Wells's case?—It was named for the reasons which Mr. Wells assigned, which we thought to be sufficient.

50,358. You still think that you intended to risk the election if there was not necessary employment found for them?—Yes. There was a meeting of the chairmen of the district committees, where the subject was discussed, and at that meeting it was resolved we should adhere to the instructions we had given, and not put on men until we had employment for them.

50,359. But after the agreement with the orange side was exhausted, you added a very large number of runners, did you not?—That increase would take place in my absence, a few days prior to the election.

50,360. You knew of it at some time or another, if not when it was done; you knew of it afterwards?—I knew the number was increased.

50,361. And you knew there was no work for these men?—I was not at home when they were put on, and therefore I do not know the number that were put on. The great increase in the number of runners was made a few days prior to the election, and I was from home that week.

Mr. S. West.

19th July 1853.

50,362. What was that for?—I presume they found additional employment for them.

50,363. Is that what you presume really?—I cannot speak to that; it was done in my absence.

50,364. Do you know anything of the custom, at your committee, of changing runners every few days?—No.

50,365. You do not know that that was so?—I do not remember that it was.

50,366. I presume you are aware, having lived so long in Hull, that a practice had prevailed of putting down names, and then to pay all the parties, whether employed or not?—I understood that it had been the practice, at former elections, to pay the men.

50,367. At former elections, previous to 1852?—Yes.

50,368. That being so, it being perfectly notorious, would not the men be led to expect either that they would be paid for not doing work, or that work would be provided for them, one of the two? Is not that the natural conclusion that persons would come to, in a borough where such a practice had always prevailed?—Do I understand your question to be this; that all the men who applied, and had their names put down——

50,369. Assuming that in this borough a practice had always prevailed, that when a party had his name put down at a committee room he would be paid after the election, whether he had done work or not, would it not be assumed, as a matter of course, by anybody, again in 1852, that he would be paid without doing work, or that work would be provided for him?—I never heard of the system of setting down until the last election.

50,370. Assume it, because that has been proved to be a fact, too late now to be controverted? Be so good as to give the answer upon the assumption that that practice prevailed? Would it not be a natural understanding, when a person's name came to be set down in 1852, you would either find him employment, or pay him if you did not find him employment?—I do not think that is at all the understanding with us.

50,371. I am assuming the previous practice; was it not the inference to be drawn from the previous practice?—No, I do not think so.

50,372. If you think not, tell me why not. Why should it be supposed that a different practice would prevail this time from anything before? I am assuming altogether that it had prevailed. Was there anything said to them to say you intended to go on a totally new principle?—I do not understand that your assumption corresponds with that which had been the practice.

50,373. Never mind whether it did or not; take my assumption?—If that had been an established practice, it would have been a natural inference; but, so far as my information goes, it is not; on that hypothesis it would appear to be so, certainly.

Mr. J. Harris.

Mr. JOHN HARRIS sworn, and examined.

50,374. I believe you resided, until lately, in Hull?—Yes.

50,375. When did you leave Hull as your residence?—I think about a year before the election; that would be in June 1851.

50,376. I believe you received the appointment as official assignee in Nottingham?—Yes.

50,377. And was it to that place you removed?—No; I resided at Beverley for a year before I left this part.

50,378. When did you permanently leave this part?—I was appointed to the assigneeship in October last.

50,379. And since that you have gone to Nottingham, I suppose?—Yes.

50,380. What was your business in Hull?—I came to Hull in 1837, and joined a person who was a tar and turpentine distiller, and connected with that I was in the oil and wine business.

50,381. And you continued in that business?—I continued in that business until within two or three years of my leaving Hull.

50,382. What rent did you pay, or were rated at, for the premises you occupied in the borough?—I was rated, I think, at 48*l.* to 50*l.*; I am not sure which.

50,383. Are you a freeman?—No.

50,384. In 1841, at the election of that year, did you vote?—Yes.

50,385. Whom did you vote for?—James and Hanmer.

50,386. Were you on any committee at that election?—I think I was on the central committee, but I am not quite certain about that.

50,387. Where was that committee held?—In Bowl Alley Lane; the same place where the central committee was held at the last election.

50,388. At that election, in 1841, was the course which I was almost going to call customary in Hull, of putting down names, at all resorted to, in your knowledge?—I cannot say to my knowledge, but it was so in general report; I will acknowledge that was the case.

50,389. On both sides, probably?—Yes.

50,390. The application was made and entertained in that way, probably, at your committee room, as well as others, at that election?—No; there would not be any application made to set down at the central committee.

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,391. Where was the place they were set down at, in 1841?—I should think at the different district committees. The usual habit is, for the men to apply to the wards.

50,392. Is not the central committee supposed to have a district?—No. The central committee, you should understand, is formed of the chairmen and deputy chairmen of each ward, and to that are added perhaps a dozen who take the general superintendence.

50,393. Then the chairman and deputy chairman of each ward would nececsarily be a member of the central committee?—Yes.

50,394. And the application on that occasion would be made to the several districts in which the parties resided?—Yes; I should think so.

50,395. Do you know, at the election of 1841, whether the plan of appointing extra committee rooms was also had recourse to?—I cannot say whether it was or not.

50,396. Do you know, as a matter I was almost going to say of history, how many persons would be set down on the blue side at the election of 1841?—I have no idea. I know nothing whatever of any financial arrangements.

50,397. By that you seem to understand me; they would be set down for payment?—I have no doubt they would.

50,398. You do not know the number at all?—No, not at all.

50,399. Do you know who would be paymaster at the election of 1841?—I do not know at all.

50,400. Did you yourself, at the election of 1841, pay away any money?—No; I think not; I do not recollect having done so.

50,401. Did any pass through your hands at that election on account of Hanmer and James?—I think not.

50,402. I am directed to call your attention to one. I am told you paid some money to a man of the name of William Kirby Basket, a freeman?—I do not know; that may be the case; I certainly will not deny it.

50,403. You do not remember it?—I know the man, and I think it likely that payment might be made.

50,404. By yourself?—Yes, I think so.

50,405. Do you remember when?—No.

50,406. I understand Matthew Tate was the man who knew about it; do you know him?—I know him by name; I do not remember him by sight.

50,407. You do not know whether he handled the money?—I think not, because he was on the opposite side.

50,408. You do not remember the amount at all, or what it was connected with?—No, I do not. I have an indistinct recollection that something did transpire.

50,409. Tate can probably give us the particulars, but we would rather have them from yourself?—The amount was not large; I should think, probably, about 30*s.*

50,410. Do you recollect what it was for; for his vote?—No doubt it would be in connexion with that. He was to be put down as a runner.

50,411. Do you remember whether the payment would be before or after the election?—I should think after the election.

50,412. A little more safe, do you think?—According to the custom of the place, it would be. I do not know that it made much difference.

50,413. How came you to make the payment in a single instance? Do you remember if it was a single one? Did you pay some others at the same time?—I do not think there was any other paid.

50,414. By you?—If I had canvassed the man, and had made him a promise that he should be put down and paid, I should make a point of seeing he was paid, and probably that would be the reason I should ask at once for the money.

50,415. Do you remember whether you did so with others at that election?—I do not think I did.

50,416. Did you make any other payments that election?—I do not recollect making any other payment whatever that time.

50,417. Do you recollect who made the payments; who was treasurer at the election of 1841?—No, I do not. I think it was Mr. Barkworth; I am not sure. Not one of the present Mr. Barkworths; the father; he is dead now.

50,418. You think that he paid afterwards?—I will not say that; I got the money from him.

50,419. I do not ask that, but that he was the general treasurer and disburser of the money?—I think, as far as my recollection goes, that was the case.

50,420. Who was the chairman at that time of the central committee, do you remember?—I think Mr. Clifford Pease; he is a brother of Mr. Joseph Robinson Pease.

50,421. He is alive?—Yes; the banker.

50,422. Do you remember the secretary's name at that election?—I think Brown was the secretary; I am not sure whether he was here at the time; I think he did not leave Hull until afterwards; a person of the name of Samuel Brown.

50,423. Would Mr. Pease be an active man on the committee, or who would be the managing man?—He was the chairman of the blue committee.

50,424. Who was the solicitor at that election of the blue party?—I think Mr. Sidebottom was. I am speaking of facts that occurred twelve years ago.

50,425. Can you inform us of anything connected with the election of 1841 that I have not asked you to, that occurs to you, on either side?—No, I do not think I can.

50,426. We do not want to confine you to colours?—I do not know of anything particular on either side, one way or the other.

50,427. We hear that the payments at that election were made in many instances through doors and holes, and windows, and under screens?—Yes.

50,428. Do you know who these invisible paymasters or paymistresses were?—I have not the least idea. I never heard payments had been made that way until this inquiry took place.

50,429. You do not know who they were?—No.

50,430. Not till some time after?—No.

50,431. You have only just come from Nottingham, I believe?—Yes; I came only yesterday afternoon.

50,432. In the election of 1847, did you take a part for Mr. Baines?—Yes.

50,433. Were you on his committee?—I was; first of all, I think, the central committee; and then I was applied to to take the general superintendence of the Holderness ward.

50,434. Was that a separate committee for Mr. Baines?—That is a ward as to which you may almost say it is distinct from the rest of the town, inasmuch as it is separated from Hull, and all the parties residing in that ward poll in that district. It is different from the rest of the town.

50,435. Was it a separate committee from the other candidates?—It was for Mr. Baines only.

50,436. Were you the chairman?—No; Mr. Jubb was the chairman.

50,437. Were you the deputy chairman?—No; I was asked to take the general superintendence of that ward.

50,438. At Mr. Baines' election?—Yes.

50,439. You voted for Mr. Brown as well?—Yes; Baines and Brown.

50,440. Mr. Brown; I do not go into that particularly, but he came quite late into the field; only a few days before the election?—Yes.

50,441. Up to that time you had been acting entirely for Mr. Baines?—Yes. I never had anything to do with Mr. Brown's committee.

50,442. Where was your central committee room?—At the George.

50,443. Is that an inn in the town?—Yes.

50,444. Who was the treasurer or paymaster; the financial committee?—Mr. Bright.

50,445. Do you know his Christian name?—Henry Smith Bright.

50,446. Did you attend constantly?—Yes, I should think so; I took an active part at that time.

50,447. Was your's the central committee?—In the Holderness ward.

50,448. Where was the central committee?—At the George.

50,449. And was Mr. Jubb the chairman?—He was the chairman at the Holderness ward.

50,450. Who was the chairman at the George?—I do not know.

50,451. Mr. Tottie?—He was, but he never attended; he was merely the nominal chairman. I think Mr. Theophilus Carrick was the deputy chairman.

50,452. I believe, though the person in the shape of Mr. Brown appeared quite late, it was expected that there would be a contest at that election?—No; it was thought that there would be no contest up to within a very few days of the day of election, and he suddenly made his appearance.

50,453. When was his committee or staff established?—I do not know anything about that.

50,454. When was your own committee appointed?—That I do not know. I recollect I was away from Hull at the time, and on my return I was particularly requested to come and take a part.

50,455. Do you remember how long that would be before the election?—Perhaps a week; I do not know.

50,456. That would be before Mr. Brown came?—Yes; before Mr. Brown came.

50,457. When the committee was formed, and after it was formed, were the usual steps taken to secure voters and make arrangements for the election?—Yes; immediate steps were taken for canvassing the districts.

50,458. And was application made to have names put down in the way you have mentioned in 1841?—I think it is very likely they were.

50,459. Do you not remember that after Mr. Brown came, the few days before the election, that was done extensively?—I know that Mr. Brown's coming made a great difference.

50,460. Made you much more active?—Yes, certainly.

50,461. There was but little time before the election?—Yes.

50,462. Does not that enable you to remember that applications of the kind I have mentioned, for runners or messengers, were frequent?—I have no doubt whatever that was the case; the system has been so general, and I am not aware it was departed from on that occasion.

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,463. Have you any means of furnishing us at all with the applications made, or the names of the applicants, to the Holderness ward?—No; I can only tell you the total amount that was paid to me, and paid by me to Mr. Jubb, on account of the Holderness ward. I have no account whatever of the mode in which that money was disbursed.

50,464. What was the total amount?—The sum I think paid to me was 100*l.*

50,465. Who disbursed it?—It was disbursed by the committee. I made the payments to Mr. Jubb, as he required the money.

50,466. You received it from Mr. Bright?—Yes.

50,467. And you paid it to Mr. Jubb?—Yes.

50,468. Mr. Jubb would disburse it; would that be the course?—Yes. That was another of the arrangements that had been made. It was pretty generally known that the Holderness ward was a very extensive ward, and I refused to have anything to do with the superintendence of it unless there was some understanding beforehand that the payments should be limited, and not only limited, but guaranteed to a certain amount, that there should be no dispute about the payments.

50,469. To what extent did they guarantee to pay?—£100.

50,470. When was that understanding come to. How long before the election? Was it after Mr. Brown's arrival or before?—I should think it would be after Mr. Brown's arrival.

50,471. To the best of your judgment it would be after?—I should think it would be, but I do not know.

50,472. Mr. Jubb is not alive, I think?—No.

50,473. Would the payments actually have been made by him or by the clerk, do you suppose?—They would be made by his authority.

50,474. And to a certain extent have the sanction of all the committee?—Yes.

50,475. Whose hands would be the ones to pay?—That I do not know. I paid the money to Mr. Jubb in sums of 20*l.* or 30*l.* as he wanted it, and he would disburse it.

50,476. Were you not present when he made the payments?—No.

50,477. Where were the payments made, and when?—That I do not know; for although I took the general superintendence of the ward, I do not think I was often at the committee room.

50,478. What did you do yourself?—I was on the central committee, but with an understanding that I was to superintend the Holderness ward; I resided there.

50,479. You say you were not there a great deal personally?—Not at the committee room.

50,480. Do you know whether the payments of 100*l.* were made before or after the election?—I should think after the election; I do not think any of them were made before the election.

50,481. You made the payments to Mr. Jubb; you would be able to recollect?—I think it was after the election.

50,482. What was the course? Did you make some vouchers?—The money was paid to me in one sum, and afterwards paid by me to Mr. Jubb.

50,483. Did you receive it in cash, or get a cheque, and change it into cash?—I think in notes.

50,484. When Mr. Jubb said he wanted so much money, did he show you in detail?—No; I was satisfied if he said he wanted so much money; I gave it him; he knew what the arrangement was, that it should not exceed 100*l.*

50,485. You had a check in not handing any more?—Yes; it was throughly understood he was not to ask for more.

50,486. Do you know whether the payments were made at that time; did you ever see any made?—No, I do not think I did.

50,487. Do you not know, as a matter of the business of the election, where the payments were made?—They were sometimes made at the committee room.

50,488. Where do you think they would be made?—I should think most likely at their own houses, those that received the amount for committee rooms, and a good deal for cabs to bring people up to the poll.

50,489. And the runners and messengers?—Those actually employed would be paid at the committee room the Saturday evening.

50,490. There was no Saturday before?—If not, they would be paid after the election.

50,491. The messengers and those not employed,—those set down; they would hardly go from door to door and pay them; there would be some place to pay them?—I do not know; I cannot speak to that fact.

50,492. Who was acting at the committee excepting Mr. Jubb?—I can hardly recollect.

50,493. Besides Mr. Jubb; leaving him out?—I do not know who the others were; I have no recollection as to who the other members of the committee would be.

50,494. Not so long back as 1841?—I can tell you the names of the principal parties connected with the election, but I could not recollect the names of the distinct persons.

50,495. Had you books and papers and such things at your committee room?—Yes.

50,496. And the names of the persons in them?—That should be done before the books are sent from the central committee, but it does not always follow that those names entered in the books are the parties who take the most active part; others might be added afterwards.

50,497. It is partly for that reason I ask you to furnish me with the names of some of the active committee men in your ward, the Holderness ward, at the election of 1847?—I do not think I can do that.

50,498. Can you not remember them?—No; my communications were with Mr. Jubb; I do not even recollect who the deputy chairman was.

50,499. Who was the clerk?—I do not know who the clerk was.

50,500. The treasurer?—I was the treasurer, as far as the payments to Mr. Jubb went; I really have no recollection.

50,501. Cannot you remember the clerk's name?—No, I do not know who it was; there was a man of the name of Watson employed in the Holderness ward; I will not be certain he was the man.

50,502. Employed at the committee room?—I think so.

50,503. Do you know what his Christian name is?—I do not know hether he was a voter; he lived in Holborn Street.

50,504. I ask you generally after Mr. Brown's arrival, or his announcement as a candidate, whether your duties of superintending were not necessarily much more arduous during the short time of the election?—Certainly, it would be necessary after that time to see that the committee worked.

50,505. Did you, as general superintendent, visit the committee rooms at that time?—No doubt I was at the committee rooms.

50,506. At the several committee rooms?—Yes.

40,507. You were yourself at the several committee rooms from time to time, pretty near daily, I suppose?—Yes.

50,508. Do you not know that applications were made at other committee rooms as well as your own, for men to be put down for messengers, runners, and the appointment of rooms as committee rooms?—I know nothing whatever of the other districts.

50,509. Remember, if you please, whether, after Mr. Brown came so suddenly into the field so shortly before the election, there was not a good deal done, to your knowledge, at the other committee rooms, with regard to setting down names and securing votes by that mode?—I do not know that there was.

50,510. Were not your general instructions to be active?—I do not think there was so much done on Mr. Baines' behalf in the way of setting down as at the other elections.

50,511. I think I understood you to say you were at several of the committee rooms?—Not several committee rooms.

50,512. Only that one in your ward?—I might have been at some other, but I have no distinct recollection of being at any other.

50,513. There was only one general committee room in Holderness ward?—Yes.

50,514. Do you know at all what number of committee rooms of the other kind,—rooms engaged in that way,—would be taken in the Holderness ward at that election?—No, I do not.

50,515. Would the payments be made in that respect also by Mr. Jubb?—Yes; all the payments were made, I believe, by him, as far as I can recollect.

50,516. Did you have much personal intercourse with Mr. Baines during the canvass and the election?—Not a great deal.

50,517. Do you remember that any matters passed between you and him respecting the probable expense that he would be put to?—No; I never mentioned the subject to him.

50,518. Did he to you?—Never.

50,519. Did it never pass between you what was the ordinary expense of a Hull election?—No; I do not think he ever asked a single question about the expenses.

50,520. Do you remember the matter of expense being talked of in your presence by Mr. Baines?—I never heard it mentioned.

50,521. Do you remember when Mr. Baines came to Hull, as connected with the election?—Specially on that business?

50,522. Yes?—No; as I mentioned before, I was away from Hull.

50,523. We know he had been recorder of the borough?—I was away from Hull about a week before the election, and I am sure he had come down before that time, because I was here on the day I was first applied to personally to come and take an active interest in the election.

50,524. Do you remember when that was?—That would be about the day before the election.

50,525. Where did he stay?—That I do not know; I think it was the Vittoria.

50,526. Did you not see him on your coming?—No; the only time I saw him was at the George Inn.

50,527. That was the central committee?—Yes.

50,528. Did you join in the requisition to Mr. Baines?—I believe so; I cannot say for certain whether I did.

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,529. I should like you to remember that; did you sign a requisition to him?—If I was in town I signed it; I should have no hesitation about signing, but whether the requisition was got up while I was away from Hull, or whether I was here, I do not know.

50,530. Did you hear it contained a clear majority of the whole voters in Hull?—No, I did not hear that; I should not think it did.

50,531. You saw him, you think, at the George?—I think it was at the George.

50,532. Do you know whether the matter of the expenses of the election were mentioned at all?—I do not think it was ever mentioned in my presence when I was there; indeed I am certain it never was.

50,533. You received the money in this way, and handed it over to Mr. Jubb? Did you ever go through any accounts with Mr. Baines afterwards?—No.

50,534. Did you ever see him on any matter of account?—No; I never mentioned the subject to him.

50,535. I believe in the making up of the accounts of the Holderness ward there was a balance due from you?—I suppose there must have been, because I understand that the sum of 95*l.* is put down as having been spent, and certainly 100*l.* was paid to me, therefore I suppose I must have paid 5*l.*, but I do not know. That is the only way I can account for the difference.

50,536. You mean you find in the account you were charged with 5*l.*?—No; the other way.

50,537. The account shows as against you 95*l.*?—Yes; and I have a distinct recollection that I received 100*l.*

50,538. You do not know exactly how that would be?—No; I merely suppose so from that difference.

50,539. You must have returned 5*l.*?—Yes.

50,540. As not handed over to Mr. Jubb, and not employed?—Yes.

50,541. With regard to that election, can you tell us anything, on either side, that will assist us in our inquiry?—No; I know very little. I think I have told you nearly all I know of either side; the other side I know nothing about.

50,542. What did you generally do in the election of 1847? You say you had a kind of superintendence of the Holderness ward, and was not much at the committee. You do not seem to have made the payments. What did you do?—I think I attended occasionally at the central committee room, and helped at what work was going on in the committee room.

50,543. Did you go about and make personal canvass of the ward?—I should think it is most likely I did.

50,544. You have told us you were to superintend the Holderness ward, and the only thing you have told us you did was to pay sums of money to Mr. Jubb without asking him for any vouchers?—My general superintendence of that, what in addition to the payments, would be to see that the ward was properly canvassed; when I went to the committee room I should look at the books, with the returns of the voters, and I saw in the book a large number put down as not having promised, I should certainly request that the person who had charge of the book would see those voters; that is what I mean by a general superintendence of the ward. Every time I went I should do that.

50,545. To some extent you were rather assisting the secretary?—The secretary on those occasions of a ward committee is not a very efficient officer.

50,546. Did you yourself canvass?—I should think so; I have no doubt I did.

50,547. Do you know whether you yourself put down the names of applicants for employment?—I have no recollection of having done so. I think I did not canvass much. I did see some parties reported to be doubtful, and I believe there were some half dozen people I saw with Mr. Baines in that ward.

50,548. Did you engage rooms?—No, I do not think that I did.

50,549. Did you keep any accounts of any kind yourself?—Of the payments?

50,550. Of any kind, of the election of 1847?—I do not know; I should most likely make a memorandum of the money paid to Mr. Jubb, if paid at all; or if there was anything particular that he told me he had paid, I should note that.

50,551. What would become of the books and papers connected with your room, after the election?—That I do not know; the canvassing books are still in existence, and those are the only things that are.

50,552. Why are not the others?—The others can be satisfactorily accounted for; there were some papers of that election put by with those books, and were left in my office; and after I left the office the gentleman who succeeded me in the office put all the papers that he thought were useless into the fire, and I was asking him when I came here yesterday if he knew anything about some papers and canvassing books that were there. I knew where they were put.

50,553. Those papers that were destroyed, would they contain the lists of names?—I cannot say what they contained, but it would be a general summary of the payments.

50,554. Is the only book remaining the general canvassing book?—The canvassing books used by the canvassers of the different districts; half a dozen of them.

50,555. Where were they put so as to be preserved?—They were put in a cupboard with some other papers, and there they have remained since the election.

50,556. Some other papers connected with the election?—Yes, I believe so. I have never looked at the papers since that time. I believe they were all put together.

50,557. Those other papers put with the general canvassing books, were they destroyed?—Yes.

50,558. Some taken out of the cupboard, and some left?—The books were not destroyed, but the papers were.

50,559. How came they to be left there?—I do not know. It was a cupboard not used for any particular purpose.

50,560. Who informed you they had destroyed them?—The clerk, yesterday.

50,561. Was he a clerk who was in the business when you were in it?—Yes.

50,562. What is his name?—Scaling

50,563. What was his information about?—I asked him yesterday, in consequence of the request Mr. Shaen made to me, about the papers connected with Mr. Baines' election, if he had seen the books and papers which had been left in this cupboard. He said he had done so; that he thought they were old papers connected with an old election, and they had all been burnt along with a great many others.

50,564. When were they destroyed?—I should think it would be about Jenuary, most likely; I cleared everything out.

50,565. January of the present year?—Yes.

50,566. When did you leave?—I did not leave finally until January of the present year.

50,567. Was Scaling living with you at the time of the 1847 election, as one of your clerks?—No; he has only been there a very short time.

50,568. He was a clerk of yours at the time you left?—Yes.

50,569. Did he take on himself to destroy any other papers you left behind?—I do not know what other papers there were.

50,570. Did you hear he had destroyed any others, or only those particular sheets?—I left those papers there, thinking, possibly, they might be wanted, without saying they were to be kept.

50,571. There was very little public excitement at the election of 1847?—Little, compared with what there had been previously.

50,572. Comparatively speaking, very little?—Yes; they were all thought to be on one side.

50,573. They were all thought to be shades of orange; Mr. Clay genuine orange, and the other two more or less so?—Yes.

50,574. At the election of 1852, I believe you were one of the vice-chairmen of the central committee?—Yes.

50,575. You were then in the interest of Messrs. Moore and Butler, and we were told that you were one of the parties who went to London for a second candidate?—Yes.

50,576. When was it you went to London with Mr. Barkworth for that purpose?—I think it was in the month of June. It was in consequence of a general meeting of the Conservative Association which had been held at the George Inn that we were requested to go as a deputation, to look out.

50,577. Do you remember if that meeting was in June?—I do not remember whether it was in June; it was in June we went.

50,578. Do you remember the time of the month?—No.

50,579. Who went with you?—Mr. John Balderson Barkworth.

50,580. And yourself?—Yes.

50,581. Mr. Moore was in the field at that time, I believe?—It was known he would take the field, but he had not made his appearance in Hull.

50,582. Do you know it had been talked of in the early time, that there would not be a contest?—I know it had been talked if possible to avoid a contest.

50,583. Did you have anything to do with Mr. Bramley Moore's coming here?—I signed a requisition to him.

50,584. You did not go to see him or bring him?—I never saw him until the day we met in coming down here altogether in the railway train.

50,585. Was that when you returned with Mr. Butler?—No; not with Mr Butler; he came down direct.

50,586. But when you returned from London on the occasion you went to see Mr. Butler?—Yes.

50,587. When you went to London with Mr. Barkworth, where did you go to for a second candidate?—We went to the Carlton.

50,588. Did you go to Kilwick?—That was before going to London.

50,589. Where is Kilwick?—The seat of Captain Duncombe, one of the members for the East Riding.

50,590. Did you go to communicate with him upon the subject of getting a candidate?—We did.

50,591. Did he recommend you to go to the Carlton?—He had been in communication with the Carlton, and recommended we should go up.

50,592. Did he mention any name to you as a probable candidate; as a person to see when you got to the Carlton?—I do not think he mentioned the names of any candidates, but he recommended us to see Colonel Forrester when we got there.

Mr J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,593. Did he also give you the names of some two or three people, whom, if you did not see Colonel Forrester, you might apply for?—I do not think he did. The name of Lord Greenock was mentioned, but whether by Captain Duncombe or after we got to London I do not know.

50,594. Did you make any stay at Kilwick?—We were there perhaps an hour, and then returned to London.

50,595. Did you take an introduction from Captain Duncombe to Colonel Forrester?—I do not think we took an introduction; he wrote to Colonel Forrester to say we were coming.

50,596. You did not take it with you?—No.

50,597. You went to the Carlton?—Yes.

50,598. Cannot you fix the day?—I cannot.

50,599. The beginning, or the middle, or the end of the month?—I think before the middle; about the 10th; but I really cannot say.

50,600. Somewhere about the 18th the minutes rather point to?—I am not certain as to the time.

50,601. Did you see Colonel Forrester?—Yes.

50,602. And at that intervew you stated, of course, what you had come for?—Yes.

50,603. What did you state to Colonel Forrester?—That it was found it was impossible to avoid a contest at Hull, and therefore we had come to ask him if he knew of a gentleman who would stand in conjunction with Mr. Bramley Moore; we mentioned also to him what the expenses would be.

50,604. What did you mention that at?—£1,200; and what the probable chances of success were.

50,605. Did you state those as good?—Yes.

50,606. As pretty nearly certain, in your judgment?—We thought there were many circumstances that were favourable at that time.

50,607. Do I understand you you represented to Colonel Forrester that a second candidate would only be at the expense of 1,200*l.*?—Yes; he was to be guaranteed against any further expenses.

50,608. Who by?—By the party generally. He was only to be called on to pay that sum. Both were put on the same footing.

50,609. That the party in Hull would guarantee that it should be no more?—Would guarantee that he should not be called on to pay more.

50,610. Can you state the rest that passed?—No; the details having been gone pretty fully into as to the amount of money required, and the probable chance of success.

50,611. Tell us the whole of that?—We were asked upon what grounds we thought there was a fair chance of success, and it was said that there were two questions in particular in which the electors of Hull felt considerable interest, and which would be favourable to the return of a Conservative candidate.

50,612. Those are political reasons?—Yes.

50,613. What was said as to the expense?—That each candidate should be called on to pay 1,200*l.*, and that no further sum should be required.

50,614. Was anything said about the mode of spending 1,200*l.*, how it would be applied?—No.

50,615. No question was asked as to the mode of spending it?—No; it was thought rather a reasonable sum.

50,616. Was anything said as to the voters; did he say, or how was it signified, that it was thought to be a reasonable sum; did the colonel say so?—No objection was made, and on the sum being mentioned there was no hesitation.

50,617. Did he say he thought it was reasonable?—No; but he did not say it was such a sum as would prevent people standing.

50,618. Did he appear to acquiesce at once?—He made no objection to the sum.

50,619. Did you understand from his manner that he appeared to think it was a reasonable sum?—He made no objection whatever.

50,620. Did you state at all as to the certainty or probability of success?—We did state we thought there was a very good chance of success.

50,621. Did you state that the result at all depended upon a certain class of freemen who generally expected employ or anything of that kind; that there were a certain number of persons whose votes had to be secured; was anything said about that?—I think that all circumstances connected with Hull elections were quite as well known in London as they were here.

50,622. Did you think that the Colonel seemed au fait at them?—I think he seemed not to have a very good opinion of the place.

50,623. In that respect?—Yes.

50,624. Did he say, "Is Hull worse than another place, or better than this particular place"?—We always felt there was a difficulty in getting a good man to stand for Hull, because it was not in very good odour.

50,625. And that people who handled it would be dirtied?—Yes.

50,626. And that there was a difficulty of getting a candidate upon that ground, that it had a bad chracter?—No, it did not amount to that; that it was in bad odour; something to that effect.

50,627. Was the kind of system that had prevailed alluded to by Colonel Forrester?—I think not.

50,628. You say he seemed to understand it, and you think it was not alluded to in detail?—I do not think it was; I do not think there was anything said about that.

50,629. Did Colonel Forrester mention some names?—Yes.

50,630. What followed next?—We were asked, on hearing something about them whom we thought likely, and we were asked to select one.

50,631. How many names did the Colonel give you?—A dozen, perhaps.

50,632. In writing?—No; he alluded to them.

50,633. Were they put down on paper—set down, to use a Hull term?—They were willing to contest the borough.

50,634. Were they set down?—I dare say he had them down; he paid them off.

50,635. Did you make a selection at once, or consider, and look them over?—We at once, when Mr. Butler's name was mentioned, agreed to see him.

50,636. I suppose you had full authority to act on the part of those who sent you?—Yes.

50,637. And to conclude?—Yes. We then went to Mr. Butler's house, and when we got there we found he was at the Carlton, and we went back there.

50,638. When the names were submitted to you, did you make any inquiry as to their having money?—We asked, certainly, if they were parties who would be willing to pay the sum.

50,639. When the Hon. Mr. Butler's name was presented, do you remember that you asked it?—No; I should not ask that, because I knew him very well by name; I knew that he had money.

50,640. You heard, I dare say, that he married a lady with a large fortune?—He lives close to Rugby, which I know.

50,641. You thought, as regarded Mr. Butler, there would be no doubt as regarded the 1,200*l.*?—I knew, if he was willing to stand for Hull, that 1,200*l.* was not an object with him.

50,642. I think you said you found he had returned to the Carlton?—Yes.

50,643. Did you find him at the Carlton?—We found him at the Carlton on our return.

50,644. Did you and Mr. Barkworth have an interview with him?—Yes.

50,645. State how you opened it?—We said we came up from Hull as a deputation, to look out for a second candidate, and with full power to conclude an arrangement with any one willing to come; and we mentioned the sum Mr. Bramley Moore was to advance for the purposes of the election, and it was advisable a second candidate should come on equal terms; in fact, that he should pay 1,200*l.* also, and beyond that sum no demand whatever should be made.

50,646. Upon your mentioning the sum of 1,200*l.*, did Mr. Butler at once agree to it?—Yes; there was not another word said about it. He said, "Very well." We certainly had some conversation with him as to his opinions, and he said, directly the sum of 1,200*l.* was mentioned, he had no objection to that.

50,647. Did he say anything as to the way in which the 1,200*l.* would be employed?—No; nothing was said about that.

50,648. He asked no questions?—No, I think not.

50,649. Did he not inquire a little as to the general mode of conducting elections in Hull?—If we had any conversation on that point, it was after he had agreed; but I recollect perfectly well, as soon as the sum was mentioned to him, he said that he should not object to it.

50,650. Was anything said at the time as to what was to be done if the sum exceeded that?—That was to be made up by my party; that they were not to be responsible for that.

50,651. That was agreed to and said at the time?—Yes.

50,652. Did you make any minute in writing of this interview?—No.

50,653. Did Mr. Butler?—No; nothing was put down in writing.

50,654. When you said something was said about anything beyond the 1,200*l.* being paid by the party, do you mean the party in Hull or in London?—The party in Hull.

50,655. I suppose you never seriously thought that an election for Hull could be carried with 2,400*l.*?—We thought certainly the expenses could not much exceed that sum. We did not expect, in consequence of the strict Act against bribery, that either party would have recourse to it.

50,656. You did not think the expenses would much exceed that?—No.

50,657. Did you know what had been spent in 1847?—No.

50,658. In a three day contest for Mr. Baines?—No; I never heard what sum had been spent by him.

50,659. What the total sum of his expenses was?—No; it was generally reported that his election cost him 1,000*l.*

50,660. And Mr. Brown?—I do not know; there were many rumours as to the money spent by him.

50,661. What was the report?—Generally some 3,000*l.* or 4,000*l.*

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,662. Do you recollect whether you mentioned to Mr. Butler the expenses of these previous elections?—I do not think they were mentioned.

50,663. Do you recollect if Mr. Butler said, on the sum of 1,200*l.* being mentioned, that he thought it a small sum, or something to that effect?—No, I do not think he would; he would not be likely to do that, or probably he might have thought we should ask him for more.

50,664. He was secured against that?—He was very well satisfied.

50,665. What did he say?—It was by his very ready acquiescence in the offer.

50,666. Did he say he thought it could not be done with that?—If you conclude a bargain with a man, you can generally tell whether he thinks he has made a good bargain with you or not.

50,667. You thought he had?—I thought he was perfectly satisfied.

50,668. You judged by his manner, that you thought he had made a good bargain?—By his manner altogether, that it was not an exorbitant sum for a man to pay.

50,669. You stated at the same interview, though afterwards at a later time some conversation passed as to the mode of carrying on Hull elections?—As to the mode in which they had been carried on.

50,670. State as well as you remember what passed as to that?—I believe both Mr. Barkworth and I told Mr. Butler that we did not think anything like the same expense would be resorted to on that occasion as had been on previous ones, in consequence of the more stringent Acts that were in force against bribery.

50,671. Did you in some terms convey to him that bribery had been prevalent at those two elections?—That there had been a great deal of money spent.

50,672. And that the system I have drawn your attention to had prevailed?—Yes.

50,673. Did you tell him the system?—No special reference was made to the system, but that there had been money spent on previous elections; that he was aware of.

50,674. Did you understand from Mr. Butler that he had seen Colonel Forrester before he saw you?—Yes.

50,675. And that Colonel Forrester had of course intimated to him the interview you had had with Colonel Forrester?—Yes.

50,676. And you said the colonel seemed perfectly well aware of the mode of carrying on elections at Hull? Do you think Mr. Butler seemed to know something of it?—He was not entirely ignorant.

50,677. Did he know as much as the colonel?—I do not think so.

50,678. About Hull, I mean?—I do not think he did. What he knew about Hull he got from Colonel Forrester.

50,679. You collected from what Mr. Butler said, that he had been informed by Colonel Forrester that Hull was not the safest place in the world?—I think he knew there was a safer place.

50,680. You informed him generally of the mode of conducting elections in 1841 and 1847?—No special reference was made to any particular election, but that there had been such practices.

50,681. And you said, in consequence of the stringent Act against bribery, you thought it would not be carried on?—Yes; to the same extent.

50,682. So that the matter of bribery was one of the things mentioned as having prevailed at Hull elections?—I think most likely.

50,683. Did you have any further interview with Mr. Butler after that?—Yes.

50,684. Was it to conclude any arrangement?—No; it was merely to conclude as to the time he should come down. The next thing was to issue an address to the electors; we were to call on him the following day, and receive that, and send it on to Hull.

50,685. At this interview, or any of the concluding interviews, was any arrangement made as to the mode in which Mr. Butler should transmit his money?—No; nothing whatever said about that.

50,686. Did he say anything about opening an account with a Hull bank?—No.

50,687. Was anything said as to the time the 1,200*l.* would be wanted, in the course of the election; whether before or after?—I think he made the remark, "Of course the 1,200*l.* will be wanted;" and the reply would be, certainly. And he might make his own arrangements about bringing it down, or sending it in any way he thought proper, but no special bargain was made.

50,688. As to the time nor the mode?—Neither.

50,689. Do you know how the 1,200*l.* was supplied?—No.

50,690. Whether Mr. Butler had an account with a bank?—I do not know how it was paid.

50,691. Did you return the next day, or a day or two after?—I did not return direct to Hull.

50,692. Did Mr. Butler come down with you?—No; I met Mr. Butler at the Milford Junction station.

50,693. When was that? Do you remember the day?—I should think that would be about a week after our interview with him in London.

50,694. That would be getting towards the end of June?—I think we first saw him the Friday or Saturday of one week, and I think he came down here the Wednesday or Thursday of the next week; perhaps a little later.

50,695. You said you did not come direct from London?—No.

50,696. Do you know whether Mr. Bulter did?—He did.

50,697. You had been to some other part, and met him at the Milford Junction?—Yes.

50,698. And came on from Hull together?—Yes, from Milford.

50,699. Where did Mr. Butler stay?—At Dotesio's Railway Hotel.

50,700. Did any gentleman come with him?—In the same carriage?

50,701. No; staying with him as his friend?—Mr. Nicholson.

50,702. Who is Mr. Nicholson?—A solicitor.

50,703. In London?—Yes.

50,704. Had you seen Mr. Nicholson in London?—I saw him at Mr. Butler's house.

50,705. A private solicitor?—I think he is more a friend of Mr. Butler's.

50,706. When did you see him at Mr. Butler's house?—After the interview; the day but one after that.

50,707. Was the matter of the election talked over in the presence of Mr. Nicholson?—No; I heard nothing about it; it was all concluded before I saw him.

50,708. Was it not repeated?—No; nothing was said in his presence.

50,709. After your return and Mr. Butler's arrival the committees were formed?—The committees were formed previous to that.

50,710. You were the vice-chairman of the central committee?—There were several vice-chairmen.

50,711. Four we have heard, and you acted as one?—There were more than four, I think.

50,712. You were one?—Yes, I was one.

50,713. You gave us the names of Mr. Pease, Mr. Barkworth, yourself, and one other, Mr. Gleadow?—Yes; he was another vice-chairman.

50,714. There was a room taken, I believe, at No. 7 in Quay Street, Mr. Wells has told us?—That room, I believe, was taken for the purpose of paying the out-voters.

50,715. The expenses of the out-voters?—Yes.

50,716. Do you know when that room was taken?—No; but I should think about a day before the election. It was found it would be very inconvenient to have the out-voters come to the committee room the day of the election.

50,717. And this room was taken in Quay Street?—Yes.

50,718. You attended there, I believe, with Mr. Barkworth, and assisted in the payment?—No; I never was at the room.

50,719. Mr. Wells has told us that you and Mr. Henry Barkworth did?—No, I never was in the room.

50,720. Did you pay any of these out-voters?—The money was paid to Mr. Dixon for the purpose.

50,721. By yourself?—Yes; I think it was by myself.

50,722. Mr. Wells said that you and Mr. Barkworth were at that room for the purpose of paying out-voters?—No, I was not. Mr. Wells is here, and you can ask him.

50,723. As vice-chairman were you also treasurer?—No, I was not treasurer; Mr. Ward was the treasurer.

50,724. Did the money for payment pass from you to Mr. Ward?—No; it passed from Mr. Ward to me.

50,725. Did you make all the payments?—No; if the chairman of a district committee sent in a bill for payment, I either paid it out of money that I had in my hands at that time, or got the money from Mr. Ward.

50,726. Did you receive, then, claims for money from the separate district committees from time to time?—If I was in the committee room at the time the claims were brought in, I took them to Mr. Ward.

50,727. If you were not there, who did that duty devolve upon?—He would most likely endeavour to see Mr. Ward himself, or Mr. Henry Barkworth.

50,728. Did you receive claims for payment excepting at the committee rooms? Did you receive them at the district committee rooms?—No; they were always sent in to the central committee.

50,729. It was the course to send them to the central committee, and then to be handed to you?—No; it was not at all necessary that they should be handed to me, but if I was at the central committee I took them to Mr. Ward, and got the money, and they were paid there and then.

50,730. In those accounts that you took to Mr. Ward, did you look over the vouchers to see what the amount was he had to pay?—If I had the vouchers I put them together, and took them to him, and said, "I want so much money;" and they were paid, and receipts given.

50,731. Did you examine all the accounts?—We kept them as low as we possibly could.

50,732. You taxed them?—Yes.

50,733. You examined them before you asked for the sum of money?—If the claim from one district was larger than the other, some special remark was made about it, and some reason called for for the difference.

50,734. Was there not some person at the central committee room, inasmuch as all the money wa paid by Mr. Ward? Was there not some hand there through which all the accounts would be passed before the total sum wanted was given out by Mr. Ward?—No, certainly not. Many accounts were paid by Mr. Ward that had never gone through my hands.

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,735. Or the hands of anybody else?—Yes. As a general rule, whatever accounts were certified by the chairmen of the district committees they would be paid.

50,736. That would be the mode?—Yes, if it was stated to be correct.

50,737. By him?—Yes; we could raise no objection whatever to any demand.

50,738. You say you taxed some, or looked them over?—It was more in the way of a caution. You understand these payments were being made for many weeks previous to the election, and as we knew probably a month or six weeks would elapse before a dissolution or election took place, it was necessary to put something like a check upon the expenditure.

50,739. How often were these accounts forwarded from the district committees?—Upon the Saturday; the instructions were that all accounts should be sent in on the Saturday morning.

50,740. And that was the course adopted?—That was the course adopted.

50,741. Were you usually there on the Saturday?—Not the whole day; at no particular time. On the Saturday morning I should be there.

50,742. What time on Saturday would the accounts come in?—We ought to have had them in before twelve o'clock, but we had often great difficulty in getting them in.

50,743. And what would those accounts include?—The payment of runners, clerks, doorkeepers, and so forth the usual weekly expenses of the committee room.

50,744. Those were not payments that had been made?—No.

50,745. But to show the money that was wanted?—Yes.

50,746. Were such papers returned to the central committee from each district committee room every Saturday?—They were returned as soon as they were receipted by the clerk, who perhaps brought an account from the chairman of the committee for so much money, and he received it at the central committee room, and a receipt was given.

50,747. Receipted the bill?—Receipted the bill containing the amount.

50,748. Was that the account, or the vouchers, or what?—There were no vouchers; it was merely put down on a half sheet of paper, the amount required for a certain district.

50,749. Did it include the pay lists? did it give the names of the people?—No, I think not; merely a clerk or doorkeeper; I do not think the names of the persons employed were put down in the weekly receipts.

50,750. What I want to know is whether before the sum was paid out by Mr. Ward the accounts, either by means of vouchers or otherwise, underwent the scrutiny of the central committee?—No.

50,751. Or whether a certificate or a demand from a district chairman was enough of itself?—That was sufficient for the payment; but if the demand from the chairman of any one ward was larger than the average, some remark would be made that it was necessary to curtail the expenditure.

50,752. Did the demands from each committee contain items, or was it a lumping sum?—It would be put, "Clerk, so much; doorkeeper, so much; messengers, so much."

50,753. Upon one sheet of paper?—Yes; or half a sheet of paper.

50,754. Did it give the names?—Yes.

50,755. So that you could know how many clerks, door keepers, and messengers there were?—Yes.

50,756. When these clerks attended, were you not the person who generally handed them the money?—If I was there I did so, but it was not at all necessary that I should be there.

50,757. Who did it, if you were not there?—If Mr. Ward was there, he would do it himself.

50,758. Of course it would be convenient that the money should not pass through several hands?—It was an inconvenient thing to have persons coming into the committee rooms to be paid, to have money handed about there, and it was also inconvenient to Mr. Ward to have the money paid in his office; I therefore said, "The better plan will be, if they come into the committee room, I will bring them to your office."

50,759. Was Mr. Ward in a separate place?—He was in his own office.

50,760. He was the general chairman?—Yes.

50,761. Then was his office in the same place as the committee room?—No; in the next house.

50,762. Supposing you were not there, who would be the person to do that?—Any of the other deputy chairmen who were there.

50,763. Did you take the chair frequently?—No, not very often; I think Mr. Gleadow generally.

50,764. To revert again to the out-voters, did you pay any of them yourself at this room?—No; I never was at the room.

50,765. Was it a mistake of Mr. Wells when he said that you and Mr. Henry Barkworth paid them?—Certainly it is. We were instructed to look after the payment, and it was arranged that Mr. Dixon should pay them. Mr. Wells may be right as far as he says that we did look after the payment of them; I believe we were nominated to attend to that business.

50,766. The words I took down, were that you and Mr. Barkworth were appointed?—Yes, very likely; to attend to the out-voters.

50,767. Did Mr. Dixon come to you for a sum of money for the out-voters?—I think 90*l.* was paid to him; I think that was the sum.

50,768. Do you remember when the payment was made to him?—No, I do not. It would be the day before the election, or the day after, because these parties would want to return immediately after voting.

50,769. Mr. Wells has said they were paid before?—I think the money was paid to Mr. Dixon before.

50,770. He said that the money was paid to the out-voters?—I do not know the fact.

50,771. Is Mr. Dixon in the town now?—I believe so.

50,772. He is Mr. Gibson's clerk?—Yes.

50,773. Did you pay him the sum of 90*l.* at once?—I paid the money to Mr. Barkworth; I had some money in my hands that had been given me by Mr. Wells; I ought to have. I think I paid 90*l.*, and I think to Mr. Barkworth, which he was to give to Mr. Dixon.

50,774. Was it all paid at once?—That 90*l.* was.

50,775. In one sum?—Yes.

50,776. At the time you paid that sum to Mr. Barkworth, did he furnish you with a list of persons to whom it was to be paid?—All he did was, he gave me a small piece of paper, "90*l.*," and put his initials to it, and I put it along with any vouchers I had, by way of accounting for it.

50,777. I suppose he stated the purpose, of course?—Yes; not in the paper; I knew what it was for; I merely wanted some kind of voucher.

50,778. Did he state at all how many out-voters there were, do you remember?—No; but I think it was pretty well known.

50,779. What did you think them to be?—The amount?

50,780. No; the number of them?—I have not attended to the out-voters.

50,781. What were they paid each?—The arrangement was that they should have first class fare,—that was considered a legal payment,—to Hull and back, wherever they were.

50,782. First-class fare there and back?—Yes.

50,783. Not a return ticket, but the full fare?—The full fare.

50,784. They were to have the full fare for each way, and not a return ticket?—Yes.

50,785. The London people, according to the account, seem to have 4*l.* 10*s.* each; that would include something beyond the fare?—I do not know what the payment was; I believe the understanding was that they should have first-class fare.

50,786. £2 is the special train, first class, from London?—That was the understanding in the committee.

50,787. Were they to have anything for loss of time?—That was the understanding, that they were to have first-class fare each way.

50,788. Without any regard to their station in life?—Yes; that was thought to be the maximum amount that we could legally allow.

50,789. Or without any regard to where they came from?—No.

50,790. And you understood upon that computation that the sum of 90*l.* was wanted for the out-voters?—£90 was merely taken as a sum on account.

50,791. Did you pay any more?—I do not recollect whether I paid any more.

50,792. That does not include the London ones?—I do not know.

50,793. They were left to be paid by Tilson and company in London?—The money would be remitted to them to pay with. So long as I got a memorandum for any money I paid, if it was paid to the chairman of the committee, or one of the district chairmen, it was sufficient for me, and I did not ask them what the particulars of it were.

50,794. You would not pay money upon request, without its having reference to the election?—I have no doubt any person asking for money would say what it was wanted for.

50,795. Was there established, at the central committee, a kind of finance committee, out of the general committee?—I think two or three were appointed, with a view to checking the expenses.

50,796. Yourself and Mr. Ward?—Yes; and Mr. Henry Barkworth; and we did, as far as we could, check it.

50,797. Did you and Mr. Ward apply yourselves generally in that character of finance committee to the town of Hull, and Mr. Barkworth to the out-voters?—No; I do not think there was any distinct understanding of that kind.

50,798. Do you know whether any fixed sum was mentioned as the first-class fare to pay voters from Barton, or Hessle, or Cottingham?—I had nothing to do with the paying of them.

50,799. Was Mr. Barkworth the person of the three who would know most about that?—I do not know.

50,800. One of the three surely would know something about it?—I do not know. It did not come under my cognizance. I do not know what was done.

50,801. As a finance committee, were you not furnished with vouchers?—We were not strictly a finance committee; we were merely requested to check the expenditure. It was at Mr. Ward's request that we undertook it.

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,802. I ask you what vouchers you saw?—The vouchers we saw were from the different committees, signed by the chairmen.

50,803. You saw the vouchers?—Yes; and then the money was paid to the persons bringing them.

50,804. You mean a piece of paper?—Yes; those half sheets of paper.

50,805. You did not see the bills?—No, I did not.

50,806. Not at any time?—There would not be bills; they would be vouchers.

50,807. But the amounts would be carried out?—Messengers, so much.

50,808. We have seen a good many with the names and numbers put down, and the amount?—That would be after the election.

50,809. No; the weekly bills. Did you see such a thing as this (handing a weekly bill to the witness)?—That is not the weekly bill I am speaking to. I am speaking of the weekly payments previous to the election.

50,810. What you are are asked is, whether, at any time, either before or after the election, you saw the vouchers of the different committees? What they sent to you was a demand, you know?—Those would be kept by the chairmen of the different committees, as vouchers against the orders that they sent to the central committee; but we never asked for vouchers, beyond the signature of the district chairmen.

50,811. All you had asked of you amounted pretty much to a sum total, and if you had the signature of the district chairmen the amount was sent?—Yes.

50,812. Are those some of the notes (handing some papers to the witness)?—Yes; but these were not sent at the time of the payments; they must have been sent afterwards. I do not know that the chairman ever saw them.

50,813. Do I understand you that you never saw the vouchers in detail?—Not until after the election was over.

50,814. Then did you?—Yes.

50,815. And went through them?—No; because if they were certified as correct by the chairman of the district committee we could not make any objection to them; they were paid as a matter of course.

50,816. What became of those vouchers?—I should think those would be left in the central committee room, when the money was paid.

50,817. What would be done with those papers eventually?—They would be deposited in the central committee room.

50,818. I believe you, also with Mr. Gleadow, whom you mentioned, and Mr. Barkworth, had a good deal of the management of the printing department?—Yes.

50,819. Had you the control over the expenditure of that department?—The general rule was, that no order whatever should be given for printing, excepting from the central committee; and there was a cheque book, from which orders were given.

50,820. As to the printing?—Yes.

50,821. Can you tell me, without going into the detail of it, what the total amount of the printing was, that you paid eventually?—I should think 300*l.* or 400*l.*

50,822. You cannot give the exact amount?—No. I think there were so many different printers employed; but that includes orders for flagstaffs, and all sorts of things.

50,823. "Printing, stationery, cards, advertising, addresses, and other charges of this nature, 415*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*"?—Yes; I dare say that would be about the amount.

50,824. I am reading from the book furnished by Mr. Ward?—Yes; that is it.

50,825. We have heard of a room at the Minerva Terrace, which Mr. Well called a volunteer room; did any account from that committee room pass through your hands?—The account for the payment of the balance did so, after the election was over. I never heard of the expense of the room until afterwards, and then it was in the central committee room.

50,826. What was that balance that you paid in respect of that election?—I really forget what the amount was.

50,827. About how much?—I think it was from 50*l.* to 70*l.*; I cannot say.

50,828. £60, I think, was the sum?—I did not take any particular notice of it. The account was given to me.

50,829. What sort of account?—It was a request to pay the bearer the balance. I was in the committee room at the time, and went to get the money.

50,830. When was that?—That was two or three days after the election.

50,831. "Pay the bearer the balance"?—No; the sum was mentioned.

50,832. Who signed that paper?—I believe Mr. Bannister.

50,833. A paper from Mr. Bannister asking you to pay the balance?—That was addressed to me.

50,834. And you paid it?—I got the money from Mr. Ward. Mr. Bannister's clerk brought the account to the central committee room, and I was there at the time, and went and got the money.

50,835. Mr. Wride was that?—Yes.

50,836. Did you ask what it was for?—No, I did not.

50,837. Was that the first time that you heard of the room?—I did not inquire whether for the room or not. I saw it was an order from Mr. Bannister, and I took it as of course.

50,838. You knew Mr. Bannister well?—Yes.

50,839. He was an active man upon the blue side?—Yes.

50,840. He was filling the office of mayor then?—Yes.

50,841. And his signature, asking for 60*l.*, was enough to induce you to pass it?—Yes; it was enough to induce me to take it, without asking any questions about it.

50,842. And it was paid?—Yes.

50,843. Did you also hear of the room, and make any payment for it, at Silvon's, after the election?—I never heard of the name until this moment. I know nothing about it.

50,844. Were other monies sent, to your knowledge, to Legitt, at the Minerva Terrace, besides that balance of 60*l.*?—No, none whatever.

50,845. Do you know of the sums of 30*l.* and 50*l.* having been sent before?—I do not.

50,846. To Mr. Bannister?—No.

50,847. In respect of the room, I mean?—No, certainly not. I never paid any money to Mr. Bannister, or Mr. Legitt, or in connexion with that room.

50,848. We hear that some payments were made at these places called clearing houses; two places paid by Mr. Turnbull and Mr. Ash. Did you furnish any money from Mr. Ward for payment of those places?—I do not know that I did; it is very possible, if the account was brought in, and I was at the committee room at the time, that I should do so as well as the others.

50,849. You know what I am alluding to?—Yes. I have no distinct recollection of any payments being made upon that account, but it is very possible I did.

50,850. Here is an entry that I draw your attention to in Mr. Ward's book:—"Mr. Wells; expenses of contract, clearing houses, where the returns were all taken to on the polling day, £26 6*s.* 6*d.*" Do you recollect whether that money passed through your hands?—No, I do recollect that it did.

50,851. £26 6*s.* 6*d.* Look at that paper; that adding up of the total is in your handwriting?—No; that is not my writing.

50,852. Did you make the payments, do you remember?—I do not recollect. I do not see any mark upon it,

50,853. There is another; Mayne's bill for beer, lemonade, and so on, £14?—I cannot recollect that,

50,854. You heard before the election day of that ingenious scheme of Mr. Wells, of the clearing houses, and the system that was to be adopted for employing these people?—I knew that some measure had been adopted for the purpose of getting the returns as quickly as possible, but I never went into the details of the thing.

50,855. I find Mr. Ward has added to the last amount that I drew your attention to, of £14. He says, "In my opinion this clearing house was all needless humbug." Do you agree in that?—Not very far out. I should say it was intended bonâ fide to carry that out. I do not say the full number of 470 could have been employed, but I think the scheme, if properly carried out, might have been of some use.

50,856. That scheme might have been of use?—Yes.

50,857. Do you not think that the number that he proposed to be employed would be totally unnecessary for the purpose of carrying out a scheme of that kind?—I think it might be done with a much less number.

50,858. Would not that furnish a means of employment, either real or colourable?—I do not think it was done with that intention.

50,859. Would it not do so?—It might do so.

50,860. You do not think much of it, I see?—No, I do not.

50,861. Were you present when it was discussed at the central committee?—I recollect hearing something about it, but I could not understand it, and I thought if anybody else could they had better carry it out.

50,862. Did they endeavour to make you understand it?—No; I never asked; it did not come within my province.

50,863. It is a little intricate, unless it is explained?—It did not come within my province at all.

50,864. Will you just look at that book (C. C.), furnished by Mr. Ward, of payments. "June 26th., weekly wages, £114 11*s.* 6*d.*" Do you at all know how that amount would be made up?—Yes; it would be from the returns from the chairmen of the different districts, of expenses incurred by them during the week.

50,865. Did that money pass from you to the different district chairmen?—Most likely some of that passed through my hands.

50,866. Before it passed through your hands, should you have had any vouchers or papers, other than those you have mentioned before?—No, none whatever.

50,867. No details, in fact?—No.

50,868. July 3d, it seems to have increased much; to 183*l.* 13*s.* 2*d.*?—That includes the staff of the central committee room; and I think they had not been paid the previous week, and therefore there was a fortnight's expenses, making the amount of the second week larger in proportion.

50,869. We have heard at several rooms, about the 3d of July the staff of runners

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

had been greatly increased?—It does not appear so from this book; it states at the end of the memorandum, "and also the staff employed at the central committee room."

50,870. Now, July 7th, can you explain the entry there: "Payments to labourers, 20*l.*" ?—No; unless it was for loss of time upon the nomination day: It states, "Payments to men and labourers engaged on the nomination day, 20*l.*, and at other times."

50,871. Can you say when that payment was made?—I cannot.

50,872. Did you know of any men being employed upon the nomination and polling day for particular purposes?—I did not employ them, or pay them, but I knew there were some.

50,873. Bludgeon men, or men of that kind?—You can hardly call them bludgeon men. It is pretty well known, upon the day of nomination an attempt has always been made to get possession of the hustings, that only one party should be heard; and it is necessary that precautions should be taken for that.

50,874. Do you call them fighting men?—Call them what you will; that was the object.

50,875. I do not want to give them a name?—The object of the men was simply to keep possession of a fair part of the ground in front of the hustings.

50,876. Are those voters?—Not necessarily so.

50,877. Would they be generally voters?—Yes.

50,878. Chosen, I suppose, for the strength of their lungs, and the breadth of their chests?—Yes.

50,879. Do you know how they were paid?—No.

50,880. Have you any list of them?—No.

50,881. Do you know how many were appointed?—No.

50,882. Do you think the entry of 20*l.* would have relation to these men?—No doubt it has; it expressly states so.

50,883. It does not say what for?—"The men engaged on the nomination day, and on many other previous evenings."

50,884. Who would make the payments; who would have the money to disburse to them?—That I do not know.

50,885. You would pay it to somebody?—No; I do not think I did; I do not recollect having done so.

50,886. Mr. Steeples name has been mentioned?—Very likely he would pay it.

50,887. What was his duty?—He was the general keeper of the central committee room.

50,888. The general doorkeeper?—He was always in attendance there, and attended at the room.

50,889. To see that improper people did not come in?—He knew everybody, almost; and it would be part of his duty to see that no person not immediately connected came in.

50,890. Supposing you wanted a number of persons for a business of that kind, would Steeples be selected as the person to pick them out?—Yes.

50,891. Was he not employed for a great many other purposes than keeping that room?—No; that was his principal employment.

50,892. Did he not pay many of the accounts?—After the election was over, he did.

50,893. He is a publican, is he not?—I do not know what he is.

50,894. Was it his duty to look after the voters?—No; he never was out of the committee room.

50,895. I do not quite understand what he did so exclusively in the committee room?—He was there, and he was engaged in writing; as I called, the clerk and general manager.

50,896. Had he had a good deal to do with making payments at former elections?—I do not know; I had not seen him before, or heard of him before the election.

50,897. Had you heard that?—No, I had not.

50,898. Had you heard that he had had to do with payments at former elections?—I never heard his name mentioned at former elections.

50,899. Do you think he would be the man who would select those persons, and pay them?—I do not know anybody connected with the committee more likely to do it.

50,900. Now, July 8th; read it: "Travelling expenses of voters, 200*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*?—That is for ninety voters, sent for from London and various other places, about ninety in number; some from Glasgow, Bristol, the Isle of Man, and other distant places; the total is, 200*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*

50,901. Do you know anything of the details of that item?—No; I do not know anything of the details. Those would be paid chiefly by Mr. Gibson's clerk; part of them.

50,902. Was this a book that you had, do you remember, containing the names of those persons, and the sums paid to them (B. C.)?—I do not recollect having seen it.

50,903. Was that one of the books lying on the table?—I do not know it again.

50,904. You think Mr. Gibson would make the payments?—No; Mr. Gibson's clerk.

50,905. Mr. Dixon, you mean?—Yes; he was engaged for that purpose.

50,906. Do you remember whether that money was paid by you, piecemeal?—No, I do not think it was.

50,907. It was not paid in one sum, I suppose?—I do not think anything beyond the 90*l.* was paid by me. I do not know in what sums.

50,908. I see an item, July 17th. Can you explain that? "On account of extra committee, three weeks, 30*l.*"?—That I do not know anything about.

50,909. Read it?—"Advances on account of extra committee room at South End, three weeks, 30*l.*"

50,910. Do you know such a room?—No, I do not.

50,911. Where is South End; is that the same as Minerva Terrace?—Yes, I suppose it is; it is generally called South End.

50,912. Three weeks, 30*l.*; do you know whether you made that payment?—No, I did not.

50,913. You did not pay the 30*l.* over to anybody?—I did not.

50,914. Who would do that?—I do not know; I never heard of that payment.

50,915. I do not know whether that book means it was all paid in one sum, or a weekly sum of 10*l.*; do you recollect making any such payment at Minerva Terrace?—No; I never knew anything about such a sum.

50,916. Mr. Wells has stated there was a sum of 30*l.* paid. If you just turn over you will see that payment; "July," but no date. "Weekly wages, 344*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.*"?—That I suppose was for the weekly wages of the districts, certified by the chairman, in the same way that the previous one had been.

50,917. Do you know anything of that entry?—No; I cannot speak as to the correctness of it.

50,918. It is a large sum?—No doubt it would be vouched for at the time; it would not be paid without.

50,919. You say no doubt vouchers would have been furnished before that 344*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* was paid. Who would they be furnished to?—To whoever the money was received from. That is, the person wanting money would bring an order from the chairman of the district committee for the payment.

50,920. You cannot tell when it was. There is no date?—No, I do not know that.

59,921. That book, I believe, shows the total expenses of the election at the end?—3,637*l.* 2*s.* 5*d.*

50,922. We have heard a good deal of a supper that was given at the De la Pole Tavern?—Yes.

50,923. The very recollection of it makes you smile?—I have seen a good deal about it in the papers.

50,924. Not more than it deserved, I dare say?—I do not know that it was a very important one.

50,925. I believe you were the chairman, and had the management of it?—I had not the management; I was requested to take the chair, and did do so.

50,926. Who had the management of it?—Mr. Pulleyn.

50,927. That was the gentleman who was one of the petitioners?—Yes; that supper, I think, was in the month of May, but I am not certain.

50,928. At the De la Pole Tavern?—Yes.

50,929. How many supped there?—I believe between ninety and one hundred.

50,930. There were several toasts; you had got the names of the candidates at that time?—No; we had not got the names.

50,931. It was stated Mr. Moore's name was given?—I very much doubt whether it was known that Mr. Moore was coming. It might have been talked of.

50,932. Then what it was originally called is correct, a blue supper?—Yes.

50,933. Did you send out invitations?—Yes; at least those who subscribed a certain sum had so many tickets. If a person subscribed 1*l.* he had ten tickets, and those he might give away to who he liked.

50,934. It was done by subscription, of the blue party, of course?—I should suppose that the amount subscribed, perhaps, would be from 12*l.* to 15*l.*

50,935. Was it arranged to be a supper, to be given by subscribers; was that the arrangement, that a number of gentlemen were to subscribe money, and get tickets in proportion to the amount?—The arrangement was, that there should be a supper; and in order to get persons to subscribe they were told they should have a certain number of tickets.

50,936. Who were the persons who were to be at the supper; who were to be invited?—There was no limit, I believe. The thing that first started the supper was, that there had been, a year or two previously, an Orange Lodge started in the town; the members of that lodge had been in the habit of meeting in High Street; and it was thought desirable they should not meet there longer, and they were asked to come and join the Operative Conservative Society in Lowgate; and it was on the removal of those persons that the supper was given.

50,937. Were all the persons who belonged to the Orange Society invited?—Yes.

50,938. What number would be invited?—I should think about thirty.

50,939. I think you said the total number would was 150?—I said from 90 to 100.

50,940. I was looking at my paper, which says 150?—No.

50,941. Could not that be so?—No; I think the number was ninety-five or ninety-six. The best criterion is the number that were paid for.

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853.

50,942. How were they admitted; did they have a ticket sent to them?—Yes.

50,943. And presented at the door when they came?—Yes.

50,944. And had nothing to pay themselves?—No.

50,945. But the mere production of the ticket procured admission?—Yes.

50,946. Were the names on them?—No.

50,947. With whom were the tickets left?—With the publican; the landlord of the house.

50,948. Somebody would keep the door?—He would do that, as a check.

50,949. Who was that?—That the man would do himself.

50,950. The landlord?—Yes; the landlord.

50,951. Probably he would be too busy with the supper?—He would do so.

50,952. Did he say so?—I suppose he did.

50,953. Was his name Blanchard?—I do not know what his name is.

50,954. Do you know tickets were sent to the blue voters for that supper?—As I said, every person who subscribed had tickets sent to them, and gave them to whom he liked.

50,955. Were all nearly who attended at the supper of the blue party?—No; I do not think you would have heard so much about it if they were.

50,956. Not blues?—It was partly blues.

50,957. It was intended for the blues?—No doubt it was not intended to give an orange supper.

50,958. Was there any particular class of persons to whom the tickets were to be sent?—That would be in the discretion of the persons who had the tickets.

50,959. Were they to give the tickets to freemen?—There was no limit; they might do as they liked.

50,960. Were they to be voters?—There was no limit whatever.

50,961. Have you got a list of subscribers?—No; I never saw one, that I knew of. The persons subscribing were perfectly free to give their tickets to any persons they liked.

50,962. When the supper did take place, were the names taken down as voters, or secured in any way?—No; certainly not.

50,963. Reference was made to the coming election?—No doubt reference would be made to the coming election.

50,964. What was the rate per head charged for the supper?—I do not recollect; somewhere about 18*d.* or 2*s.*

50,965. How many subscribers do you think there were?—Ten or twelve; I think so.

50,966. How many tickets would fall to you as chairman?—I dare say that I should have a dozen or fifteen. I do not recollect what I subscribed, but it would be in proportion.

50,967. Something also for being chairman?—I do not think it was known who was to be the chairman until the day before.

50,968. Did you exercise your own judgment in the disposal of your tickets, or give them to somebody else?—I do not know, I am sure; I hardly recollect what became of them. Whoever I gave them to, I dare say the instructions I should give would be not to give them to orange parties, most probably.

50,969. By the orange lodge you mean one of the Irish lodges?—Yes.

50,970. About thirty of them?—Yes.

50,971. Do you remember if you distributed your own?—I think not.

50,972. Who did for you?—I do not know; I think I gave them to some one.

50,973. You can recollect that?—I do not. It was not a very unusual thing to have a supper of that kind. I had frequently been at such suppers before at other than election times, and it did not make any impression upon my mind, although a good deal has been said of it since.

50,974. Did you invite William Purdon?—No.

50,975. Somebody of the name of Thomas?—Mr. Thomas had tickets sent to him, because he was a subscriber.

50,976. And Purdon; did he have tickets?—I do not know.

50,977. Smith; do you know a man of that name?—There are so many Smiths.

50,978. You say these suppers are prevalent in Hull, of a political kind?—Yes; the suppers were given in connexion with the Operative Association. We used generally to have one every year for some years after the formation, and two or three years had elapsed without one.

50,979. Had it reference to the coming election?—It was usual to have one about the time of the anniversary of the association, and that was in June.

50,980. I think it is July?—Not the Orange Lodge, the Operative Conservative Association.

50,981. I thought it was a continuation of the Orange Society?—No; they were merely to come and take the rooms.

50,982. What would be the cost of the supper?—I think about 15*l.*

50,983. Were there any toasts or mode adopted of securing the votes there, as far as you understood?—It would not be done with a view of securing the votes.

50,984. Although the supper might not have had its origin with any other view, was it made an occasion to secure some votes for the ensuing election?—I do not think it was.

It is very likely indeed that such a toast as the blue candidates, whoever they might be, would be proposed.

50,985. That is the question?—I think it is very likely, knowing the election was coming, we should hardly meet there for three or four hours and say nothing about it.

50,986. Do you recollect it was one of the toasts?—I do not recollect it was; I have no doubt some allusion would be made.

50,987. Should you, or not, expect among those at the supper that they would vote for the blues in consequence?—No.

50,988. Partly?—No; it might get them into a good humour.

50,989. Do you know a man of the name of John Marley Brewster?—Yes.

50,990. Do you remember paying him a sum of 20*s.* at your office in the Salthouse Lane?—Yes.

50,991. When did you pay him?—The 10th of July.

50,992. What was it for?—He had been employed by me for some days during the election.

50,993. What to do?—To run about, and get information.

50,994. Privately for yourself?—It was not in connxtion with the central or either of the district committees, and therefore I paid him myself.

50,995. What was he to do for you?—He had been employed as a runner for the orange, and he had been paid off by them; and I had a good deal to do, and I told him he had better make the best use of his time, and be at my disposal, to do what work I wanted.

50,996. He had not been a runner for your party?—No, I think not.

50,997 He had been a runner for the orange?—He had always voted for our party before, but they had paid him off.

50,998. During the time he was in your employment was he a runner for the orange?—Certainly not.

50,999. Did you employ him before the election?—Yes.

51,000. For how many days before?—I should think about a week.

51,001. You state at that time he was not engaged for the orange?—Certainly not; he had been paid off previously; at least so he told me.

51,002. He had been a runner for the orange party?—Yes.

51,003. And then you employed him?—Yes.

51,004. And he voted Moore and Butler, and was paid 20*s.* afterwards?—Yes.

51,005. Do you remember sending a sum of money to some freemen in respect of Mr. Baines' election in 1847?—I think that some men set up such a claim.

51,006. Did you send some money to pay them that arrear?—No, I did not.

51,007. Did you send 5*l.* to Mr. Cooper's ropery?—No.

51,008. Do you know of its going?—I know it did go, because the men told me they got it. I did not know it until they told me they had got it.

51,009. Did the money come from you?—No; not a farthing.

51,010. Who did it come from?—They said a man had brought them 5*l.*; they did not know who they received it from; I had heard it was sent up.

51,011. With regard to the two Nasbys, the payments made to them?—I do not know anything about it.

51,012. It says, "Refer to Mr. Harris?"—I never heard of the Nasbys.

51,013. Is there not a minute as to their wanting a pound from Mr. Baines?—I do not know anything about them. I do not know the Nasbys.

51,014. Is it not there, "Refer to Mr. Harris"?—Yes; and if an application had been made to me I should have given the same answer.

51,015. Do you remember any such payment being made?—I do not recollect such a claim being made; I do recollect the claim of the ropery men.

51,016. Did you not learn where the money came from?—No; and they thought I had sent it.

51,017. Did they tell you so?—They looked at me as if they ought to thank me for it.

51,018. What did they say?—They said it was all right, and I asked them what they meant.

51,019. Do you not know where it came from?—I know now where it came from; I did not know then.

51,020. Where did it come from?—I believe it was sent by a member of the blue party.

51,021. I am afraid you must tell the name?—It was sent by Mr. Henry Barkworth; that I should not have known unless Mr. Barkworth himself had told me of the circumstance only yesterday; that he had sent it. He said my name was mixed up with it, and he gave me his authority to say he had sent the money.

51,022. When was that payment made, do you know?—I do not know; it would be a short time before the election.

51,023. Did he say where he got the money?—No.

51,024. You mentioned being official assignee; was that appointment in any way connected with your services on behalf of the Conservative candidates in this borough?—No, I think not. It was through an application through the members for North

Mr. J. Harris.

19th July 1853

Warwickshire, in which district the appointment was vacant, and which was obtained through them; there was a notification that my appointment had been made by the Chancellor to my father, who resides at Rugby.

51,025. Did he apply on your behalf?—Yes; and the first intimation that I had of my appointment was by telegraph from Rugby.

51,026. Can you undertake to state positively that it was not given in any way for your services during the election in this borough?—I have no hesitation whatever in saying that it was not.

Thomas Ward.

THOMAS WARD sworn, and examined.

51,027. Are you in any business?—Yes.

51,028. As a merchant?—A shipowner.

51,029. Where do you reside; in this town?—In Albion Street.

51,030. What are you rated at? What rent do you pay for a house?—The house in which I reside is my own, but I believe it is rated at 50*l.* a year. I am also rated for my office in Bowl Alley Lane at 15*l.* a year.

51,031. Perhaps you have other premises?—I occupy one room as a warehouse for small stores, which is rated at 14*l.* or 15*l.* a year.

51,032. Have you been long entitled to vote as a householder?—Since the Reform Bill.

51,033. Are you also a freeman?—No.

51,034. Have you taken considerable interest in the elections of this borough?—I never took so much interest as at the last election.

51,035. Did you take any in 1841?—Yes; I was the chairman of the Lowgate district in 1841 for the blues.

51,036. I suppose you had a large staff attached to the committee?—There was.

51,037. Were there regular books kept in the district over which you presided?—Indeed I cannot recollect. I think there were regular sheet books and canvassing books.

51,038. A minute book?—Well, I am not very sure of that; but there were sheet books and canvassing books, and also an aphabetical book of the voters in the district, with a blank page opposite, on which any remarks might be made either by the district committee or by the canvassers.

51,039. Was there a book also kept in which names were "set down," to use a Hull expression?—No, I think not.

51,040. How was it carried on in Hull?—I am not aware that there was anything of the kind kept at that time.

51,041. How was the system carried on? We hear that very large payments were made on behalf of Hanmer and James?—That I cannot tell you.

51,042. How was it effected?—That I cannot tell you; I had nothing to do with it.

51,043. There were apertures in the doors, and screens of various descriptions?—I never heard of it until I saw it in the newspapers the other day.

51,044. Do you know how the system was carried out?—As far as I can recollect, or as far as I have any knowledge of the economy of the business, the names of people were put down as runners, to be paid three and four days, or something of that kind, after the election.

51,045. That prevailed at every district committee in 1841, did it not?—I am not prepared to answer that; I should think they did.

51,046. In Hull, I believe, there has been a general opinion that persons ought to be paid for their loss of time, and for working?—Yes, there has.

51,047. I do not know whether you have that opinion?—People in that class of life are not able to afford the loss of their time.

51,048. Have you shared in that opinion?—To a certain extent I have; not to such an extent as to pay a man for six days when he only did one day's work; but I believe I may say I am of opinion that they ought to be paid for the day of the nomination, when it is a broken holiday, and for the polling day, when they were employed; and you cannot expect workmen to lay down their tools, and lose their work; I think for those two days they ought to be paid.

51,049. You think they ought to be paid for those two days only?—Yes.

51,050. If the matter was restricted to that it would be better?—I think so.

51,051. That opinion has extensively prevailed, has it not, in Hull?—I cannot answer that question.

51,052. To some extent?—I believe many people have that idea.

51,053. Many respectable people have that idea?—Yes; but I must say I never made it a subject of conversation particularly with any one.

51,054. Do you know how many were set down in the Lowgate district in 1841?—No, I do not.

51,055. You mean to say that you thought it might be advisable; you did not think it legal?—I thought it was reasonable; no, not legal.

51,056. Would you like to see an Act of Parliament passed to make it legal?—No; I care nothing about it. I should think there might, perhaps, have been, as far as I can recollect, some twenty or thirty names put down at that time, in 1841

51,057. What became of the papers after the election was concluded?—I cannot tell you.

51,058. You do not remember?—No.

51,059. Do you believe they were sent to the central committee?—I believe they were considered as so much waste paper, and I dare say destroyed.

51,060. Who was the clerk in your district?—I cannot recollect.

51,061. Do you recollect any of the names of the parties who assisted you in that part of the town?—The only one I recollect is Mr. Stork, the deputy chairman.

51,062. Is he alive now?—Yes; an elderly man, and did not take an active part in the matter. His counting-house happened to be close by the central committee room in Bowl Alley Lane at the time.

51,063. Do you know whether the practice of taking rooms as a means of securing the vote of the owner was resorted to in Lowgate district?—No, I do not. As far as my recollection goes, I should think not, at that time.

51,064. Was it a numerous committee?—No, I think not. The truth is, at those times I believe it is the general practice to avail yourself of services or good wishes of any one who offer themselves, without having a set committee.

51,065. Do you know how much of the expense came to the Lowgate ward?—No, I did not.

51,066. Within any reasonable limits, could you not say?—No; I have not the least knowledge of it.

51,067. Have you any knowledge of what the gross expense of the election cost?—No; I have never heard.

51,068. Had you any previous acquaintance with Sir John Hanmer or Sir Walter James, previous to 1841?—One was the sitting member, and therefore I knew him. The late Mr. Barkworth and myself were deputed by the Conservative party to go to London.

51,069. Sir Walter James, although the sitting member, had no connexion with Hull, I believe?—He had not.

51,070. You went with Mr. Barkworth to London?—Yes.

51,071. You applied to some influential parties there?—We made several inquiries.

51,072. As last were you introduced to Sir John Hanmer?—I think Sir John Hanmer's name was mentioned to us, and we waited upon him at his hotel in Hanover Square, I think.

51,073. What conversation passed between you and him upon the subject of the expenses of the election?—None whatever, that I am aware of. Mr. Barkworth was the principal gentleman on that occasion; but I think nothing was mentioned relative to the expenses, that I can recollect. Doubtless something would be, but I do not recollect.

51,074. You do not remember what?—No; nothing of the kind.

51,075. Was anything said to him with respect to the practice that had unfortunately prevailed in Hull previously?—Not that I am aware of.

51,076. Of course you were aware, at the previous election, one of the members was unseated on a petition complaining of bribery?—Mr. Wilberforce was unseated on his qualification.

51,077. But the other member was seated solely on account of the bribery; that alone would have made it a void election (the non-qualification); it would not have seated the other?—I believe, as far as I have been told, it was a sort of compromise between the parties in London.

51,078. There were charges of bribery which were substantiated; and the committee reported that bribery had extensively prevailed. It was a scrutiny, and seventy names were struck off for bribery?—I do not recollect the circumstance.

51,079. The complaints were of many hundreds?—There was a very great excitement prevailed at the time in the town.

51,080. I want to know whether you brought to Sir John Hanmer's attention a circumstance which had so recently prevailed in Hull?—No; I have no recollection of anything of the kind.

51,081. You had nothing to do with any financial arrangements?—No, not at all.

51,082. Nor received any money at all?—I am not aware that one single shilling passed through my hands on that occasion.

51,083. Were there any subscriptions?—I think there was a subscription.

51,084. Have you never heard how much the whole expense of the contest came to?—No.

51,085. Have you ever heard what the whole number of runners employed on behalf of Hanmer and James was?—No. I may say it was considered to have been an expensive election at the time; but I know nothing more than that.

51,086. Did you hear that the accounts were not liquidated for a considerable period afterwards?—No, I did not.

51,087. Were you not a member not merely of the district, but of a general committee?—I was ex-officio a member of the central committee.

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

51,088. That is the blue practice, that every district chairman is a member of the central committee?—I do not know it is any particular practice. I believe it has been considered desirable that such should be the case.

51,089. In 1847, did you take any interest beyond that of voting?—Yes; I seconded the nomination of Mr. Baines.

51,090. And voted for him?—Yes.

51,091. And you voted for Mr. Brown also?—I think I did.

51,092. Were you a member of Mr. Baines's committee?—No, I think not; but on the polling day, I, at the request of Mr. Bright, sat with him in one of the committee rooms, to check off the returns which were brought in by the runners from the various polling booths.

51,093. Called the check sheets?—To check off in the alphabetical books by the check sheets all who had voted; that the others who had not voted might be applied to to go to the poll.

51,094. Is that all you know of 1847?—Yes.

51,095. You had nothing to do with managing the details?—None.

51,096. Did you sign the requisition to Mr. Baines?—I think it was very likely.

51,097. Did you hear that it was numerously signed?—I believe it was.

51,098. It was said to be signed by upwards of a clear majority of the whole constituency?—I cannot say that. I believe it was numerously signed, or else I think Mr. Baines would not have listened to it.

51,099. In 1852 I believe you were a chairman?—I was.

51,100. For Messrs. Bramley Moore and Butler?—I was.

51,101. And voted for them?—I voted for them.

51,102. Chairman of the central or general committee?—Yes.

51,103. Do you know anything of how Mr. Moore became a candidate?—About the middle of February, when an election was likely, and was spoken of, the blue party in Hull wished to have a candidate, and Mr. Bramley Moore's name was mentioned, as being a person likely to suit us in his political views, and on account of his mercantile knowledge.

51,104. He was named in this town?—He was named, I think, in answer to some letters which had been written either to Liverpool or London, making general inquiries.

51,105. Can you tell who it was that first resolved on Mr. Moore?—No, I cannot.

51,106. In consequence of that, did you go to Liverpool?—In consequence of that, I was requested by the blue party to write to Mr. Bramley Moore for an exposition of his political sentiments. These were acceptable, and it was arranged that two other gentlemen and myself should meet him.

51,107. Who were they?—Mr. Joseph Walker Pease and Mr. John Barkworth; that we should meet Mr. Moore at Normanton.

51,108. Had there been any requisition to him at that time, or was it in consequence of that meeting a requisition was got up?—It was in consequence of the meeting the requisition was got up.

51,109. You went to meet him?—Yes.

51,110. And saw Mr. Moore?—We saw Mr. Moore at Normanton.

51,111. Will you tell us what took place between you and him?—We had a long conversation with respect to his political views. The result was, that we considered he was an acceptable candidate for the town. The expense was then spoken of, and it was agreed between us that the maximum sum which Mr. Moore should be called upon to pay should be 1,200*l.*

51,112. How did this communication begin upon the subject of the expense; who began; it you or he?—I cannot tell you that. I should think that very likely he would ask the question.

51,113. In answer to that, did he seem to be aware that Hull was an expensive place?—No.

51,114. What was told him?—The sum that was named at the time was considered to be amply sufficient, because we were then hoping that a contest might be avoided. It was our anxious wish that such should have been the case, and although 1,200*l.* was named as the maxinum sum which Mr. Moore was to be called on to pay or be liable to pay, it was clearly understood that that was not necessarily to be expended.

51,115. Was anything said that the expenses would not exceed 1,200*l.* should a contest take place?—It was stated to him, that if a contest did take place that he should not be called on to pay anything more than that sum.

51,116. Was anything said as to the expenses, that though he was not to be called on to pay them, yet they would probably exceed the 1,200*l.* in the event of a contest?—It was stated, if any further expense was incurred than that, in consequence of a contest, it would have to be made up by the parties here.

51,117. Would he understand from that that if a contest did take place the 1,200*l.* would considerably be exceeded?—I do not think the question was named. What he had to take care of was, that he was not called on to pay any more then that sum.

51,118. He seemed to be more careful that he should not pay it, than where the deficiency came from?—I do not think it was at all alluded to.

51,119. It was called to his attention that the expenses might be more than twice 1,200*l.*?—No; it was called to his attention that in case of a contest it was very likely and certain that the expense then would exceed the 1,200*l.*; but we were not then sure whether we might have another candidate to contribute towards the expenses or not.

51,120. Did he appear to be aware of the practices which had prevailed on previous occasions?—No.

51,121. Was anything said to him upon the subject?—No. We wished at that time, if possible, to manage the election without having recourse to any practices of that nature.

51,122. What I want to know is, whether you ascertained that he was in full possession of the history of the events that had taken place in Hull, or did he enter into the contest blindfolded; did you allow him to enter into this contest blindfolded, and wholly unaware of the system that had prevailed in Hull?—It was my earnest wish to have nothing to do with the setting down of runners.

51,123. What I want to know is this: did you give Mr. Moore an opportunity of considering the whole of the circumstances which usually attended Hull elections?—No; I cannot recollect that anything was ever mentioned relative to the practice of runners, or anything of the kind.

51,124. As far as you are aware, do you think that Mr. Moore rushed blindfold into it?—I am not aware anything was mentioned to Mr. Moore as to how the election was to be carried on.

51,125. Or had been?—No, I think not; nothing relative to the general practices, because we had hoped, and it was our full intention, had we been permitted to do so, to carry on this election in a very different manner.

51,126. Do you not think he was entitled to pronounce some judgment also, as the most interested party; not afterwards being to be petitioned against, and to lose his seat?—It was the very purpose of avoiding a petition that we had.

51,127. Did you give him an opportunity, as the most interested person of the whole; because he might say, why, gentlemen, if you had told me anything of this I would not have run the contest?—I am not aware that anything of the kind was said. Our first interview was a very short one.

51,128. Was any allusion being made to the bribery that was likely to prevail?—No. I recollect after a time writing to Mr. Moore.

51,129. Did you conclude with him upon this occasion that he should be a candidate?—I think not, exactly.

51,130. Before he had concluded?—Before he had concluded, I think he expressed a wish that the requisition which had been signed should be sent to him, that he might judge of the probable chance of success by the number of signatures, and then, when that was done, it became the foundation of the expense; at least it had been stated on our first interview what the maximum expense on his part should be. I think that it was made the subject of correspondence afterwards, and amongst the very few letters which I have kept on the subject there is one from him touching that; it is dated the 6th of April. (The letter was read.)

51,131. You mentioned that the election was in point of fact conducted in a very different mode from that which you intended and wished it to have been?—I believe it was, eventually.

51,132. In what respect was the matter different?—The expense which we had hoped and believed might have been incurred only was greatly exceeded.

51,133. That is a mere pounds, shillings, and pence consideration. Take a rather more extensive view of it. As a question of purity or impurity, was it carried on in a manner different from what was expected, with regard to the legitimate expenses, in order to prevent a question afterwards?—With respect to the employment of more runners and messengers than we had calculated upon in the first instance.

51,134. How did it become necessary that there should be so many more runners employed, in your judgment?—As far as my judgment goes, the orange party broke faith with us in the agreement which Mr. Galloway had made with Mr. Wells, as to the number of men who were to be employed, and when that was done the chairman and deputy chairmen of every district on the blue side found that their men were running from them in all directions.

51,135. Does it come to this, that you fancied they were resorting to an excessive number of runners on the orange side, and you determined to counteract that by doing the same thing?—I imagine so.

51,136. Now the answer to that letter led to a further explanation on the subject of expenses?—I think it must have done so, because there was a letter from him on a subsequent day.

51,137. You do not recollect the contents of the letter?—No; I kept no copy, except stating it was my earnest wish and would be my endeavour to prevent anything being done to make the election void, or give further trouble afterwards. (A letter dated 24th April was read.)

51,138. Upon the 24th of April Mr. Moore agreed to stand upon the terms of being at the expense of 1,200*l.* and no more, and that the deficiency was to be made up by the party in Hull?—Yes.

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

51,139. And he was aware that it was probable there would be a deficiency?—No, not at that time?—I was not aware of a second orange candidate being fixed upon, and we had hoped there would not.

51,140. At that time you did not anticipate a contest at all?—We did rather anticipate one, because it was stated very likely the orange party would not be satisfied without a contest; that whatever Mr. Clay's friends wished for, there was another party who were bent on having a contest, if possible.

51,141. Did you keep a copy of the letter you wrote in the meantime?—No, I did not.

51,142. It was distinctly drawn to his attention that there might be a deficiency?—That in case of a contest it was more than probable that sum would be exceeded.

51,143. Did he ask for any explanation of that?—No; I am not aware that he did.

51,144. Judging from the letter, it must have made some allusion to bribery?—The only allusion I can charge my memory with having made was, as far as it could be prevented it should be prevented, and we would not be privy to anything of the kind.

51,145. When, if ever (as a man of experience), it must be exceeded, to win the election?—If the election had been carried on on the same expensive principle as some other elections that had previously occurred in Hull.

51,146. It would include the payment of runners and all the old system?—Yes.

51,147. You have heard, for instance, that Mr. Brown spent 3,000*l.* in three days?—I heard so.

51,148. I dare say you know there is a party that is not so particular in their politics, some of whom vote orange and some blue, according as they are paid, and are always anxious for a contest?—Yes.

51,149. Probably you are aware that the contest in 1847 had nothing whatever to do with politics, but a mere determination to have a contest at all hazards, for the sake of a contest?—I have heard so.

51,150. They consist of an equal number of blue and orange?—The deputation at that time consisted of persons of the blue party who were dissatisfied with the politics of both Mr. Baines and Mr. Clay, and I believe those who accompanied them were very dissatisfied that there was not to be an expenditure.

51,151. That would lead you to believe that probably a contest would take place on the last occasion, and an expenditure too, if it could be managed?—We had hoped to have avoided it, and tried very hard to bring it to pass.

51,152. When was Mr. Moore's attention first drawn to the practices of former elections?—I am not aware that his attention was drawn to it at any time.

51,153. Do you think his committee kept him blindfolded to the last moment?—I do not think that he ever inquired. I do not think it was ever made a subject of conversation between us.

51,154. Still, were there any pains taken to keep it a secret?—I am not aware that there was.

51,155. Was he ever warned of the danger that he was running?—No; not that I am aware of.

51,156. When was the committee formed, do you remember? It had nothing to do with Mr. Butler's coming down?—The committee was a joint one.

51,157. It had nothing to do with Mr. Butler's coming?—I did not go to London.

51,158. You know that the deputation concluded with him, and approved of it?—Yes.

51,159. When the joint committee was formed?—The deputation which went to London was appointed, I believe, by the general body of the blues.

51,160. When was that book (C C) prepared?—It was prepared immediately after the election was over and finished, and the payments made.

51,161. How soon? I think it is dated the month of April 1853?—It was when I received the balance of 71*l.*

51,162. "April 1853;" does that merely apply to that time?—It merely applies to that time.

51,163. When did you commence making that book?—I commenced making it as soon as the election was finished.

51,164. That particular book?—This particular book I compiled from the various loose memoranda I had in my counting-house.

51,165. Where are they?—They were all destroyed as soon as the cash book was made up.

51,166. How soon after the election?—Some time in 1852.

51,167. Was it before or after the petition was talked of?—I cannot say whether it was prepared before or after the petition was talked of; but it was certainly before the commission was appointed or talked of.

51,168. Before the petition was lodged?—No; I should think it was afterwards.

51,169. Did you destroy the papers after the petition to Parliament was lodged?—The papers I have destroyed were a variety of loose memoranda I had put down my payments on.

51,170. The tradesmen's bills?—No; they are all sent in to you, as far as I know.

51,171. The lists of the pay sheets; where are they?—All that I had to do with the pay sheets was to give them to Mr. Harris on the Saturday afternoon.

51,172. Some of those have been destroyed?—Yes. When I made up my cash account, I did not wish the book should entirely depend on myself, though I was perfectly aware of the correctness of the entries, and of the payments which had been made; my cash balanced exactly; but I wished the account to be audited as far as the sums which I paid went. I gave the whole bundle of loose papers to Mr. Henry Barkworth, begging that he would audit my book, if he could.

51,173. That book you have there; (C C)?—This book.

51,174. Did he do so?—I believe he did.

51,175. He told you that he had done so, did he; that is, to compare the various items?—To compare the sums which were entered.

51,176. Did you say anything about the papers when he had done the audit?—I said, I believe you will find every one entered all right; the papers are of no use to anybody, and you may destroy them.

51,177. When was it that you gave him the papers to be audited?—A good many months ago.

51,178. Was it before or after the petition was lodged?—After the petition was lodged.

51,179. Were they destroyed by Mr. Barkworth?—I believe they were.

51,180. Would those papers which you speak of, if they had not been destroyed, correspond with those entries?—I have no doubt they would.

51,181. They supplied the details of those totals?—Not entirely. I should fancy that they would, because I made up my book, and kept the cash transactions of the election entirely separate from any cash accounts of my own, and when I had paid the whole, and every claim had come in that was due on account of the election, I wished merely to have a book to show the different expenditure under the different heads, and I thought there was no necessity to keep a bundle of loose papers, except the tradesmen's accounts, which went in a small compass, and those I kept.

51,182. Small district minute books were destroyed?—I am not aware of that.

51,183. Did you give all the tradesmen's bills?—I gave all the tradesmen's bills, as far as I had them, to Mr. Shaen.

51,184. To Mr. Barkworth, was my question?—No, I did not.

51,185. How could he audit them without?—Because the papers I gave to him were the weekly pay sheets and other matters of that description, which were scribbled over in a very indistinct and confused manner.

51,186. The pay sheets would show the number of runners that were employed at the time, and the time when they were employed?—Some of them might.

51,187. Do they show the whole amounts entered there, or are there some books not included in those papers?—I imagine that they would not show the whole, because this book contains an account of every farthing that was paid for every purpose connected with the election.

51,188. Whether entered in those pay sheets in form or not?—Yes.

51,189. Are you quite certain about that?—I am not aware that any person but myself paid a farthing on account of the election; the money came into my hands, and I disbursed it, and kept the account of it.

51,190. Did you also receive the money?—I did.

51,191. Did you receive from the district committees all the accounts and pay sheets from each district committee?—No.

51,192. What was the course?—I believe the general plan was that the district chairmen, or the clerks of the various districts, took an account of their weekly expenditure to the central committee, and my office being near the central committee I was very often there, to be sent for, when wanted; but on Saturday afternoon Mr. Harris generally brought down these lists, and said, I want so much money for these various districts, which I gave to him.

51,193. After the election was over?—No; before the election.

51,194. I observe your answer is limited to that. I want to know what took place after the election was over. Were they all brought to you when the district committees were broken up?—Do you mean the books and various memoranda?

51,195. Yes?—No; I never saw them.

51,196. Were they not amongst those you gave to young Mr. Barkworth?—No; I believe that the books connected with the various districts, were either left to the mercy of anybody at the various districts when the election was lost, or else that they were brought to the central committee room, and put upon the table there; and what became of them I do not know. I presume that Mr. Wells took them.

51,197. It is the weekly pay sheets we want to know about. Were they brought to you from the central office, after the election was over?—No.

51,198. From what did you make up your book?—They were lodged with me week by week, after I had given Mr. Harris the money.

51,199. You gave to Mr. Harris a gross sum, without examining the details he disbursed amongst the different parties?—He sent to each district chairman, or vice-chairman the the sum of money required.

51,200. Were those weekly pay sheets you speak of the claims that were sent in to you every week by the district chairman?—Yes.

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

51,201. They were not such papers as this, with all the names (handing a paper)?—Oh no; they were nothing so regular as that; some, I dare say, did contain the particulars of how many men had been employed, and some did not.

51,202. They might be weekly pay sheets, but they were not so well done as that?—I think they were very irregular in the manner in which they were drawn up, I am sure.

51,203. You examined nothing?—I believe that Mr. Harris and the various chairmen have checked them over together; and all I looked to was to give Mr. Harris the sum of money required.

51,204. It was something more than a mere ticket, with a sum upon it?—Oh yes; there was more than that.

51,205. Were there names of the different messengers and people employed?—I think, in some instances, there were.

51,206. Some were, and some not?—I think so.

51,207. Did some of the district committees keep their accounts as that one is done; some very irregularly?—Yes; it very much depended on the kind of clerk they had to keep them.

51,208. One was a clerk of the name of Todd, who was arrested afterwards. Was he a person who did the business pretty regularly?—I do not know; I do not know the names of one of the clerks at any of the elections, except Todd. I have heard his name mentioned as belonging to Holderness district.

51,209. Mr. Harris has told us that some of the district chairmen sent in, on half sheets of paper, claims for their weekly pay; that is, what he might call claims, without any names?—If they wanted so much money, it is very possible they might send up.

51,210. In such a case did you ask to have a voucher, on which you would have paid?—I should think they would come in afterwards, when the account was paid the following week.

51,211. Then you would have all the vouchers?—These would be vouchers of themselves; it would be that such a sum had been demanded by the chairman.

51,212. Then they would not show how it was expended?—No. As to the vouchers, there would be none. If a man was paid his wages, he would sign for it.

51,213. Some pay sheets perfect, and some imperfect?—Yes, I think that was the case; I have no doubt of it.

51,214. They all profess to be made up; these forms are very imperfect?—Yes.

51,215. Now the gross amount that appears to have been expended is 3,600*l.* odd?—Yes.

51,216. Then was the deficiency made up by private subscriptions?—Yes.

51,217. Have you got a list of those subscriptions?—I have not.

51,218. Was the subscription exclusively got up in Hull?—Yes, it was.

51,219. Was there any list of subscribers made?—No regular list. I think it was stated at the time of the list, from time to time, who would be willing to contribute, and a memorandum was made, and he was applied to for the money.

51,220. When did you begin making out the subscription list?—Oh, soon.

51,221. Before the contest, or after?—Before the contest; when a contest was spoken of as being certain.

51,222. How long before the election was it?—That I can scarcely recollect; but the subscription list must have been going on, because Mr. Bramley Moore, in his letter of the 24th of April, says,—"You have done very well to get so much subscribed, and the more you get the more likelihood there is of diminishing individual risk."

51,223. Then the subscription was commenced as early as April?—Yes; it was commenced, because we had an idea, although it proved erroneous, that if it were known we were provided with money it might be the means of preventing a contest.

51,224. Did you advertise that you were receiving subscriptions?—No; but it was pretty well known; such things are generally known.

51,225. Between 1,100*l.* and 1,200*l.* was the subscription, was it not?—Yes, it was close upon that; the exact amount was 1,166*l.*

51,226. That is the amount that was paid?—That is the amount that was paid to me.

51,227. Was there more than that subscribed?—Not that I am aware of.

51,228. Did you get the whole 100 per cent. of your subscriptions?—Yes, we did.

51,229. What was the largest sum paid by anybody; I do not ask who he was; 100*l.*?—Yes, I believe more than that; I think it was 200*l.*

51,230. Was that from a gentleman connected with the town?—Yes.

51,231. You knew, did you not, the names of all the principal subscribers?—Yes, at the time I did.

51,232. You were satisfied they were all monies of people connected, more or less, with the town?—Every one.

51,233. Was it know that the arrangement was that each candidate was to pay 1,200*l.*?—I believe it was.

51,234. And the subscribers?—At the time, I may say, when a contest appeared inevitable, the blue party were quite willing,—hoping and believing that the expenses would not come to so large a sum of money,—they were willing to have taken a second candidate with 600*l.* or 700*l.*

51,235. What I ask you is this, whether the parties who subscribed knew it was the case that it was not to be paid till 2,400*l.* had been subscribed by the candidates?—I believe that was the understanding.

51,236. Were you a pretty frequent attendant at the committee?—Yes; I was backwards and forwards, I dare say, as often as any.

51,237. How soon was the practice resorted to, of setting down names at the committees?—There were no names set down at the central committee that I am aware of; none at all.

51,238. What would they have done were they sent to the central committee?—There was no application made to the central committee, except one day, when somebody, I do not know who he was,—a message came that a man had a great many names at his disposal, if we would put them down as runners. I sent a message back, that I would have nothing to do with any of them.

51,239. Who is that?—I cannot tell you; I never saw him.

51,240. Do you remember his name?—No; I do not know the name.

51,241. Were there several communications of that sort made?—There was only one, to the best of my recollection, at the central committee.

51,242. It was the constant subject of discussion, the increase of the staff of the committee?—Very frequently.

51,243. Is that one addressed to yourself, from one of the districts (handing a letter)?—Yes.

51,244. Just read it, if you please?—"I have to recommend Thomas Newton, 4511, to be put upon the list, and employed as a runner as soon as possible; he is a brother of Henry, 4508; voted for us. He will call upon you on Monday morning."

51,245. You would understand that was an intimation to put him down, to make really sure?—Exactly so; but I am not aware that he was put down.

51,246. What would be done on such an application as that? It is addressed to yourself?—I cannot recollect; I have had a hundred notes addressed to me that I never saw.

51,247. What would be the course of business?—I should think this would be adopted in a case of that kind; it would be to ascertain where Newton lived, and refer him to the chairman of the district where his residence was.

51,248. In order that the chairman might satisfy him?—I suppose so.

51,249. That would be the only object of referring him to the district committee, and that was to secure him; is not that so?—If the chairman had employment for him he would give it him; if not he might give what answer he liked.

51,250. You did not send him to Mr. Wilde?—I did not know Mr. Wilde. I know him now. I did not know that I ever saw him.

51,251. You did not send him there?—I am not aware I sent any person.

51,252. Why?—My duties were of a different discription.

51,253. It would not be a very marvellous result, would it; he supposing that, by some mistake, he did not get set down as a blue runner; it would not be a very surprising result?—If he had applied as a blue voter, and had not his wishes gratified, he would perhaps go somewhere else.

51,254. Was it a frequent subject of discussion, in your presence, the necessity of increasing the staff, in order to provide employment for the men, towards the conclusion of the canvassing; during the latter part of it?—Yes, it was.

51,255. Entries almost daily?—It was the practice for the chairmen and deputy chairmen of the districts to attend at the central committee room every day at two o'clock, when these matters were the subject of discussion; but it was not very frequently mentioned at those meetings. I might have been employed about something else.

51,256. You would learn from your colleagues that such discussions were raised?—Yes.

51,257. Did you express any opinion yourself, as to the necessity of increasing the staff?—No. My opinion was that it should not be acquiesced in, if it could be possibly avoided.

51,258. That was leaving it rather open?—So it was.

51,259. Aye or no, when that actual resolution, which appears to have been on the 30th, was come to, did you express any opinion upon the subject?—I do not recollect that I did, or that it was mentioned; it might have been.

51,260. You were aware, on the 30th of June, it was resolved that a large increase should take place in the staff?—I believe, when it was found that the orange party had adopted the methods which were stated to exist, our chairman and deputy chairman took the law into their own hands, and did as they pleased.

51,261. Still it appears there was a resolution from the central committee authorizing it?—It might have been. I dare say it was, but I do not recollect.

51,262. Your explanation is that at the time, we have heard before, several of you were under the impression that the orange party had broken faith with you, and you resolved upon that?—I certainly did not approve of it. I had a note from Mr. Blundell, the chairman of the orange party, in which he makes allusion to my complaint to him about faith having been broken by the party, and that he would endeavour to explain it to me when he saw me.

51,263. Complaints were made, were there not, on both sides?—I believe so. The note from Mr. Blundell proves that I complained to him first, before he complained to me.

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

51,264. What would you have done on an application such as this: 18th of June, a letter addressed to you, signed W. Wright, secretary, of East Sculcoats :—"I beg to enclose a list of applicants for employment in this district; the majority of them have applied," and a variety of other particulars of no matter of importance; what would be the course to pursue in such a case as that? Do you remember how many came with that?—No, I have no recollection of the kind, for though chairman of the committee I was very frequently absent. I had a vice-chairman who took on himself to give any answers as he might think best, and under such circumstances I have no recollection whatever of the letter you have just read.

51,265. What would you have done with such a letter as this, signed by Mr. Brodrick: "Send an order for cards to John Crewbold, Salthouse Lane; I am just going to solicit him for his vote, and it is of use?"—The applications for cards were numerous.

51,266. You would not run the risk of losing a vote for such a thing as that, supposing it was to be obtained by an order for cards?—It is very likely it would be referred to the committee who had the management of the printing department, and if they found by reference to these books that any orders had been given to Newbold or anybody else, they would say he had had his share, and he might do without.

51,267. I see, the corresponding day, an order for cards; would that be in the ordinary course of business? There is a letter from the chairman of a district, saying it would be no use canvassing him without an order, and on the corresponding day an order is given. Is that in due course?—I should suppose it is; I really do not know.

51,268. I see one order for 10,000; he must have been an expensive gentleman?—Do you mean from the blues?

51,269. Yes?—"Tinkler:" those were merely name cards for the candidates to take in their pockets; private cards, with their own names, and nothing more.

51,270. Do you know how the Barton voters were paid?—No.

51,271. Or the Hedon voters?—No.

51,272. Or any of the other voters; had you anything to do with making the arrangement how they should be paid?—I had not.

51,273. Would that be Mr. Henry Barkworth's department?—I believe, after the election, Mr. Henry Barkworth consented to take the management of paying the out-voters' expenses.

51,274. Now, a letter has been read about the Lowerys; do you know anything about them?—No; I do not know the name.

51,275. There is another one, Mr. Trottie, whose name has been mentioned; a letter addressed to your committee: "Be so good as to give an order for irons for colour staffs; he is a burgess in this ward, and has promised to go and vote if employed." Do you know what was done on that?—No. I may say, all those details did not come so exactly, at least not at all, within my department.

51,276. In whose department would they come?—These are all addressed to the central committee.

51,277. What would be the course of business on receiving such a letter as this?—Very probably an order would go to the man for the colour irons.

51,278. Would not all these people be put in this list?—All those who made applications.

51,279. At the central committee something would be done with them. and put on some list?—I should think it very likely, if any names were taken down at all, it would be in the district where he resided.

51,280. These notes that had been addressed to the committee would not be sent to the central committee without some meaning?—I presume the chairman and deputy chairman of the district would ascertain who were likely to be in their interest and in their favour, and seeing the name without an order from the central committee, it involves the necessity of sending this request to the central committee.

51,281. I observe amongst a great quantity of these papers a little crossing like the crossing of a banker's cheque; just two lines; does that mean that the applications have been before you?—Yes; it is the only mode of showing that they have been before you.

51,282. There are one or two instances with the letters "entd."?—I cannot account for the meaning of that.

51,283. Was there any letter book in which these were entered?—No, not that I am aware of.

51,284. Was that cross made by you?—I was scarcely in the central committee room more than an hour and a half, I dare say; I was backwards and forwards.

51,285. Did Mr. Harris frequently come to you?—My counting-house happened to be near the room engaged, or which had been engaged on former occasions, as the central committee room, and the consequence was that I often indulged myself by going to my own office instead of the central committee room.

51,286. Look at the figures No. 3 and 4, opposite you; there is a mark across that?—I do not know that.

51,287. Look at No. 28?—I should think that some party at Wisbeach might have written to say there was some one there, for a canvasser to go over. Perhaps I should answer, this would receive every attention. When I received various applications of people who wanted to be employed, and who wanted cards and staves, and those things, it was an endeavour, as far as could be, to carry out the wishes of those persons; not always.

51,288. As far as could be?—I should say a check was wished to be put on all these requests, as far as we could do it.

51,289. You did not succeed?—In some instances these requests could be granted, and some not.

51,290. Look at No. 28; can you tell what was done on that?—"Thomas Grills is arrived from London, where he has a situation as an organ builder; he is on the register and will vote for the party who pays his expenses; he is to be found at Francis Street West, and is inclined to Conservation."

51,291. Do you know whether any endeavour was made to secure his vote?—I do not.

51,292. When you knew he voted "Clay and Goderich," would that be accounted for by his not getting his expenses from your party?—From my own idea, I should think he had been canvassed by the other party, who had taken him away and had promised to him that he should be paid his expenses, or that if the blue party had gone to him, and he was dissatisfied with the amount offered, the other party may have offered him something more, and he has gone and voted accordingly.

51,293. Did you pay Wells, the lawyer?—Yes.

51,294. He was to receive 250*l.*?—He was; this book is the analysis of Mr. Wells' account, I think.

51,295. We have endeavoured to reconcile it with the accounts sent in, but cannot. Here they are. (They were handed to the witness.)?—This is the actual amount that was paid.

51,296. That is a gross sum of 250*l.*?—The gross sum of 250*l.* for his professional services, but that was exclusive of the extra employment of clerks, or of money out of pocket.

51,297. Did Mr. Wells ever furnish to you a regular debtor and creditor account?—The only account which Mr. Wells furnished me with, is what I gave to Mr. Sheen.

51,298. Just attend to this: He writes to you a letter, dated the 21st January, 1853, —"Pursuant to your request * * * * as per agreement for 250*l.*" Did he ever send in any accounts which carried out that balance, because it is not among the papers? Just look for it?—I dare say Mr. Wells will be able to explain his own accounts.

51,299. There is no such sum here. Is there any set of sums together which make it? Do you recollect when you received that letter from him, whether it contained a debtor and creditor account, which is now missing?—No, it did not; the note came as it is. There was a balance remaining due to Mr. Wells, and I had these accounts by me. I wished to have a clear understanding with him, as to what the actual balance was which was due to him, to settle the amount of his account.

51,300. Can you tell how that sum is arrived at?—I really cannot tell from these papers at present; but I have no doubt that before I paid him the money, I settled the account.

51,301. Can you tell us how much money altogether went through his hands?—Yes.

51,302. How much?—I think that would be the amount (refering to one of the accounts).

51,303. It is a great deal more than that, according to your book?—I paid Mr. Wells nothing except his own accounts, unless it was for a specific purpose.

51,304. What I want to know is, how much money altogether passed through Mr. Wells' hands?—That I cannot tell.

51,305. Can you tell me the different sums in which it was paid?—Yes, the first payment that I made to him was for register books and other matters, 22*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*

51,306. You first gave him 22*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*?—Yes.

51,307. That was one sum you paid him?—And on the 9th of July I paid him 150*l.*, for the purpose of paying, as I have it stated here, his eight clerks, agents, and other expenses connected with the polling booths, to be accounted for by him hereafter.

51,308. You paid him before that some money, or some money before that went through his hands? are you sure you have the right day there?—Yes, the 9th of July; he wanted money to pay the various clerks and such like.

51,309. The 9th of July, was what sum?—£150.

51,310. What is the date on which you paid Mr. Wells the 22*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*?—It was the 26th of June.

51,311. Paid by cheque?—No, I paid him in money, in notes.

51,312. The 150*l.*, was that by cheque, or in cash?—All by cash; I paid no cheques to anybody.

51,313. The next sum?—On the 22d of July, Mr. Wells, on account of agencies and other payments to be accounted for hereafter, 100*l.*

51,314. The next?—On the 31st of July, Mr. Wells, on account of his professional services, and various disbursements to be accounted for by him, 200*l.*, that is the 31st of July.

51,315. The next?—On the 17th of August 100*l.*, and in January, 1853, the balance of 88*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*

51,316. Is that all?—Yes.

51,317. That is 661*l.*, and this only seems to give credit for 523*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*; there is a difference of 100*l.*?—In my book I keep the payments to the professional gentlemen

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

separate, and Mr. Wells, I see here, was 250*l.* in the analysis of the accounts, and there are further sums of 388*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*

51,318. For what?—That is the book. (It was handed to the Commissioners.)

51,319 The analysis and the detail do not correspond; he gives credit for some other sums than those you have mentioned.—He gives credit now here for a sum of 20*l.* which from the initials, I presume were paid to the Minerva committee room, and that amount for that committee room, along with any other, is in the account of the weekly payments.

51,320. For instance we will take that; besides those sums you have mentioned of 661*l.*, did you pay Mr. Tilson's bills?—No, Mr. Wells paid Mr. Tilson's bill.

51,321. Did he pay it out of those 661*l.*?—Yes.

51,322. You paid other money to Mr. Wells to make up the 661*l.*?—There was a sum of 50*l.*, and then another sum of 20*l.*

51,323. Can we get at it in this way: how much is the gross sum of money altogether that has passed through his hands? there is the money that he paid to the Minerva committee room?—It was merely given to him to hand over, not to pass through his books.

51,324. Still, in point of fact, it did pass through his hands?—Yes.

51,325. He took credit in his evidence for having paid those sums?—He gives me credit for them, and charges them here.

51,326. Was Mr. Wells to be paid 250*l.* net, for his own and the expenses of his clerks besides?—If he employed any extra clerks.

51,327. For his own clerks?—Not his own clerks; it was understood if they came to work at night at the several committee rooms, they were to be paid overtime or something of that kind, and I think something was paid for overtime.

51,328. Those monies that you paid to Mr. Bannister in this book (referring to the book marked C. C.), where are they entered in your book?—If you will allow me, I will find them. (The book was handed to the witness.) Here is one 30*l.*, "Advance on account of extra committee room, three weeks." The room at Southend.

51,329. Now the other 50*l.* that is mentioned in Mr. Wells' account?—It would be in the weekly payments, under the head of the weekly payments.

51,330. Did you hear of that scheme for enlarging the staff? Was that drawn to your attention at the time by Mr. Wells?—It was named certainly before the polling day.

51,331. And talked of in the committee?—Yes frequently, I think.

51,332. What is your opinion of it?—My opinion was that, although it might have been, and was, I have no doubt, intended for the sole purpose of obtaining speedy and accurate information of the state of the poll, and to enable us to ascertain who had voted and who had not. It was on such a large scale that I confess I could not comprehend it myself.

51,333. You summed up the whole by saying it was all humbug?—That was my own private opinion; it was not for the public ear.

51,334. Take the other phrase you used at the end: you say it was of no use?—I thought it would be of no use, because, as it seemed to involve the employment of a very great number of people, perfect strangers to us, and on whose accuracy we could by no means depend. I do not mean for a moment to suppose it was for any other purpose. I thought it could not be carried out with advantage.

51,335. Did you think it could be carried out for for the ostensible purpose?—I firmly believe Mr. Wells, when he advised that plan, had no other view than to endeavour to work out some extraordinary idea which he had at that time, that he could concentrate everything at this room, that they could instantly send word to the central committee room how matters were going on. I never understood it; and I could not comprehend how it was to be carried out.

51,336. Do you know anybody who did?—Mr. Wells did himself, I dare say.

51,337. What was said about it at the committee at the time?—As far as I recollect, several of those who were present at the time when it was talked of did not understand it, and they thought it could not be carried out.

51,338. Mr. Wells had been urging it on the committee I believe as a scheme for employment? Employment was his specific object?—I think not; and I believe firmly that he had no idea in the world of employing runners for any purpose other than that when he spoke of and invented this plan. I was going to say more than yourselves.

51,339. In point of fact, Mr. Wells was constantly recommending, was he not, employment as his specific against bribery?—I do not recollect Mr. Wells ever being anxious to recommend that.

51,340. It was a mode for avoiding bribery?—As far as I can recollect, Mr. Wells was very anxious along with many other gentlemen of the committee that the expenses should be curtailed rather than increased, and that men should not be employed.

51,341. Still without reference to that, what I want to know is, whether we are agreed that Mr. Wells' scheme for avoiding bribery was to create employment?—No; I am not aware that it was.

51,342. You did not understand that from himself?—Certainly not.

51,343. He did continually talk to you about it, that it was necessary to be cautious?

did he not frequently give the caution ?—I think Mr. Wells would do so as the legal adviser of the committee.

51,344. He did do so ?—Yes; I believe he did.

51,345. Did he not often say you must be cautious not to pay people whom you had not employed ?—I do not recollect having heard him say so; but it is very probable that he would.

51,346. He repeatedly drew your attention to the bribery act ?—No.

51,347. Did he not frame a circular which has been read ?—Mr. Wells sent circulars to the various chairmen and deputy chairmen, begging them not to do anything wrong.

51,348. Did Mr. Wells ever give you his version of the law on the subject of bribery ?—I do not know that he was asked to do so.

51,349. As your legal adviser he might; he says that he did ?—It is very likely he might. If he says so I have no doubt he did so.

51,350. Do you recollect what kind of advice he did give you on the subject ? I am not asking whether it was good law or bad.—No; I do not recollect that the question was ever brought before the committee.

51,351. I will put it to you in another way: Was not this circular of his perfectly consistent with the advice that he gave you on the subject of bribery ?—I do not think that the scheme in itself had any reference to the employment.

51,352. I want to know whether that scheme was not perfectly consistent with the opinion which he entertained of the law of bribery ?—I cannot give an opinion on that point.

51,353. You did not consider it any infraction of the law as he defined it ?—No; I think what we believed was that it could not be carried out.

51,354. His scheme was, he tells us, to employ 478 persons, besides all the various other staff. Did he draw your attention to an Act of Parliament which declares that no person shall be employed except those that were necessary ?—I am not aware that he did; neither am I aware he ever mentioned the number of people that were necessary.

51,355. Here is a letter that he sent from your central committee room, sending these things with it—sending extracts from the bribery act as from the central committee room to the other committee rooms. Appended to it are two sheets from the clauses of the bribery act ? (The papers were handed to the witness.)—Yes; that is his signature.

51,356. You see the clauses of the bribery act, or from some act, at the end of that letter ?—I am sure I did not read them.

51,357. Probably you expected a lawyer should give you some little interpretation of them ?—Yes.

51,358. Still I wish to call your attention to this: Did he direct the attention of the gentlemen of whom he was the legal adviser at the time he formed this notable scheme for you to employ 478 men, that by law you were not allowed to do it ?—I am not aware of it.

51,359. Simply a scheme for disfranchising half the town, bribery or no bribery. That was one of the things he did not tell you ?—No; I was so perfectly dull in comprehending this scheme that I took no trouble in the world to look into it.

51,360. Quite independent of the law of bribery, you would have lost at one step nearly 500 votes, supposing it even not to be bribery. That he never told you, I suppose ?—I am not aware that he did.

51,361. Did you ever hear him mention in the committee room that the scheme involved an actual loss to your borough of 500 votes ?—No.

51,362. He told you that you might employ such runners as were absolutely necessary for the work ?—I dare say he might do so. It was the intention not to pay any one that was not employed.

51,363. This scheme of his was to create employment for 478 persons ?—I do not think the employment was ever thought of at the time: as far as I ever understood the matter, and I believe, as far as any other member of the committee ever understood it, it was for the sole purpose of getting speedy information.

51,364. You answered the chief commissioner it did not strike any of you as a scheme that was consistent with his advice ?—I do not think it was ever thought of as to what the chief commissioner states would have been the result of the matter.

51,365. You did not think of it ?—No; I am sure neither myself nor any one else did.

51,366. You entrusted very much to him ?—On all those points.

51,367. I want to see what the extent of the advice was that he did give you ?—Everything connected with matters of that kind, we should entirely leave them to Mr. Wells.

51,368. Did he mention at the time of the increase of the 108 runners, on the 30th of June, that he had lost those 108 votes independent of the scheme ?—If there had been a scrutiny, I apprehend every man that was paid would be struck off.

51,369. You charge yourself in the first page of that little book in your hand with the receipt of 2,400*l.* ?—Yes.

51,370. Just turn to it: two sums of 1,200*l.* each ?—Yes.

51,371. Did you receive them, in fact ?—I did.

51,372. In what way did you receive those monies ?—I received the 1200*l.* from

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

Mr. Bramley Moore, in Bank of England notes, I think the first or second day that he came down to Hull.

51,373. All at once?—All at once. He had engaged to be liable for that sum, and the understanding was, and I believe it would have been carried out, that he thought the best plan to lodge the money at once, and if the expenditure had fallen short he would have had the balance returned.

51,374. Did you pay it to your banker's, to your private account?—No.

51,375. Where did you keep the money?—At home.

51,376. At your house?—Yes.

51,377. It was in Bank of England notes?—It was.

51,378. Of varying amounts?—Of varying amounts. I forget now what they were.

51,379. Why did you not pay the money into some banking account?—Because I did not think it necesssary. I could take care of it myself; our banks charge a commission for every 100*l.*

51,380. It would not be long in their hands?—The less the necessity for paying the 5*s.* which they charge upon the hundred.

51,381. If the whole 1,200*l.* was not expended, the object was that Mr. Bramley Moore was not to have to pay for the commission?—I kept it distinct from my own monies.

51,382. How much did you receive from Mr. Butler?—I received 200*l.* from Mr. Butler when he first came to Hull; and I think in the following week, or shortly after, Mr. Butler returned to London after having been here a few days, or perhaps a week, and Mr. Moore went home too, and we were requested to send for them again when the other candidates came.

51,383. Confine yourself to Mr. Butler's payment.—I will. When Mr. Butler returned from London the second time I think he brought me the whole 1,000*l.*

51,384. Still due from him?—Yes.

51,385. How did he bring it?—In bank notes.

51,386. Where did you keep that money?—I kept it with the other.

51,387. At your own house?—Yes.

51,388. None of it was ever paid into any banking account?—No.

51,389. Was it any part of your reason that you did not wish it should be known what money was circulated?—No, not at all. I wished to keep a fund of this kind entirely distinct from my own funds and my own business.

51,390. You have before you your papers that you have been examined to—you got from Mr. Wells?—Yes.

51,391. You find amongst them some payments in respect of the clearing houses. You find there a voucher, "Castle Street clearing house clerks, by Robert Ash, £26 6*s.* 6*d.*"?—Yes.

51,392. Do you recollect making that payment to that clearing house?—Yes; I think I gave it to Mr. Wells to hand over to Ash. I am not sure. I well recollect making the payment.

51,393. How does it appear on the face of the voucher—the application of that?—The £26 6*s.* 6*d.*?

51,394. I will draw your attention to it. Does that give the names of four superintendents at 1*l.* 1*s.* each?—Mr. Wells received the money from me, and I charged it in my account.

51,395. I want to know if the vouchers give the names of the four superintendents?—There is no voucher that I can see here.

51,396. Did you have that paper before you (handing a paper to the witness)?—I think it is very probable I might.

51,397. Does that give the names of four superintendents at a guinea each?—Yes, it does.

51,398. Twenty-two clerks at 10*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

51,399. Two doorkeepers at 5*s.* a day?—Yes.

51,400. And thirty-five runners at 5*s.*?—There is 9*l.* 15*s.* for runners and the doorkeepers included.

51,401. That is 26*l.* 6*s.* 6*d*; what is the date of that payment?—By myself do you mean?

51,402. Yes; this clearing house was only established the day before?—It was only an employment I believe during the day of the election, or perhaps, the evening before.

51,403. When did you make the payment of 26*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* in respect of that?—I have it down the 17th of July.

51,404. Do you consider that to have been as regards the conduct of the election a useless payment?—I consider it to have been useless, inasmuch as the system which it was intended to carry out was found impracticable.

51,405. And useless in your judgment, you have said so before?—Yes.

51,406. In your judgment that amount of 26*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* would be a useless expenditure as regards the result of the election?—I think so, because the plan which it was intended to carry out could not be carried out.

51,407. Did you make a payment to a man of the name of Jabez Eden, 22*l.*?—Yes.

51,408. What was that?—For printing.

51,409. Goddard and Lancaster, 60*l.* for stationery?—Yes.

51,410. To the Hull Packet, 95*l.*?—Yes.

51,411. And then 33*l.*?—No, 1*l.* 8*s.*

51,412. Mr. Harris told us of a sum of 5*l.* which was paid for some men, who claimed it as an arrear due to them at Mr. Baines' election—paid by Mr. Barkworth in respect of an arrear at Mr. Baines' election?—Yes.

51,413. Now let me call your attention to this allusion to it in the committee room,—"the candidates must see Cooper's men in Lime Street, Rope yard?"—Yes.

51,414. Do you know if anything was done upon that?—The candidates visited Cooper's rope walk, and canvassed the men, but nothing was done in the way of money that I am aware of, or that I know of.

51,415. Do you know whether it was they saw them before, or after that payment of 5*l.*?—I do not know.

51,416. Did you hear of the claim of 5*l.* that those men made?—I heard these men stated that money was owing to them for the previous election.

51,417. That is all?—I know nothing more than that.

51,418. Was that mentioned in the central committee room?—Not that I am aware of.

51,419. Where did you hear it mentioned?—I cannot tell.

51,420. I thought the committee room would be the more proper place?—It was not, that I am aware of. Whilst I have this book open I see an item of the 7*l.* 11*s.*, for advertisements in the Hull Advertiser. I understood, indeed I saw it in the newspapers, that some allusion had been made to it. Mr. Wells had been asked some questions on Saturday as to why advertisements were not sent to the Advertiser. I can only say I believe the Advertiser had its regular turn of the addresses the same as the other papers.

51,421. The evidence that was given was, a letter was shown to Mr. Wells requesting to have the advertisements, and it was stated that Mr. Wells with his own handwriting, wrote upon it "refused." The reason the question was put to Mr. Wells, it is in your handwriting—the refusal?—I can only suppose that an application had been made to the committee for more than was thought needful.

51,422. It was for advertisements?—That was done, however, because here is a bill of 7*l.* 11*s.* for the advertisements.

51,423. That is the misfortune of our not having the bills, we should have seen it?—It was given into your hands; I considered it a tradesman's bill, and I kept all the tradesmen's bills together.

51,424. You were asked a question as to a man of the name of Grills: I think you will find in Mr. Wells' vouchers that Mr. Tilson paid him 4*l.* 10*s.* on your account in London. Mr. Tilson is one of the persons that Mr. Wells makes a charge for.—Mr. Tilson is Mr. Wells' legal agent in London.

51,425. And I see among his charges there is a payment to Grills of 4*l.* 10*s.*—Yes, it appears by my book that in Mr. Tilson's account they advanced 13*l.* 10*s.* to various outvoters in London.

51,426. Including 4*l.* 10*s.* to this Grills?—I should suppose so. Yes, here is Grills' 4*l.* 10*s.*

51,427. Did Mr. Tilson, as the agent of Mr. Wells, have authority to make that payment as to the amount?—I do not know.

51,428. Who fixed the sum?—I cannot tell you; I never knew that anything had been paid by Mr. Tilson till I got this bill of Mr. Wells.

51,429. You seem to have been the banker of these gentlemen?—Yes, I was.

51,430. You kept the money at your own house?—Yes.

51,431. Did they call on you from time to time at your house during the progress of the election?—No.

51,432. Was either of them ever at your house?—Yes; one day after the canvassing had been finished, I think they just looked in and sat half an hour with me, along with some other gentlemen.

51,433. Was that before or after the monies had been paid in?—It was afterwards.

51,434. It was after you received Mr. Moore's at all events?—And after I had received Mr. Butler's.

51,435. During the time the payments were being made by you, did anything pass between you and Mr. Moore or Mr. Butler with regard to the amounts that were being paid or the diminution of the 1,200*l.*?—No, not one syllable.

51,436. Did they not inquire of you at any time as to how much of the money was gone?—No, never once.

51,437. Neither of them?—Neither of them.

51,438. Did you without any request render any account at all of the progress of the disbursements?—No, never.

51,439. Did you at any time afterwards render them any account whatever of the disbursements?—No.

51,440. Did they make any application as to whether the whole money was spent or not?—No.

51,441. They were to have a return if there was any balance?—They were pretty well aware, when the subscription list had been called for, that their own money had been spent.

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

51,442. Were they aware of the subscription?—They knew there had been a subscription.

51,443. And the amount?—I am not aware they ever knew the exact amount.

51,444. How did they know there had been a subscription?—Because it was understood from the very first there was to be.

51,445. They knew of course, because the agreement was so that the subscription was to have no life until the fund was exhausted, the 2,400*l.*?—Yes.

41,446. Therefore, I ask you whether you are not aware, that they knew during the course of the election that the fund of 2,400*l.* was exhausted?—No; they never asked the question, neither directly or indirectly.

51,447. They knew the subscription was being made?—I presume they were aware of it, because Mr. Bramley Moore said, you have done well to get so much.

51,448. That is alluded to in one of the letters?—Yes.

51,449. Were you the guardian of that also?—I was: I received the whole of the money that was subscribed or paid for the election. I believe I disbursed every shilling that was disbursed for the election, of which this is a faithful account; and I am not aware that there is one shilling owing at the present time to anybody, on any account whatever.

41,450. No doubt you are quite correct. At what time after the election was it you came to the conclusion of all your payments?—As soon as the election was over.

51,451. You have given the day, I believe?—Yes; I got on with the payment of the tradesmen's bills as fast as I could, being anxious to get the thing cleared off.

51,452. Do you know when it was cleared off?—The last payments I made were to the sheriff, and the balance to Mr. Wells and a small bill which had been omitted—a few shillings for a printer.

51,453. Had you to make any return to the subscribers?—No, I had not.

51,454. There was a deficiency of how much?—£71.

51,455. How was that met?—I advanced it. The election expenses were indebted to me for that, until after the petition had been finished. There was a surplus in hand of the money that was subscribed for the prosecution of the petition, and the balance due on account of the election expenses was liquidated out of that balance.

58,456. With regard to the 711*l.*, that is the amount you charge yourself with the receipt of on account of the subscription?—£1,166*l.* I charge myself with.

51,457. In addition to the 2,400*l.*?—Yes, in addition to the 2,400*l.*

51,458. Did you not furnish at some time to those gentlemen, who made this subscription a detailed account of the mode in which it had been expended?—No, never.

51,459. Never?—I was never called on to do so; it was entrusted to me, the money was given to me to be expended in conjunction with the friends about me.

51,460. Does it appear in any way—I will put it in another way to you from that book; or otherwise what part of the expenses the 2,400*l.* was applied to, and what part of the 1,100*l.* was applied to?—No; it all formed one general fund.

51,461. Was any of the 1,100*l.* collected till after the 2,400*l.* was exhausted?—Yes, the whole of it.

51,462. Before the other was exhausted?—I will not be sure, but I will say almost before it was begun to be expended.

51,463. In anticipation of so large a deficiency?—Yes.

51,464. Why was that?—No, not in anticipation; as perhaps you may know it is a more easy matter to have the money in hand, than to have to apply for it afterwards.

51,465. It is a large sum, 1,230*l.* more than had been originally paid?—It was not all collected at once.

51,466. All in hand you said?—I believe it was all in hand.

51,467. Before any disbursement of the other commenced?—No, as the thing progressed.

51,468. There must have been an opinion that that sum extra would be wanted, or something like it?—If we had had 5,000*l.* subscribed for, we would have got it all in, and if there was any to spare we would have returned it pro rata.

51,469. I mean with regard to raising so large a sum in addition to the sum which you anticipated would be enough; the raising so large a sum as that?—I believe it was thought very desirable and the honourable way of proceeding that an equal sum should be subscribed to what the candidates had paid.

51,970. Was there some understanding that that should be done by those who were the friends of the candidates? Was there some understanding amongst the party, who had to support Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler, that a similar sum to that they had deposited should be raised by them?—I believe it was understood that it was very desirable that they should be met in that manner, to show that they were not wished to come here to spend their own money without adequate support.

51,971. And that was communicated to Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—I think it might have been mentioned in the first instance that a subscription would be set on foot.

51,472. To an equal amount that each of them advanced?—No, I think not.

51,473. You said you thought it would be honourable that they should be put on the same footing?—I think so; but that would be only in conversation amongst their supporters in the town.

51,474. It was thought better that that sum should be at once subscribed for and collected?—Yes, it was.

51,475. Did the candidates know how much was going to be subscribed?—I am not aware that they did.

51,476. Was it stated, as to the deficiency, that if there was a deficiency beyond the sum which they were pledged to, how that deficiency was to be met?—It was to be met by subscription amongst the party.

51,477. But it had been provided; therefore I should rather say how it was to be met, in that sense that arrangements had been made for actually providing it?—I do not know they were aware of anything more than that, that it was the intention of the party in Hull to have a subscription for any deficiency above the 2,400*l.*

51,478. Do you not believe that the sum that had been collected, if all was collected before or soon after any disbursements commenced, was communicated to those gentlemen?—I am not aware it was.

51,479. Do you believe it was?—I believe it was not. They were satisfied that every effort would be made to carry out the arrangement that would be made in the first instance.

51,480. I think I understood you to say it was understood your party could have raised a large sum if it had been required?—No; I never said so.

51,481. I understood you to say you could raise 5,000*l.*?—I said if such a sum of 5,000*l.* had been raised, it would have been better to have had it all paid in.

51,482. I thought you said that you could readily raise 5,000*l.*?—Oh dear, no.

51,483. Did you, during the election, know that the district chairmen were, as you say, taking the law into their own hands?—Towards the conclusion I believe it was so.

51,484. I ask if you knew it during the progress of the election?—I found, in the course of my communication with them from time to time, that they were increasing their staff in the various districts.

51,485. Did you understand the object with which they were doing it?—I must have known, if they put names down as runners, and intended to employ them in that way, that it was with the intention of having their votes afterwards.

51,486. You knew that was being carried on to a considerable extent?—I cannot say I knew it.

51,487. Did you suspect it?—Yes, I did. It was a subject of complaint every day that they were not allowed to do so, and I believe at last many of them said to this effect, that it was of no consequence—there must be runners on, or else it was of no use their working.

51,488. Because there was no chance of success?—Yes.

51,489. Were not the expenses of each district of the day paid in wages to the runners?—Yes.

51,490. The first item in your account is a sum of 1,301*l.*?—1,308*l.*, I think.

51,491. That is the expenses of the district committees?—Yes; altogether.

51,492. Is the larger part of that sum the wages for the runners?—Yes, I should think it is. It was for a period, I think, of four or five weeks.

51,493. You have spoke about an application to give a tradesman an order, and you said that if it had been found that he had had an order, he would have been told to go away, because he had his share?—I should think that would have been the reply. The sub-committee appointed to manage that department—the printing—had, I believe, the entire control over those things, and acted as they thought best.

51,494. Was it an object, in managing the election, to give each person his share, as you say?—I have no doubt it was.

51,495. The orders for any particular articles would be divided so as to give the supporters of their cause their shares?—Yes.

51,496. Are you aware that the printing, for instance, was divided amongst twenty-one printers; the printing on your side?—No; I never added the numbers up. They are all there.

51,497. There are vouchers for bills paid to twenty-one different printers?—Then I have no doubt the money was paid.

51,498. And the sums vary from 10*l.* to 95*l.* Was that in order that each might have their share, as you say?—With respect to the printing, I really cannot answer the question.

51,499. It would be carrying out that system, would it not?—Yes; but the large sum to which you allude, the Hull Packet, contained advertisements.

51,500. There is Pulleyn, a bill of 69*l.*?—62*l.*, I think, for stationery and other matters.

51,501. Are you aware that there is a sum of 125*l.*, or something near it, spent for silks and ribbons?—There was no silk or ribbon bought, that I am aware of.

51,502. It was expended at drapers' shops?—Yes; in calico.

51,503. Are you aware, in the same way, that it is divided between nineteen tradesmen?—No; but they are there; that is the only answer I can give you. I would say, with respect to the calico and the colours, that although this sum amounted to so large an amount, as much as to stagger me when I came to have it handed in, on the day of the election scarcely a blue flag was to be seen; they had pulled them all down, and substituted orange in their place.

Thomas Ward.

19th July 1853.

51,504. In the same way the persons who supplied carriages, the orders were divided among them, was it not? There are more than ten or a dozen of those.—With respect to carriages, we were glad to get any from any party. I rather think there was a division amongst all the cab proprietors in the town, except Mr. Varley.

51,505. Was it the system that each party might get his share?—Yes.

51,506. Would there be any dissatisfaction if that were not done?—I should think there would be; but with respect to the cabs and carriages, we were only too glad to get them from any one.

51,507. At a fairly contested election, we have heard it might be carried on for 400*l.* a side?—Decidedly not.

51,508. Why not?—Because here the item of printing alone comes to that, and stationery.

51,509. Do you consider all that printing absolutely necessary?—No; but if you had ever been on an election committee, you would see the utter impossibility of avoiding it. I know this, that with respect to our own side at this last election, we would have been glad beyond measure to have repressed the printing, but the attacks that were made upon the candidates and every one connected with them, compelled us, in self defence, to answer them—to see that answers should be given.

51,510. Such an order as 10,000 visiting cards, that the candidates might leave them with the electors, is that a necessary expense?—I think it was sadly too much.

51,511. Then it was unnecessary. Do you agree with what we have heard, that such a sum of 400*l.* for printing is sufficient for the purposes of six elections?—No, I do not know that. One very large item in the bills of 90*l.*, for printing, was the detailed accounts of the public meetings which were held and the speeches given.

51,512. Do you know that a contested election has been carried on in Hull for the sum of 400*l.* on one side?—No.

51,513. For less than 400*l.*?—I am not aware of it.

51,514. And the candidate returned at the head of the poll?—You are alluding to Hill's election? the first election after the Reform Bill?

51,515. Yes.—I never heard of it.

51,516. Having heard of it now, have you any doubt the same thing might be done now?—You are putting a supposition that never could be carried out, I am quite sure.

51,517. Why not? What is the necessary expense of conducting an election that should exceed 400*l.* in Hull?—People's cupidity.

51,518. It is to the cupidity of the people that you attribute the vast expenditure?—Yes; what else can it be given to?

51,519. Then the constituency would be displeased, or a considerable portion of the constituency would be displeased, if that vast expenditure was not incurred?—I think so; and I believe if it had not been for the printers and some few lawyers, we should not have had a contest this time.

51,520. Do you agree in this, that there is a large portion of the constituency which would always be dissatisfied unless there was an expensive contest?—I do not wish to libel my fellow townsmen, but I believe there would and always has been a great portion of the people, not only here, but in all boroughs, that would not be satisfied unless a contest and the expenses consequent upon a contest, were incurred.

51,521. Do you not believe also it has a necessary tendency among the lower orders to believe that the money is applicable for any purpose, good or bad, when they see the enormous amount of printing and flags and those things going on?—No doubt of it.

51,522. And on the other hand do you believe that one single vote was ever gained by either side by the enormous mass of rubbish that is published?—No, I do not; and as far as I could I have set my face against the expense of printing.

51,523. You say the expenditure is increased by the candidates, in order to satisfy the wants of some portion of the constituency?—Yes.

51,524. That has a further injurious effect in causing people to expect, out of large sums of money, that each of them are to have a share of it?—Yes.

51,525. When a large sum of money is spoken of, everybody is anxious to get some; if 50*l.* is going for printing, another man thinks that he ought to have 30*s.* for his vote?—Yes.

51,526. It is the necessary consequence. Can you give us in the list you mentioned?—I cannot give you a perfect one.

Adjourned until to-morrow, ten o'clock.

THIRTY-SEVENTH DAY.—Wednesday, 20th July 1853.

MR. CHARLES YEALL sworn, and examined.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,527. Where do you live?—No. 15, Mason Street.

51,528. Are you on the register as a 10*l.* householder?—Yes.

51,529. What is the amount of rental you pay?—£20.

51,530. What is your business?—A merchant.

51,531. How long have you been a voter?—Since the year 1837.

51,532. Have you resided all your life in Hull?—I have.

51,533. Are you a freeman also?—No, I am not.

51,534. Have you taken a considerable interest in the elections at Hull?—Yes; I have since 1837—in fact, in 1835, I think.

51,535. You took part in the 1837 election?—Yes; as a canvasser.

51,536. Did you take a considerable part in that election?—Yes; I was rather an active canvasser.

51,537. Was the system of setting down for the purpose of influencing voters much used at that election?—Pretty much the same as at present; we used to put them down two days for a split vote, and four days for a bullet.

51,538. That was very generally used by both parties?—I believe so.

51,539. Did you take part in the election of 1841?—Yes.

51,540. You voted for Sir John Hanmer and Sir Walter James?—Yes, I did.

51,541. Were you on the committee at that election?—Yes; the East Sculcoates, of which I am the present chairman.

51,542. Were you on the committee, then?—Yes.

51,543. Within your knowledge of that election, was the same system carried on?—It was.

51,544. Did you yourself set down names then?—I gave them in to the central committee to be set down; when I was applied to I made a minute in my canvassing book, and we reported every evening the result of our canvass, and it was set down by the secretary or the clerk.

51,545. That was setting their names down for employment?—Yes; setting their names down for employment.

51,546. Had you any particular duty at that election?—No; nothing particular. I had a very large portion of the district, about two-fifths of the district, under my own charge; nothing beyond.

51,547. Have you any vouchers or papers relating to that election?—No.

51,548. What has become of the books and papers that you had?—They are destroyed or lost. I do not know what has become of them.

51,549. Were they left in your possession after the election?—Yes; I think so. I have not often given papers up.

51,550. You must know if they were destroyed?—I am not certain; I really do not know where they are if they are not destroyed; it would be simply a canvassing book that I had.

51,551. You say they were left in your custody?—I have not been in the habit of giving the papers up.

51,552. Have you the minute book?—No; nothing but the canvass book, for a certain district that I canvassed.

51,553. Were there at the election of 1841 particular places appointed for the payment of voters?—Not that I am aware of. I have a very indistinct recollection of the election of 1841; I took an active part, but I have a very indistinct recollection of it.

51,554. Do you know whether persons were paid at Linwood's, in Wincolmlee?—I believe they were.

51,555. Was that a place particularly appointed for the payment of voters?—No; it was our committee room.

51,556. It was one of the committee rooms?—It was our only committee room then.

51,557. Was any means taken to disguise the persons, or the people paying?—I never heard of it.

51,558. Are you not aware of that?—No.

51,559. Were the voters generally paid before or after the election?—After the election.

51,560. You would not know who it was who paid them the money at Linwood's?—I do not recollect on that occasion, but upon former occasions it has been paid by the chairman, and each canvasser has attended to identify the party, and to give any information required.

51,561. Do you recollect whether you were present when the people were paid?—No; I really do not recollect.

51,562. Did you yourself pay any persons?—No; I do not remember that I paid anything upon that occasion; I have been always kept pretty short of money upon those occasions.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,563. Can you at all tell me the number of persons that were set down or paid by your party in 1841?—No, I cannot tell.

51,564. Not within a hundred or so?—I have no recollection. I really cannot tell you anything about it.

51,565. Was it an expensive election upon your side?—Yes; our ward has the reputation of being rather an expensive one.

51,566. Do you know where the money came from?—No.

51,567. It came from the candidates, I suppose?—Probably. I had nothing to do with the financial arrangements.

51,568. Do you know the means by which it came to them at Hull?—No; I was simply a canvassing member of the committee upon that occasion.

51,569. Did you take a part in the election of 1847?—Yes.

51,570. For which candidates?—I took the two united divisions of East Sculcoates on behalf of Mr. Brown.

51,571. Were you any party to the invitation to Mr. Brown?—No; I was solicited to be, but I declined to do so.

51,572. Did you object to his being brought as a candidate?—I did not object to it. I was not particularly anxious about it. I was in correspondence with theNational Club, and we were expecting a blue candidate. There was great dissatisfaction in the town by the course being walked over by Baines and Clay, and the Operative Conservative Association in the Holderness ward were determined to have a second candidate, and we had several interviews with Mr. Baines' committee at Mr. Ward's office, and the end of it was that we requested Sir Robert Inglis to look for a blue candidate, and Sir Robert took considerable pains, and saw several persons, but could not succeed; he then handed it over to the National Club, with which I was then in correspondence. At that time Mr. Brown was sent for, and I declined, because I was pledged to vote for Mr. Baines.

51,573. Was any reason given for the refusal of persons to stand for Hull?—No; the National Club had pointed out a gentleman, and I was then in readiness, together with another gentleman, to have gone and seen him.

51,574. Who was that?—Mr. Sands, of Liverpool, was particularly mentioned; there were several others mentioned, but Mr. Sands was particularly mentioned.

51,575. Did you see Mr. Sands?—No; I thought it was useless, as the party was so much divided. When Mr. Brown came I gave up the idea.

51,576. Then there was no difficulty in procuring candidates?—Yes; there was a great difficulty.

51,577. I ask you if any reason was given for that difficulty?—No; there was nothing particular said.

51,578 It was not said by any of them that Hull was too expensive a place?—I think it was considered so generally; it was not said so particularly.

51,579. Did you understand that that was part of the reason or the ground of objection?—I fancied that most probably it might be so.

51,580. Was there a party in Hull who insisted upon having a candidate of some sort or other?—Oh yes, or I should not have taken the trouble I did.

51,581. Was there a party within your knowledge who insisted upon having a candidate for the purpose of creating a contest?—I am not aware of that; our reason was we were not satisfied with the principles of the men who were brought forward.

51,582. Why were you dissatisfied with Mr. Brown?—I was not dissatisfied with Mr. Brown, but I joined him for want of a better.

51,583. Did you understand at all that Mr. Brown was invited by parties who were always anxious for a contest?—No; I rather understood that Mr. Brown was invited in consequence of theinterview that the Operatives had with Mr. Baines' party at Mr. Ward's office. They saw a determination to have some one else, and they went off prematurely without communicating to us.

51,584. And in the end you adopted their candidate?—Yes; I offered to join Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown.

51,585. Who did you vote for at that election?—Baines and Brown.

51,586. Were you the chairman of the committee upon that occasion?—I was, of the two united divisions of East Sculcoates.

51,587. Who was your deputy chairman in 1847?—We were a mixed committee, and the central committee had a Conservative chairman and a Radical deputy.

51,588. What was the colour?—We could not distinguish colours; there were the crimson, the pink, and the orange.

51,589. The colours are orange and blue?—We had no blue.

51,590. Who were the active persons on your committee besides yourself?—I do not recollect now; the thing was in such a state of confusion, we had but three or four days to do three or four weeks' work in; and I applied repeatedly for a deputy chairman, and could not get one for a length of time.

51,591. Who was the clerk to your committee?—Thomas Dalton. I was requested to appoint my own deputy chairman. I wanted one from the opposite party to keep his own crew in order.

51,592. Tell me who was your deputy chairman?—James Tall.

51,593. You and Mr. Tall were the active persons on your committee?—We were.

51,595. Did you upon that occasion set down names as runners?—Yes.

51,596. To a great extent?—Yes; to a great extent.

51,596. Did you also adopt the means of having sham committee rooms?—No.

51,596. Not at all?—No.

51,598. Were the persens whose names were set down paid before or after they voted upon that occasion?—They were paid, a proportion of them before,—upon the evening of the nomination day I think it was.

51,599. And some of them were paid afterwards?—Yes.

51,600. Where were they paid?—Those that were paid before the polling day were paid at the Bay Horse by one of the committee, named Edward Wright.

51,601. Did anybody assist Wright in paying them?—I believe David Kay did, who was canvassing along with us.

51,602. Did Wright pay for all the districts, or only yours?—Only for our district—East Sculcoates. Bye the by, I should tell you we were ordered to receive whatever applicants came to us, and we paid a great number belonging to other districts.

51,603. Had you orders from the central committee to pay all applicants?—Yes.

51,604. Had you any vouchers, or were you to take the word of the party who requested payment?—We saw that they were upon the register and put down their names.

51,605. Were you at all present at the Bay Horse?—No; I see it has been stated that I was, but I never was.

51,606. You delegated that part of the business to those two gentlemen?—To Mr. Wright, and I believe he had the assistance of Kay.

51,607. Where were these persons paid after the polling day?—At a tavern kept by David Ledger.

51,608. Is that the De la Pole Tavern?—No; it is not the De la Pole Tavern.

51,609. Where is that?—It is in Wincolmlee, at the corner of Scott Street.

51,610. Who paid there?—I did.

51,611. Were you assisted by anybody?—All the canvassers were present to identify the parties, and to give information as to who they were.

51,612. How soon after the election was that?—It might be three or four days.

51,613. Is it called the Sculcoates Tavern, in Wincolmlee?—Yes; I believe it is.

51,614. At the time you paid, had you a list of persons who were to be paid?—Yes.

51,615. Have you that list now?—I have a part of it—the book in which the correct list was was sent in to the central committee and was kept there.

51,616. Who did you send it to at the central committee?—To Mr. Digby. This is a correct list of the payments made during the election, and this is a list of parties who were paid afterwards (referring to some papers).

51,617. Is this a list of the persons paid during the election?—Yes; at least, previous to the polling day.

51,618. Is this the list of persons who were paid by Wright?—Yes; I think it is.

51,619. And this other is a list of the persons paid by you?—That is an incorrect list. I believe that is the only list I have; it does not exactly agree with my cash account by some 2*l.* or 3*l.*

51,620. Is that the book that was made at the time?—Yes.

51,621. And did you cross the names out as you paid them?—Somebody has done it; it is not my writing,—it was written by the clerk, Dalton.

51,622. Was not Dalton present when you paid them?—Yes; he was.

51,623. I observe at the end of this list there are the words in pencil "forty-four unpaid."?—Yes.

51,624. What does that mean?—I can scarcely understand what it is, in consequence of a system of receiving all parties—all applicants. We found that many of the men had been paid two or three, or four or five times over; and the chairman met at the central committee and compared notes, and those who were paid by others were struck off the list. I see here one man of the name of Prescott, whom I did not pay.

51,625. What does that mean, that there were forty-four unpaid?—I had not paid Prescott. I fancied he had been paid by some other committee.

51,626. Would those forty-four be paid afterwards?—Not by me.

51,627. Was there anybody else to pay them?—Not in my district.

51,628. In all the other districts, people were paid in the same way as in yours?—Yes, they were; I expect so.

51,629. Will that list, as near as you can, afford us the names of the parties whom you paid?—Yes; the correct list was sent in to Mr. Digby, the chairman of the central committee.

51,630. Do you know at the present moment, who has possession of the papers sent in by you?—They were sent in to Mr. Digby. I never knew what became of them afterwards.

51,631. Were you at Linwood's committee room?—It was our committee room.

51,632. Did you pay them there?—I think I did. I have some recollection of it. I remember several people coming and turning them out. I paid one at a time; but what it was I really do not recollect.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,633. You would hardly be able to recollect the names of individuals?—No; as I said before, it was a complete confusion from the beginning to the end.

51,634. Were there persons actually employed as messengers and runners at that election?—Very few; at least, in comparison to those I paid.

51,635. Such as they were would be paid on the polling day?—No, I think not.

51,636. Would those persons be paid in that list that you have handed in?—Yes, they would; there is in that book a general cash account.

51,637. In consequence of the hurry, there was no time to discriminate between those that were employed and those that were not?—No.

51,638. You paid everybody indiscriminately?—Yes; we paid everybody who came, and some got paid three or four times over—some of them.

51,639. Now Mr. Tall, is he the person that was engaged at the election of 1837?—Yes, I think he was.

51,640. What as?—As a canvasser. His brother John Tall was the chairman.

51,641. Which Tall was it who was your vice-chairman?—James Tall.

51,642. There is another John?—Yes.

51,643. Did he take any part in the election?—Not the least; but at the previous election he was chairman of this district—the same district.

51,644. What, in 1847?—He took no part in 1847.

51,645. In 1841 John Tall was the chairman of the district?—Yes.

51,646. Did you pay in 1847 at the De la Pole Tavern?—No.

51,647. Were you at all there at the election of 1847?—Yes; I was.

51,648. Were you there with a man of the name of Hudson?—Hudson was one of the clerks, I think.

51,649. Were you and Hudson the persons who paid at the De la Pole Tavern?—No.

51,650. Do you know if anybody else was paying at the De la Pole Tavern?—Not that I am aware of.

51,651. In the election of 1852, were you the chairman of the East Sculcoates committee room?—Yes; of the North division.

51,652. That was for the blue candidates?—Yes; for the blue candidates.

51,653. You voted for the blue candidates, of course?—Yes.

51,654. How early did you begin to take a part in the election?—The 8th of June was our first meeting.

51,655. In 1847 did you pay many persons at their own houses?—None that I am aware of.

51,656. Did you pay them in their own shops?—Not in any way that I am aware of. Linwood's and the Bay Horse are the only two places.

51,657. Do you recollect whether you desired persons to be paid at their own houses or shops?—I never gave any such orders.

51,658. You do not know that it was done?—No; I do not.

51,659. At the last election you were the chairman of the northern division of the East Sculcoates ward?—I was.

51,660. Who were the active persons upon that committee besides yourself?—There were the Messrs. John and Samuel Eggerton; they rendered very great assistance. James Tall was the deputy chairman; William Murgatroyd was an active canvasser; Stephen Roebuck was an active canvasser; John Suddaby Henry Labourne.

51,661. I asked you for the active persons?—Yes; Edwrd Wright and Robert Ware, those were the active canvassers. We had two or three parties joined us on the polling day.

51,662. Is that the same Wright who you have mentioned in 1847?—The same.

51,663. And Mr. Tall also?—Yes; the same Mr. Tall.

51,664. Were you early in the election made acquainted with the agreement that was entered into with the orange party?—Yes; I attended the sub-committee, and heard all that passed every day.

51,665. Were you made acquainted with the advice of Mr. Wells as to the employment of parties?—I was.

51,666. Did you early in the canvass find a great pressure upon the part of the voters for employment?—Yes.

51,667. Then you as an experienced canvasser were immediately placed in a difficulty as to the safety of the election, were you not?—Yes.

51,668. Did you endeavour to observe the advice of Mr. Wells, and the agreement with the orange party?—Yes; as far as we could.

51,669. Did you take steps then to overcome the difficulty which was apparent to you in Mr. Wells' view?—I do not exactly understand what you are alluding to.

51,670. Did you not change your runners every three or four days?—Yes, I did; I adopted that from the first.

51,671. By that means you observed the number of runners that you were to employ, and at the same time you employed a greater number of persons?—Yes; that was my object.

51,672. Did you set down the names of all persons who applied to be employed?—Yes; we did.

51,673. What was usually the form of their request? in what words did they request it?—They requested to be set down for employment as runners.

51,674. Were those the two forms, or did they use the alternative?—They generally applied to be put down as runners.

51,675. When you received that request, you understood that they were persons desirous of obtaining some advantage by the election?—Certainly.

51,676. And that it would not be safe for your party altogether to refuse their request?—Decidedly.

51,677. Now, in what form of words did you answer that request?—I told them that we could make no promise whatever, that we would take their names down for employment when we had it, and that they should be fairly used all alike as near as we possibly could.

51,678. Did you not use that form of words in consequence of the advice of Mr. Wells?—Yes; in a great measure I did.

51,679. You would not have used that guarded form of words without that advice?—Well, I might have done so if I had not thought that it was illegal to have promised.

51,680. You must know you used those words for the purpose of safety?—Yes, certainly.

51,681. At the same time, did you make them understand that in all probability there would be employment for them?—They might have understood what they liked. I said they should be put down.

51,682. Did you not as far as you could satisfy their request?—Yes; I did, as far as I could.

51,683. Were you not at that time, convinced in your own mind, that employment would be found for them in one way or another before the election was over?—We endeavoured to employ them in nominal employment,—in fact, we did in some way or other every person who came.

51,684. Did you not make employment for the purpose of employing those persons?—Certainly, we did.

51,685. Now, as far as you know, was that the system of your party at the last election?—I expect it was.

51,686. Now, about the end of June or the begining of July, did you make a considerable increase in the number of persons employed?—The first week I see we have eight days charged; the second week we have twelve days charged, which gives us two runners to the committee room each day; the third week we have forty-five days,—we had taken two extra committee rooms then, and we were entitled to charge forty-eight days, so that we were within the mark; the fourth week we took all that came.

51,687. That was the week of the election?—That was the week of the election.

51,688. You then considered yourself free from the engagement of the orange party?—Entirely so; in the third week I employed two men and a doorkeeper for each room,—we had three rooms.

51,689. As the election approached, did you find youself obliged to break from the advice of Mr. Wells?—No; I did not break from the advice of Mr. Wells.

51,690. You still found some employment?—Yes; we found employment.

51,691. Now in the minute book you kept at your committee, I think you said you set down the names of the persons employed for a time?—Yes.

51,692. All the persons employed were persons who applied to be employed as runners?—Certainly.

51,693. Did you take down the names of persons who were paid on sheets of paper of this description (referring to the pay sheets)?—Yes.

51,694. Those are the names of the persons who were paid?—Yes; they were.

51,695. In point of fact, all the persons who applied were paid, were they not?—They were.

51,696. And employed?—And employed—nearly so; there might be some few instances where they were not; all during the election they were employed.

51,697. Were they paid from week to week?—They are.

51,698. You obtained the money each week from the central committee?—Yes.

51,699. Did you pay the persons yourself?—No; I received the money from Mr. Harris, and immediately handed it over to the clerk, William Wright, who paid the money. He is not in Hull at present; he is at Greenland.

51,700. You yourself will undertake to say that the persons in these lists were paid?—Yes, they were.

51,701. Will you tell me what that book is (handing book marked G. to the witness)?—They are general memoranda.

51,702. Are those the names of persons applying to be employed at the beginning of the book?—Yes, it seems so; here is Stephen Roebuck engaged as a clerk from the first. I see there are men that applied for employment.

51,703. I presume you understood when the parties applied for employment they offered you in return their vote?—It was the understood thing; it was not mentioned.

51,704. But it was well understood?—Oh yes.

51,705. You gave them employment, and they gave you their vote?—Yes.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,706. And in truth the money was paid for the vote as much and more than it was for the employment?—Undoubtedly so.

51,707. Now it was said that you had some sub-committee rooms; do you recollect how many?—We had two.

51,708. Were those necessary for the purpose of the election, or were they for the purpose of making employment?—They were useful, because the East Sculcoates district is a very long one, a mile and a half in extent, and we had a staff at one of them.

51,709. Did you also engage some rooms which were wholly useless?—There was one engaged that I intended to make use of to pay the runners at, but we altered our system.

51,710. Do you remember taking a room of a man of the name of Coulson?—I do.

51,711. Before taking that room, had you not been advised by letter that you had better take a room from Coulson?—Yes, I had.

51,712. Was his room taken partly to secure his vote?—The man called, and I told him I had already got my number of rooms, but that if he would be satisfied with a pound and put out a colour for us, that he might have it. The colour was sent, and he sent it back again.

51,713. Did you not understand that he was a person requiring some advantage by the election?—Certainly.

51,714. And you gave him that advantage by means of taking his room?—Yes; that is the room I intended to pay the runners at.

51,715. You took the room from him rather than anybody else, in order to secure him?—Yes.

51,716. Did you take a room from a man of the name of Hannah?—Yes.

51,717. Was he a person who applied to have his room taken?—He was employed already as a runner, and I commissioned Henry Laybourne to look out for a room. I never liked the system myself; I wanted to have as little to do with it as possible, and Henry Laybourne took this room, and he was made chairman or superintendent of it, and had his staff there.

51,718. Was there a room taken from Hannah in order to gratify him?—I do not think it was so much that as to afford employment to others; we had him as a runner without it.

51,719. What were the other names?—There were only Coulson and Hannah. I engaged a room at the De-la-Pole Tavern for two days, because we did not spend any thing there, and we were always accustomed to use the house; therefore I engaged the room at the De-la-Pole Tavern at a pound a day, and upon no other ground.

51,720. You had been accustomed to spend money at the De-la-Pole Tavern?—Yes.

51,721. And that was the advantage the landlord would get by the election?—Yes; it it was known as our head quarters.

51,722. At this time you had been advised not to spend money at taverns?—We had been prohibited.

51,723. You were unable to spend money at the De-la-Pole Tavern, and therefore you took a room in the house?—Certainly.

51,724. In order to make up to the landlord for the loss of your custom you paid for the room?—We knew people would assemble there, and we wished the use of the room.

51,725. Was not that done to replace the advantage which he used to have, and for which you were to have his vote?—We should have had his vote without.

51,726. Now Murgatroyd who was a member of your committee was paid, was he not?—Yes.

51,727. And Roebuck was paid?—Yes.

51,728. Is it usual to pay members of a committee?—Roebuck applied to me in the first instance to get him a poll clerk's situation, having given the whole of his services during the election upon those terms. I found him exceedingly useful, and as we were very short of hands, I put him on as a canvasser, and paid him as a clerk. I was desired to treat him liberally, and I paid him the same as a regular clerk.

51,729. Is he a voter?—No, he is not.

51,730. Who desired you to be liberal to him?—I think it was Mr. Joseph Walker Pease.

51,731. Is Murgatroyd a voter?—No, he is not.

51,732. Were they experienced electioneerers in Hull?—Murgatroyd was very much so. Roebuck is not; he was a very active young man, and a very useful person. He is not an experienced electioneerer.

51,733. All these lists that you have handed in contain the names of all persons paid in your district?—Yes.

51,734. Have you looked them over so as to say that with safety?—Yes, I have.

51,735. Did you, during the election, hear of what was called Mr. Wells' scheme?—Yes.

51,736. Had you the same opinion of it as others, that it was wholly impracticable?—No; as far as Sculcoates was concerned, I think it an exceedingly good plan.

51,737. I ask you whether as a whole, taking it as he planned it, and the number of persons required to work it, it was practicable to work it?—I can only answer as to the Sculcoates division, with which I am concerned.

51,738. Did you work it in Sculcoates?—I was called on to furnish my quota of men.

51,739. Are you aware, as far as Mr. Wells' scheme was concerned, it could not be worked in one district without all?—The three Sculcoates wards acted in conjunction independently of the town altogether. We had nothing to do with the town. Mr. Turnbull had the clearing house of the Sculcoates division; the three committees acted independently.

51,740. Did you attempt to work that scheme at all at the Sculcoates district?—I was required to furnish my quota of men for it, which I did—twelve men and a superintendent.

51,741. Did you take those twelve men from the voters?—Yes.

51,742. From the list of persons that had applied to you for employment?—Yes.

51,743. Had you their names?—I sent them in with the papers.

51,744. Will you look at that paper (handing a paper marked No. 3 to the witness)? See if that is it?—This is the weekly payments.

51,745. Look at that one (handing a paper marked D. to the witness)?—It is not here; this is a list of runners; it is a larger piece of paper than this which was sent to the committee.

51,746. You do not find it there?—No, it is not here.

51,747. Did you say it was amongst these papers?—I sent it in amongst the papers.

51,748. Their names do not appear as persons paid in your list?—Yes, they would be; they would not be distinguished as employed for that special purpose. There was a list sent in of the men supplied to Mr. Turnbull for the purpose of the clearing house.

51,749. Look at your minute book and see if that is a list of the persons canvassed by Eggerton (handing a small book to the witness).—Yes.

51,750. What is the meaning of that list? are they persons who would be paid, and were paid?—Yes, it is the same as the rest; some would, and some would not. The first would not, Suddaby.

51,751. It is a list of persons who would be set down, generally speaking?—No; many of them would not be set down; the greater part of them would not be set down: only one or two would be set down.

51,752. Look at that list, and see what that is (handing another paper marked G to the witness)?—This is the list I was speaking of; this is the list of men I sent to Mr. Turnbull's committee.

51,753. That is the list of persons you sent him to work out this plan?—Yes.

51,754. Did you from time to time report to the central committee what you were doing in the matter of setting down names?—No, not particularly. We had our orders, which we were expected to attend to.

51,755. Did you not report to them in the course of the election that you were setting down a very large number of names?—We sent in at the end of the week the number of names which we employed; whether the other names were sent in or not, I really do not know. I received the payment for those employed; here is the forty-five days, the third week.

51,756. You see for the fourth week the number of 195?—There are eight days, and twelve days, and forty-five days.

51,757. There is a minute in your minute book, "reported to the central committee that during the week a large number of runners had been engaged;" and then at the end of that is put 195 days?—That would be the last week of the election, the polling day.

51,758. How many persons does that 195 represent?—It is at 5*s*.

51,759. It is 195 days?—Divide that by four, and you will have the sum.

51,760. Each person would have four days?—Yes.

51,761. Did you take any part in arranging with lots of voters who required to be bought?—No, nothing of the sort.

51,762. Did you hear of that at all on your side during the election?—No, I do not think I did during the election, except with Jefferson.

51,763. Had you any intercourse with Jefferson on the subject?—I had.

51,764. Who came to you about it?—Jefferson was not in any district, but I had to pass his door several times in the day to get to my home: passing one day Murgatroyd ran after me, stating that one of our friends was canvassing Jefferson, and he wished me to join him. I did so. After that I had two other interviews with Jefferson, the last was late on the evening of the nomination day. I knew Jefferson was not disposed towards us, and I knew likewise that the others could outbuy me; I was therefore cautious what I said to him. I told him to call on me the next morning before he closed with the other party, and I never saw him again; he professed to represent a large number of voters.

51,765. How many?—He stated thirty-three. I understood it was fifteen or sixteen.

51,766. He did offer them to you?—Yes; he wished to make a bargain with me.

51,767. Did he name a price to you?—No; I do not think he did. I told him before he finally closed to let me know; I said, I think I can go no further than four days. He was in Mr. Turnbull's district, and I thought he would be looked after.

51,768. You said you knew the other party would outbuy you?—Yes.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,769. Had you any instructions to limit your expenses?—Yes; we offered two days and four days.

51,770. Was that in consequence of instructions you had from certain parties?—Yes; that was the utmost we could offer.

51,771. Was it understood by you and your party that you had but a limited amount of money on this occasion?—Yes; money I had none; it was a promise I should call it.

51,772. Was it understood on your parts that the candidates would not go beyond a certain amount?—The candidates had nothing to do with it. Do you mean with regard to the general finance matters?

51,773. Yes.—No; we did not take that into consideration at all.

51,774. In 1841, your party had a very large command of money, had they not?—They had.

51,775. In 1847, Mr. Brown for whom you were interested, also put a large sum of money at your disposal, I mean generally?—Yes; we had a great command of money then.

51,776. Did you understand that at the last election, there was a less command of money than usual on your side?—It was known that there was a limited sum.

51,777. Did you also understand that the command of money on the other side was not limited?—Yes, we did.

51,778. What was the conclusion you drew from that as to the probable result of the election?—Till within three or four days of the election, I thought we were certain of it, but I had given up all hope before the polling day came on.

51,779. Why was that?—I saw they would outbid us, there were so many men holding off and I could not buy them; that is judging of the whole town by my own district.

51,780. What was it that led you to the conclusion that they would beat you?—I was told they were offering six to our four days, and that several had been offered a couple of pounds.

51,781. Had you been instructed to limit it to four days?—Yes.

51,782. What reason was given for that?—It was what was always given, and we were more stringent than usual on the last occasion.

51,783. Did you know it had been agreed by your party that a certain sum of money should be raised by subscription in the town?—Not at that time, I did not.

51,784. Do you think that that money being raised in the town by subscription would cause your party to be more careful of the expenditure of money?—No; I do not think it would affect it at all; we had been accustomed to go upon a certain system to which we should adhere.

51,785. Have you found before from your experience of Hull, that when persons managing the elections at Hull, have to spend their own money, they are more careful than when they have to spend strangers' money?—Yes, I think they are. I do not exactly understand your question. Do you mean to say their own individual money?

51,786. The candidates' money, I mean?—That we should be more careful of the candidates money, or money raised in the town?

51,787. Yes, money raised in the town?—No; I do not think that would make any difference. I thought you meant individuals spending their own money; they would certainly be rather more careful then in what they spent.

51,788. Would not persons managing the election in Hull, in all probability be the persons who would subscribe the money?—Generally so, I think they would.

51,789. Then it comes round to my question: do you think that when they spend their own money they are likely to be more careful than when they spend other people's?—No, not in that sense; I should think not.

51,790. In 1841, was it not understood that Colonel Thompson had limited the amount to which he would go?—I think it was.

51,791. Now in Hanmer and James' election there was an unlimited amount of money?—I really do not recollect the election.

51,792. They were strangers to Hull?—Sir John Hanmer was;—Sir Walter James had represented us from 1837.

51,793. Still he was not a person living at Hull?—No.

51,794. On that occasion the blue party succeeded, did they not, at that election?—Yes.

51,795. Those were the candidates on that occasion who would go to an unlimited amount?—Yes; I think we were the popular party then.

51,796. In 1852, it was the orange candidates who would go to an unlimited amount? the blue candidates were limited in their expenses?—Yes.

51,797. In 1852, it was the orange candidates who won the election?—Yes.

51,798. Does not that lead you to any inference how that was?—I have no doubt the election was won by the orange party, because they paid six days and we only paid four. I have not a shadow of doubt about it; it was because they paid six days and we could only pay four. Had we commenced with six days a week before, I have no doubt we should have got one if not two of our candidates returned.

51,799. You think the difference between the 30*s.* and 1*l.* did win the election?—I have not a shadow of doubt about it.

51,800. When you used the words "The popular candidates," the popularity would a great deal depend on the depth of the breeches pocket?—I certainly thought we were the popular party.

51,801. You would have been if you had had a greater supply of money?—I do not think that.

51,802. That was so in 1841?—I have always been particularly pure in my proceedings.

51,803. In 1841 it cost five times as much as the last?—Yes; but I really know very little about 1841.

51,804. Did you yourself pay any money at the last election?—No; I employed Wright to pay during the election, and Murgatroyd to pay afterwards.

51,805. Where did they pay at?—During the election at the committee room, and after the election Murgatroyd accompanied by Wright called at the houses of the voters, and paid them there.

51,806. Did you see the candidates at all during the election?—Yes.

51,807. Did you have any conversation with them about the expenses?—No; it was quite out of my province altogether.

51,808. Was it out of theirs?—And out of theirs too; they would not listen to anybody who spoke to them on the subject; they would not listen to a word on the subject.

51,809. Did you see anything of that sort go on?—Yes; I have seen persons speak to them, and ask for employment, and they would not listen to them.

51,810. Did they refer them to any one that you know of?—They said, we cannot entertain any question of that sort, they did not refer them to any one.

51,811. It was an understood thing they were not to know anything?—Yes, of course.

51,812. It was not from disinclination?—I should think not; these matters were left entirely to the committee.

51,813. Seeing them use persons in that way more than once, have you any doubt that they must have had a strong suspicion that something of the kind was going on?—I never drew such a conclusion.

51,814. Did you not think from what you saw of their behaviour, that they were careful to avoid the knowledge?—No; it did not strike me as anything of the sort.

51,815. Did it not strike you that they were using excessive care?—No, not at all; I have seen other candidates use quite as much if not more caution. I have seen them frightened to death if they had been asked for a ribbon, and almost fit to run away at the idea.

51,816. Did you not draw the inference that they knew of the applications for ribbons?—We knew there was bribery on the other side, and we were determined to be pure.

51,817. You answer in those words, that they were determined not to know of the impurity?—No.

51,818. Do you think when a gentleman agrees to pay 1,200*l.* himself, and knows that his fellow candidate is to pay 1,200*l.* more, and that a further subscription is to be made in the town, that he has set his face wholly against the system of influencing votes?—I think he left himself entirely in the hands of his committee, and would not interfere in the matter.

51,819. In your experience, you think he must have a strong suspicion, that that money is to have an influence on the votes?—I do not know what suspicion he would have, he never showed it.

51,820. You do not quite like to answer these questions. Which of these did you pay, these on the sheet, or in the book?—Is that the 1847 election?

51,821. I observe here there are names given to the amount of eighty-one in this list, and then it goes on to 108. If you look, you will see there is a sheet missing; it is the first and the fourth page. At the bottom of the first page, you will see the number of eighty-one names, and the figure of 37*l.* at the bottom?—There are several of them struck through, that are not paid.

51,822. That is not what I am drawing your attention to. Turn over, and you will see the thirty-seven brought forward?—Yes.

51,823. The next number is 108, and not 82; there is a bulk of names between 81 and 108 missing?—I do not know what it means.

51,824. It gives a total of 108 names, but it does not give those names?—I think it is a mistake; the sum agrees with the payment set down, and this sum was paid.

51,825. The names are given one after the other up to 81; then there is a bulk of names between 81 and 108 left out.—The sum is carried forward; there is no additional sum added.

51,826. I want to know as to the names?—There could not be any more names.

51,827. Why is not the next name No. 82?—I do not know at all; it comes to 37*l.*; and then there is 37*l.* 10*s.* on the next. It is carelessly done. I think it was made by David Kay.

51,828. What I want to know is this, whether the number of names of 85 or 86 are left out?—The number of names must be as set down there, because the sum paid agrees with it; it is a mistake in the numbers.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,829. The sum paid 37*l.*, carried forward, applies to the 81 ?—Yes, just so.

51,830. It is the total, with the 8*s.*, paid to the 81 ?—Yes.

51,831. Then up to the eighty-one are thus disposed of; you have their names and the money ?—Yes.

51,832. Then the next name, instead of being 82, is 108 ?—I say that that is a mistake, because there is no sum of money paid for the intervening names, if there had been any——

51,833. I ask it with this object, to know whether I am to take it from this list, that 126 were paid, or 82 or 83 were paid ?—No; only the names that are there inserted. It must be a mistake, because it does not agree with the amount of money.

51,834. The money is carried on ?—Yes, it is; it is increased in the number, but still not increased in the amount, which it must have been, if there had been any more names.

51,835. I wanted to ascertain whether the list proposed to show that 126 were paid, or 85 were paid ?—Only 85.

51,836. Then you charge next, I see, 75 men in procession, at 3*s.* each ?—Yes; they were non-freemen.

51,837. Were they voters ?—No, I think not.

51,838. Can you say they were not ?—Yes; I think I can say they were not.

51,839. You mean they were not taken on as voters ?—No; not voters.

51,840. Some would be ?—They might or might not; they were not selected as voters.

51,841. They are paid 11*l.* 5*s.*, I see; that transaction, I suppose, would be on the voting day ?—On the nomination day; we are in the habit of marshalling a procession to get possession of the front of the hustings, to get a hearing for the candidates.

51,842. Did they only get the 3*s.* ?—They were just employed in the morning for two or three hours.

51,843. Did they get 3*s.*, in addition to the 10*s.* ?—No; that is all they got.

51,844. That is what I want to know, if in addition to the 10*s.*, they got 3*s.* ?—That is distinct altogether; they were not selected as freemen.

51,845. You mentioned the names of Edward Wright and David Kay; where do they live ?—Wright lives in Wincolmlee; Kay, I do not know; I think he is in the town now; I do not know where exactly.

51,846. They paid the list at the Bay Horse ?—Yes.

51,847. Who gave them the money ?—I did.

51,848. Where did you get it from ?—From Mr. Wm. Burstall, the treasurer.

51,849. And you paid them yourself, at the Sculcoates Tavern ?—Yes, I did.

51,850. Did you get the money from the same place ?—I got part of it from Mr. Burstall, and part of it from Mr. Digby, the chairman.

51,851. In 1852, you made the weekly payments, some of them for the messengers; did you make any other payments at all ?—I made none myself.

51,852. I mean yourself ?—I paid the general committee room 10*l.*, or something of that sort.

51,853. Did any other money pass through your hands, except to pay those messengers ?—No; we sent in the weekly accounts, and got the exact sum, which I immediately paid over to those whose duty it was to pay it.

51,854. You say the candidates were at your room from time to time ?—Yes.

51,855. Did they remain there at all ?—No; they called in in the morning before the canvass, and they came in after the canvass was over, and sat half an hour.

51,856. In the district they were going to canvass ?—Yes.

51,857. Did you show them your books at all ?—No; not at all.

51,858. You say you set a good many names down at your place; did you set some down as late as the day of the election ?—No; I think not, there might be some few.

51,859. You did set some down ?—Yes.

51,860. It appears so by your list ?—There may be some.

51,861. How many do you think you set down on the day of the election ?—That I really cannot say.

51,862. You did set some down on the day of the election, and the nomination day, I believe ?—Yes; but I think very few; I know almost all the unpromised votes went against us almost invariably. I think with one single exception, the whole of those unpromised votes went against us.

51,863. July the 8th, there are some twenty or thirty names set down, on the day of the election; I am told there are eighteen ?—Those details were left to the clerk. I really know very little about them.

51,864. Just look at this (handing another paper to the witness), there seem to be some set down on the day after the election; on July the 8th, you see several names, and if you look at the bottom of that page, you will see the date of the 9th of July, and then over the leaf it says, runners continued.—These are all names that would be put down long before. I do not know what that means; I know these are men who were canvassed and promised.

51,865. That is a list of applicants you set down ?—I do not know what it means; I know these men had all been seen long before, and all set down.

51,866. You see at the bottom July the 9th, then turn over to the next page, and you will find several other names; do you know if those were set down on the 9th?—These men were about the committee room night after night, for a week before the election. I do not know what it means; I have seen them over and over again in the committee room, and what it means, I cannot tell.

51,867. Whose writing is it?—William Wright's, who is now in Greenland.

51,868. What does it mean?—I cannot at all understand it; I have seen these men about the room night after night.

51,869. You have told me some names were set down on the election day?—Yes.

51,870. That is July the 8th?—Many of those must have been set down before.

51,871. I do not know what that date means, if you cannot tell me?—I am sure that those are men I have passed myself, days and days before then, who have been put down.

51,872. You said that you had had instructions not to set down the names for more than four days?—Yes.

51,873. Were those instructions given to the committees generally?—I believe so.

51,874. Were they general—sent to all the committees? Answer the question as far as you can; were those instructions, to set down names for four days, general to all the committees, as far as you know?—Yes; we all assembled together, and we received our instructions together.

51,875. You all assembled and received your instructions together not to set down for a period exceeding four days?—We all received the same instructions.

51,876. Where were those instructions given?—At the central committee.

51,877. By whom?—By ourselves; I may say we were all members of the committee; we discussed these matters, and the resolutions were copied out, and sent to all the committee rooms.

51,878. And those resolutions were, that you would not set down for more than four days?—Yes.

51,879. When was that arrangement made, as far as you remember?—From the first of the election.

51,880. From the first of any of the committee meetings?—Yes.

51,881. Do you know any occasion except the last election at which names were set down for as many as six days?—No, I do not.

51,882. Not any?—Not any.

51,883. What was the limit as to days that you had ever known at any previous election?—I never knew more than four; two for a single vote, and four for a bullet.

51,884. Then this was an excess of two days, which you say gained the election?—Yes, which I had never known before.

51,885. In 1837, what number of days was it?—Four days. We paid uniformly 10*s.*, that is for split votes; that would be two days for a single vote.

51,886. You never knew it to exceed more than four except at this election?—I never knew it exceed more than four.

51,887. Now at this time, when the agreement was made that the days were to be four, was somebody present from each one of the district committees?—I should think there would be.

51,888. And the instructions did include that among other things?—Yes.

51,889. The instructions, I think, that the committees had were in writing?—Generally.

51,890. You do not happen to have yours with you?—I sent all my papers here.

51,891. I merely ask you if, from memory, you recollect whether it was among them?—All the instructions I received have come in.

51,892. Did the instructions contain any directions as to reporting from time to time the number of applicants to the central committee?—Yes, I think they did.

51,893. How often was that done, the report of applicants sent to the central committee?—We made reports every day.

51,894. Of applicants?—Of the general proceedings of the meetings of the committee.

51,895. The general proceedings would include that?—Yes.

51,896. Did the instructions among other things contain directions that all applicants should be set down?—They did.

51,897. I will call your attention to an entry under July the 8th, be kind enough to look at it. Is that your writing (handing a book to the witness)?—No; it is written by the clerk.

51,898. Just read it.—"Clay and Goderich returned by a large majority. N.B. Bribery and corruption triumphant over honesty and integrity." That is written by Wright, the clerk.

51,899. Do you remember Mr. Wells' sending to you that extract from the Act of the 5th and 6th Victoria, just look at it (handing a paper to the witness)?—Yes.

51,900. Did he send to you any notice relating to the other Acts of Parliament, because that is only from one particular Act?—Only this one particular Act.

51,901. Did he mention to you that his scheme would involve the necessity of employing 478 persons?—No, he did not; he explained his scheme.

51,902. You do not perhaps recollect the exact number?—Yes, I do; I happened to sit next him.

51,903. His scheme, he told us, involved the payment of 478 persons?—Yes.

Mr. Charles Yeall.

20th July 1853.

51,904. Did he point out to you that you would lose 500 votes by it?—It was always thought legal to employ persons who were necessary.

51,905. Did he tell you that the effect of his scheme would be, independent of the Bribery Act, that you would lose 500 votes?—No.

51,906. Supposing that had been so,—supposing you had been aware that by his scheme he would have lost 478 votes, you would have said at once, what a foolish plan it is?—Certainly.

51,907. The election then would have been utterly hopeless, if his scheme had been carried out? as it was, you lost it by 300 votes, or thereabouts? You would have lost it by 500 more if his scheme had been carried out?—Mr. Wells expected to be supplied from those men already set down for employment; there was not expected to be additional pay but from those we had already set down.

51,908. If he did not direct your attention to the fact that the employment of every one of these persons prohibited them from voting, independent of the Bribery Act, did he say there was an Act of Parliament besides the Bribery Act to prevent such a scheme as that being carried into effect? That, I suppose, he kept back from you?—That we heard nothing of.

51,909. Is there any other information you can give us with respect to anything within our province to inquire under this Act of Parliament, which related to the elections of 1841, 1847, and 1852?—Nothing has occurred to me, but a man of the name of George West, Adelaide Court, Scott Street, always voted blue. He was called on several times by Lady Goderich, and this time he has voted orange. He has always voted with us; he has hung off this time. I find that Lady Goderich has been there, and he has gone against us. That is the reason, I suppose, that he has been looked to by the other side.

Mr. C. Wilkinson.

Mr. Charles Wilkinson sworn, and examined.

51,910. Where is your residence?—Carlton Terrace.

51,911. In Hull?—In Hull.

51,912. Are you a householder?—I am.

51,913. Are you upon the list of voters?—Yes; as a householder.

51,914. What is the rental you pay?—It is my own house, but I am assessed at 40*l.*, I think.

51,915. What is your business?—A stock broker.

51,916. How long have you been a voter?—Since the passing of the Reform Bill.

51,917. Have you lived in Hull all your life?—Yes.

51,918. Are you a freeman?—No.

51,919. Have you always been interested in the elections?—Yes.

51,920. Did you take a part in any of them?—Yes, I have, to a certain extent.

51,921. Did you take a part in any election before 1841?—Yes.

51,922. Did you always find the system, of which we have heard so much, prevalent?—No; not the recent system, I have not.

51,923. Was there not a system of securing votes?—Yes; except, I think, at the first election. Carruther's election was the first I took part in; and, at a meeting at the hotel, a relative of mine suggested——

51,924. Do not go into particulars.—At that election I think the freemen were told they must give up the system carried on before, of having polling money.

51,925. Since then the system has been carried on?—Yes.

51,926. Did you take part in the election of 1841?—Yes; that was Hanmer and James.

51,927. You voted for those gentlemen?—Yes.

51,928. Were you upon that committee?—Yes.

51,929. What ward?—North Myton.

51,930. Were you the chairman?—Yes.

51,931. Who were the other persons acting upon that committee besides yourself?—I do not remember, I am sure. I do not remember the names of them just now.

51,932. Mr. Todd?—I do not know whether Todd was the clerk at that election, or young Stephens.

51,933. Is that the Stephens of whom we have heard a good deal?—It is the junior Stephens, the young man. I have employed him at two or three elections.

51,934. Was he the clerk?—I think he was; if not, it was a man of the name of Todd.

51,935. Which Todd?—I forget whether he was at that election or not; Thomas Todd.

51,936. Where does the younger Stephens live now?—He lives in Portland Street.

51,937. And where does Mr. Todd live?—I do not know at all; I have not seen him for years.

51,938. At that election, did you carry on in your district the system of setting down names?—I really forget; I have not thought about past elections much. I do not know what was done at Hanmer's election at all.

51,939. Do you recollect whether in your district it was done to secure a number of votes?—Doubtless it was done; but I do not remember really doing it myself.

51,940. Do you recollect whether there was any particular place for paying?—No; I had nothing to do with the paying. I studiously avoided those matters.

51,941. Do you know where the men were paid?—I do not know where the men were paid.

51,942. Do you know how the men were paid?—I do not know how they were paid.

51,943. Did you keep any books?—A chairman's book, a private book of my own, the only one that I paid any attention to.

51,944. In 1841?—Yes; it was a chairman's book as it is called; a private memorandum book.

51,945. Would not that book contain information of the persons that required to be paid?—No, not at all; I never made any memorandum as to the payment of any men in it.

51,946. A return was made to you, as chairman, of those persons? information was given to you of the persons who required payment?—They were forwarded to the central committee.

51,947. Were they not first of all told to you?—Not directly; the members of the committee took down such names as they thought proper, and they forwarded them to central committee.

51,948. Is it not an important part of the canvass?—I marked off those that had promised in my book, and those that had not promised were to be seen by the members of the committee.

51,949. You marked off the names in the book?—Yes.

51,950. But you did not inquire into the means by which they were induced to promise?—No, not at all.

51,951. Who in your district would have the management of that?—I think Mr. Bannister.

51,952. Was he a member of your committee?—I think he was the deputy chairman, but he took an active part among the populous part of the voters.

51,953. That is Anthony Bannister?—Yes, he was really the man; he may be called the acting chairman for the time.

51,954. Was there at that election a system of purchasing lots of voters?—I never heard of it till a day or two before this last election; I did not go amongst the bulk of them.

51,955. As far as you know, the general system in 1841 was to set down names as runners and to pay them?—Yes.

51,956. Can you inform me at all how many names were set down in your district?—No, I cannot.

51,957. About how many?—I should not like to speak to ten, twenty, thirty, or forty; I should not like to say if it was twenty, thirty, or forty; I really have no recollection of it.

51,958. Would you say that it was not a hundred?—Certainly not in my district.

51,959. As far as you recollect, would it be from forty to sixty?—It might be forty or fifty, nearer forty probably.

51,960. Were there any other means taken for securing votes?—A little argument sometimes with them.

51,961. Was there then the system of paying for the use of rooms?—No, not at all; that I never heard of until within a few days of the last election; it is quite a new feature in the history of elections with me.

51,962. What was done with the book that you did keep?—In Hanmer's time?

51,963. Yes.—I expected that I might find it among some old papers at home; I have been rumaging for it, it may turn up; but I think nearly all the papers were destroyed, or given to the central committee; I was always very glad to get rid of them.

51,964. Did you take no part in the payment?—No.

51,965. Were not the bills sent into you as the chairman?—There were very few debts contracted by me; the clerks and those parties were engaged by the central committee, because I declined to have anything to do with the finance.

51,966. Would not all the bills that were incurred in your district be sent in to you?—No.

51,967. Where did they go to?—They would remain in the committee room; I did not take a paper away from the room if I could avoid it.

51,968. Would Mr. Bannister have it?—I do not know that he would.

51,969. He would at the time?—He might have it at that time; of course he would know all that he took down.

51,970. Did he ever return those papers to you?—No, he did not.

51,971. Did you ever pay any money at the election of 1841?—I am not aware that I paid anything; I will not say that I did not. I do not remember any money passing through my hands.

51,972. You may have paid some?—I may have paid some little current expenses.

51,973. To voters?—Not to voters. I am not at all aware of having paid any voters; certainly not. I have studiously avoided it.

51,974. Have you any means of knowing the sum expended in 1841 upon your side?—No, not at all.

51,975. You know that a arge sum of money was spent?—Yes, I am aware it must be so. I never heard or made it a matter of inquiry.

Mr. C. Wilkinson.

20th July 1853.

51,976. In 1847 did you take part in the election?—Yes, to a small extent.

51,977. Were you the chairman of the committee then?—Yes; of Mr. Baines' committee, a branch committee.

51,978. In which district?—The same district.

51,979. You were chairman of his committee?—Yes, in the North Myton district.

51,980. Who were the active persons on your committee at that election?—I cannot remember the names.

51,981. Was George Steeple one?—No, I think he was not at that time. There was an awkward split between Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown, and Mr. Baines had a committee room, and Mr. Brown had one. I forget the names now; a man of the name of Fowler, and a druggist in Spencer Street, Goldsmith I think. I forget the names of the other gentlemen just now.

51,982. Were those two active members of the committee?—Yes.

51,983. Did you yourself canvass at that election?—Not much. I went with Mr. Baines once to a meeting, where he addressed the voters out of a window.

51,984. Was the same system carried on at that election as at others?—Yes.

51,985. Were persons set down as runners?—They were set down as runners.

51,986. Who set them down at your committee?—I forget who was the clerk; it was the clerk who was told to put the names down of parties that came to apply.

51,987. Did you tell him that?—Yes; those were the instructions he had.

51,988. That was in order that they might be employed and paid?—Yes, employed at the election and paid, of course, if they were employed.

51,989. Thew would be employed?—No doubt.

51,990. I suppose you did that in order to secure their votes?—Certainly.

51,991. Can you recollect the name of that clerk?—No, I cannot just now; I will endeavour to furnish the names of the committee and the clerk also.

51,992. Were there any books kept upon that occasion?—If there were they were returned to Mr. Bright.

51,993. Who paid them?—I did not.

51,994. Who paid the names that were set down in your district?—I never knew where they were paid or how. I think Mr. Sidebottom paid them.

51,995. He was the solicitor for Mr. Baines?—Yes, he and Mr. William Eyre were the two solicitors.

51,996. Did you understand that Mr. Sidebottom was to be the person to pay?—No, I never knew how they were paid. When applications came to me for payment, I told them Mr. Bright was the person to whom I was to refer them.

51,997. Had you any instructons as to setting down names in that district from the central committee?—Yes; there would be, no doubt, instructions given.

51,998. What were they? Were they different from other elections?—No; just the same.

51,999. What were they?—To put the names down of men that required to be employed as runners.

52,000. Can you tell me how many names were set down upon your list?—No, not at all; a similar number to the former, I have no doubt.

52,001. You have been engaged upon several elections?—Yes.

52,002, Do you find generally that it is the same persons who are set down upon all occasions?—Yes, the same, generally.

52,003. Before you begin the canvass you have some knowledge of the persons who in all probability will require to be set down?—Yes; in a great measure we have.

52,004. Upon reading the canvass book?—Upon looking the street book over we know pretty nearly the number of men that will be standing out for the best figure as they call it. I have no doubt of that.

52,005. I suppose that would be the same in all the districts?—Yes; I have no doubt of it.

52,006. Any person conversant with elections upon your side would be able to do that in his own district?—Yes; any one who was conversant with elections.

52,007. Did you have anything to do with the purchase of lots of voters upon that occasion?—No; I never heard of it till within a day or two of the last election.

52,008. Were the names set down in the election of 1847, before Mr. Brown's name appeared as a candidate?—I think I refused to take a part in the election until after Mr. Brown came to the town. I said I was tired of it, and I declined to have anything more to do with elections. It was subsequently to Mr. Brown's coming down that, I think, I agreed to take the nominal chairmanship, as I wished it to be considered of the North Myton district.

52,009. After Mr. Brown did come, did you appear or act with his party?—No, not at all. I merely took the chairmanship of the North Myton district for Mr. Baines solely.

52,010. Did you hear at all what money Mr. Baines was called on to pay?—No, never.

52,011. Did you have any personal communication with Mr. Baines?—Yes; I was with him when he made an address to the people of the ward where I resided.

52,012. Did you have any conversation with him upon the subject of the management of the election?—No, not at all; not the slightest.

52,013. Or of the expenses?—Not a word?—his conversation and mine, I think, was principally upon education questions and railway matters.

52,014. Did you understand from his party that the election was to be carried on in the ordinary way?—Much of the management rested with the chairman at head quarters Mr. Bright.

52,015. Did you vote for Mr. Brown?—No.

52,016. For Mr. Baines only?—Yes.

52,017. A plumper?—I will not be quite sure, I think I did; perhaps you will correct me if I am wrong.

52,018. You voted for Mr. Brown, I see?—I am not aware that I did; it is possible I did.

52,019. What is your belief upon the subject?—My belief is that I voted for Baines only.

52,020. Can you recollect whether you yourself did not set down the name of Windass, in 1847?—I do not remember setting this name down; I remember the man.

52,021. Do you recollect the refusal on the part of Mr. Sidebottom to pay that man, or any discussion about it?—No, I do not; he was a man I should not have had any confidence in, or confided anything to him or with him.

52,022. Not having confidence in him, did you do the best to secure his vote by the ordinary means?—I am not aware that I did.

52,023. You do not recollect if you yourself set his name down?—No, I do not, I am sure; I think I avoided it.

52,024. I suppose in 1847, as in 1841, you will not say you did not set a name down?—No; I am not sure that I did not set a name down occasionally, but I told the clerk to do so if I was there, and it is just the same thing probably; he kept a book with the names to return to the central committee.

52,025. You were perfectly aware the system was being carried on?—Quite so.

52,026. At the election of 1852, were you chairman of any district?—Yes.

52,027. Which district?—North Myton.

52,028. That was on the part of the blue condidates?—Yes.

52,029. Did you act as chairman for several weeks before the election?—Yes.

52,030. Do you know how long Mr. Baines was in the field as a candidate, before Mr. Brown came?—It was understood very early that there would be a requisition to Mr. Baines.

52,031. Was there a requisition?—Yes.

52,032. As much as a fortnight before the election?—I should think so.

52,033. Three weeks or a fortnight, was it not?—A fortnight or three weeks; I did not take part in it. I signed the requisition to him, I think, some weeks before.

52,034. You were engaged at the election of 1852 for several weeks before the polling day?—Yes.

52,035. Were you made acquainted with the advice of Mr. Wells as to employment?—We had instructions from the central committee where we attended to employ two messengers, a doorkeeper, and a clerk.

52,036. That was in consequence of an agreement with the orange party?—So I understood.

52,037. Were you also made acquainted with the advice of Mr. Wells that no persons should be paid who were not actually employed?—Oh, certainly.

52,038. Your attention was drawn to the Bribery Act?—Yes; I suppose the Bribery Act went among other documents to the room, which I might look at and throw down again.

52,039. Were you with others on commencing your canvass, impressed with the necessity of employment of the electors?—Not much the first week; they were told they should be employed alternately; that we were not to employ more than four at a time, a few days each; and we should pay for the number of days they were really employed.

52,040. You did employ them alternately?—We did employ them alternately, except two or three men that were doorkeepers and clerks, the whole time.

52,041. Was not that regulation made for the purpose of evading the difficulty which Mr. Wells has pointed out?—It was necessary that we should have some to attend.

52,042. You divided the work that you were enabled to give amongst the different persons, did you not?—Yes.

52,043. You gave each of them their turn of three or four days?—Yes; or four or five days.

52,044. Was not that done that you might employ a greater number of persons, and yet observe the agreement with the orange party?—Yes. I would just observe the working of that election did not devolve so much upon me as upon the deputy chairman and the clerk I resided in the country and could not so much attend to it. Those instructions were given to the clerk.

52,045. From the central committee?—From the central committee.

52,046. To employ persons for three or four days?—Yes.

52,047. Were you instructed by the central committee to take down the names of all the persons applying for employment?—Not in the first instance.

Mr. C. Wilkinson.

20th July 1853.

52,048. To take them down, not to employ them?—Yes; to take down the names of all that applied.

52,049. As early as the 12th of June you were directed to take down the names of all that applied?—Yes; I should think he would take down the names of all that applied without making a promise that they should be employed.

52,050. Was it about the same time you were told to employ those who were to be employed only for a short number of days?—The first and second week; I am not sure whether it extended to the period or not.

52,051. Who were your committee?—Henry Gibson and John Gildard Jackson.

52,052. Where does Gibson live?—In Prospect Street.

52,053. Where does Jackson live?—In Carlton Terrace, Spring Bank.

52,054. Was Steeple your clerk?—W. B. Steeple.

52,055. Is that the son?—Yes, he is the young man—the junior Steeple.

52,056. He is the man that acted at your former election?—Certainly.

52,057. Who were the other active persons on your committee?—The members of the committee?

52,058. The persons who took an active part?—I thought I gave you in a list.

52,059. I do not want the names of all the members; did Henry Croft act?—Yes.

52,060. Where does he live?—In Spring Street.

52,061. Did anybody else take an active part?—Yes, all those did; Dannatt is another.

52,062. All the persons in the first page of this book took an active part?—One of them is dead—No. 3.

52,063. Were any of the persons on your committee paid?—I see the name of the party from whom the committee room was taken, Stephenson; the committee room was in his house.

52,064. Was he a member of the committee?—Yes; he assisted us on his part.

52,065. Was he paid otherwise than for the use of his room?—Not that I am aware of.

52,066. What was he paid?—The agreement was made with the central committee. I did not inquire how much; the rooms were taken before I joined them.

52,067. What is his Christian name?—I can supply the Christian names fully afterwards.

52,068. Where was the committee room?—In Prospect Street.

52,069. This book marked No. 3, is your own private canvass book?—Yes.

52,070. Such a canvass as you had at former elections?—Yes; I had hoped to have found them with Mr. Harris; if I do so you shall have them.

52,071. There were other books and papers at your committee?—Yes; a larger book than that. I sent in an alphabetical book. I had that book made to my own order.

52,072. Were there not weekly pay sheets kept at your committee?—Yes; by the clerk.

52,073. Would the names of the persons set down and employed be upon those papers?—Yes.

52,074. Would they be in any other paper besides, or book?—No, not in any book. I expected the papers were filed and taken care of. I am afraid they have not been.

52,075. Where are they now?—I do not know.

52,076. What did you do with them?—I left them in the room. When I saw the election was over, at noon, I ordered my vehicle to be brought to the door, and I drove down into the country. At three o'clock I left them all, and never saw them again.

52,077. You have no papers?—I have not.

52,078. Can you tell me how many persons were set down at your committee?—I have sent a list in as near as I could make it out. I have had the clerk with me; he brought a few slips of paper that he had found by him, and from that I made out that list.

52,079. This is the paper you have made out with your clerk?—Yes; the best we could make out so far.

52,080. There are not any names on this list, only the number?—In the fourth week there were twenty-two.

52,081. Can you give us the names?—I cannot.

52,082. Do you mean to say there was not more than those set down?—Yes; ther were.

52,083. How many?—There were twenty-two the fourth week, and I think about thirty something in the last; they were the same persons in successive weeks. There were about twenty-two men, I see here, in the fourth week, and in the fifth week the same names would be repeated,—altogether thirty-four.

52,084. How many do you suppose were set down altogether? how many different persons?—Between thirty and forty.

52,085. Not more?—No, I should think not.

52,086. On looking through your canvass book you would be able to tell the names of persons who would require to be set down?—Yes.

52,087. Then if you would look through this canvass book, you can tell me the persons who were likely to want to be set down?—I could, no doubt.

52,088. Was there any other means taken in your district for securing votes besides setting the names down as runners?—How am I to understand the question?

52,089. Was there any pecuniary mode of procuring votes, besides setting them down as runners?—Yes, of course there was, the latter part of the time. There were applications made by many persons to take their rooms as committee rooms.

52,090. How many applications do you think were made?—I should think three or four.

52,091. Can you recollect the names of those?—A man of the name of Francis Clappison.

52,092. Give us the residence?—Near the Paragon. Then there is Hall, in Brook Street, I do not know his Christian name. There was another man, a publican, in Cross Street, I forget his name now.—he applied.

52,093. Do you not recollect the name of the publican?—I will see in the book; I forget the name now. I paid no attention to the application; I left it to the parties canvassing. I told them I would have nothing to do with the cash in the committee room personally.

52,094. Do you recollect the name of any other person.—No; those were reported to me by the canvassing members of the committee, as wanting to let their rooms, and that if they let their rooms they would vote for us.

52,095. And you referred them to somebody else?—They went to the central committee. I never heard of such things before.

52,096. This was the occasion you first heard of that system?—Yes; Hall, in Brook Street, had promised most distinctly to vote for us without any hesitation; and when I went round with Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler, they said it is no use our going in there, the other party have got his room. I did not know what it meant; we called on him and he said he had promised the others.

52,097. As far as you know, that system had not been adopted or acted on by your party before this election?—Not at all; I never heard of it.

52,098. Had you never heard that the other side had?—Not previous to this election, I never heard it.

52,099. You have said there were four names?—I beg your pardon,—there is another, Tesseyman, at the corner of Waterworks Street; I heard of several communications backwards and forwards,—the other party had offered so much, and that if we would give a pound more we should have it. I sent that to the central committee. I always thought he was a staunch blue, and that he had sold his vote.

52,100. What do you think he got?—I do not think 2*l.* would have bought him.

52,101. Did he get 5*l.*?—I do not know. I thought he was a man of principle; I should not have thought he would have sold his vote for 2*l.*

52,102. You think 5*l.* was a stronger inducement?—It appears so.

52,103. You told me that a few days before the last election you had heard something of the purchase of voters in lots?—Yes.

52,104. Where did you hear that from?—Near my own committee room door, just before I was going in the country,—I went down every night. A man came up to the door to me, and with all the electioneering professions he said he should wish to stick to me, and that if I would go with him we might buy 150 votes.

52,105. Who was the man?—Who he was I do not know. I was so annoyed, I said, go about your business; and I declined to have anything to say to him. Another one came to me, a man of the name of Rutherford.

52,106. Do you know where he lives?—He is a voter in our ward.

52,107. What did he say?—He thought if I cared for the election I should buy the votes.

52,108. The 150?—Yes.

52,109. What was the day on which the 150 were offered you?—I think two days before the election.

52,110. Did Rutherford say that he knew the party?—He knew where they were.

52,111. Rutherford's were the same 150?—He was one standing amongst a lot; he said that if I wished for the election we should buy those votes. There were three or four of them; I do not recollect their names; he was one of the number. I said, if they cared for the election, or for me, they would not do anything of the kind as sell themselves.

52,112. And you declined?—I declined.

52,113. Did you give any information on the subject?—I named that such a thing had been said, and they said they had heard of it over and over again.

52,114. Did they say whether anything had been done with those people?—No; I do not know that they did. The same thing was repeated to me on the morning of the election, half an hour before the polling opened.

52,115. By whom?—By the same parties professing to be very anxious to vote for us.

52,116. But at the same time to sell their votes?—They did sell after all.

52,117. Did they do so?—Yes, they sold themselves.

52,118. To the other side?—Yes.

52,119. Was any price named?—No; I would not listen to it at all; I would not have any further communication with them,—it was a thing that was studiously avoided by me. I had the same thing named to me in the morning of the election, and then I said, I see the election is lost, we may as well give up; unless any parties on our side were foolish enough to purchase the men, we had no chance of the election.

Mr. C. Wilkinson.

20th July 1853.

52,120. Who did you say that to?—To several parties; and instead of attending to the election, I went to my office at nine o'clock to my business. I saw it was over.

52,121. No resolution was come to on your side to purchase them?—I do not know at all as far as the central committee are concerned, as to what they did; but I declined to to have anything to do with it.

52,122. Did you know anything on your side of the limited amount of money?—No; not so much as I have heard here the last two days.

52,123. Did you hear of any other lots of persons besides those of Rutherford's, who wanted to be bought?—Yes; I heard the same communication had been made to other parties from different people.

52,124. You heard that from different people?—When I named it to some parties, they said the same offer had been made to several of the committees.

52,125. Did you hear one way or the other whether any of them were bought?—Certainly not.

52,126. Did you hear they were not?—I did not hear either way.

52,127. Did you hear of Mr. Wells' plan?—No, I did not hear it till I heard you talk of that plan here. The day before the election I said I thought there would be very much difficulty in our getting the returns as quickly as I should like at our respective committees, and I wished they would hit on a plan to have the voting papers conveyed as quickly as possible. The result was, that Mr. Wells applied to me to make a return of forty or fifty names.

52,128. Did you return the forty or fifty names?—I returned him between thirty and forty; I have the number down exactly,—I took particular notice of that,—I returned the names of thirty-four: twenty-two that I knew to be steady labouring men, not voters, and twelve of them voters. I returned the names of those twenty-two, the twelve I kept at my own committee room, and the others I sent to the central committee.

52,129. Where are they set down?—They are set down at the end of that book, the only document I could find.

52,130. They are stated as not being voters?—And the word central put to some, those I sent to the central committee.

52,131. There are others not ticked off?—Those are voters.

52,132. Are they persons that applied to be employed?—Yes, we had them employed; they were names we had on the list.

52,133. They were ordinary runners?—Yes.

52,134. Sent on to the central committee room on that day?—Not all of them. N. M. here means North Myton. I kept them to work in my own district.

52,135. Where do the voters appear that you sent on to the central committee?—The word central is put to them.

52,136. All these seem to be ticked off? (The book marked No. 3 was handed to the witness.)—It is so long since that I forget it. Those marked thus, with a tick are not voters.

52,137. Are you quite sure that contains the list?—Yes; I took them down myself. This is the only time I took down a list at our room; that was the night before the election. I made a selection of those I thought might be depended upon to carry the papers.

52,138. Those twelve that you sent in to the central committee are voters?—No, I kept those. The word "central" is put to those I sent to the central committee.

52,139. I thought you told me that was the list of the persons you set down for the purpose of supplying them to the central committee?—A portion of them.

52,140. I will draw your attention to what you said. You said Mr. Wells applied to me for forty or fifty names, and I returned him thirty-four?—I said wrongly if I said that I sent the thirty-four. I retained twelve, and sent the remainder. It is down here, twenty-one sent to central committee, and thirteen retained at my own room.

52,141. Did you retain the voters and send forward the non-voters?—Yes; for this reason, that I thought the non-voters were more to be depended upon in carrying the papers round. I should have more confidence in them than the voters, being engaged for so many days as runners. I did not feel that confidence in them.

52,142. The voters do not consider themselves obliged to work very carefully?—I doubt if they do on that day, and therefore I sent the non-voters.

52,143. They give you another consideration for the money than the work?—Yes, if they give their vote they think they have done a good day's work.

52,144. Did you have anything to do with the payment of money at all?—To a very trifling extent.

52,145. At the last election?—Yes.

52,146. You did pay something?—I paid some trifles.

52,147. Did you pay a person of the name of Thomas Rutherford 2*l.* on the day of the election?—Certainly not. I was going to state the payments I remember making; I should just like to name them. I paid some money out of my own pocket to get all the voting cards carried out. I sent word that I would give them 10*s.* each; there were two men to carry the voting cards, Kavill and Rutherford. I do not remember giving any money to any others than those two.

52,148. Do you know Kavill's Christian name?—No; I do not know his Christian name.

52,149. Is it William?—I remember it distinctly. It is the only payment I remember making. I said I would pay 10*s.* out of my own pocket, and the vagabonds took the money, destroyed the cards, and voted against us; the voting cards were not distributed as they ought to be. I have a distinct recollection of those men.

52,150. You said you did not pay Thomas Rutherford 2*l.*?—No, certainly not. He is the man that came to me on the morning of the nomination day to buy the voters, and I ordered him to go about his business, and he said I will vote against you.

52,151. He wanted to make a bargain with you?—He did.

52,152. You did not pay him in company with Steeples the sum of 2*l.*?—Certainly not.

52,153. Did you pay any others?—I paid some little bills.

52,154. Did you pay any voters?—No, I am not aware that I did. Certainly I did not pay any voters. I gave another man a few shillings out of my own pocket. They were annoying me about my house, and I said go to my house for a flagstaff, and put it up, and I will give you a luncheon, or perhaps I gave them half a crown apiece.

52,155. Was there any place in your district for setting down names besides the committee room?—I think not. I had three rooms to use as committee rooms, the principal one at Stephenson's, another at the Paragon Inn, and another at Clappison's.

52,156. For the purpose of setting down names?—For the purpose of talking election matters over. I did not go myself to them; I was in the country.

52,157. What other object were they taken for?—It is an extensive district, and is in the heart of a number of voters; those three committee rooms were in different parts of the district.

52,158. Do you know where persons were paid in your district?—No.

52,159. Or by whom?—No; I never troubled myself about it. Do you mean previous to the election?

52,160. In the weekly lists?—They were paid by the clerk. He made it out himself, took it to the central committee, got the money, and paid the money himself on the Saturday, so that I had nothing to do with it.

52,161. Were there parties paid after the election?—That I never heard of; doubtless there would be, but I was not at all connected with them afterwards.

52,162. Those gentlemen who were active on the committee, were they getting names set down?—Yes; I find they were more active than I was, a great deal; I was so much in the country at the time.

52,163. Was any one of them appointed particularly?—No.

52,164. Mr. Croft?—He was one, but he was not more energetic than the others.

52,165. Do you know Rutherford?—Yes.

52,166. Did you know he was a person that was bribed in 1839 by having his freedom taken up, and that he has been bribed at every election since?—No; I do not know that.

52,167. He has told us so himself?—He is a man that will not vote without he is paid, and he ought to be disfranchised, and I hope he will never be enfranchised again as long as he lives.

52,168. This is the account he gives of himself: In 1839 he was bribed by the blues, in 1841 he was bribed with 2*l.*, and in 1847 he was again bribed by Mr. Brown?—Did he say that I bribed him at the last election.

52,169. No. Would you have shunned him if you had known that?—At least I fancied I knew his "phizog," as old Wilde says. Mr. Markham was an active member of our committee, and he will know more about these things.

52,170. Did the clerk take charge of these things, he seems to be the proper person?—Yes, he did.

52,171. They would all go the central committee room at some time or another?—They told me they had all done so when I inquired for them.

52,172. At any time previous to the day of the polling was any reference made by the legal adviser to what had occurred in 1837, and the necessity for avoiding what had taken place then?—Do you mean as regards bribery?

52,173. Bribery and treating, and offences against the Act of Parliament?—We were requested to be very particular.

52,174. That is not so easy a thing to do, as I dare say you found out, to interpret Acts of Parliament without assistance. I find in 1837 there was a solemn decision unanimously come to by a committee of the House of Commons that the runners at Hull were not entitled to vote, and yet he advised the increase of the staff?—I never heard of such a decision.

52,175. And it was a decision not only acquiesced in at the time, but it was one which was quite incontrovertible; it is simply a decision that a man who is a runner is not entitled to vote?—The runners do not all do work, but I always thought a man was entitled to a day's pay for doing a day's work.

52,176. There is the case of Robert Thorley, who came before the committee, and stated that he ran for ten days, and was paid 15*s.*; and by the unanimous decision of a committee of the House of Commons his vote was struck off?—I never heard of it before. I should have thought it unjust not to pay a man a day's work if he does a day's work.

Mr. C. Wilkinson.

20th July 1853.

Mr. J. P. Bell.

Mr. JOHN PEARSON BELL sworn, and examined.

52,177. I believe you are a surgeon in this town?—Yes; I am a general practitioner.

52,178. Where do you reside?—In Waverley Street.

52,179. Have you been long a resident in the borough?—I have been about twenty years in practice. I am a native of the town.

52,180. Are you a freeman?—I am not.

52,181. Have you voted at some of the previous elections, up to the last election as a householder?—I have.

52,182. At what are you rated?—About 50*l.*

52,183. How long have you been qualified? twenty years?—About twenty years.

52,184. I believe you have assisted the blue party?—I did at the last election.

52,185. Were you not active for the blue party at the election of 1841?—No; I voted for the blue party then.

52,186. Sir John Hanmer and Sir Walter James?—I voted for those two at that election.

52,187. Were you on any committee?—No.

52,188. Did you canvass at all for them at that election?—I think not.

52,189. Though you were not on any committee, did you attend at any committee room at that election?—I do not remember that I attended at any committee room.

52,190. Did you get any names set down at that election in the way we have been speaking of?—No; certainly not.

52,191. I do not know if you have been in Court this morning?—Yes.

52,192. Did you get any names set down at that election?—I do not think I took any particular interest in it.

52,193. Did you make any payments connected with that election of any kind?—None.

52,194. Did any money at all pass through your hands?—No.

52,195. Through—that would be in and out?—Nothing that I know of; I do not remember anything.

52,196. Now in 1847, when Clay, Baines, and Brown stood, did you vote for Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown?—No; I voted only for Mr. Baines. I signed the requisition to Mr. Baines. I think I voted only for Mr. Baines.

52,197. Do you remember if you were upon his committee?—I was.

52,198. What committee were you on?—I was on the South Myton committee. I think, but during the latter part, after Mr. Brown was spoken of, a committee was formed in our district, in our ward, the South Myton ward; a branch committee room, simply for the purpose of getting up voters, and I was elected deputy chairman of that branch committee.

52,199. Of Mr. Baines?—Of Mr. Baines.

52,200. What do you mean by it was principally for getting up voters?—We were not aware that there would be any opposition in the first instance, but when we found Mr. Brown was coming down, I was asked, as a member of the committee, to exert myself a little in getting up voters from the west end of the town.

52,201. Do you mean getting a list of them?—In getting them brought up to the poll.

52,202. When was this room you are now speaking of engaged?—I should think three or four days before the election.

52,203. I do not quite understand the use of this particular room?—It was my own suggestion.

52,204. It was your own suggestion?—Yes; I think it was.

52,205. What was it for?—In order that we might have some place in that particular district at which we could call and give any directions about such parties as were to be sent up to the poll. Mr. Foster, if I remember right, was the chairman, or Captain Hayden, I am not sure which.

52,206. I understand you to say it was very near the committee room?—No; it was on account of there being no committee room near that this room was taken.

52,207. Where was your committee room at that election, the one to which you belonged?—I think, if I remember right, it was in Osborne Street; I am not sure.

52,208. The committee at which you attended was in Osborne Street?—I never attended a committee meeting.

52,209. Did you not attend the committee at all?—No, I never did.

52,210. Not when Mr. Brown was announced as a candidate?—Not that I am aware of.

52,211. Where was this room?—The committee room?

52,212. No, the other room?—That was in St. James's Square, near the church, near my house, at that time.

52,213. That you say was taken two or three days before the election?—Two or three days before the election.

52,214. Did you attend to that room?—Occasionally. There was very little business done at that room; it was more for the sake of having a place there.

52,215. Do you mean th keep the poll in, or was it for the books belonging to the poll?—The list in connexion with the voters in that particular district, where you could find out the precise place in which those voters lived, and that we could go and see if those voters had gone up to the poll.

52,216. To see if they had gone up to the poll?—To see that they had gone up to the poll.

52,217. The room was engaged three or four days before?—Yes, it was.

52,218. Were there books at the room in which names were placed of voters?—A kind of poll book, an alphabetical list of voters, I believe, it would be. It would be some guide for us, merely the names of those voters who lived in that particular part of South Myton.

52,219. Was it near the polling place?—No, it was at a distance.

52,220. The polling place was in Osborne Street?—Yes, at the further end of the town. It was for the convenience of the clerks; rather than have those books at my house, they suggested we should have a spare room.

52,221. Was the committee held at your own house?—No; there was no committee.

52,222. The books would be at the committee room—the ordinary books?—Yes, but they were sent to us, I think.

52,223. Were there perons set down upon that list, in the ordinary sense of the words "setting down" upon the list?—No, certainly not; there was no setting down. It was merely to facilitate the looking after voters, and getting them prepared to go the poll; seeing they were canvassed and sent up. There had been no canvassing, if I mistake not, up to that time.

52,224. Did you commence about the time of Mr. Brown being announced?—Three or four days—just before the election. It was in consequence of Mr. Brown being announced that this canvassing was carried on by three or four of us.

52,225. In consequence of Mr. Brown's announcement I suppose there was a good deal of excitement at that election?—There seemed to be.

52,226. That is, consequent upon it?—Yes, in consequence of it.

52,227. Only three or four days before the election was begun?—He was brought to the town very late in the day.

52,228. During those three or four days, do you know whether any course was taken of setting down the names of runners, the same which had prevailed at former elections?—Not the slightest; but it was thought necessary by myself and a few others that not one should be canvassed. We had thought it unnecessary previous to Mr. Brown's coming, and we were anxious to secure Mr. Brown's election. I was afraid that, by bringing in Mr. Brown so late in the day, many might be tempted to vote for Mr. Brown. And as regards Mr. Baines, having signed the requisition, I believe, I thought it my duty to do all I could to secure his election.

52,229. You do not know of any lists being made at that election of Mr. Baines?—No, not at all.

52,230. Did you make any payments at all that election?—I do not think any. We had no staff of men. We had a clerk and a doorkeeper; I believe those were all who would get paid, I have no doubt, at the central committee.

52,231. You do not know of any payments being made at your committee?—At the central committee I know nothing about.

52,232. At the last election of 1852, I believe, you were chairman of the South Myton ward?—I was.

52,233. Who was your vice-chairman?—In the first instance, Mr. Preston and Mr. William Croft.

52,234. Who were your clerks?—Moses Margeson was one, and Mr. Plaxton was another; I do not know his Christian name.

52,235. For Moore and Butler?—Yes. I had better explain. South Myton ward is a very extensive ward, and contains something like 1,300 or 1,400 voters.

52,236. We know it is a large district.—I was going to observe, that after the committee had sat once or twice, probably it was thought necessary to form another committee room, so that I lost one of my vice-chairmen, who went to be chairman of the second committee room.

52,237. What was his name?—Preston. Another gentleman went from me, Mr. Charles Wells, as his deputy chairman, and I got another deputy chairman in his stead.

52,238. They went to another room?—Yes, in Osborne Street.

52,239. Was it Preston?—Yes, Charles.

52,240. Of what place?—Bellevue Terrace.

52,241. Is that a list of the committee?—As far as I remember. My deputy was William Croft, and Mr. Robert Ash was another member of the committee.

52,242. Who was active on the committee besides yourself?—Very few of them active men, I am sorry to say. Mr. Croft was an active man, Mr. Robert Ash was an active man, John Jackson was an active man.

Mr. J. P. Bell.

20th July 1853.

52,243. And you yourself? I believe you attended pretty constantly?—I was very frequently in and out; I could not remain long at a time, but I did the best I could.

52,244. Your clerk, can you give me his name?—Morley Margeson.

52,245. Did he have the care and charge of all the books and papers?—No; altogether there was a good deal of division of labour among us.

52,246. But you had books and papers, such as all the district committees appear to have had; books of every kind?—Minute books, and things of that sort.

52,247. He attended to the minute books?—Yes.

52,248. What became of them?—I do not know. A week after the election I was requested to send all the books and papers, relative to the election, to the central committee; I had a note to that effect, and I sent the note to my deputy, Mr. William Croft, with a request that he would attend to it. When I had a request from the Commissioners a few weeks ago, to send in all books and papers, I saw my deputy chairman, and he assured me they had been sent in, according to my request, to the central committee, a week after the election.

52,249. Mr. Croft told you that?—Yes; I do not know what became of them.

52,250. We find there was a resolution of the central committee that a certain number of persons were to be employed, and all applicants' names were to be entered on lists—all applicants for employment. Such a resolution of the central committee, we hear, was sent to all the district committees, of persons that were set down as applicants?—I do not remember such a resolution. There may have been one.

52,251. Did you have applicants at your room for employment?—We had some.

52,252. Did you put them on lists?—No, I did not,

52,253. Was it done at the room, I mean?—I believe that there was a list of them in one book.

52,354. An was that in the course of business?—With the names of those men who applied to be runners.

52,255. Can you tell me about the number that would attend?—I cannot at all; I have not the slightest idea.

52,256. Do you think as many as 100?—No, it was divided. We had about 800 voters in one particular district; we divided the district, and called one part of the ward the Pottery district, which was my district; and the other, I think, was called the South Myton district, which was under the control of Mr. Preston.

52,257. This is the resolution I advert to, that at the committee no runners be employed beyond those actually engaged; and then they go on to say that the names of all applicants for runners to be taken down by the district in which they reside.—I have put down, since I received your request that I would do so, the names of every runner I remember to have seen or put down, or know anything at all about, on this bit of paper (handing in a paper). You observe some with a cross affixed to their names; those men were engaged first—we had those from the first to the last.

52,258. Three of them?—Yes, I believe there were. We had some directions that we were to employ three or four runners up to a certain day, and those men were employed from the first.

52,259. And the others?—The others I remember seeing in the room, but I do not know whether there are any more. I do not believe they were frequently there.

52,260. Do you remember amongst the instructions, you being present at the time, it was agreed that the number of days was not to exceed four, for which they were to be set down?—I have heard it stated this morning. I have heard it stated; I was not prepared to hear the statement. I never knew it before.

52,261. For what number of days did you set down persons in your district?—Do you mean were set down to do the work of runners, actual work as runners from the very first, three or four names?

52,262. For what number of days? It has been stated a good many times that persons were set down; what number of days?—I think it must allude to the latter part of the time.

52,263. Were persons set down after the resolution was taken off?—There was a good deal of talk about a great number of men being engaged to carry out the election, and I believe at that time a greater number of men were set down; but I am not at all aware there were any particular number of days.

52,264. They were not included in this list, of course?—I think they would not. Those men would probably be there occasionally. They might be changed; I am not aware. Those four were there alternately—changed with the other four.

52,265. When you come to say you set down a great many in consequence of their being wanted, those were not wanted in that short list?—No; those men were working men.

52,266. Why would they not?—I cannot tell you that. I have no doubt my deputy, Mr. Croft, would be able to tell you.

52,267. Do you remember a single name, not having seen them in the list?—I know nothing about any men.

52,268. You and Mr. Croft could make it out together?—I asked the clerk, Margeson, if he had the list.

52,269. You have some other papers; have they been prepared in consequence of a note you have been troubled with?—I have brought them in consequence.

52,270. Do they relate to the election?—They do to a certain extent. I fancy they are furnished to each committee room.

52,271. What are they? are they in the nature of instructions to the committee?—Yes, some; and we had an abstract from the Bribery Act. I beg to observe that extract was read to the district committee.

52,272. Now, we also hear, that in most districts there were rooms engaged as committee rooms?—Yes.

52,273. Sham committee rooms they have been called; were there any such rooms as those in your district?—I do not think there was one; not to my knowledge, certainly. There was a room taken by myself two or three days, perhaps, before the election, but it was taken with a bonâ fide belief that it would be wanted, in order that voters might be taken there before proceeding to the poll. It was close to the booth.

52,274. Where was it in?—Osborne Street.

52,275. At what house?—It was Ware's, a furniture broker in Osborne Street.

52,276. What money was paid for it?—I think he was to have two guineas for the the week. He let it for a week.

52,277. Do you know Margeson, your clerk's, address?—St. James's Square; perhaps 15, or some number close to the church, 52,278. What was the course of payment of those employed at your place, clerks and other people?—Weekly, I think.

52,279. A regular list?—There were lists.

52,280. Pay sheets?—I made out the first, and probably the second.

52,281. The money was sent to you in some way?—I received no money except the first time.

52,282. Who made the payment?—I received the first money from Mr. Henry Barkworth. He called on me with the money; that is, after I took in the list, and handed it over to Croft, something like 7*l.* or 8*l.*

52,283. Who paid after that?—Croft paid all after that. That is the only money that passed through my hands during the election.

52,284. The only money of any kind?—The only money of any kind.

52,285. You have heard of this scheme of Mr. Wells? You had a great many persons you found who were wanted, without any reference to Mr. Wells' scheme?—I think it was principally.

52,286. Did you furnish any number of men—any quota of men from the district?—We furnished some of them. Some of our best runners we lost.

52,287. You did not think much of it?—I never could understand it.

52,288. How many of your best runners, or others, did you furnish in furtherance of the scheme? Do you recollect how many?—I know we lost some of our best runners; we lost their services.

52,289. Do you remember what quota you were to contribute from your district?—I think a dozen.

52,290. Did you furnish the names of twelve?—I think it would be; I am not certain upon that point; I think they would be furnished.

52,291. There is a resolution on the books for increasing not beyond a dozen, but it was long before the mention of this other scheme; this plan was only two or three days before the election?—I do not know that we furnished more than twelve.

52,292. Did you send twelve?—I think Mr. Croft informed me that we had to send either nine or twelve, to the best of my recollection.

52,293. What list did you take them from?—I do not know; I did not send them personally.

52,294. Did you not select them? did you miss them?—I missed those good men; I believe Metcalf we lost, and three or four of the best men.

52,295. Do you know a man of the name of Thomas Newlove?—Yes.

52,296. He was one of your runners?—Yes, he was a very good one.

52,297. I am told you gave him some money to buy a litter of pigs on condition that he would vote for you, is that so?—No, it is false.

52,298. What was the matter about the pigs?—It is quite false.

52,299. There was something about a litter of pigs?—I know nothing about any pigs.

52,300. Do you remember Thomas Newlove, of Neptune Street?—Certainly I do; but I never paid him any money.

52,301. Have you heard there was any money given to him to buy pigs?—I do not remember hearing about the pigs.

52,302. This is the first you have heard of them?—The first I have heard of the animals.

52,303. I am told you lent him some money to buy pigs with, on condition that he would vote for you, and he then voted for Clay and Goderich?—I know nothing of the kind.

52,304. Do you know anything of the lots of voters we have been speaking of? Did any of them make application to your committee?—I do not know positively that any made application to my committee, except on the morning of the election. I have heard that there were those lots; I believe it was pretty generally known throughout the town that there were lots of voters open to purchase.

Mr. J. P. Bell.

20th July 1853.

52,305. Did you have any communication with Jefferson's party?—No.

52,306. You did not deal with him at all?—No, not at all; I never heard of Jefferson before.

52,307. Did any of them come and offer themselves to you on any occasion, either on the day of or shortly before the election?—On the morning of the election I was busily engaged in attending to my duties; I forget what the particular duty was at the moment.

52,308. In the committee?—In my own house, when I think, Margeson came up; I was busy writing, and he said there is a man from the Pilot Boy come to ask whether you really will have those men or not.

52,309. Did you see him?—No. I did not see him; I had heard there was a lot of men at the Pilot Boy; my answer is, I do not want his men.

52,310. You did not see the man at all?—I did not.

52,311. Did you send a message back by Margeson?—I think it was him; I afterwards understood that an orange flag was hung out at the Pilot Boy.

52,312. You did not see any of them yourself?—No.

52,313. Do you know any of those places where payments were made in disguise at former elections?—No.

52,314. Have you heard of other parties of a similar description?—I heard there was a lot at Wharam's, but I never saw any of them, and I never heard the names.

52,315. Did you hear of the name of Nicholson?—I heard of Nicholson's lot; I never saw Nicholson, and never heard of his terms.

52,316. What was the district Nicholson was in?—I am not sure whether the Pilot Boy or not; I do not know who was at the head of that lot.

52,317. The Pilot Boy lot had a person of the name of Brown at the head?—I do not know; I thought Nicholson was at the Pilot Boy. I never had any communication with him. I do not know what that lot was. I fancy it was not bought by anybody; that is my impression. It fell down between two stools; I think I made some remark at the time, that it served them right, or something to that effect, which I applied to them on the morning of the election. The Pilot Boy lot, I do not know who was at the head of them.

52,318. Do you know anything else?—No; I can give no further information.

52,319. On the subject of any election? 1841, 1847, or 1852?—I do not know. I may remark that I noticed, I think it was given in evidence here, by one of the witnesses, that a number of South Myton voters—blue—were bottled up, as it is termed, at the National school rooms, in Porter Street. I beg to deny all knowledge of such a thing. I do not believe there was anything of the kind. I do not know that the school room was used for any purpose connected with the election. One committee room was held at a school room, but it was a school room I hired.

52,320. Was it continued up to the close of the election?—It was; Gawthorp school-room it was called.

52,321. What was the name of the man?—Newbold, of List Street. There is another thing I have been told, that I bribed a man at Cottingham, and that I used some undue influence with him to bring him here. There was a market gardener, and perhaps they may say it was to furnish potatoes for the pigs; I may observe it is a complete fabrication. I happened to be attending a man of the name of Laming, a large market gardener at Cottingham, and I solicited him for his vote; he promised me his vote conditionally, and I accepted him on those terms, and they were these: he was suffering severely with rheumatic fever, and he said, if you get me well I will vote for you, and I will not vote unless you do; of course I got him better.

52,322. You got him well enough to vote for you?—He voted for us. I do not acknowledge to having given him anything by way of bribing him.

Mr. R. Cattley.

Mr. Richard Cattley sworn, and examined.

52,323. Where is your residence in Hull?—Albion Street.

52,324. Are you on the register as a 10*l.* householder?—I suppose so; I am on the register.

52,325. What is the rental you pay within the borough?—£75.

52,326. How long have you been a voter?—Since the Reform Bill.

52,327. Have you lived all your life in Hull?—No; I came here after the close of the war in 1817.

52,328. You voted in 1837?—Yes.

52,329. What is your business?—A merchant.

52,330. You, I believe, have taken an interest in the elections?—Yes, since the Reform Bill.

52,331. And taken a part in them?—Yes, certainly.

52,332. You are not a freeman?—I am not a freeman.

52,333. At all the elections in which you have been engaged, do you know that that system was carried on, of securing vote sby some money payments?—Yes, by leading them to expect that they should have it.

52,334. And carried on to any considerable extent?—Yes.

52,335. By both sides?—No doubt of it.

52,336. Were you active at the election of 1841 for Hanmer and James?—Yes.

52,337. Your own name has been struck off the poll for bribery?—Yes, of course under false pretences, because the evidence upon which the vote was struck off on that occasion was not true. A man at Barton stated I treated him in a public house, whereas I was not in the public house at the time.

52,338. The committee took a different view of it?—Yes, they did.

52,339. Your attention was closely called to the question of bribery on that occasion? Oh yes.

52,340. In 1841 were you on any committee?—Yes, I was at the central committee; I was not a member of the committee, but I was at the central room.

52,341. It was for James and Hanmer?—Yes.

52,342. Did you yourself canvass?—Yes, with the candidates, very frequently.

52,343. Did you take any part in more essential matters?—No; I had nothing to do with the particular part of the election.

52,344. Being a member of the central committee for James and Hanmer, do you know the amount of money paid at that election?—I was not a member of the central committee, but I was at the central committee.

52,345. Being there, did you hear at the committee the amount of money expended at the election?—I dare say I did after the election was over; I was not privy to the payment of it.

52,346. How much was it?—£6,000 or £7,000.

52,347. For the two candidates?—For the two; I believe so from what I have heard.

52,348. Did the same system of setting down names prevail?—Oh yes; it has always been so.

52,349. Do you know of any of the particular circumstances of the 1841 election? did you take any part in them?—Nothing further than canvassing with the gentlemen and assisting to get their votes.

52,350. That is, the mere nominal canvass?—At that period we had a Mr. Quin here, and Mr. Cracknell was the solicitor, he managed all the books and matters.

52,351. Was Mr. Quin a solicitor?—No; the editor of the Hull Packet, and he was a leading electioneering man.

52,352. Is he alive now?—I think not; he went to London afterwards. He is dead, and so is Mr. Cracknell.

52,353. They were the two principal persons who managed the election?—Oh yes; they managed the thing, the matter of fact they managed.

52,354. Who was the chairman of this ward for James and Hanmer?—I think it was Mr. Hassell; I am not certain.

52,355. Mr. Clifford Pease was the chairman?—Oh yes; he was. I did not know.

52,356. Do you know who was an active man on the central committee, who is alive now? can you tell me the name of any person who would be active there?—At that period I cannot tell; if you can tell me the names of the parties that were down, I can tell you who was the most active.

52,357. Was Mr. Gleadow?—Yes, Thomas Ward Gleadow; and Mr. Robert Gleadow also was an active man at the time.

52,358. Mr. Beadle?—Yes; John Beadle, and Mr. Barkworth.

52,359. Which one?—The late Mr. Barkworth, the father of the present, and Mr. Gadstone, now living in Surrey.

52,360. Would he be a very active member?—Yes, he would.

52,361. And would know most of the secrets?—Yes; I think he would.

52,362. Anybody else?—I do not recollect.

52,363. Who was the paymaster?—I cannot tell you; I do not know anything about paying; it was managed by the solicitors, the paying was at that time.

52,364. Who was the solicitor?—Mr. Cracknell.

52,365. He had some very able assistants?—I dare say he had.

52,366. Do you know how the people were paid?—No.

52,367. Nor where?—No; I know nothing about it.

52,368. Mr. Dryden,—was he one?—Very possibly; I cannot say I recollect particularly the name.

52,369. Was Mr. Sidebottom active?—Yes; he was one employed I should think.

52,370. He would probably know a good deal?—Yes; I should think he would.

52,371. Was there anybody active in the way Mr. Steeples was?—I think Mr. Steeples was there at that that period, very likely.

52,372. Was Mr. Linwood there?—I remember the name, but I do not know the man.

52,373. The elder Steeples, you think was at the central committee?—I think very likely.

52,374. You do not recollect who was the clerk?—No; I do not.

52,375. Can you tell me of anybody likely to pay money or give us any information of the election?—Indeed I cannot: I do not know who paid the money. I fancy it was done entirely through Mr. Cracknell's management, and the other gentleman I named, Mr. Quin.

Mr. R. Cattley.

20th July 1853.

52,376. Were you in 1841 partly engaged in paying yourself?—No.

52,377. Do you know a man of the name of Farthing?—Yes.

52,378. Farthing had the West Sculcoates committee?—I do not know.

52,379. Do you know a lady of the name of Mrs. Hopper?—I have heard the story related of some money paid through a door; that is a perfect lie, there was nothing of the kind as far as I am concerned; certainly it is a fabrication made by some of the gentry who delight in making mischief.

52,380. It was said that money was paid at a house in Saville street?—I heard of it.

52,381. Were you there at all?—I do not believe I was ever in the place; I know nothing about it; I had nothing to do with it. I was not in the district committee at that time.

52,382. Did you hear from your party that money was paid in such a house?—No, I know nothing about it at all at that period.

52,383. Did you hear, during the election, or after, that the money was paid to the voters by persons disguised?—I was not aware that such a thing took place; I have heard it mentioned in Court.

52,384. I mean at the time?—I am not aware of it.

52,385. Nor paid in such a manner that the person paying could not be seen distinctly?—I know nothing about the payments at that period.

52,386. Do you know a person of the name of Binks at all?—Binks, the painter; there is such a man. I don't know anything of him.

52,387. Were you at his house during the election at all?—No.

52,388. Canvassing or paying money?—I paid no money at that election to the best of my recollection.

52,389. You would recollect if you were there paying voters?—I think I should.

52,390. You say you were not there?—I think not.

52,391. Can you have any doubt about it?—I have no recollection of it; if you can draw it to my mind, I shall of course acknowledge it; but I do not think that I was.

52,392. Did you hear that money was paid at Binks's?—I know nothing about the paying of the voters at that period.

52,393. Did you hear of it during the election?—I cannot say.

52,394. Or afterwards?—I really do not recollect anything of that sort.

52,395–6. In 1847, did you act at all in the election of that year?—Not at all, I merely voted.

52,397. At the election of 1841, do you know whether your son was engaged in paying at this house in Saville street?—No, it is not likely that he was; he was too young at the period to have anything to do with elections.

52,398. As far as you know, he had nothing to do with the election?—Certainly not in 1841; I had a half brother here at that period, Stephen Robert Cattley.

52,399. Can you tell me whether he was engaged?—I do not know that he was.

52,400. Did you hear at any time that he was engaged?—No; I do not recollect it.

52,401. Have you reason to believe that he was?—I really have no reason to believe that he was; I do not recollect it; Mr. Farthing will tell you, for he had the management of the committee and will be able to tell you.

52,402. Where is he?—He resides in Hull.

52,403. Do you know where he lives?—I think he lives in Charles Street; his office is in High Street

52,404. What is his business?—He manages a business for a gentleman here.

52,405. Will you give me some direction by which we can find him?—William Farthing; a note addressed to him simply, will find him. I believe he lives in Portland Place.

52,406. He manages a business?—Manages an oil business for Mr. John Wood; his office is in High Street.

52,407. It was the elder Farthing, was it not? there is father and son?—I conclude that it was so; I do not know that it was; he had a son, but I think he was too young to have anything to do with the election at that period; he was a young man then, and now he has gone abroad.

52,408. Were you on any committee in 1847?—No.

52,409. Were you at all engaged in any election?—No; I merely voted.

52,410. Who for?—Mr. Baines. I do not know whether I voted for Mr. Brown or not; I think it probable that I did. If anybody asked me of our party, I should have done it. I was not interested in the election, for they were none of my colour.

52,411. Do you know anything about the election whilst it was going on?—No; I took no interest in it.

52,412. You had nothing to do but voting?—Nothing but voting and going to a luncheon the day after that; the friends of ours gave a little jollification; I joined with them.

52,413. A private matter?—A private matter.

52,414. The poll book states you are of Albion Street, and voted Baines and Brown?—That is right.

52,415. At the last election you were chairman of a committee of the blue candidates in West Sculcoates; how long before the election did you begin to act in that capacity?—Three or four weeks I should think.

52,416. Did you receive notice from the central committee, or otherwise, of an agreement with the orange party as to the number of messengers to be employed?—Yes, I think there was something of that sort; we had to take on a small number of people to assist.

52,417. A small number only?—A small number only.

52,418. Were you also told of Mr. Wells' advice, that no person should be paid but those actually employed?—I do not recollect that.

52,419. At all events, you did not take much notice of it?—It was not advice that I should have given myself, although I dare say it was very legal.

52,420. You know that an active canvass was commenced in your district?—Yes.

52,421. From the very beginning I presume there was a pressure upon you to set names down for employment?—Many men of course offered themselves; we did not take them on for the first fortnight; we kept them off as much as we possibly could till we got near the time.

52,422. You kept them off, but did you set their names down?—Probably some of them we did.

52,423. And told them they would be employed when you wanted them?—Yes.

52,424. Were they satisfied with that?—I dare say they were, some of them.

52,425. You perfectly let them understand at one time or other they would be employed?—Of course, they expected it.

52,426. From the beginning you say you did not take much notice of the advice of Mr. Wells: did you from the beginning employ more than two messengers at the room?—Oh yes; I dare say we did.

52,427. A good many more perhaps?—I cannot tell you how many, I am sure.

52,428. In the course of the canvass there were a great many names set down in your district?—Yes.

52,429. Is your district a very large one?—Yes.

52,430. And you paid those men from time to time?—Those who were employed were paid weekly We began the first week and paid them, a few men coming at the time, 10*l.* or 12*l.*, or something of that sort, and then said, now you have had your turn we must give some other fellows a turn, and we tried the effect of that. On Monday morning I was walking up Saville Street and I saw one of my men, who I thought a decent fellow, standing at No. 21. I was perfectly satisfied then how the thing was to go; but however we avoided it as much as possible taking on runners.

52,431. Had you instructions or advice from the central committee to employ men for only a certain number of days?—I do not know I am sure; perhaps we had, I am not very closely controlled by instructions; that is not my idea of electioneering.

52,432. You are a very experienced electioneerer in Hull?—I have seen a few of them.

52,433. When you are engaged, you generally act according to your own views? You go in to win?—I do not think I am very easily controlled on subjects of this nature. If I do not think they are going right, why I am apt rather to go a little my own way.

52,434. The way you believe the best necessary to win the election in Hull?—Decidedly; you cannot win it without, that is perfectly certain.

52,435. Whatever you may be told of the letter of the law or the views of your central committee, you proceed to win the election?—I go as close to the letter of the law as I can with anything like a prospect of doing good.

52,436. In the first week you say you paid 10*l.* or 12*l.*?—Yes.

52,437. Did that increase very much towards the end?—Rather.

52,438. How much?—I think the next week was something like 20*l.*, or something of that sort; I did not keep the account myself.

52,439. And what the next week?—I do not know.

52,440. What do you think was the largest one?—The largest I should think would be after the election.

52,441. How much do you think that would amount to?—I have not any list but the one I sent to Mr. Sheen.

52,442. Be good enough to look at these lists (handing some papers,); will those be the lists of persons set down in your district?—I do not know, I must refer you to the clerk.

52,443. Just look through them and see.—Here are some names here.——

52,444. Of persons employed?—Partly.

52,445. In whose writing are those names?—I am sure I do not know; they are not mine, probably the clerk.

52,446. Who would be the clerk?—A man of the name of Johnson.

52,447. Where does he live?—I do not know; the man behaved extremely ill; he got his pay weekly, and when the time came when he was wanted, he was so drunk that we could do nothing with him at all; he threw us all into confusion. I would not pay him, nor was he paid in any way; I knew nothing more of him.

52,448. I dare say you know how he voted, if you discharged him?—I do not know.

Mr. R. Cattley.

20th July 1853.

I think it probable that he did vote for us. I think at the time he was very drunk, and we had to fetch him out of the public house to do it.

52,449. What was his Christian name?—James.

52,450. Where does he live?—At Witham.

52,451. Who was your vice-chairman?—Mr. George Craven was my vice-chairman.

52,452. Was he very active?—Yes, he was. The fact is, Mr. George Craven had the principal management of the books, and the arrangements, and looking after these things. I only became chairman at the request of himself and some other parties, on condition that I should not have to attend to accounts and books, because I could not do it.

52,453. James Johnson, I see, voted for Clay and Goderich?—I was not aware of it.

52,454. You say Mr. George Craven was very active?—Yes.

52,455. Who was also active upon the committee?—In canvassing, Mr. Charles Horncastle.

52,456. In the early canvassing, not the nominal?—In the early canvassing, John Loft; Mr. Allcock, the druggist; Mr. Eccles, the grocer; Mr. West, a bricklayer; Mr. Richard Osborn, and Mr. Turpin in Russell Street.

52,457. Was there another clerk than Johnson?—Yes; there was a man of the name of Barron.

52,458. Would he be there always?—Not always. He owed some of the opposing party some money, and was so arrested. I believe he was away a day or two.

52,459. Would he be able to give information?—Yes; I think he would, in some degree. There is a Mr. Brown, also a clerk. He is a clerk with Mr. Richard Moxon, of the Yorkshire Fire Office.

52,460. Charles Brown is that?—I think his name is Charles.

52,461. Was the man who was arrested, arrested on the polling day?—No; I think not. I got him back again.

52,462. When did you get him back again? in time to vote?—A day or two before the election we got him out again; some of his friends helped him out, I suppose. Then there were two doorkeepers I had the whole time. Brown was a very active man in canvassing, and making up some of those lists, for anything I know.

52,463. Have you ever looked at those lists?—I see some of the names; I know one name.

52,464. I find some of the parties themselve voted blue; will that lead you to suppose their names were set down?—I think many of them would be so.

52,465. Do you know whose writing that is (handing the book.)?—They were written in the committee room. I did not attend to the accounts. That was the agreement that I had.

52,466. Look at that paper. (H.) Can you tell me what that paper is?—That is a paper I sent to Mr. Sheen. This paper I found at my office. My eldest son and Mr. John Hill had a committee room in Charles Street,—a second committee room,—and these had come from their room. I think he brought it to the office with him. Not having seen these men to pay them—these runners—he got the money at the central committee. He had gone out of town. He paid the greater part of them, and some that were not paid came to me; that I kept a list of, and that is how I had it.

52,467. That would be the list of runners at the other committee room, kept by your son and Mr. Hill?—Yes; I think so. One or two of these men were runners. I paid two or three of them in my son's absence.

52,468. Where was the committee room your son son Hill had?—In Charles Street.

52,469. Were there other committee rooms—sub-committee rooms?—Yes, which were not used. There was Edward Smelt, a coal dealer, he insisted on having a flag, or else he could not vote. We did not want his room; he objected, and said he must have a flag.

52,470. Did he insist on having 6*l.*?—No; he got 2*l.*

52,471. We have been told that he got 6*l.*?—I do not know who paid him, but he did got 2*l.*

52,472. What other rooms were there?—A man of the name of Turpin, a canvasser, in Reform Street, he would have a flag, and he canvassed a good deal for our party, and, I think, was very diligent. I believe he got 2*l.* for his room.

52,473. Anybody else?—I do not know any others.

52,474. You knew the system of securing votes by means of paying for rooms, did you not?—Of course; this man Smelt would not vote unless you took a room.

52,475. Do you know of the system being carried on before the last election?—Yes; it had been done before.

52,476. Had it been done on your side?—I think very probably. I cannot speak to the fact. I had nothing to do with the district committee till this election.

52,477. Two seems a small number. Can you say whether there were more than two at the last election?—I have given you two extra ones. There were three or four committee rooms. I am not aware of any others.

52,478. Not of those we call sham committee rooms?—There were two sham committee rooms. I know of one in Osborne Street which was a very useful one; it is a large district.

52,479. Even the useful room, did you take that from a person whom it was desirable to secure?—Yes.

52,480. In fact, whether the things that you required for the election were useful or not, did you make them a means of securing doubtful persons?—I do not think Mr. Smelt was. I cannot say whether he was very staunch or not; he professed to be so. The other man, Turpin, was a very staunch man on our side. I have no doubt at all about that. The man in Charles Street, I do not know anything about him; we wanted his vote, and he wanted to let his room.

52,481. What was his name?—Page is the name, if I recollect.

52,482. Where does Turpin live?—Reform Street. I think he can give some information about matters.

52,483. Where was your district committee held?—At the corner of Saville Street.

52,484. Do you mean Captain Turpin?—Yes; I think he has been a captain, under a shipowner.

52,485. Did you pay him for a room?—Paid ten guineas for that room.

52,486. Did you make that a means of securing his vote?—No; it was a room we had fixed on; we had had it before. I went there as a matter of course.

52,487. Merely because it was useful?—No: we wanted to take it the whole time. The man would not take less than ten guineas for it.

52,488. It was at Mrs. Hopper's house, was it?—No; I have not had the honor of seeing Mrs. Hopper for many years.

52,489. Look once more to these papers, to the letter P, and tell me what that can mean?—I know nothing about that.

52,490. Do you know a man of the name of George Holland, of Francis Street?—No.

52,491. Did you ever send for such a man to your office?—No.

52,492. Did you get him canvassed?—No.

52,493. Or use his influence?—I do not know such a man.

52,494. Did you have anything to do with the Barton people?—I was over at Barton, with Messrs. Moore and Butler.

52,495. Did you have any part in the more essential part of the business?—No. One of the voters, who has been here, has stated that I promised 3*l.*, but he did not get it. There is a little difference between him and me. He wanted me to promise, and I would not; I went to inquire, for I had nothing to do with the out-voters in West Sculcoates ward. I went and found the man had been trying at the central committee to get 2*l.* there.

52,496. Was it Baylis?—William Baylis. I know the man very well; we had had him on a former election. All these Barton fellows wanted to be paid.

52,497. Baylis was struck off in 1847, I see. He asked you for 2*l.*, I see?—Yes, and I refused to give it to him.

52,498. Did you refer him anywhere?—I told him he must go where the other Barton voters were; I had nothing to do with the Barton voters.

52,499. Where is that?—I do not know. I meant to do something for him; I meant to get the man his expenses. When I found at the central committee he had been applying there, I thought he was only trying to gag me, and I would not have anything to do with him.

52,500. Was there another man of the name of Edward Thompson?—I did not see him here at the election: I know him.

52,501. Did you see him at Barton?—I did.

52,502. Did he ask you to get him 2*l.*?—They all asked something. They wanted drink, and we gave them none. Formerly we used to do so, and they were dissappointed on this occasion. We made up our minds we would give them nothing.

52,503. You had nothing to do with the out-voters?—No.

52,504. Would they go to Mr. Barkworth?—Very possibly.

52,505. Do you know whether he was appointed particularly to deal with them?—I do not know that he was, but when I named this man having been there to me, Mr. Barkworth said,—"Oh, confound the fellow, he has been here; it is of no use your interfering with the out-voters, we will look after them," or to that effect.

52,506. Who said that?—Mr. Barkworth.

52,507. Did you hear of any lots of voters?—No; I had no application at my office from them.

52,508. Not in your district?—Not to me; they did not apply to me.

52,509. Not any lots at all?—No; I did hear casually, in the street, of such men, that they had applied to other people.

52,510. Was there any place in the district, separate from the committee room, where these were set down?—No.

52,511. Such a place as Legitt seems to have kept?—No; we had nothing of that kind.

52,512. What became of the books and papers kept at your committee?—I sent them all to the central the moment I saw we were beaten. I told the clerk to tie up the papers and send them to the central, and I have never seen them since.

52,513. There were payments made after the polling day?—This was paid after the polling day.

52,514. Had you not papers with you when you were paying?—I never paid any of the money. When the men were paid the weekly payments, I got the money and left the list with the clerk Brown; he was the man who paid, and he would know more about the payments than I do.

Mr. R. Cattley.

20th July 1853.

52,515. You say you sent all the books and papers to the central committee?—Yes; I told the clerk to bundle them all up and take them there.

52,516. Would the weekly pay sheets have the names of the persons who were set down upon them?—Of course the men who were on those pay lists, were set down, because they were employed.

52,517. Who were paid weekly, the others?—I am sure I do not know.

52,518. All persons who applied to be set down were employed at some time or other?—They were considered as employed, at least.

52,519. And all were paid?—I expect so; I do not know of any who have a claim; I am not aware of any.

52,520. How many can you say? Can you give me an idea how many names were set down in your district committee?—I really do not know; I did not keep the account, you see; if I had kept it, I should know something about it.

52,521. Should you think there were 200?—I should think not fifty.

52,522. These are the lists?—Many of those were regularly employed men.

52,523. We find those together?—My vice can tell you better than I can. You will have it under hand presently.

52,524. Can you tell me about it?—I really cannot say, because you see, for instance, this list came from Mr. Hill of Charles Street, but I cannot pretend to say; you must excuse me from doing so.

52,525. I do not know the distinction you draw between those actually employed and those not. They were all, from the persons who had applied, to be paid, were they not?—Of course they were.

52,526. When they applied to be employed, you understood them by that application to say, "if you will employ me, I will vote for you"?—Of course.

52,527. I suppose you thought, if you did not employ them, there might be some doubt about their consistency?—They would take it for granted, if they got their names set down they would have no doubt they would get paid.

52,528. The difference between those actually employed and those nominally employed, as you have observed, would be the strict letter of the law, of which you have spoken, would it not?—I am told that I am not very particular about the strict letter of the law in elections; I know very well that we lost the election from not putting enough men down; we were too strict in that way, a good deal.

52,529. Did you expend any other money than that you spoke of, during the election?—No; I spent nothing but what was paid in the committee room, not a shilling.

52,530. Those weekly pay sheets that you have spoken of?—Yes.

52,531. Those from your sub-committee room?—Yes.

52,532. How many vice-chairmen had you?—Only one.

52,533. Mr. Craven?—Mr. George Craven.

52,534. Was not your son also a vice-chairman?—No; he and Mr. John Hill went to Charles Street and took a room.

52,535. They had a little committee of their own?—Yes.

52,536. Supposing you had had the entire management of the election, I dare say you think the ultimate result probably would have been different?—I do not know that.

52,537. What do you think about it?—I think we should have made a better fight.

52,538. The Barton voters, your knowledge of them seems to have been considerable. Do you believe they are all amenable to money, are they not?—Yes; I think they are the greatest evil, the out-voters, that we possibly have to contend with.

52,539. Do you not consider making out-voters is objectionable?—Yes; they open the door to bribery.

52,540. Did you see the two Baylis's?—I only saw one, the father; I think he told me he had been to vote and he had gone to see some friend. I did not see him at all. I know the old man very well; he is an old man.

52,541. I find a record of him in the memorable year 1837; on that occasion they voted blue and were both struck off for bribery; this time they both voted orange?—They did? then they got paid for it you may depend upon it.

52,542. From your knowledge of the elder Baylis, he usually left the arrangement of these matters in the hands of his son?—I should think not, not formerly.

52,543. Do you know whether he did upon the last occasion?—I only saw the young man; he came to my committee room in the morning of the election.

52,544. Did you learn from the son that he was bargaining for the two votes?—The son told me his father had voted for us, and that he should do so if he could have this money. I told him that I should not promise him any such thing.

52,545. You understood the younger Baylis was bargaining for himself and his father?—He led me to understand that he had always voted for us, so he intended to cheat me.

52,546. You said you usually had resort to more energetic measures?—Yes.

52,547. Did you hear of the plan prepared by Mr. Wells?—Yes; I heard of it on the day of election. I did not hear any instructions from him; I had left the management of the taking the accounts to the clerks and my vice; I did not pretend to take an account of the election.

52,548. Did you consider it rather a strong measure to increase the staff 417?—I did not know how strong it might be; it did not act well; it did not answer the purpose he designed it for.

52,549. It did not answer as a piece of machinery?—No.

52,550. It was rather injurious, was not it, as a means of providing employment?—I should fancy that had not occurred to Mr. Wells, that that was the object of it. I think he thought that he had made a very clever plan to get a quick return of the electors; I should give him credit for not having the other notion.

52,551. If it had been left to you to frame a scheme for giving employment, do you think you could have done something better?—No, I do not think I could.

52,552. Even you, with all your experience?—I do not pretend to any great deal of experience.

52,553. The scheme was perfectly new to you?—Perfectly new to me.

52,554. From your long acquaintance with the poll books of voters in Hull, how many persons do you think there are who do not vote except for money?—I have never taken out the numbers.

52,555. I do not tie you down to the exact number. In your judgment, how many do you think there are who do not vote except for money—in your judgment and experience?—I cannot pretend to say.

52,556. What would you say? How many do you think?—I think 600 or 700.

52,557. Do you not put them beyond that?—No; perhaps I might. There are many men who want to be paid, who ought to be ashamed of themselves for asking for it. I really cannot pretend to give you the number.

52,558. Supposing those persons, who only vote for money, or expect money, were altogether struck off the register, do you think the struggle would be a pretty close one between the parties?—I think it would.

52,559. Very close?—I think it would.

52,560. I need hardly ask you, whether you think the result of the election would depend upon that party who is able to secure most of those who insist on being paid?—Yes, I do.

52,561. I understand you to say, you think the last election you did not employ enough?—We did not promise to pay enough, which is the same thing.

52,562. That had reference only to those who vote for money?—Just so.

52,563. You think the last election, you did not employ or promise to pay enough?—I do.

52,564. I think you said your son was the chairman of the committee in Charles Street?—He and Mr. Hill were there together.

52,565. Look at that note from your son to yourself. (83.) It is addressed to you, and probably signed by your son.—This is his signature.

52,566. I want to know what it means?—He has employed them at Charles Street room.

52,567. As what?—Runners.

52,568. What does he say?—"I beg to inform you the following have been employed in the committee."

52,569. Did you set those names down in your list, on receiving them from your son?—I should think they would be set down.

52,570. What was the object of sending that note to you?—That we might consider these men as of our party.

52,571. People who would vote for you?—Yes.

52,572. And to be added to your list?—To be added to our list of voters.

52,573. I have turned to the poll book, and I see they all did vote for you?—Yes; that is from one committee to the other, because the account of the promises went from my committee room, not from this one; all their promises would have to come to the Saville Street room.

52,574. It was a kind of branch of yours?—Merely so.

52,575. They would report to you, and on to the central committee?—Yes.

52,576. You would report those, as being to be put on the list, on receiving that note?—Yes.

52,577. You said about 600 expect to be paid, you think?—Perhaps there were more, for anything I know.

52,578. To which class of voters do you apply them, or to both?—I think generally the labouring men expect to be paid.

52,579. Are they generally freemen?—There are also a good many small housekeepers who want to be paid also.

52,580. In your experience, has the usual payment been about 30*s.* for each?—I cannot say, because I have not been in the habit of paying; I had not anything to do with the money transactions of former elections.

52,581. At the last election, was not the usual rate of payment 30*s.*?—Not quite so much; on this list, there as are many at 10*s.* as at one guinea or one pound.

52,582. Supposing 600 are paid in that way, by a direct money payment of 30*s.* a head, that would make up 900*l.*?—Yes.

Mr. R. Cattley.

20th July 1853.

52,583. Now, the expenses of the last election, in all probablity, amount to nearer 8,000*l.* for the two parties?—I think I have gathered that.

52,584. Now, you would not say that for the purposes of carrying on a pure contested election—a pure one—that the difference between 900*l.* and 8,000*l.* is a necessary expenditure, would you?—No, certainly not.

52,585. What was the purpose of spending the difference between 900*l.* and 8,000*l.*?—That I do not pretend to say, what number should be paid, or were paid.

52,586. You have told me, you think 600 would be about the number requiring direct payment?—I may think very wrong upon the subject; I do not know whether it was 600, or 1,600; I have never taken it out.

52,587. Have you ever formed any judgment of the motive with which so large a sum as 8,000*l.* is expended?—No; it has not been a matter for my consideration at all. If money is spent and paid, that is quite sufficient; I know very well there are very heavy expenses as well as paying the men.

52,588. Would there be a considerable dissatisfaction if any two candidates were to come on one side and profess not to spend more than 400*l.*?—They would have a very poor chance here.

52,589. Supposing they were to undertake to pay these 600, or a large proportion of them, that you spoke of, 30*s.* a head, and spend no more?—Probably they would find out that there was another 600 that wanted to be paid.

52,590. If they were to spend nothing in extravagance for goods?—I think it is a very objectionable thing having so much expenditure paid in goods of all kinds; it is perfectly ridiclous.

52,591. Is it not necessary to maintain the success of the election that it should be?—I do not think it absolutely necessary. Formerly we used to have a band of music which cost an immense deal of money.

52,592. You would advise that the candidates on each side should agree not to do it?—My opinion is, that some alteration should be made in the present system; they are obliged to spend a great deal of money.

52,593. Generally?—Generally in the town; in the simple article of cards, with crowns and anchors on them, and such things.

52,594. Are such orders given for the purpose of satisfying certain classes of people?—There is a continual application for those things at the committee room, for hundreds and thousands; there is never enough.

52,595. There would be dissatisfaction if those applications were not complied with?—Yes; a man comes and says, "I have a wife and half a dozen children, I must have a card a piece," and he gets half a score; and so the thing goes on to an enormous extent.

52,596. The application is from people who want them?—Yes; you must give them or they go away and say we can get plenty of the orange cards if you will not give them.

52,597. Do you think the money influence is carried so low as even to the value of a card?—Yes, I think so; I think people would be very much dissatisfied if they did not get them.

52,598. Would that dissatisfaction extend so far as to influence their votes?—I should not be at all surprised; a man may get out of temper and say, "I will not vote for those fellows, for they will not give me a few cards," likely enough.

52,599. How do you suppose the large expenditure for flags and printing and so on acts?—I never could understand. I think if all parties would be content to be without it, it would be quite as well. Formerly we used to have a band of music for each party; we had fifty fellows to engage to protect the band, and probably when they met the adversary band they had a regular fight for it.

52,600. Does this additional expense create materials for employing people?—I do not think it does.

52,601. What is the object of it, or what is the intended effect, rather? how does it operate?—The effect is to satisfy the parties who are voters, and to gratify them.

52,602. Does the satisfaction or dissatisfaction extend to the effect of inducing people who do not have an opportunity of reading the printed journals to abstain from voting, and is it for keeping up the spirit?—No doubt it is designed with that effect.

52,603. Take the notices, the printing of large numbers: you printed on the last occasion a large number of speeches?—Yes; I do not think it would have any beneficial effect; I dare say there would not be a fiftieth part of them read.

52,604. Do you think that accounts for your losing the election?—I do not think it has any effect at all.

52,605. A mere waste of money?—I think so.

52,606. They do not influence the election at all?—It would be a great deal better if they would do away with flags and cards too.

52,607. According to your idea it is a mere folly, and has no influence; then why not let the orange people indulge their own extravagance and folly?—I do not think that would do.

52,608. Why not?—If one man makes a fool of himself the other must do the same.

52,609. I do not see why you should follow it if it is to have no influence?—I do not know whether it may or not; probably people like to have a yellow ribbon or a blue ribbon at their breast.

Mr. R. Cattley.

20th July 1853.

52,610. Nearly 8000*l.* of strangers' money was expended in Hull in the course of a fortnight or three weeks; is that, do you think, a desirable result of the election?—I do not think I can give any opinion further than this, that I should say the system always has been followed, and some parties have been paid, and always expect to be paid as they always have been paid.

52,611. Would there not be great dissatisfaction against either of the party who should first put an end to that system?—Yes, I dare say there would.

52,612. Amongst whom would the dissatisfaction be? amongst the tradesmen losing custom?—I think very possibly.

52,613. You think it possible that the tradespeople would refuse to vote if suddenly one party withdrew the practice of giving extensive orders to the tradesmen?—I think it is very probable; I have no doubt at all at the election of 1847, when Mr. Brown came down, that man was brought down entirely by the tradespeople.

52,614. You believe that?—I believe so. I think the election would have gone off entirely without a contest at all if it had not been a design that there should be some money expended. That is my opinion; it was done a very few days before the election. Some Conservative tradesmen went and interested themselves to get this man, and of course, although many of the Conservative men voted for Mr. Brown, they did it more with the design to support any party with Mr. Baines, whom they had requested to come forward, and to keep Mr. Clay out, whom they were not particularly fond of.

52,615. You consider it was by no means a political contest in 1847?—I do not think it was; he was brought entirely with the object of making a stir in the town.

52,616. And to cause money to be expended?—Yes, consequent upon that.

52,617. Some of which you think would go into the tradespeople's pocket?—A good deal of it.

52,618. And some of those who got up the requisition?—A good deal of it.

52,619. That being so, before the parties determined on having two blue candidates, was there any careful examination of the register made so as to give an estimate of the probable result of the contest?—I dare say there was, but I was not privy to it.

52,620. Was there any general estimate, so far as you are aware, prepared by, or laid before the general committee?—I should think most likely there was, but I did not see it; I did not begin till the election was begun.

52,621. If that was so, who would be able to give some information about it?—I think the solicitor ought to be able to give you the information of the election.

52,622. Who would be the person who would be prepared. Mr. Wells has stated he came very late into it, only the 4th of June he was retained.—I really cannot say; I did not attend to that point at all; I never heard that such a thing was done. Formerly we had a regular statement from one solicitor, Mr. Cracknell; when he was our solicitor, in two or three instances, he gave in a very concise account of the very probable result.

52,623. The result of the contest of 1841 would probably lead you to believe,—supposing everything had been done,—it would be very reasonable to expect that two blues would have succeeded?—Yes.

52,624. In the mean time it occurred in 1847 the blues did not succeed in getting one candidate,—could not even get any man to stand?—No.

52,625. How do you account for that? were the blue party afraid to venture?—I suppose they did not choose to stir in it.

52,626. You are a person having a strong feeling; can you in any way account for why it was the blue party could not get a man of their own in 1847, seeing that at the previous contest they actually returned two?—I think it was their unwillingness to disturb the town, and we were very much pleased with Mr. Baines. He had been our recorder here, and was a man we all respected very much, and I for one was quite willing he should come again.

52,627. Probably you heard your party were to make most strenuous efforts to get up a blue candidate?—I do not know.

52,628. Would you have heard that Sir Robert Inglis was written to, and London was hunted for a candidate?—I did not hear it. I was not interested in it at all. I was quite willing when I found Mr. Baines was coming forward, to be satisfied with him. I was in hopes it would have avoided a contest. I think most of our party were under the same feelings.

52,629. Do you know that your party were in communication with Sir Robert Inglis, and other gentlemen in London and Liverpool, and that Liverpool and London were hunted?—I was not consulted about it, and I am not aware of it; probably it might be the case, but it was my feeling, like many others, that it was much better to avoid a contest if we could bring in Mr. Baines; and certainly, as the matter stood, it would have been right to have done so.

Thomas Lidgard.

THOMAS LIDGARD sworn, and examined.

52,630. Where do you live?—South Parade, Anlaby Road.

52,631. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

52,632. At what rent?—£6.

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

52,633. Are you a freeman of the borough?—No.

52,634. Have you ever been a voter?—No.

52,635. Have you been in Court during any of the previous inquiries, on the examinations of any of the witnesses, where your name has been mentioned?—Yes.

52,636. Do you know that you are the person we have been calling Leggit by mistake?—Yes.

52,637. You never were a voter?—No, never.

52,638. You have been employed by parties in electioneering matters?—A little, both this last election and the election previously.

52,639. In 1841?—No.

52,640. Did you take any interest in the election?—No; not at all.

52,641. In 1847 I believe you took a considerable interest?—No; I was merely an assistant under Mr. Bannister.

52,642. How came you to be employed by Mr. Bannister?—Merely assisting in anything he told me to do, that he was not able to do I did for him.

52,643. When were you first employed?—I think it was two days during the election, the nomination day and the polling day.

52,644. Were you employed extensively setting down voters?—No.

52,645. How many names did you set down?—I set down as voters.

52,646. What did you do?—I was there to do anything he gave me to do; anything he was not able to do I went out and did it for him, as far as was in my power.

52,647. What did you do?—If he thought there were any likely to be on one side of the question he sent me to solicit their votes.

52,648. To canvass?—Yes.

52,649. What else?—Nothing else.

52,650. How were you to secure them?—I could not secure them at all. I solicited for votes, and got them to go to the poll, parties I knew; I had a conveyance to go to the poll.

52,651. You had an extensive acquaintance with many of the freemen?—Yes.

52,652. Which you told to Mr. Bannister when he employed you?—Yes.

52,653. That was the reason for it?—Yes.

52,654. How many years have you been in Mr. Bannister's employment?—I have been employed for several years.

52,655. Will you say how many years?—Not in election matters, in the shipping interest.

52,656. What were you employed in in 1847?—That was all I was employed in.

52,657. Canvassing?—Yes; nothing else.

52,658. What were the means you took to secure their votes?—I do not know any means, only my own word. Mr. Bannister stated if I could get any men to come up as runners, they would be paid 5*s.* a day for their services during the time.

52,659. How many do you think you told it to?—I am sure I do not know; I cannot tell.

52,660. Three or four hundred, do you think?—No; perhaps twenty or thirty, the outside, I should think. I was principally in the committee room along with him; I was not always out.

52,661. You told them you would get 5*s.* a day for two days?—Yes.

52,662. Did you tell that to the committee, or did you go among them?—When I went among them I got them to go up and be put on as runners.

52,663. Did you not put their names down?—No.

52,664. Kept it all in your head?—I cannot put it down. I am no bookkeeper; I did not put anything down.

52,665. Did you report their names to Mr. Bannister from time to time?—Of course they reported their own names. They went up to the committee room and gave their names, and they put them down in the Blue Bell.

52,666. Where was that?—In Prospect Street.

52,667. How many were there with Mr. Bannister to put the names down?—Several of his clerks. I do not know them; I cannot say.

52,668. Mr. Bannister, or his clerk, or anybody put them down?—Mr. Bannister put them down himself, I believe.

52,669. How many were there? how many voters?—I cannot tell; perhaps I told thirty to go. I cannot tell the quantity, I am sure.

52,670. Besides those that you told to go up, how many others came there?—I do not know; there were several came while I was there.

52,671. So we have been told?—There were several. All that I ever could say is, I never saw anything given, and any bribe or any promise of bribe. I know there were several respectable tradesmen came into that room during the time I was there, the polling day morning.

52,672. Who were these respectable tradesmen?—I do not know. And they said, "Now, Mr. Bannister, what is to be done this morning?" He says, "What do you mean to do? do you want to be put on as runners? If you have a mind to work and be paid for your day's work when you are done, I will put you on."

52,673. Cannot you tell us the names of any of these respectable tradesmen?—

No, I cannot mention one; they were all strangers to me. I understood by some of the clerks they were respectable tradesmen and shopkeepers that were in the room at the time.

52,674. And what were these respectable shopkeepers doing?—I do not know; they were not satisfied with being paid by the day, but they wanted 5*l.* or 10*l.* for their votes, the same as they had done this last election.

52,675. Was Mr. Wride there?—I am sure I could not say.

52,676. What did Mr. Bannister say to them when they said they wanted 5*l.* or 10*l.* for a vote?—They did not say so. I suppose they wanted that.

52,677. What reason had you for that?—Because Mr. Bannister proffered to put them down as runners. They would not accept of that; they said, "That will not do for us; we must go somewhere else."

52,678. Why did you mention 5*l.* or 10*l.*?—It is only my own single idea. They were not satisfied like the working men, and I supposed they wanted more.

52,679. Why should you suppose they would be satisfied with so small a sum as 5*l.* or 10*l.*?—I am not certain they would be satisfied with that, but it appears they were not satisfied with being on as runners.

52,680. That was not enough?—They said, "That will not do for us," and away they went.

52,681. Were there a good many persons there driving bargains?—Several persons came during the time. He would not accept of any; he said, "If you like to be put down as runners we will put you down, and you can come to-night and get your money, and not a farthing else."

52,682. That is all that Mr. Bannister used to say?—Yes; all that I ever heard him say.

52,683. Now altogether during the nomination day how many do you think came? was the room always full?—I am sure I am not able to say.

52,684. During the time?—I was sometimes in and sometimes out. I was in a good deal.

52,685. Were they coming in constantly?—Yes; of course they were.

52,686. What is your judgment of the number that was set down that day? We have got one list which was rather full.—I am sorry I am not able to say.

52,687. Do you think it was 400?—No; I think not.

52,688. 350?—I should think not that number either.

52,689. Tell us your judgment?—I should like to say the thing right if I can. I do not know it. If I was to say 100—I do not know; I cannot give any particulars.

52,690. One hundred is about it?—Say 100 perhaps, but I am not certain of that.

52,691. That is about as near as you can think of it?—Perhaps it may, somewhere thereabouts.

52,692. Of these 100 how many do you think were respectable people?—I am sure I do not know; I cannot tell; there were a good many.

52,693. What do you call a good many?—Perhaps twenty; that was a good many in one small committee room.

52,694. Did this last all the day, down to the evening?—Yes; from the morning until the evening.

52,695. And when evening came were they paid?—All the runners were paid every night.

52,696. How many do you think were paid that night?—I am sure I do not know; I cannot tell.

52,697. I ask you again, do you think there were 500?—No; not out of the 100.

52,698. You were there in the evening, when they were paid?—Not always there.

52,699. How many do you think were paid by you?—When I was there perhaps twenty or thirty, but I cannot tell.

52,700. Two or three hundred perhaps?—No; it could not be 200 or 300 out of 100.

52,701. People might have been paid who were not set down?—I do not know the amount that was paid, and I do not know the quantity that were paid.

52,702. We know the money which was spent, which was 3,000*l.*, therefore we are trying to get it out by degrees?—This is only in one committee room in Hull. There were a many committee rooms besides that.

52,703. I think it right to tell you we know the sum that was paid was 3,000*l.*?—I do not know I am sure, or I would tell you in a moment.

52,704. How long were the payments going on in the evening?—Until seven o'clock.

52,705. Till midnight?—No.

52,706. How late?—That committee room during the time that I was there was closed at eight or nine o'clock.

52,707. What became of you?—I went home.

52,708. Did you not do anything more at night?—No.

52,709. At what o'clock did the payments begin?—I should think four or five o'clock; six o'clock perhaps.

52,710. Which do you mean? which did it begin at, four, five, or six o'clock?—Between five and six they would pay, so that we might get done in time.

52,711. The paying began between five and six, and lasted until between eight and

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

nine o'clock?—Not till much after eight o'clock; the place was generally shut up by nine o'clock.

52,712. Was it a little after eight?—I cannot tell; it is a long time ago.

52,713. These consisted, some of them, of your own friends, who you had introduced there?—Some were.

52,714. Do you remember any of these friends of yours that went?—I am sure I cannot pick any out particular; they were all working men that worked along with me,—so much I knew them all by sight. I could not pick above half a dozen of the names out.

52,715. They were all working men?—Yes.

52,716. Did they go in one by one?—Yes; sometimes I took two together.

52,717. The people who were being paid, how was it managed?—They got paid one at a time, of course.

52,718. They went into the room one by one?—Yes, and got the money and came out again.

52,719. Were you there for any purpose?—No; only just as messenger for Mr. Bannister, as I said before.

52,720. In the afternoon what were you doing, at the paying time? Were you there for the purpose of identifying the persons as your own friends?—No, not at all.

52,721. What were you doing?—I was there merely as attending on Mr. Bannister and as a doorkeeper. I stood against the door to let the people in.

52,722. You were doorkeeper?—Yes; anything.

52,723. And let them in one by one?—Yes.

52,724. Now can you tell us about how many were paid?—I am sure I cannot, I have no idea at all.

52,725. Will you swear it was not 100? Remember you are on your oath.—I cannot speak to anything of the kind, because I do not know.

52,726. You must tell us some number; I put the number you began with first?—It would not be over 100; I should say not more than the 100 to my knowledge. I cannot say.

52,727. Do not answer the question quite in such a hurry, but listen to it: Will you swear upon your oath that the number did not exceed 100?—I cannot swear that.

52,728. Will you swear that it did not exceed 200? that there were not more than 200 paid that night?—I do not know there were 100 paid at any time.

52,729. Be very careful; you are not the first person we have examined about this, and will not be the last, therefore I ask you to be cautious in answering the question: Will you undertake to swear upon your solemn oath that there were not more than 200 paid that evening? Consider before you answer the question?—I cannot swear because I was not there at all times.

52,730. Listen again and be careful: Will you swear that there were not more than 300?—I cannot say anything of the kind. I should calculate about 100 myself.

52,731. But you will not swear that there were not 300?—During the time I was there, yes; but there might be many paid before I was there.

52,732. I am talking of the particular evening.—If I knew it I would tell you, but I do not know it and I cannot say so.

52,733. Will you swear there were not 400 paid that night?—I cannot. If I knew exactly I would tell you as well as speaking one word.

52,734. You believe there were about 100, but you will not swear there were not 400?—There might be 500 for what I know, but I did not see that amount.

52,735. What o'clock were you there the next morning?—I think about eight o'clock, to the best of my knowledge.

52,736. The next morning?—Yes.

52,737. Were you not there before the poll began?—I thought it was the nomination day you were speaking about.

52,738. So I was; now I go to the next day?—I was there about half past six o'clock.

52,739. I mean at the Blue Bell?—Yes, in Prospect Street.

52,740. At the same place?—Yes.

52,741. Did the setting down continue during the polling day?—I was out a good deal during that day.

52,742. Go by steps: were there some names more set down on the polling day?—Of course there would be more set down on the polling day.

52,743. Was Mr. Bannister there by half past six?—I think not.

52,744. How soon did he come?—I do not know; I cannot tell.

52,745. He came before the polling began?—Yes; there were a many of the clerks not there at the time they ought to be.

52,746. He came some time between half past six and eight?—Yes; somewhere thereabouts.

52,747. What were you doing before Mr. Bannister came?—I was doing nothing, only I was there in readiness.

52,748. There were a great many people there helping you, were there not?—There were a few.

52,749. A great number?—Not a very great number; there were a good many there of course. They were all waiting for the leader coming.

52,750. Do you mean Mr. Bannister, or Mr. Brown?—Yes; of course he was our leading gentleman.

52,751. Did you see Mr. Brown at the Blue Bell?—No.

52,752. During the day?—No; I never saw him there. I never saw him in the room at all.

52,753. Were you the first at the Blue Bell in the morning?—The polling day morning I should think I should, as I lived in Brook Street—I think I was first there.

52,754. During the course of the day, how many more do you think there were set down?—I cannot tell, indeed; I was very little there during the time.

52,755. Some additional names were being set down during the day?—Yes.

52,756. Did that last up till nearly three o'clock—two o'clock, say?—There were continually names set down during the time.

52,757. Till two o'clock?—Yes.

52,758. Mr. Brown, we hear, gave up the contest between two and three?—I had a conveyance to take them to different parts.

52,759. You were taking voters up to the poll?—Yes.

52,760. Did you pay any of the voters you took up?—No.

52,761. They went in cabs, I suppose?—Yes.

52,762. Who engaged the cabs?—I do not know.

52,763. The cabs were already engaged?—Yes.

52,764. Plenty of them?—Yes.

52,765. And "Vote for Brown" written outside?—Yes.

52,766. Your business was to see that they voted for Brown?—Yes, of course; I took them to the poll booth, and requested them to do so.

52,767. And then came back to report how they voted?—No, I did not.

52,768. They came back and reported themselves?—Yes, they came back themselves. I left them at the polling booth door, and came away.

52,769. Then they found their way back, I dare say?—Yes.

52,770. And got their money?—And got their money, I expect.

52,771. Were they being paid during the day? paid immediately, or not paid till the evening?—Not paid till the evening.

52,772. At what o'clock did the paying begin on the polling day?—I am sure I do not know.

52,773. You were there, were you not?—Yes; I should be there during the greater part of the time. I think they would start about the usual time, four or five o'clock.

52,774. About four or five o'clock paying began?—Yes; it would begin the usual time, five or six o'clock, or perhaps four.

52,775. How late in the day did you take voters up for Mr. Brown?—Till the very last moment.

52,776. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

52,777. Did you not hear that Mr. Brown resigned between two and three o'clock?—I took them up to the very last moment.

52,778. Did you not hear that Mr. Brown resigned between two and three o'clock?—I took them up myself.

52,779. My question is, did you hear Mr. Brown resigned between two and three o'clock?—I was not aware he had resigned.

52,780. Then you did not hear it?—No.

52,781. Is it new to you now to hear that Mr. Brown resigned between two and three o'clock?—I never took any notice of it. I know very well I took some menin to Humber Street to poll, at the last moment.

52,782. As soon as the poll closed paying began?—The pay began when the polling was finished and done.

52,783. I dare say you found a few voters waiting to be paid?—Of course, poor fellows, they were always ready for the money.

52,784. How many, do you think, were paid that evening? can you tell within a few?—No, I am sure I cannot.

52,785. Might there have been as many as 500?—I do not know, indeed. I do not know any quantity.

52,786. How long did it last?—I think the polling day night we closed about dark; about nine o'clock, the polling day, when we knocked off.

52,787. It was nine o'clock at night before they finisehd?—Yes; about eight or nine, somewhere thereabouts.

52,788. Then the pay continued next day?—I do not know. I was not there after.

52,789. Did you not assist Mr. Bannister?—No, not after that day.

52,790. How many do you think then were paid?—I do not know; indeed, I do not know. I kept no account. I was not aware of anything of this. I cannot put anything in my pocket. I am not like people who can put things in their pocket, and keep a memorandum, because I am not able to do so.

52,791. How many about do you think there were, 500?—I do not know.

52,792. There might have been 500? is that so?—I cannot tell. I do not know that.

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

52,793. Do you know whether there might have been as many as 500?—I am not aware what quantity there might be.

52,794. It was a considerable number, if it lasted from four o'clock until nine—five hours?—I do not know, I am sure. They all require a little bit of time to get the money, of course.

52,795. Was there a good stock of silver and gold ready?—There was silver sufficient, I believe, for every man that was there. I do not know that there was any fault found.

52,796. What money were you paid yourself?—I was paid at the rate of 5*s.* a day myself.

52,797. How much did you get?—10*s.*; I only got two days.

52,798. Was that the same as the others got?—Yes; they all got alike.

52,799. The men that were paid after they voted?—I do not know; of course, they were voters. I was no voter; I merely volunteered myself.

52,800. All the men that were paid after they voted, did they not get 10*s.* apiece?—I think they got something, after what I heard.

52,801. They all got 10*s.*, and some got 1*l.*?—I do not know; I had nothing to do with it.

52,802. In 1852, did you also assist Mr. Bannister?—No.

52,803. Who brought the money to the Blue Bell?—I do not know.

52,804. How the money came, you do not know?—No.

52,805. Did you bring it?—No; I never saw who brought it, till it was on the table, and I saw Mr. Bannister pay the men with it.

52,806. Who assisted Mr. Bannister besides you in paying the money?—He had his clerk.

52,807. Was that Mr. Wride?—I am not sure whether Mr. Wride was there or not; I do not know.

52,808. If he was not, who was?—There were several clerks, but I did not know the names of the clerks.

52,809. Did Mr. Bannister pay you?—Yes.

52,810. Himself?—Yes.

52,811. Did you see there the lists that were being paid from? did you see the papers?—No. I think that he had a book, or something of that kind.

52,812. In 1852, you were also employed on the blue side, were you not?—Yes.

52,813. How did that happen? how did it begin?—I lived in Reform Street, at the bottom of Scott Street, at the time.

52,814. How far is that from Minerva Terrace?—It is quite a different part. I was going to tell you where I did live.

52,815. I want to have it on the notes, that is, a distance from Minerva Terrace?—Yes. I applied first to Mr. Bannister again, for a situation during this last election. "Well," he said, "Thomas, I am uninterested altogether, but I have no doubt if you apply to the central committee room, they will engage you, being a useful party in the cause." I said, "I have a room in my house, in Reform Street, will make a very good committee room." Mr. Bannister said, "There is a house next to me you can have a room in, if you do not destroy the room." "Well," I said, "that room will suit my purpose much better; I shall be among my friends in the shipping interest, and it will suit my purpose much better." He said, "You may take it, but you must not destroy it." I said that would answer my purpose.

52,816. That would answer your purpose?—It answered my purpose better than my own room.

52,817. What purpose?—Of getting runners.

52,818. Did you get runners, and put their names down there?—Yes.

52,819. You put them down?—I did not put them down; I had a clerk to put them down.

52,820. What is his name?—I had two or three. I had three on finishing. The first person I had they called George Hare; I had him four days, and two days he was drunk out of the four, and of course I unshipped him.

52,821. Where does he live?—I am sure I do not know. I had another party after him, they called Coates; whether it was John or William I do not know.

52,822. Where did Mr. Coates live?—He lived in Francis Street then; he lodged along with a man named King. I have not seen him for months. I do not know where he is.

52,823. What is his Christian name?—I do not know whether it was John, or what it was. I had him three days, two days sober, and one day drunk, and they found him in the town, with an orange bill pinned to his back, singing out "Blue for ever."

52,824. You unshipped him?—Yes.

52,825. Who was the next? where did you get another?—I got a young man they called Purvis; he had been in the Lincolnshire Railway Company's service.

52,826. You had a little refreshment going on in this room?—No; never a smell.

52,827. That was the reason he was obliged to go elsewhere?—We had not any.

52,828. Where did Purvis live?—He lived against Daniel's, the Jew's, in a cook shop; he was lodging along with his wife's mother, abreast of Wellington Street end.

52,829. Where does he live now?—I do not know.

52,830. Where did you light on him?—I met him at the water side; he being at the Railway. I met him at the water side, and I thought, he being a decent fellow, I would take him. I thought the others were the same.

52,831. How long did Purvis stay?—He stopped the whole of the time.

52,832. What is his Christian name?—I do not know. I will get it for you.

52,833. How long before the election was it you took this room?—About three weeks, or a month.

52,834. Who used there to be at this room, besides yourself and the runners?—The clerks.

52,835. No other besides yourself and the clerks?—No.

52,836. These clerks were busy taking the names down?—Of course they always stopped; a part of them were out of the place altogether. If anybody came to put their names down, and I was out, they stopped till I came back. Me and the clerk would both be out sometimes, and then I would put one of the runners in charge till I came back, and I said, "If anybody comes, keep them until I come back."

52,837. You used to go and convass for runners?—Yes.

52,838. And send them to the room?—Yes.

52,839. How many runners do you think came there, and had their names set down?—I think they had about a hundred once, but there were a good many run me. I think the outside was somewhere about a hundred I had first.

52,840. Many of them ran away?—Yes.

52,841. And you did the best to fill up their vacancies?—I did, as soon as possible.

52,842. And how many do you think you got in the room of those that ran away? another hundred?—I think I polled about seventy odd. Seventy odd I polled, out of my lot that I had altogether.

52,843. How many do you think you lost?—I had about a hundred altogether, and I polled seventy.

52,844. I thought you said you had a hundred at one time?—Yes; but part of them ran me, and I think I completed about seventy. I might poll a few more, I do not know, but I think I had a hundred, the outside.

52,845. Of the remaining thirty, did you see them with the orange colours afterwards?—I heard talk of a many of them.

52,846. Have you a list there?—No, I have no list.

52,847. Who had the list?—All the documents I had in that room, went to the central committee room.

52,848. Mr. Bannister came from time to time, I suppose, to see how you were going on?—No; he was never in the room.

52,849. Did he not go there from time to time?——

52,850. You went to him?—I did apply to him several times when I was afraid of doing anything wrong. I asked him a few questions, as to whether I should do right or wrong.

52,851. What sort of a question did you ask?—There were several parties applied to me to give them something and have their names put down; I wanted to know whether it was right or wrong.

52,852. They wanted some earnest?—Yes. I wanted to do the thing that was right, and that was not allowed, and I received my order from the central committee room, and nothing was to be given in that way.

52,853. We know to a shilling how much you had?—I do not; if I knew I would tell you.

52,854. That we have heard already.—I sent it in to that effect.

52,855. How many days did you set them down? for four days for a plumper, and two days for a split vote?—I never mentioned such a thing.

52,856. What was the understanding?—We started four days the first commencement; I paid them 5*s.* a day what I had on for the first time, and after that I paid them 3*s.* 6*d.* till after the election was over. I paid them at the rate of 3*s.* 6*d.* a day but stopped a shilling a day until after the election was over, afraid my runners would run me, as there were so many temptations laid before them.

52,857. Did you pay away in that way all the money you received?—Every shilling.

52,858. All of it you paid in that way?—I paid it all in that way, every penny; there was not a penny otherwise.

52,859. Did you get the money from Mr. Bannister?—No.

52,860. Who did you get the money from? direct from the central committee?—Mr. Wride, I believe, fetched it from Mr. Wells; I believe he did, I do not know. He brought the money to me, of course. The clerk called the names over; Mr. Wride was at one end of the table, and I at the other, and Mr. Wride took the money and put it down, and when all was paid he took the list away.

52,861. How many days were the men paid who were paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a day?—They were all paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a day after the first four days, and I think there were about six the first four days that got 5*s.* a day.

52,862. It was about three weeks before the election, was it not?—It was.

52,863. Were they paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a day until the election, or only a certain number of days?—For all the time till the election took place they were paid.

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

52,864. The first you had on were paid 5*s.* a day for four days?—Yes; I believe th a is the number as far as I can state.

52,865. Were they paid weekly?—Yes, every Saturday night.

52,866. The first that were paid 5*s.* were about six I think you say?—Yes; I think there were about six, to the best of my knowledge.

52,867. Do you remember their names?—I am sure I cannot say; there was Thomas Bust.

52,868. Who else?—Thomas Leeke.

52,869. Can you give us the names of the other four?—I am sure I cannot say; George Lythe was one.

52,870. Can you remember the other three?—I am sure I do not know that I can.

52,871. The other men, were they paid weekly?—Yes, they were all paid weekly. I dare say you have a list of them all, better than I know; I cannot call them to mind at present.

52,872. Those added, were they paid every day from the time, put on until the election came?—Yes; I never paid any off till the election was over, all that I clapped on.

52,873. Some of them were paid as much as three guineas?—I do not know; you see what they got, of course; I have no account of it.

52,874. How many did you pay the second week?—I do not know; I cannot tell that, I am sure.

52,875. The rest were 3*s.* 6*d.* a day?—Yes.

52,876. How much money do you remember was distributed in that way the previous election?—I do not know; I never counted the money. When the money came to me on Saturday night, it was in a bag, and I gave every man the money he wanted out of the bag, and when they were all paid, I gave Wride the bag and he took it away. I do not know what was in it and what remained; I did not want the handling of it any more than paying the men for their labour, and done with them.

52,877. Who was present when you paid?—Mr. Wride, the person who brought the money.

52,878. Mr. Wride, you, and your clerk?—Yes.

52,879. Was that all?—Yes.

52,880. Were most of these persons acquaintances of yours, these runners?—They knew me, most of them.

52,881. And you knew them?—Of course; and I should know them by sight now, not by name; they would all know me.

52,882. Most of them, I should think, knew you by name?—No.

52,883. How would you address them?—There are some Duncans, clockmakers.

52,884. And Ion, was he one, do you know him?—I do not know; I cannot bring to recollection.

52,885. Robinson?—I do not know him.

52,886. Do you remember him as one Charles Robert Robinson?—Yes; I think I recollect a man of that name, but he was a stranger.

52,887. Do you remember William Stather, was he one?—I do not know; he is a stranger to me.

52,888. The man who lives in Temperance Street?—I do not know him by name; I do not, indeed.

52,889. William Root?—William Root was one of the first, if I recollect right. I do not know whether George Smith was one; I cannot say; I do not know whether he was or not.

52,890. But you believe he was?—Yes; I am sure I could not say.

52,891. William Harrison, do you remember him?—Do you recollect him by name.

52,892. William Coverdale?—A sailmaker,—I think I remember him.

52,893. Altass' Gallery he lives in?—Yes; I recollect the man.

52,894. John Farnell?—Yes; I think he was a sailmaker.

52,895. William Horner, was he one of them also?—I do not recollect.

52,896. John Taylor, of Scott Street?—There was a John Taylor, a sailor; I do not recollect whether he was one.

52,897. Charles Worsdale?—I do not recollect him.

52,898. Do you remember William Palmer?—I cannot say; I do not know the man.

52,899. A man of the name of Edward Dobson has been here, do you recollect him?—Yes; he was a basket maker, he was a runner; I remember him.

52,900. There were some men of the name of Lowery?—Yes; there were some Lowerys.

52,901. Four of them, were there not?—I do not know whether there were four or not; there was one.

52,902. Samuel, George, John, and Henry?—I knew they all went that side; I do not know about them. I recollect one of them; I do not know whether there were others or not.

52,903. George Lowery, of East Street, Drypool?—Yes; I think I had not got that name.

52,904. Samuel Lowery, of John Street; John Lowery, of East Street, and Charles

Lowery, of 4, Church Street?—I think I had only one Lowery to the best of my recollection.

52,905. Which of them was it? where did he live?—I think he lived in Drypool.

52,906. Any of the Stephensons, do you recollect them?—I recollect some of the Stephensons.

52,907. William Stephenson, do you know the man?—I do not; Thomas Rogerson, I know him.

52,908. Are you sure you do not know anybody of the name of Stephenson who would be there?—I cannot be sure, but I cannot recollect the name.

52,909. You think there was one of the name of Stephenson?—I think I have some recollection of Stephenson, but I will not be positive.

52,910. George Whitaker?—Yes; there was a Whitaker; I think he was a sail-maker.

52,911. Percival Beautyman, was he one?—Yes; I think there were four Beautyman's.

52,912. William Palmer?—I think I recollect something about Palmer, but I cannot tell you.

52,913. According to your belief, was he one of them?—I thought I had recollected some one of them.

52,914. Robert Young?—I do not know him by name.

52,915. There are several men of the name of Young we hear, in your party, had you any of them at your place?—I am sure I do not know; they were all in the list, and the list went away every Saturday night. We never saw them more, and as I said I could not make any memorandum of them; the list was correct.

52,916. George Treke, was he one?—I do not know; I am sure I cannot say.

52,917. You do not remember him?—No.

52,918. John Colley, do you remember him?—Yes, of Porter Street.

52,919. And Charles King?—Yes; Francis Street, he lives in.

52,920. And John Nicholson, do you remember him?—I do not recollect at present a man of that name.

52,921. Do you remember any of the Nicholsons?—No.

52,922. Used these men to stay at the room?—Yes; their orders were to come every morning at eight o'clock.

52,923. What came to them then?—I found them all the employment I could; I sent them out with lists, and sent them on board ship to get runners.

52,924. You sent them to get more runners?—Yes; I kept them all employed to the best of my ability.

52,925. Still you found it rather difficult to find employment for them all?—I did sometimes, but I did my best towards keeping them at work.

52,926. You would send them to see what o'clock it was, I suppose?—Anything, as long as it was doing something. My orders were, to give every man a job that had not had one; and when I was out of the room, my second mate would.

52,927. Who was he?—The man I used to leave.

52,928. What is his name?—Thomas Bust; he had been master of a ship.

52,929. Did he seem to understand the business pretty well?—I made him understand it as well as I could.

52,930. You told him to keep the men at work as well as he could?—Yes; that is his duty.

52,931. Anything better than nothing?—Yes, of course.

52,932. I suppose there was some money coming to these people, when the election was over?—Yes; they got the remainder.

52,933. Who paid them?—I paid them.

52,934. With the assistance, I suppose, of the others?—Yes; they were paid in the usual manner.

52,935. You paid the arrears?—Yes; they had the arrears of pay.

52,936. You had the poll book at the time, to see that they had voted all right?—Our lists were taken round to every committee room to see that they had not got paid in other places before we started to pay them, so that they might not get paid twice over; it was taken round to see that they were only paid once. I did not want to waste other people's money more than my own.

52,937. Was it taken also to see that they had voted all right?—Yes, of course.

52,938. Then, when you found that they had voted all right, and had not been paid before, you paid them?—Yes.

52,939. Did any of these thirty, who ran away from you, try it on to see if they could get any money after the election was over?—No.

52,940. They knew better than that?—Yes.

52,941. They would not have had much chance with an old hand like you?—They would not have had a chance from me, if I knew it.

52,942. Still, I thought that they might try it on?—Yes; they will try it on sometimes.

52,943. But they knew better than to try it on with you?—I do not like anybody to be robbed.

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

52,944. Are you sure none of them came?—Not that I am aware of, none of them; they might try it on, there might be some, but if they did, they did not get paid.

52,945. Will you say you did not see Nicholson? he was a well known person in this town, William Henry Nicholson?—I am sure I do not know him.

52,946. He carries on the business of a farmer of votes; he sells votes, and he tells us he sold eighty in one lot for 160*l.*?—I had several came to me, but I would do nothing for them.

52,947. Had you many came to you?—Yes; I had all that lot from the Pilot Boy, and several carpenters came to me.

52,948. The Pilot Boy, Wharam's?—Yes; and carpenters, independent of them that were working about the yards, continually came to me to know what could be done.

52,949. What the price was?—Yes; what we could give them. I told them not so much as a gill of ale, and I told them, "if you have a mind to be put down as a runner, you will get your wages, if not, you will get nothing else here."

52,950. Did you tell them what the runners were getting a day?—Yes; and they would be paid in the same manner.

52,951. Did they say 5*s.* would be nearer their price than 3*s.* 6*d.*?—I do not know that that was mentioned; they said, if I would not take them on, they would go elsewhere and get it, it did not matter.

52,951a. Who were the carpenters?—The first party that came to me was a man of the name of King; he had gone at the election previous along with the same tribe; he neglected last election to get anything, and he thought he might as well have a few shillings now as nothing, and he said he would leave those fellows he was at the Pilot Boy with. That was the nomination day.

52,952. He was from the Pilot Boy?—Yes; he came to me and wanted to know what could be done.

52,953. What is his address and his Christian name?—I am sure I do not know.

52,954. Do not you know where he lives?—His brother lives in Francis Street.

52,955. Is his name Matthew?—He is a carpenter, and that is all I know.

52,956. And you cannot tell us his Christian name, or where he lives?—I am sure I cannot, I know the man—I know so many, but I do not know their names. I said to him, "You had better by half have your name set down while you are here, and make sure," and he said he would have his name set down; and I said, "Go to the Pilot Boy, and if you can get all them parties set down in the same string, I will set them all down in the same way;" and he went, but they never came near hand.

52,957. Was he paid?—Yes, he was paid.

52,958. Did you pay him?—I think he was paid two days, to the best of my knowledge.

52,959. You paid him, and King was to go and get the rest?—I did not pay him; I put his name down as a runner, and he was paid afterwards.

52,960. You sent him to run to the Pilot Boy to fetch all the rest?—If they would come. He went, of course, but he could not persuade them to come; they were going to the other party.

52,361. Do you know any others who came to you?—No; I do not recollect any others.

52,962. Wharam's party, did they come to you?—I think not. I heard talk of them, but I do not think they came to me, that party; I do not know. There were several came and said, "There are five or six of us;" but I do not know where they came from.

52,963. Do not you know who they were?—No, I do not recollect who they were.

52,964. Do not you remember any of the other names of the persons who were set down?—No.

52,965. I have given you all the names that I have upon this paper before me?—I do not recollect at present.

52,966. Upon consideration you may be able to tell us?—I am sure I will tell you all I know.

52,967. Cannot you make out a list of people whom you set down?—I am sure I cannot.

52,968. You know them all?—I should not know them; I knew them by sight and so on, but I never knew their names. They were men who would know me, but I did not know them; my business took me among so many different parties on board ships.

52,969. Used you to tell Mr. Bannister from time to time what was going on?—He was not interfering with it at all; he would have no communication with it at all.

52,970. Who paid for the room?—It never was paid for at all to any one, to my knowledge.

52,971. It was Mr. Bannister's own room?—I believe he had the house to let, and the only thing he said to me was "You must not destroy the house." Of course I took care of the house not to destroy it, but there was no charge, not to my knowledge, by anybody.

52,972. How soon did you begin reporting to the central committee, because they say they never heard of you till just before the election?—I was there every night from the commencement.

52,973. At the central committee?—Yes.

52,974. Who did you see there?—I saw Mr. Wells, Mr. Thomas Ward and all. I received my information from them, whatever I did have.

52,975. You saw Mr. Wells and Mr. Ward every day?—Every evening I was there.

52,976. And received your instructions from them?—The instructions came to me, to my committee room, of what I was to do.

52,977. And you reported what you had done to the central committee?—Of course; only I was cautioned particularly to do nothing wrong against the law.

52,978. And you told Mr. Wells, from time to time, what was going on, and his answer was, "Mind you do not do anything that is wrong"?—Of course; that is all the caution I had. I did apply some time to the central committee room to allow us the privilege, as there was so much given from the other party. I begged permission to give as many shillings as the other party did pounds, as there was a fear of getting the other men in, and they said "No; we will not give the money."

52,979. You think if you had given away as many shillings as the other party did pounds, that you would be sure of winning the election?—Yes; I am sure of that. There was too much tide; I asked that question and sent in to the committee room myself.

52,980. Did you talk to Mr. Cattley?—No.

52,981. Mr. Gleadow?—No. I sent a note into the committee room; I do not know who got it.

52,982. Who wrote it?—My clerk

52,983. Which clerk?—Purvis.

52,984. You wanted to give the money, and they would not let you?—No; hey tied us to that.

52,985. They tied you to the plan of merely having runners and paying them?—Yes; every man for his labour, that was all.

52,986. There was no harm in doing that, I presume?—I should think not; I have always been in the habit of paying men that worked for me.

52,987. The central committee did not think that there was anything wrong, or Mr. Wells did not think so?—I should think not; the other parties were giving so much.

52,988. You can write, can you not?—No.

52,989. What is your name?—Thomas Lidgard.

52,990. Here is a note in your writing, with your signature?—Not mine.

52,991. It is a note with your signature?—No; it is not mine.

52,992. Not your writing?—No; and if you want any satisfaction upon that, if you apply to John Thorney or his son, they will soon satisfy you.

52,993. You did not set down any who were not voters?—No; I did not set down anybody. I am not able to do so, and I am very sorry for it.

52,994. Did you direct any to be set down, not being voters?—No.

52,995. This is the paper I am referring to, "Dock Basin." Is that your place?—Yes.

52,996. This is the note that has your signature written by somebody else: "Sir,—We have many applications by the porters and others, at this room, for places and runners; the parties have no vote, but state that they had a partial promise from you this morning: please say whether these men are to be employed or not.' That is sent by you to Mr. Steeple. Do you recollect telling your clerk to write that note?—Yes; I have a recollection of that.

52,997. What persons did that note relate to? Were these porters and so on?—They were the men that were on the packet side; there are a lot of those men that carry gentlemen's luggage, and they wanted clapping on; and of course, I could not clap them on.

52,998. Why not?—Because they were not voters.

52,999. Therefore you could not clap them on?—No; because they were no use to us.

53,000. What answer did Mr. Steeple send to that letter?—I do not recollect.

53,001. Try?—I do not recollect, I am sure.

53,002. Did you get any answer?—I do not know; I should think I should have an answer of some sort, but I do not know.

53,003. You paid your people, I think you say, from week to week?—Yes.

53,004. Do you recollect without remembering the names, whether you paid a good many more the second week than you did the first?—Yes; we should pay for more the second week.

53,005. A good many more?—Yes.

53,006. This commenced about three weeks before the election?—Yes.

53,007. You have spoken of being at the Blue Bell upon these occasions, these two years, 1847 and 1852?—Yes.

53,008. Were you also at the Shakspeare at any time?—No.

53,009. Did you see Mr. Davis at the Shakespeare?—Yes, of course; that is 1841, and not 1847.

53,010. Were you at the Shakespeare in 1841?—Yes; several times.

53,011. Do not you remember paying some money at the Shakespeare in 1841?—No.

53,012. Were you there with Mr. Bannister in 1841?—No

53,013. What were you at the Shakespeare for in 1841?—I went with Mr. Davis.

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

53,014. Edwin Davis?—Yes.

53,015. Do you remember being there in 1841 with Mr. Davis?—Yes.

53,016. Did you pay some people there?—No.

53,017. What were you there with Mr. Davis for?—I was there several times.

53,018. With Mr. Davis?—Yes.

53,019. What for?—On one occasion Mr. Davis had stated of my runners before the polling day, that all my men wanted the balance of the money paid up, or else they would not vote for us.

43,020. That is the last election you are speaking of, 1852?—Yes.

53,021. I ask about 1852, and you speak of 1841?—I know nothing of it.

53,022. Nothing of what?—Of 1841.

53,023. But you said 1841?—I ask pardon then; it was a mistake.

53,024. Then when was this that you were there in 1852?—I think it was the day before the nomination day.

53,025. And Davis was there?—Yes.

53,026. State what passed about these runners?—I will tell you what passed, if you will allow me: as to my men, these poor fellows, they are considered the best fellows among the lot of burgesses. I got one gentleman among them and he confused all the rest of the poor fellows; he said, "We will have all our money to-night, or else we will not poll for them,—all the back money."

53,027. Where was that said?—That was said in my committee room, my men came to me and said so.

53,028. Who was the man that said that?—I will tell you the man that started it,—Robert Rowen—he was the man that confused these men of mine. He said, and they all said together, they would have all the back money paid, or else they would not poll.

53,029. How many were present do you think when Rowen said that?—I am sure I do not know; I took him to Mr. Davis and another or two, to decide the subject.

53,030. This was very like a mutiny?—It was like a mutiny; of course it was.

53,331. It was a regular mutiny?—Yes; they were all up in arms immediately.

53,032. How many were in arms, about?—Perhaps there may be about a dozen of them; I cannot say.

53,033. If they did not have the back pay, that they would not vote?—That they would not vote.

53,034. Upon that, did you send for Mr. Davis?—No.

53,035. Did you go to him?—Yes, I went to him; if you will allow me I will tell you: Robert Rowen came to me and said, "We shall have all the back money paid, which we are all promised, and if you do not pay it up we shall not vote." I said, "I can do nothing of the kind." I said, "You will not get one farthing of the back money until after you have polled." This I said to them, and they said they would have it. I said, "No, you will not have it from me." They said, "We have been to the central committee room," which they had been. They had been very tormentary to the central committee room; they wanted redress there, but they knew nothing of them, and he goes to Mr. Davis; they were at him; and then Robert Rowen came to me and said Mr. Davis had told him I could pay them if I liked. I said, "Come along with me to Mr. Davis, let us have you at once," and away we went to the Shakspeare, and I said, "Mr. Davis, I understand you have been confusing my men, saying that I can pay them if I like." He said, "I deny it." I said, "I can do nothing of the kind, and I should never attempt if I could." He said, "I said nothing of the kind; the only thing I said to your men was, that any promise you made we should be answerable for." This man went up with me, and I said, "Now Robert, you hear what Mr. Davis says." He said, "It was so-and-so told me this." He first said Mr. Davis told him, and then he put it off to some one else, and I said, "None of your gammon; it is all gammon altogether."

53,036. And you did not pay them?—No.

53,037. Did Mr. Davis go back with you to your room where the men were?—No, I think not. I said, "Mr. Davis, I hope you will not interfere with my men any more, leave them to me if you please," and he said he would not, and he did not.

52,038. He did not seem to interfere much; the man came and told you a story?—Yes.

53,039. Did they all go to Mr. Davis, or only Rowen?—Only Robert Rowen.

53,040. Did all those men vote for you?—Yes.

53,041. And you paid them?—Yes.

53,042. Have you given us the names of those twelve men? They are remarkable persons.—What twelve?

53,043. You say there were twelve who mutinied; the mutineers.—I said there might be twelve, but I could not pick them out.

53,044. How many went to Mr. Davis?—Mr. Rowen, and another or two followed.

53,045. Do you recollect who followed?—No; I recollect the gentleman who brought the mutiny out.

53,046. Did you compare your list with Mr. Davis's? He says you compared your list set down with his list.—We generally did, so that we might not have his men upon our books.

53,047. Did you do that at every committee room?—Yes.

Thomas Lidgard.

20th July 1853.

53,048. Not only the central, but at every committee room?—Every committee room once a week, to see that there was nothing done wrong.

53,049. And if found to be in some other list, were they struck out of your list or the others?—Just which they thought proper; if I considered them my men it was struck out of theirs.

53,050. And you went every week to every committee?—Yes; every week to every committee before we paid them.

53,051. You are speaking of the men who left the orange party; do you know a man of the name of William Leeke?—Yes.

53,052. He could not run, I believe?—He could walk.

53,053. Was he not very lame?—He is a man who has had a paralytic stroke, but he is not disabled from walking, and running occasionally perhaps; he is a man who can walk about.

53,054. He was one of your runners from the beginning?—He was.

53,055. He could vote?—We did not request him to run, because there were plenty of them, without him, that could run, if we wanted any.

53,056. Did you tell Mr. Bannister what the purpose was, or explain to him what the room was wanted for?—Yes.

Adjourned till to-morrow at ten o'clock.

THIRTY-EIGHTH DAY.—Thursday, 21st July, 1853.

Mr. HENRY BARKWORTH sworn, and examined.

Mr. H. Barkworth.

21st July 1853.

53,057. Do you occupy a house or any premises in this town?—Yes, I occupy premises; I am a partner in a firm.

53,058. What is the amount either of the rent or the rate?—I believe it is about 330*l.* a year rated at; I do not know what the rental is exactly.

53,059. You are in partnership?—Yes.

53,060. Who with?—My brother, John Balderson Barkworth.

53,061. As merchants?—Yes.

53,062. Are you a voter as an occupier of premises within the borough?—I voted as an occupier of premises.

53,063. How long have you been qualified?—I really do not know.

53,064. How many elections have you voted at?—Only in 1847. I voted in 1847 as a freeman, and was struck off by mistake from the freeman's register, so I voted as a householder.

53,065. Last time?—Yes; and in 1847 as a freeman.

53,066. Who did you vote for in 1847?—For Baines and Brown.

53,067. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—No, none at all.

53,068. Nor in that of 1847?—No, none at all.

53,069. In 1852, I believe you were a member of the committee organized on behalf of Messrs. Moore and Butler?—Yes.

53,070. And you voted for those gentlemen?—Yes.

53,071. Which committee was it that you were a member of?—Of the central committee.

53,072. From the commencement of its organization?—Yes.

53,073. We hear that you superintended some arrangements for paying the Barton and other voters?—I had nothing to do with the Barton voters at all.

53,074. Out-voters?—Yes; but that did not comprise either the Barton or the Hedon voters.

53,075. What were these arrangements that you did undertake?—I settled the accounts.

53,076. Begin at the beginning: how came the subject mentioned?—It was undertaken by Mr. Pease, and he had not time to attend to it, and so about three days before the election I took it in hand; that was how I began it.

53,077. And premises were taken in Quay Street?—I went to Mr. Lambert the day before the election, or the night before the nomination day, and he let a room for the purpose of paying the out-voters, to prevent confusion in the central committee.

53,078. It was either the night before the nomination or the nomination day?—Yes; I think it was the day before the nomination day.

53,079. What had taken place, with reference to the out-voters before that?—Nothing at all; they had not been seen after at all until within three or four days before the election, I believe.

53,080. They had been written to?—Yes, many had; but things had not been done systematically as they ought to have been, until about three or four days before the election.

Mr. H. Barkworth.

21st July 1853.

53,081. Had you any lists of who they were? of their names?—Yes, by degrees; but I think the proper book was only copied about two days before the election; they were got together by piecemeal.

53,082. Probably that is the book marked B. C., the alphabetical list of non-resident voters?—Yes, that is it; but I think there were two or three books.

53,083. Were the observations and marks in it made under your superintendence?—There are a few in my own handwriting.

53,084. And probably the whole were made under your superintendence?—No, it was not indeed.

53,085. You had it probably after it was made?—This book was made up from other books where minutes had been made, and it was copied out afresh before the election.

53,086. Is that the book from which you paid? it has various marks.—It has the amounts put here, that were paid on account.

53,087. Is that the very book that you had when you paid them?—I did not pay them, but this is the very book no doubt.

53,088. There is another book apparently made for the same purpose, but containing not quite so many names in it; can you tell whether that was made before?—This book would be compiled from that, and something else.

53,089. They were both books laying upon the table, the two alphabetical books, only one contains more names than the other?—Yes.

53,090. They were paid from one or each of these books?—No, they were not.

53,091. Were they paid from a book?—No; they were paid from a list that was made out for Mr. Dixon,—only a list in a penny memorandum book from which they were paid. I put down in it how much they had had on account, and how much he was to pay them, and who he was to pay.

53,092. That was done on slips of paper?—No; in a penny memorandum book.

53,093. Do you know what became of that book?—I burnt it.

53,094. When was it burnt?—I burnt it with some other old papers in the spring of this year.

53,095. Before you burnt it, or at any other time, were the entries transferred into any other book?—No.

53,096. Did you burn a good many other papers relating to the election?—I burnt a lot of pay lists; at least the weekly accounts.

53,097. Were most of the pay lists that were burnt, burnt by yourself?—I do not know of any others; I burnt all that were given to me by Mr. Ward. I cannot speak to other people.

53,098. In the spring of this year?—Yes.

53,099. Were they burnt before or after the hearing and inquiry before the election committee?—It would be after that election committee.

53,100. Had the election committee terminated?—Yes, I think it was; it was when Mr. Ward was ill at home. I think it was after the election committee finished; I know Mr. Ward was ill at home at the time.

53,101. After the members were declared to be unseated?—I think it would be so; that is the time, I can only speak from memory, that Mr. Ward was ill at home. I think it was after the petition was done with.

53,102. Were they burnt in London?—No.

53,103. Were you up in London at the time of the petition?—I was up before the petition came on.

53,104. But during the time of the inquiry, I mean?—No.

53,105. There are some entries of payments made, though not many, in the alphabetical book; are they entries that were not in the memorandum book that you destroyed?—Those would be payments on account, I think, entirely; I think so, to the best of my memory.

53,106. I observe here the letters M. B. and C. G., meaning of course, the initials of the candidates and figures put opposite to them. Were they put after they voted?—I am sure I cannot say.

53,107. Does it mean to record the promise or the performance?—I really cannot say how that was; before they were paid we ascertained how they had voted; I do not know whether these were inserted after the election or before the election. A great many books were posted up after the election which were perfectly useless.

53,108. Were all the out-voters, who voted for Moore and Butler, paid?—Yes.

53,109. And none of those, I take for granted, who voted for Clay and Goderich?—Of course not.

53,110. Whether they promised to vote for you or not, you would not pay them?—There were one or two men who got money on account, and then voted for Clay and Goderich.

53,111. Voted against you afterwards?—Yes.

53,112. Of those who voted for Clay and Goderich you paid none afterwards?—Of course not; we should not pay people who voted against us. I believe I had this book at the central committee to see that the people voted, and looked through the return list and made these entries, and sent them on.

53,113. It was done by you, or under your superintendence?—Yes; and if he voted right, he would go to Quay Street and get paid.

53,114. Would they be paid immediately?—In most instances they would.

53,115. Or did you give a ticket at the central committee, and send them to Quay Street?—In most instances the voter got his polling card certified by the Conservative law clerk.

53,116. The law clerk, did you say?—The agent, whoever he was. There was an agent at each booth, and he would say, "So and so has voted Moore and Butler;" and he would take that ticket to No. 7, Quay Street, and get his money.

53,117. Were the sums that each voter was to be paid fixed before they voted, or was it made the subject of arrangement after they had voted?—They were all fixed before. I fixed them the night before the election, as to how much each man was to receive; there were some few deviations from that, but not many.

53,118. You fixed it before you knew exactly what the expenses would be?—No; I fixed them at the first class fare.

53,119. Tell us how you fixed the sum—by what process you arrived at the specific sum?—I went through Bradshaw's Guide, and took out the first class fare each way, and allowed from 5*s.* to 10*s.* for expenses.

53120. So that it would be a very simple process when it came to paying, all these details being arranged beforehand by the means you have pointed out?—Yes; but I do not think there was much above half of them paid at Quay Street, after all.

53,121. Where were the rest paid?—A great many people paid them themselves. For instance, if a man had a friend living in London or Glasgow he paid them himself, and he reimbursed him afterwards. For instance, if the men were in better circumstances they would pay their expenses themselves, and I paid them afterwards.

53,122. And you allowed from 5*s.* to 10*s.*, a varying sum?—Yes; according to the distance.

53,123. Over and above the first class fare, each way?—Yes.

53,124. To all sorts of voters, whatever their station in life might be?—Yes, from 5*s.* to 10*s.*; I did not consider it unreasonable, and I did not think it necessary to split straws for such a thing, for the sake of a few shillings.

53,125. The question is not whether it was unreasonable?—No; I stated the fact before.

53,126. You paid the first class fare to all, whatever their condition in life might be?—Yes.

53,127. How would you enter those who would have to come some distance by the road?—I really do not know that anybody did. I do not think there was anybody come by road, that I know of.

53,128. They might have come eight or ten miles to reach the nearest railway station?—I do not remember any such circumstance.

53,129. Were they paid anything beyond that, by way of refreshment or loss of time? or was 5*s.* or 10*s.* considered to cover that?—I do not think any of them exceeded 10*s.*; perhaps that half-sovereign was calculated as for loss of time, or expenses, or something of that sort.

53,130. Barton, Hedon, and Cottingham, you said you had nothing to do with?—I did not mention Cottingham, but I did not pay in Cottingham.

53,131. Were there any others besides those three, that were not included in your arrangement?—No, I do not remember any; I think there was no one else.

53,132. Hessle and Skidby?—No, there was no expense; a carriage was sent there.

53,133. From Hessle and Ferrily, they would come by rail?—I did notpay any of them.

53,134. Was there any limit within which you did not pay?—At Barton there was an agent, and at Hedon there was an agent, and I do not know anything about it.

53,135. Was Mr. Grayburn your agent at Barton?—I do not know that he was.

53,136. Do you know who arranged for Hedon?—No, not at all.

53,137. Was there any agent at Barton?—I do no know.

53,138. I thought you said there was an agent at Barton?—I believe there was, but I do not know of my own knowledge.

53,139. We do not ask the name, but the fact?—There was an agent at Barton; I believe so.

53,140. We do not trouble you for the name, merely the fact that there was one at Barton?—Yes.

53,141. And at Cottinghams?—I do not know that there was at all.

53,142. You have not heard that?—I have not heard that.

53,143. At Hedon?—I do not know that there was at all.

53,144. Did you hear?—I rather think there was, and I think there were some neighbouring Holderness villages that he took into his circuit; I am not quite sure.

53,145. Skidby?—That is close to Cottingham; if there was one at Cottingham he would take that, but I do not know.

53,146. How were you furnished with the money?—I got some, I think, from Mr. Harris, and some from Mr. Ward.

53,147. Do you know how much it was altogether?—I believe about 160*l.* went through my hands.

Mr. H. Barkworth.

21st July 1853.

53,148. Did you disburse it—Mr. Ward has mentioned the sums—did you disburse them all?—No; I did not disburse hardly any of it, but I settled it.

53,149. Mr. Dixon paid it?—Yes.

53,150. He actually paid it?—Yes; he accounted to me for it; 160*l.* was accounted to me for from various people.

53,151. Which you had from Mr. Ward?—No; Mr. Harris gave Dixon his money, but he accounted to me for it.

53,152. You had 160*l.* altogether?—Accounted for to me; I had not the money.

53,153. Mr. Dixon assisted you in the payment?—No, he did not assist me at all; he paid them himself.

53,154. Dixon sat in Quay Street?—Yes.

53,155. And made the payments when the tickets were presented?—Yes.

53,156. That is assisting you?—I do not know that it is assisting me; it is assisting the cause.

53,157. He assisted in your department?—It was thrust upon me entirely.

53,158. You were at the central room?—Yes.

53,159. And Mr. Dixon at Quay Street?—Yes.

53,160. And the tickets were given which Mr. Dixon paid?—Yes.

53,161. Then you and Dixon between you settled the affairs of the out-voters?—He settled it as far as 70*l.* went; the other 90*l.* he had nothing to do with.

53,162. Who did that?—It was made out of payments on account of people who paid people themselves. For instance, Mr. Brodrick had two or three seamen come from Newcastle; he paid those himself, and I paid him again; and Austin had a brother or two from London; he paid them himself, and I paid him. I reimbursed Mr. Wells all the money he paid on account. I merely settled the thing and arranged it, that is all.

53,163. The 91*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.* which is put down, who paid that?—Various people. As I told you before, I reimbursed any advances that were made.

53,164. That constitutes all the repayments and previous advances?—No; partly that and partly people who paid it for themselves, which I had nothing in the world to do with, except to pass.

53,165. There is a sum of 5*l* has been mentioned,—a particular sum of 5*l.*?—Yes; I have heard of it.

53,166. We understand you desired a previous witness to make a communication about it?—Yes; he had been accused of it, so I thought he had better say it was me.

53,167. Probably you would like to make a statement yourself?—No; except that Mr. Baines did not pay his own debts, and left it to us to pay.

53,168. What did you hear about that?—I understood that the Holderness committee had undertaken that these men should have the 10*s.* apiece upon Mr. Baines' account.

53,169. The Holderness committee for Mr. Baines?—Yes; for Mr. Baines.

53,170. They had not cleared off old scores?—No.

53,171. That is to say, the 10*s.* a vote?—Yes, the 10*s.* apiece; Mr. Brown had paid them I understood.

53,172. Were these Brown and Baines' men?—I was told so, but I cannot say of my own knowledge.

53,173. 10*s.* apiece we hear was the price upon that occasion?—Yes; and Mr. Harris having been upon the Holderness committee, these men held him personally answerable for the money.

53,174. The Holderness men?—Yes; they singled him out as having to do with this present election.

53,175. They singled out Mr. Harris, who had taken an interest, I believe, on behalf of Mr. Baines?—He was on the Holderness committee.

53,176. Who had taken an interest for Mr. Baines in the Holderness committee?—Yes.

53,177. Did you heard what the persons' names were?—No; I never heard them named.

53,178. They held him personally liable?—Yes.

53,179. You did not hear the names of the men?—No.

53,180. Did you hear their number?—Yes.

53,181. How many did you hear that there were?—Ten of them.

53,182. Who did you hear that from?—I really cannot say; I do not know.

53,183. When did you hear of it?—At the commencement of the election.

53,184. What do you mean by the commencement of the election?—The commencement of the canvassing.

53,185. That is about three weeks before the election?—I do not know how long it was.

53,186. About that? a fortnight or three weeks, or a month?—I do not know; it might be a month or three weeks.

53,187. The commencement of the election might be the polling day?—No; the commencement of the canvassing I mean.

53,188. A few weeks before?—Yes, a few weeks before.

53,189. Had you heard repeatedly during the canvass complaints of these non-payments?—I cannot say repeatedly, because it was all done in a day or two, or a couple of days. I heard from somebody in the Holderness ward that the men were complaining loudly about not paying the 10*s.*, and they called Mr. Baines a blue candidate, which he had no pretension to be, and they all seemed to hold our committee answerable for the claims.

53,190. You understood, in plain English, that they would not vote for Mr. Harris's candidate, whatever his principles were, unless Mr. Harris's former debts were paid?—No; but I understood there would be a great commotion, if they met Mr. Harris, that they would dun him for it.

53,191. And would not vote?—No; I never heard that.

53,192. But is not that what you understood?—No; I think they would have voted for the blues anyhow, but I think there would have been a very great unpleasantness, particularly as Mr. Clay's men were being paid the 10*s.* two or three days before; it was that that set these men in motion.

53,193. Is that so, that you had heard that the back demands of Mr. Clay were being paid?—Yes.

53,194. Do not you observe the distinction that there is in one instance? Mr. Clay was the candidate again, and Mr. Baines was not?—I said it was a great shame that we should pay Mr. Baines's debts. I always said so, but it was for expediency. I paid it for expediency sake.

53,195. It would have been a hazardous experiment to have omitted to pay them?—No, I do not think it would have been a hazardous experiment; I think the men would have voted for Moore and Butler, but I think if Mr. Harris had gone down to Lime Street to canvass the men, he would have been set upon by a mob.

53,196. What do you mean by expediency?—It settled the thing, that is—

53,197. It made things smooth?—Yes.

53,198. Did you ever hear who they were?—No; I never knew a single name except the foreman's name.

53,199. Who was he?—It was in Mr. Spivey Cooper's rope yard.

53,200. But who was he?—I do not recollect his name now.

53,201. Tell us what occurred when you paid the money?—I did not pay them the money.

53,202. When you paid the money is my question?—Who I sent it by?

53,203. Tell us what occurred?—I gave it to our foreman to give to another man to take to Mr. Spivey Cooper's foreman.

53,204. I want to know what was the name of the person you gave it to?—Edward Cornwall, our foreman; the man was not in that I intended to take it, so, as I was going away I gave it to him to take to them. I gave it to him to give to Henry Bayley.

53,205. When was that?—I am sure I cannot say.

53,206. I do not ask exactly, but about the time of day?—About half past six in the evening, just before I was going home.

53,207. On the nomination day?—No; the beginning of the canvass.

53,208. Were there a good many men employed at Mr. Cooper's ropery?—I do not know; I only heard of ten that wanted Mr. Baines's half sovereign, that is all I know about.

53,209. You gave the money in your own premises?—Yes.

53,210. Do you remember who it was who told you what the sum, and what the number was?—No; I do not know. I have not the least recollection who it was.

53,211. Was it Mr. Harris?—No. I asked Mr. Harris if it was him, and he said no, distinctly not; therefore I do not know who it was.

53,212. Did you hear it in the committee?—No, I did not.

53,213. Where did you hear it?—My impression is that I heard it from somebody in the Holderness ward. I went down there the same as other wards very often, and I think I heard it there.

53,214. While canvassing?—No; I cannot say while canvassing; it was from some one connected with the Holderness ward committee to the best of my belief.

53,215. Was that 5*l.* charged to the expenses of the late election?—No.

53,216. Then were you out of pocket the money?—No; I cannot say that I am out of pocket, because I stopped it from my subscription to the election. I subscribed so much less to the election than I should have done if I had not paid the 5*l.*

53,217. Had you agreed to subscribe a sum at this time?—Yes; I had agreed to subscribe a sum. I did not give my name in particularly, but I made up my mind what I should give.

53,218. And when pay day came, you paid 5*l.* less?—I did not agree with anybody; I paid my subscription.

53,219. I understood that you had mentioned the sum that you would give?—That would be so.

53,220. And then when pay day came, that you paid 5*l.* less than that sum?—Yes.

53,221. Is that the list of out-voters from which the alphabetical list was compiled (handing a paper to the witness)?—That I cannot say, I am sure; this is a rough draft.

53,222. This seems to contain entries made in it from time to time?—Yes.

53,223. One man has put against his name the words "Radical, no use."—No; it is no use in or out of town to pay men who are Radicals.

53,224. Memorandums of that description were made in it from time to time?—Yes.

Mr. H. Barkworth.

21st July 1853.

53,225. Opposite the word "Hedon" is a bracket, and the name of Iveson?—Yes; Iveson was the man who was to canvass them.

53,226. You are charged in Mr. Ward's book with the receipt of 25*l.*; that sum you have not spoken of, I think; do you know of the receipt of 25*l.*?—No; I am not charged with 25*l.*

53,227. You have spoken of 160*l.*; you are charged in Mr. Ward's book with the sums of 25*l.*, 71*l.* 1*s.*, and 95*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*; those two last sums make up the 160*l.*?—That is all that passed through my hands.

53,228. In addition to the 70*l.* and 90*l.* which you have spoken of, you are charged with 25*l.* and 9*l.* 10*s.* in Mr. Ward's book?—I had nothing to do with 25*l.* or 9*l.* 10*s.* I believe Mr. Ward told me this morning, the 25*l.* he had advanced to Mr. Harris, and the 9*l.* is for after claims, after I settled my account; some people who had been missed out, who had not claimed before I settled my book up, came forward, and Mr. Ward paid them himself.

53,229. I understood you to say something passed about the 25*l.*?—I had nothing to do with it. Mr. Ward told me this morning he had given that to Mr. Harris to make advances with; so I understood him this morning.

53,230. The 9*l.* 10*s.* you did not disburse yourself?—No.

53,231. You say you burnt several of these things; did you burn them of your own inclination or by anybody's direction?—By my own inclination.

53,232. Had you any direction at all to do so from anybody?—None.

53,233. What was your reason?—My reason was, Mr. Ward gave me his little book with these papers to examine his book from; I never had time to do it until he was ill at home, when he sent for his book to make an analysis of the expenditure, and then when the new canvassing books for the forthcoming election were brought to me by Mr. Fowler, I had no room in the drawer that I had devoted to electioneering purposes; these things I could not understand, or make head or tail of them, so I bundled them into the fire. I made an end of one election before I began another.

53,234. You bundled some things in that did not want to be made head or tail of, you burnt that little penny book of your own?—I finished off one election before I began with another; I had not room for them, in point of fact.

53,235. That little penny book is the one that you made the payment from?—Yes; they would not throw any light upon the matter if you had them.

53,236. Who entered the payments in that book?—Mr. Dixon entered them as they were paid; each man wrote his name in the book.

53,237. You burnt the pay lists?—What do you call the pay lists? they were some weekly accounts.

53,238. What do you call them?—I never heard them called so till the other day, that is why I call them so.

53,239. I ask you this question—Before you burnt the papers and while you were examining them?—I never did examine them except that I saw they were a mass of confusion.

53,240. Did you compare them at all with the totals in Mr. Ward's little book?—No; not at all.

53,241. You had that little book?—No; I had not, because he had sent for it to his house to make an analysis of the expenditure, and I had not the book with me.

53,242. Then you never compared any of the vouchers with the totals?—No.

53,243. In short you did nothing with the papers?—Nothing at all except burn them.

53,244. How long did you keep them?—I think I had them about two months.

53,245. And burnt them just after the petition?—I burnt them to make room for the other papers which I wanted to make use of the drawer for; the drawer was so full.

53,246. Full of what?—The street books and canvassing books for the forthcoming election.

53,247. You mean for the election that is now coming on?—Yes; but when it is coming I do not know.

53,248. At that time the writ was suspended?—We did not know whether it was suspended or not; we ordered the books the very day the petition was ended.

53,249. The very day the petition was ended it would be known there would be no new election?—I did not know it.

53,250. The same day, and cotemporaneously with the decision, it was ordered that the writ should be suspended?—I did not know that, or I should not have ordered the books.

53,251. And what is more, it was known that this commission was to proceed, it was known that a future inquiry would take place the very day the committee unseated the late members?—I did not know it.

53,252. I understand that after voting, the parties came to the central committee room and got a ticket?—No; many of them went straight from the polling booth to No. 7, Quay Street.

53,253. All who went to No. 7 had a ticket?—They had their polling tickets; there was a sort of polling ticket issued before the election, with the number of the register and so on upon it.

53,254. Some came to the committee room?—Yes; I should think that the most of them came to the committee room.

53,255. I asked you that.—It struck me that a few who got their certificate from the agent went straight to Quay Street, others came to the central committee room to have it examined from the sheets, how they polled.

53,256. When they came to the central committee room for that purpose, were any initials or marks put upon the ticket when they took it to Quay Street?—I dare say I should endorse it, or the clerk would, "This man has polled right."

53,257. Who would be the person who did that?—I did it for an hour or two.

53,258. Who else would be engaged in that?—I think Mr. Burstall, he came in when I went out.

53,259. At the central committee room?—Yes.

53,260. Was it done openly in the room?—Yes; there was nothing to conceal about it, as I know.

53,261. Were the committee coming in and out in the ordinary way?—That was the polling day.

53,262. I am aware of that. There were a great many people in and out of the committee room?—Everybody came in, all classes.

53,263. To the central committee room?—Yes; everybody came in that liked who was a Conservative.

53,264. You had returns from time to time from the poll?—We had the fly sheets sent from every booth as the people polled; I think that was the arrangement, but I really forget.

53,265. You referred to the fly sheets to see how they had voted?—Yes.

53,266. And endorsed the ticket which was paid by Dixon?—Yes.

53,267. Did you say that room was taken the day before the election?—Either the day before the nomination or the day before the election; I do not recollect which.

53,268. Did anybody assist Mr. Dixon in those payments?—I think he had a little boy to assist him to do something there, a person whom he knew.

53,269. None of the committee were there?—Nobody.

53,270. You spoke of some complaints made, that Mr. Baines had not paid for the former election, as to the people in Mr. Cooper's yard?—Yes.

53,271. Did you hear other complaints that he had not paid?—No; I cannot say that I did.

53,272. Did any other people come or apply who made complaints of a similar kind?—No; I heard of none.

53,273 Did you see Lidgard from time to time at the central committee room?—I do not know him by sight; I never heard his name until this commission began.

53,274. He has told us that he was there frequently?—I never heard of him or saw his face until now.

53,275. Did you hear of the man at the Minerva Terrace?—About two days before the election I heard that there was this thing going on at the Minerva Terrace.

53,276. Which thing?—I do not know; not a committee room, you cannot call it a committee room.

53,277. Setting down?—Yes.

53,278. An opposition house to Mr. Wilde's?—Of a smaller character, I think.

53,279. Here is an entry referring to Mr. Baines,—"Thomas Naisby, and Joseph Naisby say they want 1*l.*, owing from Mr. Baines."—I never heard of the entry.

53,280. It says, "Refer to Mr. Harris"?—I do not know anything about it. I never heard of the name before.

53,281. Did you pay Mr. Whytal Walker, the petitioner, any money?—No.

53,282. Did you not pay him 10*l.*?—Not that I remember; not a single shilling.

53,283. I understand he says you did pay him 10*l.*?—No; if I did it has quite escaped my memory, for I have no recollection of it.

53,284. Besides the payments that your attention has been drawn to, did you make any others?—I was paying money for Mr. Ward the whole time, but I accounted to him for every farthing except the 5*l.*; there is not a single shilling I disbursed that is not in Mr. Ward's book, except the 5*l.*

53,285. What payments other than those you have mentioned did you make, what kind?—The first week I paid the districts.

53,286. The messengers?—No; I paid the chairman of the districts their weekly bills.

53,287. For their messengers and people?—Yes.

53,288. Did you make any other payments that are not in Mr. Ward's book?—No, not a single shilling.

53,289. Which book are you referring to?—The books you have had before you.

53,290. But the little book?—Yes, the little book.

53,291. I thought you said you never looked into that book?—I never said anything of the sort; I did not compare the vouchers with it; Mr. Ward has told me that everything is in there, and that is all I speak from.

53,292. I certainly understood you to say that you had it two months and never looked into it.—I did not examine it; Mr. Ward told me all the expenditure was in there; I accounted to him for every shilling.

Mr. H. Barkworth.

21st July 1853.

53,293. Did you make any other payments?—Not that are not in that book; 1*l.* 18*s.* I paid to a man.

53,294. Besides these payments of the 71*l.* and the 91*l.*, did any other monies pass through your hands?—Yes; it was passing through my hands the whole election.

53,295. Will you tell us, generally, what for?—I really cannot say; for instance, I should get a post office order for a man on account of his travelling expenses; no other money that I know of.

53,296. Did you pay any voters?—No, not a farthing. Do you mean to say I bribed them?

53,297. No; we do not use that word. Did you pay any of the men who claimed to be paid as runners?—No; they all went to the districts.

53,298. Did you pay the post office order to bring Mr. Lambert from Spilsby?—I do not know the name.

53,299. Did you pay the post office order to bring somebody from Spilsby?—I do not know; I might have done so, but I forget it.

53,300. Do you mean to say that the papers which you have burnt prevent you from giving a more accurate answer?—They would not throw any light upon it at all.

53,301. Would not some such entry be found somewhere?—If Mr. Lambert of Spilsby had 2*l.* paid to him on account of expenses, it would be taken off the sum total when paid to him.

53,302. Where would it be shown?—On the fly sheet of the book. If there were 3*l.* to be paid to Lambert, I should say, "2*l.* paid on account;" that is the way it would be done.

53,303. Do you remember the name?—No; not the last in the world.

53,304. Or the person?—No; not the slightest.

53,305. Do I understand you that the out-voters, after whom you had to look, were not those who live in the neighbouring towns, but those who happen to be living at greater distances?—No, there was no distinction that way; but the people who were not in Mr. Dixon's list were persons who had friends in Hull, and who were paid by them.

53,306. Those who were paid with the 160*l.*, were they not voters who lived in the neighbourhood of Hedon and Cottingham?—There was not a single farthing of the 160*l.* that went to Cottingham, Hedon, or Barton.

53,307. They were voters who were living in towns at a much greater distance?—Yes; some of them came from London, Liverpool, Glasgow, and Newcastle; all over the kingdom.

53,308. What would generally be the class of life of those persons?—I cannot say.

53,309. Would they be mere labouring men?—No; for instance, the 90*l.* was for people generally of the better classes. I think they generally had friends here and were paid in that way.

53,310. And the 70*l.*?—They would be many of them labourers, I think so; they would be mechanics or something of that sort, who had gone to neighbouring towns to work.

53,311. You have said you thought it expedient to pay the men who were claiming an account of Mr. Baines, and you have also said you thought they would have voted blue whether they had been paid or not; do you mean by that that although you thought they would vote blue, that you did not like to run the risk, and therefore paid them?—I did not wish Mr. Harris to be annoyed, and that was my reason.

53,312. Was that your only reason?—He was well known in Holderness ward, and I did not want him to go down there and be mobbed by some ten or a dozen people.

53,313. You said it would cause unpleasantness; do you mean by that, unpleasantness to Mr. Harris or unpleasantness to your cause?—I mean unpleasantness to Mr. Harris.

53,314. Only that?—Yes, I thought only of Mr. Harris; if there had not been an election going on I should not have sent the man 5*l.*, because he would not have been down there canvassing other people.

53,315. Then it was unpleasantness to him as a canvasser for the blue cause?—He did not canvass, but he was down in the Holderness ward a good deal.

53,316. If it was only to save your friend, Mr. Harris, why would you not have paid it, whether it was election time, or any other time?—Because he would not have been interrupted; he would not have gone there; there would not have been remarks made.

53,317. If it was only an account of Mr. Harris, as your personal friend, why did you deduct it from what you subscribed to the election?—The election was going on. You may have it how you like; I cannot make any more of it. I paid it because I thought Mr. Harris would be annoyed, and it would also be beneficial, and also, it would keep matters smooth.

53,318. You said "beneficial to"—and you did not finish that?—You may say it as you like; I thought the men were blue voters, and they would grumble and feel sore, and therefore I paid it. I cannot make any more of it.

53,319. Finish the sentence which you were going to say; beneficial to what?—Beneficial to the Conservative cause, if you like; I cannot say any more.

53,320. You said that you had prepared canvass books for the election that is to come?—I had not.

53,321. You have those books?—Yes.

53,322. You have seen them?—Yes.

53,323. Are there any marks or initials in those books which will show the persons who are likely to want pay?—No, not that I know of; I have never looked them over; they had no instructions on the point, and it is not likely there will be.

53,324. I mean, is there any entry in those books, or mark, which will enable you to say who were paid at the last election?—I believe not; in fact, I have not looked at the books; I feel certain there is nothing of the sort; I will send them to you in half an hour, if you like.

53,325. Who prepared those books?—Mr. Fowler.

53,326. He is the person who would be likely to know?—Yes; you had better ask him.

53,327. Were you at the blue supper?—Yes; I call it an orange supper.

53,328. Not orange, in the sense of blue and orange?—No; a body of Cawyal orange men quite different from the orange men of this town.

53,329. What day did it take place?—I do not know.

53,330. Did you subscribe towards it?—Yes.

53,331. How much did you pay?—A sovereign.

53,332. Is that all?—That is all I paid.

53,333. That is all that came out of your pocket?—That is all that came out of my pocket.

53,334. Did any of your family pay anything besides that sovereign?—My mother paid three or four pounds I think, but I am not sure whether that was so.

53,335. That was pretty near the whole of it?—And my brother John paid a sovereign.

53,336. Was it not principally paid for by your family?—That would be 5*l.* out of the 15*l.*, so that there would be 10*l.* left.

53,337. Did it cost 15*l.*?—So I heard in court.

53,338. Who originated it?—That I cannot say.

53,339. You did not?—I did not; I was asked to subscribe, and that is all.

53,340. Were you present?—Yes, I was asked to go and I went.

53,314. Had it any reference to the coming election?—No; it was not got up for that purpose; it was got up for the purpose of giving the orange men a supper, and blue voters were asked to fill up; that was my understanding at the time.

53,342. Blue voters, and orange men are pretty much the same thing?—I hope they are.

53,343. How many of the orange men are there?—I was told forty this morning; Mr. Pulleyn told me so; I do not know it of my own knowledge.

53,344. How many were there at the supper altogether?—I do not know.

53,345. Were there more than forty?—Yes.

53,346. Principally, I suppose, blues?—They ought to have been.

53,347. And it was intended they should be?—Yes; we should not have asked radicals.

53,348. Keep to the colours, if you please?—I was afraid of confounding it by orange men, and orange colours.

53,349. How many invitations did you issue?—None.

53,350. Did you have tickets?—None.

53,351. Did you understand that only voters were to be there?—A great many of the orange men are not voters; I should think three-fourths of them were not.

53,352. And the remainder was made up of blue voters?—Yes, I expect so.

53,353. It was thought it would be a good thing, in anticipation of the coming election, to have a treat of this kind?—I do not know that it was. Mr. Harris said it was the usual thing, and every year it took place.

53,354. When it took place every year, it was limited to the orange men, was it not?—No; it was limited to the Operative Conservative Society, members of that body.

53,355. Is that the same as the orange men?—No; I believe not.

53,356. How is it you mean to say it was a supper for orange men?—I understood at the time it was got up for that purpose; I heard Mr. Harris say so on Monday.

53,357. Which do you mean? you first say it is a supper given to the orange men, and then a supper given to the Operative Conservatives, which are not the same people?—I understood it was a supper of the orange men, and I understood Mr. Harris to say it was at that time of the year, when they always gave one to the members of the Operative Conservative Association.

53,358. What I ask is, whether the Operative Conservative Association, and the orange men, are the same?—No.

53,359. Still you say a thing that is not apparently reconcileable: you first of all say it was a supper given to the orange men, then to the Operative Conservative Association, and then you say that the two are not the same?—Mr. Harris said it was a supper given to the Operative Conservative Association; I say it was a supper given to the orange men. There we are at issue; we disagree as to the origin of it.

53,360. You consider it was given to the orange men, with the addition of blue voters, to make up on account of the coming election?—No; not on account of the coming election.

53,361. Why?—They were asked; I do not know who asked them; I did not. It was not on account of the coming election; Mr. Harris says, because it was the usual time of the year.

Mr. H. Barkworth.
21st July 1853.

53,362. Mr. Harris said it was only usual to give it to the orange association?—Mr. Harris said it was usual to give it to the Operative Conservative Association, and as Mr. Harris said it was usual about that time, I considered it was given upon that account.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

Mr. Thomas Ward Gleadow sworn, and examined.

53,363. Do you carry on any business in this town?—No.

53,364. What is the rent or rateable value of the premises which you occupy in the Borough of Hull?—I think the rate is 35*l.*

53,365. Have you been long entitled to vote as a householder?—Yes, I have been long entitled, but I believe I have never voted as a householder.

53,366. Have you been long entitled is my question?—Yes; since the Reform Bill.

53,367. Are you also a freeman?—Yes.

53,368. How long have you been free?—I took up my freedom in April, 1818.

53,369. Have you for many years taken an interest in the elections for this borough?—Generally so.

53,370. On the orange side or the blue side?—On the blue side in general.

53,371. Are you the Mr. Gleadow whose name figures in the blue book relating to 1837? did you take an interest in 1837?—In 1837 I should, in all probability.

53,372. Was there any other Mr. Gleadow at that time, who took a large interest?—There is my brother.

53,373. What is your brother's Christian name?—Robert.

53,374. Did you and he both take a considerable share in the proceedings, which took place previous to the election of 1837?—It is very probable.

53,375. The Mr. Gleadow, who is named in 1837, had a clerk who was extremely busy; would that be you, or your brother?—That would be my brother.

53,376. You were pretty well acquainted with what was going on in 1837?—I was one of the central committee, I think.

53,377. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—Yes.

53,378. Were you a member of the committee?—I was a member of the committee.

53,379. Of the central committee?—Of the central.

53,380. On behalf of Hanmer and James?—Yes.

53,381. And did you vote for them?—I did.

53,382. Were you also a member of the district committee?—No.

53,383. We hear that the general price paid was for four days, and two in 1841?—I do not know; I had nothing to do with the paying.

53,384. You had nothing at all to do with the finance department?—No.

53,385. Who had, do you know?—I think everything on that occasion almost was settled by Mr. Cracknell, the solicitor.

53,386. Although you had nothing to do with the payments, you probably were aware that a large number of persons, in 1841, were paid for their votes—many hundreds?—I have no doubt many would be.

53,387. Many hundreds?—Many would be, no doubt, the system was so bad.

53,388. The system had been in force for many years, had it not?—In the first recollection I have of electioneering, it was a natural thing for the burgesses to have their four guineas and two.

53,389. The price dwindled down after the first class was introduced?—I believe I was the one to propose that the polling money should be done away with, at a meeting of the burgesses, at the George, and had we been seconded by the other party, I believe the present system would not have arisen.

53,390. By the present system, do you mean the system of runners?—Exactly.

53,391. It did prevail to a small extent in 1832, afterwards, and then broke up?—Yes, it did.

53,392. The resumption of it was in full force in 1837, we know, because we have the details of that?—No doubt.

53,393. I presume, in 1841, all the members of the committee were cognizant that the practice had been resumed, and was then in full force?—They would be cognizant of runners, being put down as runners.

53,394. Yourself, among the number, was perfectly cognizant of it, and every member would be cognizant?—I heard of it. I am not aware that I put any one down myself, or that I saw any one paid; but I heard of it.

53,395. You were cognizant that it was going on, although you did not put the names down with your own hand?—I knew it was going on to some extent.

53,396. Although you were not aware to what extent?—No.

53,397. In 1847 did you take any interest?—No, not so much. I certainly was at the committee room of Mr. Baines several times.

53,398. Were you a member of his committee?—I believe I was a member, but I was at that time very lame, having recently broken my leg; consequently I could not take a very active part.

53,399. You voted for Mr. Baines?—I voted for Mr. Baines.

53,400. And Mr. Brown?—No.

53,401. Baines, only?—Yes.

53,402. Your accident prevented you from being very active?—Yes, it prevented me from being very active.

53,403. We hear great endeavours were made to get a blue candidate, and it failed; were you aware of that?—I never was aware of it until I heard it here. That was done by a section of the party who were called the Conservative association, I expect so. I learnt from Mr. Harris's evidence; I did not know that any endeavours had been made before.

53,404. They were a class of men who were always anxious for a contest, we hear?—No; I do not know that they are particularly anxious.

53,405. I do not mean the only class: I mean a portion of the class—the Operative Association and the Amalgamated Engineers are always on the look out for a contest if they can get one?—No doubt they would be glad of it, but I do not think they would be the worst.

53,406. It is merely one of the classes?—Yes.

53,407. Who leave no stone unturned to get a contest?—No doubt.

53,408. For the purpose of money?—Yes.

53,409. That is general among the lower class of burgesses, is it not? There is a general anxiety?—There is a great difference: there are a great many of them vote entirely from principle.

53,410. Do not suppose I mean the whole of them, but I mean there is an extensive desire?—There is a numerous body that are always anxious to be paid, both burgesses and householders.

53,411. Do you think that is more among the householders than among the freemen or more among the freemen than the householders?—I think some of the 10*l.* householders are quite as bad as any of the freemen, if not worse.

53,412. Do you mean as being set down as runners or what?—For their cupidity.

53,413. In what way do you consider that cupidity is exhibited?—In demanding pay for their votes, or a consideration of some kind.

53,414. The number of the householders is 3184; of that number how many do you consider, in your judgment, vote for pecuniary considerations?—Upon my honour, I cannot tell, I can form no idea whatever.

53,415. What is your opinion upon it?—I can have no opinion upon the subject.

53,416. You say many are; I merely follow up that question by asking how many?—I cannot tell.

53,417. Of course you cannot tell the exact number?—I can form no opinion.

53,418. You have already given us an opinion?—I say many of them are equally as bad and more particularly those that happen to keep public houses.

53,419. How many do you suppose?—I do not know.

53,420. I want your own interpretation of your own word; you used the word "many." You said, "many are as bad;" I want you to be so good as to translate the word "many" into a figure?—I do not know that I can do that.

53,421. You must have something passing in your own mind which makes you say "many." You would not apply that to two?—No; certainly not.

53,422. You probably do not mean to say of the 3184,—3000 are?—No; but very likely the 184 might.

53,423. Then what was passing in your mind, when you said "many," you now say is 184?—Very probably.

53,424. The number I understand you to say in your judgment is about 184?—Very probably.

53,425. Now, the number of freemen not householders is 1834; how many of those in your judgment do you consider vote from corrupt motives?—I should think one-third.

53,426. Of this number you named the publicans as most amenable to corruption; is that from a desire to have their houses taken?—I mean beer shops principally.

53,427. That is, they want to let their rooms and supply drink?—Exactly so.

53,428. Is there any other class that you can suggest?—There are some of the housekeepers that are little shopkeepers, who very often applied to have their rooms taken as committee rooms.

53,429. And others amenable to the ordinary mode direct payment for their votes?—Yes, no doubt.

53,430. Are there any other classes who you include among them?—No; I do not know of any other.

53,431. The three heads of corruption, that you put, are direct money payments, publicans who want it either for the sake of the consumption of liquors, and a third class of people, who want their rooms taken?—Exactly so.

53,432. Of the 600 freemen, how many of those, or the whole perhaps, do you consider vote from the direct application of money under the pretence of employment?—The whole; I told you so before.

53,433. Are they principally people who are paid really for their votes, under the pretence of giving them employment? is that the mode?—They are principally a class of men who live by their daily labour, and it is a hard case upon them to have to give up their work altogether and receive nothing for it. I agree with Mr. Ward entirely, that men who live by their own manual labour, if they are called off in this way to give their attention to electioneering, that they ought to be paid a fair day's work for the occupation of their time.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

21st July 1853.

53,434. In 1847 you said you took little or no share?—Not much.

53,435. Can you give any information as to the subject of 1847, as to how the system was carried on?—I do not know much about it.

53,436. Do you know anything?—I cannot say anything except that the usual canvass books were made.

53,437. We will not go into that, but I mean with respect to the setting down?—No, I do not.

53,438. In 1852, I believe you also took an active part on behalf of Messrs. Moore and Butler?—I did.

53,439. And voted for them?—Yes.

53,440. And were you a member of the central committee?—I was.

53,441. What was the course of proceeding then? You were aware there were numerous applications according to the old plan?—Yes.

53,442. You were deputy chairman?—Yes.

53,443. Do you remember applications being made to be set down?—Not there.

53,444. Applications made to you which you referred to the district committees?—Very few, indeed, at the central committee room.

53,445. When they were made, what would you do with them?—Refer them to the districts—have nothing to do with them.

53,446. The district chairmen were men of the central committee, which gave great facilities for communication with them?—No doubt.

53,447. Consequently in the majority of those instances, it would be done by a verbal communication when you met the chairman?—If anybody applied to me, I should turn to the poll book and see in what district he lived, and then say, "Go to North Myton ward," or "West Sculcoates," or wherever it might be, and you must apply to the district committee there.

53,448. By the poll book, I suppose you mean the register?—I mean the register.

53,449. Were there many applications, or how many applications do you think there were made to you, which you so referred?—I should think from what I recollect that I had not thirty applications made altogether.

53,450. Do you remember the scheme being proposed by Mr. Wells?—Yes.

53,451. We hear it would have taken 478 voters to have carried it into effect?—I never heard of the number necessary to carry it into effect till I heard the evidence given here on Saturday.

53,452. You heard him say so himself?—Yes.

53,453. Were you aware at the time it would have taken so great a number?—No, I had not the slightest idea: I was thunderstruck when I heard it.

53,454. It would have the effect of giving immense employment?—I am sure he did not consider it in that light.

53,455. That we cannot have from one person, what is passing in another man's mind?—I had conversations with him.

53,456. Had you any conversation with him at that time?—He showed me the scheme he had arranged. We were talking about the difficulty of getting clerks and runners from the polling booths, in which we have always found a difficulty at every election, and I know that Mr. Turnbull had arranged the scheme, which would facilitate the returns from the booths very much. He had shown me what he had written. I certainly read it over, and I could see, I thought, pretty nearly what it meant, and at the same time I thought it was rather a complex thing to be managed by the district committees.

53,457. We have not had anybody who could understand it yet. I do not know whether you did?—I could hardly understand it.

53,458. You did not understand it?—Not exactly.

53,459. You did not understand that, to the extent of the number?—I never gave it a thought—I had nothing to do with it. It was not in my department.

53,460. Mr. Wells, we hear, was your legal adviser. Did he give you advice from time to time to be somewhat careful?—Certainly he did.

53,461. And do you agree with Mr. Cattley, had you been left to yourselves, you would have had resource to more energetic measures than was done?—No; because it was not the desire. I had nothing to do with it; my department was a very simple one.

53,462. What department was yours?—To check the expenditure as well as I could.

53,463. In what way did you check the expenditure?—By not allowing any order to go from any one so far as we could help it, except from the central committee. I see you have the counterfoils of the order book.

53,464. They are all signed by you almost?—The greater part of them, I dare say, are.

53,465. Is this a letter addressed to yourself—"17, Wellington Place, Friday morning," from Charles Wells? Do you remember receiving a letter from Mr. Wells?—I cannot say I recollect it. I received so many notes in the course of a day.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

21st July 1853.

53,466. "17, Wellington Place, Friday morning. Dear Sir,—The bearer, Richard Mitchell, his son, and John Johnson, having heard you were about to put on more men, he called upon me here to request a line to you. The father carries five votes, namely, the three above, one other son, and a brother or brother-in-law—all of them are safe, I doubt not; but I would suggest, if you are going to put on more men, to give one a job and promise the others as soon as you can, and give the old man the choice of which is set on. Yours faithfully, Charles Wells. To T. W. Gleadow, Esq., Hull." Upon the receipt of such a letter, would the course be to put on one, and give the others work as soon as you can?—I should put on no one.

53,467. Would the course of business in the committee be, on the receipt of such a letter as that, that it should be complied with?—I think I recollect the receipt of that letter.

53,468. What was done?—I think I gave it to Mr. Wells, and said, "There is an application for some one to be set down, therefore I give it to you; and if you wish any more assistance at the doors, you can do as you please.

53,469. It is a kind of general authority to him to grant it?—It is no authority—it is merely to get rid of the application.

53,470. It is merely to turn over the application?—I left it to him to deal with as he thought proper.

53,471. Did you canvass at all yourself?—No, I am not aware that I did canvass at all, but if I did, it would only be in one or two instances. I should think I may have called upon some one on my road to the committee room perhaps—I am not aware of it; I am not aware that I canvassed any one.

53,472. Did you see any of the voters canvassing, or who came to you?—No; there were not many of the voters came to me.

53,473. In Mr. Ward's absence, would you send money to the different district committees, as it was required?—Certainly not. I never had a shilling came into my possession.

53,474. Mr. Ward has said that he was absent frequently, and left the discharge of his duties to you?—That was only in case of any note coming for him.

53,475. Not in the case of money?—I never had any money. I never had a farthing.

53,476. You knew that Mr. Ward was from ill health absent?—He was very often absent, for he was very unwell.

53,477. And who would discharge his duty during his absence?—As far as the money was concerned, I believe, Mr. Harris and Mr. Henry Barkworth.

53,478. Do you remember a discussion taking place as to the deductions to be made from the different runners? in order to secure their votes money was kept back?—No. I fancy that took place when the chairmen and deputy chairmen of the districts came, and they met in another room; they always had their meetings in the front room.

53,479. It would be arranged among the different district chairmen, forming of themselves a second committee?—They formed a sort of committee, and one of the deputy chairmen generally went to preside over the meeting. I think I went there once; but I think one meeting would be the only one.

53,480. Which one was that?—That was the first.

53,481. Was that the resolution that was come to, that it was advisable to keep back a certain portion of the money?—I heard that talked of. I am not aware that I was present at the meeting when it was discussed.

53,482. And it appears by a minute in the book that the matter was discussed, and it was again rescinded, and kept going backwards and forwards; the plan constantly varied?—I do not remember the discussion; it seemed to me to be more a discussion between the different chairmen; some were for making the deduction, or rather detaining something.

53,483. Did you express any opinion upon the subject?—I believe not; I do not recollect that I expressed any opinion.

53,484. You acquiesced in either view of the case?—It was immaterial, I thought, which way.

53,485. Am I right in supposing, when the majority were for deducting, you acquiesced in that?—If I was at the meeting I should in all probability say nothing.

53,486. And when it was rescinded, you acquiesced in that?—Yes, as far as silence went, perhaps I did.

53,487. Were you present when it was ultimately resolved to increase the number by twelve each?—No.

53,488. How soon did you become cognizant of it?—I do not know that ever I was cognizant of it until I heard the evidence given here.

53,489. You do not remember the circumstance?—I used very seldom to look at that book.

53,490. It was upon the table, but you did not give yourself much trouble about it?—Yes.

53,491. Was your time when at the committee principally occupied in details?—Principally occupied in giving orders, and answering notes and questions, and so on.

53,492. Were you on any sub-committee relating to the printing, or anything of that sort?—I believe I gave nearly the whole of the orders for the printing, at least the greater part of them, I believe.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

21st July 1853.

53,493. You were yourself a printing committee? Was there anybody took the same share in it as you did?—If I was absent, whoever happened to be the deputy chairman at the time would no doubt give an order.

53,494. It was principally yourself? I observe your name.—It was principally myself, I believe.

53,495. Were you present when the arrangement was made that Mr. Henry Barkworth should undertake the out-voters?—No, I know nothing about that.

53,496. Did you assist in making the arrangements for the payment of the Hedon voters?—No.

53,497. Nothing to do with it?—Nothing.

53,498. Do you know who did?—I believe Mr. Wells made the arrangement.

53,499. Did you trust greatly to Mr. Wells?—Yes, he had an agent at Hedon, and therefore he would write to him in all probability.

53,500. That would be his arrangement?—Yes.

53,501. Was he left to make such arrangements as he thought proper?—Decidedly.

53,502. Did the central committee rest in a great measure upon Mr. Wells for carrying into effect the arrangements for the election?—In a great measure; I should think principally.

53,503. Mr. Wells was occasionally absent, we hear—or appears to be by the minutes—two days at a time?—He was occasionally; he had other business to attend to.

53,504. Then he had a substitute there?—One of his clerks would act for him, I dare say.

53,505. I see charges are made for another gentleman. Was any deduction made from his account?—I do not know; I never saw his account.

53,506. Who were the active people on the blue side at the 1841 election?—The most active man would be the solicitor.

53,507. What is his name?—Mr. Cracknell.

53,508. He is dead?—He is.

53,509. Where was the central committee room, at the 1841 election, for Hanmer and James?—I think it was in Bowl Alley Lane; but I am not certain. The same place that we had this last election; I think so.

53,510. Do you recollect who was the chairman of it?—Mr. Clifford Pease, I think.

53,511. Where is he?—I saw him not many days in Hull; but he resides at the Isle of Man, I think.

53,512. Who would be able to give information about that election?—Upon my word, I do not know.

53,513. We want you to tell us, for Hanmer and James where were the other committee rooms or any of the chairmen? You can give us some names, can you not?—I cannot. I do not recollect who the chairmen of the different districts were.

53,514. Can you give us any of them?—I do not think I can recollect one. I think Mr. Hammond was the chairman in Holderness ward.

53,515. Charles Hammond?—Yes; in Holderness ward, that is the Witham district.

53,516. Were you on any committee?—I was on the central committee.

53,517. Was Mr. Sidebottom engaged in that election for the blue party?—I do not recollect.

53,518. Mr. Harris says he was?—Then in all probability he was, if Mr. Harris says so.

53,519. We asked a question of Mr. Ward, which he could not answer: be kind enough to tell us what all the crosses mean, did you make them (handing some letters)?—I can explain it.

53,520. What does it mean?—They were made by George Steeple, who attended the central committee room; he was a sort of keeper of the room; he used to see all the books were locked up every night, and taken care of, and he had a book of his own, in which he entered all the flagstaffs and matters of that kind, that were sent out, in order that he might be able to get possession of them again, and know into whose possession they went after the election; and he generally used to make his notes from them, and then cross them over to signify that they had been entered in his book.

53,521. Then every note that has that stroke upon it would have been read and examined by Steeple?—I do not know that they had exactly.

53,522. He could not have known the contents without?—It would have been read by him no doubt, and would have been marked to intimate that the business was settled as far as that note went, that the request had been complied with or no notice taken of it.

53,523. There are some not crossed, what was the difference between them? were those such as were taken no notice of, or what?—I cannot say; these are to district committee men, it appears.

53,524. I thing they are all addressed to the central committee?—No; there is no address.

53,525. What was Steeple's particular place? What was his particular duty at the committee?—He was a sort of acting clerk and overlooker of the messengers, and so on.

53,526. Of the messengers generally, do you mean, at all the district committee rooms?—No, at our own place; the central committee room.

53,527. When these letters were first received, I suppose they would be read by yourself or Mr. Ward, such as are addressed to the central committee?—I suppose they would.

53,528. And then he handed to Mr. Steeple to act upon?—Yes.

53,529. And this mark would donote that he had done so?—That they had been attended to by him.

53,530. Was Mr. Steeple an old electioneerer for the blue party?—A very old electioneerer.

53,531. Is he the same Mr. Steeple who is mentioned in the blue book of 1837?—Yes; George Steeple.

53,532. Do these letters chiefly relate to flagstaffs and colours, these crossed papers?—Those that are marked, principally related to those things.

53,533. Here is one that has a single mark, it is addressed to the committee of chairmen did you see this? "The bearer of this note, Mrs. Beautyman, is the wife of a voter who now resides at Wisbeach Place. Have a conference with her, respecting her husband, as the opposite party are endeavouring to get his vote." Do you remember such a person making such an application?—I do not.

53,534. You do not remember the lady coming?—I do not.

53,535. Would Mr. Steeple attend to it, or who would it be referred to? That has a single cross.—I am not aware that means anything; it has been done by one of the clerks.

53,536. Do not you recollect Mrs. Beautyman?—No; I do not.

53,537. What does the single mark mean?—I do not know.

53,538. Would that be Mr. Steeple's mark?—No; I am not aware that it would. I should think it probably would be made by one of the clerks, and a minute made in the minute books.

53,539. To show it had been attended to in some way?—That it appears to me is the meaning of it.

53,540. It amounts to a sort of cancelling the note?—Yes; exactly so.

53,541. And that would be the case without taking you through them?—Yes.

53,542. And it would amount to a cancelling of the note, and its being attended to?—Exactly so.

53,543. I see among others, some applications for committee rooms. The mark where it appears would denote the same thing, that it had been attended to?—Yes; that they had been read and no further trouble taken with them.

53,544. Do you call that attending to them?—No; many of those were not attended to, for they were taken no notice of.

53,545. How does that appear?—I do not know that it would appear in any way. There would simply be that mark, to show they had been brought under the notice of some one of the committee, and therefore it was not necessary for any person to trouble his head with them.

53,546. Not with the note any more?—No.

53,547. Do you know the man of the name of Lidgard, or Legitt he is sometimes called? Were you here yesterday?—Yes.

53,548. Did you see him?—Yes.

53,549. Had you seen him at your committee room?—I saw him once or twice.

53,550. What did he come there for?—I do not know.

53,551. Did he come to say nothing, or look on, or what for?—I do not know. I should be sitting at one end of the room, and when I saw him, he was at the other.

53,552. You would be in the chair?—I should not know; he did not address himself to me.

53,553. Did you know what he came for?—I did not.

53,554. Did you hear him say yesterday, that he made reports from time to time to your committee?—I am not aware of any.

53,555. Did you hear him say so?—I did hear him say so.

53,556. Do you not know that he did so without having heard him yourself?—No; I did not.

53,557. When did you first hear of his room?—I never heard of the room. I did not know he had a room.

53,558. Did you never know of the place at the Minerva Terrace?—Not until I heard it here.

53,559. If he came to make a report to the central committee, would he make it through other persons in another room,—some part of the other body?—I do not know what he meant by making a report.

53,560. He says he went to every committee district, and central, and made a report, and compared his book with them?—He might do so.

53,561. That is what he said.—Then he would not come to the room where I was sitting; he would go into the room below stairs, where the clerks were posting up the books.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

21st July 1853.

53,562. What I mean is this,—if he came to make a report from such a room as this, would he make it in the general committee room, or would he make it in some other committee room?—I think in all probability he would go to the clerks' room below, where they were continually at the register and district books.

53,563. And compare the list and such like?—Yes.

53,564. You think it would be made in that room?—I think so.

53,565. Do I understand you you never heard of this place until yesterday?—Until a day or two ago; until I heard it here. It was mentioned before yesterday, you understand.

53,566. Was it among other things the duty of the clerks, you have alluded to, to compare their own lists with the district lists, and lists that were brought from all places? Is that part of their duty?—I do not know. I should naturally conclude it would be so; but these were clerks under the control of Mr Wells, and what they were doing, I really cannot pretend to say.

53,567. Would they not compare the lists from different districts, that were brought in?—I have no doubt, if any lists were brought in, they would compare them with their books.

53,568. And any lists brought would be taken to that room?—Yes.

53,569. Who was the person who was the principal in that room?—I do not know that there was any principal.

53,570. Who were the persons who were not the principals? who were the ordinaries?—Mr. Fowler would be there.

53,571. There would be some head clerk, would there not?—I think Mr. Fowler may be considered as the head clerk.

53,572. And how many were generally there acting as clerks?—Six or eight, I should suppose.

53,573. From day to day?—Yes.

53,574. They would be among other things posting the names or comparing the names of persons employed on your side, the blue side?—I imagine so.

53,575. They would post them of course in some way in some book, in order to know who you might depend on at the election?—All the canvassing books would be prepared by them.

53,576. In this room?—Yes.

53,577. We have no book I think from your room of that kind that was kept by these clerks? where would they be?—I do not know where the books are. I have never seen a single book or paper, I think, since the election. They were left all at the central committee rooms, and what became of them I do not know.

53,578. Did you go through any vouchers at any time, and compare them yourself?—I went through the tradesmen's accounts, I think, with the order book just, to cheque them.

53,579. With the counterfoils?—Yes; I think you will find that every counterfoil is ticked.

53,580. Did they correspond?—Yes.

53,581. Did you go round the district committees from time to time, Mr. Gleadow?—Very often.

53,582. Every night, did you not?—Not every night.

53,583. I understand Mr. Wells says you went every night?—No.

53,584. I do not know whether Mr. Charles Wells or Mr. Robert Wells?—It would be Mr. Robert Wells, the solicitor.

53,585. You did frequently go with him?—Yes; very frequently.

53,586. What for?—To see what they were about, and if the committee had come to any resolution during the day, with regard to anything, then we communicated it to them.

53,587. Did you inquire what number of applicants they had put on the books?—No.

53,588. There was a general resolution that all applicants should be set down, in the list of resolutions at the central committee room on the 12th of June?—I do not know anything about that.

53,589. There is a general resolution at the central committee, that only a certain number are to be employed, but all applicants are to be put on lists; that is the substance of the resolution?—That is the usual course at all elections.

53,590. My question is, whether you saw that application list from time to time at the district rooms?—Never.

53,591. Did you go to inquire about the general business?—I merely went to see how they were going on and to keep them alive.

53,592. I do not know how your mere presence would do that. I dare say it would encourage them. Did you take them any money?—Never.

53,593. Do you remember a man of the name of Rowen coming and making an application to be paid in full?—No; I do not.

53,594. You may not know the man?—I do not recollect his name.

53,595. Do you recollect the man coming?—No.

53,596. Lidgard has told us that a man came to the central committee room the day of the nomination; do you recollect such an application being made by such a man?—No; I never saw him.

53,597. Where would that be made, supposing there was such a one, that the man would not vote unless paid in full?—I do not know.

53,598. Would that go to the clerks' room?—I do not know. In all probability they would ask to see some one, and some one would go out of the room to them.

53,599. It would not be made in the general room?—No.

53,600. It was your duty, I think you say, to control the expenditure?—As far as I could.

53,601. Did you find it difficult?—Certainly I did.

53,602. From whom did the difficulty come?—From principally some of the district chairmen who wanted to have more cards and more circulars than we thought were necessary for them.

53,603. And you were obliged to give way to them, I think?—Not always.

53,604. To a great extent?—To a great extent.

53,605. I think you say you gave most of the orders?—I did.

53,606. You divided them as much as you could, did you not?—Yes, certainly.

53,607, That was in order to satisfy more people?—We divided them in order that every one of our own friends might have a fair share.

53,608. They would have been discontented, you agree in that, if they had not had their share?—Possibly they might. I never asked the question, and I never heard a remark.

53,609. If you did it in order to satisfy them, I suppose you had it in your mind that they would be dissatisfied if you did not do so?—It is always usual to do so.

53,610. Would there not be dissatisfaction, you agree, if the orders had not been very large?—If there had been but two men in one particular line of business who we required goods from, we in all probability should have divided it equally between them. If one got all, and the second nothing, he would be dissatisfied.

53,611. Do you agree with what has been said by other people, that they would have been dissatisfaction among a considerable portion of the constituency if a large sum of money had not been spent during the election?—No doubt about that.

53,612. And you do not confine your dissatisfaction to the men who were merely paid as runners?—No.

53,613. Do you include them in the 184 who would vote from corrupt motives?—I should think so.

53,614. Do you mean that only 184 persons would be dissatisfied if a large sum of money was not expended during an election in Hull?—Oh dear, no; I did not say so.

53,615. Do you include the people who would be dissatisfied among the corrupt 184?—I am speaking of the tradesmen. I thought you meant those.

53,616. Do you include those tradesmen who would be dissatisfied among the 184, who you consider householders who were corrupt?—No.

53,617. You draw a broad distinction between dissatisfaction through preference being given to brother tradesmen?—Certainly.

53,618. And a person who votes for the sake of money, you draw a broad distinction between the person who would merely be dissatisfied because another tradesman was preferred?—I do not think among the tradesmen of that class that that would make any difference in the result.

53,619. They might feel dissatisfied, but it would have no effect upon their votes, would it?—No.

53,620. For instance, there is a bill of 90*l.*, I see, given for printing,—I forget the gentleman's name now, but it is immaterial?—That is the Hull Packet.

53,621. Do you include him among the 184 corrupt?—No, certainly.

53,622. Here is printing after printing?—There is certainly too much of it.

53,623. There are counterfoils following one after another. That gentleman might feel perhaps annoyed if you had sent all your advertisements to the orange side and none to him?—I should think he would have been dissatisfied.

53,624. Still you do not think, I presume, that that would in any way have influenced his vote?—No.

53,625. That the editor of a paper like the Hull Packet would turn round and become an orange party because you omitted a few advertisements?—Certainly not.

53,626. Do you think it influences their votes in any way?—No.

53,627. Do you mean to say, if these orders that were sent to a great many people, were totally withheld, that you should have the same confidence or expectation of their votes?—I am not aware in any instance it would have made any difference, as far as those orders went.

53,628. Can you name any one among the various tradespeople you employed who, you believe, would have voted against you if he had not received an order for goods?—I do not know any one. I know one man, to whom we gave an order, who voted against us.

53,629. Could one person have supplied all the printing and cards?—It would have been impossible.

53,630. From the number of them?—Yes.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

21st July 1853.

53,631. Then do you consider it was necessary to divide it, in order to get through the whole of the work?—We should not have got the printing done in time.

53,632. And was that the only cause of the division of orders?—I should say so.

53,633. Do you consider all the counterfoils that appear in this book for orders as having been absolutely necessary for the conduct of a fair election in Hull?—I do not know what you mean by a fair election.

53,634. I mean an election at which money was needlessly spent?—Then all this would have been unnecessary.

53,635. What is the total amount of orders, as appearing upon the counterfoils, to the best of your recollection?—I do not know.

53,636. The accounts came in from time to time; be kind enough to give me to the best of your recollection?—I heard it said here. The first time I heard of it was about a month ago. Mr. Ward told me the printing amounted to 400*l.*, which I was very much surprised at.

53,637. How much do you think would be necessary of that 400*l.*, as a necessary expense for a Hull election?—At least one half might have been spared.

53,638. Would you say three fourths?—I think I might say three fourths.

53,639. The orders would amount, I think, to nearly, or rather more than 2,000*l.*?—I do not know what they amounted to.

53,640. The amount that has been placed to the account of runners is 1,300*l.* on your side, and the whole cost of the election upon your side is 3,400*l.*?—3,600*l.*, I think.

53,641. The money expended in orders for goods, and cards, and other things in Hull would amount to about 2,000*l.* How much of that should you say is necessary in a perfectly pure election?—I should think one fourth.

53,642. Then for what purpose was the three fourths expended?—The cabs were a great expense.

53,643. You say one fourth was necessary, why should you then expend three fourths more?—Because it has always been the custom at contested elections to print a great many cards and other foolish things.

53,644. Do you agree with another witness, who has said that it is in order to satisfy the cupidity of many of the electors?—In all probability that is so.

53,645. Then, although it would not alter their votes, would it so far influence them as to make them desirous of having a contest always?—No doubt.

53,646. And they would be desirous of having a contest without any regard to political motives, but merely from pecuniary advantages?—I should think almost purely so; because the man who wants a contest does not care about politics in one shape or the other.

53,647. You consider the large amount of expenditure upon all occasions as wasteful extravagance?—I do.

53,648. With respect to the cabs, do you think the cabs are required at all? Do you think there is the slightest justification for spending sixpence for cabs, when there are eighteen polling places in Hull?—Some of the voters would not go from one street to the other.

53,649. It is necessary?—Decidedly not necessary, except upon these occasions.

53,650. If it was not that people were influenced by political purposes, no person would pay other peoples expenses?—No.

53,651. They would not go from one street to another without being carried?—Some of them would not.

53,652. Where that is at the people's expense?—Yes; exactly so.

53,653. Mr. Steeple, whom you have mentioned, is a person who would understand the meaning of the words, "Mind, do not be guilty of any bribery," about as well as any man in England?—I dare say he would.

53,654. He would know perfectly well the meaning of those words would be to be careful and not to be discovered?—Yes; it would be. He would know the meaning of that proclamation put out against bribery.

53,655. He would know that he was to be careful?—He would know that they were going to begin directly.

53,656. You say he would know the meaning of the proclamation. What do you suppose it would mean?—He would look at it as I should look at it,—as a hint to the opposite party to mind what they are about. But I took it as a hint that the orange party were about to commence paying directly.

53,657. A proclamation of a similar description was issued by both parties?—No; ours was not published in the same way.

53,658. You understood it was intended as a hint that the orange party meant to begin paying directly?—Yes, no doubt of it.

53,659. And you took the hint?—No, I did not.

53,660. The party did?—I told them at the central committee what I had seen and what I knew would be the result.

53,661. And what you understood by it?—And what I understood by it, certainly.

53,662. The ordinary result of these proclamations against bribery would be an intimation to those people to be careful?—I always find that those who talk the most about purity of election are the first to break suit.

Mr. T. W. Gleadow.

21st July 1853.

53,663. There is a remarkable entry in one of the books,—that the election was wrung from you by bribery against honesty and integrity?—That was written by one of the clerks.

53,664. A mere flourish of the pen?—Yes, I think so.

53,665. It is one of your minute books?—Yes.

WILLIAM MURGATROYD sworn, and examined.

W. Murgatroyd.

53,666. Where do you live?—No. 32, Charles Street.

53,667. What is your business?—An ironmonger.

53,668. Have you been a resident in the borough for some time?—Yes.

53,669. Are you a freeman?—I am an old burgess, but not of Hull. I am not a voter at present.

53,670. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes; but I am not on the register.

53,671. Did you not vote at either of the three last elections?—Yes; at the two former ones.

53,672. 1841 and 1847?—Yes.

53,673. Who did you vote for at the election of 1841?—Clay and Thompson.

53,674. Were you on any committee?—No.

53,675. Did you take any general interest in that election?—None at all.

53,676. Merely voted?—Merely voted.

53,677. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Baines.

53,678. Did you take any interest in that election?—None at all.

53,679. Not on any committee?—No.

53,680. In 1852 you voted for the blues?—No; I had no vote.

53,681. You acted for them?—I acted for them.

53,682. You changed a little?—I was out of work, and the blue party gave me a job.

53,683. You mean that you had not any business at the time?—No.

53,684. Are you in business now?—No; I am journeyman.

53,685. At what committee were you put on?—The Wincolmlee committee, where Mr. Yeall was chairman.

53,686. Were you the secretary?—No.

53,687. In what capacity were you at that committee?—Merely a canvasser.

53,688. And I believe you were paid for it?—Yes, I was.

53,689. For how many weeks?—I think somewhere about four weeks.

53,690. At what rate?—At 5*s.* a day. I received somewhere about 6*l.*

53,691. Did you apply for that employment?—Yes, I did.

53,692. Why were you not upon the last register? how did that happen?—I made a removal, and that was why I was not upon the register.

53,693. It was merely by removal?—Yes.

53,694. You say you canvassed?—Yes.

53,695. In any particular district?—Yes.

53,696. What district did you canvass?—I have the canvass book by me.

53,697. We have probably asked for that.—It is one that I had of my own.

53,698. What book is that? what does it contain?—Merely a canvass book of the district I took.

53,699. Does it contain the names of voters in the district you canvassed?—Yes.

53,700. The names of them all?—Yes.

53,701. Of all the voters in the district that you took?—Yes.

53,702. Was that in Wincolmlee?—Yes.

53,703. Does it contain the promises?—Yes.

53,704. How is that shown upon the book? What was your entry when you got a man's promise?—I put a mark to it.

53,705. What sort of a mark? what mark denoted the promise?—The straight stroke.

53,706. Where you put the figure 1?—Yes.

53,707. I see M. B.; that meant one for Moore, and one for Butler?—Yes.

53,708. That meant that you got promises from those people?—Yes.

53,709. How long were you engaged in making this canvass?—About a month.

53,710. Will this book show all that had promised for Moore and Butler in your canvass?—Yes.

53,711. Did you make some payments to some of them afterwards?—Yes, I did.

53,712. How will that appear by the book?—That book has nothing to do with the payments. They were merely upon a list Mr. Yeall gave me to go round and pay them after the election was over.

53,713. What did you do with that list?—I gave it back to Mr. Yeall, and Mr. Yeall tells me he sent it to you when I made inquiry of him.

53,714. And all in that list were paid by you, were they?—Yes.

53,715. When was that done?—Perhaps about a week after the election, as near as I can tell. I cannot say to a day or two.

53,716. What particular people were they whose names are upon that list?—Different small shopkeepers and burgesses.

W. Murgatroyd.

21st July 1853.

53,717. All voters, of course?—Yes.

53,718. And had all voted for you?—Yes; and some for committee rooms, I believe, there is upon that list.

53,719. How was that list made out? what from?—I really cannot tell you that.

53,720. Who did you receive it from?—Mr. Yeall.

53,721. At the committee room?—No; at his own house.

53,722. Did you not help to make it from a book with him, of some kind?—No.

53,723. Were the sums which were named for those payments ready prepared and calculated?—All ready prepared. When I went into his house, he wished me to go the Saturday night and receive the money, and he gave me that list with it.

53,724. Was that the Saturday after the election?—No. I do not know when it was; it was a Saturday night.

53,725. Has the list got receipts to it?—I got the parties to put their names to it.

53,726. There is your signature upon that?—They used to give me a pound every Saturday night, and I signed it.

53,727. Who are the people? where were they to be found?—All those were people who were engaged as runners.

53,728. Is that a list of those who were engaged as runners and paid by you (referring to the list marked A)?—No; paid by Wright. These had nothing to do with it.

53,729. But you are one of them? your name is in that?—Yes.

53,730. Your signature there denotes the payments that you have spoken of as having received?—The pound the first Saturday evening, that would be.

53,731. Are the other names upon that sheet of paper the names of persons who were paid as runners in the same way?—Some of them are.

53,732. Who are they?—There is part of them runners, and there is a young man of the name of Roebuck, who was a young man engaged in the same way that I was.

53,733. He was engaged as a canvasser?—Yes.

53,734. They were all persons employed one way or other?—All of them are people engaged as runners or doorkeepers.

53,735. Whose names were down?—Yes.

53,736. Are the other sheets of the same kind?—All those first five are, I believe.

53,737. They all denote payments to runners and others?—Yes.

53,738. You say your canvass lasted some time: did you report the result of it to the central committee every day?—No; only to our own committee, every night.

53,739. And were the names that you had got promises from entered in some book?—Yes; they were entered in the book.

53,740. By yourself?—No; by the clerk.

53,741. Was that done daily?—Every day.

53,742. They were put on a list?—Yes.

53,743. Did you report some who were to be put down as runners, or applicants for employment?—No; they were sent in to the room to get their names down.

53,744. At the time?—Yes.

53,745. You did not enter them?—No.

53,746. Did you find many such in the canvass?—Yes; a good many.

53,747. What was your general direction to them?—To send them to the committee room.

53,748. Of the district in which they were residing?—Yes.

53,749. But you would not enter them in this book?—No.

53,750. Why not?—Because it would be no use in that book without they got their names down in the committee room.

53,751. All the other names that are entered in this book you reported to the Wincolmlee committee?—Yes; and the people who wanted their names down as runners, I wished them to go in there to get them set down, and they would have their names safe in the book. There was a proper list kept.

53,752. Of such persons?—Yes.

53,753. You considered them a separate class altogether from those you entered in this book?—A many of them would be entered, but it was merely to know the promises that we got in the canvass.

53,754. I ask, did you enter the runners' names, as well as the others, in this book?—Yes, of course; those two are the sheets I paid from (referring to two sheets of paper).

53,755. Is there a total of the payments?—Yes, 55*l.* 17*s.*

53,756. That would be the amount of your payments?—Yes.

53,757. Did you pay any more?—No; that was all I paid.

53,758. Anywhere?—Nowhere else.

53,759. Did Roebuck go about with you or did he go to separate parties?—He had a different district.

53,760. Did he have a little book given him of this sort?—Just the same.

53,761. This seems to mention the district you are to go to in the outset?—The streets that I had to attend to.

53,762. And Roebuck had the same kind of book?—Yes, he had.

53,763. Do you know Roebuck?—Yes.

53,764. Where is he?—He is somewhere near London, upon some railway.

W. Murgatroyd.

21st July 1853.

53,765. Did he make payments?—No; he went round I believe with me once; this was made at twice, two different times.

53,766. Were those payments made at the people's houses?—Yes.

53,767. All made at their houses?—Yes.

53,768. And Roebuck went with you on one of the two occasions?—Yes, he did.

53,769. Do you know if Roebuck had any separate list to pay upon?—No; he did not.

53,770. Did anybody else pay in that district besides you and Mr. Roebuck, to your knowledge?—I believe no one else.

53,771. Who supplied you with the money?—Mr. Yeall

53,772. Did you go to Lidgard's room?—No.

53,773. Or to Legitt's, as he is called?—No.

53,774. To Mr. Bannister's?—No; I went nowhere else.

53,775. Do you recollect giving a man 2*l.* in Mr. Purdon's shop?—No; nothing of the kind. I never got any money but what is upon this paper.

53,776. You do not seem much surprised at my asking you, as if you knew something about it?—I do not know that I need be surprised. I know nothing of it.

53,777. Do not you remember paying some man in Purdon's shop the sum of 2*l.*?—No.

53,778. You do not remember it?—No, I do not.

53,779. Was there a Charter House district in yours?—Yes.

53,780. Did a man of the name of Turnbull make any payments in that district?—Mr. Turnbull was the chairman for the other district.

53,781. Was there any other but Mr. Turnbull, the chairman of that name?—I do not know of any other.

53,782. Did those payments that you made include the Charter House district?—We had nothing to do with the Charter House district.

53,783. Was not that in Wincolmlee?—Yes, but it was another district; it belongs to Mr. Turnbull's district.

53,784. It was an offshoot of your place?—Yes.

53,785. Sculcoates North?—Yes; it was divided into two districts.

53,786. Did you make a payment to a man named John Wass?—Yes.

53,787. How much?—A pound.

53,788. And 20*s.* to Edward Wilkinson and his son?—Wilkinson I paid, I know.

53,789. A man of the name of George Bell, is he in your list?—George Bell I paid.

53,790. You say you paid all in that list, and none except in that list?—That is all I paid.

53,791. I believe you also paid Robert Clarkson only 10*s.*, and Samuel Loft only 10*s.*, instead of a pound?—There were some of them had only 10*s.*—Samuel Loft 10*s.*, and Clarkson 10*s.*

53,792. On referring to the poll book I see each of those gave you one vote instead of two; does that account for their only getting 10*s.*?—Yes.

53,793. Split votes you paid 10*s.*, and the others a pound?—Yes.

53,794. Did you pay anybody who had not voted for you?—I do not know that we did.

53,795. If you did, it was by mistake?—Yes.

Jonathan Pulleyn.

JONATHAN PULLEYN sworn, and examined.

53,796. Where is your residence in Hull?—In Silver Street.

53,797. What is your business?—A printer and stationer.

53,798. What is the rental of your premises?—£90.

53,799. You are a voter as 10*l.* householder?—I am.

53,800. Are a freeman?—No.

53,801. How long have you lived in Hull?—About nine or ten years.

53,802. How long have you been a voter?—Since 1845.

53,803. Did you vote at the election of 1847?—I did

53,804. For whom?—Brown and Baines.

53,805. Were you on any committee?—I was.

53,806. Upon which?—The South Myton ward.

53,807. In what capacity?—As a kind of deputy deputy chairman. Mr. Day was the original chairman, and he was taken ill, and had to go out of town, and I was sent down as his substitute.

53,808. For which candidate were you?—For Mr. Brown.

53,809. Was Mr. Day the vice-chairman then?—No; he was the chairman.

53,810. Then who was the vice-chairman?—I cannot call to mind; I do not think that there was one.

53,811. Who was the clerk?—I am sure I forget his name; young Farthing wa assistant clerk.

53,812. Was he the person who did take an active part in the business?—He 53,813. Where does he live?—I believe he has gone to Australia.

Jonathan Pulleyn.

21st July 1853.

53,814. Who else was active upon that committee?—I scarcely know; it was a strange district to me. I had never been down there before.

53,815. Cannot you tell me the names of some persons?—There was a Mr. Charlton as well, but he has gone to Australia.

53,816. Can you tell me, if you will be kind enough, anybody who is now alive and in Hull?—I only went down on the nomination day.

53,817. Cannot you tell me one?—I cannot tell you; they are perfect strangers to me.

53,818. Did you take any part in inviting Mr. Brown to Hull?—None whatever. I was in Scarboro', and returned from Scarboro' on the Monday evening of the election week.

53,819. Was the first thing you had to do with the election on the nomination day?—Yes; on the nomination day.

53,820. And you went down to the committee to act as chairman?—Exactly.

53,821. Was there the usual system of setting down names or paying messengers at your committee?—Yes; there was setting down names.

53,822. That was in order that they might be paid?—Exactly.

53,823. Did that take place the whole of the nomination day?—I was out a very great deal; for that part had not been canvassed for Mr. Brown, and I was out a very great deal canvassing on the Wednesday, as that part had not been canvassed at all.

53,824. And was there also a large setting down upon the polling day?—I was out principally upon that day.

53,825. On the nomiuation day?—On the polling day.

53,826. Was that during the whole day, up to the end of the day?—No; about one or two o'clock we stopped putting names down.

53,827. Were any of the men whose names were set down on either day paid before they voted?—Some of them were; some of them were paid on the nomination night, and some of them were paid on the Thursday morning before they polled.

53,828. Who paid them?—Mr. Farthing and the clerk.

53,829. Mr. Farthing was one person who paid; who else?—The clerk who was there; I cannot call his name to mind.

53,830. Perhaps you will be able to recollect by and by what his name was. Was that under your superintendence, the payment?—No, not at all.

53,831. Where did the money come from?—Mr. Charlton got the money, and young Mr. Mitchell as well.

53,832. What is Charlton?—He is in Australia.

53,833. Where were they paid?—At Wharam's public house; there are two Wharams; not the Wharam you have had so much talk about.

53,834. Where was the public house at which they were paid?—At the corner of Porter Street and Waverley Street.

53,835. Was that the place where the committee room was held?—It was.

53,836. Then they were paid in the committee room?—Yes.

53,837. Did Mitchell and the other gentlemen bring the men there?—I do not know. On the Wednesday when they were paid I was still out canvassing; I should think I should be out from nine to ten o'clock canvassing, and I was very little in the committee room that day.

53,838. Had you any instructions as to the mode of setting down names, when you began to act?—No; I went, and I forget who I saw in the committee room, and he said we were to set down names, but not to exceed 100.

53,839. On the nomination day?—Altogether.

53,840. Those were your instructions, were they?—Yes, they were.

53,841. And you began to carry those instructions into effect as fast as you could?—Yes, exactly.

53,842. Did you succeed in getting the hundred?—More than that, for there were a lot at the Baltic Tavern that were altogether a separate lot.

53,843. The eighty at the Baltic Tavern?—Yes.

53,844. Did you get the 100?—I think approaching 100.

53,845. You do not think there was more?—There would not be more I am certain.

53,846. Did you treat with the parties at the Baltic?—Partly so. I was backwards and forwards two or three times during the morning treating with them.

53,847. Was that on the nomination day?—On the polling day.

53,848. Was that party headed by Nicholson?—I do not know one of the name; but one of them was chosen to speak for the rest.

53,849. Did you eventually agree with them for 2*l.* a head?—No; not so much.

53,850. How much?—A pound.

53,851. That was a pound on the part of Mr. Brown?—Yes.

53,852. Do you know whether they also had money from Mr. Clay?—They had.

53,853. Another pound?—Another pound.

53,854. That was the arrangement, that they were bought for 2*l.*, of which Mr. Brown paid half and Mr. Clay half?—We bargained for Mr. Brown; and Mr. Jones and young Mr. Galloway were there, and bargained for Mr. Clay.

53,855. Were the names taken down of the persons set down independent of the eighty?—Yes.

53,856. In what book?—In a book in the room.

53,857. Where is that book?—I do not know; I never saw the papers after the election that time.

53,858. Did you have the book in the committee room?—I left everything with the clerk.

53,859. This clerk whose name you cannot recollect?—Yes; I heard his name the other day, but I cannot call it to mind; it has been mentioned here.

53,860. I dare say you will be able to make yourself acquainted with it if you try?—I will do so.

53,861. Had you any bargain with other persons besides the eighty?—None whatever.

53,862. You yourself have no means of giving us the names which were set down at that committee room?—No, I have not.

53,863. Have you any books or papers?—Not one.

53,864. Did the same persons pay on the polling day as paid on the nomination day?—I think they did.

53,865. How early in the morning did they begin to pay on the polling day?—I got down about half past eight.

53,866. And they were paying then?—Yes.

53,867. Do you know how much the persons were paid whose names were set down?—I do not.

53,868. Do you know where is that list of eighty?—I am sure I cannot say; I did not keep the accounts, and I did not see them.

53,869. When you set the names down, did you make an agreement as to the sum they were to receive?—No.

53,870. Is that so?—It is.

53,871. Can you tell us anything else about the 1847 election, that you saw or heard at the time?—No, I cannot. I was occupied those two days in that district, and very nearly all Wednesday morning was occupied in treating with these eighty men at the Baltic. We were three or four times backwards and forwards from the central committee room to the men.

53,872. I believe, when you canvassed the parties in 1847, there was no disguise used at all?—No.

53,873. You promised them money?—We set their names down.

53,874. There was no pretence on that occasion for employing them?—No.

53,875. You say you set them down?—Exactly.

53,876. But there was no pretence of employment?—No.

53,877. At the last election, were you a member of the committee?—I was.

53,878. For the blue candidates?—Yes.

53,879. Did you vote for them?—I did.

53,880. You were the deputy chairman of the Lowgate ward?—I was.

53,881. How early did you begin to act at that election?—Well, there had been various meetings held—private meetings—in March, I think, or February, perhaps.

53,882. Did you take part in them all?—I went to very nearly all of them.

53,883. Were you one of the persons that was anxious that there should be two blue candidates?—No; if there could have been a compromise effected, I should like to have one and one.

53,884. Were you anxious that there should be such a compromise?—Yes.

53,885. And you expressed yourself so?—Yes.

53,886. At your own room?—Yes.

53,887. Were you acting in that committee for three or four weeks before the election?—I was.

53,888. For Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—For Moore and Butler.

53,889. Did you begin at once with the system that you had pursued in 1847?—No.

53,890. Were you told of the agreement with the orange party?—Yes.

53,891. And of Mr. Wells' advice?—Yes.

53,892. And you attempted to act in accordance with those?—Yes.

53,893. But you set down the names of all persons who applied?—Applications?

53,894. Yes, of applicants?—I did; but it was I believe with the intention that they should be employed at some time or another, if we saw needful to increase the staff.

53,895. Was it not understood that that would be needful?—Not at that time, it was not.

53,896. Did you understand at first that the last election was to be conducted in a different way from that in 1847?—Entirely.

53,897. That it was to be entirely a pure election?—Yes.

53,898. You understood so?—I did.

53,899. From whom did you understand that?—From Mr. Ward.

53,900. That was when Mr. Ward spoke to the chairman, and the deputy chairman?—It was.

53,901. The construction you put on his speech was, that it was to be a pure election?—

Jonathan Pulleyn.

21st July 1853.

No one could put any other construction upon it. His advice was so plain, that no one could put any other construction upon it than that.

53,902. Did you immediately begin to canvass?—I did.

53,903. As soon as you began to canvass, did you have applications for employment?—We had applications to have the names set down.

53,904. And what did you tell them in answer to that?—We told them that we would set the names down, and that if they were wanted they would be sent for.

53,905. Did they seem satisfied with that?—Yes, they did.

53,906. Without more?—Without more.

53,907. Those were the same sort of persons whom you had paid in 1847?—I was acting then in a different district altogether.

53,908. They were the same sort of persons?—Yes, they were.

53,909. Did you find them promise their votes without this intimation of yours, that their names should be set down?—Not freely.

53,910. But when you made that statement to them, they did promise you their vote?—No.

53,911. They still held off?—Yes, they still held off: they said they would see; that there was time enough, and they put it off.

53,912. But in the course of the election, you did increase the number of persons employed?—We did.

53,913. And increased them very considerably?—We did.

53,914. By that time, I dare say, you understood that the election was to go on in the old mode?—Well, to a certain extent, we did.

53,915. That is to the extent of all the persons whom you employed?—No; we could have set many more names down, if we really durst have done it. All the time I was setting the names down, I had great fear in what was paid. I knew that it was strictly against the orders which we had received.

53,916. You were acting contrary to the orders that you received?—We increased the number to twelve one week.

53,917. And after that?—We put more down.

53,818. I understand you, by your using the word set down, that you set down the names of all the persons that applied?—Yes; that was in the early part of the election.

53,919. It was all through the election?—At the latter part, those who could be, were engaged at once.

53,920. Did you refuse to set their names down?—Many of them.

53,921. Then they did not promise you their vote?—No.

53,922. You sent them away?—Yes.

53,923. Will you look at this book (handing a book marked Lowgate Ward A. to the witness)? was that book kept at your committee?—It was.

53,924. Are those names the names of the persons employed?—I think they are.

53,925. Whose handwriting is that?—Some of them are mine, and some of them are the clerks.

53,926. Who was the clerk?—Sidman.

53,927. Where does he live?—I do not know; he was a clerk in the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway office, at New Holland.

53,928. You do not know where he lives?—He lives at New Holland.

53,929. Were there more names set down as applicants than appear here?—I believe that this is a list that we paid from. All those that are down here were paid.

53,930. You believe that that contains the whole of the persons who were paid?—I think it does.

53,931. Who paid them?—I paid them.

53,932. Did you pay them at the end of every week?—I did.

53,933. Then you can say at once whether that contains the names of all who were paid?—I think it does.

53,934. Did you pay from that book?—No; every week we made out a list, and the dates are down there, when they were set down.

53,935. Were the lists made from that book, or was the book made from the lists, which?—The lists were made from this book, but there was another list kept as well, of the applications.

53,936. In another book?—I think so; I will see. Yes, there was another list kept of the applications for runners, and this is the list of those who were actually employed and paid.

53,937. Were there any persons, whose names had been set down as applicants, who were not employed and not paid?—There were.

53,938. How many?—I really cannot tell.

53,939. Do you mean, having set their names down as runners, you never employed them, or paid them?—Yes; those that were paid were transferred from those sheets into this book, and then if they were entered in this book, they were paid.

53,940. Did you make any selection?—Yes; we did.

53,941. How did you select them?—In the early part of it we selected those men who were out of work.

53,942. Had you any reason for altogether omitting the persons whom you say you did omit?—Except that our instructions from the central room were, in fact, to limit the number.

53,943. Was there any number fixed?—No; no number fixed.

53,944. Only that you were to employ them?—Those that we really wanted.

53,945. If there was a pressure for them?—The pressure from without compelled us to do it.

53,946. Why did you stop short of employing all?—We were afraid we should not get the funds to pay them.

53,947. You understood money was rather scarce on your side, is that it?—From the instructions that we received from Mr. Wells and Mr. Ward, we were led to believe that they would not encourage the system of putting the names down.

53,948. Did you have any such bargaining at this election as you had before with the eighty?—No.

53,949. No applications of the sort made to you?—None whatever.

53,950. Is there any list in that book of committee rooms taken?—There is.

53,951. Were those sham committee rooms?—All, except one.

53,952. Which is the exception?—William Jackson, Greenland Fishery, Bridge Street.

53,953. Why do you say that is the exception?—That was an additional committee room, at the extreme end of the ward, and our central committee room was a long way from it.

53,954. That room was used?—Yes.

53,955. Did you not select Jackson's room, with some reference to the securing Jackson's vote?—No; the reason was he was at the extreme end of the ward—the ward being a very long one. It was kept by a Mrs. Jackson; she has a son a voter.

53,956. You say one reason, what was the other reason?—We, perhaps, had an eye to his vote as well.

53,957. Was the younger Jackson a person who had applied?—I think Mrs. Jackson applied to us to let us a room.

53,958. And told you that her son had a vote?—I think she did.

53,959. What was the number of other rooms?—There were eight altogether.

53,960. Is that all?—That is all.

53,961. There were eight committee rooms in your district, that is all you know of?—Yes; that is all.

53,962. There are the names struck through of some of those committee rooms, are there not?—Yes; there are.

53,963. Why is that?—There is a Mrs. Nicholson, Pall Mall Court, she was of no use in the way of walking.

53,964. Is there any other name struck through?—There is a Mr. Bell, cooper, High Street.

53,965. Why is that struck through?—I do not know; it is not my writing at all. I do not know.

53,966. Would it be of any assistance in forming your opinion, to inform you that on looking at the register there is no person of that name who has a vote there?—Probably it would.

53,967. That would account for it, you think?—It is not my writing, and therefore I do not know.

53,968. Did you direct refreshments to be given to voters at different places?—On the nomination day, only in the morning.

53,969. Where was it you gave the directions?—It was in the committee room.

53,970. Where were they to have the refreshments?—At the Ship Inn.

53,971. What were your orders?—The reason of it was on the nomination morning it was very hot.

53,972. What were your orders?—We gave no orders whatever.

53,973. It was at the ship?—Yes.

53,974. Did you direct them to supply all the voters?—No.

53,975. What then?—A man of the name of Watson was employed as a confidential person, and he said there was a lot of men down stairs who had been running about all the morning, it was very hot. I said how many of them are there? just go down stairs and bring me a list of them. He went down stairs and brought me a list of them, I think what I remember, about fifteen, and under the names I wrote a note to M'Morren, the man who kept the public house, "Give these men one pint of ale each, for which I will be answerable."

53,976. Is that the whole extent of the refreshment?—It was, but they had altered the one into a four; it was originally one—one pint of ale each.

53,977. They said they wanted their allowance? that is the ordinary word, that is the same word as was used in 1837—refreshment or allowance; allowance means refreshment?—It is constantly so used.

53,978. In 1837 it was so?—Yes.

53,979. Was that your order for the refreshments?—On the polling day the committee had a piece of beef and some porter; that was all, that is the whole refreshment of the time including the pints of ale; it was 3*l.* 15*s.* for the whole time.

Jonathan Pulleyn.

21st July 1853.

53,980. Do you recollect a man of the name of John Harrison? It is said that he had been a runner for the orange party, and that you paid him some money to get him over?—If his name is not down there, he has not been paid by me at all.

53,981. Can you undertake to say you paid no persons that are not named in that book?—No.

53,982. During the whole election?—No; not during the whole election.

53,983. There is William Oliver junior, Charter House Square?—Yes.

53,984. Did you pay him anything?—I did.

53,985. Is his name in the book?—Yes; he was employed very nearly from the first.

53,986. Did you pay him as you did the others?—Yes, exactly.

53,987. Did you pay them before or after the election?—Those who were employed were paid every Saturday evening, and those in the election week, were paid on the Saturday evening after the election.

53,988. There was some employment made for those persons also, was there not?—There was.

53,989. Do you know a man of the name of Tadman, and another of the name of Dry?—Yes, I do.

53,990. Thomas Tadman and Ralph Dry?—Yes; Ralph Dry.

53,991. Did you employ those men on the nomination day?—They were paid for two days, and I think that those names are on the list of persons that I gave the order for the pint of ale each.

53,992. Did you employ persons to procure people to shout at the hustings?—No.

53,993. You know they were so employed?—I do not. I know we had Dry at our committee room on the polling day, and he was very active.

53,994. But do you know anything of a party of men being paid 5s. each to shout at the hustings?—No.

53,995. Or to keep your party places on the hustings, or anything of that sort?—There were about thirteen or fourteen ship carpenters, not voters, who wanted a holiday, and they were brought by their foreman to the room, and I gave them 5s. each.

53,996. They were not voters?—They were not voters.

53,997. What did you give them 5s. for?—I suppose they wanted a holiday similar to the rest.

53,998. Did you with your candidates money pay anybody who wanted a holiday?—No; there are their names there.

53,999. What did you pay them for?—To go and help to shout.

54,000. How many were there?—Seventeen.

54,001. Do you undertake to say all those seventeen are not voters?—They are not voters; there is a heading made, "non-freemen" at the top, and some of them I see were paid half a crown.

54,002. Now, did you hear during the election of that scheme of Mr. Wells?—Yes, I did.

54,003. Did you supply your quota of men from your committee room?—No.

54,004. Why not?—We sent six, that was all we were desired to send.

54,005. All their names appear in that list?—They do; there is the heading, "list of confidential persons recommended from Lowgate ward for the clearing house."

54,006. I understood you to say you paid all the persons named in that book?—Yes.

54,007. You paid those men whom you say were not freemen?—Yes.

54,008. Is that the only book that you have as regards the election?—No; there is a minute book.

54,009. What has become of the application book?—They were all sent to Mr. Wells.

54,010. Mr. Wells, the solicitor?—Yes; except the pay sheets, and they were given to Mr. Ward after the election was over.

54,011. Where did you get the money from?—From Mr. Harris and Mr. Barkworth.

54,012. Did you take the pay sheets to them?—I did.

54,013. Every week?—Every week.

54,014. And the pay sheets you took to them had the names of the runners in them whom you paid?—Yes; and I kept a duplicate for myself.

54,015. Did you, when you took these pay sheets, have any entry of the names made there?—I left the pay sheet with them. I made two copies of it, one I left with them and one I took back to pay the money by, I had a list.

54,016. Did you give them a list of the names in order that they might not pay them again there?—That was done by the chairman; they requested us to leave one with them.

54,017. Did you leave that list in the clerk's room?—No, not in the clerk's room; it would be left with Mr. Harris or Mr. Barkworth, whoever gave us the money.

54,018. You did not give them to Mr. Fowler?—No.

54,019. Did the man, Lidgard, come to your committee room?—I never saw him there.

54,020. Do you know if he did come there?—I do not.

54,021. Do you know of any room in your district, where names were set down, besides the committee room?—I do not know of one.

54,022. It has been stated that the tradespeople of Hull are remarkable for their cupidity, do you agree with that? that that is the origin of the contests here?—As far as all parties were concerned, we were very anxious to avoid a contest.

54,023. Do you agree that the tradesmen of Hull originated the contest owing to their cupidity ?—It is coming rather home ; I can speak for myself, I did not require a contest.

54,024. Is that the character generally of the tradespeople of Hull ?—I dare say it is.

54,025. The printers generally, as you say, with the exception of yourself ?—No, I will not say that ; there are other tradesmen in Hull as well as printers.

54,026. I wish you to answer as to the printers ; they have been spoken of by several of the witnesses, as the originators of the contests. Do you think that the printers of Hull are eminent for their cupidity ?—Well, I do not know, I am sure.

54,027. I wish to have your opinion about the trade you are more conversant with than others : do you agree that your brother printers in Hull are remarkable for their cupidity ?—I should not like to say so.

54,028. What is your opinion, on your oath ? I would rather have the opinion of a person in the trade, who must know better than other parties. You know Mr. Cattley, one of the blue party, has so stated; do you agree with him ?—I scarcely know what answer to give to the question.

54,029. I want to know whether you agree with Mr. Cattley who has been examined, and who states that the contest is principally attributed to the cupidity of the printers and the lawyers ; do you agree with Mr. Cattley's statement ?—Of course it is better for the printers if there is a contest.

54,030. Do you agree that they are remarkable for their cupidity, and are the principal originators of the contests in Hull ?—I believe it was principally through a printer that the last contest was brought on.

54,031. That has been stated of the printers generally ?—Perhaps it may be.

54,032. You think that they are remarkable for their cupidity ?—I do not know that they are remarkable.

54,033. I wish to have an answer, yes or no ; you must know better than other people ? —No ; I have heard no feeling at all expressed by the printers.

54,034. Assuming that opinion to be expressed by Mr. Cattley, I want to know whether you believe it ?—I can speak for myself——

54,035. I say the printers, with the exception of yourself; you are the only virtuous printer.—I do not wish to be held up in that way.

54,036. You do not wish to be so held up ?—No, I do not.

54,037. I want to know whether you consider your brother printers generally, as a class, are remarkable for their cupidity, and, with the assistance of the lawyers, the principal orginators of contests in Hull ?—It makes it better for the printers.

54,038. That is not an answer to my question ; I want an answer, yes or no. I put it in the very terms it has been stated ?—If I were to say yes, I should give no proof at all of it

54,039. You think they are not deserving of it ?—No.

54,040. Do you think that there is any class of the tradespeople in Hull who are remarkable for their cupidity, and are the principal originators of the contests in Hull, for the sake of the expenditure ?—Well, I do not know that of one class tradesmen more than another.

54,041. You seem to consider the printers are not ?—Of course they derive more advantage than others, the printers, the lawyers, and the publicans.

54,042. I think I understood you to say, that you think it is not true that the printers are remarkable for their cupidity ?—They are anxious, of course, for a contest.

54,043. That answer does not satisfy me ; I will have an answer in the very terms of the statement, yes or no. Do I understand you to say, that it is untrue of the printers of Hull, that they are remarkable for their cupidity, and are the principal originators of a contest in Hull ? is that so ? Are the contests in Hull owing to the cupidity of the printers ? I will have an answer, yes or no.—I am sure I cannot say about other printers ; I do not know what opinion to give.

54,044. I will have an answer,—the best opinion that you can give. They are gentlemen in your department of trade.—Of course they are anxious for a contest.

54,045. I do not ask you that, you have told me that at least ten times. I do not ask you if they were anxious for a contest, I ask you whether the contest is attributable to the cupidity of the printers—yes or no ?—The printers only would not have the power of creating a contest.

54,046. I want a simple answer, yes or no. I will have an answer to that question. Are the contests in Hull attributable to the cupidity of the printers ?—No.

54,047. Do you consider that they are attributable to the cupidity of any class of tradesmen in the town ?—No ; not as a class.

54,048. Do you consider that they are attributable to them in any other sense, than as a class ?—No.

54,049. Although they may not be remarkable for their cupidity, is there not a great part of their constituency who are anxious for a contest ?—Certainly there are.

54,050. Is not that anxiety independent of any political motive ?—Perhaps, it may be.

54,051. Is it not for the purpose of reaping some advantage from the quantity of money that is always spent at elections ?—Quite so.

Jonathan Pulleyn.
21st July 1853.

54,052. And has not that been carried so far as to bring on a contest, when there would have been no contest otherwise?—I dare say it has.

54,053. Whom do you allude to as having brought on a contest? are you alluding to any particular class of people who have brought on a contest?—Mr. Collins has the credit of the last,—the editor of the Advertiser.

54,054. I do not ask you for names; I ask you whether you consider them as a class, —what class is it that you say has brought on a contest, independent of political motives? —I cannot specify any class particularly.

Mr. E. F. Collins.

Mr. Edward Francis Collins recalled, and examined.

54,055. I will ask you, did you ever bring on a contest, or be the means of bringing on a contest in Hull, independent of political motives?—Never.

54,056. You have heard the evidence just given, mentioning your name?—I mean to say now, that, whilst I should take no less a part in electioneering matters than I have ever done, I propose to myself in future never to derive any advantage whatever, or never to have any printing for the candidates.

54,057. It was to give you an opportunity of contradicting it, as your name was mentioned?—I never in my life had any interested motives, motives of a pecuniary kind, in bringing it forward.

54,058. I ask you on your oath, is it true that the political contests are attributable to the printers of Hull?—I do not believe so.

54,059. Is there a good deal of money spent amongst them or not?—Yes; much more than I think ought to be spent.

54,060. Is there much more spent amongst them than, in proportion, amongst any other class of persons?—Yes, I think so; and I think necessarily so, because the business of the printing is the principal means by which the appeals are made known to the public during the election contests, and they are the class of trademen who, under such circumstances, would be most employed.

54,061. What is the name of the principal leading blue paper?—The Hull Packet.

54,062. And the name of the editor?—Richard Wallis.

54,063. Where does he live?—At No. 24, Spring Street.

Mr. C. Wells.

Mr. Charles Wells sworn, and examined.

54,064. Where do you live?—In Wellington Place, Beverley Road.

54,065. Do you carry on any business?—I do.

54,066. What is it?—Coal merchant.

54,067. Are you a freeman?—I am.

54,068. Did you vote at the election of 1841 as a freeman?—No; that was before I was of age.

54,069. You did not vote then?—I did not.

54,070. Do you pay rent for a house?—No; I live in my own house.

54,071. What are you rated at?—£30 or 35*l.*, I do not know exactly.

54,072. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841, though you were not of age and able to vote?—I did.

54,073. For what party?—The two Conservative candidates, James and Hanmer.

54,074. Were you on any committee?—I was.

54,075. Where was the committee at which you acted?—In Cogan Street, a portion of the South Myton district.

54,076. Who was your chairman?—I am sure I forget, it is so long since; a Mr. Milner was either the chairman or the deputy chairman.

54,077. Was Mr. Milner constantly in attendance?—Yes, he was.

54,078. Was he an active member of the committee?—Yes; Mr. Milner, of the firm of Clarkson and Milner.

54,079. He is dead, is he not?—Yes, I believe so. His partner was also an active man.

54,080. Who also was on the committee, who is alive?—His partner, Mr. Clarkson, whom I have also mentioned, and, I think, a Mr. Day, who, by the bye, is also dead. It is so long since, and I have never had my attention drawn to the subject, that I cannot remember the parties. I was very young then.

54,081. What was your capacity?—As a member of the committee, to canvass and that sort of thing.

54,082. Did you attend principally at the room, or was it an out-door canvass?—I was principally canvassing out of doors.

54,083. At that election who was the treasurer?—Mr. Milner.

54,084. He was very active, I see?—He was.

54,085. Did you, as an out-door canvasser, set down names in application books, and so on?—No; I took many to Mr. Milner for the purpose of their being paid directly.

54,086. I suppose there were books in which they were set down at that time?—Mr. Milner sat in a room by himself at that time, and these men were sent in to him. I do not think many people knew how it was carried on.

54,087. You gave us the name of the place?—It was over a druggist's shop in Cogan Street.

54,088. Did you say you were a freeman or not?—Yes; I am a freeman.

54,089. When were you made a freeman?—I suppose immediately after I had the privilege, which would be ten years ago. In 1843.

54,090. How many names do you suppose of applicants to be set down did you take to Mr. Milner at this room?—Upon my word I cannot tell; I should say perhaps a score or two, probably.

54,091. You took the men there, and they were set down?—I presume some arrangement was made with them.

54,092, They were put down. You think there were about a score or two?—I guess very vaguely, but I know there were a good many.

54,093. Were those men paid?—I believe some of them were.

54,094. What was the nature of the list, that they were put on as runners, and so on?—I really cannot tell. I fancy there was an arrangement: "I will give you so much money if you will vote for us."

54,095. How much was it to be, do you know?—I do not know, indeed; it is a long time since.

54,096. Those parties you sent in this way went into a private room to Mr. Milner?—They did.

54,097. Were the committee generally sitting in some other room?—They were.

54,098. When were they paid?—I fancy some of them were paid before the election.

54,099. Did you pay any people yourself at the election?—I did not.

54,100. Did any money pass through your hands?—None whatever.

54,101. You were an active young man, entering into the spirit of the thing?—My activity was not in that line.

54,102. Did you take up any voters yourself?—A great many.

54,103. To the poll?—I did.

54,104. What was the course of that proceeding? Did you go up with them?—I took them in a fly.

54,105. You went with them, and saw how they voted?—Yes; and after that took them back to their own homes.

54,106. You did not care where they wanted to go after the election?—I thought there might be another election, and any incivility might be remembered.

54,107. How many did you take up?—I cannot tell; I was employed the whole of the day.

54,108. A hundred?—Not by any means.

54,109. A couple of hundred?—I guess at it; I may say 100.

54,110. Those people I suppose wanted looking after?—There were a good many aged people, and people who wanted a little civility rather than any payment.

54,111. They would also be paid, some of them?—I dare say they might; but no portion of that would pass through my hands; no arrangement would be made by me.

54,112. Were there any tickets issued for payment?—Not that I know of; I never saw any.

54,113. When you took those people home, was anything said about how much they were to get?—I do not remember that any application of the sort was made to me. If any application was made I invariably took them into Mr. Milner, who was the man appointed at that room, I presume to attend to it.

54,114. On your way home, did you take them into Mr. Milner?—I do not remember an instance. I fancy those would be paid before the election.

54,115. Those people you had taken to the poll, and conducted to their homes afterwards, did they ever make any complaint to you that they had not been paid?—No; I fancy those that were not paid prior to the election would not be paid till the poll book came out, to see how they had voted.

54,116. That was some little time afterwards?—Yes.

54,117. Do you remember, after it came out, when the payments were made?—I do not.

54,118. We have heard of the invisible people, and placing money under doors. Did you know anything of it at that election?—The first I heard of any hole in doors was upon this inquiry. I never heard of any before.

54,119. Do you know anything of a man named Freebody at that election?—I know him.

54,120. Do you remember a man of the name of M'Allam?—Yes; I know one or two of that name.

54,121. Did you pay either of those people any money at that election?—I do not remember. In fact, I did not pay any money at that election myself, to my knowledge.

54,122. M'Adam was clerk to the committee?—Yes; I recollect him; and I should think Freebody would take an active part.

Mr. C. Wells.

21st July 1853.

54,123. Was he a canvasser?—I believe he was connected with the Hull Packet, and therefore he would be quite sure to take an active part.

54,124. Did you hear of their making any payments to parties of 5*l.* each?—No, I have not.

54,125. Did you vote at the next election, 1847; Clay, Baines, and Brown?—I did.

54,126. You voted as a freeman?—I did.

54,127. For whom?—For Baines and Brown.

54,128. Were you on their committee?—No; I took no active part on that occasion.

54,129. You did not canvass at all then?—Neither of the men were very much to my mind, and I did not vote until a late hour.

54,130. Do you know anything at all of the money transactions of that election?—I know nothing whatever of the 1847 election.

54,131. Now, in 1852; did you vote for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—I did.

54,132. And were you the deputy chairman of the Osborne Street district of South Myton?—Yes.

54,133. Was Mr. Preston your chairman?—Yes; Charles Preston.

54,134. Did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes, I did.

54,135. Did you attend much at the committee?—Yes, I did.

54,136. You had a book, I suppose, of the ordinary kind, at your committee?—Yes.

54,137. Do you know what became of them?—They were all given in to Mr. Robert Wells; the whole of the papers.

54,138. Mr. Wells, the solicitor?—Yes.

54,139. Did you hand them to him yourself, or have them sent?—No. I think they were sent by a clerk of Mr. Preston's. I was there when they were packed up. I afterwards found a lot of loose papers about, which I destroyed. I do not think they would have thrown any light upon this.

54,140. When was it they were sent to Mr. Wells?—Immediately after the election.

54,141. What were the papers that were destroyed; the pay sheets?—No; not the pay lists. They would be probably the returns that we should receive from the polling booths on the election day.

54,142. What we call the check sheets?—Yes, and waste bills, and stationery, and anything that was in the place that was of no further use.

54,143. Bills?—Printed placards.

54,144. Posting bills?—Yes; what was left in the room we did not think was worth preserving. I may say that immediately after the election I got a note from Mr. Robert Wells, requesting me to send the whole of the books and papers to his office; and it was in accordance with that note that they were sent in.

54,145. I thought you said you sent them by a clerk of the chairman's?—I was present. The note would be addressed to Mr. Preston; Mr. Preston would hand it to me, and then I assisted him in packing them up.

54,146. And sending them to Mr. Wells?—Yes; I believe they were sent by a clerk of Mr. Preston.

54,147. I understood you to say you and Mr. Preston were present?—Yes.

54,148. There are two notes that bear your signature, Mr. Wells. Will you be kind enough to look at them? Do you remember that man? I see your writing across it, "it is all right?—During the election we had many applications from men to be employed as runners, and I dare say this would be one.

54,149. What is the name?—John Smith.

54,150. What is the entry you have written across it?—"He resides 26, High Street, and will be all right, if employed."

54,151. That means he would vote if he was employed?—That means he would vote if he was employed. We sat for three weeks before the election, and we had a certain number of men to employ, that would allude to this. If you can put this man anywhere, and give him a few days' employment, I have no doubt he would vote for you; that would be the interpretation of it.

54,152. Now, No. 29, further on, look at that one? Does that allude to another person of the name named there, with a mark across it, in your writing?—Here is my signature. I do not know to what that alludes; it is not in my writing—"If employed to-morrow." I think this statement was written by the clerk of our committee room.

54,153. What was his name? I do not think you have given it?—His name was Barton.

54,154. Where does he live; do you remember?—I do not know.

54,155. Was he the party constantly in attendance?—He was there the whole of the time from the first day of the committee room being opened.

54,156. Is it John Barton?—I know that he was a schoolmaster. I know the man, when I see him, but I do not know where he lives.

54,157. He was there constantly?—He was, as a clerk.

54,158. And the whole of the time he was employed?—Yes. This entry is, "This person will vote for the blues, if temporarily employed; should be attended to." That would be handed to me, and I would send it to the district that he was in.

54,159. And I suppose the result of that is, that his name would be put on for employment at once?—That would be my desire, when I sent the note.

54,160. I see somebody else writes, in red ink, "he has promised, and put on our list as one of the persons to be employed"?—That has been written afterwards. I sent it on to some chairman, and the chairman has written that as a minute, and probably sent it back to me. I do not remember the paper.

54,161. Was this Darton a poll clerk, do you know?—I believe he attended at our room during the election day also, therefore he could not be a poll clerk. I can get you the man's address, I have no doubt.

54,162. Do you know anything about his being canvassed,—this Barton that I am speaking of,—and his saying that he would vote if he was made a poll clerk?—No; he would not be the man, he would be employed at our room from the first, and we should take it that he was a safe man from the place he occupied.

54,163. He might have come there originally on the promise of being made a poll clerk?—I think not. I think before poll clerks were almost thought of he was employed. If I remember correctly, it was Dr. Bell handed his name to me as a proper person to be employed, and therefore I believe Dr. Bell would give me his address.

54,164. Did you pay some money at the Trinity House in Carr Lane?—No.

54,165. Would Barton be the person that would set down the names of any applications which were made at your room?—I believe anybody who was in the room would do it.

54,166. Were such applications made?—Yes.

54,167. Pretty constantly?—Yes; I believe from the first there were applications.

54,168. And were the applications received to the extent of putting their names down?—I believe the names were put down simply as applications.

54,169. I say to the extent of putting their names down?—Yes; I left instruction, if any man applied, to take down his address.

54,170. Can you tell me at all about the number that would be entered in that way at your room?—I should think perhaps from eighty to a hundred. I know there was a good long list of them.

54,171. Was it intended to give employment to those persons, if the opportunity occurred?—It was intended to pick from that list old men to whom we gave employment.

54,172. Were some put on the list that it was not intended to give employment to at all; merely to secure their votes?—No; it had no reference to the votes There was no promise held out to them when their addresses were taken. It was said, if we find we have anything for you to do, we will take your name down amongst the applications; and they were ready to do it.

54,173. You ascertained which way they would vote?—I do not think half a dozen of them would promise when their names were taken down.

54,174. Supposing they had employment?—Then we felt quite sure of their vote.

54,175. You merely set them down for such a purpose?—No; I do not remember any instance personally. I dare say many of them would say, "if you would give me some employment, I will vote for you."

54,176. That is the style of doing it?—Yes; we say, if we should have any occasion for you we will let you know; we will take your name down.

54,177–8. Did you know of the resolution as to employing a certain number at first? Did you observe it at your committee room?—No; I employed what I thought was necessary. I was present at the central committee room when it was made. I observed it, as far as I could. I employed two clerks when one only was allowed. I I found the district was so large that it was impossible to do without them.

54,179. You did not think that resolution should be rigidly observed?—I made this difference. I took care that one of the clerks I employed should not be a voter, so that the other party might have no reason to complain that we had made a breach in the arrangement, to gain a vote.

54,180. Then did you increase your staff from time to time; your number of runners and messengers?—I think the first and second weeks we did not do so.

54,181. With the exception of that additional clerk?—With the exception of the additional clerk. The third week we opened another committee room—a bonâ fide committee room—and sent a staff there, and for that committee room we also employed the same number of messengers that were employed at our own.

54,182. When was it you had this sub-committee room?—I think the week before the election. I fancy it would be then.

54,183. Before or about the 30th of June?—I should think about the 30th of June. If my minute book was here I could tell you precisely. I think you will have it.

54,184. Where was that?—At the White Horse, or Black Horse, in Carr Lane.

54,185. Was it Ellermans' house?—No; he was a member of the committee.

54,186. He does not keep the house?—No.

54,187. Who was the owner of the house?—I do not know; I never was in the room.

54,188. Who was the chairman of that committee?—I know Mr. Kemp and Mr. Ellermans undertook it, and they would act upon it. They were acting entirely together under the other room, and perhaps they might form themselves into a separate committee, having that room, to report upon their canvass; they sent in their list to our committee room, and from us it had to be forwarded to the central. I do not know what arrangements they made internally.

Mr. E. Wells.

21st July 1853.

54,189. You said there were a good many applicants from time to time of this kind. Did you report them to the central committee?—I never made any report of those applications.

54,190. Why not?—I was never desired to do so.

54,191. I thought the general course was to report them?—Not to my knowledge. We sent in our canvassing sheets daily, and some of the canvassers might write on their sheets, "Application for runner," or something of that sort.

54,192. Did you retain the names of those applicants that had been put on the separate list, and not return them to the central committee, because you intended if an opportunity occurred of employing them in your district?—Yes.

54,193. That was the reason?—It was.

54,194. The names on your canvassing sheets were bonâ fide electors, as distinguished from your list?—Bonâ fide electors.

54,195. When I say bonâ fide electors, persons who had not applied for employment, to be put down in the way you are speaking of?—The canvassing sheets were made up daily by each canvasser. He would take a book out in the morning, and return that in the evening. His duty was, when he returned that book, to superintend the clerk making out the canvassing sheet to return to the central room. It was a part of the duty of the clerk to write on that canvassing sheet anything which the parties he canvassed had said to him. If he canvassed a man who had made an application to be put on as a runner, the probability is that the canvasser would make that remark in the canvassing sheet, and so send it in to the central.

54,196. Would he not also, when he was making his canvass, and came to a person of that description,—would he not direct him to come and make an application at your room?—Very probably they might. I know a good many said they were sent by the canvassers.

54,197. And by that means would probably get put down on another list, as distinguished from the canvasser's book?—Exactly.

54,198. There were applications sent to the district committee room, in which they made applications of that kind, and got their names entered there?—Yes.

54,199. As distinguished from being set down by the canvasser, in the ordinary course, in his book?—Yes.

54,200. Who paid the money principally at your room?—I did.

54,201. From whom did you receive your monies for making the payments?—The first week the money was left at the committee room, sealed in an envelope addressed to myself; the second week it was similarly left at my own office.

54,202. Do you remember the amounts?—I think the first week was under 5*l.*, and the second week perhaps from 5*l.* to 10*l.*; that difference was occasioned by the first being for the half of a week, and the second for the whole week; the third week would be a similar amount; the fourth would be considerably larger, from their having engaged others—having engaged an extra number of men. I engaged a number of men to send to the clearing house; those men were included in my list of the last week's expenses.

54,203. There was also at the same time a resolution that each party should increase their staff by twelve runners for each district committee room; there was a resolution of that kind prior to the clearing house?—I think there was, on the Saturday before the election. It has been called to my mind since. I had certainly forgotten that.

54,204. On the 30th of June the resolution was come to?—I should be at the central committee when the resolution was discussed.

54,205. Do you remember how much money you disbursed altogether in this way?—I should think 50*l.* would cover the amount that I paid altogether.

54,206. I suppose there would be, amongst the papers you returned to Mr. Wells, the account of the amounts, and the persons to whom they were paid?—No doubt of it.

54,207. Were the payments all made to persons living in your own ward; voters in your own ward?—No. During the last week I found a great difficulty in obtaining men, and I took men from any part that I could get, whether voters or not, so long as they brought me anything like a voucher for their respectability, and I got them from all parts.

54,208. Can you furnish us with a list of the names you paid?—It would be quite impossible.

54,209. By reference to the poll book?—It would be quite impossible. I do not think I should know three of them personally.

54,210. Did you pay any of them after the election?—The whole of those employed during the last week I paid after the election was over.

54,211. On the Saturday?—I believe on the Saturday or the Friday after the election.

54,212. Do you remember how much you disbursed on that day,—about?—I should think perhaps 20*l.* I guess at it only.

54,213. Did Mr. Ward supply you with that money?—I think I got the last from Mr. Harris; either Mr. Harris, Mr. Gleadow, or Mr. Ward; some one in the central committee room. I got it from some one in the committee room.

54,214. Did you make those payments from some list which you had before you after the election?—I did.

54,215. Who assisted you; the clerk, Barton?—No; Barton's occupation was done with the election. Nobody assisted me. My own clerks were there in my own office part of the time. Those men came in during the whole of the day after the election. They came when I was not in, and they called again and again till they met with me. I paid them at my office.

54,216. I merely ask you for the purpose of seeing whether the clerks or anybody else could assist us with the list of names paid at that time?—I am not aware any one could. I shall be very glad to make inquiries.

54,217. The payments you made were made on the Saturday?—If you will allow me, I will tell you a means of obtaining a list. When I got the money from the central committee, a list was left with them of the amount, and with every name for whom the money was intended.

54,218. The sum affixed to each name?—Yes.

54,219. When do you remember that you left that, or sent it in to the central committee room?—It would be sent in by a clerk to the central committee room, on the Saturday morning. It would be prepared by him, signed by myself, and taken by him to the committee room.

54,220. And did he bring back the money?—No. He would leave that there; the money was then sent on; in the first instance to the committee room, and the second to my own office.

54,221. I thought you were speaking of the last occasion?—No; of the general course; and on the last occasion, I think the list was made out by him after the election, and therefore sent by me, the next day, to Mr. Ward or Mr. Gleadow.

54,222. What means had you for making out that list?—My minute book, and the whole of the papers in the committee room.

54,223. I suppose the persons you paid were persons who voted for you?—I made no payment to anybody other than those that had been employed.

54,224. And who had voted for you?—I made payments to those who voted against us as well. I did not expect they would vote against us. I was disappointed.

54,225. When you paid them, did you know that they had done so?—I did.

54,226. How many would that extend to?—I dare say to three or four. I can particularize one man, for I was very much annoyed about it. It was the man from whom we took the committee room.

54,227. Did he entirely desert you?—No; I think he voted one and one.

54,228. He split his vote?—Yes.

54,229. Do you remember his name?—I do not; I should know it if I heard it.

54,230. Cooper?—Cooper was his name.

54,231. Did the payments you made on the last day, the Saturday after the election, include anything beyond the charges and expenses for the preceding week?—Not that I am aware of.

54,232. Any bygone money?—Oh dear, no.

54,233. Any arrears?—No; none whatever.

54,234. They were all paid up, each week?—I believe there was a custom, at some of the committee rooms, of only paying a portion. I did not adopt that. I paid up, in full, every Saturday night; and in the majority of cases I changed my men, for the purpose of giving two or three days' employment to others.

54,235. During the first and the second week after the agreement, did you do that; did you change your men?—I did. I think the rule was, that I gave each man three days.

54,236. Although you were only to employ a certain number of runners at a time?—I might have employed a different set every day, if I had chosen. We were not allowed to give more than a fixed sum per diem. I should not employ them one day, and give them a week's wage for it.

54,237. Although you did not exceed the number, you thought yourself at liberty to change the men?—I was allowed to employ any number, so long as I did not exceed the amount, I presume.

54,238. As to the other people who deserted you; you said there were two, or three or four men from whom you had taken rooms?—They would be our runners. I found the plan did not answer very well, of changing the men. The men would get two or three days' employment, and then, because they were not continued, they voted for the others. I found that out during the election week. There were one or two men who were employed for two or three days voted for the other party because they were not continued.

54,239. With Cooper there was a contract for his room; you were to pay him so much?—There was.

54,240. How much?—£10 for the four weeks.

54,241. Was he to have had anything besides that?—No.

54,242. Is it Richard Cooper of Osborne Street?—That will be the same. I do not know his Christian name.

54,243. Were all the charges made against your room paid up?—I believe everything was paid.

Mr. C. Wells.

21st July 1853.

54,244. Was there a balance with you, or did you get the exact sum?—I got the exact sum.

54,245. In that list you spoke of, of eighty or a hundred, which might amount to a hundred, you think, how many do you think were actually employed?—The whole were employed, with the exception of some who were not voters. They were taken from that list. The greater portion of that list was gone over when we wanted men.

54,246. I want to know about the number you employed?—Twenty, as near as possible.

54,247. Twenty out of the list of a hundred, you think, would be employed?—Possibly twenty.

54,248. Not more?—I should say not more.

54,249. Were there not more than twenty different persons employed?—Yes. Some would be employed direct, without being put on that list. The first men that came would be continued for the following week.

54,250. They would continue to be employed?—I do not think we have more than one who was continued all the time.

54,251. The remaining eighty, or seventy, or whatever the number would be, were they paid?—No.

54,252. What became of them?—I cannot say. I should think a good part of them went over to the other party because they were not employed by us.

54,252. Did you not ascertain how the remaining number on your list voted?—No; I have never compared the poll book with it.

54,254. Were you confined to putting them down for any number of days?—I never put any days down at all. The only way in which I was to put down the number of days, when I gave a man three days' employment, I said, "I will give you three days, and at the end of that time I shall employ somebody else." No number of days were mentioned to them.

54,255. Was there any mode, besides that you have mentioned, of paying them?—Not that I am aware of.

54,256. Do you think you are stating the full number, when you say that twenty out of that list were employed?—I think I am.

54,257. If there were not above twenty, do you not think you will be able to give the names of them?—It is impossible. I never saw them before, and may never see them again. I never heard their names before or since.

54,258. What employment did you give them?—The conveyance of notes from my room to the central committee room, and fetching notes, and searching for parties who had removed.

54,259. You said, besides that list, there were some who were employed, and who would not be on that list; how many do you think altogether were employed at your committee room, during the election, from first to last?—I shall only arrive at it by a guess.

54,260. That is all we can ask you to?—From thirty to forty, I should think. I should think the one would be the lowest, and the other the highest.

54,261. You stated you contributed some quota to Mr. Wells's scheme?—I did.

54,262. How many, do you remember, you were to contribute to that?—I think we were to contribute some thirty or forty. I could not contribute so many. Perhaps it was fifty.

54,263. Did you select some names?—I did, and gave them cards, number so-and-so, from my room.

54,264. You took all you could get?—I took all I could get; all that I could place any reliance on.

54,265. You did not quite make up your complement?—Not nearly.

54,266. You gave them all cards?—Yes.

54,267. Were their names entered on them, do you remember?—I do not remember.

54,268. The card would have something upon it?—I think they were numbered from one upwards, and those men would pass by that.

54,269. When did you give them their cards; on what day?—I should think it would be the night before the election.

54,270. Do you remember, the clerks and yourself were engaged somewhat late in making out the list?—I dare say. All hands were at the committee room till eleven or twelve o'clock at night.

54,271. Did you see them all personally, and give their cards to them?—The men?

54,272. Yes?—The greater part of them, I think; I dare say all of them. I do not think any one employed those men but myself.

54,173. They were paid by you?—They were all paid by me.

54,274. At the time?—On the Saturday after the election.

54,275. How much did you pay those men?—Some 10*s.*, some 5*s.*, and some 17*s.* 6*d.* There were some of them engaged from the Monday; I could not get them unless I gave them employment from the Monday or Tuesday. The employment on the Monday and Tuesday was almost nominal; on the Wednesday, to attend before the hustings, and on the Thursday at the clearing houses.

54,276. At what rate per day?—I made as good a bargain with them as I well could.

54,277. What was the highest?—5*s.* was the highest, and I think generally it would rule from 3*s.* 6*d.* on the Monday and Tuesday and 5*s.* on the Wednesday and Thursday, and also 5*s.* for the Wednesday and Thursday alone; and in a few cases, perhaps, 5*s.* for the four days. If it was so, it was men who were really employed early and late.

54,278. You said you paid them on Saturday?—On Friday and Saturday both. They were at my office before one on the following morning.

54,279. On the polling day?—No; after the polling day.

54,280. How much of the money you paid was paid to those particular men?—I do not know at all.

54,281. You said, if I understood you, that you were asked to return fifty?—I do not know exactly how many, but I could not complete the quantum.

54,282. How many did you supply?—I cannot say; from a dozen to twenty.

54,283. I thought you said thirty or forty?—No. That was the total number of men employed at my rooms; perhaps not more than a dozen; I do not think there were more than a dozen; they were a portion of the thirty or forty I spoke of.

54,284. Some of those were included, and some not, in the thirty or forty?—I am guessing at these numbers when I said thirty or forty; that included every man employed.

54,285. In every way?—In every way.

54,286. According to Mr. Wells's scheme and otherwise?—I should think it would not exceed forty.

54,287. You changed your men every three or four days?—Perhaps the man who got three days in the first week was repeated in the second.

54,288. If you supplied only twenty, that leaves eighty?—If I take a pencil I can calculate it. These replies are only guesses, more than otherwise.

54,289. You may have employed more than forty?—I do not think it would exceed more than forty.

54,290. You say you selected those for Mr. Wells with great care?—Yes; decentish sort of men, who did not appear at the place drunk.

54,291. Were they voters?—I cannot say exactly; they were taken indiscriminately.

54,292. Did you take any yourself up to the poll on the last occasion?—Yes.

54,293. Did you take any from the Pilot Boy?—No.

54,294. Were you there at all?—No; it was not in my district. A brother of mine reported he had been there to canvass some men, and he stated they wanted money for their votes, 2*l.* each. What I can state to you of that is merely what he told me.

54,295. Was that at the Pilot Boy?—That was at the Pilot Boy.

54,296. Do you know of any at the Baltic?—No; I never heard the Baltic mentioned.

54,297. Did you have anything to do with some parties at those places, going up to the poll in lots?—No, I do not know of any.

54,298. I think your brother you mentioned had something to do with them?—He was actively engaged with me as a committee man.

54,299. He was on your committee?—He was.

54,300. What is his Christian name?—James.

54,301. Did he tell you anything about going up with some people, of the kind I have mentioned, to the poll?—No. He was actively engaged during the whole day taking men up to the poll. With reference to those men at the Pilot Boy, he told us none of them would vote for us; that the Whigs had offered them 2*l.* each, and unless we gave them more money they would not vote for us; and I am not aware they did vote for us.

54,302. Do you remember whether he said anything about the Baltic?—No, I do not remember he mentioned it.

54,303. Where does your brother live?—In London, He was on a visit to Hull at that time.

54,304. Do you know anything about the party at Warham's?—No, nothing whatever.

54,305. You have heard of them?—I have, since this inquiry; I had not previously.

54,306. Do you know George Brown?—I saw him examined here. I never saw him before, to my knowledge. That was one of Warham's lot.

54,307. Was Mr. Croft upon your committee?—No; he was a member of the other portion of South Myton.

54,308. Do you remember Mr. Croft sending a letter to Warham's party?—No; and Mr. Croft has assured me he has not done so; that it was false.

54,309. You made the inquiry, and you now state that anything said about the letter sent by Mr. Croft to Warham is not true?—I know that such an assertion was made; but Mr. Croft has given it his nuqualified denial, privately to me.

54,310. Now, I asked you about the Trinity House in Carr Lane; did you pay any of them?—Not that I know of.

54,311. John Wildbore, and an old man called Close?—No.

54,312. Did you see any of the men at the Trinity House?—No; I did not canvass any of them. If any of them were paid by me, they would be employed as runners.

54,313. Do you know if your brother had anything to do with it?—No; I do not think he had.

54,314, Did you pay a man of the name of Milbank?—He was a doorkeeper for the committee room; I should pay him.

54,315. How much did he have?—I cannot remember; it would depend on the number of days he was employed. He would probably have for the first week three days; that would be 10*s.* We gave 3*s.* 4*d.* a day.

Mr. C. Wells.

21st July 1853.

54,316. Do you remember giving him 17*s.* the next week?—Very likely; I do not remember,

54,317. Do you remember paying a man of the name of Fostell 1*l.*?—It is very probable; I do not remember.

54,318. Paying him at your place in Osborne Street?—In George Yard my office is, and I should pay him there, probably.

54,319. Joseph Colley?—I do not remember his name.

54,320. A man of the name of John Kite Webster?—I think I remember him.

54,321. What was he?—He was one of the messengers at the room. I think he was employed the greater portion of the time. I am not sure.

54,322. William Mask?—I do not remember his name at all.

54,323. John Whittaker; do you remember him?—No, I do not remember the name. Those are all men I should probably know nothing of.

54,324. I believe I asked you generally if any money had passed through your hands, except for this purpose?—None whatever.

Mr. H. W. Walker.

MR. HENRY WHYTAL WALKER sworn, and examined.

54,325. Are you a voter?—I am.

54,326. Where is your residence?—10, Church Street, Drypool.

54,327. Are you a chemist and druggist?—Yes.

54,328. What rent do you pay?—Nineteen guineas.

54,329. Are you registered as a 10*l.* householder, or as a freeman?—I am both.

54,330. How long have you been a voter?—At the last election.

54,331. When did you take your freedom up?—It was in 1846 or 1847; I am not certain.

54,332. Have you lived in Hull all your life?—Nearly so.

54,333. Although, perhaps, you had no vote, did you take an interest in former elections?—No, I did not.

54,334. You know nothing about them?—No, not at all.

54,335. On this occasion did you take part in the election?—Yes.

54,336. Were you on any committee?—I believe I was.

54,337. What committee?—The Holderness ward committee.

54,338. Merely as a member, or chairman?—Only as a member.

54,339. Were you a canvasser?—I believe I was.

54,340. Did you canvass a great many people then?—I believe so.

54,341. Did many of them apply to be set down as runners?—Yes, a great number.

54,342. What did you do with them?—I generally took their names down, and referred them to the clerk of the committee.

54,343. In order that he might set their names down?—Yes.

54,344. Your candidates were Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes.

54,345. And you voted for them, of course?—Yes.

54,346. Did you make any statement to them when you told them their names should be set down?—As by way of promise to them?

54,347. Yes?—I told them I would endeavour to get their names placed down, I believe, but I could not promise them for certain.

54,348. Were they satisfied with that?—Some were, and some were not.

54,349. Did you afterwards see that those persons were employed?—No; I never took any notice after that. They referred to me afterwards to inquire if their names were set down or not, and I told them I believed that they were.

54,350. How many do you think you caused to be set down?—I cannot tell.

54,351. About how many?—Perhaps twenty or more.

54,352. A good many more, perhaps?—I cannot tell. I canvassed from first to last, I believe.

54,353. Was there more than one committee room in your ward?—There was only one committee room; there were many sham committee rooms, I believe.

54,354. Was there more than one real one?—Not that I am aware of.

54,355. Then you sent them all to your district committee?—Yes.

54,356. Can you tell me how many were set down at your district committee?—I cannot tell.

54,357. There were a great many more canvassers besides you?—A great many.

54,358. You had applications also to take sham committee rooms from parties; that their rooms should be taken as committee rooms?—I think there were.

54,359. How many?—I do not know the number. I believe the sham committee rooms were in this way: I went round with the clerk of the committee room one part of a day to ask those who wished to let rooms as committee rooms.

54,360. And how many told you they would?—More than a dozen.

54,361. And did you engage all the dozen?—Their names were set down; none were engaged at that time.

54,362. Their names were set down for that purpose?—Yes.

54,363. Can you recollect those names?—Some I can, I think.

54,364. I dare say most of them, with a little trouble, could you not?—Yes, I believe I could.

54,365. Will you be good enough at some time to make us out a list of those names?—I will endeavour so to do. I think Mr Steeple will be able to answer this. He has the list whom he paid.

54,366. Was Mr. Steeple the person that went round with you?—No; he was the person that paid afterwards, I believe; I was told so.

54,367. That would be all the committee rooms that were taken in your district?—No; I cannot answer for that.

54,368. The other canvassers would be doing the same thing?—No; I do not believe they did so so extensively.

54,369. Did you treat with any parties as voters to be bought in lots?—No; I do not know of any.

54,370. Did you not hear of that?—No.

54,371. Did you pay any voters any money actually with your own hand?—Not before the election

54,372. Afterwards?—Yes; I believe I assisted so to do.

54,373. Were you one of the persons to pay for the Holderness district?—Yes, I believe I was.

54,374. Who paid with you?—Mr. Oxtoby.

54,375. Where did you pay?—At several places; one, the Groves; another in Drypool; another in Witham.

54,376. Did you pay in those places every evening?—I think this was a fortnight after the election; in two evenings, I think, we completed it.

54,377. Did you pay at public houses?—Yes; one a public house, and the other two inns.

54,378 The persons to be paid came to you, did they not?—Yes.

54,379. Were there a considerable number paid?—I think there were better than fifty; I do not know the exact number.

54,380. You think there would be above fifty?—There would be above fifty.

54,381. How much?—10*s.* or 20*s.*

54,382. Was that according as they estimated their vote, or voted for both your candidates?—No; from the instructions we received we were to pay them 10*s.*, and those we could not get off well with we were to pay them a pound.

54,383. How many do you think out of the fifty you paid the 1*l.* to?—I cannot say that. I cannot state it. Perhaps half that number.

54,384. From whom did you get the money?—From Mr. Wells.

54,385. Mr. Robert Wells, the solicitor?—Yes.

54,386. How much money did you receive in the whole?—I have several times thought of it, but I do not know precisely if it be 57*l.* or 75*l.* I think that return was given in to Mr. Wells.

54,387. That account you gave to Mr. Wells?—I understand so, from Mr. Oxtoby.

54,388. Did you at the time you paid them tick of the names?—I believe they were ticked off for us at Mr. Wells's office.

54,389. Was a list given to you from the central committee?—No; from Mr. Wells's office.

54,390. Do you know that the names which had been set down at your committee were returned to the central committittee at all?—I believe they were.

54,391. You sent in the list first, you think, to the central committee?—After the money was paid?

54,392. No; before?—We received a list from Mr. Wells's office.

54,393. You do not understand me. The names of the persons set down at your committee were forwarded to the central committee during the election?—They were.

54,394. After the election you had a list of persons sent to you from Mr. Wells, the solicitor?—This list was prepared by the chairman and deputy chairman, and left at Mr. Wells's office, and we were appointed, Mr. Oxtoby and myself, to go down there, and receive the money, and pay the parties.

54,395. Then you did receive the list and the money from Mr. Wells?—Yes.

54,396. Then you paid?—Yes.

54,397. What did you do with the list?—I belive Mr. Oxtoby had the list. I believe a week or a fortnight after he told me had returned it to Mr. Wells's office.

54,398. The solicitor?—The same.

54,399. Then you believe he had the list after all; that he was the last person who had it?—Yes; he had the list.

54,400. Who paid in the committee room?—Mr. Steeple, I believe.

54,401. Had you anything to do with it?—Not at all.

54,402. Did you pay a person of the name of Gibson at Drypool, a coalheaver; did you pay him a considerable sum?—No.

54,403. Did you pay him a sum of 6*l.* 15*s.*?—No.

54,404. Did you pay him any money?—I do not know the name.

Mr. H. W. Walker.

21st July 1853.

54,405. It is said to be a Gibson, a coalheaver?—It is false.

54,406. Were you treating voters and their wives at the Blacksmiths' Arms?—No.

54,407. Is that false?—It is.

54,408. Were you there at all in Drypool with the two candidates, Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Part of the time I was.

54,409. Was there any proposition made to give refreshments to any voters or their wives when they were present?—Not at all.

54,410. To give them their allowance, as it is called?—None whatever.

54,411. You did not make yourself answerable in any manner for any money to be spent in refreshment at Drypool?—I did not.

54,412. Do you know a person of the name of Thomas Empson?—Where does he live?

54,413. In Regent Square?—I do not know him.

54,414. A person of the name of John Birch?—I now the name of Birch in Drypool.

54,415. Will you say, when he was present you did not, in the presence of Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler, the candidates, make yourself answerable for the payment of refreshment to be given to voters and their wives?—The man was in gaol at the time.

54,416. You do not answer my question. Is that so; yes or no?—He was not there.

54,417. Was anything of the sort done, if he was not there?—No. I was in his house to inquire for him, and upon inquiring I found that he was in gaol.

54,418. Will you tell me whether you made yourself answerable for refreshment in the presence of Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Never.

54,419. At any time?—At no time.

54,420. Did you at the very beginning of the canvass offer a man of the name of Richard Barham to set him down as a runner?—His wife had applied to me, and I told her I would give in his name.

54,421. Did you tell her that it would be as good as a 5*l.* note in his pocket?—No.

54,422. Did you set a man down of the name of Thomas?—Yes; I believe there was a Thomas.

54,423. Did you pay a man of the name of William Empson, a sailmaker?—After the election.

54,424. He was one of the persons you paid?—Yes.

54,425. You were one of the petitioners?—I was.

54,426. Against the bribery on the other side; is that so?—Well, I believe so.

54,427. Now it has been said that you yourself set down at a private house 250 names?—I have heard of it, but it is false; it is a fabrication of words.

54,428. Did you say so?—Say what?

54,429. Have you ever said that you not only set them down, but that you paid them 5*s.* apiece?—Nothing of the kind.

54,430. Did you ever say to a Mr. Newmarsh that you had been offered 250 votes at 5*s.* each?—The mistake arose from this:—This Newmarsh was in my shop, talking of the election; I said to him that I knew there were 150 votes that we might have purchased at 5*s.* each and upwards, and those were afterwards bought up by Mr. Wilde at the Wilberforce Rooms.

54,431. Did you during the election hear of 150 votes you might have bought for 5*s.* each?—No.

54,432. You did not hear of it till after the election?—Only since this inquiry has been going on.

54,433. Where did you hear those men were to be had?—At the Mile House.

54,434. Did you hear or know anything of that during the election?—There were not such a number of voters as that in that district; not such a number as 150.

54,435. Did you hear of any men at the Mile House?—No. I was down there with the candidates canvassing; that is the only time I was down there.

54,436. Did you hear at any time among your party that there were men at the Mile House who might be bought?—No.

54,437. You never did?—No.

54,438. You never knew of any men bought?—No.

54,439. Or any men paid there?—Not that I am aware of.

54,440. Did you hear it during the election?—It is a public house, and I have no doubt the men would frequent there.

54,441. It is a blue public house?—I believe it is; I do not know if it was one of the houses engaged as a sham committee room or not.

54,442. It is in your district?—Partly so.

54,443. Did you get any money from Mr. Barkworth?—No, not any.

54,444. You did not get 10*l.* a day from him?—Not exactly.

54,445. You heard the question asked as to that?—Yes, I did.

54,446. Do you know a man of the name of John Brown; did you pay him 2*l.* for a room?—I paid none of the rooms myself.

54,447. Did you not pay John Johnson? Do you remember John Johnson? You took his room, I think?—That is a public house, I believe.

54,448. Very likely; a sham committee room?—It was.

54,449. Did you not pay them?—No, I did not.

Mr. H. W. Walker.

21st July 1853.

54,450. Did he not threaten to summon you for the nonpayment?—No.

54,451. John Johnson; do you know such a man?—Yes; I know him.

54,452. His room was occupied, was it not?—I believe I was in there once during the election.

54,453. Did he not apply to you for payment?—Yes, I believe he did. I referred him down to Mr. Wells.

54,454. Did you pay him at last yourself?—No.

54,455. You did not?—No.

54,456. Why did they choose you as a petitioner? Was it because you had bribed much less than anybody on your side? You seem to have had a good deal to do with paying money away. Why were you chosen as a petitioner?—That I can scarcely answer. Mr. Barkworth solicited me several times, wishing me to join them in the petition, and I at last consented.

54,457. We want to know how it was you were solicited as a petitioner?—I was solicited by Mr. Barkworth.

54,458. Did he ask you, before you were selected, whether you knew of anything about bribery and payments?—He used to canvass with me.

54,459. He knew you?—Yes.

54,460. And you knew him?—Yes.

54,461. Was he quite as active as you were in bribing? What do you think about it? You went about together?—Not in bribing, we did not.

54,462. In the petition, the charge you alleged against the orange party was that they had bribed. Can you tell us any modes in which they bribed, except those we have heard, of setting down a good many names, engaging a good many useless committee rooms, and making payments for them; can you tell us any other modes?—I think it proceeded chiefly from this: it was the clerk's duty to have paid all the expenses of the Holderness ward committee, and I think two or three days after the election he was arrested and taken from the town, and several applications were made to me.

54,463. I do not want a long answer. My question is, whether you know of any other mode, as a petitioner against the orange party, of spending money, except those we have heard of, namely, setting down names, colourable employment, and hiring rooms that were never used; have you anything that you can tell us against the orange party; those are matters that we have got to? You were a petitioner against the orange party, on the ground of bribery. I want you to give us all the information you have of bribery against the orange party?—Mr. Rollit will be able to furnish that information.

54,464. I am asking you. We will ask Mr. Rollit by-and-bye. You think he knows a good deal about it?—He knows all about it.

54,465. Can you furnish us with any other instance, except setting down names, hiring rooms, and paying for bygone elections?—I think that information, as far as my district was concerned, can be given you; there is a Captain Meggitt.

54,466. Is he on the orange side?—He was one of the canvassers on the other side.

54,467. What did he do that we have not heard of?—He went about with the candidates Clay and Goderich, and it was reported at the time that 10*s.* were paid at different places.

54,468. In the presence of the candidates?—Yes.

54,469. And he paid money?—I was told so.

54,470. You heard that was the fact?—Yes.

54,471. I want to know of any other direct charges against them than setting down names, hiring rooms, and paying money in this way?—Against the orange party?

54,472. Do you know of any other way in which they influenced votes?—It is chiefly by paying them in different ways.

54,473. And securing rooms?—And securing rooms and their votes.

54,474. Can you tell me if that is the only way; in what way it differed from what you did yourself? You did exactly that thing yourself. I want to know in what respect it differe to that which you did. I will ask you just this other question: From your knowledge, and the information that has reached you as a petitioner, do you or not believe that the orange party bribed a great many more than you did?—Considerably more.

54,475. How many more?—About double, perhaps.

54,476. Put it in figures. What do you say in figures?—As it was reported; I believe it was said about 7,000*l.* to 10,000*l.* was spent.

54,477. Not beyond what you spent?—No; perhaps 5,000*l.*

54,478. You think yours would be 5,000*l.*, and theirs about 10,000*l.*?—No, I do not believe that.

Mr. JOHN MEGGITT sworn, and examined.

Mr. J. Meggitt.

54,479. Did you pay any money?—Not one farthing.

54,480. Did you canvass with the candidates?—Yes, I did.

54,481. Did you, either in their presence or their absence, pay any money at all?—Not one farthing.

George Steeple.

21st July 1853.

GEORGE STEEPLE sworn, and examined.

54,482. What is your business?—I keep a tavern.

54,483. What is the name of it?—The Spring Bank Tavern.

54,484. Where is it?—It is at North Myton.

54,485. What rent do you pay?—£20.

54,486. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder; ever since the Reform Act?—I am sure I cannot say; a many years.

54,487. Twenty?—Not so much.

54,488. Fifteen?—Say ten.

54,489. Are you also a freeman?—Yes.

54,490. How long have you been free?—Thirty years or more.

54,491. I believe you have had considerable experience of the mode in which elections are carried on in Hull?—Some little.

54,492. Are we to understand your answer, "some little," in the same way as other people would do, who understand the advice given, "Now mind, whatever you do, do not pay a farthing;" pretty much the same sort of interpretation, was not it?—I have experienced great part in electioneering; I have had my head broke a many times, such as that.

54,493. In 1837, I believe, you were very busy on the blue side?—1837?

54,494. Yes; it was when Mr. Wilberforce was unseated. How was it? You had a great deal of experience there?—Oh yes; I had a great deal of exercise there.

54,495. You have no doubt you are the George Steeple whose name occurs in this blue book which gives a history of what took place in this town?—Very likely.

54,496. In 1841, was your experience made use of by the blue candidates?—Sir John Hanmer.

54,497. Hanmer and James?—I think so, because I was a good deal concerned with the colour party.

54,498. That was the department you undertook for the candidates?—I think it was.

54,499. Colours cost money; did you have the financial arrangement of it?—I would have the delivering of them out.

54,500. Pretty liberal you were in distributing the colours?—Yes.

54,501. There was a very large expenditure on the blue side,—is that so,—in 1841?—Yes; there was, I dare say, a very great quantity of colours.

54,502. And a great deal of setting down names, was not there?—I believe they were generally taken down.

54,503. You were attached to the central committee, were you not, in 1841?—I think I might be more out.

54,504. More out of doors?—More out of doors, with the van and the colourmen.

54,505. Just tell us how you were occupied in 1841; the mode in which you carried on your share of it?—We generally had a good band of music, a good set of colours, and we made a stop, at times and took a little refreshment.

54,506. Selected pretty well from the freemen, were they?—I cannot say, for I did not select them myself.

54,507. It was, as far as possible?—I dare say it was.

54,508. And the colours were given to freemen?—Or others that would put them out.

54,509. Other voters?—Yes.

54,510. Had you anything to do with setting down names at that time?—Yes, in 1841, I might; but I would not say. My attention was paid more to the canvassing; going over the town with a band, stirring them up.

54,511. What were the means you found the most efficacious for canvassing in 1841?—In making a street show.

54,512. What was there else?—Shouting pretty well, and such as that.

54,513. You met a great many people who were rather slow in making a promise, did you not?—Oh yes; no doubt of it.

54,514. How did you get along with those; did you promise to set their names down? I spoke pleasantly to them.

54,515. Come to the point. Did you set their names down?—I should tell them the candidates were fine men, and likely to be clever men, and likely to do good to the town.

54,516. Besides those arguments, which I dare say you did not find of much value, what more cogent arguments did you use, in the shape of a promise to set them down?—If they were set down, they were promised to have 5*s.* a day, of course; it was understood generally.

54,517. How many names do you think you set down, or sent to get themselves set down?—I am sure I do not know.

54,518. I do not ask to a hundred or so?—There would be a many; I cannot tel. you; I have no recollection.

54,519. 500 to 1,000?—I would not say that.

54,520. How many?—I really do not know what were set down.

54,521. How many do you think you yourself set down, or told to go and get themselves set down?—I might send forty or fifty.

54,522. Not more than that?—I dare say that; I cannot say.

54,523. Had you books?—No books with us when we were out; we had books in the committee room.

54,524. Do you know what became of those books in which the names were set down? No; I had nothing to do with the books

54,525. I think you finished up your canvassing with a little jollification; did you not; a supper and ball, we are told?—I have no doubt; our principal balls were in O'Neil's time; that was the time for balls.

54,526. In 1841, did you finish off with a supper and ball to all the blue voters?—I would not say that; I do not recollect anything of the kind.

54,527. Do you not recollect something of the sort?—I think I should not be there.

54,528. A tea party?—I am not very fond of tea.

54,529. Had you anything to do with the hiring of a room, then?—No.

54,530. Engaged no colourmen?—Yes; I might put something out, very likely.

54,531. How many colourmen do you think you engaged?—You understand they were not all freemen we engaged, particularly.

54,532. How many of the freemen do you think you engaged as colourmen in 1841?—There might be twenty to forty; I would not say.

54,533. What other man did you engage; how many did you engage, freemen and voters, in the band?—Why they generally were freemen, but sometimes we are glad to get others to make up the band; we could not get all.

54,534. You used up all the freemen, as far as you could, first?—Decidedly so.

54,535. People to make a noise, shouters?—Yes; there were some fine voices.

54,536. Had you singing; vocal as well as instrumental music?—Yes.

54,537. How many of those did you engage?—I have not any account of them, I am sure; a strong lot.

54,538. Were they voters, some of them?—Oh yes.

54,539. I suppose you had used up the voters as far as you could?—I dare say; they were a mixed kind.

54,540. You used up the voters first?—Oh yes, decidedly.

54,541. On that occasion, were there some men who were distinguished for their brawny chests and their power of keeping the court clear; fellows of a sort of right and left me?—Some strong gentlemen they were; we had something of that kind.

54,542. Did you use up the voters as far as you could there also?—No; I do not think many of them were voters; they were what we call navvies here.

54,543. How many of them do you think you engaged?—There might be twenty or thirty.

54,544. Did you have twenty or thirty more?—Very likely there might; generally picked men with good voices.

54,545. Had you anything to do with the paying of them?—I did pay; but not, I think, at the election; but I have paid. I paid once at the George.

54,546. That was in 1837?—I do not think I paid there; I had nothing to do with paying.

54,547. Not in 1841?—No, I think not.

54,548. Were you not present when the paying was going on?—I might be at times.

54,549. Were you not one that paid others, and to see that none of the wrong lot got any of the money?—It is a very difficult job to manage; I might be in, no doubt.

54,550. There is very little doubt about it?—I should say not; it was not, but I cannot bring it to my recollection, I am sure.

54,551. In 1847 had you anything to do with paying?—Nothing but paying the bills; that was bills of Mr. Digby and Mr. Wells.

54,552. Which side was fortunate enough to gain your services?—Mr. Brown's.

54,553. He had the most money?—But I voted for both; I voted for Brown and Baines.

54,554. Mr. Brown had the most money?—I do not know, I am sure.

54,555. Which spent most, do you think; he or Mr. Baines?—I should say Mr. Brown, decidedly.

54,556. How early in the contest were you engaged?—I think it was from the first commencement; at least as soon as the rooms were taken.

54,557. Were you one of the party that went in quest of a candidate?—No.

54,558. Did you sign the address to Mr. Brown; the requisition?—I do not know that I did. I saw Mr. Brown when he came into the town.

54,559. At the meeting, when he arrived?—When he arrived I was there, and saw him.

54,560. Were you aware that Mr. Beeton, and Mr. Mitchell, and some others, were sent to look out for Mr. Brown?—That was a queer lot.

54,561. In what capacity did you act when Mr. Brown arrived?—I was in the central committee room, and principally engaged in delivering out colours.

54,562. Did you assist with Mr. Beeton, who has told us that his first exploit was to buy up all the ribbons and silks in the town?—We were not acquainted with him; we did not deal much with Mr. Beeton.

George Steeple.

21st July 1853.

54,563. Did you assist him in any way?—Not at all; not in the least; we had nothing to do with Beeton at all. I saw him very busy the fore part of the time, and then I think he cut it. But the notes after the election; I paid those notes at the request of of Mr. Digby.

54,564. Tickets, were they?—No; they were bills for different things.

54,565. Besides paying the bills, did you pay any of the voters?—Not any one; I never had the chance of paying any voters; I had nothing to do with that department at all.

54,566. Who, as far as you are aware, conducted it?—As far as the payments went, the payments I saw made were made by Mr. Mitchell at the Black Horse in Carr Lane; there was no room at the time.

54,567. How many did Mr. Mitchell pay?—He had a good bag full.

54,568. A good bag full of gold?—No; not gold. I did not see. It was silver principally I saw him take out of the bag. They were parties principally engaged by myself and Mr Walker; no; by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Walker; I had nothing to do with them; they were engaged by him; they were men I knew very little about. I saw Mr. Mitchell pay them.

54,569. Did you others?—No.

54,570. Not at all?—No, not at all.

54,571. Were you not a member of the committee?—No.

54,572. Were you paid yourself for your services?—Yes; by Mr. Digby.

54,573. What was the duty of the office you filled?—I was in the committee room, and giving out the colours to those that wanted them. Mr. Davis; I think he paid them. We were very short in the committee room, the central, where we wanted them.

54,574. Were the names of persons who were paid in the committee room set down?—There was a book in the room in which minutes were taken of people that wished to have their names set down.

54,575. Did you see that book?—I saw a book there.

54,576. How many names were there set down in it?—Upon my word I do not know. They were taken down by two or three different people as they came in. It was not only one.

54,577. Was it a book like that (showing a blue book)?—Half the size.

54,578. Tolerably full?—Upon my word I cannot tell you; I never took any particular notice of it.

54,579. Tolerably full?—There were a good many names, I have no recollection what quantity; I never counted them; I never troubled my head with that.

54,580. A good quantity, should you judge?—There would be many names; upon my word I cannot say how many. When one side was turned over, and they commenced it again. I never took any notice; I had plenty to do about the colours.

54,581. Was it going on on the polling day?—Yes, it was, the fore part.

54,582. Where was it done?—At the central committee room in the market place.

54,583. Do you know of the name of John Tasker?—I know John Tasker.

54,584. Did you pay him in 1847?—No; he could not get anything from me; it was not likely I should pay him out of my own pocket.

54,585. Did you get any money for the purpose of paying him?—No; nothing but the bills. Unless it had been in among the bills I had paid for Mr. Digby I might pay him, not otherwise.

54,586. Now, Dennison, the doorkeeper, got 10*s.* for his vote?—Such a thing might be handed over to me to give to any one.

54,587. The payment of him might be handed over to you?—Such a thing might have been handed over to me to give to any one. I had nothing to do with the payments.

54,588. You might have made payments?—I might have done such a thing, if the money had been handed from another person to me.

54,589. How much did the bills come to that you paid?—Upon my word, I cannot say again. There was one bill; a very large one.

54,590. Was it about 3,000*l.*?—The whole amount of the election?

54,591. Yes?—I should take the whole amount of the election, one thing and another, to be about 3,000*l.*

54,522. Are you sure it was not 4,000*l.*?—I merely go by what I have heard; I have heard it was somewhere about between 2,000*l.* and 3,000*l.*

54,593. What was the large bill you paid?—One very large bill; it was to Mr. Davis; there was an objection made to it.

54,594. The largest bill was Mr. Davis, the draper; how much was that?—I did not pay it, but I had to call on Mr. Davis.

54,595. How much was that?—I think it amounted into hundreds; about 200*l.*, I think.

54,596. Was it settled at 200*l.*?—He took a good deal off the bill.

54,597. He sent in a large bill, and took something less, did he?—Yes, he did.

54,598. Is that Mr. Davis in the market place?—Yes, Mr. Davis of the market place. I was sent for to know if I knew anything about the bill being so large. I could not; it was quite impossible for me to tell.

54,599. We have been told it was settled at a fixed sum of 300*l.* ?—It was settled at a fixed sum, but not by me ; I did not pay it.

54,600. Do you know the fact to be so ?—I had it in my possession ; I forget now how much ; there was a good deal taken off the bill.

54,601. It was the largest ?—I think it was the largest I have heard of.

54,602. What other large bills were there ?—I am sure I cannot exactly state now what there were ; linen drapers, block makers, colour staves, and various things of that kind. Some of the committee rooms also, I dare say ; different bills of this description which Mr. Digby gave me. I went and paid them with the money he gave me, and then I selected another lot out, and he gave me money for those ; then I went and paid them.

54,603. How many actually passed through your hands, do you recollect, out of the 300*l.* ?—I have no account of it at all. Mr. Digby would know to a farthing.

54,604. We know how much Mr. Digby's account was ?—I have no idea.

54,605. Was it a 1,000*l.* ?—I should think it very likely, what I paid from the orders of Mr. Digby and Mr. Wells ; I paid some that he gave me to pay.

54,606. How much ?—£400 or 500*l.* altogether.

54,607. Is that Mr. Robert Wells ?—He was an attorney.

54,608. Were you much in communication with Mr. Robert Wells on that occasion ?—No ; not after the election, as far as these bills went.

54,609. He knew pretty well all that was going on ?—Oh yes ; he had the management of it.

54,610. He managed the monies ?—He was managing man, of course.

54,611. Did you get the money from Mr. Digby ?—Yes.

54,612. In sovereigns ?—Yes ; in gold and silver.

54,613. Do you know how much the silver came to ?—No ; I did not know.

54,614. The blockmakers, for the colour staves, how much was that ?—I have no idea. I did not take any particular notice after I had paid the bills, and handed them over. I had not much time to look at that.

54,615. Runners were not in your department, were they ?—No ; I was not concerned with them.

54,616. Did you pay the colourmen ?—No.

54,617. Or the bandmen ?—No.

54,618. Or the lot ?—No. Mr. Digby paid all. I had no payments to make, except those bills.

54,619. Did Mr. Digby have the bills back when you had paid them ?—They were taken by Mr. Digby, and wrapped up.

54,620. Were you in communication with Mr. Bannister upon that occasion ?—No.

54,621. I believe his proceedings were at a different place ?—Yes, quite so.

54,622. Where was it that you paid these bills ? Was it at a public house ?—I received the money from Mr. Digby at the bank. I paid out a quantity of bills I had then, then I took them back again, and he gave me a fresh lot. I returned back to the bank again and got the money from the bank.

54,623. Do you know who it was in 1841 that devised the scheme of paying the men after the election, through holes in doors and in dark chambers, and so on ?—I never knew anything about it till lately. I never heard such a thing. Latterly I have heard of the thing being done. I know nothing about it.

54,624. You do not know who it was devised by ?—No ; I never knew there was such a thing even until lately.

54,625. You had nothing to do with it ?—No, I did not. I was a stranger to all that.

54,626. In the year 1852, how soon did you attach yourself to either party ?—From the first.

54,627. Did you apply, or were you applied to for employment ? How did you happen to be chosen ?—I think, in the first instance, Mr. Wells wished me to go round and look for a room for a central committee.

54,628. Was that at the beginning ?—It was the beginning ; the first of all ; a week or two before we got the room.

54,629. The first you had to do with the election was by Mr. Wells's request ?—Yes ; I went round, and looked at the different rooms and places.

54,630. How soon did you become attached to the committee yourself ?—As soon as it was taken.

54,631. Who engaged you ?—I think I was ordered by Mr. Wells to get such things as were required.

54,632. Your connexion with the committee originated with a request from Mr. Wells ?—I think I had a note or two sent to me.

54,633. You were applied to, and did not apply for appointment ; the other people selected you ?—Mr. Wells ordered me first of all ; Mr. Ward requested me to get this committee room ready, and I got it.

54,634. At a very early period you got instructions from Mr. Ward and Mr. Wells ?—Yes.

54,635. It was not in consequence of any application made by you ? It was with your consent then, I suppose ?—Yes.

54,636. You did not apply to them ?—No.

George Steeple.

21st July 1853.

54,637. How soon were you engaged on behalf of Messrs. Moore and Butler at a salary?—I never knew anything about a salary.

54,638. Were you not paid?—Oh yes, I was; I got something. I had no arrangement for any salary.

54,639. No fixed sum?—No.

54,640. How soon were you engaged upon the understanding that you were to be remunerated for your services?—I never had any understanding at all that I was to have anything; there was no understanding, and no agreement made.

54,641. You were paid?—I was paid.

54,642. How long before the election?—I was not paid till after the election; that would be August before I got anything.

54,643. For how long before the election were you paid?—I think they commenced paying me in June.

54,644. Beginning in June?—From the beginning of June to some time in August.

54,645. But you did not get any money till August?—No, nothing at all.

54,646. Then the payment related back as far as the beginning of June?—Yes.

54,647. How much did you get?—I think it was 18*l.*

54,648. At what rate?—I do not know; there were so many weeks, I did not take any notice of it.

54,649. At what rate a week? Was it 1*l.* or a guinea a week, or what?—I think it was something about 30*s.* a week.

54,650. Twelve weeks at 30*s.* a week?—£18 I got.

54,651. What were the nature of your duties, as originally pointed out?—I think it was to take care of the room, and see it opened in the morning, and likewise to lock it up at night.

54,652. Did you have the charge and care of the room?—And to do anything that was required.

54,654. And make yourself generally useful?—To make myself generally useful; cutting out the colours, and delivering them, and things of that kind.

54,654. Am I right to say you were making yourself generally useful?—Yes.

54,655. Did you occasionally see some of the voters when they called at the committee room?—Yes; I saw a many.

54,656. Did you endeavour to make things pleasant to them?—They rather made it unpleasant to me, once.

54,657. Was it part of your duty to make things pleasant, as far as you could?—Oh, decidedly, as far as seeing to them, and that kind of thing; but there was a party that took possession of the room at one time, and I thought they were rather rough,—rougher than I had been myself at times.

54,658. How was that?—A person came to the committee room to say he had brought a letter with him: There were so many men at liberty, and they wanted to make some kind of bargain; as far as the matter of conversation, it was merely to know what the answer would be to that letter. I gave the letter to Mr. Wells.

54,659. I suppose those that took possession of the room set themselves down?—They very near set me down and all.

54,660. Were the people you spoke to people who wanted to be paid for their votes?—They were, I think, two or three; and one seemed to be the leading man, and he brought this letter.

54,661. Who is the letter from?—The letter was from a party; he said they would amount probably to 100 or 130 or 140, or something of that kind; that they were at liberty. I said, "I will lay your letter in the proper quarter." I did not allow him to come into the room; he remained in the passage. I took that said letter to Mr. Wells. He read it over, and laughed at it. I said when the man talked about 100 it was no laughing matter. "However, Mr. Wells," I said, "the man is waiting in the passage; he seems inclined not to go away; you had better let me give him an answer, one way or the other." Then he went into the other room, and remained some little time, and came back again, and said there was no answer to the letter. Of course I told the man in the passage, there was no answer. "I want to know when there will be an answer," he said; I said, "I do not know." The next day they came in bulk; the passage leading up to the committee room, both the yards, in the street,—there are two passages,—a double passage,—they were crowded with those men; they wanted an answer. What was to be done? I became placed in an awkward situation, for the men at the door were not likely to hold out long, and some of them broke right into the room, and had possession of the room for a time. I sent down for some police, and I think we did not get them.

54,662. Did you try to make things as pleasant as you could?—Well, of course; there was no answer, the second time; that was the answer I had to give them; that there was no answer.

54,663. Were these voters?—I expect they were; I cannot say; they were of different kinds and grades; they seemed to be in a body, and to understand one another.

54,664. Who was the foreman of them?—I do not know; I did not ask any questions.

54,665. Who appeared to be the leading man?—A tallish man; I do not know him by name, or anything else. I did not wish to have about 100 men at the door; I thought Mr. Wells had better decide it.

54,666. How many came?—The latter time there would be better than 100.

54,667. Did they say where they used to meet?—No.

54,668. Did they not give you some place where you could call on them?—No; it was all in the letter; what they wanted an answer to was in the letter. I never asked any question about it.

54,659. Did they not say in the letter where they were to be found?—No; I never saw the letter; I never heard a word what was in it. I gave it to Mr. Wells. I took it into the lower room, and never saw it after.

54,670, Did you read the letter?—No.

54,671. How long before the election?—Two or three days.

54,672. Cannot you tell us the names of any of them?—Upon my word, I do not know. I was very glad to take care of myself, without looking at their faces, as they seemed inclined to do mischief; in fact, they had complete possession of the room. I got off my chair.

54,673. They came to get an answer to the letter?—They did.

54,674. You understood they came to sell themselves in a lot?—The man said he wanted an answer to the letter; he had above 100 men ready to vote; that is all he said to me.

54,675. Provided things could be made comfortable to them?—As to that matter, I had nothing at all to do with that. The answer I got was from Mr. Wells twice, that there was no answer for them.

54,676. Did you give that answer to them?—I did; but they were not satisfied with that. It was after that they came and forced their way into the room.

54,677. What did you say to them?—I said, "Gentlemen, do you mean to transact business here? because you seem to have got possession of the room. If you do not walk out, why I must see if I can find the police.

54,678. As an experienced man at elections, tell us how you treated them?—I treated them as well as I could; I had no conversation with them about anything of the kind. The letter contained the whole of what they wanted. I never knew what it was.

54,679. I want to know what you said after that?—I said, "What is the use of stopping here. You have got an answer to what is required, and it is no use staying, here and stopping the business from going on.

54,680, Did you set their names down?—No.

54,681. They would not have their names set down?—No.

54,682. Was it ready money they wanted?—I know they were a lot of strangers to me; I had no conversation with any of them, more than begging them to get out of the room,—to leave the place,—because we were all at a stand still.

54,683. Did you tell them to go to Leggit?—No; I did not send them anywhere. I wished them to get away. I said they had got an answer to the question, and there was no more for them.

54,684. Do you know that Leggit, or Ledgard, had a private room where he held confidential communications with people of that sort?—I never was in it.

54,685. You heard there was such a place?—I heard it at the time, because he himself came many times to the committee rooms

54,686. To compare lists.?—No; he always wanted a stock of paper, or pens and ink.

54,687. You saw him many times?—He came a many times.

54,688. He told us he came for the purpose of comparing lists?—I never saw any of the lists, or anything about them.

54,689. You did not see them?—No.

54,593. You know him very well?—Oh very well; I know him perfectly.

54,691. A letter to you from him seems to relate to these people. Do you remember receiving this letter [26]; it is a letter to you (handing it to the witness)?—No.

54,692. Do you not remember getting that letter?—It has been crossed over, and put on the file.

54,693. It is written to you?—I have handed it over to Mr. Wells.

54,694. But you got it?—There is no doubt it is true.

54,694. A party says you have promised several lots, and Lidgard wants to know what to do with them. Read the letter?—"We have many applications by porters and others at this room for places as runners; the parties have no vote, but state that they had a partial promise from you this morning. Please say whether those men are to be employed or not. Yours, &c., Thomas Lidgard."

54,696. What answer did you give to that?—I should give no answer to that.

54,697. It is addressed to you?—It has been placed before the chairman; it has been crossed off.

54,698. It speaks of people you had made a partial promise to. Did you make a partial promise?—No; I did not promise any one. There is no doubt it came. It has been filed.

54,699. You know who it alludes to?—No doubt he wrote it to me.

54,700. Who does he allude to, "people have come here this morning, and said you made them a partial promise?" You must know what that alludes to?—I made no promise. I do not know of any of their transactions at all.

George Steeple.

21st July 1853.

54,701. You made no promise; therefore you cannot understand who the allusion is to?—No; I made no promise at all.

54,702. You say he alludes to people who have no existence at all?—I know nothing at all about it. The letter has come; there is no doubt about that.

54,704. What should you do with such a letter? Take it into the committee room or not?—The letters I lay before whoever comes there. I should lay them before Mr. Wells, or the chairman, 54,704. These addressed to yourself?—A many would come addressed to me, and I would hand them over.

54,705. Should you not read them?—I should hand them over first to Mr. Gleadow, or whoever was in the room at the time. I handed them to him.

54,706. Still it is addressed to you?—No doubt about it.

54,707. If I understand you rightly, there were no people to whom you made a promise in existence?—No; I made no promise, I am sure.

54,708. There is only one other letter from Mr. Todd. "Mr. Steeple,—Please place the bearers down, the same as the rest of the names. Richard Mounsey, David Wilberforce, Robert Welling." What should you do with those; it is addressed to you by Todd?—Are these freemen?

54,709. I do not know who they are. Somebody has written across this letter. I want to know what would be the course of business?—A letter of that kind we should take no notice of. It would be examined to see whether they were voters or not. That would be the course of business with them first, and it appears that has been done. "Please place them down, the same as the rest of the names.

54,712, The first thing that would be done would be to see whether they were voters?—Yes.

54,71I. It appears that has been done, and it has turned out that they were not voters?—Yes.

54,712. The examination has taken place by which it has been ascertained that they were not voters?—Yes.

54,713. Supposing they had been voters?—If they had been voters it would have been handed over to Mr. Wells, or the others there; if it had been before the election they might have been entered in a book.

54,714. Finding they were not voters, you took no notice of them?—That is a thing I should take no notice of; it is crossed off.

54,715. That shows it had been attended to?—This is not my writing. I have handed this note over.

54,716. Would the course be to ascertain first whether they were voters; and where that has been done, and it has been ascertained they were not voters, nothing further would be done?—I should say they would most likely look; and that would be the case, I have no doubt of it, on its being ascertained that they were not voters, nothing further would be done.

54,717. If it turned out that they were voters, then the matter would be referred to somebody else?—I should think so.

54,718. What is the meaning of that direction given to you yourself individually, to set those names down, "the same as the rest?" I observe that is in the letter?—I do not know.

54,719. Were you at the time setting names down?—I might not be in at the time.

54,720. Was it done in the room; were names being set down in the room?—There were no names set down in the room.

54,721. How could that letter be written to you, to desire you to do the same as the rest?—I had many letters from Mr. Todd, which I handed over to different persons, whoever might be in the room. They wrote to Todd with respect to the different letters he kept sending and troubling us with.

54,722. A communication was made to Todd?—I never gave any answer to them; I never communicated with him.

54,723. You were saying some communications were made to Todd; what did they write to Todd about?—Upon my word I do not know.

54,724. You say Todd wrote?—These notes came demanding different things. He wanted different things. He troubled the committee with things that they thought he had no occasion to trouble his head about, which had better come from Mr. Davis, or some one else. Applications for paper, and different things of that kind. He was always wanting a something. The letter, I thought, was not couched in very genteel terms, and he was spoken to about the note in a note written by Mr. Davis, complaining of the troublesome way of his writing these notes, and bothering the committee.

54,725. Would you show this letter to anybody that had been there, when it was written to you. They would say "Do not ask me anything about it, they are written to Mr. Steeples?—I really do not know anything about it; I only know that he was a troublesome fellow.

54,726. In what way?—Continually writing notes; wanting this thing, and wanting the other; and wanting different things we thought he had got plenty; and we thought he was going to set up an office for himself, he sent so many foolish notes; continually men coming down for him; he kept one man employed for himself.

54,727. At the election of 1852, how many names did you set down for Moore and Butler?—I am sure I cannot say to a certainty.

54,728. How many, do you think—I might set twenty down; it may be more. I do not know.

54,729. Was it from twenty to thirty, or twenty to forty?—I would not say; it might be twenty to thirty; I would not say; I had other employments to do; I had plenty to do.

54,730. What did you have to do?—In cutting colours out; cutting out the stuff; getting them ready; giving them out to women to get made.

54,731. It was not your principal duty, setting down votes?—No.

54,732. Did you see voters? were you sent occasionally to talk to voters, with your persuasive way?—I never canvassed any.

54,733. You might have seen them when they came. We have been told you were considered the most persuasive man in the whole room?—I smiled at them sometimes; they like to see a smile.

54,734. You looked pleasant?—Yes.

54,735. Did you not also talk pleasant?—I do not think they like much talking; they like something more in the shape of something substantial.

54,736. Something more substantial?—Yes; a crown piece.

54,737. Did you give them any hope they would get something substantial some day or another?—No; the names were set down. I told them I would put their names down; but I could not say anything at all what they were likely to have, or what would be given. I was very careful the last time.

54,738. Were you told to be particularly careful?—I was as careful as I could.

54,739. You were told to be as careful as you could?—I do not know that I was told so; I thought it as well to be so.

54,740. You also have been——?—A very careful man. I had not cared enough, or else I should not have got my head broke.

54,741. In 1847 and 1841; did you always take as much care then as can be?—Yes, a great deal of pains.

54,742. Did you take the same care in 1852?—What care do you mean?

54,743. That is what I want to know. In talking to them, were you as careful as you could be?—I had very little conversation with them.

54,744. When you set the names down?—I did nothing but take the names down; I held out no promise to any one.

54,745. That would be wholly unnecessary, when they looked in your face?—I do not know.

54,746. Probably most of them knew you?—There are not so many now.

54,747. They knew you by name?—Not being amongst them, I do not know. I have not canvassed a man this last election.

54,748. How many did you pay this last time?—I should say thirty or something of that kind, I think. I paid the North Myton men.

54,749. At the district committee?—It occurred there, I think. My son was fixed there, and he was taken ill, and ordered away by Dr. Boulter home, and those men attended.

54,750. When did you pay them?—After the election.

54,751. How long?—I think it would be a day, or something of that kind; soon after.

54,752. Where was that?—Those men were paid at my house, for North Myton.

54,753. How many were there?—I should say there would be twenty that had a sovereign each, and so many had 13*s.* each.

54,754. How many set down for 1*l.*?—Twenty.

54,755. How many at 13*s.*?—Four, perhaps, at 13*s.*; there might be seven or eight.

54,756. Did you pay John Noble?—Yes.

54,757. Where did you pay him?—Paid him at my house.

54,758. A sovereign?—Yes. This account that was rendered to him was corrected by Mr. Rossindale, and then handed over to me; but previous to my paying them he had fallen ill. There was no one to pay the men that required paying, and Wilkinson could not be found, or was not be found, and those men began to be troublesome to the room, and annoy us a good deal, and Mr. Rossindale went into the North Myton committee room, and paid some men a portion.

54,759. Do you remember paying?—I remember seeing the amount which he paid was under 20*l.* Rossindale took the list from the central committee room.

54,760. Was this man, John Noble, a man whose name was on the list furnished by the central commttee?—Yes; it was on the list given to me to pay.

54,761. Did you get a list, and pay from that list?—I did.

54,762. Were you told how much to pay to each?—It was Mr. Rossindale corrected the list before it was given to me.

54,763. How many were there marked on the list?—I know twenty got 1*l.*, six days; seven or eight probably 13*s.*; the others 10*s.*; and one 8*s.* or 10*s.* There were the clerks in the list as well.

George Steeple.

21st July 1853.

54,764. You remember the man John Noble?—No, I do not.

54,765. He says he was paid 1*l.* for his vote; that is what he tells us?—I dare say it would be so. This was money I was directed to pay him.

54,766. He says he was directed to go; he was set down, an dnever did anything. Were there not a number paid at your house?—I paid a lot of non-voters we had engaged.

54,767. What were they engaged for?—They were engaged to make a good show before the hustings; that was the nomination day.

54,768. They were to hold up their hands, I suppose?—They were to make a good show, and put some cards in their hats; that was what they were engaged for.

54,769. Were they all non-voters?—The question was put to them as they came in. Jackson, the doorkeeper, was told not to allow any one to come in; not for a job.

54,770. How much did they get?—5*s.* a day for the nomination day.

54,771. How many?—There would be, I think, about seventy or eighty; something the following day, for we were obliged to have some one to assist the doorkeeper.

54,772. Who else did you pay?—Not any more there.

54,773. But anywhere?—I do not recollect; yes, I think I paid some at Mr. Wells's office.

54,774. Mr. Robert Wells?—Yes.

54,775. How many do you think you paid there?—I cannot exactly say; I know it was at Mr. Wells's office where I paid them.

54,776. Do you think you paid thirty or forty?—No.

54,777. Fifty?—I might pay three or four or five.

54,778. What were they?—Voters.

54,779. Was it after the election was over?—Yes.

54,780. How much did they get each?—They were generally 1*l.*

54,781. Something was taken off where they gave a split vote?—It was done. I do not know the arrangements made.

54,782. Was the sum put opposite the name of each that he was to get?—When anything was given to me to pay I paid it.

54,783. Besides those, who else did you pay?—I believe I paid a lot of clerks. Mr. Wells handed me the cash over the table, and I gave it to the men. It was the clerks and the doorkeepers who were paid at the central committee.

54,784. How many of those did you pay?—I think we had only two at first; two doorkeepers first of all, and then we had four; and then after that we found that the other parties were getting an enormous lot.

54,785. Did you pay afterwards?—I paid from the hands of Mr. Wells; he was on the other side of the table, and handed me the money, and I signed the names to the receipts.

54,786. How many?—First two and four, then six, and then we got more.

54,787. What was the greatest number you had?—I think never, except on the last day, above half a dozen or so.

54,788. On the last day?—I can scarcely tell you; they were set on by different people.

54,789. And the last day there were a great many?—A good many got tickets.

54,790. About how many?—They came to 20*l.*

54,791. How many? Were they paid 10*s.* each?—I do not know; I really do not know whether it was 10*s.* or 5*s.*; I think 10*s.* each.

54,792. It would be about forty?—It would be forty.

54,793. Were there more than forty?—No; that was the exact number of tickets. They were wrapped up and sent to Mr. Wells; he got them.

54,794. Did you pay anybody else? In Scale Lane did you pay any?—No.

54,795. Are you sure of that?—No; I had nothing to do with Scale Lane. You mean when I resided in Scale Lane. This last election I had nothing to do with Scale Lane at all.

54,796. Did you pay any besides those you have told us?—I only paid those in Mr. Wells's office, and those I have told you.

54,797. Were they all persons who had voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes, I expect so.

54,798. If you had known and found out any of them had not voted for Moore and Butler, would you not have hesitated before you paid those?—Decidedly so.

54,799. You would not have paid them at all, I presume?—I should not have paid the men that had not voted.

54,800. You were paying for their votes, and you understood that was the real consideration?—Undoubtedly so.

54,801. Now can you tell us what has become of any of the lists?—I think there are some of the papers.

54,802. Where did they go to after you had done with them?—I sent them to the central committee. There was something took place in the committee room after; it seemed to be quite a sudden thing. Mr. Wells came, and took up the papers, and placed them in the chest.

54,803. When was that?—This was after the election.

54,804. Some time after the election?—Yes.

54,805. This year?—All the papers were placed in a chest, and taken away to the office.

54,806. This year or last year?—It would be 1852; it was when we had a committee room.

54,807. When you gave up the committee room?—Yes; before we gave up the committee room in Bowl Alley Lane.

54,808. Have you seen nothing of them since?—I believe I have seen some of the books since then; something of the kind. I got a letter from Mr. Wells. There was a book wanting, and Mr. Wells wrote to me for a certain book, and he had kept the book; probably it was a curiosity. I had a great desire that Mr. Bramley Moore should see it and the state of things that was going on; one of the clerks did it,—Mr. Robinson. He must have been deranged, or he could not have done such a thing.

54,809. What was he?—A polling clerk. Instead of the names being properly entered, they had been down and, then scratched out with a pen, and a variety of pictures made.

54,810. Mere nonsense?—Yes; I kept the book, because I wanted to show Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler how they were acting in this place.

54,811. Were you introduced to Messrs. Moore and Butler during the election?—I saw them at the central committee room; I saw them frequently; they often came there.

54,812. Morning or evening did they mostly come, or at all times?—Mr. Bramley Moore very regularly in the morning, generally; Mr. Butler sometimes; and if there were any letters for Mr. Bramley Moore they were laid on the place for him.

54,813. We hear that the district committees used to come in the morning; was that the time when Mr. Bramley Moore came?—Yes.

54,814. The district committee used to meet in the central committee room every morning?—They did most mornings.

54,815. Was it to meet them then that the candidates came?—They came about dinner-time; the candidates used to meet them; they retired into another room.

54,816. The candidates and the district chairman used to go into another room?—Yes, they very often did. Mr. Bramley Moore came, and he might write two or three letters; he seemed very anxious for business; Mr. Butler did not seem quite so anxious for business as he was.

54,817. You also know there were a good many sham committee rooms?—Yes; I do not know how many.

54,818. How many did you pay?—A great many.

54,819. How many?—I had the money given to take to Mr. West to pay those bills; that is over the bridge; the Old Swan. I took the money and bills to Mr. Wells. I found him at the office, and he asked me as a favour if I would be kind enough to pay those; I said, certainly I will. I paid all those bills; I believe a great many committee rooms.

54,820. How many, do you suppose, as near as you can say?—I should say twenty or thirty. You will find it in the receipts I gave to Mr. Ward; I took all the receipts back to Mr. Ward.

54,821. To the central committee?—Yes.

54,822. How much money did you pay for each room?—It varied; sometimes 2*l.*, some 3*l.*, and some the prices varied as high as 10*l.* I do not know what the rooms were. I never engaged them.

54,823. How much did you pay away for them, do you remember?—They were intermixed with other notes. I could not tell you. I had other notes at the sametime to pay as well as these.

54,824. But where they given you?—Mr. Ward gave those notes. They had all been overlooked by Mr. Harris. I was present when Mr. Harris examined them; he looked at the amount, and gave it to me, and I went and paid them. Some, the discount was taken off; some more than others; but the discount that was taken off the bills went to Mr. Ward; I had nothing to do with the discount.

54,825. Was the sum that was wanted for the other rooms and the other bills cast up and ascertained before you received the money?—Yes.

54,826. Who did that; who gave you the money?—Mr. Harris overhauled the bills, and gave them to me, to take them to the different parties; I had on a piece of paper the amount they came to, and he gave me the money; I then brought back the receipts to him.

54,827. Do you remember the people to whom you made those payments?—They took a length of time; they took a good deal of looking over; the sums that were charged, some were rather exhorbitant.

54,828. Was it all after the election?—Yes; some time after the election.

54,829. Do you suppose you could have made those payments within a week after the election; finished it?—No; we did not finish it. There were three bills I considered too high charged; those we kept back to the last. Those I had no difficulty with were settled off-hand.

54,830. This sum that was as high as 10*l.*, what was that?—I cannot tell you; I did not engage any one committee room; I had nothing to do with engaging any of them.

54,831. These rooms you paid, were they scattered over the town in different parts?—Yes, all in different parts.

George Steeple.

31st July 1853.

54,832. Not confined to any particular ward?—Andrew Hare, over the bridge; the Holderness Hotel; that was one that was on the list, I think.

54,833. Had you a list?—We set down all with the receipts; I might take out 50 or I might take 100; whatever the amount might be, I took out the notes, and paid them, and took the receipts back to Mr. Ward.

54,834. Were you to make the best bargain you could?—It is not very likely.

54,835. Have you any memorandums?—The memorandum I took for my own part. In looking over the memorandums you may find some that would not immediately correspond with the receipts, as far as the discount goes.

54,836. William Goldsmith the younger helped you in making the payments?—No; he had nothing to do with me.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

THIRTY-NINTH DAY.—Friday, 22d July 1852.

GEORGE STEEPLE recalled, and examined.

George Steeple.

22d July 1853.

54,837. Have you got any further information to give us?—I have a paper here; but I wish to correct a statement I might make yesterday; that was with respect to the candidates meeting the committee. What I meant or what I should have said was, that the candidates in the morning, the first thing, when they were going out to canvass, met with the gentlemen belonging to the committee occasionally. It would be understood probably yesterday that I should say the candidates met the committee when they met in the room; that was a mistake.

54,838. What is it you wish to say now?—I wish to say now that the candidates in the morning met some of those gentlemen who were going to canvass the different districts.

54,839. What is it that has brought that to your recollection?—It has been mentioned to me this morning.

54,840. Who have you talked with about it since? Have you been in communication with anybody?—I have not been in communication with any one, but what has been said just now.

54,841. You were reminded this morning?—Yes.

54,842. Who were you reminded by?—Mr. Rollit said, "Did I say so and so yesterday?"

54,843. Then you have talked with Mr. Rollit since you were here yesterday upon the subject?—Nothing further than what has passed here, and has been heard.

54,844. Have you, since you gave evidence before us yesterday, been in communication with Mr. Rollit?—Nothing more than here.

54,845. Then you say yes?—Yes, I have.

54,846. You have been in communication with Mr. Rollit here this morning?—Yes, I have, here.

54,847. And has he called your attention to the matter?—Mr. Rollit said, did I mean to say, or had I said, yesterday, that Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler met the gentlemen of the committee at the meetings? I said yesterday at the meeting. That would be the morning, with the gentlemen who were going to canvass belonging to the committee; that would be in the morning; not at the general meeting in the afternoon. I made a mistake.

54,848. You are quite sure it was a mistake?—It certainly was a mistake.

54,849. And that mistake has been called to your mind by Mr. Rollit?—It appears that I had said nothing.

54,850. Was Mr. Rollit there, that he could have the means of furnishing any information to you?—At the place, do you mean?

54,851. At the meeting of the central committee?—No, he was not.

54,852. Then what Mr. Rollit has called your attention to is a matter wholly out of his knowledge?—I do not know about his knowledge; he may have heard me say so yesterday.

54,853. The matters that Mr. Rollit has called your attention to are matters wholly beyond his own personal knowledge: he was not there himself?—No; he was not in the room.

54,854. Is there anything else you wish to add?—No.

54,855. Did Mr. Rollit speak to you in the presence of the gentleman who reports for the Commission?—Yes.

54,856. And all he said to you was said in the presence of that gentleman?—He said, did I mean to say it was so. I found it was a mistake, I assure you.

Mr. JOHN ROLLIT recalled, and examined. Mr. J. Rollit.

22d July 1853.

54,857. Tell us, Mr. Rollit, what this is?—Having learnt from the proceedings in this Court the course which was pursued by the candidates during their canvass, to attend at the central committee room on the morning of each day, for the purpose of being put in possession of the district in which they were to canvass for that day, and having learnt also that it was not their custom to attend meetings——

54,858. You had heard it said in Court?—Precisely.

54,859. I suppose your attention was attracted to a discrepancy between Mr. Steeple's evidence and the others?—That was so; and seeing Mr. Steeple in Court this morning, I inquired of him. I put it in the shape of a question: "Did you intend yesterday to convey to the Court that the candidates were in the habit of attending the meetings of the district chairmen of the central committee?" He said, "No;" and I then said, "Then be so good as to explain that to the Court immediately, on their sitting."

GEORGE STEEPLE recalled; examination resumed. George Steeple.

54,860. Is there anything else, Mr. Steeple, that you wish to add?—No.

54,861. Have you handed in the lists?—Those are the papers that I promised to bring.

54,862. There is a little book?—I have no little book.

54,863. You mentioned a little book?—I spoke of the minute book.

54,864. You said, "I have a memorandum book which will show all the payments I made." Did you mean these papers?—I had a memorandum; that is, from the original paper; the paper that was for the North Myton. I said I had a memorandum that I had taken at the time from it; the payments that were made at the committee rooms and the different places.

54,865. Is that the list of the committee rooms you spoke of yesterday?—Probably you will find some more mixed with those notes, because they were not all paid at one time. There may be some others. There are receipts for them all.

54,866. Did you make them out yourself?—This I copied from the notes merely; but I say some of them are made quite correct, with respect to the discount that was taken off.

54,867. Those are all documents made by yourself, either originals or copies of originals?—These are from the original bills; but I mean to say those show the bills and the receipts. There may be some in that paper that have not had the discount taken off. Still the bills show it.

54,868. Do these represent all the payments you made?—These represent all the payments I made from Mr. Ward. The bills were given to me, and you will find among them there is a bill for the Holderness ward, which I told you yesterday I took to Mr. West, and he engaged me to pay them. I think in those lists you will find the names that were paid in one of the committee rooms. In looking them over yesterday I found out there was Watkinson of the Shakspeare Tavern. I put his name down. There was a bill paid there for a committee room and something else. I have not got it down; I have omitted it; but I have put it among the rest. Here are some other papers. I think they are of no moment, but I will hand them over.

54,869. Those show payments, I think you say, that you made on account of Mr. Ward?—Yes.

54,870. Entirely?—Yes.

54,871. Not anybody else?—Yes.

54,872. You also paid some money for Mr. West?—They are among them bills; they are for the Holderness ward.

54,873. You said you paid four or five voters at Mr. Wells's office?—Yes, I did.

54,874. It does not contain the names of them?—No.

54,875. You also said you paid 20*l.* at the central committee room?—I did.

54,876. It would not contain the particulars of them?—No; not anything of that.

54,877. It relates to Mr. Ward's?—It relates to the bills paid there.

54,878. And to Mr. Ward's only?—And to Mr. Ward's only.

54,879. Did you make some payments for Mr. West in Holderness ward?—Yes.

54,880. Would they be included in that list?—Yes, they are. I mentioned the Holderness ward. There are the names of the parties; and so you will find the receipts correspond pretty nearly with them.

54,881. Then it would be West and Ward's payments?—Yes; but the money was given to me at Mr. Ward's to take to West. I took the money, and went and offered it to him.

54,882. You said you set down some twenty or thirty names at the central room?—Yes, I might.

54,883. I want to know what room you sat in when you were engaged in that Geoge Steeple.

22d July 1853.

business?—The room that was used daily; there was another room that was belonging to the gentlemen.

54,884. Was that the room that you set the names down in; was that your daily usual room?—Yes; the usual room for the day.

54,885. The usual room that you had?—Yes; where Mr. Gleadow used to sit, and give orders for the different things; and I was there to receive his orders.

54,886. That is where you generally sat?—Yes.

54,887. Supposing the candidates and the committee were to come to attend to their business, would they pass through that room to go to their own?—They used to come there in the morning, and occasionally at other parts of the day.

54,888. Would they pass through the room in which you sat?—They would not pass through that room, and go into another room The room was to the left-hand side where the committee sat, and this was the general use room on the right.

54,889. Do you remember now, or not, whether that note that we drew your attention to yesterday was acted upon, which says, "Set down these men as usual"?—I do not know it.

54,890. Did you set down names in your committee room that were sent in that way from other quarters?—No, I did not. I only took them that came into the room that wished to have their names set down.

54,891. How many do you suppose there were altogether?—I was so often away, cutting out colours and one thing and another; I went into the front room, and they might come and get their names set down there.

54,893. It was going on pretty constantly?—There were several got their names set down, I daresay. It was not one person alone that set them down.

54,893. You had some assistants in your room; some clerks?—Yes; there was assistance in the room.

54,894. That setting down in this way, did that increase towards the time as the election approached?—No; it got less; it was merely the fore part of the time.

54,895. Who assisted you in your room? What were their names?—Rossindale.

54,896. Who else?—Mr. Gleadow would be generally there at the head of the table, and very often Mr. Ward.

54,897. In your room?—In our room.

54,898. They would not write the names down; Mr. Gleadow or Mr. Ward?—No, they would not. There were two or three other different people in. I was away some times.

54,899. You had some regular people, had you not?—Yes; we had people at the outside as doorkeepers, such as that.

54,900. I mean writers, such as Rossindale, the clerk?—There were the different gentlemen that came in.

54,901. Do you not recollect any other regular clerk besides Rossindale in your room?—Upon my word I cannot say of any regular clerk, as far as the staff went. The clerks were below.

54,902. In another room?—Yes; some of them might come up stairs. Mr. Fowler was very often in the room.

54,903. What became of those lists that the names were set down upon?—Those clerks and doorkeepers and runners were paid of a Saturday night. Mr. Wells sat facing me, and the receipts were made out ready for them. He looked at them, and handed the money over to me. I paid the clerks and the men, and they gave a receipt. The receipts were filed, and Mr. Wells got them when he took the rest of the papers away. He took the papers away himself, and put them in a chest.

54,904. Those names set down,—the twenty or thirty,—you did not pay them every Saturday?—No; I did not see any more of them.

54,905. I want to know what became of those in that list? Were they set down on a paper?—That would be what you call a minute book.

54,906. They were set down in some book?—They were set down in some book, which they call a minute book. Of course that would go with Mr. Wells's papers.

54,907. You said you paid a good many at your house?—I did.

54,908. How came they to come to your house? Who directed them to come? How was that settled?—I do not know whether Mr. Wells thought it would be as well, or some one thought it would be as well, to get them away from the room. They stopped all business; we were much annoyed with those men.

54,909. I do not know whether this is your writing. Here is a book of applications for runners; is that the book you spoke of (Book A.C.)?—It is not my writing.

54,910. Is that Mr. Wells's own writing?—Here is "Matthew Newlove, 9, St. Mark's Square;" that is my writing.

54,911. Whose is the other writing?—I do not know.

54,912. Is it Mr. Wells's?—I do not know.

54,913. Or Mr. Rossindale?—It might be Rossindale, or Fowler's, or anybody else; I really do not know. Here is Thomas Newton; that is my writing; and Henry Newton; that is my writing.

54,914. Is that the book you allude to?—Yes, that is the book.

54,915. Besides paying the people at your house, did you pay somebody elsewhere? I am not speaking about paying for committee rooms?—I did not pay any one out of doors. What was paid was paid at the central commmittee, at my house, and at Mr. Wells's office.

54,916. At your house, at Mr. Wells's office, or the central committee; those three places?—I paid no one out of doors.

54,917. The sham rooms?—I do not know anything about paying them.

54,918. You paid them from place to place?—Yes; I paid them from place to place; and they varied from 2*l.*, some of them; as high as 10*l.*

54,919. But the others you paid at one of those places?—Yes.

54,920. I asked you about Goldsmith yesterday. Had you ever young Mr. Goldsmith assisting you?—I do not know. It is very probable there might be a person of that name. The clerks were put below, to make more room; we were pinched for room, for there were a good few clerks below; and the receipts were handed to Mr. Wells. He can tell you exactly.

54,921. You paid four or five at Mr. Wells's office after the election?—Yes.

54,922. Who gave you that money?—I think some of it would have been an overplus of what was left from the amount for those North Myton voters; I had some cash left in hand.

54,923. You think they were paid from that?—Yes.

54,934. And you said you paid at the committee room about twenty to forty people?—Yes, for tickets.

54,925. Who gave you that money?—I think that money was given by Mr. Ward for the non-voters; men I had got to go before the hustings.

54,926. Had they all tickets?—No.

54,927. You said something about tickets?—There were some tickets paid; 20*l.*, I think was paid for men; Mr. Wells has the tickets or cards, whatever you call them; that is for the nomination day and the polling day.

54,928. £20 was paid on cards?—£20 was paid on them; they were all piled up together, and put into Mr. Wells's possession.

54,929. I ask you this general question: you have spoken of several lists of various kinds; you made payments from the lists of committee rooms; were all those papers put into the chest you speak of as going to Mr. Wells's, as far as you know?—All those notes? I think those notes would not go into Mr. Wells's chest; the notes would be handed over to Mr. Ward.

54,930. That is at the central committee room?—Those notes, I went and collected many myself, and took them to the central room, and they were all put together; they would not be in the chest of Mr. Wells.

54,931. The chest, if I understood you, was sent from the central room to Mr. Wells's?—Yes.

54,932. And everything in the central room would be put into that chest?—Everything of any moment Mr. Wells picked up, and put in the chest.

54,933. Did you assist him in picking them up?—I might take some of the things.

54,934. When was that?—That was after the election.

54,935. You said it was done a little suddenly?—It was because the things were put there, and he locked the chest up, and desired me to send it on to his office.

54,936. Did he send to you to come and assist him?—I was in the room at the time when he came.

54,937. You were still in charge of the committee room?—I was in the room; there might be some one else in the room,

54,938. When he put the things in the chest, do you know whether he selected some, and tore some up?—I did not see him tear any papers up. Many of the papers of some moment were placed in a little mahogany box opposite to him; they were put in a small box,—those papers were papers of moment,—into a little box, and he took them away first.

54,939. Did you say those seemed to be papers of moment?—They were letters and different things; those he took away, and put into the chest himself.

54,940. Then he took away some in a smaller box at first, and afterwards in a chest to his own office?—They went to his own office.

54,941. Did you go with them?—I saw two men take them down.

54,942. Were you at his office afterwards?—I was several times at his office.

54,943. Did you go over these papers afterwards at his office?—No.

54,944. Did you see them any more?—No.

54,945. Not any of these papers?—No.

54,946. You have said that your duty, in 1841, was a good deal in distributing colours?—I believe it was.

54,947. You are a man of great experience in elections here, are you not?—I have had a good deal of electioneering.

54,948. How came they to confine your part of the electioneering to giving out these bits of calico; can you explain to me the meaning of that?—I think I have generally, at the fore part of my time, attended to those who made a parade with colours, and knowing that I was pretty well up to the method of both distributing colours and using them, they picked me out; and another thing, they thought it was likely I did not care a deal about getting my head broken, so they thought I was a likely chap to go with these things.

George Steeple.

22d July 1853.

54,949. What is the mode of distributing colours? Can you tell us what it means?—Every one wants a colour; publicans in particular want a colour. I believe there were a great many colours went to places that were never put out at all or used.

54,950. When you give a colour to persons, do you give them 5*s.* or 10*s.* to make it up with?—No.

54,951. They do not get anything for it?—No; if they require a colour, of course they require a staff, and some of them want irons to fix it up with; then we send the irons on; but I never knew an instance of giving anything of the kind,—never.

54,952. You know most of the electors, do you not?—I do not; most of the old hands are gone; there are very few left. I have not canvassed round.

54,953. If they wanted advice as to the persons who wanted a little money for their vote, you could give it, could you not? You could tell who they were, could you not?—They are numerous, I think, as far as that goes.

54,954. If you were to look into the canvassing book you could pretty well tell and point out who would want money?—I cannot say that.

54,955. A good many?—There are a many there want money, I have no doubt of that.

54,956. I ask you more particularly, if you had the canvassing books put into your hands of those who have been freemen for some time, could you not tell by name nearly all those who would require a little payment or employment?—I do not know that I could recollect now. As far as that goes, I know there are many of the carpenters that generally wish to be paid.

54,957. And you know who the carpenters are?—I know most of them are freemen; I am not going to mince the thing; many of them will.

54,958. If you will answer my question directly it will be the best. If you had the canvass book put into your hands, could you point out a great many of the blue voters that would require generally some employment and payment?—I could not say that.

54,959. A great many, you could?—I do not think so.

54,960. If we were to give you the canvass books of 1847, could you point them out?—No, I could not; I would not take on myself to say I could do anything of the kind.

54,961. If you were experienced in elections in Hull you could?—My experience has been more in travelling with the colourmen and the band.

54,262. As far as I understand it, any boy in the street could do that?—Yes; but they would not like it, I think.

54,963. When they call you an experienced man, they mean something else besides that?—They might call me experienced.

54,964. Do you really mean to say you do not know who the men are that required payment?—I should not know, I assure you; it is so long since. My memory is not one of the first.

54,965. I will put it in another way. If you had the the canvass book or the polling book of the last election, do not you think you could give, very nearly, the men on your side that had had employment and a little pay?—I could not, indeed.

54,966. The poll book would show you how they voted?—Yes.

54,967. And you could tell which of those who voted blue had been employed and paid? You could make a guess at them?—No, I could not.

54,968. I want to know what it is that you can tell, more than other people, about the Hull elections?—I do not think I can tell anything more. I am not aware that I can. I can tell you no more than what I have said to you.

54,969. Who do you think has a greater experience among the blue side than you have, in being able to pick out those amenable to the influence of money, than yourself? Can you name anybody in Hull of more experience?—I am sure I cannot. Those, I should think, who have canvassed, and come in contact with the voters.

54,970. Name anybody that you think has a more general experience, to put it in plain English, of the extent of corruption among the blue party, than you?—As far as I can say with respect to the blue party, the blue party are no better than the other.

54,971. I am not assuming for the moment that there is any distinction between you. I am simply asking you, do you think there is any one more experienced than yourself in ascertaining the extent of the corruption, so far as it exists, among the blue party? Who do you think has had a greater experience for the last thirty years?—I cannot answer that question any further.

54,972. That being so, what is the estimate that you make out, out of the 1,800 freemen, or thereabouts, who, in your judgment, are open to pecuniary considerations for employment or money; who are capable of being influenced; how many, do you think, out of the whole 1800, are able to be influenced by the promise of money, or the expectation of money, or the expectation or promise of employment?—I should say probably 500.

54,973. What?—Who might be influenced.

54,974. On your side?—I mean to say it is probable they would, as far as the parties go, who would vote where they got the most money.

54,975, Five hundred among the blue side. How many should you say, as far as your experience goes among the orange?—I mean to say those that have generally been blue, and still at this time, if they could get more, would go from us.

54,976. Of the other side, how many do you think there are also who generally vote

George Steeple.

22d July 1853.

orange who would come over to your side if they got a little advantage by it?—I should think there would be as many more.

54,977. Should you say more than as many more?—That is, the same quantity on the other side would come over, or probably more.

54,978. We have heard a great deal of evidence as to the meaning of the words "setting down." Do you agree with the other witnesses—a great many of them have said so—that when a person comes and uses the expression, "I want to be set down," that he means to convey an understanding that he will vote, provided he is paid or employed?—Many will come and get their names set down, who will expect they are sure to be paid.

54,979. They expect to be paid for colourable employment?—There are a many of them if they found they would get more the other side will run.

54,980. We have seen people who took money both sides?—I saw several.

54,981. Is not this the very meaning of the words, when a man comes and says "Set my name down as a runner," does not that mean, "If you do set my name down I will vote for you"? Does he not mean to convey that?—There is no doubt about that being his general idea.

54,982. And that always has been the meaning for many years, has it not?—1847, 1841, and many years?—Yes.

54,983. And does it not mean the same thing, if a man instead of using those words, says, "Give me some employment, set my name down for employment"?—Yes.

54,984. That means just the same thing?—Yes.

54,985. And does this not also mean a promise to vote, when a man comes and solicits that his room should be taken as a committee room, does not he mean in so doing to convey to you, that if you do not take his room you may not rely on his vote?—I have no doubt that that is the meaning.

54,986. Can you disclose any information upon the subject of any corrupt practices committed by any person at the last election?—I cannot.

54,987. Either that has come under your own knowledge, or that has been told you?—I cannot, or I should tell you.

54,988. In 1847?—In 1847.

54,989. Or in 1841?—In the former elections it was so.

54,990. Can you tell us anything more of 1847 or 1841?—I cannot.

54,991. Do you know of anybody who has a list of the persons who are likely to be paid on your side?—No, I do not; my son will have some papers I dare say.

54,992. Is he here?—Yes.

54,993. What I want to know is this: supposing there was to be a new election to-morrow, and you wanted to know who on the blue side must be paid, is there not some list or book that will show you who they are?—I do not know of any list or book.

54,994. You do not know anybody who can give that information?—I do not know, I am sure.

54,995. Then must they wait till the parties come and ask?—Yes.

54,996. Before they can guess?—Yes; there is the book showing how they polled the last time, and we would judge that those who polled the last time would most likely poll again.

54,997. It does not show who wanted a little money?—I do not know that.

54,998. Is there any book that shows that?—No; I do not know, I am sure.

Mr. A. Bannister.

Mr. ANTHONY BANNISTER sworn, and examined.

54,999. You are a merchant in this town?—Yes, and a shipowner.

55,000. Where do you carry on business, or live?—In Hull.

55,001. Whereabouts in Hull?—No. 4, Minerva Terrace.

55,002. What is the rent that you pay, or the rate that you are rated at?—£25.

55,003. That all within the borough?—No; I am rated at more.

55,004. The whole amount?—£42 in the borough; but I do not live in the borough.

55,005. How long have you been entitled to vote as an occupier?—Sixteen years, perhaps.

55,006. Are you also a freeman?—No.

55,007. How long have you lived in Hull?—I was born in Hull, and I lived in it ever since, except when I left about eight years ago to live in the county.

55,008. How long shall I say?—About forty-one years, I think.

55,009. Have you taken an active part in electioneering matters for this borough?—Yes; until the last election.

55,010. In 1841, I believe, you were an active partizan of Hanmer and James?—Yes.

55,011. And voted for them?—I voted for them.

55,412. Were you a member of any committee?—I was deputy chairman of the North Myton committee at that time.

55,013. Who was chairman?—Charles Wilkinson.

Mr. A. Bannister.

22d July 1853.

55,014. Were you, as deputy chairman, a member of the general committee?—No. Mr. Charles Wilkinson did all that was done with the central committee. I never went near hand to it; he took the credit and I took the labour.

55,015. Not all the labour?—Yes; very near, as far as he is concerned, as far as the chairman was concerned.

55,016. Who was the clerk of your committee, or secretary or whatever he was?—I am sure I could not say at this moment. I think we had two or three. I think young Steeple was one and Lidgard was another, but he was not a clerk, he could not write. I think Steeple was a clerk.

55,017. And the man you call Legitt, but who calls himself Lidgard?—Yes; he was a runner, did anything, carried messages.

55,018. A useful man?—Yes, a useful man, and I think a man called Field. I think he was not at that time—I am not quite certain on that point—but I think he was one of the party; I believe he was.

55,019. Lidgard or Legitt, was he a canvasser also?—Yes; he was.

55,020. How many names were there set down as runners in your district?—That I could not say; all the papers were taken by the chairman, and I have never seen or heard of them since.

55,021. By Wilkinson?—Yes.

55,022. You are speaking of memory?—Yes.

55,023. Do you think there was at your committee as many as 100 set down?—Yes; I should think more than that.

55,024. 150 perhaps?—I should think 150 or 160, but I really cannot say. If I had the papers as they were all made out, I could tell.

55,025. What was the mode of setting them down?—Any man that came and made an application to be set down as a runner was set down.

55,026. I dare say you agree with most of the other witnesses that the meaning of setting down is an implied promise to vote, provided they derive some advantage from it, in the shape of employment or money?—When a man came to get his name set down, of course he expected to be employed and paid accordingly.

55,027. And you expected on the other hand his vote?—No doubt.

55,028. That was the nature of the understanding?—No doubt; not the slightest shadow of a doubt.

55,929. We hear this was a mode which crept in and has been substituted for the old-fashioned mode of four guineas and two?—No, I do not say that. The four guineas and two were before my time, therefore, I know nothing at all about it.

55,030. On that occasion in 1841, were they paid before or after, or part before and part after?—I believe they were paid every Saturday night; I think so.

55,031. There was mostly something coming after the election?—Yes; there was always a little nest egg left; but I believe the greater part of my men were paid every Saturday night.

55,032. At the committee room?—At the committee room.

55,033. What was the rate of payment then?—I think a guinea a week; from a guinea to 30*s.*; at this moment I cannot say, but it was from that to 30*s.* a week.

55,034. I mean of those at your committee, there was always something left?—No; I think not. I think the only arrears that were left were the election week expenses. I think all the rest were paid to the men who were employed during that time.

55,035. Then you paid in full up to Saturday night?—Yes.

55,036. And left the three or four broken days?—Yes; then we never had time to pay. We left them until after the election. If the election took place on Friday we used to pay on Saturday.

55,037. Of the 150 or 160, were all paid the Saturday night?—No; the 150 or 160 were not paid on Saturday night, because they were not all employed.

55,038. You got as much employment, I presume as you could?—Some of them did not come near hand us; they came and got their names set down and went away.

55,039. What did you do with those?—We did not pay them on Saturday night.

55,040. They were paid after the election was over?—Some of the men that got their names set down might not require pay.

55,041. But if they applied for payment after the election was over?—Then they would be paid the same way as the others.

55,042. How long were they paid in that case?—I cannot say; perhaps a week or ten days; a fortnight, or perhaps three weeks; but the most part, perhaps a fortnight. It depended upon the state of the canvass.

55,043. If I understand you, those who were actually employed were paid on the Saturday night; those who were not employed and voted all right, were paid something after the election was over?—That is perfectly true.

55,044. Would all of the 160 be employed from the time they were set down, if they chose to come?—No; they would not get the same right to pay as those in employment, certainly not, because the parties who were regular runners—a certain staff of officers required—they get paid every Saturday night, and they get, perhaps, a little more than those who did not do much.

55,045. Can you in any way furnish us with any list, or have you any means of supplying us with the names?—I have not the slightest. I was only the deputy chairman, and the chairman took all the documents. There are documents, I dare say, if not destroyed.

55,046. Several parties have mentioned having been paid afterwards, nothing like the whole number. I will mention a few names, and as I go through them, say if you recollect the names. Have you anything that will refresh my memory?—I have got a little document that Mr. Rollit furnished me with. These are the parties who allude to me in their examinations. I have looked them over, some of them are true, and some utterly untrue. I can give you an answer to anything you ask.

55,047. Confine yourself to 1841.—Then I do not know whether I can draw a distinction.

55,048. How much money passed through your hands, do you remember, in 1841?—Upon my word, I cannot say.

55,049. Did you receive as much as 1,500*l.*?—No, nor nothing like it, I should think; nor 200*l.* I really cannot say. It is impossible for me to say; the books were taken from me, at least they were given up by me at the time, and what might come into my hands, God knows.

55,050. When you were paying the men in 1841, had you a vessel—I need not particularly describe it—in the room, full of sovereigns? Do you know what I allude to?—Certainly not.

55,051. You have heard it said?—I have heard it said since the inquiry began that I had a vessel in the room.

55,052. That is not true?—No.

55,053. And that you kept replenishing it with 500 sovereigns at the time?—Those who said that knew very little about it, and must know they were telling a downright falsehood. If I knew who they were I would make an example of them.

55,054. It was a joke, perhaps, but we have a right to ask the question?—It is not true as far so I am concerned.

55,055. Where did you pay?—In the committee room at the Blue Bell; your informant got the wrong end of the story.

55,056. Will you give us the right one?—I cannot give you the right one.

55,057. Everything has two ends.—So it has; but he appears to have got the wrong one.

55,058. We only want the other?—I cannot give you it. I certainly never had such a thing in my possession.

55,059. What is your own end of the story?—It is merely a joke of mine, similar to the one of theirs.

55,060. Just refresh your memory, and confine yourself to 1841. If there are any of those that are untrue, pick them out.—I was speaking of the others; it was 1852 I particularly meant when there were some arrears.

55,061. There are none in 1841?—No; I think not.

55,062. Joseph Dick?—I have not the slightest recollection of Joseph Dick; I think he was not one of my lot.

55,063. You do not remember him?—No.

55,064. It may be possibly correct?—No, I think not; I do not recollect the name at all. It may be true, but I cannot recollect at this moment.

55,065. You will not put it stronger than that you do not recollect one way or the other?—No; I should not like to swear he was not one of the lot, because I have not the books.

55,066. If Dick was to swear he did, probably you would say he was right?—If I was to see him I should know.

55,067. George Bell?—I think it is not unlikely. I think that Bell is a freeman, if I recollect right, and I think was a householder; I am not sure.

55,068. Thomas Oliver of Mill Street?—Not unlikely, but I cannot swear to him. I do not recollect him.

55,069. Do you know John Fowler?—No. I think that is a mistake; I do not remember the names; those are not names that I know. There are a certain class of people but he is not one of the lot. If the documents are in your possession, and you can let me have them I will tell you in a moment; they are mostly in my handwriting.

55,070. We have not got them?—I was not aware of that.

55,071. What became of them?—If I knew you should know in a moment.

55,072. You do not know what became of them afterwards? they all went to Wilkinson?—Yes.

55,073. William Sylbon?—Yes, I know him very well, he was a very useful fellow.

55,074. Was he one?—He was.

55,075. Joseph Hopper?—That name I do not know.

55,076. He said he had been paid some time after?—I do not know him. I should think that is not likely, because every man I knew I probably paid at the time. I never had arrears; that made me keep such a good character.

55,077. William Featherstone, a paperhanger?—I do not remember the name.

Mr. A. Bannister.

22d July 1853.

55,078. You are not prepared to deny that, supposing he swears it?—Where did he live?

55,079. Edward Street?—I should think it is not unlikely, but he is not in my district.

55,080. He said he was paid 30*s.* at the Blue Bell?—We were rather careful not to interfere with our neighbours' districts, and I fancy, if in Edward Street, he did not belong to us, but he may have been paid.

55,081. He was in Dock Street then?—That I do not know; he was not one of my men, but I could not swear he was not.

55,082. Thomas Wellington, a turner?—I do not know him.

55,083. In 1841?—Here is Thomas Johnson in 1847, a cabinetmaker, in Mechanic Lane; I do not know anything at all about him. I knew a Thomas Johnson; I was not aware he was a cabinetmaker. There was a Thomas Johnson that went by the name of Potato Tom. I do not know if that is the man.

55,084. That is the man; he distinguished himself on the last occasion?—If that is the man, he was a runner in North Myton at that time, and would be paid at that time the same as the others.

55,085. Only mention those that you can deny?—This Johnson was one certainly that I do know. Here is David Pickard, of Barton,—I do not know anything of him.

55,086. Are you quite sure you did not pay him?—I could not say that, it is so long ago; it is impossible for me to remember it; it is not a name that is familiar to me; they would be familiar at the time.

55,087. If the man comes here, and swears that you did pay him, is he not more likely who had the money in his hands to be correct than you?—If he was speaking the truth he might, but there were many people on the list who said that I paid them who upon looking over, I am certain I did not.

55,088. You are positive you did not?—Yes. There is a man here, this Eskdale Moat at the last election—

55,089. Confine yourself to this for a moment: you are quite sure about the year 1847? Here is a name I know well, Robert Jarvis,—he was one of the party.

55,090. You did pay him?—I have no doubt about that,—I paid him among the others; he is a man I know, because he has been upon my list ever since I knew what elections meant. Then there are these Stathers.

55,091. How many?—Two of them I paid; and George Newmarch, he is one, and John North. Then there is John Walker, the basket maker, of Manchester, that is a mistake, I know nothing of the man, and I do not know that I should know him, if I saw him before me, although he seems to have cut so peculiar a figure within the last few days.

55,092. He does not say he was paid?—I do not know the man; I came here the other day to look at him but he was not here. I think I have gone through the whole of 1847; that is the whole I can remember,—yes, there are two others in 1847, I do not know either of them,—George Harper, and Henry S. Stephens.

55,093. You mean you merely do not remember?—I do not remember their names; I do not remember paying them anything.

55,094. But supposing that they were to swear positively that they received the money; that may be true? you would not undertake to pledge your oath equally strong against it?—I should not at this moment, unless I could get hold of the documents, and then I could, because they were of my own making out.

55,095. But in the absence of any documents?—I certainly could not. Those are 1847 that I have just given you.

55,096. You were also a very active partisan of one of the parties in 1847, at Mr. Brown's election?—Yes.

55,097. You were an active partisan for Mr. Brown?—Yes.

55,098. And I believe you voted for him?—Yes, and Mr. Clay,—no, I am mistaken,—I only voted for Mr. Brown in 1847.

55,099. And what committee were you upon?—I was upon the North Myton committee.

55,100. Which met also at the Blue Bell?—I think one of us met; whether it was the election before or not I cannot say; perhaps it would be the Blue Bell, I am not quite sure; at all events I was the chairman of the committee. I was either chairman or deputy chairman, but I think I was chairman at Mr. Brown's election.

55,101. Did you meet at the Blue Bell?—I think it was the Blue Bell.

55,102. Was the same mode of setting down names, as far as possible resorted to during that election, on that occasion?—Yes.

55,103. I believe you had only three days to get up the case?—I believe I had only two; I was at Whitby at the time attending the Whitby regatta, and they sent over for me to come over post haste, and I travelled all night and got here, and had only two days of it.

55,104. Was that the nomination day and the polling day?—Yes, I believe it was; I had only two days,—I know it was the Whitby regatta, and I had to come away in a great hurry.

55,105. Was the same man, Legitt, also employed by you?—He was.

55,106. How many names do you think were set down there?—I could not say at this moment; those papers and all the documents were given in to Mr. Digby. If he could furnish me with those things I could tell, but I should think, as near as I can tell, perhaps 150 in my own particular district, perhaps more, but speaking in round numbers I should say 150 or 160.

55,107. Were they set down upon the same understanding, that they were to vote for Brown and to be paid?—They were.

55,108. Not having got the papers, you cannot refer more particularly to them?—No

55,109. Did you attend the central committee?—I think I never was there but once, and then, I think, only for a few minutes.

55,100. How were they paid? part before, and part after?—I think they were,—yes, they were paid on the Saturday night.

55,111. Part of the sum they received was paid before, and part after?—I think in Brown's case they were all paid afterwards, because I had only two or three days, three days at the most, and I had no time pay; we were over head and ears.

55,112. Did you not pay the nomination night?—I think some were paid the nomination—No, they were paid the polling night—on the night after the polling; but I think none were paid on the nomination day; in fact, I am sure not, we never had time.

55,113. A few were paid the polling morning?—I think not, they were not paid on the morning; I think there were none paid then.

55,114. At what rate were they paid?—I think 30*s.*

55,115. Some had only 10*s.*?—I think the split votes had only 10*s.*,—or it might be a pound, I am am not quite sure; it is very awkward answering these things without documents.

55,116. Some have said they got 10*s.*, some 20*s.*, and some 30*s.*?—I should think the most likely story would be the 20*s.*; I think there are very few beyond that.

55,117. Those that spoke of the 20*s.* said that they got 10*s.* before and 10*s.* after they voted?—I think there is something wrong in that; I never paid any man before they voted.

55,118. Then they might have got it somewhere else?—I could not say that; I did not do it.

55,119. They might be paid by one candidate before and by the other candidate after?—I did not know of it.

55,120. Would that account for it, having voted for two candidates, that they would be paid by one before and one after?—I cannot account for it; there is a mistake in it, certainly. I have not the slightest recollection of one man being paid before, and I believe there never was from our committee or in our committee room.

55,121. You waited to ascertain if they voted for Brown?—No; not on that account. I told you the men I had, I knew them all, or I fancied I did, at all events; and I do not think any of them were runners; they came in and got their names put down.

55,122. Legitt said you paid the nomination day, and began to pay again the polling morning?—He is mistaken about that I am quite sure; there were none paid by us until after the election.

55,123. You paid after, I suppose, all the persons who had their names set down, provided they voted for Brown?—Yes; I paid everybody who had their names set down, provided they voted for Brown.

55,124. How much money do you think passed through your hands?—Perhaps 200*l.*, but I would not say at this moment.

55,125. During these two elections, Legitt had acquired some pretty good experience about how electioneering business was carried on?—Legitt was a man always willing to work; he unfortunately could neither read nor write; he could only look out for sailors, or men of that description, or people of his class.

55,126. A sort of go-between?—No; I should not say he was a go-between.

55,127. Was he not considered that way?—He was useful; he was a man who would canvass the sailors or anybody you sent him to.

55,128. He was a trustworthy man?—I should trust him anything as far as electioneering matters are concerned.

55,129. Was he present when a good many people were paid?—I should think when the whole of them were paid.

55,130. From that he would derive a knowledge of Hull elections?—He knew them. Every man was called over, and when he was called over he was paid from a book; there was no secret in the matter, every man was paid that was put down.

55,131. The only secret is that we cannot get the books?—I am sorry for it; I would much rather that the thing was thoroughly sifted; as far as I am concerned I have no secrets to keep back, and I do not care a farthing about it.

55,132. Did you hear from the other members of the committee altogether how much was spent for runners?—No; I have seen it since in the newspapers. I do not know whether it is true. I had nothing to do with the management of it. I did not like the party we were among, and I never went near them.

55,133. They were not all of your own colour?—No, they were not.

55,134. You were not here at the breaking out of the contest?—No, I was not.

Mr. A. Bannister.

22d July 1853.

55,135. It has been stated that some parties were extremely anxious—the blue party—to get a candidate, and wrote to Sir Robert Inglis, and he furnished a list of names of eligible people. Do you know how that was?—I was not in the secret, nor never heard of such a thing. I was not at home.

55,136. You had been absent from home previous?—Yes; previous to Mr. Brown coming out; in fact, when I got the message at Whitby that morning to say that there was a Conservative candidate out, and they begged me to come immediately, I took a post chaise, and came home, and I was here two days before the election. I know nothing of who fetched him and where he came from.

55,137. There was a question I omitted to ask you as to 1841. It has been said that in 1841 a great number of persons were paid, and they have stated themselves that they received the money in dark passages and through holes in doors; did you hear of that after the election? Those are payments made some time after the election?—I never heard of it until I saw it in the newspapers, and I do not believe, as far as we are concerned, it was so. I will swear that nobody ever got a farthing through a hole in door or anywhere else in our district; that I will swear,—never one man.

55,138. It did not take place in your district?—That it certainly did not.

55,139. You had no knowledge of the others?—I had plenty to do to manage my own business without looking after other people's.

55,140. In your district the payments were made more openly?—There was no secret in the matter; everybody that came could have his name set down, and everybody that liked was paid; there was no mistake about it.

55,141. In 1852, we hear that you allowed Legitt the use of a room?—I did. I lent him the use of a room which I had under my care, and for which I charged nothing.

55,142. You were not a member of any committee?—I was not, nor never asked a man for a vote the whole election, that I can safely swear.

55,143. Did you vote?—I voted myself; I voted for Clay and Bramley Moore.

55,144. You were not a member of any committee?—I was not.

55,145. And did you not canvass at all?—Not a single soul; I only regret that I did not. I have had the credit of it over and over again, and if I had known as much then as I know now, I would have canvassed.

55,146. Perhaps if you had, things would have been different?—I should not say that; I do not take any credit to myself; but if I had known as much then as I know now, I would have done it. I am willing to bear anything that is put upon my back, but I am certain that not a soul was asked by me for a vote.

55,147. Just explain the transaction between Legitt and yourself about the room?—Legitt was generally with me, as you elicited this morning, upon previous elections; and I not taking any active part in the matter, Legitt came to me to ask me if he could be of any service to the cause. I told him I did not intend to interfere, but that I would recommend him to the general committee; he did so, and he got up a committee of his own, and I was responsible to the general committee for his honesty in money matters.

55,148. State to us how the communication took place between you and the general committee; you recommended him?—Yes, I did.

55,149. Was that by writing?—I think not, but I am not quite sure.

55,150. Did you see Mr. Ward?—When the matter was first mentioned I saw Mr. Wells, and it was distinctly understood.

55,151. Give it us in order: the thing that first took place relating to it was Legitt's application to you?—Yes.

55,152. Volunteering his services?—Yes,—volunteering his services.

55,153. What is the next thing that occurred?—Then I wrote or sent a message to Mr. Wells, stating that he was a useful fellow.

55,154. You either wrote or saw Mr. Wells?—I would not swear at this moment which it was; I either wrote or saw him; at all events, Legitt, in consequence, had the management of that place; he was the chairman for anything I know.

55,155. What took place between you and Mr. Wells?—Merely this: I said that Legitt was a likely man, and had always assisted me, and they had better put him somewhere in some place where he might assist them and be useful.

55,156. What was Mr. Wells' answer?—I forget exactly what his answer was, but he had no objection, if I thought so, to employ him. I told him that I would be answerable for any expenses he might go to.

55,157. Mr. Wells said he had no objection?—Yes.

55,158. Provided you could be answerable for his honesty?—Yes; and I was answerable for his honesty. I do not know that those were the words used particularly, perhaps it might be so, but in substance they were the same.

55,159. It was to the effect that he had no objection, provided you could be answerable for his honesty?—Yes,—that he was a good man.

55,160. Is that all that took place at the time between you and Mr. Wells?—Yes; and then I let him have the house.

55,161. Is that all that took place then?—Yes, that is all.

55,162. What was the date of that?—Upon my word, I cannot tell you.

55,163. How long before the election?—I should think perhaps a fortnight, from that to three weeks, but I cannot recollect exactly.

55,164. Was the sum named that you were to be responsible for?—No legitimate expenses; he was merely to have the money.

55,165. Were the words "legitimate expenses" used?—Yes; that any money he might want to carry on the concern, I was answerable for the amount. I got it and handed it over to Legitt and my clerk.

55,166. We want the conversation between you and Mr. Wells?—I have given you the whole of it.

55,167. Do you say anything was said as to how the money was to be applied?—I am quite certain I had nothing to do with how the money was to be applied.

55,168. Are you quite sure, upon that occasion, that nothing was said as to what the money was for?—Certainly, I do not think it was named. All that I had to do was to be responsible that he was a good man, and would attend to and do his duty properly, that I knew him well and knew he would do.

55,169. You said you would trust him just now?—I would trust him. I should be quite safe in trusting him; he is a very decent fellow.

55,170. And you went and told Legitt?—Yes; I think I either told Legitt or my clerk. I think I told Legitt, but I was a good deal engaged at that time.

55,171. What is it you said to Legitt?—I told him he might have that room; it was at his use, and that I had then done with him, and he was to do the best he could for the cause.

55,172. Is that all that you said to him?—Yes; upon that occasion.

55,173. Did you see him again about money?—Yes.

55,174. What was the next time that you saw him?—I think the next time was on the Saturday night when he brought his account in for his weekly expenses.

55,175. What took place then?—I sent it to the central committee by my clerk, and he got the money. I dare say he can tell you more about the money than I can; the account went in with my clerk to the central committee, to Mr. Wells, and I think he paid the money, but who he got it from I do not know.

55,176. Your clerk, Mr. Wride?—Yes.

55,177. Do you remember what the first sum was that was paid to Legitt?—I think the first sum that was paid was not much.

55,178. Was it 20*l.*?—No; I think it was under that considerably. I could not say at this moment. I did not keep the accounts; they went away directly, but I think it was somewhere about 6*l.* or 7*l.*, I did not look it over; I handed it over to Mr. Wells, and I think he paid the money, but I am not sure.

55,179. It was 6*l.* or 7*l.*?—I think that was the first payment, and I think the second was 50*l.*

55,180. But was there not an intervening one of 20*l.* or 25*l.*?—No; I do not recollect it,—that 50*l.* I do not think I got; I believe my clerk got it; in fact, I feel sure I did not get it, because his account was 70*l.*

55,181. Does that letter addressed to you refer to the second sum, the sum of 50*l.*, the word "forty" being in by mistake for "fifty" (handing a letter to the witness)?—I do not recollect that I ever saw this letter. Is this a copy of it?

55,182. No; it is the draft of the letter from Mr. Wells to you.—Then this explains what I did not know.

55,183. The only mistake is that the word "forty" is put instead of "fifty"?—I think myself, I fancy, the account was 70*l.*; it just passed through my hands, and I really cannot say. I know the money was sent short of what the account was, and I sent it back again to say they were not to bother me with the thing; if they could not arrange the thing with Legitt that I would have nothing more to do with it.

55,184. The account was 70*l.*?—I think it was, and if this 40*l.* is right, it must have been 60*l.*, because I know it was 20*l.* short.

55,185. The 40*l.* is not right,—it should be 50*l.*?—Yes, I think it should. I think it was 50*l.*, and I believe the account was sent. I have not seen Mr. Wells' evidence upon that point, but I think it was 50*l.*

55,186. Mr. Wells' statement is this,—that the account sent in was 70*l.*, and that he sent 50*l.* on account?—I believe he did. I think 50*l.* was the money that came; it was short of what the account was. My clerk was in at the time, and took the money.

55,187. Did you examine the account?—I never did.

55,188. Did you receive the money?—I think not; it was when I came into the office the clerk said Mr. Wells had brought this money. My clerk and Mr. Wells had been talking this matter over. He said in his evidence that he handed it to me. I believe he did not hand it to me; I believe my clerk told me when I came in that Mr. Wells had brought the money, but it was short of the amount required, and, in consequence, I recollect telling them that if they bothered me again with it in any way, I would give up the whole thing and have nothing more to do with it.

55,189. You believe the money went to your clerk?—Yes. Mr. Wells says he gave it to me, but I do not think he did.

55,190. It is a little inaccuracy?—It makes very little difference.

55,191. Are you quite sure that you did not see the account?—I saw the account, but I did not look it over. I said, "How much do you want? what is the amount?" and I then sent it at once to head-quarters, and that is all I know about it.

Mr. A. Bannister.

22d July 1853.

55,192. What is the next thing that took place?—I do not know that there was anything further took place until after the election, and then I think there was something else to pay. That account went in to Mr. Wells, and was paid. I never saw the accounts. I never saw what money was asked for, and I did not pay it. I know nothing about it. There was a balance, I know, but what it was I do not remember.

55,193. Do you remember how much it was?—No, I do not; my clerk will be able to tell you, I dare say. I did not get it, and therefore I know nothing about it. I am now alluding to the payments after the election.

55,194. Are you sure that there was not another sum of 20*l.* or 30*l.* before the election?—I do not recollect that there was; I am not sure whether there was. I know the accounts were kept regularly. My clerk kept the accounts, because Legitt could not write; and he would be better able to answer that question.

55,195. Do you know whether your clerk kept any particulars of the accounts?—I do not know that he did. I should fancy that he did not.

55,196. Did it pass into any book of yours?—No; the thing did not come into my office. I would not allow a voter to come into my office. I said, let them go in next door. I would have nothing to do with it, and I would not give a man an answer, or answer a single question.

55,197. Legitt was acting exclusively for Moore and Butler?—No doubt of it; it was Moore and Butler's committee room.

55,198. Did you ever go into that room until after the election was over?—I never went into it at all; never once.

55,199. Lidgard said that the only condition was that he was not to destroy the house; he told us that a great many times?—I was steward for the house; it was not my property; it was empty, and the only thing I required was that he did not do any mischief, and it was solely at his use and disposal.

55,200. After the election was over, did you not pay some few parties?—Not a halfpenny to any soul living.

55,201. Were you present when any parties were paid?—No.

55,202. Paid for travelling expenses? Were any travelling expenses paid in your presence?—Not a farthing; I never saw any money paid.

55,203. Do you know John Simley, of Barton?—If he said that he saw them paid in my presence, he is not speaking the truth.

55,204. You neither paid him yourself, nor was he paid in your presence?—I never paid him nor any other living soul. I said so; and I never saw anybody paid.

55,205. Neither at a committee room nor anywhere else?—I was never in a committee room but once, and that was in North Myton, and that was the night of the candidates speaking in North Myton. Some of my constituents had called me to account for having deserted the colour: I came in as Conservative in that district, and I went down that night with the candidates,—at least not with the candidates, but after the candidates,—and I addressed my constituents from the window. The moment I had finished I left the committee room, and I never was in another committee room afterwards.

55,206. You mean your municipal constituents?—Yes; my municipal constituents.

55,207. At that time, I believe, you were mayor?—Yes, I was; and that was the only time I was ever in a committee room, and then I should not have gone but that they said I had run my colour, and I knew that I had not.

55,208. You said that you saw Mr. Wells, and had this conversation which you have related about this room, and about Legitt being a good man, and so on, with Mr. Wells?—I believe I did.

55,209. Did you afterwards see Mr. Ward about Lidgard's room?—I think I did see Mr. Ward. I think I met Mr. Ward in the street somewhere near his office, and I mentioned to him that Lidgard, or Legitt I think his name is, required employment, and that he was going to have a committee room to himself, and I think that is all that took place.

55,210. When did you mention that to Mr. Ward?—I think it was the same morning that I saw Mr. Wells.

55,211. Did Mr. Ward ask where the room was to be had, or did you tell him?—I did not tell him anything, and I do not think he asked.

55,212. Do you remember telling Mr. Ward that you were never at the central committee room at all?—I never was there once, that I know of.

55,213. Where was it that this conversation passed with Mr. Wells?—It was, I think, at Mr. Wells' own office, but I am not quite sure.

55,214. You went there for the purpose?—Yes; I went there, no doubt, for the purpose to tell him that Legitt required employment; and after I put them together I had nothing more to do with it.

55,215. A word or two upon the 1847 election: Mr. Brown, we understand, was very late?—So I believe; very late. I never saw him until two days before the election, and then I only saw him once during the whole time.

55,216. You say you made no payments in 1852, so I make no reference to that?—Not a farthing.

55,217. In 1847 did you pay some Barton men?—I think not.

55,218. Not any?—I do not remember any Barton men; they always used to go to the central committee.

55,219. John Percival?—I do not know his name.

55,220. William Ayre?—I do not know his name. I think that is some mistake about the Barton men; I think they went to the central committee. All the out-voters were sent to the central committee; if there is an exception, I do not remember it.

55,221. Thomas Gower?—I do not know him.

55,222. You would know all the names?—I could not say that. I say there were perhaps 160; but who they were, or what they were, I do not know at this moment, unless I can see the papers.

55,223. Long, of Barton, 40*s.* for a room?—No; we never had a committee room in Brown's election; we had none of these sham committee rooms that are talked about; we had no occasion for them.

55,224. That is the sort of room I mean?—I do not know that we had any at Brown's election. It is the first time that I heard of them, this last election.

55,225. Your experience does not carry you back to that kind of room before this last election?—We never had such a thing before.

55,226. I do not know whether you made all your payments at the Blue Bell?—I think I did.

55,227. You have a good deal of knowledge of elections in Hull,—do you think if you had plenty of money you could win any election?—I think we could win it without money, if we had fair play.

55,228. But do you think, if you had plenty of money, that you could do it?—We could have won it at Brown's election if there had been fair play, but there was not.

55,229. My question is,—do you think with plenty of money you could win a Hull election?—I should not like to say that; it depends upon the candidate, whether he is a popular man or not.

55,230. I wish to ask the question, whether, if you had an unlimited command of money, you think you could win any election in Hull?—I do not think we could.

55,231. Why not?—It depends upon the man. You could not bring Old Harry out and put him up; they would not have him.

55,232. Supposing you were a candidate?—I think if I was a candidate it would be very ridiculous, therefore I should not try it; but I think I could get in without spending a halfpenny; but, at all events, I should never try.

55,233. I am supposing an ordinary candidate?—I do not think an ordinary candidate could get in if he had all the world in money.

55,234. An average man?—I do not think he could; I do not think money would get a man in if people did not like him.

55,235 But I am supposing a fair average man, as to his political views; do not you think, then, that the command of money would secure his election?—I have said I do not think it would.

55,236. You say, because he would be disliked?—If the man was a popular man like Mr. Baines: they brought Mr. Baines in, and I do not think at one election it cost him anything.

55,237. Which election was that?—In 1849, when he was made president of the Poor Law Board.

55,238. Then there was no contest.—That is the reason, because he was a popular man, and they did not oppose him.

55,239. How should you propose to get in without any money—what you call a fair election?—If neither side spent any money, do you mean?

55,240. I want you to tell me?—I am of opinion, if at the last election neither side spent any money, that Mr. Bramley Moore would have been at the head of the poll; that is my opinion. I believe that both Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Clay would have been the members for Hull; they were the popular men until the night before the election; there is not a shadow of doubt about it.

55,241. You voted for Mr. Clay last time?—I did; because he was a good man; he had worked hard for the town. He is not of my politics, and I told him so; but I voted for him because he was a working man.

55,242. I gather from you, that you wanted to have one and one?—I did not care about his politics, as long as he was a good man.

55,243. You voted one and one?—Yes; I voted for Mr. Moore because he was known to some friends of mine in Liverpool; and I voted for Mr. Clay because I considered he was a good man, and a useful man in the town of Hull; and I would vote for him to-morrow, if it was necessary, if I considered he had done the town a service.

55,244. You do not think then, that if one party spends money, and the other does not, that there would be any doubt as to the result?—I believe if one party was to spend money, and the other not, that the party who spent the money would be the party to return the candidates.

55,245. Whatever side the politics were?—Whatever side the politics were.

55,246. Then again, if one side spent more money than the other—had they both spent money, but one had spent more than the other,—do you think that the one that spends the most money, in that case, would come in?—That is a matter to which I should hardly be able to give an answer. I should think the man who spent the most money would buy himself in; there are a certain number of men that can be bought by the highest bidder.

Mr. A. Bannister.

22d July 1853.

55,247. And that certain number who vote for money would turn an election?—No doubt of it.

55,248. I dare say you agree that, supposing there had been as many Legitts as there were wards, Mr. Bramley Moore would have come in?—No, I do not think that; I think Legitt managed his business very badly, from what I have heard since that took place.

55,249. In what respect?—I think he did not take care to be discreet enough.

55,250. In what respect?—That the people he put down as runners, the men who were afterwards paid, he did not sufficiently understand the nature of these people, to prevent their running away from him, as I see many ran away from him by the newspapers; I was not aware of it.

55,251. He did not do his business well?—No.

55,252. You said that you paid away about 200*l.* at the 1847 election?—I could not say exactly, but as near as I can remember.

55,253. Who did you have the money from?—Mr. Digby.

55,254. You had it all from him?—Every farthing.

55,255. You think it did not exceed 200*l.*?—I beg your pardon—I had some from Mr. Burstall; he was the managing committee man at the time; it did not come from Mr. Digby, it came from Mr. Burstall.

55,256. I believe Mr. Burstall had it from Mr. Digby?—Yes; it came from Mr. Burstall to me; I was at the moment thinking that Mr. Digby had the management.

55,257. You say you are anxious that this should be sifted to the bottom?—Yes, I am.

55,258. Then tell me this: supposing that the papers upon which the names were set down in 1841 and 1847 have been destroyed, can you tell us any person, or any method by which we could get at the names?—Upon my word I cannot—I cannot indeed; I have no idea where the papers are any more than the man in the moon.

55,259. Supposing a new election to come, would it not be very desirable, for the purpose of the canvass, that you should know who are the persons who want money?—No, I do not think it is: I think if a new election were to take place to-morrow, the whole concern would have to be gone over again; and I believe the Radicals spent so much money the last election, that unless there was a thorough revision, it would be utterly impossible to tell who the men were that wanted money, and who did not.

55,260. Supposing such a revision were to be made, who would make it upon your side?—The district committee men who had the management of it.

55,261. Would they, on looking at their canvass books, be able to say who were likely and who were not?—I do not think that they would.

55,262. Would you in your district?—No.

55,263. Would you know one?—Yes, I should know one man who wanted buying.

55,264. How many should you say?—It is impossible to say.

55,265. Should you say any large number?—I should; but they changed about from the different districts.

55,266. Supposing the same men were living in the same districts that they were at the last election?—I do not know about the last election; I think for the previous election—

55,267. For the previ us election there are some?—Yes; I think I could find a few.

55,268. If your canvass books were given to you, by looking at the list you would be able to point out the men?—I do not think I should; I should be obliged to call upon them at first.

55,269. You would know where it was desirable to call?—We call upon everybody.

55,270. Would you be able to make any guess?—If I saw a man, I could tell by his movements whether he intended to be paid.

55,271. Without seeing the men, but seeing the book?—I could take a few, but they alter so.

55,272. You do not know anybody on your side that could, in your judgment?—I do not know who has taken an active part. There was a time that I could have found out who wanted paying, but that is long ago.

55,273. You think that the active man of your party ought to be able to tell?—I do not know who he is.

55,274. But you think that the active man ought to be able to do it?—In each district he ought to be able, particularly those he canvassed.

55,275. Do you think Mr. Steeple ought to be able?—It is not exactly in Mr. Steeple's way. He is more a colourman. He used to be what you call the colour-major in days of yore.

55,276. Do you think that Mr. Fowler could do it? He is the registration agent.—I cannot answer for Mr. Fowler. He had better answer the question for himself.

55,277. I want you to answer it?—I should think that Mr. Fowler might.

55,278. Do not you think that Mr. Wells could?—I should think that he is the most unlikely man to do it.

55,279. Cannot you tell anybody?—I cannot, I have no idea who is the most likely man. I know in my own district some years ago I could tell; but I have not thought much about it lately. I should have to go all over it again.

55,280. These papers are said to have been destroyed. We must have the names, and therefore unless somebody on your side can give it us, we shall be obliged to take some very unusual mode to get at them?—As far as I am concerned, if I had them, you should have them in a moment. If I knew where they were I would tell you.

Mr. A. Bannister.

22d July 1853

55,281. But I ask you how we can get them?—Has Mr. Digby been examined?

55,282. No.—Then he will most likely tell you where they are.

55,283. When you gave permission to Legitt to make use of this room I presume, you thought he would have done his work better than he did do it, from the experience he had of 1847?—Yes; many men make servants when they will not make leaders.

55,284. You expected that he would have set down as many names as he could, and have kept them together?—I expected he would have been careful as to who he did set down and who he engaged. He cannot even read or write, and therefore I excuse him.

55,285. You had no doubt what the room was to be used for?—For a committee room.

55,286. For setting down names?—For general election purposes. It was used for every purpose that there was.

55,287. For what other purpose would Legitt use it?—He could not set down names himself. He could not write.

55,288. But he had a man to set them down who could write?—Yes; he had a man.

55,289. And you knew he was setting down names during the election?—Yes, everybody knew that, and it is quite proverbial. The same on all sides; everybody was setting down names.

55,290. You knew Mr. Wilde?—I did not know him until the other day somebody pointed him out to me upon the Dock Side.

55,291. You knew of his room?—No, I did not; except that I saw it in the papers. The extent of my walks during the election was from my own office to the Mansion House.

Mr. JOHN BOULDERSON BARKWORTH sworn, and examined.

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

55,292. Do you carry on business in this town in partnership with your brother?—Yes.

55,293. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder for this borough?—Since 1839, I believe.

55,294. Are you also a freeman?—Yes.

55,295. How long have you been free?—Since 1839.

55,296. You took up your freedom and your occupation at the same time?—Yes.

55,297. My last question was, how long you had been entitled to vote as a householder?—I am sure I do not know.

55,298. How long have you occupied premises of the value of 10*l.*?—Since 1847, or 1846, I think.

55,299. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—I did; I took an interest in it.

55,300. Who did you vote for?—James and Hanmer.

55,301. Were you a member of any committee?—No.

55,302. Did you take any other interest beyond that of voting?—No; except, of course, I wished them to be successful.

55,303. Did you take any active part as a partisan?—No.

55,304. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

55,305. Did you take any part beyond voting?—No.

55,306. As a member of any committee, or canvassing, or in any other manner, except voting?—No.

55,307. In 1852, you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

55,308. And was a member also of the central committee?—No, I was not.

55,309. What committee were you a member of?—None.

55,310. This time you exerted yourself very actively, I believe, for Moore and Butler? Yes; I was very anxious that the orange party should be opposed, and I took all the measures I was capable of to secure two candidates on the other side.

55,311. What was the beginning of your exertions to get a second candidate?—The beginning was going up to London, and going to the Carlton club.

55,312. When was that?—That was in the beginning of June.

55,313. Were you in company with Mr. Harris?—Yes.

55,314. All the time?—Yes.

55,315. He gave the date the 19th of June?—I believe it was the 8th of June; I made a mistake about the month, it was the first few days in June. I believe Mr. Butler's address was issued on the 8th of June.

55,316. Did you go up with Mr. Harris in the first instance?—I did.

55,317. And remained all the time that he did?—I do not know that I stayed in London so long; I stayed in London up to the end of the negotiations with Mr. Butler.

55,318. What is your recollection of those negotiations?—Merely that we were introduced to him by Colonel Forester, and asked him if he was willing to become a candidate,

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

22d July 1853.

and he asked what conditions would have to be engaged for. We told him that he would have to be responsible for 1,200*l.*, and he said he was agreeable to do it.

55,319. Did he seem surprised at the smallness of the sum?—No, not at all; he seemed quite satisfied.

55,320. Did you judge that he was aware of the system of having runners?—By no means; I was not aware of it myself; I never took the trouble to inquire.

55,321. Do you mean that you were not aware of it yourself?—No.

55,322. You say you were not aware of the system at this time?—No.

55,323. Was Mr. Butler in your presence, and, to your knowledge, told of the practice that he had prevailed in Hull of setting down names?—Oh dear, no; nothing was ever mentioned of the sort.

55,324. As far as you are aware, was he kept in the dark up to the last?—I do not think there was the slightest wish to keep him in the dark.

55,325. He might have been kept in the dark without any intention?—He might.

55,326. He might have been kept in the dark without any wish, by taking it for granted that he knew that which all the rest knew?—I do not think anybody thought there was anything of sufficient consequence to keep in the dark; there was nothing to trouble him with.

55,327. It was a matter of course?—I do not know that it was a matter of course, because I did not know of it myself.

55,328. We talk of other people: as far as other people were concerned, they seemed to treat it as a matter of course?—I never heard it mentioned. I do not say in the course of the election I never heard such a thing mentioned.

55,329. How soon did you hear it?—Perhaps, during a day or two before the election I heard it was necessary to have more runners got.

55,330. Was that the first that you heard of the system?—It might not be, but I cannot say.

55,331. The 30th of June has been fixed by the minute book as the day upon which a very large increase of runners took place: did you become acquainted with it then?—No, certainly not; I was not on any committee.

55,332. You were aware of the fact?—I certainly was aware of the fact that runners were necessarily engaged.

55,333. That being so, and you having been the person who brought Mr. Butler down, did you communicate that fact to him?—No, I did not; I never mentioned it to him.

55,334. Then so far as you are aware, he was kept in the dark?—I am not aware that he was kept in the dark.

55,335. Then who told him? he was either told or kept in the dark?—There is a difference, in my opinion, between a man being purposely kept in the dark——

55,336. I did not say purposely.—I think people would just as soon have told him as not; but it was not to my knowledge that he was so.

55,337. I want to get the facts, not opinions. Was he told or was he not?—Not to my knowledge.

55,338. Not even after you became aware of it, a few days before the election?—Certainly not by me, and not to my knowledge by anybody else.

55,339. So far as you have heard, was it ever communicated to him?—Most certainly not.

55,340. Did you pay any money yourself?—No; beyond paying my subscription.

55,341. You did pay a subscription?—Of course.

55,342. How early did you agree to subscribe?—In March, I think; as soon as ever the contest was talked of.

55,343. How much was your subscription?—£50.

55,344. When was it paid?—I cannot say, exactly; I should think in June. It might be before the election; I should think it was.

55,345. How long do you think it was before the election?—I am not quite sure whether it was all before or partly afterwards, but I should say perhaps about June; some time about June, but I really cannot say.

55,346. The election was in July; you would not have so much difficulty in coming to a conclusion?—I am not sure whether it was paid in one amount or two. I have no doubt part of it would be paid before the election, perhaps all.

55,347. Whom did you pay it to?—I rather think to my brother, who was a sort of cashier to Mr. Ward.

55,348. Did you not make some payment besides?—I collected a good part of the subscriptions, and paid them over in the same way.

55,349. How much did you collect?—Perhaps 600*l.* or 700*l.*

55,350. The sum of £711, it has been stated, you collected; is that correct?—It very likely is. I was not aware it was so accurately known; very possibly; I should not dispute it.

55,351. It is an entry in Mr. Ward's book, "Bond Street."—Very likely.

55,352. Does your firm go by the name of Barkworth and Sons?—No; Barkworth and Spaldin.

55,353. Mr. Ward's entry is, "Bond Street, 711*l.*"—I know nothing about Mr. Ward's entries.

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

22d July 1853.

55,354. Would that be so?—Very likely it might be.

55,355. Did you know, at the time you subscribed, that your money was not to be applied to the purposes of the election until the sum of 2,400*l.* was exhausted?—I know that was agreed upon.

55,356. That was to be exhausted before your money was to be used?—It was settled so in writing, I believe.

55,357. Who has that writing?—I have it.

55,358. Will you produce it?—Yes.

(The following document was produced by the witness and read.)

"Hull, 20th April 1852.

"We, the undersigned, hereby agree to become responsible for the sums to which our names are affixed, for the purpose of contesting two seats for Hull in the Conservative interest, in the event of two candidates of opposite principles being brought forward, whether Whig, Radical, or Peelite.

"The sum subscribed not to be called for, either in whole or in part, until after the expenditure of the funds to be provided for the conservative Candidates, (any second candidate furnishing not less than 750*l.* as his proportion of such funds); and as soon as 1,500*l.* is subscribed for on this paper, a committee of three subscribers to be appointed to collect the money, when and as it may appear necessary, and to regulate the expenditure thereof.

"But, nevertheless, if, from any special cause, it is deemed by the Conservative body at large inexpedient to bring forward more than one candidate in the Conservative interest, this subscription is then to be applicable to the expenses of a contest, if such should occur.

"Fewster Wilkinson, 250*l.*; Charles Whitaker, sen., 50*l.*; John Hewitson, 20*l.*; Sophia Broadley, 100*l.*; Thomas Barkworth, 50*l.*; Charles Liddell, 50*l.*; Thomas B. Lock, 50*l.*; Thomas Ward, 50*l.*; S. H. Egginton, 50*l.*; John Egginton, 50*l.*; Charles Whitaker, jun., 50*l.*; Henry Barkworth, 50*l.*; Charles Bamford, jun., 50*l.*; Joseph Gee, 100*l.*; Jose R. Pease, 100*l.*; Mr. Beadle, 100*l.*; J. B. Barkworth, 50*l.*; Charles Bamford, 50*l.*"

55,359. The sum that the candidates were to pay is not mentioned in that paper?—Yes; I rather think it is 1,200*l.* for the first, and at least 750*l.* for the second.

55,360. It says, "The sum subscribed not to be called for either in whole or in part until after the expenditure of the funds to be provided by the Conservative candidates themselves, (any second candidate furnishing not less than 750*l.*, as his proportion of such funds)". How much was it understood the gross sum was to be? The sum to be expended by the candidates is not named.—Allow me to look at it.

55,361. It may be the result of some subsequent arrangement?—Whether it was mentioned or not it was understood among the people who originated it.

55,362. Did all the parties who subscribed to that know that their money was not to come into play until 2,400*l.* was expended?—They could not, according to this paper.

55,363. Still they understood it?—I dare say a good many of them did.

55,364. The majority of them?—Yes; I should say so.

55,365. You understood it?—Yes, exactly; at the same time it would not be acted upon, because our subscriptions would be paid as soon as the candidates.

55,366. Because at that time it was very soon known that the whole sum would be required?—I do not think it was; that was a fund in case of necessity.

55,367. After the second candidate did come forward, it very soon became obvious that the whole money would be called up and would be wanted?—I believe so; I had nothing to do with the management of the funds.

55,368. You had very little doubt that the money would be soon wanted and have to be paid?—Yes.

55,369. And you thought you might as well pay it at once and have done with it?—Yes.

55,370. And the other subscribers thought so too?—Yes.

55,371. Have you any other papers?—No.

55,372. Was Mr. Bramley Moore a candidate before the date of this letter of the 13th of February?—No; in consequence of this letter. (The following letter was produced and read.)

"Confidential."

"My Dear Sir, "Carlton Club, February 13th, 1852.

I have been making inquiries since the receipt of your letter on the subject of the representation of Hull, and it appears to me that Mr. Bramley Moore, an eminent merchant, and chairman, I believe, of the Chamber of Commerce at Liverpool, would be the most suitable candidate for such a constituency. I am not certain whether his name has not been suggested to your party at Hull, but in any case I can most strongly recommend him to you.

"Yours truly,

"W. C. Forester."

55,373. Do you know how any of the other funds were provided?—I believe both the candidates gave 1,200*l.*

55,374. Did you understand whether it was their own money?—Decidedly their own money.

55,375. You always understood Mr. Butler's was?—No doubt of it.

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

22d July 1853.

55,376. And Mr. Moore's?—Mr. Bramley Moore's, too.

55,377. Mr. Moore was always considered a man of station, to whom 1,200*l.* would not be a very great object?—No object at all, I should think.

55,378. Did you hand over any money to Mr. Henry Whytal Walker?—I do not know him.

55,379. Then you mean that you did not?—Certainly not.

55,380. Did you give, besides that, 50*l.* in money to anybody at all?—No; except as I say, I received a good part of the subscriptions and paid them over.

55,381. Those you paid in a lump?—Yes.

55,382. You did not make any disbursements out of the subscriptions, of any sort or kind?—No.

55,383. Did you pay any clerks or messengers?—No.

55,384. Did you pay any runners?—No.

55,385. Or doorkeepers?—I paid nobody whatever.

55,386. Did you canvass?—I certainly did in several instances, but not systematically.

55,387. Did you canvass John Hughes?—Not that I know of.

55,388. He keeps a public house, the Black Swan, in Princes Street?—I canvassed that man through our work people, two or three of our work people; I did not go to him myself; he promised faithfully to vote for the blue party, until a day or two before the election.

55,389. In the early part we hear that he had an orange flag out of his window?—He had on the election day.

55,390. And for a considerable time before it was changed to a blue?—No; if he ever had a flag he changed from the blue side to the orange; a suspicious case I thought it was.

55,391. It has been said that he had an orange flag, and that he changed it to a blue?—It was quite the reverse.

55,392. It might be the reverse afterwards, he might have gone back to his first love?—I do not recollect that he had an orange flag at all.

55,393. Was it after that that you canvassed him?—I sent somebody to him a week, perhaps, before the election.

55,394. At that time had he an orange flag?—Not that I know of.

55,395. It is near your office?—Yes; I know who you mean perfectly well.

55,396. It is exactly opposite?—Yes; exactly opposite.

55,397. And you probably would be a person to judge whether he had an orange flag or a blue?—If I have a perfect recollection, he never had a flag at all until the orange flag was hoisted on the election day.

55,398. How long was that before the election?—He put it up the election morning.

55,399. Your belief is that he had no flag at all?—My belief is that he had no flag.

55,400. Did you canvass him personally?—No.

55,401. Did he promise you to vote blue?—He promised my man.

55,402. What man was that?—I cannot remember; some foreman, perhaps.

55,403. Did you send him then canvassing?—I sent him to Mr. Hughes.

55,404. Were your men in the habit of frequenting his public house?—Yes; I believe so, more or less for refreshment and liquor during the day.

55,405. Did you express a desire that they should make use of that as an argument to get his vote?—Oh dear, no, not the least.

55,406. Did you express any desire that your men should not use his house if he did not vote blue?—Oh dear, no.

55,407. Anything of the sort?—No.

55,408. Did you tell your foreman to tell him so?—No.

55,409. That if he did not vote blue you would tell your men to give up the use of his house?—No.

55,410. Anything of the sort?—Nothing of the sort.

55,411. Did you in any way express a desire that your men should not frequent his house?—Not in any way whatever.

55,412. After the election was over did you express any desire to anybody at all that your men should not frequent his house?—No.

55,413. Do you know that, in point of fact, a good many of them have abstained?—Not the least. I do not know whether they go there or not; I should think they do.

55,414. Have you not heard that?—Not at all.

55,415. You knew before that they did frequent his house?—I have known for years that our men, that public house being near, have been in the habit of going there for something to drink, and may do so still.

55,416. Do not you know that they have done so less since the election took place?—I do not.

55,417. Not one way or the other?—Not one way or the other.

55,418. If they have done it, has it been owing to anything you have said?—I have said nothing.

55,419. Then, you say no?—I say no.

55,420. Do you know a person of the name of James Marshall?—I do not remember anybody of that name; I may know the man.

55,421. Of Trinity House Lane?—Yes; he is a blacksmith.

55,422. Did you canvass him?—Yes; I did.

55,423. Did you make some little promise to him?—Certainly not.

55,424. Are you sure of it?—Sure of it.

55,425. Did you hold out any prospect to him in case of voting?—None whatever.

55,426. Did you discharge any of your men shortly after the election, on account of their votes?—No; not on account of their votes.

55,427. John Tassell?—John Tassell absented himself of his own accord, and went to Mr. Blundell.

55,428. Was John Tassell employed by you previous to the election?—I believe so.

55,429. Have you employed him since?—No; because he has absented himself.

55,430. You did employ him before, and have not done so since?—Not afterwards.

55,431. Why not?—Because he absented himself and went to Mr. Blundell.

55,432. Before he went to Mr. Blundell? when did you understand he went to Mr. Blundell?—John Tassell, I should say, perhaps, I do not know by sight at all myself, but I have taken a good deal of trouble about his case, because it was brought before this court, John Tassell voted for the orange party after having promised the blue side, and after that he never came near the foreman nor asked him for any work whatever; on the contrary, he went out of Hull for some days, and immediately on his return to Hull he was taken into Mr. Blundell's service.

55,433. Do you understand, from the time of the election until he went into Mr. Blundell's employment, that he was constantly absent from Hull? Is that what you have understood?—Yes, it is.

55,434. Did you understand at that time that he was absent?—I knew nothing about him at the time; it is only within the last month that I have ever heard his name.

55,435. Did you give any instructions to your foreman not to employ anybody?—No.

55,436. Tassell, for instance, if he did come back?—No; I never knew his name.

55,437. That is the reason I put the question generally, did you give your foreman instructions to discontinue the employment of anybody?—No.

55,438. Any man?—No.

55,439. If he did discontinue employing persons who voted for orange, was that his own voluntary act?—Yes.

55,440. Thomas Suddaby?—I do not know him.

55,441. Was he a person employed by you?—Not that I know of.

55,442. Did some of the men, previously employed by you, vote orange at the last election, besides Tassell?—It is very possible, but I do not know.

55,443. Did you discover that?—I never asked any questions about it.

55,444. Did you ascertain from the poll book, or in any other way?—No, I never did; of course all the men knew which way they ought to vote, and if they did not I considered that they did not do their duty; but I never asked any of them for their vote, nor did I punish them for not voting.

55,445. It was understood that they would vote blue, if they did do their duty by you as their employer?—Yes, and ought to do.

55,446. Your opinion is that all persons, in the employ of a merchant like yourself, ought to vote as the master does who employs them?—Most decidedly.

55,447. Their right to vote is so many votes given to the master?—If you like to put it that way, I consider it so.

55,448. Were these men, do you think, aware that those were the views that you entertained?—I never expressed it to them.

55,449. But they might know it without?—I think they all have a feeling that way.

55,450. They all are aware that those are your opinions?—I should never be at the trouble of concealing them.

55,451. Have you any doubt about it, that they were aware of what their duty was to you according to your view of duty?—I should think that they must have been aware of their duty.

55,452. You thought that they were at the time?—Yes, I should have thought so.

55,453. William Taylor, was he one of the persons employed by you?—Not that I know of. I do not know any of their names.

55,454. It may be the case, then, that all the persons who had voted orange at the last election have lost the advantage of your employment since?—I do not think it is at all probable.

55,455. Do you know a person of the name of William Ramsey, a saddler?—Yes, I do.

55,456. Did you canvass him?—Yes, I did.

55,457. Is he a person you dealt with?—Yes.

55,458. Do you remember ordering some goods from him shortly before the election?—Not particularly.

55,459. Not very long before the election?—It is very possible I might have wanted something.

55,460. When you canvassed him for his vote?—I do not think that I ordered anything at the time. I do not think I should.

55,461. You did canvass him?—Yes.

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

22d July 1853.

55,462. How long before the election was it that you canvassed him?—I should think very likely a month, or a fortnight perhaps.

55,463. Was it about the same time that you ordered some goods from him?—I really cannot say. If I wanted goods I should order them, but I should not have ordered them for the purpose of influencing his vote.

55,464. I want to know what you did do?—I cannot say.

55,465. I want the simple fact, and we will draw conclusions afterwards for ourselves. Did you, in point of fact, order any goods from him during the course of the month of June?—I cannot say.

55,466. Will you undertake to say that you did not?—No; very likely I did.

55,467. Then supposing it was said that you ordered goods the same day that you canvassed him?—I should not dispute it, although I think it is not very likely.

55,468. Should you dispute this,—that you would do that in the hope that he would vote for your party?—I should never think of doing so; he told me at once those were the men of his choice, and he should vote for them.

55,469. Who did?—Ramsey.

55,470. For whom?—Moore and Butler.

55,471. When did he tell you that?—When I canvassed him.

55,472. Did you not say to him, "Before you make these things, I want to know which way you are going to vote?"—Certainly not.

55,473. We must put these questions. Did you not, in the latter part of June, when you were at Ramsey's shop, giving him an order for some bridles and saddles and horse clothing, which was to come to about 7*l.*, did you not call Ramsey aside and say, "Before I tell you to make these things, I want to know which way you are going to vote?—Most assuredly not.

55,474. Will you pledge your oath that nothing of that kind occurred?—Most decidedly, if I am to state the thing upon oath, it is possible that I may have asked Ramsey for his vote, and have given him the order upon the same day.

55,475. At the same time?—It is possible; I cannot take my oath I did not; but I am sure that I never asked him for the vote as a condition for the order; I did not wish to purchase his vote by my order.

55,476. "Before I tell you to make these things, I want to know which way you are going to vote;" did you say that?—Certainly not.

55,477. Did anything of the kind pass?—No.

55,478. And did Ramsey, after some little hesitation, say "for the blues, I suppose"?—Ramsey said, when I asked him for the vote, "of course I shall vote for them."

55,479. And you will not say that you did not give him an order?—I will not swear it.

55,480. When he said, "for the blues, I suppose," did you then go on to say "you may do these things, and make the harness"—or words to that effect?—No; the conversation would not be mixed up in that way.

55,481. Do you undertake to say you can recollect the order in which the conversation took place?—No, I do not recollect anything about it except I recollect canvassing him.

55,482. What I understand you to say is this: you recollect canvassing him, and that you do not recollect positively that you gave him an order at the same time, but you will not undertake to say that you did not?—I will not undertake to say anything about it.

55,483. Supposing that to be the case, you will not undertake to say in which order the two circumstances occurred?—No.

55,484. Whether he gave the promise to vote first, and you gave the order after? or whether you gave the order first, and canvassed after? you do not recollect?—I do not recollect. I think it is very unlikely that I gave the order and asked for the vote the same day.

55,485. You will not undertake to say that you did not, or the order in which the two facts occurred?—No.

55,486. Do you remember whether the harness was sent in before the election?—I do not remember anything about it. I do not know that I had anything in the month of June.

55,487. Then the answer is, that you do not remember?—I do not.

55,488. Do you remember, after the election, that it was sent back?—I remember having a suit of harness from him and sending it back; but whether it took place before the election or after I do not know.

55,489. He voted blue?—Yes.

55,490. Then I ask whether, after having voted blue, the harness was not sent back?—I sent it back, because it did not suit me.

55,491. Was it left on his hands?—Yes, I left it upon his hands.

55,492. You did not take it?—I did not take it.

55,493. How much was the order for? 7*l.* or 8*l.*?—You say 7*l.* or 8*l.*; it is very possible it may be, but I do not know at all.

55,494. Eventually the things were returned?—Yes.

55,495. Have you paid for them?—No, I never paid for them.

55,496. How long had you dealt with Ramsey?—I think two years.

55,497. Had you ever returned anything before?—Not that I know of.

55,498. Have you dealt with him since?—I have not dealt with him lately; whether I did after the election, I do not know.

55,499. Have you dealt with him since you returned that set of harness?—I cannot say. He did not suit me, and I left him.

55,500. Am I to understand that, to the best of your knowledge, you have not dealt with him since?—I cannot say; because I do not know whether I have left him six, nine, or twelve months.

55,501. How soon after the election did you return it?—I cannot say whether before or afterwards.

55,502. I understood you to say afterwards?—I said that I could not recollect whether I bought it from him in June or July, or when I returned it; if I had had notice given of these questions, I would have taken care to be prepared with the answers.

55,503. Have you any documents?— I have his bills, but they would have nothing to do with this harness; it was not charged.

55,504. Was not a bill sent in for the harness?—No; I sent it back as soon as I got it. He would not send in a bill for two or three months.

55,505. Would he not send in an invoice?—No.

55,506. That is not the custom of the trade of Hull?—No, that is not the custom, unless you take particular trouble to get your bills sent in.

55,507. Then he never sent in a bill, I understand, for this?—Certainly not.

55,508. And you have no recollection of having dealt with him since?—No, I have not. I rather think there were some other matters I got afterwards, and they were not executed to my satisfaction, and the consequence was that I went to another saddler.

55,509. You believe you did give him some other orders?—I rather think I did,—I have a slight recollection of it.

55,510. Did you see him on that occasion, when you gave the subsequent orders?—I should either see him or his foreman.

55,511. Was anything said about the previous harness?—Yes; a good deal.

55,512. What did take place?—I told him it would not do; and he said, "Very well, send it back," and I did.

55,513. That was before it was returned?—Yes, that was before it was returned.

55,514. Was it Ramsey himself that you saw?—I saw him two or three times about the harness after I was dissatisfied with it.

55,515. After it was sent to you?—After it was sent to me. I saw him two or three times about it.

55,516. What did he say?—He said he was sorry for it; he would take it back.

55,517. What was the nature of the fault that you found with it?—I cannot say: it was very clumsy and ugly I thought.

55,518. Had you not discovered, during the two years that you had dealt with him, that he was a clumsy tradesman?—I do not like finding fault with tradesmen in this public way. I had not been satisfied very frequently with Ramsey's work.

55,519. It was not the first time that you had found fault with his work?—It was not.

55,520. You had never sent any back?—I had never sent any back; they have been either altered, or did something to.

55,521. Did you get any harness elsewhere?—Yes, I got it in London.

55,522. How many men do you employ—workpeople?—I should think they vary from, perhaps, twenty to seventy or eighty, according to the work that there is to do.

55,523. You said you took an anxious part for your party at this election?—Yes.

55,524. And intended to keep out the orange if you could?—Yes, most decidedly.

55,525. Had you a clerk of the name of Thomas Rowley?—Yes.

55,526. Did not Rowley or somebody about your premises ascertain the mode in which your men were going to vote?—No; I should think the foreman would do all that—he would, no doubt.

55,527. What is his name?—Edward Cornwall.

55,528. He would ascertain the mode in which the men were going to vote?—He would see them all.

55,529. Did you give him any directions?—I never spoke to him about it.

55,530. You have no doubt that he did?—I have no doubt he did, because he is a very anxious man himself.

55,531. At the time of the election can you say how many men you think you had in your employment?—I cannot say; a good many. It is a very busy time.

55,532. Give me about the number?—I should say about sixty, as a guess.

55,533. Before the election, was your butcher a Mr. Leonard? was that his name?—Yes.

55,534. Did he vote for you?—He did not.

55,535. He voted for the orange?—Yes.

55,536. Did you change your butcher?—Immediately.

55,537. Was his meat good, or his vote bad?—His vote was bad.

55,538. And you never tried his meat since?—Not a bit.

55,539. You had dealt with him a good while?—Yes.

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

22d July 1853.

55,540. Did you tell him before that you would discharge him?—No; I never said anything to him.

55,541. Did your foreman canvass him?—No; I canvassed him myself, and I asked him if he would abstain from voting if he could not vote for us, and he said he would see.

55,542. Was that all he said, up to the time of the election?—That was all he said.

55,543. And then you found he voted against you?—Yes.

55,544. Did you give him a little intimation that he might be apt to lose your custom, if he did not?—No; I did not think it was of much consequence to him.

55,545. Did he understand from your manner?—No; I should rather think he would not trouble himself much about it.

55,546. You do not exactly understand my question. Did he understand from your manner, that unless he did abstain from voting orange, he might run some risk?—I did not intend to give him to understand so; he may have thought so.

55,547. Do you believe he would draw that conclusion?—He might think it was probable.

55,548. Did that happen to any other of your tradesmen?—No, I think not; I think the most of them either voted with us, or did not vote at all.

55,549. Do you think, what you call the duty attaches to the tradesmen?—No; I think a tradesman should do as he likes, only I would not deal with radicals, if I knew it.

55,550. Did you discharge a man in 1841 of the name of John Holdstock?—I should not discharge anybody in 1841.

55,551. Was he discharged from your yard?—I cannot say anything about it.

55,552. That agreement, which you have given us some evidence of, I see is dated the 20th of April, 1852?—Yes, I suppose so.

55,553. That would be before Mr. Butler came?—Before Mr. Butler had anything to do with us.

55,554. Was that before Mr. Bramley Moore had been spoken of?—I cannot say really whether it was or not.

55,555. That money seems to have been provided or secured, if I may say so, very early?—Yes, as soon as possible.

55,556. Do you agree with Mr. Ward, who said that there was an understanding that the same sum should be found among the supporters of the blue party, as the amount of the single subscription of each candidate?—Yes.

55,557. That sum having been made up in that way in April, do you remember whether that fact was communicated to Messrs. Moore Butler?—I am not quite sure whether the whole of the subscriptions were complete so early as April; I rather doubt it.

55,558. It was the 20th of April it began; you do not know exactly up to what time?—I do not.

55,559. You did not see Mr. Butler until the 9th of June?—I have no doubt it was complete before I saw Mr. Butler.

55,560. I want to ask if it was communicated?—Yes; I think we told Mr. Butler we had a sum in reserve.

55,561. Equal to what he was to subscribe?—Yes, I think so.

55,562. When do you think that was mentioned?—To Mr. Butler, at the Carlton.

55,563. Was it at your first interview?—Yes.

55,564. Do you remember whether, at that first interview, the sum of 1,200*l.* was agreed as his proportion?—Yes, it was.

55,565. Was it intended that the sum to be subscribed in the town was to be the same sum that each candidate was to give?—I think it was to be 1,500*l.*; we should have got as much as we could. If I could have got 10,000*l.* I would.

55,566. Was it understood from the beginning that the candidates were to give 1,200*l.*?—I think no sum was settled as to what the candidates should be called on to pay, until we saw Mr. Bramley Moore at Normanton, and we asked him to pay 2,000*l.*; he said he could not do more than 1,200*l.*, and we took that as the best we could get. We asked him to pay 2,000*l.*, and he said, "I really cannot." He wanted to pay 1,000*l.*, and he said 1,200*l.* was the most he could think himself justified in paying.

55,567. At that time did you intend that the second candidate should also pay 2,000*l.*?—No; I do not think we should ask the second candidate for more than the first; in fact, we never asked Mr. Butler for more than 1,200*l.*

55,568. You asked Mr. Moore for 2,000*l.*?—Yes.

55,569. Before you went to Normanton did you intend each candidate should spend 2,000*l.*?—I think before we went to Normanton we should have called upon each candidate to pay as much as ever we could get out of them.

55,570. At that time you had agreed to subscribe 1,500*l.* yourselves?—I do not think that agreement was framed. I am so confused in dates, I cannot remember.

55,571. You think you went to Normanton before April?—No, I suppose not; I should think this would be framed first; I think so now, but whether it was or not, I do not know.

55,572. It comes to this: did you anticipate that the election would cost, or that the election might cost under, certain circumstances, the sum of 3,500*l.*?—I believe, according to this calculation, the election would have cost 3,600*l.*; I thought that was very moderate.

55,573. What sort of an election?—I know very well I was aware of what the orange party intended to do, and I knew nothing would stop them, therefore I wished to meet them with their own weapons.

55,574. And those weapons were to be money?—Yes.

55,575. And money expended to secure votes?—Any way you like.

55,576. About this saddler, I am not quite satisfied about it. You have said you do not undertake to say positively you did not order the harness, and canvass the man the same day?—I do not.

55,577. What is your belief?—My belief is, I should not do so.

55,578. The question, what you did do, not what you should do?—Then my belief is, I did not.

55,579. Will you answer this question? Will you undertake to say this positively, that you did not order the harness with reference to obtaining the man's vote?—Most certainly not; because he told me the first breath, he would be very glad to vote for us.

55,580. You did not, at all events, intend to order the harness, and obtain the man's vote, and then to send him back the harness, and give him nothing?—Most certainly not. I wonder you can propose such a thing.

55,581. You have made a good deal of difference between the answers you gave. I understood you to say, you could not tell the order in which the conversation occurred. I understood you to say this, I do not know whether I understood you to say wrong, that you do not remember the order of the conversation?—I had totally forgotten it until you mentioned it.

55,582. And do you still mean to say you do not remember the order in which the conversation took place?—I remember asking for his vote.

55,583. You told us you did not recollect the order of the conversation, and now you say you did?—I did not.

55,584. You now come back to it, and say you do not remember?—I do not remember. That is my final answer.

55,585. Do you remember the names of any other persons, besides Leonard, to whom you expressed a desire to abstain from voting?—Yes, I did; I saw Mr. Pickering, the druggist.

55,586. You expressed a desire to him to abstain?—I asked him either to vote for us, or not to vote.

55,587. Had you previously dealt with him?—Yes, and do now.

55,588. How long had you dealt with Mr. Pickering?—Ever since he has been in business, that is some four or five years.

55,589. Did you know he was a member of the orange party?—No; he told me so, but I did not know it when I asked him for his vote.

55,590. When you asked him to abstain from voting?—He did not say he was a member of the orange party.

55,591. What did he say?—He said he was a Whig.

55,592. In answer to your request?—Yes, in answer to my request.

55,593. Did you then ask him to abstain?—I did.

55,594. Have you dealt with him since?—I have.

55,595. You have not discontinued dealing with him?—No.

55,596. Is this man, Leonard, a solitary instance, in which you have discontinued dealing with a man in consequence of his vote?—Leonard is a solitary instance.

55,597. Did you know that Leonard was of the orange party?—I knew he had always voted orange.

55,598. When you mentioned to Mr. Butler, at the Carlton Club, that the sum of 1,200*l.* had been subscribed, did he not ask how money was generally spent at Hull elections?—Yes; and I could not inform him at all, because I had nothing to do with the expenditure.

55,599. What did he say about money?—How it had been spent? I thought you said how much. He took no trouble about it; he never asked any questions.

55,600. You informed him of the fact of the party you were going to advocate having got together the sum of 1,200*l.*?—Yes, I did, to the best of my recollection.

55,601. Would it not be a natural consequence of such a statement, that he should ask how money was spent?—He never asked, it is so much the system all over the world.

55,602. You think he would conclude Hull was like other boroughs?—Like other boroughs, a necessary thing.

55,603. You do not remember he said anything?—Nothing of the kind.

55,604. Would you have continued to deal with Leonard if he had voted blue?—Yes, I should, or if he had not voted at all.

55,605. Did he understand, from your conversation, that you would continue to deal with him if he abstained from voting at all?—No; I do not think he said anything of the kind.

55,606. A great deal is collected from manner.—I did not ask him at all in a threatening manner.

55,607. Would he collect from it, this is not a threat, quite the contrary? Would he collect from the conversation, that probably you would have continued to deal with him if he had abstained from voting, or had voted blue?—I do not think he took any trouble to collect anything about it; I think he made up his mind to vote orange, and he did that is all I know.

Mr. J. B. Barkworth.

22d July 1853.

55,608. You would not collect one way or the other what was passing in his mind?—I never thought of it, and I should not have been able, if I had tried.

Mr. J. Brodrick.

Mr. JOHN BRODRICK recalled, and examined.

55,609. Do you remember meeting, on the polling day, a man named Wass going up to the poll in company with a man of the name of Warrener?—I do not recollect him by name at all.

55,610. Do you know Warrener by name?—I do not know either of them by name; I recollect a man going up to the poll.

55,611. Do you recollect two men going up to the poll, one of whom you understood as Mr. Sisson's man?—I do not recollect anything of the kind.

55,612. Who is the man you do recollect?—I do not know his name; I met a man we had on our books.

55,613. Was he on his way to vote orange, the man I mean, and you said you used some little persuasion towards him?—There was a man, but I do not know his name just now.

55,614. What was it occurred? We are told you met a person who was going on his way up to the poll to vote orange, and you used a little persuasion to induce him to vote blue.—Perhaps I might.

55,615. What was the circumstance?—I cannot recollect the conversation now.

55,616. The inducement, do you recollect?—I should not offer him any money, decidedly.

55,617. There are a great many things to offer besides money. You do not recollect the circumstance at all?—I do not recollect the circumstance at all.

55,618. Your memory is quite uncertain?—It is quite uncertain what I said to him. I do not recollect at all.

55,619. Do you see the man in court?—I do not recollect him at all.

55,620. But the man in his company?—No; I do not.

55,621. You do not recollect one way or the other?—No; I do not recollect seeing the man at all.

55,622. I believe you paid some men, captains of vessels, for coming from Newcastle? I did not pay them.

55,623. Do you know how much they were paid?—I really do not know.

55,624. Did you arrange how they were to be paid?—No; I think not. I recollect what I should say to them would be, the expenses would be paid there and back, nothing more. It is not likely that the captain of a ship would take a bribe, I should hope.

55,625. Things may be done under one name and not under another. You are not aware of what is bribery in Hull?—Their expenses would be paid if I wrote to them, or was the means of bringing them to vote.

55,626. Would the sum be paid?—They would be paid for the travelling expenses, first class fare there and back.

55,627. First class each way?—Yes; that is the understanding. I did not pay them.

55,628. Would it be 10*s.*, or how much for the loss of time?—Nothing for the loss of time.

55,629. Would any man that you wrote to have anything for loss of time?—Nothing.

55,630. Nothing but to have first class fare each way?—That was the purport of any letter I might have written.

55,631. Do you recollect it, or are you merely speaking of what you think probably might have occurred?—I only fancy that would have been the language I should have used in a letter. They would be decidedly paid the first class fare there and back, and nothing more.

55,632. Who were the captains from Newcastle?—At this moment I cannot recollect. I do not think I wrote to Newcastle.

55;633. Do you remember arranging at all with any captains of vessels going backwards and forwards to Newcastle?—No; I did not.

55,634. We call it to your attention, because of Mr. Barkworth having said that you made these arrangements?—I think not.

Thomas T. Todd.

THOMAS THORNHAM TODD sworn, and examined.

55,635. Where do you live in Hull?—New Charles Street.

55,636. What is your business?—A clerk.

55,637. What is the rent you pay for your house that you live in now?—£10.

55,638. Are you a £10 household voter?—Yes.

55,639. You are a freeman?—Yes, freeborn; I never took my freedom up.

55,640. How long have you lived in Hull?—I was born in Hull.

Thomas T. Todd.

22d July 1853.

55,641. You have lived here all your life?—Yes.

55,642. How long have you been qualified to vote? I mean how long have you been on the list?—Four or five years.

55,643. You first voted the last time?—Yes.

55,644. Did you take any part in the election for 1841 and 1847?—Nothing but merely a clerk on the day of the election.

55,645. You do not know anything of the transactions of those elections?—No.

55,646. Were you at the last election on the blue committee?—Secretary of the Holderness Ward committee.

55,647. That was for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

55,648. You voted for them?—Yes.

55,649. As secretary did you keep the books?—Yes.

55,650. Were there many parties who applied to have their names set down for employment?—Many.

55,651. Did you set them down?—A great number.

55,652. Were those persons, after they were set down, employed at the committee as runners?—Yes.

55,653. All of them?—No; not all of them.

55,654. All that came to be employed were in the course of the election employed in one way or another?—Yes.

55,655. How many names, according to your recollection, did you set down?—Forty or fifty.

55,656. Perhaps more?—No; that will be about it.

55,657. Were they paid every week, those who were employed during the week?—Yes.

55,658. Who paid?—I paid them.

55,659. Where did you get the money?—From Mr. Harris.

55,660. There were a great many more employed during the last week than during the other weeks, were there not?—No; but very few with us.

55,661. Did you pay some of them after the election?—No.

55,662. Not on the Saturday night after the election?—Yes; on the Saturday night for the week.

55,663. Was the same money paid to all who had been employed?—No; only to a part. I made out a list of those I had employed for a fortnight or three weeks, or something like that, to the central committee to give me the money to pay those men with, and that is all I paid. Some 10*l.* or 12*l.* perhaps.

55,664. What I want to know is, whether all who you had set down were employed during the election?—There were some of them partially employed.

55,665. Did all those who had had their names set down get something?—Not from me. I do not know that at all.

55,666. Why were they not all employed?—I cannot say; they were first one set to a job and then another.

55,667. How many of those whom you had set down were not employed, do you think?—There would not be a many.

55,668. What do you call not a many?—Perhaps about twenty.

55,669. Do you mean there were twenty names you set down that were not employed?—Not to my knowledge.

55,670. Were any of those men paid any money?—No; I do not know there was.

55,671. At any time?—Not to my knowledge.

55,672. Were you with Mr. Oxtoby after the election?—No; I left Hull on the Monday after the election.

55,673. Had all the persons been paid in your district then?—No.

55,673a. Oxtoby paid after you left?—Yes; so I understood. I only know what I learnt.

55,674. When you say all the persons, whose names were set down, were not paid, you mean they were not paid within your knowledge?—Not paid within my knowledge.

55,675. They may have been paid by Oxtoby?—They may.

55,676. Did you understand they would be?—Yes.

55,677. There was something coming to all those whose names were set down?—They expected it.

55,678. That was the understanding? Had you any papers?—None.

55,679. With regard to the election?—None.

55,680. Are you quite sure of that?—Yes.

55,681. No memorandum of your own?—Nothing whatever.

55,682. Do you recollect some boatmen who wanted to vote?—Yes; I recollect two.

55,683. First of all, you say you have no papers; what did you do with the papers you had?—Mrs. Todd took them on to Mr. Wells after I left Hull.

55,684. You say your wife took them all to Mr. Wells, the solicitor?—Yes; and gave them into his own hands.

55,685. Do you know whether she took them to the central committee room or to Mr. Wells' offices?—She first took them to the central committee room, and she was referred to Mr. Wells. She took them to Mr. Wells' office, and gave them to Mr. Wells himself.

Thomas T. Todd.

22d July 1853.

55,686. You never had those papers back again from Mr. Wells?—I have not seen them since.

55,687. Do you know anything of the list of the Hedon voters?—No.

55,688. Do you know of any refreshments being given to a party of Hedon voters?—No.

55,689. Had you no list of Hedon voters at your committee room?—No.

55,690. A book has been shown to us, or a paper containing an account of dinners given to eighteen Hedon voters; is that so?—I never saw it.

55,691. You know nothing about it?—I know nothing about it.

55,692. There was a list of rooms that were taken from parties, was there not?—Yes.

55,693. Those were sham committee rooms?—Some of them were used.

55,694. Those were all rooms taken for the purpose of getting the votes of the parties who let them?—I do not know, I cannot speak to that.

55,695. Have you any doubt about it?—Perhaps they might.

55,696. You think they were?—Yes.

55,697. About the boatmen, you recollect some voters who were required to vote for your party; Smith's boatmen they have been called?—Two.

55,698. They refused to vote unless payment was insured to them, did they not, for their loss of time?—Yes.

55,699. You were sent to agree with them, were you not?—Yes.

55,700. To agree with them that they should be paid?—Yes.

55,701. What were their names?—Smith, I believe.

55,702. Both of them?—Yes.

55,703. Afterwards did you pay them?—No.

55,704. Was your agreement that they should have 2*l.*?—Yes.

55,705. Was it 2*l.* each?—No; 1*l.* each.

55,706. Are those the only parties with whom you agreed?—Yes.

55,707. For any sum of money?—Yes.

55,708. You did not canvass them?—No.

55,709. You were sent to these Smiths, were you not, at their own house?—No; they came to the committee room.

55,710. You saw them at the committee room, and made the agreement there?—Yes.

55,711. You know nothing of refreshments being given to any voters?—No.

55,712. Who gave you instructions to deal with the boatmen?—Mr. West, the chairman.

55,713. Do you know where the Smith's live, or what are their Christian names?—No; I am sure I do not.

55,714. Was an entry made of it in the book?—I cannot speak to that, I am sure, at present.

55,715. Did any more money pass through your hands? any money paid to you to pay the weekly list?—No.

55,716. That money was expended in paying the runners, and in paying for the committee rooms, was not it?—Paying the runners.

55,717. Only?—Yes.

55,718. Do you know a man in the name of Henry Wood?—Yes.

55,719. Did you pay him 3*l.* or 4*l.*?—I paid him every week.

55,720. What was Wood?—A doorkeeper.

55,721. Do you know anything of some voters in Drypool and Sutton?—No.

55,722. Is that part of your district?—Yes.

55,723. Did you not make some agreement with regard to some voters at Drypool and Sutton on the night before the election?—No.

55,724. Did you see them?—No.

55,725. Nor paid them any money?—No.

John Dixon.

JOHN DIXON sworn, and examined.

55,726. I believe you are a clerk at Messrs. Gibson and Sons?—I am.

55,727. Shipbuilders at Drypool?—Yes.

55,728. You are not on the voters' list at all?—No; not at all.

55,729. Never have been?—No.

55,730. You are not upon the Register?—No.

55,731. Who are your foremen?—John Watson, Thomas Watson, and William Matthews.

55,732. Do you rent a house?—Yes.

55,733. What rent?—£9 18*s.* I had an offer to be on, but I never would accept it.

55,734. Do you know a man of the name of John Harrison, a shipwright? Was he employed by Messrs. Gibson, at the last election?—Not during the election.

55,735. Before the election?—He always is when we have work, according to what we require.

55,736. Do you know anything of a letter Harrison had, stating that he must vote for the blue party?—No.

55,737. Do you know that he was threatened with a discharge if he did not?—From whom?

55,738. From Messrs. Gibson?—Never; it is utterly impossible for them to do that.

55,739. Is Harrison a voter?—I believe so; he served his time with Messrs. Gibson, and they are free both of them.

55,740. Do you know which way he voted?—No.

55,741. How many do the Messrs. Gibson employ?—I sometimes have known 80 to 100, or 120 or 140 I have known.

55,742. What is the average number?—We have none at present. I have no idea of the average; I never averaged them.

55,743. Do you know whether your foreman canvassed the men in the yard for Moore and Butler?—They never saw any occasion to do so; they would not allow it, I am sure.

55,744. You think they would be allowed to vote exactly as they pleased?—Exactly; that is the orders.

55,745. Did they give them a supper before the election?—No; never.

55,746. They gave them a little grog?—No.

55,747. Did you hear Mr. Boulter examined?—No; I have never attended the court.

55,748. Have you seen his examination?—No; I have not seen it; I have had the papers, but I have not read it.

55,749. You have not read it?—No.

55,750. Did not your men, before the election, get a little grog occasionally?—No. Do you mean from Messrs. Gibson?

55,751. Yes.—No, nothing.

55,752. You had something to do with paying out-voters, in Quay Street?—What election was that?

55,753. The last one.—Yes.

55,754. Who assisted you in making those payments?—No one, except a boy, I had to go on errands, of my own choosing.

55,755. It was in Quay Street?—Perhaps it might.

55,756. What were the materials you had before you for making those payments?—I had none; I took no part; I merely paid.

55,757. When I say materials, I mean a list?—I had a sheet of foolscap prepared for me.

55,758. Who gave it to you?—Mr. Henry Barkworth.

55,759. What was upon it?—The first column was the number on the register, the next was the man's name, the next where he came from, and the next the column for the money that I was to pay him.

55,760. And the next to show how he voted, was there not one for tha t?—No.

55,761. You know that?—I should have had to find out; it depended on my care.

55,762. How many names were there on this paper, about?—It occupied about two-thirds of a sheet of foolscap.

55,763. It might have been written very close?—They would not exceed forty I think; I am only guessing.

55,764. I suppose you had the poll book also?—No.

55,765. Did you ask how they voted?—Mr. Barkworth inquired of me the night before if I would oblige him with paying the out-voters. I arranged to meet him at seven o'clock. I did not get the things prepared till eleven, after I got to the committee room, in Bowl Alley Lane.

55,766. What day was it?—The night before the polling—the nomination night.

55,767. He prepared a list?—It was given to me by some of the clerks.

55,768. You told me there was no column for how they voted. Did you ask them? you had to find it out you say?—I had.

55,769. How did you do that?—It was arranged there was to be a man come from the central committee room with them, and he was to state the names and numbers.

55,770. The men's names whom he brought?—Yes; the names that were on any list. I was to pay them according to the column; I had another column to put down what I paid them.

55,471. Who was the man who brought them? Was the arrangement ever carried out?—It was arranged very badly.

55,772. Not carried out to the extent of the man bringing them?—He brought two or three men.

55,773. Who was that man?—I do not know; he was shown to me the following morning.

55,774. Did he come into the room?—He did with two or three.

55,775. How did the others come, the thirty-seven?—I had a youth with me, and he went with a runner when they came, to see that they had polled. I had strict orders from Mr. Barkworth to pay none till I was satisfied; and I sent this youth to the central committee to know if such and such a man had voted. They had to wait, and sometimes

John Dixon.

22d July 1853.

to call again during the day, as I would not pay till I was satisfied; when I was satisfied, either from this man coming, or the youth I had bringing the message, I then paid them according to the sum upon the list.

55,776. Did they send a slip of paper with the man?—Merely a message; he only came with three or four at the most.

55,777. Did your boy take a paper?—No; he was to ask if such a number, or such a name polled. In many cases he could not tell, and they had to wait.

55,778. Did you send your boy for all these payments?—For all I paid.

55,779. Only three were brought by the man?—Three or four.

55,780. That was all?—I did not pay the whole of them, nor half of them.

55,781. How many did you pay?—I paid forty.

55,782. How much to each?—I cannot recollect that.

55,783. Was it varying?—According to the distance; they were not the near voters, they were those at a distance, scattered over.

55,784. Will you tell me what they were?—I did not pay the Barton, or the Cottingham, or near voters.

55,785. Which class of men?—London, Scotland, Manchester, and Liverpool; those at a distance.

55,786. At what rate did you pay?—I paid one 5*l.*, from London.

55,787. Look at that book (B. C.); turn to the place and show me who you paid?—I never had this book; I never saw it.

55,788. What became of the paper or book that you had?—I handed it over to Mr. Thomas Ward.

55,789. When did you give it to Mr Ward?—Two or three days after the election.

55,790. When did you finish paying those men?—On that day.

55,791. That is the polling day?—Yes. I stayed in the room till between five and six o'clock in the evening.

55,792. Did you pay any on the nomination night?—Not one. I took no part in the election except paying the out-voters.

55,793. The list was made out the nomination night?—It was, the nomination night about eleven o'clock.

55,794. And you paid on the next day?—Yes.

55,795. In paying the expenses of these men, did you allow them their fare, or how was it?—I paid what was put down; I had no bargain with the men.

55,796. Were these names you paid on a paper or on a book?—On a sheet of foolscap.

55,797. Which you returned to Mr. Ward?—Yes; I received it from Mr. Barkworth, and he gave me the money; the list I got from one of the clerks.

55,798. Did you have a memorandum book?—No; it was a sheet of foolscap. I may state one thing,—I was present when you examined Mr. Brodrick this morning; you inquired of him about a captain,—I paid him.

55,799. The Newcastle captain?—It was one of their own captains and one of their own ship carpenters came up from Shields, but he did not send for him. I understood from them both that Mr. Barkworth sent for him; they were running coals.

55,800. You do not know the men?—Oh yes, Captain Clark, of the "Endymion."

55,801. What was the name of the other?—Shakesby.

55,802. Do you know Captain Clark's Christian name?—I do not.

55,803. Where does he live?—He lives in the Pottery.

55,804. Who is William Shakesby? is he alive now?—Yes.

55,805. William Shakesby, of Edward Square, George Street?—Yes; he lives down that way: he is a shipwright.

55,806. Who was the carpenter?—Shakesby.

55,807. Clark was a captain?—Yes.

55,808. Did you pay Shakesby for both of them?—I paid Shakesby.

55,809. How much each?—I do not remember; I think it was 2*l.* 10*s.* or 3*l.* I know they found a deal of fault that it was too little.

55,810. You are sure, are you, Captain Clark said so?—Both of them; but I paid no more than what was down. I took no part in the election except to oblige Mr. Barkworth.

55,811. They may have got something else?—I know nothing of that; we did not interfere; we were not allowed to interfere.

55,812. Where did you pay them?—In Quay Street. I remember paying one man 5*l.* from Scotland, and I think 30*s.* was about the sum from Manchester: I did not take particular notice.

Robert Ash.

ROBERT ASH sworn, and examined.

55,813. Where do you live?—6, Canton Place.

55,814. What is your business?—A stock and share broker.

55,815. What rent do you pay?—£46.

55,816. Are you on the 10*l.* household list as a voter?—A freeman, too.

55,817. How long have you been a voter?—About six years.

55,818. Have you lived in Hull all your life?—Yes.

55,819. Did you take any part in the election of 1841?—No.

55,820. 1847?—No.

55,821. You know nothing about them?—I know nothing about them.

55,822. At the last election you did take part?—Yes, a little.

55,823. You voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

55,824. Were you on any committee?—Yes.

55,825. Which?—I was deputy chairman of South Myton district; Dr. Beeton was the chairman.

55,826. When you were on the committee you began to canvass?—Just so.

55,827. And you found people who insisted on having their names set down?—Mr. Croft attended to that department.

55,828. Did any of them apply to you?—To the best of my recollection, they did not.

55,829. Do you mean in the whole course of your canvass nobody applied to you?—If they did I should refer them to Mr. Croft.

55,830. Do you know how many names were set down at the committee by Mr. Croft?—I have no idea.

55,831. Have you an idea whether it was 20 or 100?—I should think under twenty; I could not speak positively. He attended to that part of the business, and therefore I could not say.

55,832. Did you have any part in taking the committee rooms?—No.

55,833. Agreeing with them for a sum of money for the rooms?—None whatever.

55,834. Did you pay money at your committee?—No; Mr. Croft paid the money there.

55,835. I suppose you knew there was such a thing as setting down names going on?—Oh yes.

55,836. You were at one of these clearing houses?—Yes, I was.

55,837. Was that the principal business you did that election?—It was, except going round canvassing.

55,838. Which of the clearing houses were you in?—At the central one, with Mr. Pease and Mr. Saxelby.

55,839. What were your duties there?—To assist on the day of the election.

55,840. To overlook it?—Just so.

55,841. How many men were there employed? have you a list of names?—Yes (handing in a list).

55,842. Is this the list of men?—That is the list I paid.

55,843. After the system was carried out, in whatever way it may have been carried out, did you pay the men who had been employed?—I did.

55,844. Is this the list of the men whom you paid?—It is.

55,845. Can you tell me whether they are all voters or not?—You will find a slip of paper there that I have taken out of the poll book.

55,846. Forty-two of them were not voters?—Forty-two were non-voters.

55,847. There are sixty-three altogether?—Yes.

55,848. Twenty-one voters?—There are thirteen I cannot ascertain; there are many in the poll book, some of them I should fancy were not voters.

55,849. How came it that there were men not voters employed?—We took any one we could get for that day; it was actual service.

55,850. Did you take them in consequence of the voters having got out of the way?—I believe there was something of that sort, but I did not engage the whole of those men.

55,851. You had nothing to do with the engaging of the men?—Yes; there are a few I engaged.

55,852. Where did you get them from?—They came to the central committee room, in Bowl Alley Lane.

55,853. Were you there?—I used to attend daily, nearly.

55,854. As the deputy chairman?—Just so.

55,855. Where was this room, the clearing house?—I think they called it Mawers.

55,856. What street?—Castle Street.

55,857. You say you were daily at the central committee room?—Nearly.

55,858. You say you were transacting business there?—No.

55,859. Did you see them setting them down?—No; there was a room set apart, where the chairman and deputy chairman met every day. I was there when I used to belong to it.

55,860. Did you then compare notes as to the prospects of the election?—No; not in my presence, there were no notes compared.

55,861. Did you talk to one another about the number of persons that had been set down on that occasion?—No, on no occasion. I never heard any.

55,862. Did you make any list, or send any list from the committee, of the names of persons who were applying for employment?—No, I think not.

55,863. You think it was the course of business to send an account of the persons that applied through the central committee?—Applications for runners do you mean?

55,864. Yes.—Oh no; they were taking names down at our committee room.

55,865. And employed them at your committee room?—Yes.

55,866. Did you send an account of their names to the central committee room?—I never heard of anything sent.

Robert Ash.

22d July 1853.

55,867. Would you furnish the numbers of the persons stated to be voters, the number on the register?—I should say that I took them out of the poll book.

55,868. Only five voted Moore and Butler?—Five Moore and Butler; one Clay and Moore; two Clay and Goderich; and thirteen I cannot ascertain. There are many of the same name; I have not the Christian name.

55,869. You have no means of ascertaining whether they were voters or not?—I have none.

55,870. Have you endeavoured to do so?—I know no more than the list.

55,871. Who made up this list?—I did.

55,872. This abstract, I mean?—It was made up by two or three parties.

55,873. How soon after the election, this result?—We made the list up after the men were engaged.

55,874. You know who made up the list?—I did, of course.

55,875. How soon after the election?—I only made it up yesterday.

55,876. Yourself?—I know that some of those men engaged were, the greater part of them, non-voters.

55,877. You expected to have had a supply of voters; you found yourself run short, and you employed others?—I have no doubt that was the case.

55,878. Can you fill up the names of the eight, those you could not ascertain?—No; I cannot.

John Peck.

JOHN PECK recalled, and examined.

55,879. Do you wish to make any addition to your evidence?—I wish to give an explanation of some evidence, that has been called, that seems to criminate my friend Colonel Thompson, and myself.

55,880. Are you alluding to the election of 1847?—1841, if you please; I was the treasurer of Colonel Thompson's election.

55,881. Is it something relating to your own management that you wish to explain?—Not to my own engagement.

55,882. To your own share in the transaction?—Yes; it was on Thursday, the 14th of July.

55,883. What is the name of the witness?—George Walter Marshall.

55,884. What is it you wish to state?—Being treasurer of Colonel Thompson, in fact, at the election of 1841, I come here distinctly to state that either the press must be wrong in stating it, or the party who stated it must be wrong.

55,885. Do you say he never had the money?—Never from me, or the Colonel, for the Colonel never had any money, that is to say he never carried any money about him, all the payments were through me.

55,886. He does not say he had it from the Colonel,—somebody paid it for the Colonel.—

55,887. I will read the words, "from Colonel Thompson, I got 10*s*."?—In the first place the Colonel never had any money, I repeat it again, to pay to any man.

55,888. I will read you what he says: "What did you get from Colonel Thompson? From Colonel Thompson I got 10*s*. Was it for your vote and services? I am sure I do not know, what it was for."—I assure you on my word and oath, that the Colonel never paid any money at all, of any kind.

55,889. You do not mean to say that persons were paid for Colonel Thompson, on his behalf?—Not one, except for work done.

55,890. And vote given?—Vote given I should say; but there were a many paid, who had no votes, who were non-voters.

55,891. This man was a voter?—Yes; but he never received any money; from me or the Colonel; because, in the first place, the Colonel never had any money about him, and therefore he never gave him any; all were paid through me, and I never paid that man 10*s*.; therefore, it is a mistake, unless the man had done some work.

55,892. He took it for his vote?—No.

55,893. He is asked why he got the money, he says he does not know why, unless it was for his vote?—I deny that it came from me. I paid no money at all, I can assure you.

55,894. Have you got a list of those you paid?—No; I have not.

55,895. Then how can you say at this distance of time, that you did not pay them?—Because, I am sure my orders were so strict from the Colonel not to pay one farthing, but for services rendered.

55,896. I know that; you are merely taking issue on whether it was for services, or his vote? You do not mean to deny that you may have paid the man 10*s*.? let us go by steps?—As the first step I may admit that.

55,897. He accepted it in consideration of his vote, that is all I ask you?—No; without some work done, or coming from the country.

55,898. Do you suppose he was conscious that the work was worthless without his vote? the man is right in saying he took it for his vote?—I know I did not pay any man one farthing for one vote and I can prove it on the cross. Those were the Colonel's own words—"pay whatever you please; pay nothing but what you can put on the Market cross."

John Peck.

22d July 1853.

55,899. Were not the whole, or the greater part of the people you did employ, voters?—No; we took care to employ all non-voters that we could; if we could not get non-voters, then we took those that were.

55,900. Have you looked for those books that everybody says you have or had?—No, indeed, nobody says I have them, because if I had them, I would give them to you.

55,901. Scarcely a day passes but we hear of your having the books?—I have no books, on my honour, nor have I destroyed any. I have none, except the papers I have given to you.

55,902. We expect to have the pleasure of seeing Colonel Thompson on Tuesday week, and we shall be able to get the books from him,—particularly if he has a hint from you?—If he has the books or papers, I am sure he will bring them.

Mr. G. P. Craven.

Mr. George Popple Craven sworn, and examined.

55,903. Where do you live?—Albion Street.

55,904. What is your business?—A ship and Insurance agent.

55,905. What rent do you pay for your house?—My brother and I live together; I am not rated.

55,906. You live with your brother?—Yes.

55,907. Are you a voter?—Yes; I am a freeman.

55,908. How long have you had the right to vote?—Only since I took up my freedom, in 1847.

55,909. Have you always lived in Hull?—Yes.

55,910. Did you take any part in any election before the last?—A little in Brown's.

55,911. In 1847, you did act for Mr. Brown?—Yes.

55,912. Were you a member of the committee?—Not of any particular committee; I assisted in the canvassing.

55,913. Was your part of the canvassing, confined to the formal part, or the real?—I took no particular interest.

55,914. The substantial part?—No; I did not take any interest in the substantial part at all.

55,915. You did not set down any names?—Not that I am aware of.

55,916. Or received applications from persons?—I cannot say; persons stopped you in the streets.

55,917. What would you do?—Say, go to the committee room.

55,918. Which one?—It was not well organised at Brown's election; being in such a hurry, they would go to any that was open.

55,919. You did send parties to the committee room?—Runners.

55,920. To be set down as runners?—I suppose so.

55,921. You know enough of election matters to understand what I mean?—I never knew much before. I got an insight then.

55,922. At the time you sent them you knew the meaning of it?—I knew what was going on.

55,923. Is that all you know about the election?—Yes. I took no active interest.

55,924. You cannot give us the names?—I can give no information at all that will assist you.

55,925. Did you pay any of those?—Certainly not.

55,926. Did you pay any at all?—No.

55,927. At the last election that took place you were a member of the committee?—Yes.

55,928. Which committee?—Deputy chairman of Mr. Cattley's—the West Sculcoates committee, for Moore and Butler.

55,929. You voted for those gentlemen of course?—Yes.

55,930. Long before the election, did you begin to work?—Very early; I suppose about a month before. I attended several committee meetings beforehand.

55,931. When did you begin to canvass?—I suppose soon after the address was issued.

55,932. Did you find a great number of persons coming in for the purpose of being set down?—Yes.

55,933. Were the names set down at the committee room?—Not at first.

55,934. You refused?—I refused to set them down.

55,935. How soon did you?—The first week or two we confined ourselves almost strictly to doorkeepers, a clerk and messengers; then, perhaps, the second week we had an increase to eight or ten. This is the only paper I can find, that is the third week's pay; there is a date to that.

55,936. This is the 9th of July?—Yes.

55,937. Then you began to increase?—Yes; the week of the election.

55,938. At that time you set down all the persons who applied?—Yes; I think nearly all.

55,939. How soon did you begin to set them down merely as applicants, not to employ them?—We perhaps put a few down a fortnight before.

Mr. G. P. Craven.

22d July 1853.

55,940. From the time you began to do that, you refused no more?—Certainly not.

55,941. Did you set their names down?—I might set them down; the clerk might set them down, or Mr. Cattley.

55,942. Then it is that they should be employed and paid?—Of course.

55,943. And they at the same time to vote?—Yes; certainly.

55,944. How many names were set down?—I do not think above twenty. We refused them early on, adhering to our instructions; in the meantime Mr. Wilde had been very active in one district.

55,945. Therefore they did not come back to you?—No; we lost one or two that got to his place.

55,946. Did you change the persons employed from week to week, or every three days?—Yes; one or two that we did change with the rest. There was one man called Edwards whom I saw at Mr. Wilde's.

55,947. Then you began to change every three or four days?—The last week we had three or four on; the second week was a less payment than that, because Mr. Thomas Ward stated that our ward had been the most economically managed of any ward in the town, adhering more to instructions than some of the others. As the election got on we increased them. I suppose we did not at any time exceed, perhaps, twenty-five or thirty. I do not think above thirty at any time.

55,948. The number of persons who were employed would not be more than thirty?—No.

55,949. Not at one time, but always?—I should think thirty-five was the outside. I have no complete list, as I did not pay after the election.

55,950. During the election, did you pay on Saturday night?—I paid perhaps two or three weeks.

55,951. Do you recollect the amount you paid, or the number of persons?—I really did not pay in the whole election above 20*l.*

55,952. All you did pay were paid as runners?—All those men were well worked.

55,953. But you fed them?—Of course.

55,954. I observe here three or four names, what do they represent?—They are drawn out from the above list; most probably I should give the 3*l.* or 4*l.* to the clerk; the men not being on at the time.

55,955. Then you paid the runners' list?—I said I would bring the only list I could find. I have none other.

55,956. Cannot you find any more?—You have them in your possession, I believe.

55,957. From your committee room?—Yes.

55,958. That book I saw the other day, does that contain the names of all?—No; some two or three lists were made out after the election, in Mr. Cattley's office, and I believe in my handwriting; I should know it if I were to see it.

55,959. Did you know anything of the engagement of sham committee rooms?—I heard, I believe, that many were engaged.

55,960. Do you know the names?—One was a man called Smelt, and the other, I think his name was Turpin; but I did not engage him.

55,961. Are those the only two that you heard of in your district?—We had the one in Charles Street, and one other, I think; we had only four that I know of; two sham ones.

55,962. Was that 20*l.* all that you paid?—I think so.

55,963. Who was in the district after your connexion with it?—Brown was previously engaged as a clerk during the election.

55,964. Where does he live?—Somewhere in Francis Street; it is a very extensive district.

55,965. What is his Christian name?—Charles.

55,966. He would have a good deal more to pay than your 20*l.*?—I should think he would, perhaps, pay 50*l.* or 60*l.*

55,967. Did anybody pay with him?—Not that I am aware of.

55,968. Do you know what became of the books and papers of your committee?—No.

55,969. In whose custody were they?—The last time I saw them, they were in Mr. Cattley's office. I believe they were sent from there to the central committee.

55,970. Are these all the papers you have with regard to the election?—Those are all I can find.

55,971. Do you think you could not by a little pains give us the names of more persons?—No, I cannot. I should know them during the election. I should not know them if I saw them now.

55,972. Did you meet Lidgard now and then?—I never saw him in my life before.

55,973. Were you not at Mr. Bannister's?—Never.

55,974. You saw Mr. Wilde occasionally?—I did not know him personally till I saw him in this court.

55,975. Was he in the same district?—The same street.

55,976. Who do you think was the best man, Lidgard or Wilde?—Wilde, decidedly.

55,977. You think he is the best man?—He began earlier than we did.

Mr. G. P. Craven.

22d July 1853.

55,978. He is pretty nearly opposite to you?—Some little distance off.

55,979. Did you see many going there?—The first I know of, is a man named Edwards, who ran from our room; he had had 10*s.* pay for three days' employment. I saw him standing at the door; of course I asked one of our messengers to inquire what he was up to there.

55,980. Then you found him out?—Yes.

55,981. As far as you have heard since the election, how much longer do you think Mr. Wilde's list was than Lidgard's?—I have not heard; I think there were 120 in Lidgard's, and I should say Mr. Wilde's list was nearly four times as many, from what I have heard of the evidence here.

55,982. You spoke of a man named Brown paying, was that man a voter?—Yes.

Mr. William Farthing sworn, and examined.

Mr. W. Farthing.

55,983. Where do you live in Hull?—I live in Portland Place.

55,984. What rent do you pay for your house?—I am paying £25.

55,985. What is your business?—A seed crusher.

55,986. Are you a 10*l.* household voter?—I am not on the register at present; I have not lived long enough in the place where I am to be on.

55,987. Were you once so?—I was once.

55,988. Were you at the last election?—No.

55,989. How long have you lived in Hull?—About forty years.

55,990. You were on the register in 1841 and 1847?—Yes, I was.

55,991. Did you, before 1841, know the system of Hull elections?—I know it in the general way that everybody knows of it; not anything more.

55,992. Did you take any part in the election of 1841?—I was one of the committee that election.

55,993. On which committee?—The West Sculcoates.

55,994. Were you merely a member of the committee?—The chairman.

55,995. For Hanmer and James?—Yes.

55,996. Who was the deputy chairman?—Mr. Lockwood.

55,997. Who was the clerk?—I do not remember.

55,998. Who were the active persons?—We had rather a numerous committee, I think; it is a ward in which a great many gentlemen happened to live.

55,999. Do you recollect who was particularly active?—No, I do not.

56,000. Now, at that election, did you set down names at your committee?—I should think we should set down names, certainly; I do not understand setting down in the way we have heard.

56,001. For the purpose of employing or paying them?—We set down as many as we intended to employ as runners, and certainly paid them.

56,002. All those you did set down, I presume it was part of the condition, that they should vote for you?—Undoubtedly that would be so, if they were voters, but they were not always voters.

56,003. Did you, then, set down names of parties in any other than the ordinary ense?—No; I did not, certainly.

56,004. You did not understand that?—I understood we paid only those that worked, and those that were set down not to work were men, I understood, who intended to vote for the parties, without anything like setting down.

56,005. How many men were employed at your committee room on that occasion?—I do not know in the least how many men were paid; I think they were paid weekly.

56,006. Who paid them?—I do not know.

56,007. You had no part in it?—No, not in the least; we had a clerk or two employed. I really do not know last election how the payments for runners were made, but my impression is they were paid every week.

56,008. Do you not know that, during that election, money was being given to a large extent by your party?—No, I do not.

56,009. Your attention was not called to it?—Not in the least.

56,010. Do you know of any who did not take it, to influence the votes of the parties, by paying money I mean?—No, certainly not.

56,011. Not in the way of taking their rooms?—No; we had no committee room that I know of, except the one we used.

56,012. You knew of the mode of gaining votes by employing runners, did you?—Yes, of course I did.

56,013. Was there any separate room that you know of in your district for setting down names?—I did not know that there was, and I do not think there was.

56,014. Do you know of any separate room at that election, without regard to any district?—I do not think there was.

56,015. In the 1847 election did you take part?—I was not in Hull at that election.

56,016. You know nothing of it?—No.

56,017. At the last election you did take part?—No, not in the least.

Mr. W. Farthing.

22d July 1853.

56,018. In 1841, were you at Mrs. Hopper's?—Yes; we had our committee room there.

56,019. The committee at which you sat?—Yes.

56,020. Do you know of the method of paying parties at Mrs. Hopper's?—I do not know that there was any method, except what had been usual everywhere.

56,021. You know Mrs. Hopper sat behind a screen?—No.

56,022. And that she paid the parties?—I never heard of it.

56,023. Did you not understand that she took a part in the payment?—Not in the least; nothing of the kind.

56,024. Were you ever present when anything of the sort took place?—No, never at all.

56,025. That parties were paid through a door?—No.

56,026. It is said Mrs. Hopper sat behind a door, and a knock was given when a voter came; one knock meant one sovereign, and two knocks meant two sovereigns, and so on, and they were paid. Did anything of that kind happen?—It is solely without any foundation. I have heard of the story from Mr. John Richardson, the dentist; there was a riot at the committee room, and the door was broken, and that is how the split was made, which may have been used for that purpose.

56,027. Mrs. Hopper sat behind the door in this way, we have heard; do you deny that?—I deny it in toto, that ever such a thing occurred.

56,028. May it be true that Mrs. Hopper paid it and you not aware of it?—No, it cannot be true.

56,029. Supposing you had heard Mrs. Hopper pledge her oath to the fact, should you still be equally satisfied that it was untrue?—I should say, if it could be true, it would be the act of some other parties; it was a thing I never knew of.

W. B. Steeple.

WILLIAM BOLLAN STEEPLE sworn, and examined.

56,030. Where do you live?—71, Portland Street.

56,031. Do you occupy a house there yourself?—I do.

56,032. What rent do you pay?—£7.

56,033. Are you a freeman?—No; I am freeborn. I served seven years, but I never was a voter.

56,034. Did you assist in any way in the election of 1841?—Yes; Sir John Hanmer.

56,035. Hanmer and James's election?—I was clerk for Mr. Bannister at the rooms in Waterworks Street—Tesseyman's.

56,036. Francis Tesseyman?—I do not know his first name.

56,037. Have you got any papers relating to that election?—No, nothing at all.

56,038. Did you assist in setting down names there?—Some few.

56,039. How many do you think you set down?—Well, upon an average, we had about seven or eight a week employed.

56,040. How long for?—It must be a long time; it was from some two months previous to the election taking place.

56,041. Did you set down 60 or 100 names?—Perhaps there might be; I cannot say exactly; I think we averaged about six or eight a week. We did not keep them on constantly, we changed them; we took so many a week, and the next week we changed them and put on fresh ones again.

56,042. How much each did you give them?—I think a pound, or a guinea a week, if I recollect right.

56,043. Did you pay them?—No.

56,044. Did you pay some of them after the election?—No, none at all; no money passed through my hands.

56,045. Were those men set down on the usual terms?—The late Mr. Thomas Wayne is the gentleman who paid a great many of them.

56,046. Did you not help him?—No, I did not.

56,047. Did you see several of them paid?—No; I understood that he paid them, but I did not help him.

56,048. Were you present to write down the names?—No; but I gave a list in on the Saturday evening of the people who were employed, which, I think, averaged generally about eight each week, as near as I can tell; it is a long time ago.

56,049. Do you know what has become of those papers?—They were all sent to the rooms, and I have never seen them since. I have no papers from that time.

56,050. Is that all you know of that election?—That is all I know of that election.

56,051. Now the election of 1847, did you assist your father then?—No; I worked for Mr. Baines entirely.

56,052. Where?—I was employed as clerk under Mr. Charles Wilkinson, North Myton ward.

56,053. Was that a committee for Mr. Baines alone?—Yes, for Mr. Baines alone.

56,054. Did you set down names there?—Yes, I did; all who came to vote for Mr. Baines I put down, and sent the list of them to the central rooms.

56,055. Where were the central rooms?—At the George Inn.

56,056. How many do you think you set down?—Well, I am sure I cannot say. I would say altogether I may have set down from forty to sixty.

56,057. During what period?—About a week.

56,058. A week before the election?—A week before the election.

56,059. Or it might be less?—It might be less.

56,060. Were they all paid?—I paid none.

56,061. They were set down to vote for Mr. Baines, and to be paid?—To be paid, some, I understood, 10*s.*, and others 5*s.* Some were to have two days' pay, that was 10*s.*, and others one day, that was 5*s.*; that was the sum that was partly promised them.

56,062. They were all to get, at least, 5*s.*?—So I understood, but Mr. Sidebottom paid the men; at least, he ought to have done so.

56,063. Is he alive?—I do not know; I expect so. He is a solicitor. They went to his office, after the election was over, and what he paid them I do not know. I understood he did not pay a great many. There was a great deal of grumbling among the men afterwards. A great many went without payment.

56,064. He did not pay them?—Yes; and that made it worse for me. When I applied to certain parties on this occasion, they said, "Unless we are paid beforehand, we will have nothing to do with you." As far as regards the last election, they would not bestow a word upon it.

56,065. Did you canvass for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—I was clerk. I did not canvass, but we were so poorly assisted by the committee in our district, that instead of the gentlemen working as they ought to have done, I was obliged to leave the room, and go out occasionally canvassing.

56,066. Were the fifty or sixty that you set down employed?—Are you speaking of the last election?

56,067. No, 1847?—That is Mr. Baines'. I am sure I cannot say. I should say that we had above one half of them on constant duty—in attendance, in case they were wanted. Of course we could not keep them constantly going.

56,068. You gave them as much work as you could?—Yes.

56,069. That is so?—They were there in attendance.

56,070. You made work for them?—Yes.

56,071. You did your best, any way, to make work for them?—Yes; it is well understood, these matters.

56,072. Did you give them something to drink?—I did the best I could to keep them together. If I had not done so, Mr. Baines would have been farther astern than he was. If I had not kept the men together Mr. Clay would have been at the head of the poll at that election. I have no doubt that he would have passed Mr. Baines.

56,073. You said you heard the men grumble afterwards at not being paid by Mr. Sidebottom?—Yes, I did.

56,074. You were employed in 1852, canvassing them for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes; and they threw that in my teeth about Mr. Baines.

56,075. Where did you canvass?—The North Myton ward.

56,076. How many do you think you set down then?—I have a list here; that is, as far as I have paid them.

56,077. Can you point out on this list, among these, the people who grumbled? Look at it.—Perhaps I can. (The witness examined the list.) Windass is the first.

56,078. You had better look them through at some other time, and give us a list of the names.—I will do so.

56,079. I suppose you set down names as far as you could?—Yes.

56,080. And you kept your men together as far as you could?—Yes.

56,081. Is that a list of those whom you set down (handing a paper to the witness)?—This is a list of those I had in my employment, and paid weekly the first, second, third, and fourth week. After that I was ill, and the rest of the payments were made by my father at his house, which he gave you an explanation of last night.

56,082. That contains all the persons you paid?—That is a list of the whole of the men I paid.

56,083. Are there any names in that list set down whom you did not pay, or did you pay something to everybody who was set down?—Those in actual employment; I paid none others.

56,084. Did you find employment for all your applicants in one way or another?—All of those there.

56,085. But did you have any applicants that you did not find employment for?—No; I do not know that. If there had been more applications at the latter end of the time I should have put them on. The first, second, and third week we stuck to the agreement as near as possible; the first week there were three, the next week four, but that list will tell you that. Then we found out that the other party were increasing their men, and we did the same; we followed their example. They broke the agreement first, and then we thought we had a right to do the same, and we put on more men.

56,086. When did you hear of the agreement being broken?—I think it was at the fore end of the third week.

56,087. Were there any sham committee rooms in your district?—Our general com-

W. B. Steeple.
22d July 1853.

mittee room was at Stephenson's, in Prospect Street. We engaged one at the Paragon Inn, that was two; one at Clappison's, that was three; then we had one at Gilliatt's, that was four; and we engaged one in Brook Street, but that the orange party took from us. We engaged one at Hall's, in Brook Street, and we sent down a blue colour; the next morning the orange colours were flying out, and our blue colour was flying out of the top window, and we sent for it back.

56,088. How came you to take that? did you ascertain that he was a safe man?—No; we wanted another room—we actually did. The electors about that part, especially about Spring Street, lay so wide from the general committee that we thought another room was necessary.

56,089. Did you have any others?—No; those are the only rooms that we had.

56,090. Have you any other papers?—Nothing of any consequence.

56,091. If you will hand us in any papers we will judge of their consequence?—Here are the receipts that the men handed in every Saturday (handing in some papers).

56,092. What are those other papers?—Those are minutes of the first meeting, if you like to look at them.

56,093. What is that you have down there?—This is a summary of the voters in the North Myton ward, to see how they voted after the election was over. It is immaterial, and here are the canvass books, with the exception of two which Mr. Markham and Mr. Jubb had. They never returned them to the room, but those are the remainder. That is all I have; all the rest were sent in to the central room.

56,094. Were there any other papers handed over to Mr. Wells, or to the central committee, after the election was over?—The following day after the election I was not able to attend at the room, but the under clerks under me said that a party came from the central committee room to have the papers sent, and Mr. Harrison, my clerk, sent the remainder of the papers to the central committee, and I have not seen them since.

56,095. What is Harrison's Christian name?—I think it is either John or Henry, but I had two others. I had three under clerks for the last two or three days to assist me, but they were not voters. I had three clerks under me who were non-voters.

56,096. Did a man called Legitt, or Ludgard, come to your committee?—I do not know him, I never saw him in my life.

56,097. You have heard of him I suppose?—I perhaps might, but I do not know the man at all.

56,098. Did you have any money from your father to pay the men with?—No; the money I paid our men with I went to the central committee room for, but one Saturday I had the money to pay the men from my father.

56,099. Did he get it from the central committee room?—My father gave it me one week, Mr. Thomas Gleadow gave me the sum another week, and I think one of the clerks perhaps Mr. Rosindale, I cannot exactly say, it might be one of the clerks, that gave me the money the following week. That list will show what payments I made.

56,100. You did not pay any out of door bills for your father?—No; he paid all the bills himself after the election was over.

56,101. Did a man of the name of Thomas Goldsmith, junior, assist you in paying?—No; he never came there but once.

56,102. He was on your committee?—He never acted; he came there but once, and only once, I think.

56,103. Did Mr. Goldsmith pay any money?—It would be out of his own pocket if he did. I cannot say. I am sure he knew better how to take care of his money.

56,104. You say that he never attended?—He never did. I only saw him there once; on the election day he was there, but he did not take a very active part.

56,105. Did he make any payments, to your knowledge?—No; I do not know where he could get the money from. I was the only person who received the money previous to the election.

56,106. It has been so state d that he did?—I think it is wrong. It has been a false statement.

56,107. Do you know a man of the name of Mortimer?—Yes.

56,108. What was he?—He was employed in the last week.

56,109. He is not in your list?—He was employed in the last week. My father paid him; that would be for the last week. I know he was put down. I put him down, previous to my illness, in my list for a week, and I should say my father would pay him. All whom I paid are given in that list, and I know nothing more.

Mr. J. W. Pease.

Mr. Joseph Walker Pease sworn, and examined.

56,110. Do you carry on business in this town?—I do.

56,111. Are you a merchant?—I am a banker.

56,112. What is the rental or the rateable value of the premises you occupy in this town?—£90.

56,113. How long have you been a voter in Hull?—I voted at Baines and Brown's election.

56,114. Are you a freeman?—No, I am not.

56,115. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Baines and Brown.

56,116. Were you a member of any committee then?—No.

56,117. Did you take any part in that election?—No.

56,118. In 1852 you voted for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes.

56,119. Were you an active party?—I was appointed upon their committee.

56,120. Upon the general committee?—Upon the general committee..

56,121. Did you attend pretty frequently?—I attended every day for an hour or so.

56,122. Were you aware of all the arrangements that were made?—I was.

56,123. As far as you know, what was the practice resorted to with respect to setting down and employing voters?—The orders that were given at the central committee were, that no additional runners should be engaged beyond the arrangement that had been entered into between Mr. Wells and Mr. Galloway.

56,124. Was it considered at all inconsistent with that arrangement that the runners should be changed, so that you could employ a greater number of persons in a smaller number of days?—I am not aware that that subject was named in my presence.

56,125. Did you hear that that had been considered?—I have heard so in this court to-day, but I was not aware of it before.

56,126. According to your view, is that inconsistent with the orders that were given?—I should say it would have been better not to have done so.

56,127. But still, I suppose, you knew that that had been so arranged?—I was not aware of it till I heard it given in evidence here.

56,128. You were not aware of it at the time?—No, I was not aware that it had been done.

56,129. Then it was not done in the central committee room?—It was not ordered to be done when I was present, and I was not aware that it was done.

56,130. Nor where it was done?—Nor where.

56,131. Do you know that there were a good many applications to the central committee for employment as runners, and that they were sent to the district committees?—I am aware that parties applied to be employed as runners, and that they were referred to the district committees.

56,132. All that applied to the central committee were referred to the district committee to which they belonged?—Yes. I should say, as a rule, that the central committee would not interfere in that matter at all.

56,133. According to your memory, all who applied were referred to the respective district committees?—Yes. I should wish to explain,—not necessarily that they should be placed on a list for payment, it was not so by any means.

56,134. They were referred to their district, to deal with them as they pleased?—Subject to the orders of the central committee.

56,135. The central committee consisted of all the chairmen, and the deputy chairmen?—Yes; and some few others added to it.

56,136. Like yourself?—Yes.

56,137. Do you remember a discussion taking place, previous to the 30th of June, for increasing the staff of the general committee and all the district committees?—Yes, I believe I do.

56,138. Some parties were for it, and some were against it?—Yes, they were.

56,139. Was it also then that a discussion took place as to to the retaining some of the money in hand, in order to keep the men safe?—Yes; I heard some gentleman advocate the retaining some part of the weekly payment to the men employed.

56,140. You are aware that it appears on your minutes that these resolutions were come to at one and the same time, as to the retaining a portion of the payment; and then that those resolutions were rescinded, and the original resolutions passed again; so on, backwards and forwards?—I am aware that it was changed once or twice.

56,141. Four times?—I am not aware of it to that extent.

56,142. You were present at some of the discussions?—I was present at some of the discussions.

56,143. And both practices were adopted?—Yes, they were.

56,144. Did you take any part in the election, except giving your attendance in the committee room?—No. I did not canvass a vote; I did not apply to any person for his vote.

56,145. Did you pay anybody?—I never saw any money paid, or pay any to any one myself.

56,146. We have a little about the treat that was given in Dock Street; do you know anything about it?—No; I never heard anything of it.

56,147. You know nothing about that?—I do not know anything about it, in Dock Street.

56,148. You never heard of it? You never heard at all of such a thing having taken place?—If it is the supper you are alluding to, I have heard that such a supper did take place, but I was not there, nor do I know the particulars of it. I do not know where it was held.

56,149. It was before the election.—I suppose you are alluding to one about a month before the election?

Mr. J. W. Pease.

22d July 1853.

56,150. I mean one that took place in Dock Street.—No; I do not know anything about it.

56,151. Have you heard of the scheme called Mr. Wells' scheme?—Yes.

56,152. Did you endeavour to understand it?—Yes, I did, to a certain extent.

56,153. I have very little hesitation in asking you whether it succeeded?—I think it succeeded perfectly with those parties who chose to take the trouble of analysing the return sheets.

56,154. Did you understand the system?—Yes, I did, perfectly. I have in my pocket some of the sheets. (The witness produced the same.)

56,155. Did you endeavour, in conjunction with Mr. Saxelby, to work out the system?—Yes, I did.

56,156. Are these the return sheets?—Those are the check sheets. The object of the plan was this: the committee room was too small for the working of the election, and there was a committee room appointed on purpose to relieve it on the day of the election, and the check sheets were sent from each polling booth to this house.

56,157. This is nothing more than the common every day system (referring to the check sheets)?—That was sent to the central room.

56,158. I thought it was some new invention of Mr. Wells, but this is the common place system?—It was Mr. Wells's.

56,159. It is the old fashion mode of carrying these things on?—The object of the room was to get the quickest returns made from the polling booths, and send them to the district committees.

56,160. Was it anything more than merely sending the check sheets from the polling booths to the different district committees?—Yes; and to the central committee.

56,161. That was all?—That was all.

56,162. That always takes place?—The great difficulty, in a large contested election, is to get an immediate return to the different district committees.

56,163. How many men were employed in this?—There were sixty-six employed. Mr. Ash, who managed the men there, has a corrected list of them.

56,164. What o'clock did you get there in the morning?—At eight o'clock, I think.

56,165. It had been arranged that the people were to attend there early that morning, on the day before?—No, I think not.

56,166. How did you get the men together that morning?—They were sent from the different district committees in the morning.

56,167. Mr. Wells' own account is this: that all the men were not to be found in the morning.—I believe there was a great difficulty in getting the men together.

56,168. Do you agree with that account of Mr. Wells, that the men who were to come there, the large proportion of them, were not to be found, and that you were obliged to get others?—Yes; I believe that was so.

56,169. That list contains a very much smaller number of persons than were originally intended to work it?—I am not aware of that. The plan was discussed in the committee in a very hurried form, and it was adopted without any settled arrangement about it. We were placed in great confusion, and a fresh list of men had to be provided on the nomination day, in fact.

56,170. And even a great number of those were absent in the morning?—I had not the making out of the list myself. We had a sufficient staff to do what we wanted at nine o'clock.

56,171. That number of men were only found in the morning?—I believe they were men found that morning.

56,172. And those principally were non-voters?—Yes, I presume so; they would be taken indiscriminately.

56,173. You first exhausted the voters, and then exhausted the non-voters?—All we wanted was men to do the work.

56,174. Is that so, that you exhausted the voters first?—No; I do not think so.

56,175. How many, do you think, of the voters were left unemployed, and you preferred non-voters?—I cannot say whether they were or were not. Parties were taken on to work at that room according to their capacity to do the work, independently of their votes.

56,176. You would have got all voters if you could?—I have no doubt a preference would have been given to voters.

56,177. Mr. Wells tells us he wanted 478 persons to carry out the scheme; is that so?—I am not aware of it of my own knowledge.

56,178. You were one of the deputation to Mr. Moore, were you not?—Yes; I went with two other gentlemen to Normanton to see him.

56,179. And there was a proposal that he should pay £2,000?—I was not in England at the time of the first negotiation taking place.

56,180. Were you not at Normanton?—Yes; I went to see him.

56,181. On that occasion was there not a proposal that he should advance £2,000?—I believe it was £1,000.

56,182. Did you not propose £2,000, and he £1,000, and then you split the difference, and there was an understanding to pay £1,200? that is the evidence of one of the gentlemen.—I cannot tax my memory. It was presumed that we should not have a contest, and if so, the expenses would be less.

Mr J. W. Pease.

22d July 1853.

56,183. Mr. Barkworth has told us that he went with you, and that you named £2,000; that Mr. Moore bid £1,000, and then you split the difference and agreed to £1,200?—I did not hear it, but if Mr. Barkworth has stated it, no doubt it is correct.

56,184. You will not set your memory up against his, in that respect?—If he stated it, I have no doubt it is most strictly correct.

56,185. Have you any other belief, which is inconsistent with that?—I do not know it of my own knowledge; I do not remember it, but I have no belief inconsistent with that. It is possible the conversation was carried on when I was not present.

56,186. What you say is, that you have no knowledge which is inconsistent with that statement?—No.

56,187. Only you do not remember it yourself?—Yes; I do not remember it myself.

56,188. And it may have occurred while you were not paying any attention to it?—I paid no attention to it, and I do not remember its taking place, of my own knowledge.

Mr. W. Burstall.

Mr. William Burstall sworn, and examined.

56,189. What are you, Mr. Burstall?—A broker and agent.

56,190. Where do you live?—At Hessle.

56,191. Do you pay a rent for your house?—I do not.

56,192. What are you rated at?—I am rated, I believe, at 50*l.* a year.

56,193. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—Yes.

56,194. Who did you vote for?—James and Hanmer.

56,195. Were you on any committee at that election?—I was on the general committee, I think.

56,196. Have you also heard of the system of setting down names? You know it was so?—Of course I know what was generally taking place at the elections.

56,197. Did you make any payments yourself at that election?—I do not remember that I did.

56,198. In 1841?—I do not remember that I did.

56,199. Did any money pass through your hands?—I do not remember it.

56,200. At that election in 1841?—I do not remember.

56,201. Have you anything to communicate to us about that election?—Nothing whatever.

56,202. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines.

56,203. Were you on a committee then?—I was working in conjunction with Mr. Digby; we scarcely had a committee.

56,204. Were you acting with Mr. Digby?—I was acting with him.

56,205. I believe he was one of the active people for Mr. Brown at that election?—He was; there was no committee.

56,206. There was a good deal of money paid at that election by Mr. Brown for a short time?—There was.

56,207. You made a good many payments yourself?—I did.

56,208. How much, do you know, was paid as a total by Mr. Brown?—£3,000.

56,209. Have you any papers connected with the payments at that election?—None whatever.

56,210. What are the particulars that you will be able to furnish us with?—I paid Mr. Yeall, chairman of the East Sculcoates committee, 105*l.*

56,211. That is 1847 election?—Yes; Mr. Brown's election.

56,212. The next?—Mr. Bannister, about 200*l.*; he said so in Court this morning.

56,213. When did you pay Mr. Yeall the 105*l.*?—I should pay them the day before the election and the election day.

56,214. When did you pay the next sum?—At the same time.

56,215. To Mr. Bannister?—Yes.

56,216. And the next?—I paid to Robert Collison 15*l.*, to Edward Twining 90*l.* (he was the chairman of the Holderness ward), and to William Stephenson 80*l.*

56,217. Give us the times of each?—I will tell you how I paid it. Generally speaking, except in one instance to Mr. Stephenson, I gave him some at the central committee room in the Market Place,—the others I went round to the different committee rooms, and gave the chairman the money at the same time.

56,218. At what time?—The day before the election and the election day.

56,219. In all cases?—In all cases. I have further paid some money, I do not know what sums, to Mr. Stanniland, Mr. P. Day, and Mr. Thomas Mitchell; those three parties are all dead.

56,220. There is a Mr. Thorney?—You have him down as a chairman, but Mr. Twining acted as the chairman. I paid everything to Mr. Twining, not to Mr. Thorney.

56,221. How much altogether?—I paid 90*l.* to Mr. Twining.

56,222. And to the last three?—To Mitchell I have no doubt I should give 200*l.* or 300*l.*; he was the heaviest claimant we had.

Mr. W. Burstall.

22d July 1853.

56,223. He happens to be dead?—Yes; I told you three of the chairman were dead. I have got at these sums from the different chairmen. I have no recollection of it myself.

56,224. What are the other two?—Stanniland and Day.

56,225. How much to them?—I do not think they had much; probably somewhere about 50*l.* each, I should think.

56,226. Have you gone through the list?—Yes; I have given the whole.

56,227. I believe you had as much money as you wanted at that election?—Yes.

56,228. Where do you get it from?—Raikes' Bank, by cheque from Mr. Digby. He gave me a cheque on Raikes' Bank.

56,229. For what amount?—For various amounts. I had half a sheet of paper with different chairmen's names on, and when I made a payment I put their initials opposite the payment, and at the end Mr. Digby knew what he gave me cheques for, and I gave him the balance.

56,230. Was the sum you mentioned, the 3,000*l.*, placed to Mr. Digby's credit by Mr. Brown for that election at Raikes' Bank?—No; I believe not.

56,231. Do you know if Mr. Digby had two cheques from Mr. Brown for 1,500*l.* each?—I do.

56,232. Do you know when Mr. Digby had those cheques?—I think Mr. Brown gave one of them, probably, on the day he arrived; the first one I am not so sure about. After the election Mr. Brown requested that all the accounts might be sent in, as he was going to the Moors to shoot.

56,233. Did you send those monies to the different parties in gold?—I paid them all in gold.

56,234. You got the cheques you had cashed in that way?—Yes.

56,235. You had bags of gold?—Yes; I took care of it.

56,236. Besides those monies that you sent to them, did you pay some freemen yourself?—I understand two freemen said that I paid them. I have no recollection of it.

56,237. I understand that you paid eighty of them?—Whoever has told you that has told a deliberate falsehood.

56,238. I am told you paid eighty at the Baltic?—There is not a word of truth in it.

56,239. Did anybody pay the money and you supply it?—Not that I am aware of. I recollect an application that was made by some man at the Baltic, after Mr. Brown had given up the election.

56,240. Did you furnish any money to him?—It is not likely I should.

56,241. It was called Nicholson's lot. He seems to have made a discount in each case for his own benefit?—Very likely.

56,242. Is it likely?—I do not know the man.

56,243. You do not recollect that fact?—Not further than I have stated.

56,244. Was any money paid by you for them?—Not one farthing.

56,245. Do you know whether Mr. Digby sent any money there?—I am sure he would not; the application was made to me. Mr. Brown was then in the committee room; I went to him, and he said he would resign.

56,246. You told me just now that you had as much money as you wanted. Was there any limit put on what you were to ask for?—I was not refused money.

56,247. You said you might have what money you wanted at that election for Mr. Brown. Was there any limit put on it?—No; none whatever. When I say what money I wanted, I mean a few hundred or a thousand pounds.

56,248. Why did Mr. Brown give up?—His impression was, that if he went on, that Mr. Baines would be thrown out, and he said he would not, on any account, be the means of throwing Mr. Baines out.

56,249. Is that the reason?—I heard so.

56,250. Was that likely at the time?—Mr. Brown came to us in the committee room in a great state of excitement, and he said he had been informed that if he went on with the election he would be elected, and Mr. Baines would be thrown out.

56,251. At that time was he at the head of the poll or Mr. Baines?—A very few.

56,252. Mr. Baines?—About 250. There were a great many people then hanging back. We then had an application for 100, which we could have secured.

56,253. Do you know that persons went on polling for Mr. Brown after that?—Yes; it was an hour or half an hour before the closing of the poll.

56,254. That would be about four o'clock?—It was nearly four o'clock before it was publicly known.

56,255. I suppose those who voted after he resigned would be paid as well as before?—Yes; none of his own friends would go to the poll after they knew that he had resigned, which makes his chance still stronger that he would have been elected if he had not resigned.

56,256. It stopped some from voting?—Yes; those who voted afterwards were the people who wanted to be paid. That is the conclusion I came to.

56,257. Did you have any balance left in your hands?—Yes.

56,258. That you paid over, of course?—I returned it to Mr. Digby.

56,259. What might that be?—I really do not know.

Mr. W. Burstall.

22d July 1853

56,260. Did you render him an account?—The only account I gave Mr. Digby was the fly sheet with the chairmen's receipts. I gave him that and the balance at the same time.

56,261. Did you secure some votes yourself or by some other people at that election of 1847; we understand that Mr. Stephenson did?—He was the district chairman.

56,262. Did he secure some votes by money under your direction at that election?—No; not that I am aware of.

56,263. He has stated to us that you directed him to secure some voters at 10*s.* a head?—That was what they generally had.

56,264. Do you recollect at that particular committee room you gave any such direction?—I do not recollect it.

56,265. Where was the committee room at that time?—In Bishop Lane.

56,266. Lowgate?—Yes; going up Lowgate.

56,267. He has made that statement to us.—Very likely it is so.

56,268. Ten shillings a head was the usual sum?—Ten shillings a head was the usual sum.

56,269. Have you any books, or did you return them?—The only memorandum whatever that I had was the sheet of paper I spoke of.

56,270. Had you any other papers, or have you been able to find any, except what you have been good enough to write out?—I never had any other paper.

56,271. Now, in 1852 did you do much in that?—No; I did not.

56,272. Did you vote then?—Yes; I voted.

56,273. For whom?—For Mr. Butler and Mr. Moore.

56,274. Did you take any interest in that election as a committee man?—I was not a committee man at all.

56,275. Did you make any payments at all?—Not one shilling.

56,276. Did any money pass through your hands?—Not one farthing.

56,277. Directly or indirectly?—Neither directly nor indirectly.

56,278. Were you a member of any committee?—No; I was not at the last election.

JOHN AITKIN sworn, and examined.

John Aitken.

56,279. Do you live at Myton Gate?—Yes.

56,280. Do you rent a house?—It is my own house.

56,281. What are you rated at?—£20.

56,282. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—I believe so.

56,283. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,284. When were you made a freeman?—In 1812.

56,285. Did you vote as a freeman at the last election?—Yes.

56,286. Did you vote in 1841?—I believe so.

56,287. Hanmer and James?—Yes.

56,288. Did you take any part in any committee?—I think not.

56,289. Did you get any names set down?—I believe not.

56,290. Did you make payments to any voters?—No; not until the last election; at no previous election.

56,291. Not in 1841?—No; at none.

56,292. In 1847, did you vote?—I cannot say.

56,293. The candidates were Clay, Baines, and Brown.—If I did it would be for Mr. Baines. I do not know that I did.

56,294. You voted, I see, for Baines and Brown. Were you upon any committee?—I believe not.

56,295. Say whether you did, or did not; you say you believe, which leaves a doubt.—I did not.

56,296. Then you were not on any committee?—No.

56,297. You have heard what Mr. Burstall has just told us about Mr. Brown's election?—Yes.

56,298. Did you make any payments for Mr. Brown?—No; I did not know that I voted for him.

56,299. Did you pay any money at all at that election?—No.

56,300. Did you do anything for Mr. Brown at that election?—Nothing but voting.

56,301. In 1852 you voted for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—I did.

56,302. You paid some people, I believe, on the morning of the polling day—some freemen?—I paid one, I believe.

56,303. I am told you paid all that came to you; was that only one?—I think only one.

56,304. What is his name?—His name was Dunn.

56,305. What else?—John, I think.

56,306. Where did you pay him?—I paid him in the Falstaff public house.

56,307. How much did you pay him?—£1.

56,308. What for?—For the time he had been employed.

John Aitkin.
22d July 1853.

56,309. Had he voted?—No; he said he should not be able to run about afterwards, and he wished to be paid, and I paid him a pound.

56,310. Where had he been employed?—At the Shakspeare.

56,311. In a committee?—No.

56,312. In what way?—As a runner, occasionally.

56,313. Others were paid at the Falstaff?—There were some others paid there.

56,314. Not by you?—Not by me.

56,315. Mr. Ouston paid?—I believe he did. I saw him pay one man.

56,316. Did you help him to pay?—No, I did not help him. I saw him pay one man.

56,317. Where did you get your money from to pay your freemen?—The one I paid?

56,318. Yes.—Mr. Davis had given me 5*l.* previous to pay two or three parties, and this was money I still had in hand.

56,319. Do you know anything of the employment of those freemen yourself?—This Dunn?

56,320. Yes. How came you to pay him?—I paid him because I had been keeping an account of the runners.

56,321. What runners?—Those that attended there to carry out messages.

56,322. At the Shakspeare?—Yes.

56,323. That was not a committee room?—Yes, it was; it was a regular committee room for the district.

56,324. Did you pay a man named Thomas Tadman?—I think I paid him 10*s.* 6*d.* on the Saturday night before the election. His name was not Thomas,—I think his name was Richard Tadman.

56,325. Where did you pay Richard Tadman?—Most likely at the Shakspeare.

66 326. Can you tell me any more you paid?—That was at the Falstaff.

56,327. You paid this man at the Shakspeare?—Yes.

56,328. When did you pay him?—On the Saturday after the election.

56,329. £1.?—No; 10*s.* 6*d.*

56,330. How came you to pay him?—He required to be paid, being Saturday night.

56,331. Were you the paymaster of this district?—I was so far as the 5*l.* went.

56,332. To whom were you to pay the 5*l.*?—The reason of my getting the 5*l.*——

56,333. Never mind that. Who were you to pay it to?—Those that applied; and the reason of my getting it was, a person of the name of Bell wished to be paid for his family, and Mr. Davis gave me the money and said I was to pay that man.

56,334. You said before you were to pay all who applied?—No.

56,335. You had 5*l.* to pay all who applied?—To pay some that applied.

56,336. How were you to discriminate whom you were to pay?—I had the principal charge of that room with regard to the runners.

56,337. Have you got a list of those you paid?—I have given Mr. Davis a list.

56,338. Did you exhaust the 5*l.*?—Yes.

56,339. And gave in a list?—I gave a statement to Mr. Davis.

56,340. A statement in writing was it?—I believe so.

56,341. When did you give it him?—As soon as the money was paid.

56,342. You spent all the money?—Yes.

56,343. Now, did you assist Mr. Davis in making some payments after the election?—I did.

56,344. Where did you help him?—In the Shakspeare.

56,345. After the election?—After the election.

56,346. How much did you pay away with him after the election?—I do not think there was 40*l.*

56,347. Not so much as 40*l.*?—I think not; about 40*l.*

56,348. What assistance did you give? What part did you take?—I acquainted Mr. Davis that they were the proper persons.

56,349. How did you do that?—By calling them in from the door,—they stood there,—and telling him that was such a person who had attended daily as a runner; he then on a small bit of paper put the sum they were to have, which amounted to about 17*s.* generally; and then they took it into the room adjoining, which was open partly as one room, and received the money and went out of the next door.

56,350. That was after the election?—On the Saturday after the election.

56,351. Did you ascertain which way they voted?—I know which way they voted, because they had been regular attendants.

56,352. Had they all voted?—They had all voted.

56,353. About how many would there be?—I think about thirty-five, as far as I can remember.

56,354. Were there any names put on a paper?—Yes; I have given in a paper on which there were names, as far as I can recollect them.

56,355. Who to?—To Mr. Davis.

56,356. You had to point out who the men were; did you find that some had voted Clay and Goderich?—Not on that list I gave Mr. Davis,—only the two Tadmans and Bell, those two had voted the other way. They did not get paid only for the three days previous to the election.

56,357. Those men who voted the wrong way, if they had not done so, would have got

John Aitkin.

22d July 1853.

four days' pay?—That Bell in particular, I know he attended up to the day of polling; I asked him if he was going to poll.

56,358. He had been employed?—Constantly; it was on account of him that I got the 5*l.* from Mr. Davis.

56,359. How did he vote?—I do not know positively, but he did not vote for Moore and Butler.

56,360. He was not paid?—He was not paid; he never came to be paid for the four days.

56,361. Suppose he had come, what would you have done?—Of course we should not have paid him, because we knew he had not voted for our party.

56,362. Did you pay Robert Headley, a ship's carpenter. ?—Yes.

56,363. Little Lane, Blackfriargate?—Yes.

56,364. How much did you pay him?—17*s.* 6*d.*

56,365. Where did you make that payment?—In the Shakspeare.

56,366. I do not know what you said you had done with the list of the thirty-five?—I gave it to Mr. Davis; I thought he would produce it. I can tell you most of the names.

56,367. Did you make out the list lately?—Yes.

56,368. And give it to Mr. Davis?—Yes; and I put also the numbers to it since he was here.

56,369. You would know most of the names, you think?—Yes, most of them; I think there are about thirty-two.

56,370. You have made them out before?—Yes, I have.

56,371. And gave it to Mr. Davis?—Yes.

56,372. And you can make it out again, I dare say?—I can tell you now, or nearly all of them.

56,373. Did you pay a man of the name of Henry Johnson?—Yes.

56,374. Did you pay him before he voted?—I paid him on the Saturday; he was one that got half a sovereign out of the 5*l.*

56,375. He would not vote for you unless he got his money?—He merely asked for it; he would have voted, no doubt.

56,376. Had he been employed?—Yes, he had.

Adjourned until to-morrow, ten o'clock.

FORTIETH DAY.—Saturday July 23d, 1853.

Richard Smith.

23d July 1853.

RICHARD SMITH sworn, and examined.

56,377. Where do you live?—Charter House Square.

56,378. What is your business?—A shipwright.

56,379. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

56,380. What rent do you pay?—£4 10*s.*

56,381. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,382. How long?—The first election I polled at was for Clay and Thompson.

56,383. That was in 1841?—Yes.

56,384. Did you have your freedom in 1839?—Yes, I believe I did.

56,385. Did the orange party take it up for you?—Yes, they took it up for me.

56,386. And you voted for Clay and Thompson in consequence?—Yes.

56,387. Did you get any money for your vote then?—No, I did not; I never got a farthing.

56,388. Neither before nor after polling?—No, not at that election.

56,389. In 1847, did you vote?—Yes.

56,390. Who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.

56,391. What did you get for your vote?—I got a sovereign.

56,392. For your vote for Clay and Brown?—From Mr. Clay, I believe.

56,393. And Mr. Brown?—I got a sovereign from Mr. Brown.

56,394. Who paid it?—Mr. Hall, in the Pottery, paid me.

56,395. Is that the Baltic?—Yes.

56,396. And in 1852, who did you vote for?—I voted for Moore and Butler.

56,397. And had your name set down?—I was a runner and got four days' pay, 1*l.*

56,398. Was that four days' pay for your vote for Moore and Butler?—I got no more than four days' pay.

56,399. Where did you get it?—I got it in Lowgate, at the committee room.

56,400. After voting?—After voting.

T. Watkinson.

22d July 1853.

THOMAS WATKINSON sworn, and examined.

56,401. Where do you live?—Church Street.
56,402. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.
56,403. At what rent?—Five guineas.
56,404. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
56,405. How long have you been free?—1839.
56,406. Was your freedom taken up for you by the orange or the blue party?—By the orange party.
56,407. Did you vote for Clay and Thompson in consequence?—I voted for Hanmer and James.
56,408. How much did you get for your vote then from Hanmer and James?—30*s.*
56,409. Who by?—I do not know the names.
56,410. Where was it paid?—In a smith's shop.
56,411. Where?—In Witham.
56,412. Paid behind a screen?—Yes.
56,413. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.
56,414. How much did you get for your vote?—30*s.*
56,415. Was that 10*s.* for Baines and 20*s.* for Brown, or how?—I got 30*s.* for Brown.
56,416. Where?—10*s.* in Sculcoates, 10*s.* in Witham, and 10*s.* in the town.
56,417. Where in the town?—In Bishop Lane.
56,418. Was that all?—Yes.
56,419. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Moore and Butler.
56,420. Did you have your name set down as a runner?—Yes.
56,421. How much did you get for your vote and services?—10*s.* 6*d.*
56,422. You were one of Mr. Cooper's men at the Ropery?—Yes.

Daniel Cherry.

DANIEL CHERRY sworn, and examined.

56,423. Where do you live?—Green Lane, Sculcoates.
56,424. What is your business?—Shipwright.
56,425. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.
56,426. At what rent?—£8.
56,427. Are you a freeman of the borough?—Yes; I was born free.
56,428. When did you take up your freedom?—I took it up in 1824.
56,429. Yourself?—Yes; I paid for it myself.
56,430. Before the Reform Bill, did you get your four guineas and two for your vote?—No, never yet.
56,431. Who did you vote for in 1841?—I hardly remember; I think it was Hanmer and James, but I will not be positive of that. I think it was Hanmer and James, but I will not be positive.
56,432. You did vote Hanmer and James.—I thought it was, but I was not positive.
56,433. How much did you get for your vote?—I cannot tell. I did not get above half a sovereign, if I got that.
56,434. Half a sovereign?—I think I got that; my Missus got it herself, out of Bowl Alley Lane.
56,435. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.
56,436. How much did you get?—I got half a sovereign.
56,437. Who for, Mr. Baines or Mr. Brown?—Mr. Brown.
56,438. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Moore and Butler.
56,439. Were you set down as a runner?—Yes, for four days.
56,440. Where?—In Sculcoates ward.
56,441. Did you get 1*l.* or 17*s.*?—I got 1*l.*, the week after the election.
56,442. Who from, do you know?—From Mr. Murtgatroyd, I think it was.
56,443. That was for your vote and services for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

William Burn.

WILLIAM BURN sworn, and examined.

56,444. Your appear to be ill?—Yes.
56,445. Have you been ill long?—Thirteen or fourteen years.
56,446. Where do you live in this town?—Church street, Wincolmlee.
56,447. Do you occupy a house?—Yes; a house and shop.
56,448. What rent do you pay?—£9.
56,449. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
56,450. How long have you been free?—Thirty-three years.
56,451. What business do you carry on?—A tinplate worker.
56,452. Do you remember who you voted for in 1841? Was it Hanmer and James?—Yes, those are the two, I believe, I voted for in the blue interest.

William Burn.

23d July 1853.

56,453. Did you receive any money for your vote from those gentlemen?—I cannot say I did.

56,454. Did you receive something afterwards? most of the people did.—Yes; I believe I did.

56,455. A sovereign?—Yes; something of that kind.

56,456. Do you recollect where?—I believe it was at the committee room at Linwood's.

56,457. In 1847 did you vote for Baines and Brown?—I did.

56,458. Did you get any money for your vote from either of those gentlemen?—I did not get it, but I believe my wife got half a sovereign.

56,459. Your wife got it for you?—Yes; she happened to be going by a certain place where they were paying, and they said they were paying there. "Your husband voted for Mr. Brown, come in and get the money," and she went in; but who it came from, I do not know.

56,460. You understood it came from Mr. Brown?—Yes.

56,461. Did you get anything else?—No.

56,462. In 1852, you had your name set down for Moore and Butler?—I had no name set down in 1852, I believe.

56,463. Did you vote Moore and Butler?—I voted for Moore and Butler.

56,464. How much did you get?—I got nothing at the election time.

56,465. After the election?—A month after, I believe, I got a sovereign; they brought it to my house.

56,466. Did you hear who brought it to your house?—I did not know the parties; they were two of the committee, but I did not know their names. They gave that to my wife in the same way, not to me.

56,467. Which ward are you in?—East Sculcoates.

W. Thompson.

William Thompson sworn, and examined.

56,468. Where do you live?—Charles Square, Wincolmlee.

56,469. What is your business?—A cooper.

56,470. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

56,471. At what rent?—£4 18*s.*

56,472. Are you also a freeman?—Yes.

56,473. How long have you been free?—1839, I got it taken up by the blue party.

56,474. Did you vote in consequence for Hanmer and James?—I did.

56,475. Did you get any money also after the election?—Yes; after the election I got a sovereign.

56,476. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.

56,477. Did you get any money for your vote from Mr. Clay?—Not from Mr. Clay then.

56,478. From Mr. Brown?—Yes.

56,479. How much?—One sovereign; and in 1852, I got 10*s.* on account of Mr. Clay.

56,480. Tell us how you got that 10*s.*?—I received it at the room in King——

56,481. How did you get it?—I was set down for two days at the time of the election as a runner.

56,482. In 1847?—Yes.

56,483. Then how did you manage not to get it before 1852?—I never had an opportunity, and never knew where to get it.

56,484. We hear that two gentlemen sat for a long time paying, and advertised in the newspaper, requiring every party to send in their claims?—I do not remember any until 1852.

56,485. There was an office for months?—I do not know of it.

56,486. How came you to hear of it in 1852?—By current report in the town; numbers of men were getting it.

56,487. Who told you?—I cannot say who told me; I heard it from several parties. I cannot say who.

56,488. Did Mr. Wilde tell you?—No; I never changed a word with him in my life. I know the man.

56,489. It must have been some of Mr. Clay's party?—I do not know the party that told me, I am sure.

56,490. Did you not get a ticket or a paper?—Yes; I got a paper.

56,491. Where?—I was told to go to Mr. Samuel Watson, and then I got a note and went to King Street.

56,492. Mr. Watson was one of Clay and Goderich's committee?—I do not know what committee he belonged to. I got it at his house.

56,493. What was written on the paper?—"Two days runner."

56,494. Signed by him?—Yes, signed by him.

56,495. And then you took that paper to King Street?—Yes; and received 10*s.*

56,496. What did you say when you went in?—I do not know that I made any remark further than to hand in the note to Mr. Atkinson or Mr. Carrick, one of them, I am not certain which. I can tell you the remark Mr. Carrick made to me. He said why did I not get it before? I told him I should gladly have received it, if I knew where to get it.

W. Thompson.

22d July 1853.

56,497. You got it at No. 2, King Street, at Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich's finance committee?—Yes; in King Street.

56,498. When you got to King Street, I suppose you were told that was Clay and Goderich's committee?—I was told that was the room where they were paying the money for the last election.

56,499. That was where all Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich's money matters were carried on?—Yes; I dare say it was.

56,500. You knew that as well as everybody else, did you not?—Yes; I expected so.

56,501. Is that all?—All for that election.

56,502. I suppose they thought you were going to vote for Mr. Clay again?—I was not asked.

56,503. But they took you for one of Mr. Clay's men, did they not?—I do not know what they might think; probably they might think so.

56,504. You have no doubt about it?—No; I have no doubt about it.

56,505. You never had any doubt?—No; not about that I had not.

56,506. They took you for one of their own people? they would not have given it without?—I do not know; taking a note was sufficient, I expect, from Mr. Walton that certified that I had been set down the time before.

56,507. Who did you vote for in 1852?—For Moore and Butler. I was employed at the same time as a runner for them.

56,508. Did you tell them so in King Street?—No; I did not. I was asked no such question, therefore I never named it.

56,509. You were a runner at that time for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

56,510. And you voted blue?—Yes.

56,511. How much were you paid for your vote and services?—I got for my time I was running the two first weeks. I was paid on the Saturday three days one week, and five days the other.

56,512. Were you changed?—There were a many out of work; some were set on one two or three days, and some another two or three days.

56,513. Was that in order to give all Moore and Butler's men a little pay?—It was at that committee room, the East Sculcoates.

56,514. How much was it in money that you got altogether?—I had 3*s.* 6*d.* a day for the days I was employed—three days one week, and five the other; and the four days during the election week I received nothing for until the week after the election,—then I had a sovereign brought to my house.

56,515. That was for your vote and services during the last four days?—Yes.

56,516. I believe you were at the blue supper at the De-la-Pole Tavern?—I was not.

56,517. Did you hear of it?—Not before the election.

John Allison.

JOHN ALLISON sworn, and examined.

56,518. What is your business?—A joiner.

56,519. Where do you live?—Clark Square, Sykes Street.

56,520. Do you pay rent for a house?—No.

56,521. Are you a lodger?—No; it is my own property.

56,522. What are you rated at?—£6 a year.

56,523. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,524. How long have you been free?—Since 1841.

56,525. 1839, do you mean?—Yes, 1839.

56,526. Was your freedom taken up for you?—Yes.

56,527. By which party?—By the blue party

56,528. Did you vote for Hanmer and James, the blue candidates, in consequence, in the year 1841?—I did.

56,529. Did you also get paid for that vote?—No.

56,530. All that you got was your freedom?—Yes.

56,531. Were you paid nothing that election?—I was engaged, and worked at the place where the central committee was held. I was employed three weeks by the central committee.

56,532. As a runner?—No; I had charge of all the flags.

56,533. Colourman?—Yes; I lost three weeks' employment where I worked, and I was paid a sovereign after the election. I was 2*l.* 3*s.* out of pocket.

56,534. Who employed you?—Mr. Stork, a wine and spirit merchant.

56,535. Were you a member of any committee?—No.

56,536. A canvasser?—No.

56,537. Do you mean to say that 1*l.* was all you had?—£1 was all I had. I was 2*l.* 3*s.* out of pocket.

56,538. Did he promise you anything?—He said I should be well paid.

John Allison.

23d July 1853.

56,539. Before you voted?—Yes; before I voted.

56,540. And you voted, I suppose, expecting to get the money?—I expected I should get my wages anyhow. I had no idea of being 2*l.* 3*s.* out of pocket.

56,541. And I suppose you expected a little more?—Yes; it is a roughish job.

56,542. You expected your wages for the time, and some little addition?—Yes.

56,543. Mr. Stork promised you that, did he?—No.

56,544. Who did?—No one; I was to be well paid for my time.

56,545. Who said so?—Mr. Stork.

56,546. When you say you were set to take care of the colours, do you mean you were to fight for them?—No; I had the charge of the colours and staffs and all that sort of thing.

56,547. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.

56,548. What were you paid on Mr. Brown's part?—Nothing.

56,549. Did you hear there was money going everywhere?—No.

56,550. How much did you get for Clay?—I never voted for Clay.

56,551. You said Clay and Brown?—I meant Baines and Brown.

56,552. What did you get for Mr. Baines?—Nothing.

56,553. Did you get any money from either of the committees?—No.

56,554. No money that election?—No.

56,555. In the last election of 1852, you were a runner for the blues?—No; I was on the committee; a bigger chap than a runner.

56,556. In East Sculcoates?—Yes.

56,557. You were paid, were you not?—Yes; I got a sovereign.

56,558. After voting?—After voting.

56,559. Who paid it?—William Wright.

56,560. He signed your receipt, William Wright for John Allison?—Yes.

56,561. Had you applied for employment?—No; I was on the committee three weeks.

56,562. How came you to be on the committee? were you asked to be on it, or did you ask?—I was always a sort of a bit of a blue, and would do anything for the blues.

56,563. You canvassed, I suppose?—Yes.

Joseph Laverack.

JOSEPH LAVERACK sworn and examined.

56,564. What is your business?—Lathrender, at present.

56,565. Where do you live?—28, Charles Square, Wincolmlee.

56,566. Do you occupy a house or shop?—A private house.

56,567. At what rent?—£4 10*s.*

56,568. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,569. When was your freedom taken up?—Thirty-four years ago, in 1819.

56,570. Was it taken up by yourself?—Yes.

56,571. Before the Reform Act, I suppose you got your two guineas and your four guineas in the old time?—I got the same as the rest.

56,572. It was four guineas and two?—Yes; I think I only got twice two guineas. My Missus did, while I was away at sea.

56,573. In 1841, who did you vote for?—James and Hanmer.

56,574. How much did you get paid then for your vote?—My Missus told me she received 10*s.* from Mr. Linwood, who is now dead.

56,575. Are you sure it was not a sovereign?—My Missus told me this morning and yesterday morning, it was only half a sovereign she got. I dare say the money was paid, a sovereign.

56,576. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

56,577. I believe you were paid for your vote for Mr. Brown?—Yes, I got 10*s.* for that; that was all I got.

56,578. Where was that paid?—I think it was paid at the Bay Horse, at the corner of Machell Street.

56,579. In 1852 I believe you got 1*l.*?—Yes.

56,580. You voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

56,581. And got 1*l.* afterwards?—The week after the election, I got 1*l.*; my Missus did; it was taken to our house.

56,582. It was left at your house?—Yes; it was taken to our house the week after the election, for Moore and Butler.

56,583. Did you vote for both candidates, Moore and Butler?—Yes.

56,584. Your wife gets the money?—Yes, I generally leave it to the women.

W. B. Holdsworth.

WILLIAM BARBER HOLDSWORTH sworn, and examined.

56,585. Where do you live?—No. 6, Harbour Square, Wincolmlee.

56,586. What is your business?—A cooper.

56,587. What rent do you pay?—Four guineas.

W. B. Holdsworth.

23d July 1853.

56,588. For a house?—Yes.
56,589. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
56,590. When did you become free?—In 1842; after Hanmer and James' election.
56,591. Which party took it up for you, the blues?—Yes.
56,592. And who did you vote for in 1847?—Mr. Brown and Clay.
56,593. What did you get for either of those votes?—I got 10*s.* from Mr. Brown, and nothing from Mr. Clay.
56,594. Was that paid after you voted?—No, before.
56,595. Where was it paid?—In Scale Lane.
56,596. Do you know who paid it?—I am sure I do not know his name.
56,597. And in 1852 you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
56,598. And got 1*l.* for it afterwards?—Yes, I got a sovereign afterwards, or my wife got it for me; I am not sure.

James Hoddall.

JAMES HODDALL sworn, and examined.

56,599. Where do you live?—Church Street, Cumberland Street, Sculcoates.
56,600. How old are you?—In my 76th year.
56,601. What is your business?—Shipwright.
56,602. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.
56,603. At what rent?—£13.
56,604. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
56,605. How long have you been free?—I took my freedom up at Mr. Burke's election.
56,606. Fifty years ago?—No, not so far as that.
56,607. You are also qualified on the 10*l.* list?—Yes.
56,608. Who did you vote for in 1841?—Clay and Thompson, I think, but I forget.
56,609. Did you live at Wincolmlee?—Yes.
56,610. Then you voted for Hanmer and James?—Yes, very likely I did; I forget, I am sure.
56,611. How much did you get paid for your vote then?—I really do not know exactly.
56,612. Was it a sovereign?—I received a sovereign, I believe.
56,613. In Wincolmlee?—Yes.
56,614. After voting?—Yes.
56,615. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Clay in mistake, or else I was for the blue party; but they set me down in mistake for Clay.
56,616. Had you been set down for Mr. Brown?—Yes, I got set down for the blue party.
56,617. Were you set down for Mr. Brown, is my question?—Yes.
56,618. For 10*s.*?—Yes, I believe so.
56,619. Did you get it?—Yes, I believe I did.
56,620. Before voting?—Before voting.
56,621. And then you voted by mistake for Clay?—Yes.
56,622. Did you get anything for Mr. Clay?—No.
56,623. In 1852 I believe you voted Moore and Butler?—Yes.
56,624. You got 1*l.* for it afterwards, I believe?—Yes.

W. Jenkinson.

WILLIAM JENKINSON sworn, and examined.

56,625. Where do you live?—Aldborough Street.
56,626. How old are you?—Seventy-three next Thursday.
56,627. What business are you?—A baker.
56,628. Do you occupy a house in this borough?—Yes, in Sculcoates.
56,629. At what rent?—£6 I think it is; I do not know exactly.
56,630. Are you a freeman?—Yes; I got it by servitude.
56,631. When did you take it up?—I took it up, I dare say, fifty years since.
56,632. Used you to get four guineas and two guineas to vote before the Reform Act?—Yes.
56,633. Who did you vote for in 1841?—I am sure I cannot tell you indeed; I do not keep electioneering in my memory so long as that.
56,634. Was it Hanmer and James?—I will not say, for I cannot tell.
56,635. Did you live in Aldborough Street then?—No, in New George Street.
56,636. William Jenkinson, of Aldborough Street, voted in 1841 for Hanmer and James; are you the man?—Yes, I am the same person.
56,637. How much did you get paid afterwards for your vote?—Two guineas from each member.
56,638. Did you get as much as that from Hanmer and James?—I do not know, I am sure; I cannot say exactly.

W. Jenkinson.

23d July 1853.

56,639. Was it not a sovereign, twelve years ago?—I will not exactly say what it was; I cannot say.

56,640. You got something and cannot tell what?—Yes; I forget.

56,641. In 1847, did you vote for Clay and Brown?—Yes, I did.

56,642. Did you get any money from Brown's party for your vote?—I got a half sovereign.

56,643. Did you get anything from Mr. Clay's party?—No, not a halfpenny.

56,644. Did you vote last year for Moore and Butler?—Yes; the last election.

56,645. And got a sovereign for that after the election?—Yes, after the election.

W. Fairclough.

WILLIAM FAIRCLOUGH sworn, and examined.

56,646. Where do you live in this town?—Quaker's Court, Wincolmlee.

56,647. What is your business?—Shipwright.

56,648. What is the rent you pay for any house there?—£4 10*s.*

56,649. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,650. How long have you been a freeman?—I got it in O'Neil's election.

56,651. In 1826?—Yes.

56,652. Was your freedom taken up for you by Mr. O'Neil and Mr. Villars?—Yes.

56,653. Who did you vote for in 1841?—James and Hanmer.

56,654. Were you paid after the election was over?—Yes.

56,655. For your vote?—Yes.

56,656. How much?—A sovereign.

56,657. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Clay and Brown.

56,658. Were you paid for your vote for either of those gentlemen?—I got 10*s.* from Brown.

56,659. Before the election or after?—Before the election.

56,660. Did you get anything for Mr. Clay's vote?—No.

56,661. Last year I believe you voted Moore and Butler?—Yes.

56,662. And got 1*l.* for it afterwards?—Yes.

56,663. I believe that you said you would not vote without being paid?—No, I never said anything of the kind.

56,664. Have you not said that you never will poll without being paid?—I never said anything of the sort.

William Platts.

WILLIAM PLATTS sworn, and examined.

56,665. Where do you live?—Church Street, Wincolmlee.

56,666. What is your business?—A publican.

56,667. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

56,668. At what rent?—£15.

56,669. How long have you been qualified to vote as a householder? ever since the Reform Act?—I only voted for the last election.

56,670. Never had a right before?—No, I had not been in Hull long enough.

56,671. You are not a freeman, I believe?—No.

56,672. You voted for Moore and Butler, I believe, last time?—Yes.

56,673. And got paid 1*l.* for it afterwards, in Wincolmlee?—I was put on for four days and got 1*l.* afterwards.

56,674. That was for your vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

James Ladley.

JAMES LADLEY sworn, and examined.

56,675. Where do you live?—In Harbour Square.

56,676. What is your business?—A ropemaker.

56,677. What rent do you pay?—Four guineas.

56,678. For a house?—Yes.

56,679. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,680. How long have you been free?—In 1839, I believe, I got my freedom.

56,681. Who took up your freedom, the orange or the blues?—Myself.

56,682. Did you pay for it yourself?—Yes.

56,683. Was it repaid to you? did you get the money back, that your freedom cost you?—No, I did not get it back.

56,684. Who did you vote for in 1841?—Hanmer and James.

56,685. And got paid for your vote afterwards?—Yes.

56,686. How much?—A sovereign.

56,687. Were you paid at Linwood's?—I was paid first for James and Hanmer in High Street, at the painter's shop.

James Ladley.

23d July 1853.

56,688. Were you paid through a hole in the door there?—Yes, I was.
56,689. Do you know who paid it?—No; I saw nothing but the hand.
56,690. Have you heard who the liberal man or woman was who dispensed that?—No, I did not.
56,691. You never heard that?—No.
56,692. I suppose you heard of a great many people got the money in the same way?—There were a many got it the same way; that is all I know about it.
56,693. Did you ever among people, when talking, who paid it?—No.
56,694. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Brown and Baines.
56,695. Were you paid for either of those votes?—Yes, I got 10*s.* from Mr. Brown before I voted, and I got 10*s.* afterwards.
56,696. Where were they paid?—I got one in Bowl Alley Lane, and the other in Wincolmlee.
56,697. Was the first in Bowl Alley Lane?—Yes.
56,698. Where were you paid afterwards?—I got no more than that.
56,699. The second 10*s.* that you got after voting, who paid that?—Mr. Yeall.
56,700. In 1847, for Brown?—Yes.
56,701. Who paid you in Bowl Alley Lane?—I cannot tell you; I do not know the man's name.
56,702. Where was it? at what house?—It was an office.
56,703. How came you to go there?—Because I saw some others going.
56,704. Do you know any of the people who were then in Bowl Alley Lane?—No; I cannot say that I knew anybody, not when I went in.
56,705. In 1852, I believe you voted Moore and Butler—Yes.
56,706. And got 1*l.* for your vote afterwards?—Yes.
56,707. I believe you also got 10*s.* for Mr. Baines, just before the last election, at the Ropery?—Yes, I got it.
56,708. That was besides the 1*l.*?—That was for Mr. Baines.
56,709. You got 10*s.* back money for Mr. Baines, and 1*l.* for your vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes; that is what we ought to have had at that election; that was for Mr. Baines.

S. Cheeseman.

SAMUEL CHEESEMAN sworn, and examined.

56,710. What is your business?—A ropemaker.
56,711. Where do you live?—Green Lane, Wincolmlee.
56,712. What rent do you pay for a house there?—£5 15*s.*
56,713. Are you also a freeman?—Yes.
56,714. How long have you been free?—Since 1841.
56,715. 1839, was it not?—No.
56,716. Did you not vote in 1841?—No.
56,717. Who took your freedom up for you?—The blue party.
56,718. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.
56,719. And were you paid for either of those votes?—Mr. Brown's I was.
56,720. How much?—A sovereign.
56,721. Before or after voting?—10*s.* before, and 10*s.* after.
56,722. Where was the 10*s.* before paid?—I got 10*s.* in Witham, the other in Bishop Lane.
56,723. Where in Witham?—At the committee room in Witham.
56,724. Who paid you?—Dr. Twining paid in Witham.
56,725. Who paid the other?—I do not know the gentleman who gave me the other.
56,726. Where was it paid?—In Bishop Lane.
56,727. In 1852, I think you got 10*s.* back money for your vote for Mr. Baines?—Yes.
56,728. I believe you were not inclined to vote unless you got a little more than that; how much was it?—A little more than what?
56,729. You said you were not inclined to vote unless you got something more?—No.
56,730. Are you sure you did not say you would not vote under 10*l.*?—No; that I never did.
56,731. Who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
56,732. And you got 1*l.* for it afterwards?—Yes.

Francis Leake.

FRANCIS LEAKE sworn, and examined.

56,733. Where do you live?—In Union Court, New George Street.
56,734. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
56,735. How much?—£7 a year.
56,736. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

Francis Leake.

23d July 1853.

56,737. When were you made a freeman?—About eleven years ago.
56,738. At whose expense?—I took it up myself, and paid for it myself.
56,739. Did you vote in 1841?—Clay and Brown.
56,740. Was that the first time you voted?—Yes; that is the first time.
56,741. That was in 1847?—Yes; Clay and Brown's.
56,742. Did you get some money for your vote?—I was put down as a runner, and I got paid for my running, and that was all.
56,743. How much?—I got a sovereign.
56,744. When were you paid?—A half sovereign before the election and a half sovereign after.
56,745. Who paid you?—I am sure I cannot tell who paid me.
56,746. Where was it?—It was in Wincolmlee.
56,747. At what house?—I got it at the committee room.
56,748. Which 10*s.*?—I got them both there.
56,749. For Mr. Brown?—Yes, for Mr. Brown.
56,750. You voted for him?—I voted for Brown and Clay.
56,751. And that was for your vote and services?—I expect I was paid for my time that I was running about for him.
56,752. Your time was your vote, you may as well say so in plain English; you got 10*s.* for your vote before and 10*s.* afterwards, is not that so?—Yes.
56,753. What did you do in 1852, the last election?—I polled for both the blues; I was a blue.
56,754. And how much money did you get?—I got a sovereign sent to my house.
56,755. Was it for your vote and services?—Yes.
56,756. Who for, Moore and Butler?—Yes.

David Burn.

DAVID BURN sworn, and examined.

56,757. Where do you live?—Air Street, Sculcoates.
56,758. What is your business?—A cowkeeper. I am at present out of business.
56,759. You lodge somewhere, I suppose?—I lodge in Air Street.
56,760. Are you a freeman?—No.
56,761. Are you a voter?—I was a voter then; I was on the register last election and all the previous elections since the Reform Bill.
56,762. As a householder?—Yes.
56,763. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
56,764. When a householder, what rent did you pay?—It was my own house.
56,765. What were you rated at?—£9.
56,766. In 1841, who did you vote for?—Hanmer and James. Always blue.
56,767. Did you get some money for your vote?—I never voted for any pecuniary consideration in my life.
56,768. Did you get any money, my question is?—No.
56,769. Not any money at that election?—No.
56,770. Were you a runner?—No.
56,771. A messenger?—No.
56,772. Did you get paid anything afterwards?—No; I worked hard and made myself generally useful, but I got nothing for it.
56,773. You did not get any money at that time?—No; I did not.
56,774. And did not receive anything after the election; six months after?—No.
56,775. In 1847?—Blue again.
56,776. Tell us who?—He fought under false colours,—Mr. Brown.
56,777. Did you get any money for that?—I got 10*s.* after the election.
56,778. What was that for?—I do not know; I never asked any questions about it.
56,779. Where were you paid in 1847?—I was paid at the corner of Scott Street.
56,780. At Mr. Brown's committee room?—Yes.
56,781. In 1852, did you vote blue?—Yes.
56,782. For Moore and Butler?—Yes.
56,783. Did you get some money for your vote?—I got some money, but I did not consider it was for my vote; it was for services rendered during the election.
56,784. What did you do?—Made myself generally useful.
56,785. And got a pound?—Yes.
56,786. You were paid after the election?—Yes.
56,787. They knew which way you voted?—Yes.
56,788. Would they have paid you if you had not voted for Moore and Butler?—I should care nothing about it; I should still have been blue.
56,789. Would you have got the sovereign if you had not voted for Moore and Butler?—I do not know that I should.
56,790. The gentleman who paid it has been examined, and he has told us that he would not have paid anybody, unless he voted for Moore and Butler, and he has also told us that he paid a sovereign for your vote; do you agree in that?—I did not take it as a consideration for my vote; I do not know how he gave it.

David Burn.

23d July 1853.

56,791. He gave it you?—Yes; but I did not receive it as a consideration for my vote.

56,792. You were set down as a runner, as the others were?—Not that I know of.

56,793. You did not ask any more questions than you did in 1847, but you took the money?—No; when I got the sovereign, I was met by a gentleman in the street and he gave it me.

56,794. What did he say?—He said there was a sovereign for me, and I took it, of course.

56,795. You did not ask any questions?—No.

George Giles.

GEORGE GILES sworn, and examined.

56,796. Where do you live?—Church Street, Sculcoates.

56,797. What is your business?—An oil miller.

56,798. Do you pay rent for a house?—£5 6*s.* 3*d.*

56,799. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,800. When were you made free?—About thirty-three years since.

56,801. Are you a householder or a lodger?—A householder.

56,802. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.

56,803. Who for, Hanmer and James?—I do not know who for.

56,804. George Giles, of Church Street, voted Hanmer and James; are you the man?—Yes, I am the man.

56,805. Did you get any money at that election for your vote?—I am sure I cannot tell you; I do not know, indeed.

56,806. Cannot you remember that?—No; I cannot, indeed.

56,807. You will not say you did not?—No; I will not say yes or no.

56,808. Do not you recollect you got paid some little time after the election?—No, I do not, indeed; I speak the truth.

56,809. The money was paid, we hear, some time after the election in 1841; now, do not you remember it?—No; I do not.

56,810. They did not finish paying for six months, we hear?—I do not know; I cannot say for the truth.

56,811. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

56,812. Did you get any money for your vote?—No, I did not; I lost 2*s.* by it; I lost money by it.

56,813. But they paid you, I believe?—No, they did not.

56,814. Never got anything?—No; not a farthing.

56,815. Tell us what you mean by losing money?—I had to pay half a day's pay for loss of time while I was polling; I had to give a man 2*s.* while I was polling, to work for me.

56,816. And never got it back?—No.

56,817. You did not get a farthing?—No.

56,818. In 1852, who did you vote for? Moore and Butler?—Yes.

56,819. Did you get anything?—I got a sovereign.

56.820. For your vote and services?—For running days.

56,821. Four days?—Five or six days.

56,822. Is it not four days at 5*s.* a day?—Yes.

56,823. When were you paid?—It was brought to my house after the election.

56,824. Who brought it?—I am sure I do not know who it was.

56,825. And you did not care about it?—I did not see him.

56,826. You gave a receipt for it?—No; I have not.

John Taylor.

JOHN TAYLOR sworn, and examined.

56,827. Where do you live?—Scott Street.

56,828. What is your business?—A sailmaker.

56,829. Do you pay rent for a house?—I did then; I do not now. I am a lodger now, but I did at the time of the election.

56,830. What rent have you paid sometimes?—£4 15*s.*

56,831. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,832. When were you made a freeman?—In 1820.

56,833. At your own expense?—Yes; at my own expense.

56,834. Did you vote at the election of 1841 for Hanmer and James?—Yes.

56,835. Did you get any money then for your vote?—Yes; I got a sovereign.

56,836. When were you paid?—Before the election.

56,837. Who by?—A gentleman in the committee, but I do not who it was.

56,838. Where was it?—Opposite New George Street end.

56,839. In 1847, did you vote for Baines and Brown?—I voted for Brown.

56,840. How much money did you get for that vote?—10*s.*

56,841. Before or after the election?—After.

John Taylor.

23d July 1853.

56,842. Where were you paid?—At the Sculcoates Tavern, Scott Street end.
56,843. Where did you live in 1847?—In Scott Street.
56,844. Is that the same as Mulgrave Street?—Yes; it leads into the same street.
56,845. Did you live in Mulgrave Street at one time?—Yes.
56,846. In 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
56,847. Do you know Legitt?—Yes.
56,848. Did he put your name down?—Yes; he put my name down.
56,849. How much money did you get?—25*s.*; 7*s.* 6*d.* before the election, and 17*s.* 6*d.* after.
56,850. For your vote and services?—It was for being a runner; I was set down for seven days running.
56,851. Where did Legitt find you? where did he pick you up?—I was going on that street that leads to the pier, and I met him there.
56,822. What did he say?—He asked me if I would have my name set down, and I went and got it set down.
56,853. He asked you to have your name set down for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

Joseph Dent.

JOSEPH DENT sworn, and examined.

56,854. Where do you live?—Lincoln Street, Wincolmlee.
56,855. What business are you?—A gardener.
56,856. Do you pay rent?—Yes.
56,857. How much?—I have four acres of land belonging to the Kingston cotton mill, 16*l.*, and I have three acres belonging to Mr. Locking.
56,868. Are you a freeman?—No.
56,869. Which election did you vote at first?—Mr. Brown's.
56,860. Did you get some money for your vote?—Yes.
56,861. How much?—10*s.*
56,862. Who paid you?—They call him Foster; he keeps the Bay Horse, in Wincolmlee; he gave me the 10*s.*
56,863. When did he pay you?—It was after the election.
56,864. Is he the landlord of the Bay Horse?—He was then.
56,865. At the last election who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
56,866. Did you get some money for your vote?—Yes.
56,867. How were you paid?—I was put down as a runner.
56,868. How much were you paid, and when?—I got paid three days before the election, and I got a sovereign after.
56,869. That was for your vote and services?—Yes.

John Wass.

JOHN WASS sworn, and examined.

56,870. Where do you live?—Derby's Court, Scott Street.
56,871. What is your business?—A cooper.
56,872. Do you pay rent?—Yes; a small rent I do.
56,873. How much rent do you pay?—About 3*l.* 15*s.*, I believe.
56,874. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
56,875. Did you live in York Street at the time of the last election?—Yes; just before the election I did.
56,876. Then, you were a householder then?—Yes.
56,877. When were you a freeman?—In 1845; I think it was in 1844 or 1845 I took my freedom up.
56,878. At whose expense?—My own.
56,879. And you voted for Mr. Baines?—Yes; Mr. Baines alone.
56,880. Did you get any money for that vote?—No.
56,881. Did you get any payment at all?—Yes; I got 10*s.* for Mr. Brown before the election.
56,882. You did not poll for him?—No.
56,883. Did you not promise to vote for him? you got 10*s.* to vote for him, but for some reason or other you did not vote?—I did not vote for Mr. Brown, I voted for Mr. Baines alone.
56,884. And got your money from Mr. Brown?—Yes.
56,885. Were you paid after the election?—No, before.
56,886. In 1852, for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
56,887. You were one of Mr. Sisson's men?—Yes, I was at that time.
56,888. And five of you got a holiday the election day, you and a man of the name of Jennings?—Yes.
56,889. And John Norton?—Yes.
56,890. There were five or six of you?—I am sure I do not know. If you mention the names I will tell you who they were.

John Wass.

23d July 1853.

56,891. I will mention the names, and you can tell me any others. Joseph Jennings?—Yes.

56,892. John Norton?—Yes.

56,893. Joseph Sands?—Yes.

56,894. George Holmes?—Yes.

56,895. And John Wass?—Yes; that is myself.

56,896. Were there any more?—No.

56,897. Were you promised a holiday before?—No, I was not promised before.

56,898. You were promised a holiday, Mr. Sissons says so, and were you paid for that day?—Yes, I was paid for that day.

56,899. Mr. Sissons says—"I had promised our men a holiday." That is so, is it not?—I was not aware of it.

56,900. When did you hear of the holiday? when did he first tell you you were to have a holiday?—I think the night before the election we were told not to go the next morning.

56,901. Did he say he should pay you just the same?—He did not say anything about paying us at all.

56,902. But you were allowed it?—We got paid on Saturday as usual.

56,903. The full time?—Yes.

56,904. Nothing was said about it that time?—Nothing was said about the payment at that time.

56,905. When you came to be paid, was anything said about it then?—Not at all.

56,906. When you were promised a holiday did you understand you were to vote for Moore and Butler?—I never understood anything about it. They never asked me who I was going to vote for at all.

56,907. You did vote for Moore and Butler?—I did.

56,908. Did you get anything for it?—I got a sovereign after the election.

56,909, For four days?—Yes.

56,910. Do you know if these friends of yours all voted the same way?—I do not.

56,911. Your mates?—I do not know who they voted for. I suppose they would.

56,912. Was one of the days that you were paid for by Moore and Butler the same day that you got your wages from Mr. Sissons? it included that day?—I am sure I cannot tell. I do not know anything about it.

56,913. Do you know what four days were paid for by Moore and Butler?—No; I do not.

56,914. You were in Mr. Sissons' employ at the time?—I was at that time.

56,915. And had been for some time?—Yes, I had been some time, but I am not working under him now.

56,916. Do you know whether those four men, whose names I have mentioned, voted for Moore and Butler or not?—I know now that they voted that way, but I did not know then. I know now because they tell me so, or else I should not have known.

56,917. Who paid you the pound?—I do not know the man's name.

56,918. Did you all go back to work again for Mr. Sissons on the next day?—Yes; and there are some men in the employ yet.

56,919. And you all got paid at the end of the week?—I do not know; I know I did. I do not know about the others.

56,920. Did Mr. Brodrick pay you anything?—No.

56,921. Or Mr. Murgatroyd, did he pay you?—I do not know who it was that brought the money. Somebody brought it, but I do not know who it was.

56,922. Were you thinking of voting for Clay and Goderich?—No; I never thought anything about it.

56,923. You never intended to do it?—No, I never did.

Joseph Mangham.

JOSEPH MANGHAM sworn, and examined.

56,924. Where do you live?—In Dock Street.

56,925. What is your business?—An organ builder.

56,926. What rent do you pay?—£10.

56,927. Did you live in Scott's Place?—Yes.

56,928. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,929. When were you made free?—In 1844.

56,930. At your own expense?—Yes.

56,931. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.

56,932. Who for?—Mr. Brown,

56,933. Did you get some money for that?—Yes.

56,934. How much?—To the best of my recollection, I think 25*s*.

56,935. Where were you paid?—10*s*. in Bishop Lane, and the remainder in Waterworks Street.

56,936. Before and after?—Before and after.

56,937. Who paid you in Bishop Lane?—I think Mr. Stephenson.

56,938. And who in Waterworks Street?—I do not know.

Joseph Mangham.

23d July 1853

56,939. Did you not see the person?—Yes.

56,940. Somebody that you did not know?—I did not know any one in the room.

56,941. Did you vote in 1852 for Moore and Butler, the last election?—Yes.

56,942. Did you get some money for your vote?—After the election I received a pound. It was sent to my house for my services.

56,943. What were you, a rnuner?—Well, I was a runner, certainly, on the day of the election, but before that I was asked a question if my name might be put upon the committee, three weeks before the election. After I had promised to vote for them I was invited to go down to the committee room, which I did, and I suppose the services which I rendered I received the pound afterwards for, and I asked no questions.

56,944. Being a committee man?—Yes.

56,945. And for running on the election day?—On the election day I did; I took several messages.

56,946. Where were you paid?—It was sent to my own house in Scott Street.

56,947. Have you any doubt about it, that the principal service your endered was your vote?—Certainly not; I was out of pocket.

56,948. I put it to you from your apparent respectability, have you the slightest doubt upon earth, that the principal service that you were paid for was your vote?—I am certain it was not for my vote.

56,949. You were set down for four days as a runner?—It was unknown to me; there was never such a thing as an agreement made, or anything specified.

56,950. You are set down on the pay sheet for four days?—I cannot avoid that. I do not know anything about it

56,951. When the pound came to your house, did you not some time after inquire how it was to be applied—how much for being committee man, and how much for running?—I never inquired about it.

56,952. And took the money?—Yes.

56,953. Committee men are not paid, are they?—I suppose they are well paid sometimes.

56,954. Can you tell us who were paid among the committee men?—I do not know of any one.

56,955. Why do you say so?—I have heard a good deal.

56,956. What committee man do you say you have heard received any money?—At the last election I did not hear of any one.

56,957. You were a member of Messrs. Moore and Butler's committee?—Yes.

56,958. Supposing, being a member of Moore and Butler's committee, you had voted for Clay and Goderich, how much of that sovereign do you think you would have got?—I do not suppose I should have got anything.

John Sands.

JOHN SANDS sworn, and examined.

56,959. Where do you live?—Oxford Street, Sculcoates.

56,960. What is your business?—A cooper.

56,961. What rent do you pay?—£5 10*s.*

56,962. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

56,963. When were you made afreeman?—In 1831.

56,964. At your own expense?—No.

56,965. By which colour?—The blues.

56,966. Did you vote for Hanmer and James in 1841?—No, I did not vote at all.

56,967. In 1847?—I voted Baines and Brown.

56,968. Did you get some money for that vote?—I got 10*s.*

56,969. When were you paid?—I will not say whether it was before or after the election.

56,970. You do not know which?—I cannot say.

56,971. Who paid you?—I do not know the parties' names who paid me.

56,972. Where was it?—In the Market Place.

56,973. At Mr. Brown's committee room?—I do not know whether it was a committee room or not.

56,974. It was a place where Mr. Brown paid?—Yes.

56,975. Not in the street but in a room?—Yes.

56,976. Did you see the person who paid you?—Yes, I saw him, but I do not know the party.

56,977. In 1852 did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

56,978. How much did you get for that vote?—A sovereign.

56,979. Afterwards?—Yes.

Thomas Temple.

23d July 1853.

THOMAS TEMPLE sworn, and examined.

56,980. Where do you live?—Charles Square, Wincolmlee.
56,981. What is your business?—A shipwight.
56,982. What rent do you pay?—£4 10*s.*
56,983. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
56,984. When were you made free?—In the year 1821 I took my freedom up.
56,985. And paid for it?—Yes.
56,986. In 1841 did you vote?—I am sure I cannot recollect.
56,987. For Hanmer and James?—I cannot recollect anything about it.
56,988. Are you the Thomas Temple who lived in Bourne Street, and voted for James and Clay?—No; I never voted for Clay.
56,989. There is a Thomas Temple, in Bourne Street, the only one who voted in 1841; is that you?—Yes, I believe it is.
56,990. It is stated that he voted for James, at all events?—I might; I cannot say.
56,991. Did you vote for the blues?—Yes.
56,992. Did you get any money?—I cannot say.
56,993. I thought you would remember that?—No, I cannot.
56,994. You are speaking upon your oath: did you get any money in 1841 or not?—I cannot say at all.
56,995. Did you not get 10*s.*, or a sovereign, or whatever it was after the election?—I cannot say whether it was.
56,996. Do you mean to say you cannot recollect whether you got money, or how much it was?—I cannot say, indeed, whether I got money or not.
56,997. Or how you voted?—Or how I voted.
56,998. Do you remember in 1841 whether you voted at all?—I cannot.
56,999. Did you vote at the next election in 1847?—Yes, I believe so.
57,000. For Baines and Brown?—Yes.
57,001. I see you got something then?—Yes, I got 10*s.*
57,002. Who paid that?—I cannot tell you I am sure.
57,003. Where was it paid?—In Bowl Alley Lane.
57,004. Before or after the election?—After the election.
57,005. For Mr. Brown?—Yes.
57,006. Did you vote in 1852?—Yes.
57,007. Who for?—Bramley Moore and Butler.
57,008. How much did you get for your vote then?—A sovereign.
57,009. Where were you paid?—It was brought to my own house.
57,010. Do you know Mr. West?—I know a Mr. West, a baker.
57,011. Did you get more than that sovereign?—No.

William Davis.

WILLIAM DAVIS sworn, and examined.

57,012. Where do you live?—Scott Street.
57,013. What is your business?—A fishmonger.
57,014. What rent do you pay?—£9.
57,015. Are you a freeman?—No.
57,016, £9 is not enough for a vote?—I paid 12*l.* at the time of the election.
57,017. Did you vote in 1841?—No.
57,018. In 1847?—No.
57,019. In 1852?—Yes.
57,020. For Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,021. Did you get some money for your vote?—I did.
57,022. How much?—A sovereign.
57,023. After the election?—Yes.

Joseph Jennings.

JOSEPH JENNINGS sworn, and examined.

57,024. What is your business?—A cooper.
57,025. Where do you live?—Bankside, Sculcoates.
57,026. What rent do you pay?—I do not pay any, my employers pay it.
57,027. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,028. How much do they pay for you?—Five guineas.
57,029. Do you know when you were made a freeman?—1818.
57,030. At your own expense?—No.
57,031. Who took it up for you?—The corporation, I believe.
57,032. Which colour?—Staniforth.
57,033. That is the blue, is it?—Yes.
57,034. In 1841 who did you vote for?—Hanmer and James.

Joseph Jennings.

23d July 1853.

57,035. Did you get any money for your vote?—Yes.
57,036. How much?—I got two half-sovereigns.
57,037. Where were they paid you?—I was paid at Mr. Linwood's, I believe.
57,038. Both?—Yes.
57,039. Before or after the election?—I cannot exactly say; but one before and one after, I should say.
57,040. In 1847, were you paid?—For four days, as a runner.
57,041, For Baines and Brown?—Yes.
57,042. Did you get some money for your vote?—10*s.* from Mr. Brown's party.
57,043. Where were you paid?—At Mr. Linwood's too, I believe.
57,044. For Mr. Baines, did you you get anything?—No.
57,045. Then you only got the 10*s.*?—That was all I got, every halfpenny.
57,046. You voted Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,047. You were one of Mr. Sissons' men?—I was.
57,048. How much money did you get for your vote then?—I got a sovereign then; it was taken to my house after the election; who brought it I do not know.
57,049. You got a holiday as well?—Yes.
57,050. You were in Mr. Sissons' employ?—Twenty-two years.
57,051. You got a holiday that day?—When I ask to go anywhere, or want to have a holiday, they give it to me.

T. Chapman.

THOMAS CHAPMAN sworn, and examined.

57,052, Where do you live?—I lived in Kingston Court when I was a voter. I have shifted my residence lately; I live in Pothouse Yard now.
57,053. What rent do you pay for a house?—£4 12*s.*
57,054. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,055. When did you become free?—I cannot exactly say, but I voted for James and Hanmer.
57,056. Did they take up your freedom for you?—No, I never had it taken up; I think I took it up myself.
57,057. When you voted for them in 1841 did you get some money for your vote?—One sovereign, after the election.
57,058. Where?—At Mr. Linwood's, at the committee room.
57,059. In 1847 you voted Baines and Brown?—Yes.
57,060. How much did you get?—30*s.*
57,061. Did you vote Baines and Brown?—Certainly I did.
57,062. When was it paid?—Before the election.
57,063. Where?—Various places. I cannot tell exactly.
57,064. 10*s.* from each?—Yes.
57,065. You went about to different committee rooms and got 10*s.* from each?—No, I think not.
57,066. Was it 15*s.* at two?—I was a runner and I expected I should be paid for my labour.
57,067. You got it paid at various committee rooms?—Yes.
57,068. Was it 15*s.* at one and 15*s.* at another, or 20*s.* at one?—No; three separate half sovereigns.
57,069. In 1852, how much did you get that election?—One sovereign.
57,070. Who did you vote for?—The worthy blues.
57,071. Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,072. Where did they pay you?—It was brought to my home.

William Metcalf.

WILLIAM METCALF sworn, and examined.

57,073. Where do you live?—14, Wincolmlee.
57,074. What is your business?—A grocer.
57,075. What rent do you pay?—I did pay 13*l.* a year before I voted; I do not know what I pay now.
57,076. At the time of the election you paid 13*l.*?—Yes.
57,077. Are you a freeman?—No.
57,078. Did you vote at any election before the last?—Yes, the election before.
57,079. 1847?—Yes.
57,080. Who for?—Brown and Clay.
57,081. Had you a right to vote in 1841?—No, I was not in Hull at that time.
57,082. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.
57,083. Did you get some money?—Yes.
57,084. How much?—10*s.*
57,085. For which?—Mr. Brown.
57,086. Where was it paid?—It was paid at the committee.

William Metcalf.

23d July 1853.

57,087. Where?—Wincolmlee, New Charles Street.
57,088. When, the day of election?—Yes.
57,089. Did you get anything from Mr. Clay?—No, not a halfpenny.
57,090. Did you try?—No.
57,091. In 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,092. How much money did you get for your vote?—A sovereign.
57,093. Where was it paid?—At my own house.
57,094. After the election?—Yes.

George Holmes.

GEORGE HOLMES sworn, and examined.

57,095. Where do you live?—York Street, Sculcoates.
57,096. What is your business?—A cooper.
57,097. What rent do you pay?—£5 10*s.*
57,098. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,099. When were you made a freeman?—Either 1839 or 1840, I am not sure which.
57,100. At whose expense?—I believe the blues.
57,101. You voted for them in consequence at the 1841 election?—No; I paid a trifle to it myself as well.
57,102. You voted Hanmer and James, did you?—Yes.
57,103. How much money did you get for your vote?—10*s.* before and 10*s.* afterwards.
57,104. Where were the monies paid?—One at Mr. Linwood's.
57,105. And the other?—I think I got it in the street, North End, George Street end.
57,106. Who paid you in the street?—James Tawl.
57,107. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I voted for Brown.
57,108. How much did you get?—I was out of work at the time, and I got 30*s.* when I came up at first, and there was a sovereign paid afterwards.
57,109. £2 10*s.* altogether?—Yes.
57,110. You were here at the time of the election?—I came over; I was working away from home.
57,111. The 30*s.* was paid before?—Yes.
57,112. You had been ill?—I was not ill when the sovereign was paid, but I received it afterwards.
57,113. Where did you come from?—Beverley.
57,114. You got 30*s.* for it?—Yes.
57,115. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Mr. Sissons.
57,116. You voted as your master did?—No, I did not, not that I know of.
57,117. Are you the George Holmes of Wright Street, or the George Holmes of High Street?—No.
57,118. Where did you live in 1847?—In 1847 I lived in Garden Square, Princes Street, Mason street.
57,119. George Holmes of Dimsdale Square, is that you?—Yes.
57,120. You are wrong, you voted for Mr. Baines?—No.
57,121. Are you not aware of that?—I am confident I did not.
57,122. In 1852, you voted for Mr. Sissons, you say?—No; I understood you to say where did I work.
57,123. I ask who you voted for?—Moore and Butler.
57,124. Did Mr. Sissons pay you anything?—No.
57,125. How much did Moore and Butler pay you?—I got a sovereign.
57,126. And a holiday?—I believe not.
57,127. Mr. Sissons paid you and gave you a holiday?—He paid the wages on a Saturday night, and it is not a great deal of wages neither.

James Stubbs.

JAMES STUBBS sworn, and examined.

57,128. Where do you live?—No. 4, Thomas Place, Scott Street.
57,129. What is your business?—A cooper.
57,130. What rent do you pay?—£6. 10*s.*
57,131. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,132. When were you free?—1847.
57,133. Did you vote at that election?—No.
57,134. Who took up your freedom for you?—I took it up myself.
57,135. Are you sure you did not vote for Baines and Brown?—I was out of town then.
57,136. Where did you live in 1847?—56, Scott Street.
57,137. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
57,138. Did you get some money for your vote?—I had a sovereign, brought after.

James Stubbs

23d July 1853.

57,139. Did you take it?—Yes; I should take one of you if you were to bring me one in the same way.

57,140. Brought to your house?—Yes.

57,141. Is your next-door neighbour a man of the same name as you?—Yes.

John Little.

JOHN LITTLE sworn, and examined.

57,142. What is your business?—A distiller, at present.

57,143. Where do you live?—Bankside, Sculcoates.

57,144. What rent do you pay?—None at all, I live on the premises.

57,145. For your services?—Yes.

57,146. What is your house rated at?—I do not know.

57,147. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,148. When were you made a freeman?—1820.

57,149. At your own expense?—Yes; I took it up at my own expense.

57,150. In 1841, did you vote Hanmer and James?—Yes.

57,151. Did you receive any money at that election?—I believe I did, after the election.

57,152. How much?—I think, a sovereign.

57,153. Who was that for?—For Hanmer and James.

57,154. Who paid you?—I cannot recollect; I was paid at Mr. Linwood's committee room; I think it was at Mr. Linwood's at that time.

57,155. 1847, Baines and Brown?—Yes.

57,156. How much did you get for your vote at that election?—I got 10*s.* from Mr. Brown.

57,157. Afterwards?—Yes.

57,158. Nothing from Mr. Baines?—No.

57,159. Where was it paid?—I think at the Bay Horse.

57,160. By Foster?—I think so.

57,161. In 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

57,162. They say you got 2*l.* 10*s.*?—I got no such sum.

57,163. How much did you get?—I got 1*l.* left at my house.

57,164. It is a mistake about the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—It is; I wish I had got it.

57,165. Is that all the money you got?—It was.

57,166. Left at your house?—Yes.

William Stubbs.

WILLIAM STUBBS sworn and examined.

57,167. Where do you live?—5, Thomas's Place, Scott Street.

57,168. What is you business?—A smith.

57,169. What rent do you pay?—None; the property is my own.

57,170. What is it rated at?—I compound with six other houses.

57,171. How much is paid for each house?—They will let for 6*l.* 10*s.* I have compounded with the guardians at 29*l.*

57,172. Did you vote in 1841?—No; I did not vote in 1841.

57,173. In 1847?—Yes; I voted in 1847.

57,174. You had a right to vote in 1841?—No; the barrister had not been. I had taken up my freedom in March, 1841.

57,175. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Clay.

57,176. How much money did you get?—Ten shillings for carrying out polling cards two days, and 1*l.*, being a poll clerk on the day of the election.

57,177. Who was it from?—From Mr. Baines.

57,178. Do you mean a check clerk?—Yes.

57,179. What did you have for carrying out polling cards?—Two previous days to the nomination day.

57,180. How much were you paid?—Five shillings each day.

57,181. Who paid you?—I was paid at the committee rooms opposite the George in the Land of Green Ginger.

57,182. Did Mr. Bannister pay you?—I do not know who it was.

57,183. Mr. Barkworth?—I cannot say the party. I do not know the man. We all got paid at one time, I suppose.

57,184. You had applied to to be employed?—Yes.

57,185. You carried cards about?—Yes; I took the cards to the voters.

57,186. They knew which way you would vote? I suppose they would expect that you should vote for them?—I intended to vote for Mr. Baines. I signed the requisition requesting him to come to the town.

57,187. Was the 10*s.* paid before or after voting?—It was after the election.

57,188. That the 10*s.* was paid?—Yes; all were paid after the election. Mr. Sidebottom's clerk paid the 1*l.* for being a check clerk.

William Stubbs.

23d July 1853.

57,189. What were those cards?—Cards with the names of the voters and their numbers on the register, and where they resided.

57,190. You signed the requisition to Mr. Baines?—Yes.

57,191. What did you do in 1852?—Voted Moore and Butler. I was a check clerk the polling day.

57,192. Who do you say you voted for?—Moore and Butler.

57,193. You rather changed?—I voted from principle, not from colour; there is too much of that system.

57,194. You had voted Clay and Baines?—If their principles were in accordance with mine I should vote for them again.

57,195. Did you get the money?—No; not one farthing. I never asked for it.

57,196. You voted this time for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

57,197. Did you get any money?—I got 10*s.* for writing on the day of the election, not the 10*s.* on the day; I received it after the election.

57,198. Where did you write?—At Moore's, in Castle Street.

57,199. One pound?—Ten shillings for that.

57,200. How much more?—£1 afterwards was left at my house. I never expected anything of the kind. Three gentlemen came in and handed me a sovereign, and I took it.

57,201. What was it for?—They said it was for my services during the election.

57,202. Do you know any of them?—One I did not know; the other was Murgatroyd.

57,203. Had he got a good deal of money with him?—I do not know how much money he had with him.

57,204. Did he have a large bag?—He handed it out of his pocket.

57,205. How long after the election?—A fortnight or three weeks.

57,206. How came you, who had signed the requisition to Mr. Baines, to be employed in such an office as carrying out cards?—It was the first election I had had to do with. I thought I would know a little about electioneering matters.

57,207. You made no contract or agreement to be paid?—No.

57,208. You went and asked to be employed?—I went to the committee room and asked if there was anything wanted doing.

57,209. When you went and asked for employment, did you not mean to be paid for it?—I never asked them.

57,210. Did you not mean to be paid?—I say not. If the rest had not got paid I never should have been paid. Afterwards a person came and told me what had been done, and I went to the same place and received the same pay.

57,211. You made no agreement to be paid then?—No; none.

57,212. You took the 10*s.* afterwards?—I took the 10*s.* after the election.

57,213. As a reward for your voting services?—It would be a reward for my services. I do not consider I received anything for my vote.

57,214. Do you think Baines' party would have given you that 10*s.* if you had not voted for them?—I delivered out the cards, so that I considered I had a claim upon them.

57,215. Do you believe that they would have paid you that 10*s.* if after carrying out the cards you did not vote?—If they had acted on an honest principle they would have done so.

57,216. I want to know what your belief is as to that matter at the time you took the money; did you believe they would have paid you if you had voted against Mr. Baines?—I am sure I cannot say.

57,217. Supposing you had gone, after having carried out the cards, and shouted "Down with Baines," do you think they would have paid you?—I am sure I cannot say.

57,218. I want your belief?—I cannot tell.

57,219. You can tell.—I consider they ought to have done it.

57,220. Do you believe if, after carrying out cards for Mr. Baines, you had gone on to the hustings and opposed him, and shouted "Down with Baines," they would have paid you 10*s.*?—Perhaps not if any of the committee had seen me, but I consider I was entitled to it.

THOMAS SMITH sworn, and examined.

Thomas Smith.

57,221. Where do you live?—Cotton Street.

57,222. What is your business?—A corn and seed meter.

57,223. What rent do you pay?—It is my own property.

57,224. What are you rated at?—£9 10*s.*

57,225. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,226. When were you made free?—In 1820.

57,227. At your own expense?—Yes.

57,228. Did you vote in 1841 for Hanmer and James?—Yes.

57,229. Did you get any money for your vote?—I got a sovereign.

57,230. Who paid you?—That I cannot say.

57,231. Where were you paid?—At one of the committee rooms; I am sure I cannot say which.

Thomas Smith.

22d July 1853.

57,232. When were you paid,—before or after polling?—In the evening just after the election.
57,233. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown.
57,234. How much money did you get for your vote then?—10*s.*
57,235. Where were you paid?—At Wincolmlee the Sculcoates Tavern, I think it was.
57,236. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
57,237. You were a runner, were you not?—Yes.
57,238. How much did you get for that?—I got 6*s.* 8*d.* in Wincolmlee. I went home; I had given it up, and they sent for me to go to the committee room in Bowl Alley Lane to employ me again. Then I was stationed to go out to look at the high tide for vessels coming up.
57,239. How much money did you get?—Upon my word I cannot say.
57,240. £10?—No; nor half of it.
57,241. £3 we will say?—Yes; I think I got as much as that.
57,242. Was it in Holderness?—No.
57,243. You ran in Holderness, did you not?—No.
57,244. You say you did not vote for Brown, how is that?—Yes; I did.
57,245. Who else?—None else.
57,246. Where did you live at the time?—I think I lived in Queen Square.
57,247. You lived in Union Square, New George Street?—Yes.
57,248. You voted Baines and Brown?—I did not intend that.
57,249. Did you get anything for Mr. Baines?—No.
57,250. Did you get more than 3*l.*?—I cannot positively say at present. I do not keep such things in my memory; my memory is not very good at present.

Smith Sotheron.

SMITH SOTHERON sworn, and examined.

57,251. What is your business?—A baker.
57,252. Where do you live?—Charles Square, Wincolmlee.
57,253. What rent do you pay?—£4 14*s.*
57,254. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,255. When were you made free?—1828.
57,256. At whose expense?—My own.
57,257. Did you vote in 1841?—Yes.
57,258. For Hanmer and James?—Yes.
57,259. Did you get some money at that election?—Yes.
57,260. How much?—10*s.* before the election, and 10*s.* after.
57,261. Where were you paid?—I got the 10*s.* in the street; the sovereign my Missus got; I was out at the time when they paid it at Mr. Linwood's, Wincolmlee.
57,262. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Brown and Baines.
57,263. How much money did you get?—10*s.*
57,264 Where was it paid?—At where I work, in Wincolmlee bakehouse.
57,265. Who was it for?—Mr. Brown.
57,266. Did you get anything for Mr. Baines?—No.
57,267. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
57,268. Did you get any money for your vote?—A sovereign.
57,269. Where was it paid?—At my own house.
57,270. After the election?—Yes.
57,271. The money was brought to you?—Yes.
57,272. Who brought it to you?—Three came.
57,273. Was Murgatroyd one?—Murgatroyd gave me the money.

Edward Wright.

EDWARD WRIGHT sworn, and examined.

57,274. Where do you live?—Church Street.
57,275. What is your business?—A button maker.
57,276. What rent do you pay?—None.
57,277. Are you a lodger?—Yes.
57,278. Are you a freeman?—No.
57,279. I think you are?—I am not a burgess.
57,280. A 10*l.* householder?—Yes.
57,281. Which election did you vote at first?—Every one since the Reform Act.
57,282. In 1841 who did you vote for?—Hanmer and James; I am not sure.
57,283. Did you get any money?—No.
57,284. Were you paid no money at all at the election, or after it?—No.
57,285. Are you sure of that?—Sure of it.
57,286. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Brown only.
57,287. Did you get some money for your vote?—No.

Edward Wright.

23d July 1853.

57,288. Were you paid any money at all?—Yes.

57,289. Where were you paid?—I am sure I do not know; some was left with me to pay four or five parties.

57,290. I ask whether you got some money for yourself?—No; I paid some four or five parties half a sovereign. I neither know the parties or their names.

57,291. Who gave you the money?—It came from the East Sculcoates committee room. I cannot positively say who gave it to me; the parties did not come up there that night that other parties were there to be paid, and the money was left with me to pay them with.

57,292. Did you give in a list?—They were on a scrap of paper; I do not know what has become of it.

57,293. Did you give it back?—Yes, I did. There was a receipt for the money I had.

57,294. Did you give it back to those that gave it you?—I gave it back again into the committee room.

57,295. Were they Mr. Brown's voters?—Yes.

57,296. How many?—Four or five of them; I cannot say which exactly.

57,297. Do you not know any of their names?—Not a single individual; I am sure I do not, or I would tell you at once, as soon as I would tell you the money I gave.

57,298. Were you not to have some yourself?—No.

57,299. Not at all?—Not a farthing; I never required it.

57,300. Were you on the committee?—No.

57,301. Why did they choose you to pay?—I thought myself as officious as the others.

57,302. Did you get a good many set down?—Not to my knowledge.

57,303. You had not the management of the election?—No.

57,304. Did you pay some others at that election?—No.

57,305. You do not know who you got the money from, you say?—I cannot positively say; it was from the East Sculcoates committee room. I cannot say who it was gave it to me.

57,306. Who was the chairman?—Mr. Yeall was the chairman.

57,307. In 1852, you voted Moore and Butler?—Yes.

57,308. Did you get some money for your vote?—No.

57,309. Did you get any money?—Yes, I did.

57,310. How much?—Three weeks' canvassing,—about 1*l.* for my expenses in canvassing three weeks.

57,311. When was it paid?—I cannot say exactly; some time after the election. I had taken an active part, and they gave me a sovereign for my services. I never required anything for my vote, and I hope I never shall.

57,312. You voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

57,313. I suppose they knew you would vote that way?—I do not know.

57,114. Who employed you?—Nobody; I never was employed in my life.

57,315. You were not employed?—Not at all.

57,316. They came and paid you 1*l.* for what you did?—For what I had done. I had been canvassing about three weeks,—it was a long canvass. I had been at a deal of expense, and had employed time in canvassing as much as any man on the list, and there was sent down to my house a pound. I never sent it back again.

57,317. You had volunteered to be a canvasser? nobody employed you?—Nobody employed me.

57,318. No promise had been made before?—No; I never expected it.

57,319. You took it as a reward?—I took it as a reward, for being at expense and trouble.

57,320. How much were you out of pocket?—I cannot say; a many pounds this election.

57,321. Will you say you were out of pocket a shilling?—Yes; if I had all the money it cost me that election I would never vote any more.

57,322. How much did you spend?—£2 or 3*l.*

57,323, Do you mean to say you expended anything for Moore and Butler?—I expended it in this way: I am one that is well known in Sculcoates parish, and there are many that I know; if I was to meet one of the opposite party even, we are so friendly, that we should go in and have a glass, and be comfortable.

57,324. Did you do that after the writ had been issued?—I know there was a paper on the wall; I never took any notice of the paper.

57,325. You did not give them anything to drink afterwards?—Oh yes, many of them, both orange and blue; free of everything else, we were all friendly.

57,326. Did you send any account of it in to the committee?—At the time I gave no account. They never gave me anything while the election was on.

57,327. Had they any account of the expenses you had been put to when you got that sovereign?—Not a farthing. I never gave them any notice of any of the expenses.

57,338. Were you in business?—Yes.

57,329. Did you pay any man to attend to your business?—No.

JOHN NORTON sworn, and examined. John Norton.

23d July 1853.

57,330. What is your business?—A labourer.
57,331. Where do you live?—Bankside, Sculcoates.
57,332. What rent do you pay?—My house is rented at five guineas, but I do not pay five guineas; I pay part, and my master pays part.
57,333. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,334. When were you made a freeman?—I do not know the date; it was at Schonswar and Wrightson's.
57,335. At your own expense?—My master paid for me—being out of work.
57,336. In 1841, who did you vote for?—Hanmer and James.
57,337. Did you receive any money for your vote?—10*s.* after the election.
57,338. Where were you paid?—At Mr. Linwood's house.
57,339. In 1847, who did you vote for? Baines and Brown?—Yes.
57,340. Did you get some money for your vote at that election?—A sovereign for Mr. Brown; it was paid at Sculcoates Tavern, Scott Street.
57,341. After your vote?—A month or six weeks after the election. I do not know to a fortnight or a month.
57,342. In 1852 did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,343. Did you get some money for your vote then?—Yes, a sovereign, about a month after.
57,344. Where was it paid?—Paid at a neighbour's house where I live.
57,345. Left for you?—Left for me at a neighbour's house.
57,346. Who left it, do you know?—I do not know the party's name that left it.
57,347. Three gentlemen?—Yes.
57,348. Did you see them?—I received it myself.
57,349. Was Murgatroyd one?—I do not know the man's name; I should know him if I saw him.
57,350. Why did they not pay you at your own house?—It was Jennings' house; they happened to be there first, and I was sent for there of course. I had no occasion to take them to my own house.
57,351. Was it at Schonswar's and Wrightson's first election?—I do not know.

JAMES HARPER sworn, and examined. James Harper.

57,352. Where do you live?—1, Glear Buildings, Trippett Street.
57,353. What rent do you pay?—£4 10*s.*
57,354. Are you a freeman?—I am.
57,355. How long have you been free?—Forty-four years.
57,356. Before the Reform Bill did you get the 2*l.* and 4*l.* a vote?—The first time of polling I got 4*l.*
57,357. In 1841, who did you vote for?—James and Hanmer.
57,358. Did you get anything for your vote?—Yes; I believe I got 1*l.*
57,359. Where was it paid?—It was paid in High Street, at Mr. Freebody's.
57,360. Was it before or after your vote?—Before the election.
57,361. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.
57,362. Were you paid for your vote that time?—I got about 15*s.*
57,363. Where was it paid?—It was paid at a public house in Witham, the Noah's Ark.
57,364. Who was it for?—Mr. Brown.
57,365. Who paid it?—I do not know the person.
57,366. Was that all you got?—Yes; that was all that I got.
57,367. Were you paid anything in Bishops Lane?—No; I do not remember anything.
57,368. In 1852 did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Moore and Butler.
57,369. What were you paid for your vote that time?—I got 1*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* as for labour.
57,370. Were you employed as a runner?—Yes.
57,371. How many weeks?—I was set down three weeks. I only got part of two.
57,372. Was not all at the committee room?—The committee room in Lowgate.
75,373. I suppose you had applied to be set down?—Yes.

TIMOTHY ASKWORTH sworn, and examined. T. Askworth.

57,374. Where do you live?—Trippett Street.
57,375. What rent do you pay?—£4 18*s.*
57,376. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,377. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1820.

T. Askworth.

23d July 1853.

57,378. Before the Reform Bill, did you get the two guineas and four?—I got two guineas at the election.

57,379. In 1841, who did you vote for?—I do not know; I cannot recollect; it was for the blues.

57,380. Did you get paid?—No.

57,381. Did you get any money that election?—No; I got none.

57,382. Are you quite sure?—Yes.

57,383. Neither before nor after?—No.

57,384. Six months afterwards were you paid?—That I cannot recollect.

57,325. In 1847, who did you vote for?—The blues.

57,386. There were no blues then.—Brown.

57,387. Did you get paid for your vote that time?—10*s.*, I believe.

57,388. Was it before or after you voted?—After.

57,389. Where was it paid?—White Horse Yard.

57,390. Who paid it?—I am sure I cannot say who paid it.

57,391. Was it a committee room?—No.

57,392. In 1852, did you vote blue?—Yes.

57,393. For Moore and Butler?—Yes.

57,394. What did you get paid at that time for your vote?—The first election?

57,395. Yes.—It was 17*s.* 6*d.*, and 1*l.* I was set down as a runner.

57,396. Are you quite sure that there was not a sovereign left at yonr house a few months after the election in 1841?—No.

57,397. You are sure of that?—I am sure of it. I cannot recollect.

W. Coverdale.

WILLIAM COVERDALE sworn, and examined.

57,398. Where do you live?—11, Glass Gallery, Trippett.

57,399. What rent do you pay?—Four guineas.

57,400. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,401. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1818.

57,402. Did you get the two guineas and four?—Oh yes.

57,403. In 1841, did you vote for Hanmer and James?—I did.

57,404. Did you get paid for your vote?—Yes.

57,405. How much?—I am sure I cannot tell exactly what I got; I was set down.

57,406. As near as you can?—I cannot bear in mind exactly what it was.

57,407. Was it 1*l.*?—More than that.

57,408. £2?—Somewhere thereabout.

57,409. Before or after you voted?—Before the election.

57,410. Where?—Freebody's, in High Street.

57,411. Was that all you got?—Yes.

57,412. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown.

57,413. Only?—Only.

57,414. What were you paid for your vote?—20*s.*

57,415. Before or after the polling?—Afrer the election; some time after, a week or a fortnight.

57,416. Where was it?—Bishop Lane.

57,417. By Mr. Stephenson?—Yes.

57,418. At the last election did you vote blue?—Yes; Moore and Butler.

57,419. Were you set down by Lidgard?—Yes, I was.

57,420. What were you paid?—I received 7*s.* 6*d.* the first week.

57,421. What the second?—I went two or three times afterwards and never got anything. I never received it; it was my wife received 17*s.* 6*d.* after.

57,422. We hear that the business of the man Lidgard was principally amongst this class of people?—I am sure I do not know.

57,423. Did he do anything more than that?—I was very seldom there.

Charles Harding.

CHARLES HARDING sworn, and examined.

57,424. Where do you live?—Medlay's Gallery, Trippett.

57,425. What rent do you pay?—Four guineas.

57,426. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,427. When were you free?—1841.

57,428. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—No; I never voted, only the last election.

57,429. Who took up your freedom?—I cannot tell; I was told to go and get it, and which of the parties paid for it I do not know. I never inquired who took it up.

57,430, Had you a right to vote at the election of 1841?—Yes; but I was not at home, I was at sea.

57,431. You were entitled to vote in 1841, you say?—I was at sea.

Charles Harding.

23d July 1853.

57,432. In 1847, were you entitled to vote?—Yes; but I was at sea.
57,433. In 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,434. Were you paid for your vote?—Yes.
57,435. How much?—I received 1*l.* 3*s.*; 3*s.* before the election, and one sovereign after.
57,436. Where?—Mr. Pulleyn paid me the sovereign, three shillings were brought to my house.

William Horner.

WILLIAM HORNER sworn, and examined.

57,437. Where do you live?—Salthouse Lane.
57,438. What rent do you pay for a house?—£5.
57,439. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,440. How long have you been free?—Since 1812.
57,441. Did you get the two guineas and four?—Yes.
57,442. In 1841, did you vote for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
57,443. Were you paid for your vote?—Yes.
57,444. How much?—One sovereign.
57,445. Before or after?—After.
57,446. Where?—It was at the saddler's shop in Witham. I received a note to say I was to go there and ask to receive a sovereign. I took the note; I knocked at the door, the room was in darkness; the man there asked which way I voted, I told him, and he gave me a sovereign. I asked no more, and away I walked.
57,447. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Brown and Baines.
47,448. Were you paid for your vote that time?—I got 10*s.*
57,449. Before or after?—After.
57,450. For Brown?—Yes.
56,451. Where was it paid?—Bishop Lane.
57,452. In 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,453. Were you paid for your vote that time?—Yes.
57,454. How much?—I got just the same as before, 7*s.* 6*d.*, and 17*s.* 6*d.* afterwards.
57,455. Who paid you?—Legitt.
57,456. You were set down at Lidgard's?—Yes.
57,457. How old are you?—Sixty-five.
57,458. You had not very hard work at Lidgard's—No.
57,459. What is your business?—A sailmaker.

John Robinson.

JOHN ROBINSON sworn, and examined.

57,460. Where do you live?—No. 6, Trippett Street.
57,461. What rent do you pay?—£6 10*s.*
57,462. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,463. How long have you been a freeman?—1826.
57,464. Did you get the two guineas and four?—At that time, I hardly can remember. I have been at sea a good deal.
57,465. In 1841, did you vote?—I believe I did.
57,466. You voted for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
57,467. Were you paid for your vote?—I never received anything from any party.
57,468. Six months after the election?—No.
57,469. Left at your house?—No; I never received anything.
57,470. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.
57,471. Why not?—Because I was at work, and I considered if I left off my labour I should lose more.
57,472. In 1852?—I solicited to become a runner.
57,473. Who did you vote for?—Moore and Goderich.
57,474. Where did you ask for employment?—At the committee room in Lowgate.
57,475. Which?—The blues'.
57,476. They set your name down for employment?—Yes.
57,477. Were you afterwards employed as a runner?—I was a messenger in the office.
57,478. How much did you get?—I think I got 30*s.* altogether.
57,479. That is by the blues?—Yes.
57,480. Was it before you voted?—No; part before, and part afterwards.
57,481. Who paid you, do you know?—No; a stranger at the committee room. I was a messenger; they paid me 5*s.* after the election, and the other I received at the Lowgate committee room.
57,482. Did you get anything from the orange?—No; I never was in one of the committee rooms.
57,483. Did you get anything?—No; I never received any money.

John Robinson.

23d July 1853.

57,484. You were never in the Trinity House, were you?—No.

57,485. How came you to vote for the blues?—I am one who works for different parties.

Mr. R. Boyle.

Mr. Richard Boyle sworn, and examined.

57,486. Where do you live?—John Street, Sculcoates.

57,487. What is your business?—I am out of business at present.

57,488. Do you pay rent for your house?—Yes.

57,489. How much?—At present 18*l.*

57,490. Are you a freeman?—No.

57,491. How long have you been a voter?—I am a disfranchised freeman by the Reform Bill, but I am entitled by patrimony to the freedom of the City of York.

57,492. You are not a freeman of this borough?—No.

57,493. How long have you been a voter?—Since the Reform Bill.

57,494. Did you vote in the year 1841?—Yes.

57,495. Who for?—Hanmer and James.

57,496. Did you have anything to do with the payments at that election?—No, I think not; to the best of my remembrance, I think not.

57,497. Had you anything to do with the financial arrangements?—No.

57,498. In 1847, who did you vote for?—For Brown.

57,499. Only?—Only.

57,500. Did you have anything to do with the payments made at that election?—No.

57,501. Now, in 1852, did you vote for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—No.

57,502. You did not vote at all then?—No.

57,503. Were you employed by anybody to canvass?—No; I had nothing whatever to do with it. I refused to vote.

57,504. Had you done nothing at any election before?—No.

57,505. You have taken no part in any transactions?—Not since the election of Wilberforce and James, in 1837.

57,506. You know nothing about the three last elections?—No; I perhaps know a good deal, but I know nothing officially.

57,507. Tell us what you do know unofficially?—I shall decline to enter into any conversational information which I may have gleaned.

57,508. You must tell us that.—No.

57,509. You must tell it.—I will not.

57,510. Now, attend to me: have you had any conversations with any of the voters since the election?—No.

57,511. Or at the time of the election?—No.

57,512. What is it you alluded to just now?—What I know is merely from observation in passing about.

57,513. I thought you said from conversations?—No.

57,514. Did you have any conversation about the election with people who said they had taken bribes?—I should not like to say I had not, because I cannot say with whom I might converse.

57,515. What did you mean just now, when you said you knew of something in a conversational way?—Merely what I gleaned from moving about.

57,516. Tell us what you have gleaned.—I do not know. I can answer you any question that you will put to me; if I can answer it, I will do so.

57,517. My question is this, What have you gleaned?—Then I should say nothing; you give me no clue.

57,518. I want you to give us a clue?—I can give you none.

57,519. It is your duty by Act of Parliament to tell us all you know?—I know nothing.

57,520. You have placed yourself in a very unpleasant predicament by using those words. What did you mean just now when you said what you had gleaned?—I mean to say I took no active part.

57,521. That is not my question. My question is, what you meant when you said you knew nothing but what you had gleaned?—Nothing but what I might hear passing about.

57,522. Tell us what you did hear?—That I cannot tell you. I tell you I took no active part on the election.

57,523. You have given me an answer that I do not exactly understand.—I have no doubt I heard from this party, for instance, at the last election, that Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler were to be returned; others with whom I met might say Clay and Goderich would be returned.

57,524. What did you mean when you said that you knew nothing more than what you had gleaned?—Nothing more than what I have stated.

57,525. Mere casual observation?—Mere casual observation.

57,526. Have you heard anything relating to the modes made use of at the election for the buying of votes?—No.

57,527. Have you heard anything about the practice of setting down names?—No; not having taken any active part in the election, and refusing to vote, I consider that I know nothing whatever.

57,528. You are bound to tell us what you know; the Act of Parliament requires that you should do so; it is pointed out as your duty. Your duty is not merely to tell us what you know, but what you have heard?—Then I may say that I have not heard anything.

57,529. Were you canvassed for your vote?—Yes.

57,530. By both sides?—Yes.

57,531. Can you make any disclosure relating to the election of 1852?—No.

57,532. Can you make any disclosure relating to the election of 1847?—No, I cannot.

57,533. Can you make any disclosure as to any matter relating to the election of 1841?—No.

57,534. Then you do not require a certificate of course. You are entitled to a certificate if your answers implicate you in these transactions?—Not having taken any interest in the elections, I consider I am not in a position to give any information.

57,535. The certificate is to protect anybody who has been mixed up with bribery from any penalty. If anything should hereafter be discovered which you have not stated to-day, whatever trifling proceeding it may be, you will be liable to be proceeded against?—I have answered to the best of my belief.

57,536. It is entirely at your own peril; if any time anything is discovered relating to the election in which you have been concerned, or which you have heard, you will be liable to be proceeded against?—I am not aware of anything.

57,537, Tell us anything important, though it happened in a mere conversation, because if at any time hereafter anything should be discovered within your knowledge you will be entitled to be proceeded against?—I must take the risk.

57,538. Were you ever in any of the committee rooms?—Yes; I believe I was in Mr. Brown's.

57,539. Were you one of the parties who brought him here?—No.

57,540. Which committee were you in?—The Market Place one.

57,541. Who were the gentlemen there?—I am sure I cannot say.

57,542. Who were the committee?—William Stephenson was one. I do not remember any others.

57,543. Mr. Stephenson, the proprietor of the newspaper?—Yes.

57,544. Is he not your brother-in-law?—Yes.

57,545. Who else was present?—I am sure I cannot say.

57,546. There were others there?—Oh yes; I should say several.

57,547. Did you ever see Mr. Brown there?—Never that I know of.

57,548. Did you ever see him at all?—I think not.

57,549. Can you tell us the names of any persons who were present in the committee room?—No.

57,550. You cannot tell the name of a single one, except Mr Stephenson?—Not at this moment.

57,551. Was it before or after you voted you went there?—I should say during the polling.

57,552. About what time of the day was it? Was it in the morning?—No; it would be about noon.

57,553. Were you there more than once?—I might be; I do not know.

57,554. You might, for anything you know, have been there all day? I want you to tell us how often you were there?—No. I took no part in it, consequently I had no occasion to be there.

57,555. You have already told us you were there?—I might be there once or twice.

57,556. I want you to tell me all the times you were there?—I tell you the whole, as far as I know.

57,557. How often do you think you were there?—Once or twice.

57,558. Where you there at the time when the voters were paid?—No. I know nothing of any money transactions.

57,559. Were you there at the time when the voters were applying to be paid?—No.

57,560. Then as far as your knowledge goes, no voter was ever paid?—I know nothing of it.

57,561. I ask you what your recollection is, could it have occurred and you have forgotten it?—I should say not, because it would be in the heat of the day during the polling.

57,562. How long were you there?—Only a few moments.

57,563. On both times?—I should say so.

57,564. You say no money was paid in the committee room while you were there?—No money was paid while I was there.

57,565. Twice you were there, and neither time did you see a penny paid?—No.

57,566. Were you there after the poll closed?—No.

57,567. Were you in any other committee room?—No, I was not.

57,568. None besides this one?—No.

Mr. R. Boyle.

23d July 1853.

57,569. Do you know who was the chairman of the committee that you were at?—I understood Mr. Digby was the chairman, but whether he was there or not, I do not know.

57,570. He was the chairman where you were?—Yes; at that committee room.

57,571. He was the chairman of the committee where you were?—I presume Mr. Digby. I do not know it.

57,572. You understood so?—Yes; I understood him to be a chairman, but whether of that committee room or not I do not know.

57,573. Did you understand him to be the chairman of that particular room?—I did not.

57,574. What did you understand?—I understood Mr. Digby was chairman of that committee.

57,575. The committee that met at that place?—I do not know where it met.

57,576. I want to know whom you understood was the chairman of the particular committee at which you were?—I am not aware.

57,577. You did not understand him to be?—No.

57,578. Did you understand that there was a chairman?—Yes; I presume there would be one.

57,579. Did you understand also that Mr. Digby was the treasurer?—I did not understand it.

57,580. Did you understand that there was a treasurer at all?—I am not aware that I asked the question or made the inquiry.

57,581. Did you understand that there was a treasurer at all?—I scarcely know how to answer the question.

57,582. Did you hear that there was a treasurer?—No.

57,583. Have you heard that there was any money paid at all in that room?—Yes; I have heard since there was money paid, for instance, this morning in this court.

57,584. Before you came here?—No; I knew nothing of it.

57,585. Did you hear that money was paid?—No.

57,586. As far as you know, the expenses of that election are not paid at this moment?—They may not be, as far as I know.

57,587. You did not vote at the last election?—1852?

57,588. Yes.—No.

57,589. In the election of 1852, were you canvassed by anybody not to vote?—No.

57,590. Nor solicited not to vote?—No.

Thomas Smith.

THOMAS SMITH sworn, and examined.

57,591. Where do you live?—26, High Street, at present.

57,592. What are you?—A labourer.

57,593. What rent do you pay?—None.

57,594. Are you a lodger?—No; I live rent free.

57,595. Does your master pay the rent?—Yes.

57,596. What is the house let for?—The house has been let, I do not know exactly, for about 10*l.* or 12*l.*; there are two of us occupy it.

57,597. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,598. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1841.

57,599. Were you entitled to vote at the election of of 1841?—I do not think I was; I took it up in 1841.

57,600. Did you take it up yourself?—No.

57,601. Who paid for it?—The blue party.

57,602. Was the 1847 election the first at which you voted?—I did not vote then.

57,603. Why not?—I was away from the town.

57,604. Was the last election the first at which you voted?—Yes.

57,605. You voted for Moore and Butler?—I did.

57,606. Did you get paid for your vote?—I did.

57,607. How much?—One sovereign.

57,608. Before or after?—After.

57,609. Where?—It was brought to the house.

57,610. Do you know by whom?—No; a stranger to me.

David Fisher.

DAVID FISHER sworn, and examined.

57,611. Where do you live?—Trinity House Hospital.

57,612. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,613. How long have you been a freeman?—It is no use asking me about back elections, my memory will not carry me back. I cannot speak to truth.

57,614. Do you recollect how long you have been a freeman?—I do not recollect; it was at Staniforth's election that they first took my freedom up; which of them it was I cannot say.

David Fisher.

23d July 1853.

57,615. In the year 1841, who did you vote for? Hanmer and James?—I am sure I cannot say.

57,616. Do you live at Barton?—No; that is a cousin of mine.

57,617. Did you live at the Groves?—Yes.

57,618. You voted for James and Hanmer?—I dare say I did.

57,619. Did you get any money for it?—I am sure I cannot tell you.

57,620. Did you ever vote without having anything?—I have been away so many elections, I cannot say that I did not.

57,621. Did you get money at all the last three elections?—I cannot say the last three.

57,622. In 1847 did you vote for Mr. Brown?—I cannot say who I voted for.

57,623. Can you recollect about the last election?—Yes; the last election I can recollect.

57,624. Who did you vote for? Moore and Butler?—Yes; Moore and Butler.

57,625. Did you get any money the last time?—Yes; 17*s.* 6*d.*

57,626. Who paid it you?—I am sure I cannot say.

57,627. Where were you paid?—I was paid at Lowgate.

57,628. Where were you paid? at the committee room?—Yes.

57,629. Did they come to canvass you at the Trinity Hospital?—Yes.

57,630. Are there some other men in the hospital who voted blue?—Yes.

57,631. Who are they?—There is one of the nome of Boyden.

57,632. Who else?—There is another of the name of Thomas Lenham, and another of the name of John Frere.

57,633. Who else?—That is all but one, I cannot think of his name.

57,634. How many of them are there?—Five or six of them.

57,635. Did you hear tell that they were paid too?—No; some of them were not.

57,636. Which of them did not?—Frere did not, and Lenham did not, I know.

57,637. Boyden did?—Yes.

57,638. Did the others get something for voting?—I cannot say.

57,639. Do you remember voting for Hanmer and James?—Yes.

57,640. Do you remember getting a sovereign afterwards?—No.

57,641. How much then?—I got 17*s.* 6*d.* this last election.

57,642. Do you remember voting for Hanmer and James? I see David Fisher of the Groves.—I remember voting in Witham, but what members they were I cannot say.

57,643. Do you remember twelve years ago voting for Hanmer and James?—I dare say I might.

57,644. And did you not get a sovereign afterwards?—No.

57,645. How much was it?—10*s.*

57,646. Now, in 1847, do you remember that you voted for Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown? I see David Fisher, Groves, Baines and Brown.—I do not know the names at all.

57,647. I am talking of about six years ago; Baines and Brown, do you remember them?—Yes.

57,648. And do you remember getting 10*s.*?—Yes.

57,649. From Mr. Brown?—In Witham.

John Atkinson.

JOHN ATKINSON sworn, and examined.

57,650. Where do you live?—George Yard.

57,651. Do you pay rent for your house?—I have one room.

57,652. Are you a lodger?—I am a burgess.

57,653. Are you a lodger?—No.

57,654. What rent do you pay?—£4.

57,655. Is that for the house?—For the room.

57,656. You are a freeman?—Yes.

57,657. How long have you been a freeman?—Ever since 1825.

57,658. In 1841 did you vote for Hanmer and James?—No; I did not.

57,659. Who for?—For no one.

57,660. Why not?—I was not registered.

57,661. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown.

57,662. Only?—Only Mr. Brown.

57,663. Did you get paid for your vote?—I got 10*s.*

57,664. Was that before or after the election?—Before.

57,665. Where?—Bishop Lane.

57,666. Did Mr. Stephenson pay you?—I believe he did.

57,667. Is that all you got?—Yes; that is every farthing I got.

57,668. At the last election did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

57,669. Were you paid for your vote?—Yes.

57,670. How much?—A sovereign.

57,571. Was that before or after the election?—After.

57,672. Who paid it?—I do not know the gentleman.

W. M. Boanson.

23d July 1853.

WILLIAM MARTIN BOANSON sworn, and examined.

57,673. Where do you live?—Salthouse Lane.
57,674. Do you pay rent for your house?—Yes.
57,675. How much?—£4 10*s.*
57,676. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,677. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1851.
57,678. Did you take it up yourself?—Yes.
57,679. Then the last was the first election at which you voted?—Yes.
57,680. Did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
57,681. Were you paid for your vote?—I was paid for running, a pound.
57,682. When were you paid?—On the Saturday after the election.
57,683. Where were you set down as a runner?—At the Conservative rooms, in Lowgate.
57,684. Did you apply for employment?—Yes.
57,685. Were you paid this 1*l.* afterwards?—Yes.
57,686. Who paid you?—Mr. Pulleyn.
57,687. He knew which way you were going to vote I suppose?—I should think so.
57,688. If you had voted for Clay and Goderich, do you expect you would have had the sovereign?—Well, I should have expected it for my labour.
57,689. You think he would have paid it?—I think I earned it.
57,690. My question is whether you think he would have paid it?—I think he would. Many of the hands were not freemen, and they had 5*s.* a day the same as I had. They could not vote.
57,691. Can you tell us any freemen that voted for Clay and Goderich, who were paid by Moore and Butler?—No.
57,692. Do you think the freemen who voted for Clay and Goderich would have been paid for running for Moore and Butler?—No; I should think not.
57,693. Do you think if you had voted for Clay and Goderich that you would have been paid?—I think I ought to be paid.
57,694. That is not an answer to my question; do you think you would have been paid?—I say I thought I ought to be paid.
57,695. You have said that already; you have got hearing and understanding too.—Now tell me on your oath do you think you would have been paid?—I think I ought to be paid.
57,696. That is three times you have said that; be so good as not tell us a fourth; on your oath do you think you would then have been paid?—I cannot answer that.
57,697. Do you think you would have been paid? You must have some expectation about it?—Yes; I should think so.
57,698. You think you would have been paid?—Yes.
57,699. Did you get the same, or more, than persons who had no vote at all?—Exactly the same; they had 5*s.* a day.
57,700. Tell us how many of the non-voters got 1*l.*?—I think Mr. Plummer had eight men.
57,701. Give us the names of those that had the 1*l.*?—They had 10*s.* for two days; I had 1*l.* for four.
57,702. Who were they? Tell us any of those non-voters who got a sovereign?—I may say—that was two days.
57,703. But you got four days?—I got four days. I do not know the names of any who got four; I know some had two.
57,704. Was that before, or after the election?—The Saturday after the election.
57,705. How many of you?—I should think perhaps fifty of us, at least.
57,706. How many of those, do you think, had not a vote?—I think eight of them. Mr. Plummer had them under his care.
57,707. Which Mr. Plummer?—Mr. Humphrey's foreman.
57,708. He selected eight, did he?—They wanted eight more hands. They could not get any more freemen, and so they took those.
57,709. You went to the blue party because they gave the most?—Yes; you may be sure I went to the one I could get the most of.
57,710. Do you not know very well that if you had told them at the time that you intended to vote orange, they would not have employed you?—I was not asked.
57,711. If you had told them at that time that you intended to vote orange, do you think they would have employed you?—I should not have gone there.
57,712. When you went and asked for employment, and said nothing, you left them to understand that you would vote blue?—Yes; I was not asked the question.

R. Matthews.

RICHARD MATTHEWS sworn, and examined.

57,713. Where do you live?—In Bridge Street.
57,714. Do you pay any rent for your house?—Yes.
57,715. How much?—£6.

R. Matthews.

23d July 1853.

57,716. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,717. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1841.
57,718. Were you entitled to vote at the election in 1841?—Yes.
57,719. Then your freedom was probably taken up in 1839?—It was taken up in 1841.
57,720. Who took it up? who paid for it?—The blue party, I expect.
57,721. Did you vote for them in consequence, in 1841?—No; I was not at home, I was at sea.
57,722. Now, in 1847, who did you vote for?—Clay and Brown.
57,723. Did you get any money for your vote then?—No.
57,724. Did you not get any money at all?—No; not a farthing.
57,725. Not at that election?—No.
57,726. Not at all?—Nothing at all.
57,727. Neither before, or after the election?—Neither before or after.
57,728. At the last election, did you vote blue?—Yes.
57,729. Did you get anything this time?—Yes.
57,730. What did you get?—I got a pound.
57,731. Was that before, or after you voted?—The day after.
57,732. From whom?—From Mr. Pulleyn.
57,733. That was for voting for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes; for Mr. Moore.

John Robinson.

JOHN ROBINSON sworn, and examined.

57,734. Where do you live?—Trinity Square, Carr Lane.
57,735. What are you?—A seaman.
57,736. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,737. How long have you been so?—Since 1813.
57,738. Did you get your two guineas, and four?—No; never, at no election but one,—Sykes and Mitchell. I got two then.
57,739. In 1841, did you vote for Hanmer and James?—I voted for nobody; I went away, and would not stop.
57,740. Why did you go away?—Because I would not lose my voyage to St. Petersburgh for 40*l.*
57,741. You went to sea?—Yes.
57,742. You did not get any money to go to sea then, did you?—I could have, but I would not. I could have stopped at home, and not have gone to sea.
57,743. In 1847, who did you vote for?—Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown.
57,744. Did you get any money for your vote then?—Not a mag.
57,745. Did you get any money during the election?—Not a mag.
57,746. After it?—No; I lost half a day's work by it, and did not get that even.
57,747. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.
57,748. For Moore and Butler?—For Moore and Butler.
57,749. Were you paid for your vote?—Nothing. I was paid three days' running, 13*s.* 6*d.*
57,750. As a runner?—Yes.
57,751. Did you apply to be set down as a runner?—Yes.
57,752. At Lowgate?—Yes.
57,753. Where did you apply?—At the Black Horse, in Carr Lane.
57,754. Was that a committee room?—Yes.
57,755. If you had told them at that time that you intended to vote orange, you knew very well they would not have employed you?—Yes; I never intended to vote orange.
57,756. Be so good as to listen to what I say, and answer me. You knew very well at that time that if you had told them you were going to vote orange, they would not employ you?—It was not likely.
57,757. You did tell them you were going to vote blue?—Yes; I told them I had promised blue, that I had promised them.
57,758. When were you paid?—On the Saturday week after the election.
57,759. Do you know who paid you?—Yes; Mr. Wells, George Yard.
57,760. Are you in the Trinity almshouses?—Yes.
57,761. Do you know of any other person who voted on your side?—No; I know nothing about anybody myself. I never interfered with them.
57,762. Have you not heard?—No; I never had any conversation with them about their vote at all. I only trouble my head with my own affairs; that is, my own business. I do not trouble myself with other people's.

John Farrah.

JOHN FARRAH sworn, and examined.

57,763. Are you a ropemaker?—Yes.
57,764. Where do you live?—Lime Street.
57,765. At any number?—No; I live in the ropeyard.

John Farrah.

23d July 1853.

57,766. Are you the foreman at Mr. Cooper's ropery?—Yes.

57,767. What rent do you pay? do you pay any?—I do not pay any rent.

57,768. Do you live in a house?—I live in a house, rent free.

57,769. As part of your salary?—Yes.

57,770. Do you know what the value of the house is?—No, I do not.

57,771. I mean, is it worth 2*l.* or 200*l.*?—Perhaps it may be worth 6*l.*, or something of that kind.

57,772. Are you a freeman?—Yes, I am.

57,773. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1812.

57,774. In 1841, did you vote?—Yes.

57,775. Who did you vote for?—Hanmer and James.

57,776. Did you get any money for your vote?—Yes.

57,777. How much?—£1, I had brought to me.

57,778. £1, after the election?—Yes.

57,779. Do you know who brought it?—Yes; one of my brothers.

57,780. Do you know where he got it from?—He got it in Witham.

57,781. In 1847, who did you vote for?—For Brown and Baines.

57,782. Did you get any money for your vote at that time?—I promised Mr. Brown, and I got 10*s.*

57,783. Was that paid before, or after you voted?—Before I voted; after I had promised the man.

57,784. He would not have given it you unless?—Perhaps not.

57,785. You had 10*s.* for voting for Mr. Brown, before voting?—Yes.

57,786. Where were you paid?—In Witham.

57,787. Was Dr. Twining the person to whom you promised your vote?—No, he was not.

57,788. Did you get any more money at that election?—No.

57,789. At the last election, for whom did you vote?—I got the 10*s.* from the last election before that.

57,790. Did you get another 10*s.* just before this election?—Yes.

57,791. Just before this election you got 10*s.* for Mr. Baines; that was back money?—Back money you may call it.

57,792. Polling money for Mr. Baines?—I do not call it exactly that.

57,793. At this election, did you vote for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes.

57,794. Did you get any money for it?—No.

57,795. Then you had nothing at this election?—Nothing at all.

57,796. Was your name set down?—I promised them.

57,797. Was your name set down for employment?—No.

57,798. As a runner?—No.

57,799. Had you complained of not being paid by Mr. Baines?—No, I did not. I said this, if they never paid me I should never ask for it, and therefore I never complained of not being paid.

57,800. You never complained of it?—I cannot say that exactly; I may have put it in this way, that I had as much right to be paid as anybody else. I will not say I did not say that, but I never complained to them about it.

57,801. You mean that you grumbled?—I might grumble in this way, and say that I had as much right to it as anybody else.

57,802. You thought it scarcely right to vote for the blues until they wiped off your old score?—No; I should have voted for them whether they had paid me or not.

57,803. That made no difference?—No.

57,804. It had no effect upon you?—Not a bit.

57,805. Had you said anything so as to make the people think it would be prudent to pay you?—No.

57,806. I suppose you knew it was not Mr. Baines's money you got?—I did not know that when I got it. I know it since, because I have heard them say so.

57,807. Then I suppose you have paid it back again?—No; I did not pay it back.

57,808. Not when you heard that it was not Mr. Baines' money, but Mr. Moore's and Mr. Butler's?—No; because I heard them say yesterday that Mr. Barkworth had been up here, and it was his money.

57,809. I thought you would have ran as hard as you could to pay him his money back again?—No.

57,810. You have not had the opportunity, I suppose you mean, to go this evening?—No; I never thought of it.

57,911. Were you at the De-la-Pole Tavern supper?—No.

57,812. Did it occur to you, when you heard yesterday that it was Mr. Moore's and Mr. Butler's money, as an honest man that you ought to pay it back again?—No, it has never occurred to me so.

ROBERT FARRAH sworn, and examined. Robert Farrah.

23d July 1853

57,813. Where do you live?—Lime Street.
57,814. At the Ropery?—No, by the Ropery; not at the Ropery.
57,815. Do you pay rent for your house?—Yes.
57,816. How much?—£3 a year.
57,817. You are the brother of the last witness, John Farrah?—Yes.
57,818. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
57,819. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1825.
57,820. In 1841 did you vote?—Yes.
57,821. For Hanmer James?—Yes.
57,822. Did you get any money for your vote?—£1.
57,823. Was it before or after the election?—After.
57,824. By whom?—I do not know.
57,825. Where?—It was in Witham.
57,826. At the committee room?—No; it was in a shop.
57,827. Did you see the person who paid you?—No; I did not see the person.
57,828. Was the person concealed?—I saw his arm and hand.
57,829. In 1847, who did you vote for?—For Brown and Baines.
57,830. Did you get any money for your vote then?—I got 10*s.* from Mr. Brown's party.
57,831. Was that before or after you had voted?—Before.
57,832. Who paid you?—Dr. Twining.
57,833. Did you get any anything from Mr. Baines?—No.
57,834. Not then?—Not then.
57,835. Did you get anything more at that election?—I did not get anything then.
57,846. Just before the last election, were you paid 10*s.* for your old claim?—Yes.
57,837. Had you ever made a claim for it against anybody until just before the last election?—No.
57,838. Did you ever make a claim against anybody?—No, I never did; it was promised, that 10*s.*
57,839. Was it in consequence of your having complained? Did they promise it because you had grumbled?—Yes; I suppose that was it.
57,840. Who did you grumble to?—Why, I cannot say.
57,841. Was it not to some of Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler's people?—I did, when they came to canvass me. I told them I had been promised that, and that I never got it.
57,842. That was when Mr. Moore's and Mr. Butler's canvassers came to you?—Yes.
57,843. Did they come to your brother at the same time they came to you?—I am not aware of that; I do not know.
57,844. Afterwards they paid you the 10*s.*?—Yes; my brother paid it me.
57,845. And after that you promised to vote for them?—I promised to vote for them before that; before I got the money I promised them.
57,846. Did they tell you you should have the money?—No; they did not.
57,847. You promised them first to vote, and then they gave you the 10*s.*?—Yes; not directly after, but soon after.
57,848. Did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes, I did.
57,849. Were you paid anything?—10*s.*
57,850. Was that after you had polled?—Yes.
57,851. Where?—At a public house in Lime Street.
57,852. Who paid it?—Mr. West.
57,853. Were you at the supper at the De-la-Pole Tavern?—No; I was not.

JOSEPH ROBINSON FARRAH sworn, and examined. J. R. Farrah.

57,854. Are you a brother of the last two witnesses?—A nephew.
57,855. Are you employed at the Ropery?—I have been.
57,856. Where do you live?—I live at Christchurch Street, in the parish of Sculcoates.
57,857. What rent do you pay for your house?—£12.
57,858. Are you a freeman?—Yes, I am.
57,859. Are you also on the 10*l.* householders' list?—No.
57,860. How long have you been a freeman?—In 1830, I took up my freedom.
57,861. Was it taken up for you or did you take it up yourself?—I took it up myself.
57,862. In 1841 did you vote for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
57,863. Were you paid for your vote?—I received a sovereign about six months after.
57,864. Who paid it you?—That I do not know. I received it through a window.
57,865. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown.
57,866. Were you paid for your vote at that time?—I received 10*s.* the night before the election in Bishop Lane.
57,867. From Mr. Stephenson?—From Mr. Stephenson, and 10*s.* after I had polled.

J. R. Farrah.

23d July 1853.

57,868. Who paid you the second?—Mr. Stephenson.

57,869. Was that for Mr. Brown?—Yes; and 5*s.* I received from Mr. Twining, at Witham.

57,870. Who was that for?—For Mr. Brown.

57,871. Just before the last election were you paid 10*s.*, the back claim for Mr. Baines?—Yes.

57,872. Had you grumbled about it?—Well, I said, with the rest of my fellow workmen, that I should not promise till the old score was rubbed off.

57,873. And Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler's people paid you the 10*s.*?—Yes.

57,874. Do you mean, you told that to Moore and Butler's people?—Yes; when they came canvassing.

57,875. Did you vote for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—I did.

57,876. Were you paid after for that anything?—Nothing.

57,877. Were you paid nothing during that election but the 10*s*?—Nothing at all.

J. E. Stephenson.

JOHN EDWARD STEPHENSON sworn, and examined.

57,878. What are you?—A rope maker.

57,879. Where do you live?—The Groves, Orchard Street.

57,880. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.

57,881. How much?—£4 10*s.*

57,882. Are you employed at the Ropery?—Yes.

57,883. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,884. How long have you been a freeman?—1818, I believe.

57,885. And before the Reform bill did you get your two guineas and four?—Yes.

57,886. In 1841, did you vote for Hanmer and James?—Yes.

57,887. Were you paid for your vote?—Yes.

57,888. After the election, or before?—I was paid partly during the canvassing time, and partly after.

57,889. How much?—I was engaged for about six weeks—three weeks before the election, and three weeks after.

57,890. How much were you paid altogether?—I cannot exactly say, I am sure; I did not make any memorandum of it.

57,891. You were paid about six guineas, were you not?—Yes; I should think it would come pretty well up to it.

57,892. Were you employed as a messenger?—Yes, and doorkeeper.

57,893. Where were you a doorkeeper?—In Bowl Alley Lane.

57,894. And had you applied to be employed?—Yes.

57,895. When you applied to be employed, you knew that if you told them you meant to vote orange, they would not have employed you?—I was out of employment, and I engaged myself as a doorkeeper; I had no other intention, but to vote for that party.

57,896. You knew that if you had not intended to vote for them, they would not have employed you?—They knew it.

57,897. And you knew it too?—Yes, of course.

57,898. In 1847, who did you vote for?—For Mr. Brown, and Mr. Baines.

57,899. Were you a doorkeeper at any place where the parties were being paid in 1841?—No, I was not.

57,900. Was Bowl Alley Lane the central committee then?— Yes.

57,901. Did you see any people paid at that election, or after?—No; not any.

57,902. Were you at any of the places when they were paid through the windows?—No; it was in open daylight where I got mine.

57,903. Were you at any of those places where they were paying other people through the doors?—No; I had nothing to do with any others.

57,904. Gentlemen behind screens?—No; nothing at all.

57,905. You know nothing about it?—Nothing at all.

57,906. Did you see any money, although you did not see the people? did you see any money on a table, or anywhere else, with which the voters were to be paid?—Not for that purpose.

57,907. For what purpose did you see the money?—I saw money for different purposes,—for paper, and the different utensils they wanted.

57,908. At Bowl Alley Lane?—Yes; at the central committee.

57,909. You did not see any money anywhere else?—No; I did not.

57,910. In 1847, did you vote for Brown and Baines?—Yes; for Mr. Brown, and Mr. Baines.

57,911. Were you paid anything at that election for your vote?—Yes.

57,912. How much?—15*s.* before the election; I believe about 30*s.* altogether, before and after.

57,913. 15*s.* before, and 15*s.* after?—No; it was a pound after, I believe.

57,914. Was that for Mr. Brown?—No; I was referring to Mr. Butler's.

57,915. When you voted for Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines, what did you get paid?—I got paid in Bishop Lane two half sovereigns; one half before the election, and the other after.

J. E. Stephenson.

23d July 1853.

57,916. By Stephenson?—Well, I really do not know. Mr. Goddard was there; I know him; he did not pay me the money, it was perhaps Mr. Stephenson that paid me the money.

57,917. Was it Stephenson?—I do not know him.

57,918. It was paid for Mr. Brown?—Yes.

57,919. Just before the last election, were you paid 10*s.* for the old claim against Mr. Baines?—Yes.

57,920. You grumbled a little?—Yes, of course, till I got the money.

57,921. Did you tell the people who canvassed you, that they must satisfy you?—Yes; to be sure I did.

57,922. Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler's people?—Yes; because they were Mr. Baines's friends at the election before, and I had a right to grumble to them.

57,923. Afterwards did they pay you the 10*s.*?—Yes.

57,924. And you promised to vote for them, did you not?—When they had paid the 10*s.*

57,925. Then you promised to vote?—Yes; I believe I had promised before.

57,926. After that did you vote for them?—Yes.

57,927. And did you get paid for that?—Yes.

57,928. How much?—A sovereign after the election, and 15*s.* before, but I returned 5*s.* back.

57,929. Were you then employed?—I was put down as a runner.

57,930. Where?—In Witham.

57,931. What made you give back the 5*s.*?—Because the person told me that he had paid it out of his own pocket.

57,932. Who paid you?—My broker.

57,933. The 10*s.* you got from these parties, which you say you got before?—Yes, I expect so.

John Lambert.

JOHN LAMBERT sworn, and examined.

57,934. What are you?—A ropemaker.

57,935. Where do you live?—No. 1, John's Place, Popple Street, Drypool.

57,936. Do you pay rent for your house?—Yes.

57,937. How much?—Six guineas.

57,938. Are you employed at this ropery?—Yes.

57,939. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

57,940. How long have you been a freeman?—August, 1841, I took it up.

57,941. Not in time to vote at the election of 1841?—No.

57,942. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines.

57,943. Were you paid anything for your vote at that election?—10*s.* before, and 10*s.* after.

57,944. That was 1847, you say?—Yes.

57,945. Who was it for?—For Mr. Brown.

57,946. Where were you paid?—I believe we got one 10*s.* in Witham, and the other in Bishop Lane.

57,947. Who paid you in Witham?—Dr. Twining.

57,948. And Mr. Stephenson at the other place?—I am sure I do not know who paid it at the other place.

57,949. Just before the last election did you get 10*s.* for your old claim against Mr. Baines?—Yes.

57,950. Had you been grumbling?—I was never canvassed then, and I never grumbled to them; I never asked them for it for three years before the election came off. I saw Mr. Harris and I asked him, and he promised me.

57,951. Were you canvassed?—Yes; I was canvassed.

57,952. Did you say anything to them about the back claim?—I had got my money then.

57,953. You had mentioned it among your mates?—Of course we talked about it, one amongst the other.

57,954. Did you mention, when you were canvassed by Moore and Butler's people, that you had not been paid for Mr. Baines?—No, I never mentioned it then, because I had gotten it, and they never mentioned it to me.

57,955. You may have grumbled before?—I never grumbled to the parties that canvassed me.

57,956. You did grumble at first?—No; I did not say that I did.

57,957. You talked it over among your mates?—Yes; in the same way as that gentleman (referring to one of the Commissioners) put it to me just now.

57,958. You said you thought you had a claim against the party?—Yes.

57,959. And were not satisfied till you got paid?—And we got 10*s.* each.

57,960. You got 10*s.* from Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler's people?—Yes.

57,961. And then you promised to vote for them?—No.

John Lambert.
23d July 1853.

57,962. Not when they canvassed you?—I promised when they canvassed me, except that I had got the 10*s.*

57,963. Did you vote for them?—Yes.

57,964. Did you get paid afterwards for that?—I got a sovereign after the election, about a fortnight after.

57,965. From whom?—I believe it was Mr. Walker, the druggist, he was one; I do not know the other.

57,966. Henry Whytal Walker?—Yes; that I believe is his name.

James Hannah.

JAMES HANNAH sworn, and examined.

57,967. Where do you live?—In Cumberland Street.

57,968. What are you?—A rope and twine maker.

57,969. What rent do you pay for your house?—£24.

57,970. Are you a freeman?—No.

57,971. How long have you been entitled to vote?—For four years; this is the first time I have ever voted.

57,972. Did you vote for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes.

57,973. Were you paid anything for your vote?—I do not know that I was paid anything for my vote; I let my room as a committee-room, and I was doorkeeper for nearly a fortnight, and I got 30*s.* for my trouble.

57,974. Let us take it by steps?—I got 10*s.* for the first week.

57,975. Did you apply to have your room taken?—No, I did not.

57,976. Did they come to you?—Yes, the parties came to me.

57,977. In order to take your room?—Yes; they wanted a room in that street.

57,978. Did you agree with them that they should have it?—My missus did.

57,979. How much were you to be paid for it?—£2.

57,980. Did anybody ever come there?—Yes.

57,981. How many?—There were three or four at different times, in and out.

57,982. Those were the runners?—No; men from another committee opposite, at the end of George Street.

57,983. Who came from that committee?—There were some.

57,984. There was a clerk and some messengers?—Yes; backwards and forwards.

57,985. Those were the people who came?—At first.

57,986. At any time?—Yes.

57,987. Did you yourself, besides being paid for your room, get paid as a messenger?—Yes, and to keep the door; to take care of my own place.

57,988. How much were you paid for taking care of your own place?—I got 30*s.* I got 10*s.* the first week, and 20*s.* the week following the election was over.

57,989. I suppose all you did was to look after your own room?—Yes, and went some errands occasionally.

57,990. I suppose you were sent to look at what o'clock it was?—No.

57,991. What were you sent to do? Your room was engaged by the blue party?—Yes.

57,992. And you were paid by the blue party?—I was canvassed for the room by the orange party; before I gave consent for a colour, I let it to the blue party.

57,993. You did conclude with the blue party?—Yes; my inclination led me that way.

57,994. Did you let it to the orange party as well?—No; my inclination was always for the blue party, whenever I was amind to vote.

57,995. You like to have 2*l.* and 30*s.* to support your inclination?—No, I do not know as to that; I got a deal of ill-will, and a deal of abuse about it.

57,996. The orange party canvassed you first?—No; I do not know that they did first.

57,997. They canvassed you before the other side took your room?—They were both there at different times.

57,998. The orange party had canvassed you, before the blue party came and took your room?—The orange party sent me in a card before the blue party came to me; but I had nothing to do with them, no farther than giving them an answer.

W. Willingham.

WILLIAM WILLINGHAM sworn, and examined.

57,999. What is your business?—I am in the oil business.

58,000. Where do you live?—In Church Street.

58,001. What rent do you pay for the house?—Five guineas.

58,002. You are a freeman?—Yes.

58,003. How long have you been one?—Since 1841.

58,004. Was it taken up for you?—No; I took it up myself.

58,005. Were you entitled to vote in 1841?—No.

58,006. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes.

W. Willingham.

23d July 1853.

58,007. Who for?—Mr. Brown.
58,008. Only?—Only.
58,009. Were you paid for your vote?—I got 10*s.* after.
58,010. Where?—At Mr. Yealls.
58,011. Did you not vote for Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines?—Yes.
58,012. Did you get anything from Mr. Baines?—I got a sovereign after.
58,013. How long after?—Were you saying from Mr. Baines? I got nothing from Mr. Baines.
58,014. Are you sure you voted for Mr. Baines?—No; I said I voted for Mr. Brown.
58,015. And you were paid 10*s.*?—Yes; a good bit after, for Mr. Brown.
58,016. When were you paid the 1*l.*?—At the last election.
58,017. In 1852, at the last election, did you vote for Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler?—Yes.
58,018. Did you get 1*l.* for that afterwards?—Yes; I did.
58,019. Who paid it you?—I cannot say who it was. I was not at home when they brought it to my house.

John Thorney.

JOHN THORNEY sworn, and examined.

58,020. Where do you live?—In Church Street, Sculcoates.
58,021. Are there any numbers to the houses there?—No.
58,022. What rent do you pay?—£6.
58,023. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
58,024. How long have you been a freeman?—Since 1818.
58,025. In 1841 did you vote for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
58,026. Did you get paid for your vote?—I think I did.
58,027. How much?—Why, I believe 10*s.* from each party. 10*s.* from Hanmer and James each,—that would be 20*s.* altogether.
58,028. Do you know where you were paid?—I do not.
58,029. Do you know who paid you?—I do not know who it was paid me.
58,030. In 1847 who did you vote for?—For Mr. Brown.
58,031. Only?—Only.
58,032. What were you paid for that?—10*s.*
58,033. Was that before or after you voted?—After.
58,034. Who paid it you?—I cannot say that. I can tell you where we were paid.
58,035. Where was that?—At Scott Street end,—at the Sculcoates tavern.
58,036. Who was the landlord?—David Ledger.
58,037. Is that all you got?—That is all I got.
58,038. At the last election, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
58,039. How much were you paid for that?—20*s.*
58,040. Was that after or before the election?—After.
58,041. Where?—At my own house.
58,042. Do you know who paid it you?—I do not indeed. I was at work at the time.

Thomas Croft.

THOMAS CROFT sworn, and examined.

58,043. Where do you live?—In the Trinity Alms Houses.
58,044. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
58,045. How long have you been a freeman?—Ever since Nelson lost his hand.
58,046. Did you used to get your two guineas and four guineas?—Yes; and more than that a good deal.
58,047. At the election of 1841, did you vote for Hanmer and James?—Yes.
58,048. Did you get any money for it?—Yes.
58,049. How much?—I got a little.
58,050. How much? A pound?—No; I only got 10*s.*
58,051. Was that before or after you had voted?—It was after I had voted.
58,052. Who paid it to you? do you know?—Yes.
58,053. Who was it?—Collison, who kept the Black Horse in Carr Lane.
58,054. At the next election in 1847, who did you vote for, Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown?—Yes; Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown.
58,055. What did you get for that?—10*s.*
58,056. Was that before or after you had voted?—Before.
58,057. Where was it paid you?—At the Black Horse.
58,058. Who paid it you?—Mr. Collison.
58,059. Was that for Mr. Brown?—Yes.
58,060. Did you see many others paid at the same time?—Oh yes.
58,061. Was that on the nomination day? was it the day before you polled?—The day before I polled.
58,062. Did you get anything afterwards?—No.

Thomas Croft.
23d July 1853.

58,063. At the last election did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
58,064. How much did you get for that?—£2.
58,065. Who paid you?—Mr. Collison.
58,066. Were there a good many of them being paid at that time?—Yes.
58,067. Was it paid before or after you had voted?—It was paid before.
58,068. All of it?—Yes, all of it.
58,069. Was that on the day before you voted again?—Yes.
58,070. Where was it paid?—At the Black Horse.
58,071. Who was it paid for?—Mr. Baines and Mr. Brown.
58,072. Now the last election last year, Mr. Moore's and Mr. Butler's, how much did you get then?—I got, I think, about 16*s*.
58,073. Where was it paid you?—At the central room in Bowl Alley Lane.
58,074. How old are you?—If I live a bit longer, I shall be ninety.
58,075. You are now in your ninetieth year?—Yes.
58,076. Do you remember when Nelson lost his arm?—Yes.
58,077. Were you a freeman then?—Yes; I was at Copenhagen at the time.

Adjourned until Monday, at ten o'clock.

FORTY-FIRST DAY.—Monday, 25th July 1853.

Mr. CHARLES BAMFORD, junior, sworn, and examined.

Mr. C. Bamford, jun.
25th July 1853.

58,078. What business are you?—A merchant.
58,079. Within the borough?—Yes, within this borough.
58,080. What rent do you pay?—For my premises, my own property, I am rated at about 400*l*. a year.
58,081. How long have you been a voter for the borough?—I cannot recollect exactly when I took up my freedom, but I think it was in 1837.
58,082. Were you not a voter in 1839 as an occupier?—No, I think not.
58,083. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—No, none but voting.
58,084. Who did you vote for?—James and Hanmer.
58,085. And took no interest whatever but the voting?—None but the voting.
58,086. You were not a member of any committee?—None at all.
58,087. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.
58,088. Did you take any interest, in any other way, in the election?—None whatever.
58,089. In 1852 did you vote for Moore and Butler?—I voted for Moore and Butler in 1852.
58,090. Were you a member of any committee?—Nominally so, I was.
58,091. Of which committee?—The general committee.
58,092. Have you got any book, papers, or letters of any description in any way referring to the election?—None whatever, and I never had any.
58,093. Never had any correspondence with any one yourself?—No, none.
58,094. You neither wrote to nor received any letters from anybody?—Not that I am aware of.
58,095. Were you aware of the course of business pursued by the general committee?—No; because I never attended, that is, to the details of the business.
58,096. Did you take any share in making any of the appointments, in the employment of any of the parties? Mr. Murgatroyd, we are told, you employed?—No, none.
58,097. Did you not employ a person named Murgatroyd?—Not that I am aware of; I do not recollect any at all.
58,098. Did any of the money pass through your hands?—None passed through my hands in the shape of payments.
58,099. In what sense did it pass through your hands not as payments?—I had money placed in my hands under my control, which I returned to Mr. Barkworth, and he forwarded it to Mr. Ward.
58,100. Was that for the purpose of paying the Cottingham voters?—No.
58,101. What was it for?—For the purpose of paying such men as were employed as runners, and wanted payment before they voted.
58,102. How much?—£200.
58,103. Who placed in in your hands?—Mr. John Boulderson Barkworth.
58,104. What did he say when he placed the money in your hands?—That I cannot recollect, but it was for the purpose I told you before.
58,105. Did you understand it was extremely likely that they would insist upon payment beforehand, and the money was placed ready for the purpose?—I cannot tell what understanding there was at the central committee.
58,106. What understanding had you?—I was not present at the central committee, and did not know anything of the arrangements than what I was told.

58,107. What was the understanding between you and Mr. Barkworth?—That was the understanding.

58,108. That the runners would require to be paid before they voted?—Yes, and the money was for that purpose.

58,109. How were you to know them?—That was not arranged. I should have sent them to the central committee first for a note, if I had paid them.

58,110. Then the arrangement was not completed?—No.

58,111. Did you understand then that some further arrangement would be necessary before you could pay them?—No, none whatever.

58,112. I do not think I made myself understood. You must have understood that some arrangement was necessary to know who to pay—you would not pay the first man that came?—I should have sent them to the central committee.

58,113. That was an arrangement?—No; it was not an arrangement between Mr. Barkworth and myself, but my own judgment would have adopted that course.

58,114. How long before the election was it?—The day of the election.

58,115. That the money was paid?—No, the night before; but the day of the election it was to have been operated upon.

58,116. Did you understand how many persons were likely to require payment out of that 200*l.*?—No; I have no idea at all.

58,117. Where were you to have paid them?—Wherever I might be.

58,118. Was there any place fixed?—There was no place fixed.

58,119. Where should you have been?—Where I was, the Kingston Hotel.

58,120. Where did you expect you would have to pay them?—I did not expect at all, but where I was, the Kingston Hotel.

58,121. I presume when you took the 200*l.* you did not mean to go away from the town that night, and not to return till the election was over?—No; but still there was no arrangement between Mr. Barkworth and myself.

58,122. Were you then living at Cottingham?—Yes, I was.

58,123. Then you had to wait in the town for this purpose?—I was here for some time.

58,124. Were you at the Kingston upon that day?—I was at the Kingston upon that day.

58,125. Was this arrangement made at the Kingston?—No; the arrangement was made at my office.

58,126. And the payment would take place at the Kingston?—No, there was no arrangement to that effect.

58,127. Where would it have taken place?—It would have taken place at the Kingston.

58,128. What street is the Kingston in?—In the Market Place.

58,129. I understood you to say that you paid none?—I paid none at all.

58,130. Why not?—I did not think it was prudent to do so.

58,131. Did they come to be paid?—They came.

58,132. And you went to the Kingston?—I was at the Kingston the entire of the election day.

58,133. And had it occurred to you in the meantime that it was an imprudent arrangement?—It had.

58,134. Had anybody told you it would be prudent to pay?—No, no one.

58,135. And the voters did come to be paid?—Yes, they came to receive pay.

58,136. And you sent them away again?—Yes.

58,137. How many do you think came to be paid?—I am sure I cannot tell that.

58,138. About how many?—That is a difficult thing to say.

58,139. Twenty, 100, 2000, or what?—Neither.

58,140. Tell us as nearly as you can. I do not ask the precise number, but give us the best that is passing in your mind as to the number, and we shall be satisfied?—That is a most difficult thing to do.

58,141. Go by steps. Was it 100?—I should think not more than fourteen or fifteen.

58,142 Did they come early in the day?—No; they came about one o'clock.

58,143. What did you say to them?—I referred them to the central committee.

58,144. What did they say?—They went to the central committee.

58,145. What did they say when they came to be paid?—They wanted to be put down as runners for six days.

58,146. I suppose you understood, having voted at one election since 1837, what that meant?—I did not put any construction upon it.

58,147. But surely you had an understanding upon the subject; you thought it not prudent—that explains it?—I did not think it prudent to pay them.

58,148. Tell us the whole, and explain my question in the terms I put it. Did you not understand perfectly well what it meant, being a runner for six days?—Yes. I understood they would vote for Bramley Moore and Butler.

58,149. We want to know if you put a different construction upon it to what other persons do?—No.

58,150. Was that all that they said?—That was all that they said.

58,151. That they wanted to be set down as runners?—Or the pay for six days; that was understood.

Mr. C. Bamford, jun.

25th July 1853.

58,152. Is that what you expected would occur—that people would come and ask to be set down for six days, or to be paid?—I did not expect that they would ask for six days—it might have been a matter of bargain.

58,153. You expected it would have been a matter of bargain?—It might have been.

58,154. Is not that what you expected?—I expected it.

58,155. You were not given this 200*l.* for the purpose of paying the actual staff of persons, but for the purpose of paying persons who would require being bought?—It was supposed that those persons who would have applied generally would be the parties termed runners.

58,156. Not the regular staff?—No, the parties who had been engaged as runners, but who might run us.

58,157. Was there any list furnished you?—No, none whatever.

58,158. Consequently you did not expect to have to pay the regular staff, the list of which is kept in a book?—I should have paid them if I had a note from the central committee of who had been actually engaged as runners.

58,159. But you had not?—I had no general power.

58,160. At the time you received the 200*l.* from Mr. Barkworth, you had no materials to pay upon?—I had no general power at all.

58,161. In fact, we like to have in plain English; in plain English, the 200*l.* was given to you for the purpose of paying those who required to be bought?—I will give it you honestly. I do not think that was the understanding with Mr. Barkworth at all, it was what I told you previously; there might be a great number who would want the payment before voting, and I was to be prepared to pay them if they wanted, before voting; that was the principal understanding; I could have bought plenty if I had liked.

58,162. A list has been shown to us, called Mr. Bamford's list; can you explain what that means?—That was a list taken down from the parties that came to the Kingston, by Mr. Barkworth's clerk, and handed to the central committee.

58,163. Was that a list of persons who applied for payment?—That was a list of persons who applied for payment but who were not voters.

58,164. These fourteen or fifteen?—Yes.

58,165. He took their names down?—Yes, and handed them to the central committee.

58,166. Which clerk of Mr. Barkworth's was that?—Richard Clappison.

58,167. He was there at the Kingston to assist you?—He was there to take down the names.

58,168. And assist you?—Yes.

58,169. By taking the names down?—Yes.

58,170. Do I understand that this ceased about one o'clock; you named one?—I think before one.

58,171. What do you attribute that to, people getting to know that there was no money to be had?—They could not know that, because there was money to be had.

58,172. There was money, but not to be had?—I think the opponents of Moore and Butler were too far ahead to attempt to gain the election.

58,173. The election had become hopeless?—That was the general opinion, that it was so.

58,174. Before one o'clock?—Yes.

58,175. It was the general opinion that you would be beaten?—Yes.

58,176. Did you send these names from time to time by anybody, to the central committee?—I sent them in twice.

58,177. How late did you remain there?—That I cannot recollect, I was there throughout the day.

58,178. Had you a doorkeeper there?—No; it is a house where I have a sitting room, and a bed room for myself; it is not a committee room at all.

58,179. Was it you who selected that as the place?—Yes.

58,180. How soon did you return the money?—I returned it the same day, to Mr. Barkworth, that is, the day after I received it; on the day of the election.

58,181. You returned it in the evening, after the election was over?—Yes; or the following morning, I am not sure, but it was within twenty-four hours after the close of the poll.

58,182. Do you recollect what these men said when they could not get any money?—I do not,—they went away.

58,183. Have you seen the list since?—Yes; I have.

58,184. Is that the list (handing a paper to the witness)?—I do not know; I did not know a name upon it; in fact, I did not look at the names that were taken down.

58,185. You recognise it as the list?—Not the one that I have seen.

58,186. Did you make some arrangement respecting the Cottingham voters?—Yes; I did.

58,187. What arrangements did you make with them?—To bring them to Hull by the omnibus.

58,188. Did you canvass them?—I did.

58,189. How many?—About twenty of them.

58,190. Are they named in that list (handing a paper to the witness)?—Yes, they are in this list; there is one who is not a voter,—Samuel Watson; he is not a voter.

58,191. Did you canvass all in that list, or is that a list of those you brought up?—There are some there I did not canvass; for instance there is Mr. Barkworth of Cottingham Castle, I should not canvass him.

58,192. Is this the list of the parties you brought up to vote?—No, it is only a list of the Cottingham voters.

58,193. Did you bring any not in that list?—That I cannot recollect; I think not; I think the principal of them are there.

58,194. Are they all there, do you think?—I should say they are; I brought nine of them.

58,195. Did you bring up any others?—None.

58,196. What arrangements did you make for their expenses?—None whatever; they never got any.

58,197. If they came in a public conveyance, their fare would be paid?—Yes; I paid for the omnibus.

58,198. You paid the omnibus fare here and back?—I will give you the receipt for it; it was two guineas for the omnibus, that was, there and back.

58,199. Did you make a bargain with the proprietor of the omnibus, to bring them all up for two guineas?—Yes; I made no arrangement with the parties themselves, but only with the proprietor of the omnibus.

58,200. You paid him?—I paid him, but not out of the funds; that was out of my own pocket.

58,201. Were you repaid that?—No.

58,202. Are you a subscriber to the fund?—Yes.

58,203. Did you subscribe this over and above?—I subscribed that over and above what I did subscribe previously, to the general fund.

58,204. Besides this payment of the two guineas, were you at any expense upon their account, on the election day?—Yes.

58,205. What expenses?—Cabs from Cottingham, to and from, and refreshments at the Kingston.

58,206. How much?—£12 16*s.* 3*d.*, but not for the nine voters; there are generally about three times as many who are non voters, who attended with them.

58,207. For the nine voters, together with other persons?—Yes.

58,208. How many of them?—I cannot tell that.

58,209. Refreshments for the nine Cottingham voters and others?—Yes.

58,210. Were the others voters?—No.

58,211. None of them?—No; there are my own private expenses in that bill as well.

58,212. Were they the members of the families of the voters,—their wives and children?—No; they are generally the parties who hang on at elections to get what they can.

58,213. Were they persons brought in by the voters?—Yes; they were persons brought in by the voters.

58,214. Shouters?—Yes; the bill will give the number, I have not taken the trouble to look.

58,215. They were not Hull voters?—No.

58,216. They were persons brought in by the voters?—Yes.

58,217. Their families?—No, not their families; men who wanted something to eat and drink.

58,218. Relations and friends of the voters?—Yes; perhaps acquaintances.

58,219. With good lungs, and useful men?—Yes.

58,220. There is a breakfast charged for the voters, and they brought their friends with them?—It was their refreshment after they arrived, and had voted here; it does not do well to pay them before.

58,221. Part of it is on the 7th?—That is part of my own private bill, and I had several friends there who were engaged in canvassing as well.

58,222. Had you arranged with them, that they should have some refreshments before they came in?—Not at all.

58,223. They did not go back to dinner?—No; they did not go back.

58,224. When did you order the dinner?—At half-past twelve; it was only cold meat; after they voted and came back to the Kingston Hotel, I ordered some refreshment, whatever there was in the house.

58,225. I understood you to say that they ordered it as soon as they came in; that would be before they voted?—No; not as soon as the omnibus came in; they voted first.

58,226. As soon as the voters came in, after they voted?—Yes; then they had it.

58,227. Are you sure it was after they voted?—It was after they voted.

58,228. Did you understand that they had voted for Moore and Butler?—I know they had; that was paid out of my own pocket.

58,229. And that was never repaid to you?—That has never been repaid to me.

58,230. Besides that, did you give any voters any refreshment afterwards?—Not afterwards; the Cottingham voters had their breakfast before they left Cottingham.

58,231. Who paid for that?—I think there is a voucher for it.

58,232. How much is it?—I think there is 3*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.*

Mr. C. Bamford, jun.

25th July 1853.

58,233. For the nine voters?—Yes, and others who were with them.

58,234. And you paid 12*l.* for their dinners afterwards?—No; not for their dinners exactly, I paid that at the Kingston.

58,235. Them and their friends?—Yes, and my own friends as well; and there is a voucher for 4*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.*, and coachman 7*s.* 2*d.*

58,236. What was that for?—This extends from June 17th to July 8th; sundry bottles of porter, ale, tobacco, sherry, brandy and gin, 4*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.* and 7*s.* 2*d.*

58,237. Refreshment for the Hull voters, are these the same persons?—A great many of them were not voters at all, but it is a bill that I paid on account of the election, but it has not been returned to me.

58,238. Where?—At Cottingham.

58,239. What is the 1*l.* paid to Mr. Watson?—For allowances to different men who were canvassing and going round for a time.

58,240. Was Mr. Watson a canvasser?—No; it was money to be expended; he gave 5*s.* to the ringers; such things as these, and cabmen, and friends of mine, who assisted me; it is for canvassing and going round to the several public houses; I think there was 5*s.* or 7*s.* 6*d.* paid to the ringers.

58,241. That seems to be written upon a separate bill—the ringers?—It was for sundry small expenses that he had paid; in treating no doubt.

58,242. Who is Mr. Conkerton?—He is a publican and a voter.

58,243. Is the Conkerton, whose name is mentioned here, the man that keeps the public house?—It is.

58,244. Who is John Newton who signed the receipt?—He is not a voter, but an active man and a canvasser.

58,245. How came John Newton to give a receipt on behalf of Conkerton?—Because he paid the money.

58,246. John Newton? Is the receipt from you?—Yes; that is my receipt for the money paid; I paid Newton the money, and he paid Conkerton.

58,247. Conkerton is a voter, and keeps the public house?—Yes.

58,248, Who is Newton?—Newton is a carrier, farmer, and dog fancier, &c., and a very good electioneerer.

58,249. What is Watson?—A surgeon.

58,250. Did you pay anything more on account of the Cottingham people?—No; I paid no more on account of them.

58,251. Did you not have a treat after the election?—Yes, six weeks after; I gave them a dinner at my own expense, six weeks after the election.

58,252. To the voters?—There were more than voters.

58,253. How many voters?—There were eight or nine voters.

58,254. The same nine?—I cannot recollect whether they were the same nine; I should say that they were.

58,255. Were they your own personal friends?—A great many were.

58,256. The nine voters, were they persons in your station in life who you invited to meet your family and friends?—Certainly not.

58,257. It was given merely on account of the election?—It was for the way they came forward, without asking for any payment for their votes.

58,258. As a reward?—Yes; they came voluntarily, and I thought they were entitled to it.

58,259. And they understood that that was given them as a reward?—I do not know what they understood, I should suppose they understood so; it was a very indifferent one; it was only an eighteen penny dinner; I should think they would be the nine voters that I brought to the poll, and perhaps there would be twenty more who had no vote at all.

58,260. Still we want to have the questions answered in the terms in which I put them: they were not persons in the same rank in life who you would ask to meet your friends and family?—A great many were not; these voters were not.

58,261. Did you incur other expenses, or make other payments?—Yes; I paid 3*l.* for printing bills.

58,262. Have any of these payments been repaid to you?—None whatever; those apply to my own private matters, independent of the subscription I paid to the general fund.

58,263. You paid these on the footing of a further subscription?—This is a further subscription; at all events, I expect it will be so.

58,264. You paid 3*l.* for printing and stationery?—Yes, for stationery.

58,265. That was to Mr. Kirk; is he a voter?—Yes, he is a voter.

58,266. If I understand you, it is this; that it is a further contribution towards the election?—I consider it as such.

58,267. What is the stationery for? Was there not sufficient stationery to be had at the committee?—It was a private bill that was put out, that I thought would be of advantage to the cause, and I had it printed and circulated.

58,268. Probably Mr. Kirk thought it would be an advantage to him to get the 3*l.* also?—I should say he thought so.

58,269. What took place when you gave this order?—I sent the proof into him.

58,270. Did you see Mr. Kirk?—No, I did not; I sent it by one of my clerks.

58,271. Why was it not ordered, if necessary, at the committee?—As I paid for it myself, I thought I had a right to order it where I thought proper.

58,272. You ordered it independently?—Yes; I knew I should have to pay for it, therefore I thought I had a right to give the order where I thought proper.

58,273. If the order had been made at that committee, you would not have had the payment?—No, I did not attend the committee.

58,274. Is Mr. Kirk a person that you always deal with?—He is a man I generally get printing done by, for my own private business.

58,275. What was it?—I do not recollect what it was just now; it was something relative to the shipping interest.

58,276. What else?—I paid 2*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* for cabs at the railway station, to Dotesio, for cabs backwards and forwards.

58,277. What voters were those to carry?—Myself and two or three friends who were canvassing, and who were connected with the election.

58,278. Anything else?—I paid 2*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to Mr. Garbut for ribbons with "Moore and Butler" upon them, to go round the caps for lads.

58,279. What else?—I had a gig and horse in the Paragon, 17*s.* 10*d.*, connected with the election. Those ribbons, were not given to voters, that is the fact; and the 17*s.* 10*d.* was for a horse and gig, for bringing up voters the day of the election.

58,280. Other voters?—Yes, other voters.

58,281. What else?—There is 2*l.* 10*s.* I paid to a man of the name of John Jackson, by order of Mr. Brodrick.

58,282. What is that for?—For refreshments.

58,283. £2 10*s.* for refreshments supplied to voters on the election day, ordered by Mr. Brodrick?—Yes.

58,284. The Greenland Fishery, is that the name of the public house?—I do not know; I have never heard the name before, and I do not know there is such an inn.

58,285. Did you make any other payments?—None.

58,286. Did you canvass a person of the name of Richard Glover Carter, a cabman?—No.

58,287. Did you desire any people at the Railway Hotel to canvass him; the man I mean is a cabman in the employ of the Railway Hotel?—Yes, I did do so? I did not know his name, but I was told he was a voter, and I asked him for his vote.

58,288. You canvassed him?—I canvassed him.

58,289. Did you hold out any influence to him, with respect to his employment at Dotesio's?—No, none whatever; if I take a cab from Dotesio, Dotesio is benefitted and not the cabman.

58,290. Did you use any influence with respect to his employment at Dotesio's, to induce him to vote?—No, not that I am aware of.

58,291. Did you tell him that it would be advisable for him to do so?—I should think I should use the influence most men do in canvassing.

58,292. How is that?—Endeavour to get his vote.

58,293. What did you do with him? Did you speak to him with reference to his employment?—No, not that I am aware of.

58,294. For instance, say it might be better for him if he did, and worse for him if he did not?—I did not make use of any such words.

58,295. And nothing to that effect?—Nothing to that effect.

58,296. Or that he might endanger his employment by not doing so?—No, not that I recollect.

58,297. Do you think you might have done it, and have forgotten it?—No, I do not think I should.

58,298. Would you undertake to say that it did not occur?—I should not like to say so, but my own impression is that I did not do so.

58,299. Did you endeavour, through Dotesio or the proprietors of the hotel, to influence him, or any of the other voters in their employment?—None at all.

58,300. Did you express any desire to Dotesio to canvass him?—I never spoke to Dotesio on the matter in any shape or way, with respect to the election.

58,301. Did you canvass your own men, in your own employ?—No.

58,302. None of them?—None of them.

58,303. Were any of them voters?—There is only one.

58,304. At that time, had you only one voter in your employment?—No, two; one warehouseman and one clerk.

58,305. And you canvassed neither of them?—Neither of them.

58,306. Are they in your service now?—They are in my service now.

58,307. Do you know anything of any other money coming down to Hull, for the purpose of the election, on the election day or afterwards?—No.

58,308. Or about that time?—I never heard of any at all, with the exception of the general subscription, and the funds that were provided by Mr. Moore and Mr. Butler.

58,309. The local subscription?—The local subscription.

58,310. Did you hear it was intended that any other money should be raised in London or elsewhere?—No, it was not done so.

Mr. C. Bamford, jun.

25th July 1853.

58,311. It is reported that you had some money from the Carlton Club?—I never had any communication with the Carlton Club, either directly or indirectly.

58,312. Did any money come to you, from any place?—Not a penny.

58,313. It is said that some money came to you from some place in London, but that it came too late?—I never received any money from London, either directly or indirectly, in connexion with the election.

58,314. Did you expect any?—No.

58,315. And none came?—None came.

58,316. Did you have anything to do with Mr. Bramley Moore?—Nothing whatever.

58,317. Did you go to the Carlton to see him?—I never was there in my life; I called upon him at the Conservative, after he had been in Hull.

58,318. You were not at all engaged in bringing him in the first instance?—No.

58,319. You were not on any committee, if I understand?—Nominally, I was.

58,320. On which committee was your name?—The general committee; I was on as deputy chairman, and never attended when the appointment was made, nor attended any of the preliminary meetings at the George.

58,321. Were you aware that your name was on the list?—I was told so.

58,322. Have you ever attended a committee room?—Yes, three or four times as I passed, not on any general business.

58,323. Was it understood, either at the committee room or from any other arrangement, what you have told us,—that the part you took was an independent part, and to be transacted by yourself?—No, nothing was said upon the subject; I took it upon myself entirely.

58,324. Did you communicate at any time to Mr. Barkworth, or to any of the committee, that you were taking these people under your guidance?—No

58,325. You did not communicate it?—No; I told them I was canvassing Cottingham, which was the only part I took an interest in.

58,326. Who did you tell that to?—It was known only in the committee.

58,327. Where was the money given you by Mr. Barkworth, the 200*l.*?—At my own office.

58,328. In sovereigns?—In sovereigns and half sovereigns.

58,329. Who brought it there?—He brought it himself.

58,330. At that time, when the money was brought, or subsequently, and before the election, was anything said about the refreshments that you have stated you did give?—No, not a word.

58,331. You considered that you would be at liberty to give those refreshments, either from your own moneys, or from the moneys that you had had promised to you?—No, certainly not.

58,332. You considered them payments entirely from your own resources?—Yes, entirely.

58,333. How did the fourteen or fifteen men, who came to the Kingston, know of the existence of that place as a place of payment?—That I am not aware of, without they had been told by Mr. Barkworth, or the chairman or deputy chairman of these committees.

58,334. Had Mr. Barkworth at all told you of the sort of persons that would be applicants to you?—He named the runners who, in all probability, would require payment before they voted; and he at the same time said he should inform the district committees of that.

58,335. When you say he named the runners, do you mean that he said there was a class of that kind, or gave the names?—He did not give the names; he never gave a single name; but that there was a class of men who might be termed runners, who might not vote if not paid.

58,336. In other words, that might run if not paid?—Yes.

58,337. Did he state the number of them?—No; he gave no number at all.

58,338. The sum is large, 200*l.*?—He had confidence that I should make proper use of it.

58,339. When you say proper use, what do you mean?—By returning it back to the chairman.

58,340. He knew you would apply it properly?—The fact is, I paid it all back without expending a single penny.

58,341. I want to know why 200*l.* was given more than 500*l.* or 100*l.*?—There was no arrangement of any sort.

58,342. The number of that sort of persons was not mentioned?—Not any; none were named at all.

58,343. Clappison was a voter, I believe?—I do not know whether he was; that is the one alluded to, Mr. Barkworth's clerk.

58,344. Do you know if he was a voter?—I rather think he was not; he was quite a young man; I do not suppose that he was.

58,345. Information had been sent to the district committees which would give knowledge to those sort of persons, that they might come to Kingston?—I do not know that of my own knowledge; but I suppose so.

58,346. You said after you received the money, and before you paid any of it away, you thought it not prudent to make the payments?—Not prudent to pay any parties at all that came.

58,347. Do you use the word "prudent" in the sense of useless payments?—Decidedly so.

58,348. A useless payment, from the course the election was taking?—Yes.

58,349. That is what you mean by the word "prudent"?—Yes.

58,350. It would have been money completely thrown away?—Yes.

58,351. About what o'clock was it that they began to come?—I should say from, perhaps, half past eleven till one, and some afterwards.

58,352. And at half past eleven, Clay and Lord Goderich were a good deal ahead?—Yes, they were; but there was more time to bring it up at half past eleven than at one.

58,353. What is the ordinary fare by omnibus from Cottingham?—We have no omnibus from Cottingham; this is one that I engaged entirely for the Cottingham voters.

58,354. What is the fare by the railway?—First class 1*s.*, second class 9*d.*, third class 6*d.*

58,355. 1*s.* 6*d.* a return ticket first class?—I think it is.

58,356. Was the proprietor of the omibus a voter?—No, he was not.

58,357. I did not quite understand what you said, the cabs were from Cottingham, or who did they carry?—They carried several of my friends who were canvassers, and I had occasion to go backwards and forwards myself and remain there; I went with Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler.

58,358. Those that used those cabs were probably gentlemen who could pay their own expenses?—Yes.

58,359. Was there a man of the name of Goldsmith present at the Kingston?—I am not aware.

58,360. Clappison, was he in the room?—If it is the same person that I got the name from Mr. Barkworth, he was.

58,361. Nobody else?—There were several parties called in. I can give you a great number of names.

58,362. I mean, engaged in the payments?—There were no payments made.

58,363. In the arrangements for the payments?—Yes.

58,364. Did you at any time communicate to the committee that you had made those several payments for refreshments?—No; never.

58,365. You took those payments upon yourself?—Entirely.

58,366. And do not intend to be repaid?—I do not intend it.

58,367. When you began to canvass the Cottingham voters, had you heard at former elections that they were in the habit of being paid one way or another?—I had no communication of the sort.

58,368. Had you heard it?—I knew parties had been paid.

58,369. At former elections?—At former elections; but not the Cottingham voters particularly.

58,370. I ask as to the Cottingham voters?—I did not know that they had been paid; but the impression was, that all the out-voters had been paid.

58,371. When you began to canvass the Cottingham voters?—Yes; when I began to canvass the Cottingham voters.

58,372. When you canvassed them, what did they answer?—Generally when I asked them, they said with pleasure they would vote for Moore and Butler.

58,373. They promised at once?—They promised at once, with the exception of four or five.

58,374. I ask you candidly, was there any understanding that their expenses would be paid upon this occasion?—None whatever, except being brought to Hull and taken back again.

58,375. How came you to give them a breakfast before they came?—I knew they were entitled to it,—they asked for some refreshment before they came.

58,376. Did they ask for that when you canvassed them?—Certainly not.

58,377. How long before the day did you canvass them?—That I cannot tell. I should think immediately after Moore and Butler came to Hull, which would be a considerable time before the election.

58,378. Did they also ask to have refreshment in Hull?—No; I gave it to them.

58,379. Was it the understanding that they would have the refreshment and be brought to Hull free of expense?—They were to be brought to Hull free of expense; there was no understanding with respect to refreshment. When they came I gave them the refreshment at the Kingston.

58,380. Was that an after thought?—It was a general thought with me.

58,381. You intended from the beginning to give them a breakfast?—I should never have thought of bringing them here and sending them back, in July, without some refreshment.

58,382. You seem to say that you gave them a dinner as a reward for not having asked for anything?—For not having asked for anything in the shape of a bribe, or to be put on as runners, or anything of that sort.

58,383. As you understood it before the election, the out-voters were not set down as runners,—they were paid their expenses, as it is called?—Yes.

Mr. C. Bamford, jun.
25th July 1853.

58,384. Did you understand it was to be the same thing with them?—I did not know specially that these parties had been paid as voters; they willingly came forward and said they would vote for Moore and Butler; no doubt expecting they would all be placed in the same position as others; but they never asked for anything, and never got anything.

58,385. From their bearing and manner you understood they were coming in the same manner as always?—I think I had some little influence with the Cottingham voters; and without being egotistical they came on that account entirely.

58,386. Was it on that understanding that they would come?—I did not think they would ask for any payment at all.

58,387. Then they were to come on a different understanding than formerly?—They may have done..

58,388. Was it so?—It was not named at all; there was no impression at the time with respect to it. There is one thing I should like to say: Mr. Boswell, Middleton Jalland, when here, stated that I brought Mr. Lennox Butler down. I never saw Mr. Butler down here or knew him until I saw him in the town.

Edwin Davis.

Mr. EDWIN DAVIS recalled, and examined.

58,389. You have a paper to hand in?—Yes; this is the list I mentioned of runners (the list was handed in by the witness).

R. Middlemiss.

ROBERT MIDDLEMISS sworn, and examined.

58,390. Are you a clerk to Mr. Sidebottom, an attorney in this town?—I am.

58,391. Mr. Sidebottom we hear is too ill to attend?—He is.

58,392. Has he been long ill?—He has been ill since the 5th of May, but more seriously ill during the last four weeks.

58,393. He is too ill to attend here?—He is.

58,394. Do you know in your capacity as his clerk that he has any papers relating to the election of 1841, when Hanmer and James were the candidates?—I do not.

58,395. Have you never seen any such papers?—I have not.

58,396. How lately have you seen him?—I saw him on Saturday night.

58,397. Was he then quite incapable of attending?—He was.

58,398. Have you heard from him that he has any papers relating to the election of 1841?—I have not. I may say I have only been with him since 1851. I had no conversation with him about them.

58,399. You mean to say on your oath, so far as you believe, he has got no papers relating to the election of 1841?—I cannot say that. I have seen an election card or two throwing about the office; but I cannot say to what election they belong, and there are papers perhaps in the office.

58,400. What are the names of the persons?—I do not recollect. I think one was a pink card, and I believe that is the colour of Mr. Baines.

58,401. Is there any box with Sir Walter James or Sir John Hanmer's name upon it?—Not that I know of.

58,402. Is there any box with the election of 1841 on it?—Not that I know of.

58,403. You mean to pledge your oath to the best of your knowledge and belief, that Mr. Sidebottom has no papers relating to the election of 1841?—I cannot say that. I have seen a card or two throwing about, and that would lead me to infer that there would be papers about the office in connexion with the election. I may say this was in an up-stairs room, quite unconnected with the office.

58,404. Have you the care of his books?—I have.

58,405. Do you manage his books during his illness?—I do.

58,406. Would it not appear from those books, if they were examined as to 1841, whether he had been concerned in the election of 1841?—I should think it would.

58,407. Mr. Sidebottom is carrying on his business now through you?—He is.

58,408. You see the clients?—Yes.

58,409. And carry on the suits, whatever they may be, that are in progress?—Yes.

58,410. Have you been paid since he has been ill?—My salary do you mean?

58,411. Yes.—I have.

58,412. How recently?—About the 1st of July, I think.

58,413. He was well enough then for that purpose?—He did not pay me. I paid myself.

58,414. Out of moneys received by you from professional business?—Yes.

58,415. And you are authorized to receive his moneys?—Yes.

58,416. And to disburse them of course, if you paid yourself?—Yes.

58,417. And give receipts on his behalf, I suppose?—I do so.

58,418. You have both received and paid moneys on his account?—I have.

58,419. Have you seen any papers relating to the election of 1847?—Nothing beyond this card, if it relates to that election.

58,420. Do you know that Mr. Sidebottom was attorney to Mr. Baines?—I have heard so, I believe he was; but I was not with him at that time.

58,421. Is he so ill that you cannot ask him a question?—The question, whether he was the attorney?

58,422. The question whether he was the attorney of Hanmer and James in 1841, and Mr. Baines in 1847. Is he so ill that the medical gentleman would think it imprudent, because nothing must be done to endanger his life?—The medical man states it would be most imprudent to mention any matter of business to him, and I do not.

58,423. You consider yourself fully authorized to carry on his business without making any communication to him?—So far as I know.

58,424. And you consider it quite within the scope of your authority to do everything?—Yes; as far as I can.

58,425. You have got a certificate, I believe?—I obtained a certificate from the medical man, which I sent to Mr. Shaen.

58,426. What was the date of it?—I think it was the 22nd or 21st, I am not certain which, of July.

58,427. You have the care of all his books?—All the books that he has.

58,428. How long has he been in practice?—I really do not know; but I should think from twelve to fifteen years. I am not certain; he was in partnership up to 1844 or 1845, I believe.

58,429. What was the gentleman's name?—Pruney.

58,430. At all events you know this: he was in practice previous to 1841 in this town?—I do not know of my own knowledge; but I believe so.

58,431. His books will tell you?—I cannot remember that I have seen any books that go back as far as 1841.

58,432. Who was the managing clerk before you?—Mr. Walter Read.

58,433. Is he in business in the town?—He is.

48,434. Where does he live now?—He lives in Parliament Street.

58,435. With a solicitor?—He is a solicitor himself.

58,436, Do you know whether he was with Mr. Sidebottom at that time in 1841?—I should think he would be.

58,437. You have bills of costs of course in your office?—Yes.

58,438. Have you looked at all among the bills of costs relating to that period to see if there are any charges against Hanmer and James?—I have not looked.

58,439. You can do that, can you not, or employ some under clerk to do it?—I could do so.

58,440. There are bills of costs relating to those periods?—I do not know that, I am sure.

58,441. Will you be kind enough to look?—I can look.

58,442. Do you think papers of this kind relating to an election will be likely to be among the ordinary papers?—They would not be among the ordinary papers I should say.

58,443. Why not?—Because I do not remember ever to have seen them.

58,444. You told me you had not looked?—I have not looked particularly.

58,445. That would be a better reason for not having seen them. Have you any reason to believe that there are separate papers in the office?—Having seen that card about, I am led to believe there are papers.

58,446. Do you know of any box or place in which you believe they may be?—There are rooms where there are many old papers.

58,447. Do you believe there are papers there relating to the election?—I think it is very likely.

58,448. Do you think you have no liberty to look among those papers?—I have access to any part of the office.

58,449. Supposing you are served with a notice to produce papers in an ordinary suit which you have in a court, pendent at this moment—any old papers, what is the course you would take with it? I dare say Mr. Sidebottom has got many suits going on now: do you consider that would be as much part of your duty as anything else?—I should not consider myself at liberty so to do.

58,450. You say you are at liberty to make use of Mr. Sidebottom's money to pay yourself?—Yes.

58,451. Then what distinction do you draw? Supposing Mr. Sidebottom has a suit now, and is concerned for the plaintiff, and it was necessary to substantiate his own client's case, would you not look for the papers that were necessary to support the case now pending?—The papers would not be in my custody so as to produce them.

58,452. Supposing there is a suit now pending, in which Mr. Sidebottom is attorney for the plaintiff, and it is necessary for the conduct of that cause, and in support of the plaintiff's case to produce those papers, should you look for them to produce them?—Do you mean produced by the opposite party?

58,453. You do not understand my question: suppose Mr. Sidebottom is now attorney for the plaintiff, in an action to be tried at the assizes, should you not look for any papers which might throw light on that cause?—I should most likely have the papers if I was conducting the cause.

R. Middlemiss.
25th July 1853.

58,454. Supposing there is an action on an apprentice deed, and that you must either produce the deed or your client he non-suited, should you look for the deed?—Yes; no doubt I should.

58,455. If you could not find it, should you rout among his papers and look for it?—If I supposed or had reason to believe he had the papers, I should no doubt look for it.

58,456. Supposing the client came and said "I have a distinct recollection of having handed it over twenty years ago to Mr. Sidebottom, I have brought an action upon it, and I must either produce the deed or be non-suited;" should you look for it?—Most likely I should; no doubt of it.

58,457. Would you feel it within the scope of your duty, or should you allow your client to be non-suited?—I should look for it.

58,458. Supposing also that the defendant in the same suit gave you notice to produce the deed, would you do it?—No.

58,459. Why not?—Because I should not consider it in my custody to produce.

58,460. A notice is served on Mr. Sidebottom?—I should not consider it a service on myself.

58,461. You are carrying on Mr. Sidebottom's business, you told us, managing his causes?—Yes.

58,462. Paying away his money and putting part of it into your own pocket?—Yes.

58,463. What distinction do you draw between that and having a notice served on you to produce by the defendant in a suit?—I should consider it was not in my custody to produce.

58,464. It would be Mr. Sidebottom's duty to produce?—Yes.

58,465. What I want to know is this, whether you would neglect that part of Mr. Sidebottom's duty and omit to produce it, you being doing his duty?—I should do so, because I should not consider that I had any authority to part with any papers without his consent.

58,466. Would you consider that you were doing your duty by Mr. Sidebottom to expose him to an action for negligence for not producing the deed?—I do not see that he would be exposed to any action.

58,467. Do you mean to say that you would expose your master to proceedings rather than not produce the deed?—I should not consider it my duty to part with it on notice to produce.

58,468. You have already told us that if your own client, the plaintiff, was to produce, that you would. What is the distinction between the plaintiff and the defendant?—Because I should have authority to do so.

58,469. Do you consider the authority is limited to plaintiff and defendant?—The defendant has no right to call for it out of the possession of the plaintiff.

58,470. On a notice to produce you produce the document, and it is handed to the officer of the court, whoever he may be?—Yes.

58,471. You consider you would produce a document on the part of the plaintiff where it was necessary to your client's cause, and you would not obey a notice to produce?—Given by the defendant?

58,472. You were not sure?—I think not; I should not consider it my duty to do so

58,473. Are you out of your articles?—I am not articled.

58,474. You have a clerk of the name of Eaton?—Yes.

58,475. Has he been with you a good while in the office?—Yes.

58,476. How long has Eaton been there?—I think seven or eight years.

58,477. You have only been managing clerk?—I have only been there two years.

58,478. And not a clerk there at all before that? only in that office for two years?—Yes; that is all

58,479. You can look for these papers for us, of course; you can look and see if there are any such?—I can look.

58,480. You do not object to look for them at all events, do you? and then if you find there are such papers you can report it to Mr. Shaen; you will not object to that, I suppose? Should you have any objection to produce them?—Yes; I should.

58,481. On what ground? what is your ground of objection?—Because I conceive I have no authority to give up such papers.

58,482. That is not an answer to the question?—It is.

58,483. It is not an answer to the question; you are not asked whether you would part with them, you are asked to produce them?—I do not undertake to produce them.

58,484. You know the difference between producing and parting with them?—You have put the word produce, so as that I should have to part with them.

58,485. We are authorised to call for all papers, books, documents, and a great many things that are mentioned, and the usual course is to ask the party who has the custody of them to produce them, not by way of parting with them, or anything like it, but in order that the Commissioners may receive information from them if there is anything, and I ask you, if you find any papers relating to the election of 1841 and 1847, have you any objection to produce them for the purpose of our information?—So far as my own feeling goes, I should have no objection; but looking at my position in the office, I do not think the papers are in my custody to produce them.

R. Middlemiss.

25th July 1853.

58,486. Is that the reason you think you ought not to produce them?—I do not think they are in my custody to produce any one paper relating to a matter I know nothing about, and that is closed.

58,487. You have told us you could produce them?—That is to show them.

58,488. Should you object to show them to Mr. Shaen at the office?—I should.

58,489. Understand the position exactly of Mr. Sidebottom: you say he is extremely ill?—Yes.

58,490. He has no relations as I understand?—No.

58,491. You are the person managing his business?—Yes.

58,492. We have the power, and may be obliged to exercise it, and go to Mr. Sidebottom himself, to insist on having the papers?—Yes.

58,493. Instead of doing it, in order to spare him that pain, anxiety, and perhaps danger, we ask you to produce the papers. Do you say you do or not?—Looking at my position in the office, I know nothing about them. I think it is not my duty to show them to any one.

58,494. Rather than produce them, you will run the risk of having a subpœna served upon him?—I cannot give any other answer.

58,495. Is that the answer you give? If you do, we shall have to consider another matter; but we ask you, considering the risk Mr. Sidebottom must run, whether you now refuse to let the papers be looked at?—I cannot give any other answer; I do not want to throw any objection or hindrance in the way of any one; I look to my duty, and I do not think it is my duty to let any one see them.

Robert Fowler.

ROBERT FOWLER sworn, and examined.

58,496. Where do you live?—Spring Street.

58,497. In this borough?—Yes.

58,498. What business do you carry on?—Porter merchant.

58,499. Are you a voter for the borough?—I am.

58,500. How long have you been a voter?—Seven or eight years.

58,501. As a householder?—Yes.

58,502. Also as a freeman?—No.

58,503. What is the rent you pay?—£18 or guineas, I forget which.

58,504. Before you acquired a vote, I believe you took a considerable interest in the election matters of this borough?—In the registration matters I did.

58,505. I believe you are the agent for the blue party?—I was the agent.

58,506. When did you commence being the agent?—In 1846.

58,507. Not previous to that?—No; I have assisted off and on several times.

58,508. So far back as the year 1838 or 1839, did you not?—Almost from the passing of the Reform Bill. I think from being a very little boy. I remember being among them as a clerk.

58,509. You assisted the blue party in their registration before 1846?—A little I did, a day or two before the finishing of the services of the objections, perhaps for a day or two I might assist Mr. Sidebottom, he was the agent before myself.

58,510. And you assisted him while he was agent?—At the close of the registration, that is about the 23d of August; the 25th is about the last day of giving objections; about the 23d of August I might give a little assistance.

58,511. Who were you employed by?—I should get no payment for it.

58,512. Who by?—By Mr. Sidebottom, before 1846.

58,513. And who afterwards?—I believe by Mr. John Beadle.

58,514. Probably you have extensive acquaintance with the state of the registration and the state of public opinion—your business is so to do—to object to as many as you can of the opposite party, and to support as many as you can of your own party?—My business is to inquire thoroughly about those who are against us in politics, and if I can find a flaw in the qualification, to object to them.

58,515. And also to support the claims of your own friends?—And get our own friends on if I could.

58,516. Does not that lead you to an extensive acquaintance with the voters?—Yes.

58,517. We have seen notes that have been furnished us by some people, marking those that are most likely to require money: have you any knowledge or belief of the kind as to the particular class of people you think most likely to be influenced by money?—The lower order of voters.

58,518. I am not talking of the classes, but of the particular persons; would you mark off so and so requires money, and so and so expects to be employed?—No, that was my duty; there are many I consider of the working freemen are the party that require to be paid at election times.

58,519. We have got already lists of persons such as I have already mentioned, does your knowledge of the registration enable you to collect and add to any such list as that?—I should not. I have looked over part of the evidence, and they have given you a great deal more than I was aware of.

Robert Fowler.

25th July 1853.

58,520. That is not exactly the thing. Looking at the state of the registration, does your knowledge of it enable you to suggest the names of the parties that are most likely to be open to influence?—To be open to bribery?

58,521. Besides bribery, I mean to be influenced by employment?—I understand the question by looking over the list. I might mark many that I presume would require to be paid in some shape or anotner.

58,522. Directly or indirectly, runners' employment, and who wish to have their rooms let—in various forms in which people get payment?—Yes.

58,523. You could do that if necessary?—I could. I imagine, from what I have seen of parties running about and being at the committee rooms, that would be the way I should draw my conclusion, that they would want pay. The registration and the election I always consider quite distinct.

58,524. You misunderstood my question. Supposing we were to show you a list of persons handed in to us as persons already open to influence: do you think by looking at the register you would be able to add to it by picking out some other names?

58,525. Have you got any papers relating to the registration or the election?—I have two poll books, that is all.

58,526. Do those poll books contain any remarks that throw any light upon it?—No; one is marked showing a few errors.

58,527. Merely that?—Yes; the other one has a lot of ticks to it; but what they mean I do not remember.

58,528. Those poll books contain no further information than the poll book I have here?—None, excepting mine is marked with a few errors of the getter up of it or misprints.

58,529. Have you taken any share in the election, independent of the registration?—I have not. My business has been in a shut up room among clerks, where I was quite away from committee rooms. I was at the election with Mr. Brown.

58,530. Who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

58,531. What share in that election did you take? Were you in any way employed for either of the candidates?—I was employed by Mr. Wells for Mr. Brown.

58,532. I dare say you agree with the other witnesses; there was a great deal of money spent. He managed to get through a great deal of money in three days?—I believe he did at Brown's election. I believe he arrived on the Monday or the Tuesday; at any rate on the Monday morning, the week of the election. I was retained by Mr. Wells.

58,533. In what capacity?—To make up canvassing books.

58,534. That is a kind of chief clerk's business?—Yes; I had a room where I sat with the clerks, and no one to interfere with me; separate from the committee rooms.

58,535. Those books, did they relate to the paying department?—None at all.

58,536. Or the setting down?—Nothing but showing who were voters, and the number on the register, and so on.

58,537. Had you anything to do with keeping the lists in which the runners were set down?—No; I ran out to vote, and back again; two books I got finished. After the election was over I left them.

58,538. Tell us all that you know about the election?—On the Monday I commenced with a lot of clerks to make out the canvassing books. It took me the Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, and two nights without ever going to bed, to complete them and the voting cards. After we got the canvassing books complete, then we got the voting cards ready. We sorted them and got them out, and on the day of the election I had to enter up the parties that had voted on the register.

58,539. Do you mean you had nothing whatever to do with anything whatever, except that common-place detail?—I had nothing whatever to do with any canvassing with any books.

58,540. Where was it you were employed at that time?—In a private room at the Bull and Sun. I was at the Bull and Sun. There was another room, a committee room, which I never was in.

58,541. You knew there were a good many voters there intending to be paid?—I heard of it; but I saw less of it almost than any man in Hull. I was shut up from morning till night, and I ran as fast as my legs would carry me to vote, and back again.

58,542. Did you canvass?—No; I did not canvass.

58,543. Not at all?—Not at all.

58,544. Do you know a person of the name of Thomas Oliver?—I know him very well.

58,545. Do you know he had money at that election?—I do not. I have had nothing to do with election matters.

58,546. Do you not know Mr. Bannister paid him a sovereign?—I do not.

58,547. Have you not had some of the election papers handed to you since the election that related to the registration, for the purpose of assisting in a fresh registration?—Yes.

58,548. You voted for Moore and Butler I believe?—I did.

58,549. Had you any employment then?—Yes.

58,550. How were you employed then?—Similar to the other one,—making out the books.

58,551. Where?—At the central committee rooms in Bowl Alley Lane.

58,552. Had you anything to do with keeping an account of the clerks that were employed?—No.

58,553. Who chose the clerks?—Mr. Wells would choose the clerks. There was a secretary appointed to do all these kind of things.

58,554. Were you the secretary?—No.

58,555. You were the chief clerk?—I was a clerk over the other clerks. The head clerk I expect.

58,556. Did you choose the under clerks?—I did not.

58,557. Were they all chosen by Mr. Wells?—I expect so.

58,558. The staff that were under you, when were they appointed?—They were appointed I expect by Mr. Wells. They came to me. Many I did not know.

58,559. When? How long before the election?—I should think three weeks, perhaps more; it may be a month.

58,560. Did they remain doing their duty up to the close of the election?—Yes.

58,561. They were not shifted?—A few of them were shifted on the day of the election.

58,562. Up to the day of the election?—They were not shifted.

58,563. Did you make out the clearing house lists for the scheme of Mr. Wells?—No, I did not. They would not want any list only from the poll books.

58,564. The list of the persons who were to perform the duties?—A list of the clerks and runners do you mean?

58,565. The 479?—No; that would be done by the secretary, or else Mr. Wells.

58,566. Was it done?—I do not know; I was in the other room.

58,567. Had you a room to yourself?—I had a room to myself and clerks.

58,568. That is just the thing. If it was done, it must have been done in your room. The elerks sat in the same room as you?—They did not. There was another room with clerks, and another staff altogether.

58,569. There were two staffs?—Yes.

58,570. Who was the head of that?—Mr. George Steeple was one.

58,571. He was in a private room?—He was in the committee room where all the work was done, preparing those books, and the voting cards, and all that.

58,572. Was Rosindale there?—Yes.

58,573. Which room was he in?—He was in the committee room, and was the secretary.

58,574. In a different room from you?—In a different room from me.

58,575. You knew nothing of what was going on in any room except the one which you remained in?—For a moment or two, now and then. I was called up if Rosindale was out of the way to answer notes and deliver out cards.

58,576. Had you nothing to do but with the street lists?—Nothing.

58,577. The street lists would be completed some time before the election, would they not?—They were completed before Mr. Wells got his employment, one set; but he thought proper to have duplicates. Those duplicates were made, and then duplicate copies of the register, which were made out alphabetically. Then there were similar lists made out for each district; made out alphabetically. Canvassing books in street order, all of which we had duplicates made of. It was that which occupied the clerks that I had under me.

58,578. Where they continued to be employed up to the election day at that?—They were; and hard at work too.

58,579. What possible use could street lists be?—I could not see any use for them unless the others were lost

58,580. Except to give employment?—Except the room might be broken into, and the original copies stolen.

58,581. The street lists could be no possible use just before the election. They would be no use except to give employment?—Those books that I had under my care, and duplicate copies made, they were done by clerks who I believe had no votes, consequently I could see no use why they should be employed if it was for the sake of benefitting anybody.

58,582. Were the people with you not voters?—Not voters. I believe out of the lot there were only two voters.

58,583. You knew nothing whatever of what was taking place at the committee room?—I had to receive daily the reports from the district committees as to who had promised, and who had not. I had those to enter up in the alphabetical register that I had, showing how they promised to vote.

58,584. What was done with it when it was completed? Did anybody ever look at the book after the entries were made?—Oh yes, several times; many parties belonging to the committee.

58,585. They used to refer to it?—Yes.

58,586. The doubtful people?—They referred to it to see how they were getting on in promises.

58,587. That would not be to see the individual names, but the general result?—Parties

Robert Fowler.

25th July 1853.

might be inquiring in the other room as to whether so and so promised, and they would refer to me to see whether they had promised or not.

58,588. You mean the canvassing lists?—Yes.

58,589. The returns from each canvasser?—The returns from the canvassers would be entered in the district books they would have. Each of the committees were to send to me a report, daily, of who had promised, and those promises had to be entered.

58,590. After the election was over, did you get back a quantity of papers from Mr. Wells?—As soon as the election was over, I commenced with my agency for the election for the county. As soon as the election was over I went into a room for myself, unconnected with the election.

58,591. After the election was over did you receive back a quantity of papers, for the purpose of assisting you in going on with the next registration?—Some time after the election, in fact, after the late members were unseated.

58,592. Did you get back a quantity of papers?—I got a few papers, a few books rather.

58,593. Where are they now?—Those books I got, for the purpose of making fresh papers out for a fresh election, were not complete, consequently they were no use to me and I returned them to the person I got them from, Mr. Ward.

58,594. Do I understand you that all the papers you got from Mr. Wells, you gave back to Mr. Ward?—I got none from Mr. Wells.

58,595. Tell us at once; I ask you what papers you got from Mr. Wells, you gave us a long list?—I applied to Mr. Ward for those papers that I thought necessary for making out fresh books, Mr. Ward said: "I have not those papers, Mr. Wells has them, apply to him for them." I did apply, and he said he would give them up on my getting an authority from Mr. Ward; I got that authority, and instead of handing them to me, he handed them that day,or the day after, to Mr. Ward.

58,596. I want to come to this, did you return back all the papers that you had received?—I returned back all the papers I received.

58,597. From anybody?—From anybody.

58,598. To Mr. Ward?—To Mr. Ward.

58,599. You are sure that no papers have been destroyed in passing through your hands?—None. I was not aware, until this evidence, that there had been any papers destroyed, except what I read in the newspapers.

58,600. They are either destroyed or missing?—I do not know it.

58,601. Is that all you know about the matter?—That is all I know.

58,602 Did you examine the papers you received from Mr. Ward?—I looked over the papers I received from Mr. Ward.

58,603. And from anybody at all?—I received none but from Mr. Ward. I looked over the papers and found them useless.

58,604. What were they?—Books that these clerks and myself had made out.

58,605. They were useless for your purpose?—For my purpose they were.

58,606. What sort of books were they? What was in them?—Voters arranged in order for canvassing, and in district order.

58,607. It was only a copy of the register?—Only a copy of the register, except in more convenient shape for getting at.

58,608. Did they refer to the promises?—They had nothing to do with the promises. In the new books I made, those who had voted were taken from the poll book. I entered no promises, of course promises for that election had nothing to do with the future one.

58,609. I understand you to say, you principally attended to the registration?—Yes.

58,910. By whom have you been employed to do that?—In the first instance by Mr. Beadle, I believe it was.

58,611. Is that the blue party?—That is the blue party.

58,612. You have always attended to the registration for the blue party, when you have done so?—Yes.

58,613. There would be new freeman and new householders for each registration, some addition to the former list, in each year?—Yes.

58,614. The town clerk would make out the list of the freemen?—Yes.

58,615. And any omitted would have to make claims?—Yes.

58,616. You would attend to that, on the part of the freemen?—Yes.

58,617. Did you find, in attending to the registration of new freemen, any difficulty in getting them to attend to be registered, when there were new claims?—No, I found no difficulty in getting them up; and those that had been objected to by the orange party, I think I put an extract at the bottom of my circular, showing they were entitled to costs if frivolously objected to, and it brought them up pretty well.

58,618. You gave them an intimation of that kind?—Yes.

58,619. It could be only those who were objected to, or those who had been omitted, and therefore had to make a claim, those names would be in controversy and no others?—That would be all.

58,620. When you got fresh claimants up, was anything said at that time about the way in which they were to vote, or securing their votes?—No, never.

58,621. When you got them up, and got them registered?—No; I never put that to them, nor them to me.

Robert Fowler.

25th July 1853

58,622. Did anything pass whatever, when you got them registered, about their being registered for the blue party?—Before I should put claims in, or get them to sign, we should make inquires what their politics were.

58,623. Of them?—Yes.

58,624. And now and then, perhaps, make allusion to the setting down lists?—No.

58,625. You would inquire their politics?—Yes; merely that we might defend them, or go against them.

58,626. And pay their expenses in any way?—Never.

58,627. For attending?—Never a halfpenny.

58,628. Did you pay for their freedom?—No; I have had many applications, but as friend Wilde says, I used to send them across the road.

58,629. You considered them a bad article?—A bad article.

58,630. As far as you have known, would there be something like an average addition to the freemen every year?—There would be an addition every year, but a very small one, so many go off

58,631. Ten or twenty?—Forty or fifty, perhaps.

58,632. The number of freemen on the register increases on the whole, rather than decreases?—It increases a little.

58,633. Did you pay any bills at the former election?—None.

58,634. Not at any election?—Not at any election.

58,635. Do you mean at the registration, you do not pay the voters anything at all?—Not a halfpenny.

58,636. Or afterwards?—Nor afterwards.

58,637. Who pays the expenses of the registration?—The parties that employed me.

58,638. Paid by the candidate is it not, whoever it may be?—I cannot speak from my own knowledge, but I believe if we had blue members they would contribute a little towards the expenses.

58,639. It is always charged to them, is it not?—I am not aware of it.

58,640. What is the expense of the registration in each year?—It has been off and on on our side; it has not been continued from year to year.

58,641. Here is a charge against Moore and Butler of 35*l.* for registration?—That is not properly worded, it ought to be for register books.

58,642. That does not include your expenses at the registration?—No.

58,643. That is paid by the party?—Yes; in connexion with the election.

58,644. I should like you to tell me, as near as you can, what those books were that you got from Mr. Ward?—I believe they are what we call the central books, arranged in alphabetical order, of all the voters. There would be half a dozen or a dozen canvassing books, part belonging to one district of the town, and part to another, broken sets.

58,645. What was the object with which you got the books?—They were all made up in a parcel, if I had seen the contents I should not have taken them away.

58,646. What were the papers you were asking for?—A complete set of books I made for the last election.

58,647. They would not show at all what parties had been employed?—I did not want them for that purpose; I wanted to divide them into districts, and it would save a great deal of drafting by having those books.

58,648. It has been told to us, that the lists of those persons who were put down were taken into your room, at the central committee room?—That would be to Rosindale's room.

58,649. You had nothing to do with that?—I had another occupation. I had plenty to do in entering up the names.

58,650. Did you see the weekly pay sheet?—I had nothing to do with that.

58,651. Who had that?—Mr. Steeple, Mr. Rosindale, and Mr. Wells.

58,652. I think you say Mr. Wells said, he would give you any papers for which he had an authority from Mr. Ward?—I asked him for a complete set of the books made, but it appears they were missing; he said, "I will give you the papers on having an authority from Mr. Ward."

58,653. How long after the election was that?—It was after our late members were unseated.

58,654. What month would that be in?—It would be in May, I should think.

58,655. This year?—Yes.

Francis Clappison.

FRANCIS CLAPPISON sworn, and examined.

58,656. Do you live in Paragon Street?—Yes.

58,657. What business are you?—Eating house keeper.

58,658. What rent do you pay?—£16.

58,659. How long have you been a voter as a householder?—Three or four years.

58,660. Are you a freeman?—I was free born, but never took my freedom up.

58,661. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Moore and Butler.

58,662. Did you make an application to the central committee for them to take a room of you?—I did once.

Francis Clappison.

25th July 1853.

58,663. How long was that before the election?—About fourteen or sixteen days.

58,664. Who did you see?—Mr. Wilkinson.

58,665. Was that Mr. Edward or Mr. Charles Wilkinson?—Mr. Charles.

58,666. What did he say?—He gave me no definite answer, we differed about the price.

58,667. Did any committee ever sit at your house?—Yes; one night for about an hour and a half, one or two nights before the day of election.

58,668. Had you a list of the committee?—No.

58,669. How did you know it was a committee?—Young Steeple, the clerk there, he told me they were going to meet there; he told me the committee would meet.

58,670. That does not exactly answer my question; how did you know the people were committee men?—I knew from no other cause than that.

58,671. They might have been all orange people for what you knew?—Perhaps they might; I was not in the room at all.

58,672. Do you remember stating before the election, you wished to be paid?—I told Mr. Wilkinson I had heard that several parties were having their rooms engaged, and as I had a room I could spare, I should like them to engage that too.

58,673. Did you promise your vote to Moore and Butler?—Not at that time; I did three or four days before the election.

58,674. Not till after they had taken your room?—Yes; I said I should vote for Moore and Butler previous to that.

58,675. And then they took your room?—Yes.

58,676. And after the election how much did they pay you?—£5.

58,677. How came they to give you 5*l.*?—That was the bargain between us when the room was taken.

58,678. You stood out for the price?—Yes.

58,679. I believe you said you would vote for those who paid best?—Perhaps I might; I would not swear that I did not; very likely I did.

58,680. When you agreed for your room for 5*l.*?—Yes.

58,681. You got paid?—Yes.

58,682. The agreement was with Mr. Wilkinson?—No.

58,683. Who was it with?—I do not know what they call the gentleman. I know them by sight; there were three or four of them; I do not know their names.

58,684. You do not know any of them?—No, not their names.

58,685. How many days before the election was this?—Perhaps four or five.

58,686. And how long after the election were you paid?—Between a fortnight and three weeks.

58,687. Do you know who paid it?—Mr. Steeple.

58,688. George Steeple?—Mr. Steeple, senior.

58,689. Did you see him at any time previous to the election?—No; not previous to the day he paid me; that was the only time I saw Mr. George Steeple.

58,690. Where were you paid?—At my own house.

58,691. He brought you the money?—Yes; he brought me the money.

58,692. What did he say when he brought the money?—He wanted to see if I would take less, as the election had turned out rather unfortunate.

58,693. I understand you had not a vote until two or three years ago?—No.

Mr. W. C. Colbeck.

Mr. William Christopher Colbeck sworn, and examined.

58,694. Where do you live?—At Cottingham.

58,695. Do you occupy premises within this borough?—I occupy an office within the borough, and I am a freeman.

58,696. What is the value of anything that you occupy within the borough?—£15 a year I pay for the office.

58,697. Sufficient to give you a vote as a householder?—No; I am not on the register.

58,698. You are qualified, but not on?—Yes.

58,699. What is your business?—A solicitor.

58,700. How long have you been free?—About twenty-two or twenty-three years.

58,701. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—No.

58,702. Did you vote?—I believe I did.

58,703. Did you vote for Clay and Thompson in 1841?—I did.

58,704. And took no other interest in the election?—Took no other interest than to vote at that election.

58,705. In 1847 did you vote?—Yes.

58,706. Who for?—Mr. Brown.

58,707. Mr. Brown only?—I think it was Mr. Brown alone.

58,708. Did you take any interest in the election beyond voting?—I was an agent for Mr. Brown.

58,709. Law agent?—I had to canvass the voters at Cottingham, where I resided.

58,710. And as a canvasser I dare say you soon learnt that the Cottingham voters expected money, did you not?—There were two or three who wished to be paid, but not generally.

58,711. What was the price they asked?—No price; only they thought they ought to be paid something for their time.

58,712. £2 we hear?—No; they fixed no sum.

58,713. Did you not understand the sum?—No, I did not; and in fact I would not have anything at all to do with them, when they mentioned anything about price.

58,714. Did you make any arrangement with them?—No.

58,715. You reported the result to the committee?—I reported the result to the committee.

58,716. There was very little time for doing more than the canvassing; did you bring them up in any way?—No; I had nothing to do with bringing them up.

58,717. Do you know who did bring them up in 1847?—No, I do not. I was an agent of one of the blues, and was obliged to be in Hull that night.

58,718. You do not know who brought them up?—No, I do not.

58,719. Who would be the likely person to bring them up in 1847?—I do not know, I am sure, I have no recollection.

58,720. Had you anything to do with the finance department?—No; not anything.

58,721. Were you present when any of the money was paid?—No, not any.

58,722. I dare say you agree with the rest of the witnesses, a great many were paid?—I do not know that they were.

58,723. You do not know it of your own knowledge?—No.

58,724. You yourself were a blue agent, I believe?—I was.

58,725. Were you a paid agent?—I was paid for canvassing.

58,726. In 1852, who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

58,727. Were you an agent for them?—I was.

58,728. When were you retained?—About a fortnight before the election.

58,729. Who by?—By Mr. Robert Wells.

58,730. How did that happen?—I had canvassed the electors before for him, as I was personally acquainted with them.

58,731. When you canvassed before, you canvassed for Mr. Wells?—Yes; he appointed me before.

58,732. What were you retained to do?—Merely to canvass the electors.

58,733. In this town or at Cottingham?—In Cottingham.

58,734. Only?—Only.

58,735. Cottingham and the neighbourhood?—Cottingham, Skidby, and Newland; and also there were several electors on the Beverley Road who, I was to see.

58,736. What was the fee that you were to have?—It was not fixed. I left it entirely to Mr. Wells.

58,737. Have you been paid?—Yes; I was paid.

58,738. How much was it?—I was paid eighteen guineas.

58,739. Was it two guineas a day or three guineas a day, or how much?—I think I was engaged nine days, and I got my two guineas a day.

58,740. Did you arrange what the Cottingham voters were to have?—No; I had no arrangements at all about money matters.

58,741. Do you know who did arrange with the Cottingham voters?—I only know from what I have heard from Mr. Bamford.

58,742. Who made the previous arrangements, because Mr. Bamford has told us that he did not? How were they to meet? Did they meet in the morning and get a treat?—I do not know. I was in Hull the night before, and did not go back again, therefore I do not know anything at all of any arrangement. I had nothing to do with the arrangement about the voters coming to Hull from Cottingham.

58,743. Or whether were to be paid for their loss of time or anything?—Not anything.

58,744. You did not make any arrangements for the breakfast?—No; I had nothing to do with the breakfast.

58,745. Did you make any payments at all?—Not any.

58,746. Was there any understanding with the voters that they should be brought up free of expense?—I am not aware of it; if they named anything to me about expenses I told them I had nothing to do with it.

58,747. Did you name anything about expenses?—One or two of the poorest wanted to know if they were to be paid when I canvassed them.

58,748. What were their names?—I think a man of the name of Holmes, and a man of the name of Hitchin; they were poor men, and I thought they ought to be paid.

58,749. Were there any more?—No; I think those are the only two.

58,750. What was your understanding with regard to them? Were they people promising independent of any consideration at all, or were they persons who insisted on having their travelling expenses, or any expenses?—They did not insist on anything.

58,751. Which was it you understood?—It was merely when I was canvassing them, that was sometime before they came to Hull to vote, they considered they ought to have something for their trouble and expense in coming from Cottingham to Hull to vote.

Mr. W. C. Colbeck.

25th July 1853.

58,752. Do you apply that to all the Cottingham voters?—No, only to those two; those were the only two that named expenses.

58,753. As far as you know were the other persons promising quite as independent of any consideration of that sort?—I believe so; there was nothing mentioned to me about being paid.

John Carter.

JOHN CARTER sworn, and examined.

58,754. Do you keep a public house in this borough?—I do.

58,755. Called the Pilot Boy?—Yes.

58,756. On the Humber Bank?—Yes.

58,757. What is the rent you pay?—£25 a year.

58,758. How long have you occupied it?—Five years.

58,759. Are you also a freeman?—No.

58,760. Is the last the first election that you were qualified to vote at?—It was the first.

58,761. Who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

58,762. We have heard a good deal about a party that met at your house; when did the party of voters begin to assemble; I mean the party who ultimately bargained for their votes; when did they begin to assemble at your house?—About 7 o'clock on the morning of the election.

58,763. But they began to assemble long before that?—I never knew anything about it until the morning of the election.

58,764. They used to meet, but you never knew anything about it?—They never met at my house until the morning of the election.

58,765. You are sure of that?—Yes.

58,766. Do you know where they came from?—No, I do not.

58,767. Do not you know now?—I do not know even now.

58,768. Where they used to meet before they came to you?—No.

58,769. Was it Nicholson's lot?—It was Nicholson's lot, I think.

58,770. How many of them were there?—I do not know; there were many of them, but I do not know how many.

58,771. About how many were there?—I should say a hundred at least there must have been.

58,772. He collected a lot together?—Nicholson, I believe, was the ringleader.

58,773. William Henry Nicholson, the sailmaker?—Yes, I think so.

58,774. You knew nothing about them, until the morning of the polling day?—Nothing, until the morning of the election, at 7 o'clock; that was the first information that I got.

58,775. Now tell us what occurred; they began to assemble?—I opened my house about 6 o'clock that morning, which I do every morning, I believe. I knew nothing respecting this party, who proposed to assemble there, until about 7 o'clock; then I saw a concourse of people coming on the bank, towards my house, and I was for a length of time after that, before I could learn the cause or the reason of it; this was the morning of the election; eventually, Nicholson came into my house, being the first party that did come in. At that time I had a committee room at my house, and he asked if any of the blue party were there.

58,776. Nicholson came in?—Yes.

58,777. What did he say?—He asked me if any of the blue party had been at my house that morning; I said no, and I can scarcely say what took place after that.

58,778. Did they stay outside or come in?—There was a party came into the house, but they wanted to see Mr. Croft. I recollect that question was asked.

58,779. Had Mr. Croft been there?—No, I think not; I think he was the chairman of the committee room; of the central committee, I think; but they wanted to see Mr. Croft, and I said I had not seen Mr. Croft.

58,780. Mr. Croft was the gentleman who had been at your place before?—Yes; he attended our committee room.

58,781. What is Mr. Croft's Christian name?—I do not know.

58,782. Where does he live?—On the Humber Bank.

58,783. What is he?—He is the coal agent, I believe, for the river Dun Company.

58,784. Tell us all that took place?—They wanted to see Mr. Croft, and as my room was engaged by that party, I went on to Mr. Croft to another committee, in Waverley Street, and told him that there was a party at my house who wanted to see him, but he was a length of time before he came down; he sent me back again, saying he would attend as soon as possible, but it was a length of time before he came down; he did come eventually, and I do not know what took place. I never saw him, or heard anything more about it.

58,785. Did he go into the room to these men?—No.

58,786. What did he do?—He went into the room he had engaged previously as a committee room, and I think Nicholson went in to him, and I think there was no other party went into the room.

58,787. He went into the room with Nicholson alone?—He went into the room engaged by them for the blue party, that was the committee room; Nicholson rather went into the room to him. I think Nicholson was the only party that entered the room.

58,788. Then what took place?—I do not know.

58,789. The men are not there now, are they?—How can I say what took place in the committee room.

58,790. How did you get the men away?—They went away just as they pleased.

58,791. Nicholson went into the room alone?—Yes.

58,792. How long did they stay alone in the room?—Indeed I do not know, for I was engaged below; it might be an hour, or it might be two.

58,793. Did they stay an hour?—Perhaps they might; I should say an hour. I do not know because I was engaged.

58,794. I mean Nicholson and Croft?—Yes; I think Nicholson was the only party that entered the room.

58,795. When Nicholson came out, did he go to the men?—Yes.

58,796. What happened there?—I do not know.

58,797. Did the men get anything to drink?—Yes, they did.

58,798. Who paid for it?—Mr. Croft.

58,799. I suppose he ordered you to give them beer to keep them quiet?—It was not by his orders, if you will allow me to explain it.

58,800. Do so, tell it yourself.—When I first applied to Mr. Croft, I told him to come to my house, that there was a party of men who wanted to see him; he could not attend himself, for he was busily engaged with other parties, but he sent down a party employed in the room as a runner, a very active man apparently to me, who went on with me to my house.

58,801. Who was he?—I do not know his name.

58,802. Was he a stout man?—No, he was a low man, about my own height; he went down with me to my house, and those men were so anxious to see Mr. Croft, that some would stop and some would not; he said "Give them something to drink, give them a pint of ale each." I think there were pretty near a hundred, I cannot say; I know the first round came to 15*s.*, that is at 3*d.* each.

58,803. Who paid for it?—It was not paid for at that time; Mr. Croft eventually paid for it.

58,804. Was that all they had?—No; there was another round that was never paid for.

58,805. What next?—Beyond that, there was no more put down at my house; Mr. Croft came down in the course of an hour, or an hour and a half, and I know no more respecting that; I think I told you that previously.

58,806. Did the men stay? They drank more than a pint of beer in an hour and a half?—I told you they were twice served; the first I got paid for by Mr. Croft, the second I had for myself.

58,807. How much was the second?—Another round of the same kind, 15*s.* more, which I never got paid.

58,808. What was the number of men there?—15*s.*, that would be sixty men; I have no doubt, at one time, there would be considerably more than that.

58,809. They had sixty more, which have not been paid for?—Yes; pints, or glasses of grog.

58,810. How long did they stay at the house after Nicholson went to them? When did they go away—take it in that form?—I do not know; they kept dropping off during the morning of the day; at noon there would not be many left.

58,811. Did anybody come for them? was there an omnibus there, or a cab?—There was no omnibus or cab.

58,812. Did they go one by one?—Yes; it appeared to me that they could not come to terms, and so they dribbled off; they went away discontented, and singly.

58,813. Did you ever hear what occurred; how they happened to go away?—No; indeed I do not know.

58,814. They appeared discontented and went away?—Yes.

58,815. Did you hear any of the conversation?—I heard none of the conversation.

58,816. Did you learn it from any of them?—They appeared to have an object in meeting there; but I cannot say what the object was.

58,817. They had some other object besides drinking a pint of ale?—No doubt they had, but I cannot say.

58,818. Did they all walk away? Are you sure there was no omnibus or cab?—I do not believe that any of them were conveyed away by any other conveyance than their own legs.

58,819. Did anybody come to fetch them?—No; not cabs or 'busses.

58,820. Was there anybody at your public house the night before?—No, I think not.

58,821. When did you shut up the night before?—I cannot say; perhaps 10 o'clock.

58,822. Was there not a gentleman there at about 12 o'clock, after you had shut up, that came and went away?—Not that I am aware of.

58,823. You know nothing about that?—I do not.

58,824. Who engaged your room as a committee room?—Mr. Croft.

John Carter.

25th July 1853.

58,825. How long before the election?—I think it was on the Monday previous to the election; the first day of the week; the election was on Thursday, and this was the Monday.

58,826. Had you promised your vote previously?—No.

58,827. Did he come to you, or you go to him, at the time of the engaging of the room?—I had been applied to repeatedly both by him and the other party too.

58,828. The other party bid you 2*l.*?—No, they did not.

58,829. How much did they?—Nothing.

58,830. How much did the blues bid you; 5*l.*?—I can tell you what they gave me, that will amount to what you want to gain.

58,831. How much was it?—£3.

58,832. How much did you ask?—I do not know; I do not remember; I should have been very glad if I could have got 5*l.* perhaps.

58,833. And cheap too, if it included the vote?—No, indeed you are wrong; I would not have sold my vote for 2*l.*; I should want a little more, or none.

58,834. Was there any agreement for 3*l.*?—No, only verbal.

58,835. Verbal or otherwise, it is as good; what did they say? what did Mr. Croft say when he took your room?—The orange party wanted the room, and I let it eventually to the blue party.

58,836. Did you tell Mr. Croft that the orange wanted your room?—I did.

58,837. What did Mr. Croft then say?—That they were anxious to have a room at that end of the town and there was not one, and he offered me 3*l.* for the room, and I said he should have it.

58,838. Did Mr. Croft give you the names of any committee who were to meet in it?—No, I cannot say that, but there were parties met in it several times.

58,839. Had you any list of them?—No, I had not.

58,840. No list of the secretary, chairman, or the committee, was ever given to you?—Not to me.

58,841. Was it given to anybody for you?—Not that I am aware.

58,842. How often did Mr. Croft come there?—I think in the four days he would be there three or four times; I do not recollect that he omitted scarcely a day.

58,843. He came once a day?—I think he did.

58,844. Did anybody come with him?—I do not know.

58,845. Nobody, that you can tell us, came?—I cannot say.

58,846. Nobody, that you know of, came?—There were other parties came, but I do not know who they were.

58,847. Were they parties to see him, just as Nicholson did?—No, they came with him.

58,848. How long did they stay?—Indeed I cannot say.

58,849. Did they ever stay two minutes?—Yes.

58,850. How long did they stay?—I do not know.

58,851. Did they have a drop of beer to drink and go away?—No, Mr. Croft was not a drinker; I do not think he ever tasted in my house; his object was business no doubt.

58,852. Did he come and count the chairs?—I do not know what he did.

58,853. He did nothing that you know of?—I do not know.

58,854. And there was no doorkeeper there?—No.

58,855. Then, for anything you know, these 100 men who came in the morning were some of the committee?—For anything I know they might be, I did not know anything about it until the morning of the election.

58,856. Did you know that Nicholson was one of the committee?—I did not know anything about it; I knew the man, and he was the only one I did know; he was the only one I knew of the party; he had been repeatedly at my house for three or four years.

58,857. Did you know he was, and had been for many years, a person that got together voters to sell them for the best price?—Indeed I did not know at that time; I have read it in the papers since, but I did not know it at that time.

58,858–9. I suppose you understood this, that people who let rooms for committees were to vote for the candidates whose party hires the room?—I scarcely understand the question.

58,860. Did you know that people who let their rooms to committees, the same as you did, were to vote for the party who engaged the room?—I do not know in all cases; I never passed my word to that effect to any one.

58,861. Did you not know that was perfectly well the understanding; you must have had some little experience; we have had it proved at least five hundred times? Did you understand that you were to vote blue?—I did not pledge myself to vote blue.

58,862. Of course not.—What do you want to know?

58,863. Did you understand that; there is Mr. Prissick sitting there?—I know Mr. Prissick.

58,864. Do you remember Mr. Prissick speaking to you?—Yes.

58,865. Do you remember telling Mr. Prissick that you were sorry you had not let your room to the orange?—I do.

58,866. As that you were inclined to vote for the orange?—I should have done.

John Carter.

25th July 1853.

58,867. If you had let your room to them?—Most decidedly.

58,868. You told him you were orange?—I am orange in principle.

58,869. You told him so?—I did; I do not deny that.

58,870. And did you tell him that you had received twice as much for the room as the orange offered?—The orange never offerd anything.

58,871. I ask what you told him; did you tell Mr. Prissick that you had received twice as much for your room as the orange party had offered?—No, I did not, because the orange never offered anything. I suppose I am upon my oath.

58,872. You are.—Then Mr. Prissick is there, and let him speak.

58,873. I ask you whether you said to him that it was so?—There never was an offer made by the orange.

58,874. I did not ask you that; what I ask you is this: whether you said to Mr. Prissick that you had received twice as much for your room from the blues as the orange had offered?—I do not think I did.

58,875. Then do you undertake to swear that you did not?—I do not think I did; I do not remember saying so.

58,876. Will you swear you did not?—I do not remember it.

58,877. Will you swear that you did not?—I think I may venture to do that.

58,878. Will you do so?—No, it is a long time ago; I cannot be positive as to that; words may slip out.

George Bailey.

GEORGE BAILEY sworn, and examined.

58,879. What is your business?—A licensed victualler.

58,880. What rent do you pay?—£35 a year.

58,881. Where do you live?—Great Union Street, over North Bridge.

58,882. How long have you been a voter?—Ever since 1847.

58,883. Had you a right to vote in 1847?—Yes.

58,884. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes, I did, before 1847.

58,885. How long have you been qualified to vote?—It was sometime before 1847.

58,886. 1846?—1846.

58,887. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

58,888. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Baines and Brown.

58,889. Were you employed on that occasion in any way?—No.

58,890. Did you get any money for a room?—No.

58,891. Had you anything to do with the money affairs?—No.

58,892. Or get any money yourself?—No.

58,893. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

58,894. Did the Hedon voters ever assemble at your house?—On the election day after they had voted.

58,895. In 1852, or 1847, or both?—Only 1852; not 1847; the last election.

58,896. Who brought them there?—I am not certain who was in with them.

58,897. Was it one of the gentlemen of the committee?—He came in and said they must have a dinner at the house.

58,898. Somebody ordered a dinner?—Yes.

58,899. Who ordered it?—Mr. Stubbins, of Hedon, ordered it.

58,900. How much was it?—Something under 5*l.*; 4*l.* 17*s.*, or 4*l.* 18*s.*

58,901. Was the dinner ordered before voting?—No; I did not know anything about it till they came into the house; I did not know they were coming to dinner.

58,902. About how many were there?—Seventeen or eighteen.

58,903. Do you know any of them?—Any of the voters?

58,904. Yes.—They were Hedon voters, most of them.

58,905. Was that all you had to do?—Yes.

58,906. Did you pay any of the voters yourself? Do you know a man of the name of Robinson?—No.

58,907. Were you employed to pay any of the parties?—Only on the Holderness ward committee.

58,908. In the blue candidates?—I was only a canvasser.

58,909. Did you pay any of the voters?—Yes.

58,910. Robinson, did you pay him?—I cannot say; there were several paid; I do not know their names. The money was handed to me to bring down stairs. They applied to me for the money. I went up stairs and gave the names, and I brought it down with me.

58,911. How much did you pay?—There were perhaps a dozen I gave money to; I cannot say now.

58,912. How much did you pay?—Some 10*s.*; some 15*s.*; it was put down for so many days' running.

58,913. Do you remember the names of any of them?—I knew one of them; there was one of the name of Drinkall,—John Drinkall; and another of the name of Clarke.

58,914. How much did you pay John Drinkall?—I cannot say. I believe 10*s.* or 15*s.* I cannot say now.

George Bailey.

25th July 1853.

58,915. His brother, do you know Henry Piercy Drinkall?—I may know him, but I do not recollect giving him any money.

58,916. Clarke, you did?—One of the name of Clarke.

58,917. Do you know his Christian name?—No; I cannot say whether it was John or William.

58,918. Did you ever hear it?—William, I believe.

58,919. Who else do you remember?—I do not remember any more than that.

58,920. Do you remember James Tully?—Yes, I paid him.

58,921. You paid him a sovereign?—No; I think half a one.

58,922. Did you pay from a list?—No, I had no list.

58,223. How did you know how much to pay or who to pay to?—The parties that came to my house to pay had a list with them.

58,924. Who were they?—Mr. Oxtoby and Mr. Walker.

58,925. Mr. Whyteal Walker?—Yes.

58,926. Did they bring a list to your house?—Yes; I should suppose they would have a list.

58,927. How many were there in it?—I cannot say that.

58,928. Did they give you the list to pay by?—No, they did not. I never saw the list; they only gave me the money to take down stairs to them; I believe they were rather troublesome, some of them.

58,929. How long after the election was it that you paid them?—I cannot say; perhaps a week; I do not know to a day or two.

58,930. About a week after the election, was it?—Very likely.

58,931. How many runners were there set down?—I did not keep any account of that.

58,932. Was it twenty or thirty?—I should think more than that.

58,933. Forty?—Forty perhaps.

58,934. Forty or fifty?—I cannot say to ten or twenty.

58,935. Did you see the list and see that it contained forty or fifty names?—No, I never saw the list at all.

58,936. It was at your house, I understand; you paid the men,—the parties that came to be paid?—Yes.

58,937. Did you attend on those days at the committee?—I used to attend occasionally.

58,938. Was a list of runners made; were they continually having their names set down?—Yes, they kept applying to the committee room and getting their names put down.

58,939. After the election you paid a dozen or more?—Yes, very likely; I cannot say the number exactly now.

58,940. How long were Oxtoby and Walker paying those people whom they paid; one day, or more?—I think they would not be in our house above an hour or an hour and a half.

58,941. You paid the greater part of them?—Yes.

58,942. And some few did not come, and they left the money with you for them?—Yes, there was one or two they left the money for.

58,943. They did not come when Oxtoby and Walker paid?—Yes.

58,944. They gave you a list and left the money with you?—I did not see a list.

58,945. They told you the names?—Yes, and they gave me the money.

58,946. How many were there?—That I took the money to?

58,947. No; that you paid? Did you pay half a dozen?—Oh, yes; perhaps a dozen.

58,948. You, yourself?—Yes.

58,949. Who gave you the money?—Oxtoby.

58,950. How many do you suppose they paid?—At my house?

58,951. Yes.—Perhaps from twenty to thirty; I cannot say, I am sure.

58,952. Was it at the same time that the dinner was?—No.

58,953. Different days?—Yes.

Philip Dannatt.

PHILIP DANNATT sworn, and examined.

58,954. Where do you live?—York Parade, Beverley Road.

58,955. I believe you are not a freeman?—No.

58,956. How long have you been entitled to vote?—Four years.

58,957. What is the value of the rent of the premises that gave you a right to vote?—£26.

58,958. Who did you vote for last time?—Moore and Butler.

58,959. Were you a canvasser?—Yes.

58,960. What is your occupation?—None.

58,961. Were you a paid canvasser?—No.

58,962. What committee did you belong to?—North Myton.

58,963. Were you a member of the committee?—Yes.

58,964. Were there a great many names set down?—No doubt there would be; I onl saw about twenty or thirty; I was not there regularly.

Philip Dannatt.

25th July 1853.

58,965. You did not see more than twenty or thirty set down?—No, I do not think I did, more than twenty or thirty.

58,966. Those were set down from day to day continually?—Yes; I saw parties go regularly every day.

58,967. I dare say you knew what they were?—I knew that it meant being paid.

58,968. People who went to vote and to be paid?—Yes, certainly.

58,969. In your canvassing, did you meet with a great many such people?—I met with some, but I only canvassed one day or a day and a half, or something of that sort, and that only for about a couple of hours at a time.

58,970. Did you refer them to the committee?—Yes; to Mr. Wilkinson and Dr. Gibson.

58,971. You sent them all to the North Myton committee?—Yes.

58,972. You only canvassed the North Myton?—I only canvassed the North Myton.

58,973. In canvassing, you would have had the means of setting down names if you were to set them down?—I had a canvass book.

58,974. When people gave you to understand that they belonged to the running class, did you make any special entry in their book?—"Doubtful;" or I sent them to the room.

58,975. Did you feel yourself authorized to set any names down?—No, I never set one name down.

58,976. When you found men of that description?—I sent them to the committee room.

58,977. Was that as far as you are aware, the general mode of doing it?—Yes.

58,978. I suppose you entered in your book, "wants money," or, "won't promise"?—"Won't promise," and "doubtful," or "favourable," and all such memorandums as that.

58,979. Who saw your book in which there was set down "wants paying," and so on?—That would not be entered in my book.

58,980. You were too cautious for that?—I do not know it is that.

58,981. You told them they might go and get their names set down at the room?—I never told one; I referred them to the committee room if they wanted anything particular.

58,982. "Anything particular," you say?—One or two would want flags and all such things as that, and I referred them there.

58,983. You reported from day to day the progress of your own canvass?—I was only a day and a half canvassing.

E. Beautyman.

EDWARD BEAUTYMAN sworn, and examined.

58,984. Where do you live?—Black Swan Entry, Mytongate.

58,985. What rent do you pay?—About 4*l.* or 5*l.* a year.

58,986. For a house?—Yes.

58,987. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

58,988. What business are you?—A porter.

58,989. How long have you been free?—About eleven years.

58,990. Before the election of 1841?—The first election I polled at was for Baines and Brown.

58,991. Was that the first time you qualified?—Yes.

58,992. Who did you vote for?—Baines and Brown.

58,993. Were you a runner for either of them?—Yes.

58,994. Which?—Baines.

58,995. What were you paid?—7*s.* 6*d.*

58,996. The polling day?—It was for three days, for Mr. Baines.

58,997. Who were you paid by?—I was paid at Mr. Sidebottom's, in Parliament Street. It was either Mr. Sidebottom or one of the clerks, I cannot say which.

58,998. At that office?—Yes.

58,999. After the election, or before?—It was after.

59,000. Did he ask you how you voted? had he check sheets?—No; he did not ask me at all.

59,001. And you did get set down?—Yes.

59,002. When?—Three days before the election.

59,003. Who set you down?—Mr. Holmes.

59,004. Where?—The Granby Inn, Wellington Street.

59,005. Was the committee there?—Yes.

59,006. Were you told what to do?—Yes.

59,007. What?—I had charge of the room.

59,008. How came you there? did you ask to be set down?—I wanted a little bit of employment.

59,009. And they wanted a little bit of a vote?—They wanted a little assistance.

59,010. And a little bit of a vote?—That Mr. Holmes did not say anything to me about.

E. Beautyman.

25th July 1853.

59,011. That was the understanding?—No, Sir; I do not know, but we polled the way we thought proper.

59,012. You wanted employment, and asked for it, and got it?—Yes.

59,013. Were you out of employment?—I was not altogether out of employment.

59,014. Were you getting wages from your master all the time?—No; I am my own master; I can either work or play; no one has the control of me; like a weekly man, that is.

59,015. How came you to go to be set down here? how came you to know anything that was going on?—I was with Mr. Wright, who kept the Granby Inn in Wellington Street. I used to be up at his place, and he says, "Teddy, that is a nice room; we will have a committee room." He writes a note, and gives it to me. Mr. Wright had only one arm, and I used to do the cellar work, and put the liquors up for him. He says, "Take this down to the central committee room." I believe at that time it was at the George, in the Land of Green Ginger. I took this here note down, of course. I did not see what was in it. The result was, that there was to be a committee room there, and then I had charge of the room.

59,016. As the doorkeeper?—Yes.

59,017. You were not a runner?—Why, I was, because I ran of many errands.

59,018. Did you take care of the door when you were there?—Perhaps I should. Mr. Holmes was not there himself, not half an hour in the course of the day.

59,019. How came you to ask for this letter?—I did not ask for it at all.

59,020. Did you get anything for Brown?—Yes.

59,021. How much?—10*s.*

59,022. After you had voted?—No, before I voted.

59,023. Where?—Of Mr. Mitchell.

59,024. In 1852, the last election, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

59,025. Did you ask for employment again?—No, I did not.

59,026. Did you have your name set down?—I did; they asked me.

59,027. You got 5*s.* from Mr. George Steeple?—Yes, I did.

59,028. When were you paid the 5*s.*?—I do not know what day it was.

59,029. It was after you had voted?—No, Sir, it was before I voted.

59,030. Had you promised anybody?—I never promised any one at all.

59,031. We understand you waited to see which was giving the best price, the orange or blue—giving the most money; is not that so?—No; I did not promise any one at all.

59,032. You were canvassed on both sides, and actually promised?—I did not promise. No one knew which way I was going to vote till the polling morning.

59,033. You would go with which paid the best price?—I had made up my mind before.

59,034. You made up your mind to see which would pay the best price?—No; I had made up my mind to vote for the blues.

59,035. You say nobody knew it?—Nobody knew it but myself.

59,036. Why did they not?—Was I obliged to tell them?

59,037. If you were an honest man?—Was I obliged to tell which way I voted?

59,038. It might be the same as the election before?—I might have no idea of polling for Brown until the election took place, and then I polled for Brown, and likewise Baines. I thought Baines was a qualified man.

59,039. You have told us you would not promise to vote till you got the 5*s.* "I would not tell anybody who I meant to vote for, till after they had paid the 5*s.*"; is that so?—No.

59,040. Did you tell them before you got the 5*s.*?—I did not know.

59,041. Was it before or after?—I did not tell any one who I was going to vote for. I actually did not know myself.

59,042. Not till after you got the 5*s.*?—I do not know what day I got the 5*s.* I know I did get it.

59,043. It was before you voted?—I believe it was.

59,044. You did not tell anybody, till after that, who you meant to vote for?—No.

59,045. Then you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

59,046. What was your employment, making a noise?—No, Sir; I went up to make an attempt to go to the hustings, but I did not get near.

59,047. Who employed you to do something? what was it?—Merely to stand there when Bramley Moore was speaking, and give a hurrah.

59,048. You were to keep up a hurrah when he spoke, and vote for him?—They did not say anything about voting for him.

59,049. You waited to get the 5*s.* first. Do you know Lidgard?—Yes.

59,050. Did you get your name set down by him?—Yes.

59,051. When was that?—It would be a fortnight before the election took place.

59,052. Did you get something from him?—To tell the truth, I do not know who paid me.

59,053. You are meaning to tell the truth?—Yes.

59,054. What did you mean by swearing just now that you never told anybody, till the day of the polling, who you meant to vote for, till you had got your name set down by Lidgard?—I did not tell him who I was going to vote for.

E. Beautyman.

25th July 1853.

59,055. How much were you paid by Lidgard?—I cannot say to two or three shillings.
59,056. How much?—As near as I can say, 2*l.* 5*s.*
59,057. You got 2*l.* 5*s.*?—Somewhere about that; I cannot say to a shilling or two, under or over.
59,058. What did you do for that? Lidgard has been here, and he has been examined himself; he told us what the room was for?—I took the seats there, and took them back again; looking after the place; running here and running there.
59,059. You ran to see what o'clock it was?—Anywhere where they would send me to.
59,060. Did he send you to see what o'clock it was?—No, he did not. He used to send me to deliver bills out, and stick them up; anything of that sort.
59,061. In fact, you were doing anything?—I had to scrape the bills off the walls.
59,062. That was after the election?—It was after the election.
59,063. And before?—Before, I had to stick them on, on the window shutters, and on the walls; to do anything he told me, or anybody that was there.
59,064. Where were you employed?—At the Minerva Terrace, I think it is called.
59,065. Did you pull down all the orange bills in the middle of the night?—Not one at all; I was in bed.
59,066. During the fortnight you were there, how often were you employed at the committee room?—About every half hour, myself, because my work partly lay there, from the south end.
59,067. You were at work at your business as a porter?—Sometimes; if I had a chance to take a job.
59,068. You did not think Lidgard's business interfered with your own?—It often did, but I did not let him see it.
59,069. Do you mean to say—and he was very careful—that you never told Lidgard who you were going to vote for?—I never did.
59,070. He knew it?—He never did.
59,071. He never asked you?—Never did.
59,072. He knew it perfectly well, of course?—If he did, he knew more than I did.

R. Bearpark.

RICHARD BEARPARK sworn, and examined.

59,073. What is your business?—I am in no business.
59,074. What is your profession?—I have none.
59,075. What are you?—I have been emyloyed by the Dock Company a number of years, but I am out of employment at present.
59,076. What business were you brought up to?—Brought up as a gentleman's servant.
59,077. Do you occupy any house or premises?—Yes.
59,078. Where?—No. 8, Trinity House Lane.
59,079. At what rent?—£20.
59,080. How long have you been occupying premises there?—About ten or eleven years, I do not know exactly which.
59,081. Are you a freeman?—No.
59,082. Did you vote in the year 1847?—Yes.
59,083. Who for?—Clay and Baines.
59,084. Were you paid on that occasion?—No.
59,085. You got no money?—Not a halfpenny.
59,086. Were you promised any?—No.
59,087. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.
59,088. Was your name set down?—Yes.
59,089. Who by, Alderman Forrester?—Mr. Sylbon.
59,090. At a coffee shop?—Yes, in Fish Street.
59,091. For how many days?—I cannot exactly say; five or six days before the election.
59,092. How many days were you to be paid; six days; the usual allowance?—I had been five or six days before the election; at least, before the nomination day.
59,093. What, did Mr. Sylbon set you down for Moore and Butler?—Yes.
59,094. Did they pay you?—Yes.
59,095. How much?—At the rate of 3*s.* 6*d.* a day, and 5*s.* for the nomination day.
59,096. How much did you get altogether?—I do not know whether I got five or six days.
59,097. Were you paid anything after the election?—Yes.
59,098. Was it all paid after?—No; it was paid before, for the days previous to the election; and for the nomination day, and the election day, after the election.
59,099. And for either three or four days before?—Four or five.
59,100. Were you canvassed by the orange?—No, I cannot say that I was; at least, they called at my house, but I was not in.
59,101. You were canvassed by Alderman Forrester?—No.
59,102. Did not Alderman Forrester canvass you?—I do not recollect that he did; he is of the orange party.

R. Bearpark.

25th July 1853.

59,103. You were canvassed by Alderman Forrester?—I cannot say; he was at my house.

59,104. Did he not canvass you for your vote?—I do not recollect that he did.

59,105. Did you not ask him for employment?—I did.

59,106. You knew he was on the orange side, of course?—I did.

59,107. I suppose you know that the vote and the employment go together. If you had been employed by the orange, you would have voted for the orange, and if employed by the blue, you would have voted blue?—I should not have done that.

59,108. If you had been employed by the orange you would have voted for the orange?—I never intended to vote for the orange.

59,109. When you asked Alderman Forrester for employment you knew he would not give it unless you voted with him?—I do not recollect asking him for employment.

59,110. You have told me twice that you did?—If I told you so I did wrong. I did no such thing. I applied to Alderman Forrester for 10*s.* for the election in 1847. That was what I applied to him for, not for employment, because I was employed by the blues at the time I spoke to Alderman Forrester.

59,111. Before Alderman Forrester spoke to you, you applied for 10*s.* at King Street, to Mr. Clay's committee?—Yes.

59,112. You asked Alderman Forrester for 10*s.*?—I did not ask him for it exactly; I told him other people were getting paid, and I should be paid the same.

59,113. You asked to belong to those who were paid instead of those who were not?—No; I could not do that.

59,114. Did you not want the 10*s.*?—So I did, but I never got it.

59,115. You wanted 10*s.* of Mr. Clay's money?—Yes.

59,116. You told Alderman Forrester so?—Yes, I did.

59,117. Do you mean to say, when you asked for Mr. Clay's money, you meant to vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes; I do say so.

59,118. When you asked for it?—Yes; for the election in 1847.

59,119. You went and asked for Mr. Clay's money, meaning to vote against him?—Yes.

59,120. You understand what I mean. I ask you seriously, do you mean to say you wanted to get the orange money and then to vote blue? Do you seriously mean to stand, and in the face of this Court say that?—It was my right to receive it for the 1847 election.

59,121. Do you mean to tell us that you applied a few days before the election for the money, and meant to vote against him?—I certainly should not vote for Mr. Clay.

59,122. Even if you had got the money?—Even if I had got the money, because I might have had the money seven years ago.

59,123. Why did you not get that 10*s.*?—Because they would not pay me.

59,124. Did they give you any reason for refusing to pay?—That they had paid up to a certain day, and after that day there was none paid. It so happened that I was not one that was there in time.

59,125. Did you ever apply for it before, after the election of 1847?—I cannot say that I did. No, I never did, to speak candidly.

John Dalton.

JOHN DALTON sworn, and examined.

59,126. What is your business?—A cowkeeper and gardener

59,127. Where do you live?—Popple Street, Drypool.

59,128. What rent do you pay?—It is my own property.

59,129. What are you rated at?—£11.

59,130. Are you a freeman?—By householding.

59,131. Are you a burgess?—No.

59,132. How long have you had the right to vote as a householder?—I have lived in the same place twenty-three years.

59,133. Who did you vote for in 1841?—The blues.

59,134. Hanmer and James?—Yes.

59,135. What did you get paid then?—I got nothing. I had a ticket to get a glass of grog after I had done.

59,136. After the election was over did you get some?—Never a farthing.

59,137. Were you promised?—No.

59,138. In 1847, who did you vote for?—I voted for the blues.

59,139. There were no blues,—Clay, Baines, and Brown?—I believe I bulleted for Clay.

59,140. How much money did you get?—None.

59,141. Did you ever ask for it?—No.

59,142. You are the John Dalton of Popple Street, Drypool, householder, who voted for Baines and Brown?—I voted blue, I know that.

59,143. There was no blue I tell you?—Then I did not vote at all.

59,144. Did you vote for Baines and Brown?—Very likely I did, but I do not know.

59,145. Did you get any money for your vote?—No; I got none. I voted twenty-six years, and I never got a farthing.

John Dalton.

25th July 1853.

59,146. In 1852, who did you vote for?—I voted for the blues.

59,147. Moore and Butler?—Yes.

59,148. Did you have your name set down?—Yes; I had it set down.

59,149. When?—When I polled.

59,150. Were you not set down?—They wanted me to be a runner, but I would not.

59,151. Who?—The party that were collecting about.

59,152. Who?—I do not know who; several of them. They would put me down as a runner if I liked, but I did not want to be.

59,153. Did you say they might do as they liked?—No; I said I had other employment, and I could not.

59,154. Are you quite sure you did not get any money?—Not a farthing, Sir. Nothing but a glass of grog; that is all I got.

59,155. The last time?—Yes; they gave me a ticket after I polled to go to the committee room to get a glass of grog; that was all I got.

59,156. When was that?—The last election.

59,157. Was that after you voted?—I went to my work.

59,158. Did you have the ticket after you voted?—They gave me a ticket to get a glass of grog the same as other people

59,159. Did they give it you after you voted?—After.

59,160. Are you sure you are not thinking of something else; I understand the glass is given at the municipal elections?—I got it after.

59,161. I understand the glass was given at the municipal elections only. I am talking about the parliamentary election last July, a year ago, when Moore and Butler and Clay and Lord Goderich were candidates for Parliament; that is what I am speaking of, not the corporation election?—I mean that myself.

59,162. Was it not in November you got the glass of grog?—I got one before and all.

59,163. Did you get one in July?—Yes.

59,164. At what committee room did you get the grog?—Union Street committee room, at Mr. Foster's, in Witham.

Thomas Dunwell.

THOMAS DUNWELL sworn, and examined.

59,165. Where do you live?—Scale Lane.

59,166. Do you occupy a house there?—Yes.

59,167. At what rent?—£22.

59,168. You are not a freeman?—No; a householder.

59,169. How long have you been a voter as a householder?—I only voted last year at the last election.

59,170. I ask you how long you have been entitled to vote?—About three years and a half; at least I think so.

59,171. Who did you vote for last year?—Bramley Moore and Butler.

59,172. Did you state to anybody that you expected some money, and would not vote unless you got it? Do you remember saying that you expected some money?—Who to?

59,173. To anybody?—No.

59,174. You mean that you never said that?—No.

59,175. You remember you are on your oath. The question is, whether you ever stated to anybody that you would not vote unless you got some money?—Yes; I am on my oath.

59,176. You never said it?—I never said it.

59,177. Did you talk to any of the gentlemen, the canvassers, about letting a room?—I have nothing to do with that room; it is my father that has to do with the room.

59,178. Where does your father live?—In Bishop Lane.

59,179. Do you know whether your father let his room?—No; I have nothing to do with his affairs.

59,180. Do you know whether he let a room at the election?—Yes.

59,181. What was he paid?—I suppose he got some money, 3*l.* somewhere about there, that is best known to himself; he will say when he comes here.

59,182. Three pounds?—Somewhere thereabouts. I cannot say.

59,183. How long before the election was it the room was let?—Well, I cannot say, I am sure; you can get him up and then he will tell you all about it.

59,184. A week or a month?—I cannot say, I am sure.

59,185. Two years?—No.

59,186. Tell us the best you can?—Perhaps it might have been a month, or perhaps a fortnight, or perhaps a week.

59,187. Were you canvassed by the blues?—Yes.

59,188. Who canvassed you first?—I do not know them.

59,189. And what did you say to them?—Both parties came to me, and I said I should not promise either.

59,190. Now I ask you did you not also say you would not promise unless you were paid?—No.

59,191. Was there nothing said about being paid?—No; nothing at all.

Thomas Dunwell.

25th July 1853.

59,192. To those who canvassed you?—To those who canvassed me, no never.

59,193. About setting your name down?—There was one party promised to set my name down as a runner for the other side, but not this side, the blue side.

59,194. That was the orange party?—Yes.

59,195. Who was that?—Mr. Foster, paperhanger, Scale Lane.

59,196. And did you mention that to the blue party when they canvassed you?—No.

59,197. Why not?—I had no reason for doing so.

59,198. When did you tell that to anybody? Did you ever tell anybody before to-day? Have you mentioned it to anybody before to-day?—Yes; to several parties.

59,199. Did you mention it to anybody of the blue party?—Well, I cannot say at present.

59,200. Can you tell who you mentioned it to before to-day?—Well, I do not know at present, I am sure.

59,201. You cannot tell us of anybody whom you ever told it to?—No.

59,202. Did you tell any of the blue party before you voted?—Not that I am aware of.

59,203. What did you say when he offered to set your name down for the orange party?—I said that I should not promise.

59,204. Did you tell that to the blue party?—Yes.

59,205. And did they offer to set your name down?—No.

59,206. They would not have anything to do with you. Did you hear that they wanted 478 runners one morning?—The orange party?

59,207. No; the blues?—I never heard about that.

59,208. Did you get your name set down?—No; for neither party. I never got a farthing from either.

J. H. Drant.

JOSEPH HENRY DRANT sworn, and examined.

59,209. Where do you live?—Feather Lane, Drypool.

59,210. What rent do you pay?—I am a lodger.

59,211. What business are you?—A cartman.

59,212. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,213. How long have you been a freeman?—Well, I am sure I cannot tell exactly.

59,214. Thirty years?—No, not quite.

59,215. Twenty years?—No, fourteen or fifteen years.

59,216. Who did you vote for in 1841?—I am sure I cannot tell.

59,217. Hanmer and James, or Clay and Thompson?—Very likely. I have forgotten, I am sure.

59,218. Did you vote for all four?—No; I have forgotten which.

59,219. Was your freedom taken up in 1839?—Very likely; I am sure I forget.

59,220. Which party took your freedom up?—I do not know, I am sure.

59,221. You did not pay for it yourself?—No; I did not.

59,222. How came you not to vote in 1841?—I do not know, I am sure.

59,223. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines.

59,224. Did you get any money from either of those gentlemen?—I believe I got a little from Mr. Brown, I forget how much.

59,225. Ten shillings?—I believe 10*s*.

59,226. Did Stephenson pay you?—I do not know, I am sure.

59,227. Where were you paid?—I have forgotten; in some part of Witham.

59,228. Was it paid before or after you voted?—After, I believe.

59,229. Who did you vote for in 1852?—At the last election?

59,230. Yes.—Bramley Moore, and Butler.

59,231. Were you paid for that?—Yes.

59,232. How much?—A sovereign.

59,233. Before or after the election?—Ten shillings before and ten shillings after.

59,234. Where?—At Andrew Hare's in Witham Street, and Mr. Bailey's, a draper, in Great Union Street.

John Dickinson.

JOHN DICKINSON sworn, and examined.

59,235. What is your business?—A seafaring man.

59,236. Where do you live?—I live in Raywell Street.

59,237. Do you occupy a house there?—Yes; but I poll by being a burgess.

59,238. What rent do you pay?—I pay no rent.

59,239. Is it your own house?—Yes.

59,240. What is the poor rate?—About 7*l*.

59,241. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,242. How long have you been a freeman?—I took my freedom up, I believe, at Hanmer and James's election, just a bit before they came.

John Dickinson.

25th July 1853.

59,243. That was in 1839, I dare say?—I think it was, but I did not poll at that election.

59,244. Which party paid for it?—Blue.

59,245. Why did you not vote?—Because I was informed that it being so late when I took it up, close upon the election, that I was not entitled to poll at that election; I never bothered my head any more about it.

59,246. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Mr. Brown and Mr. Baines.

59,247. What did you get then?—10*s.*

59,248. From Brown?—From Mr. Brown.

59,249. Who paid it you?—We were puzzled completely, I do not know who; I can tell you where I was paid.

59,250. Where?—At a little public house at Machell Street end.

59,251. Is that the Bay Horse?—I did not take notice of what sign it was, it was a very small conspicuous house for people knowing it.

59,252. In 1852 did you vote?—Yes.

59,253. Who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore and Butler this time.

59,254. What did you get for that?—I was four days a runner, and I got a pound; at least my wife did; I did not receive it. About a fortnight or a week after the election was over I got 1*l.* paid at Mr. Cattley's office. My missus drew it; I did not; you will see her name down, I expect.

59,255. You were a runner for the orange side?—I was; that is the truth; I do not deny it.

59,256. How much did you get from them?—I had 3*s.* 6*d.* a day, and I did run, you may depend upon it.

59,257. How came you not to vote for them?—I changed my mind; it appears that I was not properly satisfied, and in consequence of that I changed my mind, as I was for the other party before, and they took my freedom up; I thought it was my duty to vote for that party. I considered it such, that was the whole reason.

59,258. You expected to be paid 5*s.* a day, and you only got 3*s.* 6*d.*?—No; I do not know anything of the kind occupied my mind.

59,259. You were not satisfied with 3*s.* 6*d.* a day?—No; I do not know that I was not satisfied with 3*s.* 6*d.* a day. I do not know that occupied my mind at all.

59,260. Who assisted you in changing your mind?—There was nobody assisted me in changing my mind; it was a free will of my own.

59,261. How long was it before the election?—I left the orange party on the Saturday night, and went to the blue on the Monday morning; that was sharp work.

59,262. And got 5*s.* a day instead of 3*s.* 6*d.*?—I got a pound for the four days; that is all right, I do not deny it.

59,263. Did you go on the same night, the Saturday night, to the blues?—No; I did not go on Saturday night.

59,264. When did you go?—On the Monday morning.

59,265. Where to?—Turpin took my name down.

59,266. Had you done any stroke of business on the Sunday?—I do not know anything about his business.

59,267. Where did he take your name down?—He took my name down at my house.

59,268. He came to you?—Yes.

59,269. Did he ask you how much you had been getting?—No; he did not ask me anything of the kind.

59,270. What did he say, he knew you had been running for the other side?—He did.

59,271. And wanted you to come over to the blues?—He asked me decidedly for my vote, and I told him I would give it freely, and there was no more said, and I went there.

59,272. And I suppose he told you he would give you 5*s.* a day?—No; nothing of the kind, except that he would set my name down as a runner, and Mr. Cattley paid me at his office, at least he paid my missus, I meant to say, but it was all one.

59,273. Was this on the Sunday that he canvassed you?—No; it was on the Monday morning.

59,274. What o'clock of the day was it?—I do not know exactly what o'clock it was. I do not keep such things in my mind as regards that. It may have been ten o'clock. I do not know.

59,275. If you had not seen Turpin you would have gone back to the orange committee room?—I do not know how that would have been.

W. Etherington.

WILLIAM ETHERINGTON sworn, and examined.

59,276. Where do you live?—Lower Union Street.

59,277. What trade are you?—A seaman.

59,278. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,279. Do you pay any rent for a house?—Yes.

59,280. How much?—£4 10*s.*

59,281. When were you made a freeman?—In 1820.

W. Etherington.

25th July 1853.

59,282. Who took up your freedom?—I took it up myself.

59,283. When did you first vote at an election?—The first time when Mr. Hunt was here.

59,284. Now in 1841 did you vote for Hanmer and James?—No.

59,285. Clay and Thompson were the others; who for then?—I was not here. I was away.

59,286. In 1847 who did you vote for, that was Clay, Brown, and Baines?—Yes; I voted for Brown and Baines.

59,287. Did you get any money for your vote?—I got 5*s.* from Mr. Brown.

59,288. Afterwards?—No; I got it paid the day before,

59,289. Were you paid anything for Mr. Baines?—No, nothing.

59,290. In 1852, did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

59,291. Was your name set down?—Yes.

59,292. Where was that?—At Legitt's.

59,293. How much did you get?—34*s.* 6*d.*

59,294. Who paid you?—Legitt.

59,295. When?—At different times; I got it at three different times.

59,296. Where did he pay you?—At the committee room.

59,297. At the room that he was at?—Yes.

59,298. The Minerva Terrace?—Yes.

59,299. He paid you there?—Yes.

59,300. What was your name set down for?—For a messenger.

59,301. How long before the election?—Nine days.

59,302. What did you do?—I run errands to different places, to different committee rooms, anything they set me to do.

59,303. You understood that you were to vote for Moore and Butler; you said that you would?—I always did vote for that colour.

Charles Conyers.

CHARLES CONYERS sworn, and examined.

59,304. Where do you live?—In Scale Lane, Broad Entry.

59,305. What is your business?—Shipwright.

59,306. What rent do you pay for your house?—None at all. I do not keep one; I am not a householder, I am a lodger.

59,307. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,308. When did you take up your freedom?—In 1815.

59,309. At your own expense?—Yes.

59,310. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.

59,311. Who for?—Hanmer and James.

59,312. Did you get some money for your vote?—I got paid for running.

59,313. How much?—30*s.*

59,314. When was that paid you?—The week I did it; I got paid for a week.

59,315. Where were you paid?—I was paid in Queen Street, I think they call it.

59,316. In 1847?—I did not vote at all.

59,317. Why not?—Because I got drunk and could not vote.

59,318. Who made you drunk?—None of them; I got drunk myself.

59,319. Did you get any money to vote for Mr. Brown?—Yes; I got 10*s.*

59,320. They paid it you too soon?—Yes.

59,321. And you did not vote?—I could not, because I could not walk up there.

59,322. Now, in 1852, what did you do then?—I did not vote at all.

59,323. For the same reason?—No, I was badly; I was ill, I could not; I would tell you in a minute if I had been drunk.

59,324. I believe your name had been set down as a runner for Moore and Butler?—No; I never promised anybody at all.

59,325. Are you sure your name was not set down?—I will not say that it was not; two men came to me, Craig and Stones, and said they would set me down; I told them it was no use, I could not support them; I will not say they did not set me down.

59,326. Do you know a man of the name of Richard Groves?—No.

59,327. You do not know him?—No.

59,328. Did you show any man eight sovereigns?—I wish I could.

59,329. I do not mean to-day?—No; nor on any other day; I have not had eight sovereigns belonging to me these twenty years; bring any man before my face that will say I have.

59,330. At another election in 1837 I think you had eight sovereigns?—I have had nothing of the sort.

59,331. Do you remember the year of the great scrutiny?—Yes; I recollect 1837 very well.

59,332. When Wilberforce was returned and unseated at that time; Mr. Steeple is the man?—I never had any connexion with them; I know the man very well; I never had a farthing from George Steeple.

59,333. He paid a good many then?—He did not pay me, I am very sorry to say.

Charles Conyers.

25th July 1853.

59,334. Did you not get any money in 1852, from Moore and Butler?—No.

59,335. You said you were badly at the time?—I was badly, and it was not likely they would give me anything when I had not voted; I have not voted at two elections.

Benjamin Cooper.

BENJAMIN COOPER sworn, and examined.

59,336. Where do you live?—In Lime Street.

59,337. What is your business?—I keep a public house.

59,338. What rent do you pay?—£16 a year.

59,339. Are you a freeman?—No.

59,340. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.

59,341. Clay and Thompson and Hanmer and James stood?—Yes.

59,342. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Clay.

59,343. Did you get some money for that vote?—No.

59,344. No money at all?—No.; except for the room.

59,345. How much did you get?—£2.

59,346. For a committee room?—Yes.

59,347. One of those sort of rooms they have spoken of, that they paid 2*l.* a piece for?—No; only one.

59,348. The sham committee rooms?—Yes.

59,349. Now in 1847 who did you vote for, Clay, Baines, or Brown?—Brown and Clay.

59,350. Did you let a room that time?—No.

59,351. Did you get any money?—No, nothing.

59,352. How was it you did not manage about your room?—I did not get anything at all.

59,353. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore and Butler.

59,354. I believe they took your room at that time?—Yes.

59,355. How much did you get for that?—I got 2*l.*

59,356. Was it taken in the same way as it was in 1841?—Yes.

59,357. No committee ever met there?—No, there was not.

59,358. You had no list of the committee given to you?—No, I had not.

59,359. Who did you make the bargain with?—At the last election?

59,360. Yes?—With Mr. Oxtoby.

59,361. How much for?—£2.

59,362. Who paid you?—Well, I do not know who it was that paid me; there was a gentleman came about ten days after.

59,363. Steeple, perhaps?—I do not know, I am sure.

59,364. Do you know Steeple?—I do not know him.

James Close.

JAMES CLOSE sworn, and examined.

59,365. What is your business?—A publican.

59,366. Where do you live?—Witham.

59,367. What rent do you pay for a house?—£30 a year.

59,368. Are you a freeman?—No.

59,369. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—I cannot tell you, I am sure; I have voted this last fourteen years.

59,370. The candidates were Clay and Thompson and Hanmer and James?—I forget them; I cannot think of their names; I have not them down, and I cannot think of it.

59,371. According to the poll book, you voted: James Close, of Witham, is described as having voted for James and Hanmer in 1841: is that you?—Yes, very likely; I cannot contradict that.

59,372. Did you get any money at that time?—No; that I really did not, at no time, for that matter.

59,373. For any matter?—No.

59,374. We are told that you got something for a room last time?—That is a different concern to what you are talking about.

59,375. Did you get any in 1841?—No.

59,376. In 1841 you got nothing at all?—There was no room let that I know of.

59,377. What did you get in 1841 for the whole concern?—Well, I should think I had nothing to do with it.

59,378. Now, in 1847, you did not vote, I believe?—I cannot tell you.

59,379. 1852, the last election, you remember?—That I really can.

59,380. At the last election who did you vote for?—Bramley Moore, and Butler.

59,381. And they had your room?—They took a room.

59,382. Who took it?—Todd.

59,383. What Todd is that?—He was formerly the tax gatherer in Witham.

59,384. When did he take your room?—A few days before the election.

James Close.

25th July 1853.

59,385. Did any committee meet there?—None at all.
59,386. How much money did you get for it?—£2.
59,387. Who paid you that?—Steeple.
59,388. When?—Some six or seven days afterwards, something like that; I do not know exactly.
59,389. When they took your room, there was no list of any committee given you?—Todd took it, and Steeple paid for it.

Henry Clark.

HENRY CLARK sworn, and examined.

59,390. Where do you live?—Holderness Road.
59,391. What is your business?—A miller.
59,392. Do you pay rent for a house?—Yes.
59,393. How much?—£20 mill and house.
59,394. You are not a freeman?—No.
59,395. Did you vote at the election of 1841?—Yes.
59,396. Who did you vote for, Hanmer and James?—No; I believe I voted for Clay and Hanmer; I split my vote.
59,397. Did you get something from each of them for your vote?—No, nothing.
59,398. Not from either?—No.
59,399. Did you let them a room?—No.
59,400. Did you get any money at that election at all?—None at all.
59,401. Now, in 1847, who did you vote for, Clay, Brown, or Baines?—I did not vote at all.
59,402. How was that?—I was not on the register.
59,403. In 1852 who did you vote for, Moore and Butler?—Moore and Butler.
59,404. Where did you come from to vote?—I lived in the Holderness Road.
59,405. Not from Keyningham?—No; I have lived at Keyningham.
59,406. Did you do so at the time of the election?—No, I had left.
59,407. Where did you live at the time of the election?—In the Holderness Road.
59,408. Did you receive any money for your vote?—No.
59,409. Had you a room let?—No.
59,410. Did you get any expenses?—No.
59,411. Not for travelling, or anything?—Nothing; I got a glass of brandy after voting, that is all I got.

Dawson Cooper.

DAWSON COOPER sworn, and examined.

59,412. Where do you live?—High Street.
59,413. In Hull?—Yes.
59,414. What is your business?—A labourer.
59,415. What rent do you pay?—£10.
59,416. Are you a freeman?—No.
59,417. Which election did you vote at first, 1841?—The last was the first.
59,418. Were you registered before that; had you a right to vote before that election?—No, I had not.
59,419. Who did you vote for then?—Moore and Butler.
59,420. Do you recollect, on the day of the election, young Mr. Gresham calling on you?—I do not recollect anything about it.
59,421. Do you recollect anybody calling on you?—Yes; two or three did.
59,422. Did you tell some people that you had been promised some 2*l.* or 3*l.* by the blues?—Nothing of the kind.
59,423. Did you get any money for your vote?—Yes; I got 30*s.*
59,424. Was it paid before or after the election?—Before.
59,425. Who paid it?—Mr. Davis.
59,426. Where?—At the Falstaff.

James Christie.

JAMES CHRISTIE sworn, and examined.

59,427. Where do you live?—In the Charter House.
59,428. What is your business?—I am a seafaring man.
59,429. What rent do you pay for your house?—Nothing; I am in the Charter House.
59,430. Are you a freeman?—Yes.
59,431. When were you made free?—In 1803.
59,432. At your own expense?—Yes.
59,433. Did you vote at the election of 1841, Clay and Thompson, or Hanmer and James?—I think I voted for Hanmer and James. I generally voted for the blue side.

James Christie.

25th July 1853.

59,434. Did you get any money at that election for your vote?—I cannot say; I believe I got the same as the other people.

59,435. The other people got a sovereign, is that what you got?—That would be the sum.

59,436. In 1847 who did you vote for, Clay, Baines, or Brown?—For Baines and Brown.

59,437. And did you get some money for your vote then?—I received 10*s.*

59,438. Who for?—For Baines and Brown.

59,439. For both of them?—Yes.

59,440. Who paid you?—I was paid by a man who is dead now, his name was Peterson.

59,441. Where did he pay you?—In Wincolmlee, the day of the election.

59,442. What did he say the day he paid you?—I was put down as a runner. They were going to pay at nine o'clock, and I could not attend,—he happened to be at the place, and he said he would take it for me, and he never offered to give it me after he got it; but on the day of the polling he gave it me.

59,443. Who did he say it was for, Baines and Brown? What reason have you for saying that 10*s.* was for Baines and Brown?—I do not know that it was. I was put down as a messenger.

59,444. Where?—In Wincolmlee.

59,445. That is a large place; at what house in Wincolmlee?—I am sure I forget. Mr. Steeple's I think it was.

59,446. George Steeple set it down?—Yes, he did.

59,447. Now, at the last election, who did you vote for?—I voted for Bramley Moore and Butler.

59,448. You got 10*s.* did you not?—I had it paid to me ten days after. It was sent to me when I was at dinner; who it was from I do not know.

59,449. I ask you if you got it?—It was directed to me in a paper, and I had no occasion to ask anything about it.

59,450. That was a few days after the election?—Ten days after.

59,451. Did you not see the person who brought it?—A young woman brought it; she laid it down on the table; it was directed to me.

59,452. Were you not surprised at receiving 10*s.* from a young woman?—Certainly I was.

59,453. Did you not ask her to dinner, and what it was for?—She did not stop.

59,454. What did you say to her?—I did not say anything to her. I did not ask her who sent it.

59,455. What did she say to you?—I cannot tell you; my memory is bad.

59,456. You can recollect what she said?—She laid the paper down, and said it was a present.

59,457. Was it directed to you?—Yes.

59,458. And what was written inside the paper?—Nothing. On the outside of the paper, "James Christie, Charter House," and there was a half sovereign in it.

59,459. There are some more people in the Charter House?—Yes.

59,460. Did they get the same?—I do not know.

59,461. Did not the voters get some money?—I do not know there were any belonging to the blues in the Charter House but myself.

59,462. You do not suppose the young woman singled you out?—That I do not know. She came in; I did not ask her any questions; I thought it was a very good present.

59,463. Did she not go in to the other people at dinner there, and give them something?—Not that I know of.

59,464. Did you hear them say that they got any money?—I did not move out of my own room at the time.

59,465. I suppose you knew pretty well what it was for?—Yes.

59,466. What did you think it was for?—It might be for the election for what I know.

59,467. And it was; do you not think so?—Yes; most likely.

William Clark.

WILLIAM CLARK sworn, and examined.

59,468. Where do you live?—Hyperion Street, Drypool.

59,469. What is your business?—A labourer.

59,470. What rent do you pay?—£6.

59,471. Are you a freeman?—Yes, I am free born.

59,472. When were you made a freeman?—Just before the last election.

59,473. Was that the first election you voted at?—Yes.

59,474. Who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

59,475. Did you promise to vote for the orange party?—I did not punctually promise anybody.

William Clark.

25th July 1853.

59,476. Did you not say you would vote for them?—No; I did not particularly say I would vote for any one.

59,477. Never mind the particularity; did you tell the orange party that you would vote for them?—No; Mr. Eccles said he would set my name down, and I said he might do as he liked.

59,478. That was for the orange party?—Yes.

59,479. How long was that before the election?—I should think it would be a week nearly.

59,480. After that did the blue party come to you?—Yes; Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler all came.

59,481. All the blue party?—Yes.

59,482. What did they say to you?—They solicited me for my vote, and I did not say which side I would vote for.

59,483. Did you not afterwards promise to vote for the blue?—No.

59,484. You did vote for them?—I know I did.

59,485. You told us just now that you let the orange party set your name down?—I told them they could do as they liked. I did not give them any answer.

59,486. You voted for the blue?—Yes.

59,487. Did you get any money?—Yes; I got four days' running money. Mr. Bell told you this morning that he paid me.

59,488. You were one of those he mentioned?—Yes.

59,489. Was your name put down for four days?—Yes.

59,490. Where was that?—Todd put it down at Andrew Hare's, in Witham.

George Campbell.

GEORGE CAMPBELL sworn, and examined.

59,491. Where do you live?—Lower Union Street.

59,492. What is your business?—Sailor.

59,493. What rent do you pay?—£4. 4*s.* now.

59,494. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,495. Who made you free?—My servitude of seven years.

59,496. Did you take it up yourself?—Yes; in 1812, on the 3d day of October, I believe.

59,497. Now, in 1841, who did you vote for?—In 1841 I was at sea.

59,498. You did not then vote?—No.

59,499. In 1847 who did you vote for, Clay, Baines, or Brown?—I voted for Baines and Brown.

59,500. Did you get any money for your vote?—I got two days from Mr. Brown.

59,501. 10*s.*?—Yes.

59,502. Then at the election of 1852 you voted for the blue?—I voted for Bramley Moore and Butler.

59,503. And did you get 31*s.* 6*d.*?—No; I got twelve days' pay.

59,504. I want to know how much it was?—I was with Legitt.

59,505. Was it 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*?—No; I got altogether about 2*l.* 8*s.*, I think.

59,506. Were you at Legitt's all the time?—I was there all the time. I was in Dock Side Street—we opened a room there; I cleaned it out and put up a flag, and I stuck to him till it was all done.

59,507. You helped him a good deal?—I did all that there was for me to do.

59,508. You did all the work?—Not quite all.

59,509. A good deal of it?—Yes.

59,510. You did not request to have your name set down?—No; I had nothing to do with setting names down.

59,511. Did you bring in people?—No.

59,512. What did you do? Did you sit in the room?—No; I cleaned it out. I ran about all the time with papers.

59,513. You cleaned out the room?—Yes; the very first day I was there I did that job.

59,514. Legitt has told us that he employed some of his messengers in seeing what o'clock it was?—I dare say; it was no use sending me—I am very bad of sight.

59,515. Did you go and look after the ships?—No; when there were notes to take out I used to take them, and did anything they told me to do that was wanted.

59,516. How old are you?—Sixty-two.

John Moat.

JOHN MOAT sworn, and examined.

59,517. Where do you live?—No. 47, Aldbro' Street.

59,518. What is your business?—A shipwright.

59,519. Do you occupy a house there?—Yes.

John Moat.

25th July 1853.

59,520. What is the rent you pay?—£5 10*s.* I believe; I hardly know, for I never bother my head with the rent.

59,521. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,522. How long have you been a freeman?—In 1839 I took it up.

59,523. Which side took it up for you?—The orange side.

59,524. Who did you vote for in 1841? Did you vote for the orange candidates in consequence of that?—Yes.

59,525. Clay and Thompson?—Yes.

59,526. Did you get any money also?—Yes; I believe I did.

59,527. How much did you get for your vote?—I could not recollect now.

59,528. Was it 30*s.*?—Somewhere about that I believe.

59,529. In 1847 who did you vote for?—Nobody.

59,530. Were you away?—No.

59,531. Why did you not vote?—I was at home sick; they fetched me in a carriage, and when I got there they were having a little bit of a shy, and capsized me altogether.

59,532. Did you promise your vote?—Yes.

59,533. Who to?—To Mr. Brown.

59,534. You got 10*s.* I suppose?—Yes; I got half a sovereign that morning.

59,535. You meant to go and vote?—Yes.

59,536. The 10*s.* was for Brown?—Yes, I expect so. They sent for me in a carriage.

59,537. Who did you vote for last year, 1852?—Clay and Goderich.

59,538. Had you your name set down?—Yes.

59,539. Where was it set down in Saville Street?—Yes; Saville Street.

59,540. Did you expect to be paid for your vote after the election was over?—That was the promise.

59,541. Was 30*s.* the sum?—Yes; I believe it was.

Adjourned till to-morrow at ten o'clock.

FORTY-SECOND DAY.—Tuesday, July 26th, 1853.

WILLIAM HARTLEY sworn, and examined.

William Hartley.

26th July 1853.

59,542. What is your business?—A publican.

59,543. Where do you carry on business or live?—60, Spread Eagle, Market Place.

59,544. What rent do you pay, or are you rated at?—£92.

59,545. How long have you been a voter for the borough?—I have voted for two elections. I have been eleven years in Hull, that is all.

59,546. Are you a freeman?—No.

59,547. When did you come to Hull?—I came to Hull either in 1842 or 1843. I have only voted at two elections,—Clay and Brown's was the first.

59,548. You have been a voter eleven years?—Yes.

59,549. Did you vote in 1847?—Yes; I voted for Brown and Clay.

59,550. Were you on any committee?—No.

59,551. Did you receive any money for a committee room or otherwise?—No; nor had none.

59,552. Or receive any money in any way connected with the election of 1847?—No.

59,553. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Mr. Bramley Moore and Mr. Butler, and I never saw them. I did not come home till the night before.

59,554. Was there any agreement made about a committee room at your house?—No; there never was such a thing.

59,555. Were you paid for the use of any committee room?—No.

59,556. Was there no committee at your house?—No.

59,557. Do you not keep the Spread Eagle, in the Market Place?—Yes.

59,558. Did you get any money for a room?—No, I did not.

59,559. Had you a blue flag out of your window?—Yes.

59,560. How came that?—It was sent there, but how it came I do not know, because I was not at home until the morning it was put up.

59,561. Did you apply for it?—I did not.

59,562. Or your wife with your sanction?—I was not at home. I do not know how it was done, more than it was put up; I only came home the night before, and I had been ill for five weeks off.

59,563. Are you sure your wife did not receive any money for the use of the room?—Yes.

John Hines.

26th July 1853.

JOHN HINES sworn, and examined.

59,564. Where do you live?—Salthouse Court, Salthouse Lane.

59,565. Do you occupy a house there?—Yes.

59,566. At what rent?—£6.

59,567. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,568. How long have you been a freeman?—In 1818 I took my freedom up.

59,569. Before the Reform Act, did you use to receive your four guineas and two guineas for your vote?—Yes.

59,570. In 1841 who did you vote for?—I voted for James and Hanmer.

59,571. Did you get any money upon that occasion?—Yes; I got a sovereign.

59,572. After the election?—Yes.

59,573. Was that for both votes, or only for one?—I was set down as a runner.

59,574. For both?—Yes.

59,575. How long were you paid after the election?—I am sure I do not know; perhaps it might be a week or three or four days, I cannot exactly say.

59,576. Do you know who paid you?—I do not know, I am sure; I did not see the man that did pay me.

59,577. Were you paid through a hole in a door, or through a window, or how?—He was in another room and it was paid through a window.

59,578. Where was that?—In High Street, where I got paid.

59,579. At Bink's?—It was a painter's shop.

59,580, In 1847 who did you vote for?—I polled for Brown.

59,581. Only?—Brown only.

59,582. Did you get paid for your vote then?—I got 15*s.*

59,583. Before or after the election?—Before I voted.

59,584. Paid by Mr. Mitchell?—I got 10*s.* in the Market Place, and 5*s.* against the Paragon Inn; but I am sure I do not know the street nor the house.

59,585. In 1852 you voted for Moore and Butler?—I voted for Bramley Moore and Butler.

59,586. How much did you get for your vote then?—I got a sovereign.

59,587. Paid after the election?—Yes.

59,588. Who paid you?—Mr. Pulleyn.

Robert Brown.

ROBERT BROWN sworn, and examined.

59,589. Where do you live?—No. 7, West Street, Hull.

59,590. What is your business?—Master of a vessel.

59,591. Do you occupy a house?—Yes.

59,592. At what rent?—£18.

59,593. Are you also a freeman?—No.

59,594. How long have you been a voter as a householder?—I only voted this last election.

59,595. How long have you been entitled to vote?—I have lived in Hull ever since 1848.

59,596. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

59,597. Did you receive any money on that occasion?—Yes.

59,598. How much?—£2.

59,599. Was it for both votes?—That is all I got.

59,600. For both votes, or was it for one more than the other?—No; I only received 2*l.*

59,601. Where did you get it?—I got it at the committee room in North Myton.

59,602. Who paid it?—The clerk, Mr. Steeple.

59,603. That was young Steeple?—Yes; young Steeple.

59,604. Were you employed at all?—I was on the committee.

59,605. What, did you canvass?—Yes.

59,606. Nothing else?—No, nothing else.

59,607. On Moore and Butler's committee?—Yes.

59,608. Sat at the table most of the day?—No; I was running about most of the day, and part of the night.

59,609. Do you know John Jarratt?—Yes.

59,610. Did you offer him some money to vote for the blues?—No.

59,611. It is said that you offered John Jarratt some money to vote for the blues, 7*s.* 6*d.* a day. Just remember upon your oath whether you did or not?—Upon my oath I was never empowered so to do, and I am sure I did not do it.

59,612. Did you speak to him on the subject?—I did.

59,613. What did you say to him?—I do not know. I canvassed, and of course I should try and get them to vote for the blues if I could, but not to make them any offer of money. I am sure I never did, because I was never empowered.

Robert Brown.

26th July 1853.

59,614. Did you try and get him to have his name set down?—I am sure I do not know; I think I did.

59,615. How many days?—I did not offer him any stated time; and also to get his son on, he wanted, but I said I could not do it.

59,616. Where did you say you would get his name set down?—At our committee room.

59,617. Did he say he would not allow it?—Of course. I used to call on him now and then, but the result was I found he had got a committee room in his own house.

59,618. For which party?—For the orange party.

59,619. And then you left him?—Yes; and then I left him.

59,620. Did you say you would make it better worth his while to come over to the blues?—I do not know that I did. I might have said so; I would not say that I did, or I would not say that I did not.

59,621. Were you at some treat at the Blue Bell in Prospect Street?—Yes; I was at that house; I was not at any eating. All the treat was, I was drinking and taking a glass of grog.

59,622. I did not say anything about eating?—If that was a treat, I was there.

69,623. Did you pay for it?—Yes.

59,624. Were there some blue voters there?—Yes; I dare say there were, and some orange too.

59,625. When was it?—It was a week before the election, I should say.

59,626. How much did you pay?—I could not say how much I paid. I paid it out of my own pocket.

Richard Foster.

RICHARD FOSTER sworn, and examined.

59,627. What is your business?—A licensed victualler.

59,628. Where in this borough do you carry on business?—In Witham.

59,629. What rent do you pay?—£29.

59,630. How long have you been entitled to vote?—I have been there ever since 1844.

59,631. Are you a freeman?—No.

59,632. Who did you vote for in 1847?—I cannot remember; I believe it was Clay alone.

59,633. Did you get any money on that occasion?—No.

59,634. Or let a room?—No.

59,635. I mean any money in any way connected with the election?—Not any.

59,636. Were you on any committee?—No.

59,637. Did you canvass?—No.

59,638. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

59,639. This time, I believe, you made an agreement about a room?—Yes.

59,640. Tell us how that was?—I got 2*l.* 2*s.* for a room.

59,641. And the vote was thrown in as part of the bargain?—Yes.

59,642. Where was it paid?—At my own house.

59,643. Who by?—Mr. Steeple, the elder one.

59,644. I believe you also had a bill for refreshments supplied to voters?—Yes.

59,645. How much was it?—I am sure I do not know; but I think it was 1*l.* 15*s.*

59,646. By whose authority did you treat the voters?—I believe Mr. Field was one.

59,647. What is Mr. Field?—Mr. Richard Field?

59,648. What did he do; did he tell you to supply all who came?—No.

59,649. What did he do?—He told me to supply all the country voters.

59,650. Where does Mr. Field live?—He lives on the Holderness Road.

59,651. Which country voters?—The Hedon and Southcoates voters in the Holderness Road.

59,652. Then you supplied them with 1*l.* 15*s.* worth?—Yes.

59,653. Anything more?—No.

59,654. Who did you send the bill in to?—I got paid with the other. Mr. Steeple paid it.

59,655. How many did you supply?—I am sure I cannot tell.

59,656. I do not ask exactly?—I should say fifty or sixty.

59,657. What did they have?—Some got a threepennyworth, and some a fourpennyworth.

59,658. Was it principally drink?—Yes; they were ordered some bread and cheese too.

59,659. On the election day?—Yes.

59,660. In the morning or evening?—In the morning.

59,661. Before they went to vote or after?—Before they went to vote.

William Firth.

26th July 1853.

WILLIAM FIRTH sworn, and examined.

59,662. Where do you live?—68, Spencer Street.

59,663. What rent do you pay?—£7.

59,664. What business are you?—A painter.

59,665. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,666. How long?—I took my freedom up just before Hanmer's election.

59,667. In 1839?—Yes.

59,668. The blues took it up for you?—No; I took it up on my own account.

59,669. Who did you vote for?—I did not vote at Hanmer's election. I had not passed the barrister.

59,670. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Brown.

59,671. Only?—Only Brown.

59,672. What did you get on that occasion for your vote?—A sovereign.

59,673. Who by?—I do not know the party.

59,674. Where?—It was paid in Wincolmlee.

59,675. Before or after you voted?—After.

59,676. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Moore and Butler.

59,677. How much did you get then for your vote?—30*s.*

59,678. Before or after you voted?—All after.

59,679. Who paid you?—I do not know who gave me 10*s.* I was paid 10*s.* on the Saturday night, but I do not know the party that paid it. Mr. Steeple paid the other.

59,680. Where at?—It was at the committee room I was paid the 10*s.*

59,681. And 20*s.* afterwards by Mr. Steeple?—Yes.

59,682. Which committee room was it you were paid the 10*s.* at, on the Saturday?—The committee room in North Myton.

William Frost.

WILLIAM FROST sworn, and examined.

59,683. Where do you live?—Jenning Street Groves.

59,684. Do you occupy a house there?—Yes.

59,685. At what rent?—£11.

59,686. Are you registered as a householder?—Yes.

59,687. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder?—Perhaps two years, rather more.

59,688. Are you also a freeman?—No.

59,689. 1852 is the first time you voted?—Yes.

59,690. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Bramley Moore and Butler.

59,691. Did you receive money for your vote then?—No.

59,692. Are you sure you did not receive any money?—Yes.

59,693. Do you know a gentleman of the name of Ward in this town?—Yes.

59,694. Did you not have any money from him?—No.

59,695. Do you know who I mean?—Yes. I never got any money from any one.

59,696. What conversation did you have with Mr. Ward?—None, that I recollect. I do not know that I had any; nothing respecting the vote at all.

59,697. Or employment?—No.

59,698. Did he not say anything to you about having your name set down?—No.

59,699. Did you work for Mr. Ward?—Yes.

59,700. Did he speak to you often about your vote?—No.

59,701. How often do you think he spoke to you about your vote?—I do not know that he ever mentioned it. I did not say that he ever mentioned it.

59,702. I do not mean Mr. Ward, the chairman of the committee; I mean another Mr. Ward?—I know who you mean.

59,703. A person you work for?—Yes; I do not work for the other.

59,704. In what capacity do you work for Mr. Ward?—I work for him in my business, and part of the day I hold a situation in the church.

59,705. What business are you?—Plumber and glazier.

59,706. Did he promise you any advantage?—No.

59,707. Or said that it would be better for you to vote for Moore and Butler?—No, he never said anything.

W. R. Goddard.

WILLIAM ROGER GODDARD sworn, and examined.

59,708. What business do you carry on?—A stationer.

59,709. Do you occupy a house?—The shop; I do not occupy the house myself.

59,710. What rent do you pay, or what are you rated at?—I do not know what we are rated at; we pay about 120*l.* a year altogether.

59,711. Rent?—Yes.

59,712. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder?—Since the Reform Bill.

59,713. Are you also a freeman?—No.

59,714. Who did you vote for in 1841?—Hanmer and James.

59,715. Did you sell any stationery on that occasion to the committee, or derive any other advantage?—Yes, printing and stationery.

59,716. In 1841?—Yes.

59,717. Do you remember what the amount of your bill was?—Upon my word I do not know, but I think about 70*l.* or 80*l.* I should think so, judging from elections since, and previous elections.

59,718. Judging from your memory only can you tell?—No, I really cannot. I could not refer, the books are not in my hands now.

59,719. Were you a member of any committee?—Yes, I was either chairman or deputy-chairman of the Lowgate ward committee, but I really do no know which it was.

59,720. Were there many runners set down at your committee?—A great many.

59,721. And paid?—And paid.

59,722. Have you any idea how many?—No, I have not. I did not manage that part of the business at all. I was generally out canvassing.

59,723. Who did?—Mr. Stafford. I was chairman, he was deputy chairman of that committee; that is, as to putting the names down. He did not manage the paying.

59,724. The setting down?—Yes.

59,725. You are speaking, of course, of your own knowledge?—Yes.

59,726. Who is Mr. Stafford?—He was the editor then of the "Hull Packet." He is now, I believe, the editor of a Norwich paper.

59,727. Who paid them?—I should say Freebody paid the principal part of them.

59,728. What was the sytem adopted in setting down; did you set down every applicant?—No; we set down the applicants connected with the ward.

59,729. I mean every applicant in the ward?—Yes, every applicant that applied.

59,730. And then paid them all after they voted, on ascertaining they voted James and Hanmer?—Yes, that is about the system.

59,731. Very much the same as was usually adopted?—Yes.

59,732. Was there any list kept of them?—Mr. Stafford would keep the list.

59,733. What is the number about that were set down at your ward?—I really have no recollection. I did not set them down myself.

59,734. It has been stated at sixty; should you say 100?—No, I should think not a hundred, but I should think considerably above fifty. I can only speak from recollection.

59,735. How much were they paid?—I believe they were paid 1*l.*, but I cannot speak from my own knowledge.

59,736. Who were the other more active men on your committee?—I think Mr. Binks was one, and Mr. Freebody.

59,737. That is Binks the painter?—Yes; or his father. If his father was alive it would he his father, but it is so long I cannot say.

59,738. Where did Freebody pay?—He paid in his own house. I believe it was his house where the committee was, not Binks's.

59,739. You know the money was paid at Binks's on that occasion?—I do not; I only know from hearsay that money was paid at Freebody's, but that was to be the arrangement that money was to be paid there.

59,740. Who was the clerk of your ward?—As far as I can recollect we had none but Freebody, he was a sort of general manager.

59,741. He was the factotum?—Yes; he did every thing, from running of errands to making up the books, I believe.

59,742. What ultimately became of the books?—I do not know. I have not the slightest idea.

59,743. Mr. Stafford wound up the thing?—Yes.

59,744. In conjunction with Freebody?—Yes.

59,745. Do you know what became of the books?—I do not. I have not the slightest recollection.

59,746. What lawyers had you?—Mr. Cracknell.

59,747. Who else?—I do not recollect who the others were that took an active part. I believe Mr. Frost had something to do with it.

59,748. Wr. Wells?—No; I do not think Mr. Wells had.

59,749. Mr. Sidebottom?—Really, I do not recollect.

59,750. You do not remember?—I do not recollect now. I think not.

59,751. Did the candidates come to your committee room occasionally?—No, I never saw them there. They might have come, but I never saw them.

59,752. In 1847, I believe, you voted for Mr. Brown?—Yes.

59,753. Brown only?—Brown only.

59,754. Were you also a member of the committee then?—I was deputy-chairman.

59,755. In the same ward?—Yes, in the same ward, in a different situation.

59,756. And cashier also?—No.

59,757. Had you nothing to do with the cash?—I had nothing to do with the cash, it all went through Mr. Stephenson's hands. I paid 10*s.* to a man; at least he says so—

W. R. Goddard.

26th July 1853.

I have no recollection of it—and I gave 20*s.* to a doorkeeper. That is all the money I paid.

59,758. Do you mean in your ward?—Yes.

59,759. Was Mr. Stephenson chairman?—Yes, Mr. Stephenson was chairman.

59,760. And the cash passed through your hands?—The cash was paid by him, as far as I know.

59,761. Where were the payments made?—I believe they were made at the committee room in Bishop Lane.

59,762. I suppose you were aware of what was going on?—No doubt.

59,763. Mr. Stephenson has told us he paid seventy or eighty with his own hand. You consider that the case?—No doubt.

59,764. Did you pay any voters that split with Baines yourself?—No, I only paid two men. The one I had forgotten until he said it, and I really have not much recollection now.

59,765. Do you recollect his name?—He is a bookbinder, Screeton. It appears he says I gave him 10*s.* in Witham. I have no recollection of it at all, but it is very likely I may have done it.

59,766. You mean to say your memory is a blank on it?—Yes; I do not recollect it. If I did, I did it out of my own pocket. I have not the slightest recollection.

59,767. You do not undertake to say it did not occur, but merely that you do not recollect it?—Yes.

59,768. Who was the doorkeeper?—A man of the name of Farnell, I think, in High Street; in fact, there were two doorkeepers. There was another man of the mame of Cherry, who was not a voter, and him I paid.

59,769. Mr. Farnell was a voter?—Yes.

59,770. Does he live in High Street now?—I believe he does.

59,771. In 1852 you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

59,772. Were you a member of any committee?—No.

59,773. Had you anything to do with any of the payments then?—No; I took no part in it at all. I never interfered in any shape or way.

59,774. Did you canvass or get any names set down?—No; I never asked for a vote.

59,775. Do you know anything about any money having arrived in Hull too late?—No, I do not.

59,776. Did you hear that some money arrived for the blue cause, and came rather too late?—No, I did not hear that. A gentleman told me in passing through the passages. I made a joking observation—"You have not money enough to win the election." He said—"Oh, yes, we have;" and he certainly took a bag out of his pocket. "We have plenty of money, but I would not make use of it."

59,777. Who was that gentleman?—Mr. Bamford, junior.

59,778. I understand Mr. Stephenson said he paid a good many of these voters in 1847?—I do not know, I am sure. I do not know anything at all about that. I do not know what arrangement was made about the paying.

59,779. You said you believed he paid?—I believe he paid.

59,780. It is also said, in addition to those payments, or separate from them, you paid those who voted plumpers at that election of Mr. Brown's?—I have not the slightest recollection of having paid any one but those I have mentioned.

59,781. Plumpers, and those that split with Baines, it is said, you paid; do you remember that?—I did not pay them.

59,782. You did not?—No; I have no recollection of having paid a soul but those I am speaking of.

59,783. I merely want to draw your attention to that?—I believe it was the arrangement that they should be paid.

59,784. But you did not pay them yourself?—No; I have no recollection of having paid any one only those two particular persons who I named I have paid.

59,785. You had a bill last time?—Yes.

59,786. For stationery?—Yes; and for printing.

59,787. About 80*l.* or 90*l.*?—Under 60*l.* it was.

59,788. Had the custom that was given you any influence on your vote?—Certainly not.

59,789. Are you a printer also?—Yes.

59,790. Did you consider, generally, in the town, the money given to the printers had any influence on their votes?—I cannot conceive that it had.

59,791. Do you consider an election might be carried on without a good deal of that printing expense?—No; I do not think it could, because I think it is absolutely necessary for the working of the election that there should be printing.

59,792. All the printing that is charged for?—I should think the printing on Butler and Moore's side did not amount to 400*l.*, as far as I could make out.

59,793. Do you think, for a pure election in Hull, it would be necessary for Moore and Butler to expend 400*l.* in printing?—I think, for a pure election, you must have double the amount of printing. If they do not have cards they pull you to pieces as canvassers.

59,794. You think if it was a pure election there would be a deal more printing?—Yes, certainly, there would be nothing else but printing.

59,795. Do you not think the lavish expenditure, though it has no influence on the voters or on the parties who it is spent with, that it has corruption in this way, that it induces the people who are open to be influenced by pecuniary motives, to believe that there is a large sum of money afloat for such a purpose as that? In that way, does it not operate very injuriously on the morality of the men?—Yes, it does, no doubt.

59,796. There cannot be a doubt about it, that though it has no direct influence, that indirectly it induces them to believe there is a great deal of money in circulation?—Yes; it has a great influence.

59,797. Do you think a large outlay at your own shop, would at all increase your exertions for the party that employed you?—I do not think anybody would employ me that way.

59,798. What answer do you give to that?—It certainly would not make any difference to my vote.

59,799. Would it make any difference in your exertions for the party who paid your bill?—No.

59,800. You would canvass just as much for them, whether there was a shilling spent at your shop or 200*l.*?—As I have given up canvassing or electioneering altogether, I should not canvass for any one.

59,801. I am not speaking of your giving it up?—I have not taken it up with a spirit of that sort.

59,802. Nobody has imputed that you voted for money, but I ask you whether that fact, of having a bill for that amount at your shop, would make you at all active for those who are to pay it?—I do not think it would make any difference; I have yet to be tried.

59,803. Are you aware that the money spent at the last election amounted to very nearly 8,000*l.*?—I have no knowledge at all of the expenditure, except by report.

59,804. Taking that to be so, do you think it was absolutely necessary to spend that sum?—No.

59,805. What, in your judgment, was the object with which it was spent?—No doubt, for the purpose of gaining the election.

59,806. In what way?—By buying the voters.

59,807. A very small portion of that was expended in buying the voters?—I have no knowledge of any other expenditure. There is 500*l.* or 600*l.* to lawyers on both sides; that may be necessary or unnecessary.

59,808. There is 1,000*l.* to lawyers, 1,000*l.* to printers, and a very large sum to drapers, and all those sums are not paid to one person in the trade, but are divided as much as possible. As you have been asked those questions, let me ask you what is the object of those who spend such large sums of money in dividing it among so many people?—In printing, no one office could do the work.

59,809. Do not confine it to printing, but generally. What is the motive of spending money, and spending it that way, by division?—I should say the motive is to get voters.

59,810. Do you consider yourself competent to form an opinion on tradesmen, other than printers?—No, I do not.

ROBERT MIDDLEMISS recalled, and examined.

59,811. Have you considered the questions we put to you?—I have.

59,812. What answer do you make?—Acting on the suggestion thrown out by you, I consulted a professional friend of Mr. Sidebottom's, who I may also say is an old employer of my own, and a gentleman who I may say, in the early period of Mr. Sidebottom's illness, had kindly offered in any emergency to serve Mr. Sidebottom, in consequence of which, Mr. Sidebottom requested in any emergency I would consult that individual. I saw that person. I may say it is Mr. Thorney, a solicitor, in this town. I mentioned to him what had taken place here, and he said he would consider the matter over. He did so, and the consequence was, he thought fit to risk an interview with Mr. Sidebottom. He has seen me, and he has requested me to say that to-morrow he will wait on you, and state what he has done; he would have come to-day, but he has been obliged to leave the town on business this morning.

ARCHIBALD GREAVES sworn, and examined.

59,813. Where do you live?—In King's Place, Dock Street.

59,814. What is your business?—A ropemaker.

59,815. What rent do you pay?—I am only a lodger, not a householder.

59,816. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,817. How long have you been a freeman?—I should think well on to fifty years.

A. Greaves.
26th July 1853.

59,818. Before the Reform Act, used you to receive four guineas and two guineas a vote?—Yes; it was quite common.

59,819. Who did you vote for in the year 1841?—For Hanmer and James.

59,820. Did you get any money for your vote then?—Yes.

59,821. How much?—I think, to the best of my recollection, 1*l.*

59,822. Where?—I received it in a house in the Pottery; there were a great many getting paid at the same place.

59,823. Before or after you voted?—After.

59,824. Who paid it?—I do not know.

59,825. Was it put through a hole in a window, or door?—No.

59,826. How were you paid?—We went in at the door and received the money.

59,827. Could you see the person who paid it?—Yes; I could see him, but I did not know the person; he was an utter stranger to me.

59,828. What house was it in the Pottery?—I do not know the number.

59,829. Who did it belong to?—I do not know.

59,830. Was it a committee room?—No; it was not a committee room.

59,831. How came you to go there?—I was told they were going to pay the money there.

59,832. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I was single for Brown.

59,833. How much did you receive for that vote?—I received 15*s.*

59,834. Was that paid at Dr. Twining's?—No; I had been in the habit of shifting about for convenience in my lodgings, and I was out of that district where I was down for; I did not know where to go to, and they told me to go to Mr. Brown's committee room as I was inclined that way; it was in Holderness ward; I think Noah's Ark.

59,835. Who paid you there?—I do not know the person that paid.

59,836. Was is after you voted or before?—Before.

59,837. In 1852 who did you vote for?—Moore and Butler.

59,838. How much did you get for your vote then?—I received altogether 2*l.* 7*s.*

59,839. Did you get paid at Legitt's?—No.

59,840. Where was it?—I got two payments; I got paid in the committee room in Worship Street.

59,841. How much there?—Seventeen shillings.

59,842. Was that before or after you voted?—That was after; that was for four days' running.

59,843. Where did you get paid the rest?—At Worship Street; at the committee.

59,844. What were you paid before you voted?—As I was out of the district again, a friend of mine said he would give my name in at the South Myton ward where I resided before, and accordingly he told me he had been at one, and they were going to take more committee rooms, and I was to be employed as a doorkeeper or a close runner. I lost a great deal of work by looking after it, and I complained about it, and through his medium I received 30*s.* for my lost work; that was the first commencement of the election.

59,845. Who paid the 30*s.*?—A friend of mine.

59,846. What is his name?—He is a freeman; a poor man like myself, that had given it in, of the name of Windass.

59,847. Do you know who he got it from?—No; I cannot say who he got it from exactly.

59,848. What is the meaning of a close runner?—A close runner is one that is entirely running at the committee's command.

59,849. It does not mean a man who stands still?—No.

59,850. Is that Windass of Providence Place?—Yes.

59,851. Did you hear him say how much he got himself?—No, I did not.

George Huntley.

GEORGE HUNTLEY sworn, and examined.

59,852. What is your business?—A saddler and harnessmaker.

59,853. What rent do you pay?—£15 I am rated at.

59,854. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder?—I am sure I cannot tell exactly; I think I voted at Carruthers' election.

59,855. Twenty years back?—Yes.

59,856. Are you also a freeman?—No; only a householder.

59,857. Are you a member of the town council?—I was.

59,858. Did you take any interest in the election of 1841?—Yes.

59,859. Were you a member of any committee?—Yes.

59,860. How did you vote?—Sir John Hanmer and Sir Walter James.

59,861. Which committee were you a member of?—The Holderness ward committee.

59,862. In that committee were there a great number of names set down, as it is called, as runners?—I am sure I cannot tell you the number. I am not aware that I put one on myself.

59,863. You were present, and knew that the system was carried on the same as we have heard this morning?—I am sure I could not tell the number, nor have I the least idea.

59,864. You know that some were set down?—I know one or two were,—runners.

59,865. Who were they?—One was a man of the name of Peacock.

59,866. Do you know what his Christian name is?—I think Benjamin Peacock.

59,867. Where does he live?—He lives in the Groves.

59,868. And who else?—I am sure I cannot think of any; there was another in Drypool, I forget his name now.

59,869. Were there a great number of names set down in order to be paid after the election was over?—I am not aware of any.

59,870. You were not aware of any names being set down?—No; but I have no doubt there would be people paid after the election.

59,871. Did you at the time know that they were setting down?—I have no doubt they would be set down as runners.

59,872. Did you at that time know that they were setting down names at your committee; while the election was going on, did you know it?—I believe they were; I should think so.

59,873. In 1841, when you were on the committee, did you know it then; did you yourself know they were setting names down?—I am sure I do not know as regards myself setting any one down.

59,874. Did you know that the people upon your committee were setting names down?—I am sure I can hardly say.

59,875. Do you mean that you do not remember it?—I do not remember it, or I should be very happy to explain it.

59,876. Your answer is liable to two explanations: either that it did not take place, or that you have forgotten it; which is it that you mean to say?—If I knew about it I would tell you.

59,877. Your answer is liable to two interpretations, and I want to know which is the correct one; it may mean either to say that it did not take place, or that you have forgotten it; do you mean to say that you do not remember one way or the other whether it did take place?—I do not remember any one being put on as a runner but what I have told you.

59,878. You know a good many men were paid after the election?—I have no doubt of it, but I am not personally aware of it.

59,879. Did you pay any yourself?—Not any.

59,880. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

59,881. That you never paid any voters at all?—I never paid a voter in my life that I am aware of; if I had, I should be very ready to inform you.

59,882. On canvassing, did you ever pay any money?—No.

59,883. It has been suggested to us to put a question to you: whether you did on a former election pay half a crown to a good many voters when canvassing?—I am not aware of it.

59,884. Leaving it at their houses,—persons who promised?—I am not aware I left any money for them to vote.

59,885. Did you leave any money at all with the voters?—I would not say I have not in some houses, where I have seen a distressed family, left half a crown; but I would not swear on that that I did; it is not at all impossible.

59,886. The persons whom you canvassed?—You see a very great deal of distress as you go canvassing.

59,887. We do not mean the common cases of charity?—I am not aware that I have; I do not remember. If you tell the names, it may bring it to my mind.

59,888. Either in 1841, or 1847?—Is that in Mr. Baines' time?

59,889. Yes.—I never canvassed.

59,890. Then 1841 is the time particularly alluded to: Hanmer and James's time?—I do not remember that I ever did; and if I ever did, I should be very ready to tell you.

59,891. It is said that you went round and left half a crown at the house of every man who promised your side?—That is perfectly false.

59,892. A good many of them?—I do not remember it at all.

59,893. You would remember it if you had done it?—If it had been as you say, I should remember it; but I do not.

59,894. In 1847 who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.

59,895. Or take any interest in the election?—Nor take any interest in it.

59,896. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Moore and Butler.

59,897. Were you a member of any committee last year?—I was put down as one, but I never attended one committee room.

59,898. Did you take any part in the election at all?—Yes, so far that I have personally canvassed a few.

59,899. What did you do with the doubtful people when they refused to promise?—I never took a regular canvass in the ward.

59,900. You canvassed merely in your own neighbourhood?—Here and there.

59,901. Did you report the result of your canvass to the committee?—No.

59,902. Did you have any book at all?—Not any.

George Huntley.
26th July 1853.

59,903. How did you know the result of your own canvass?—I was not aware that I said I did.

59,904. You did not know it; you canvassed without knowing what people would do?—I had no book to canvass; I only canvassed just here and there.

59,905. I will put the question broadly: did you pay yourself, or were you cognizant of the payment of any voters at that or any former election since 1837?—Not being there myself, I am not. I only know by what I have heard.

59,906. Were you cognizant of the practice at the last election of setting down names as runners?—I believe they were very cautious, as far as I have heard.

59,907. Were you cognizant of what was done?—No.

59,908. You never heard of Mr. Wells' plan, for instance, of employing 400 and upwards?—Never before I was here in Court.

59,909. Did any of the people whom you canvassed ask for employment?—No.

59,910. Or to have their names down?—No; I never put one name down, nor yet got any one put down.

59,911. Did you obtain employment for any of the voters?—No.

59,912. Do you know Mr. George Huntley, who lives at Witham?—Yes; I am him.

59,913. Nobody besides yourself?—No.

59,914. We have been told you are a paying man at all elections?—You have been told wrong.

59,915. You deny it altogether?—Yes; I deny it altogether.

59,916. That you never have paid or given any money?—I have never paid or given any money as you have represented.

59,917. You could not forget, if you gave money to make payments?—If you will tell me any one name, I can bring it to mind and soon tell you if I had or not.

59,918. You are quite sure that is so?—As far as I can remember.

59,919. Cannot you speak a little more positively one way or the other than that?—I am afraid to say it wrong, and I cannot speak positively. If any one will come forward and say I have paid them, I should be very happy to have him here.

59,920. You know Mr. Charles Hammond?—Yes.

59,921. He was very active in 1841, was he not?—Yes, very active.

59,922. He was a gentleman who, we are told, was very active in making payments in 1841; he paid a large number of voters we hear?—I never saw him pay one.

59,923. You did not assist him, or were present?—Oh dear no.

59,924. It is said you helped him?—There are many things said that are false.

John Johnson.

JOHN JOHNSON sworn, and examined.

59,925. Where do you live?—In Witham.

59,926. What is your business?—Ship carpenter.

59,927. What rent do you pay?—I am a lodger.

59,928. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

59,929. How long have you been free?—Since 1849.

59,930. Who did you vote for in 1852?—Moore and Butler.

59,931. Who took your freedom up for you?—I took it up myself.

59,932. Was it ever paid to you back?—No.

59,933. This was the first election you voted at, I believe?—Yes.

59,934. Were you at Grimsby at the time of the last election?—Yes.

59,935. Did you get 30*s.*?—No.

59,936. How much was it for coming from Grimsby to vote?—I came on the Sunday before the election.

59,937. How much did you get?—I got 15*s.* after the election; that was all I got.

59,938. How much did you get before?—Nothing.

59,939. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

59,940. Did you come at your own expense?—Yes.

59,941. Who sent for you?—There was no one sent for me.

59,942. You came on your own business on the Sunday?—That is very often.

59,943. Did you vote for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

59,944. And was it on that account they paid you the 15*s.*?—I suppose they put me down for three days as a runner.

59,945. Where was your name put down?—Holderness New Inn.

59,946. After you came from Grimsby, did you go to any of the committee rooms? How came your name set down?—I went there, I think, on the Tuesday.

59,947. To the Holderness New Inn did you go?—Yes.

59,948. Who set it down for you?—Mr. Todd I believe it was.

59,949. You came over, I suppose, on your own business, and then took the opportunity of being set down as a runner?—Yes.

59,950. Were you not also set down at the Market Place?—No.

59,951. Were you not set down somewhere else besides Holderness?—No.

John Johnson.

26th July 1853.

59,952. Your name is returned in the Market Place list to us of the runners of the Market Place committee: how is that ?—I am not aware of it ; I never was set down that I know of.

59,953. Are you sure you were not paid there ?—No, I wac not paid there.

59,954. Were there a number of you came together from Grimsby ?—No ; I came by myself.

59,955. Who paid you the 15*s*. ?—Mr. Harris.

59,956. What Mr. Harris ?—A spirit merchant, used to be, I expect.

59,957. Of where ?—His office was in Salthouse Lane then.

59,958. Where does he live now, do you know ?—I do not know where he lives now ; he is out of the town now.

59,959. Do you know anything of the other voters that came from Grimsby ?—No ; I know there were some came the morning of the election.

59,960. Came for the blue side ?—Yes ; there were some came on the election day, I believe.

59,961. Do you know them ? what are their names ?—Yes, I know one or two of them.

59,962. What are their names ?—One they call Henry Thistleton, and one John Robinson.

59,963. Who else ?—No one else that I know of; I came over myself.

59,964. You said you came from Grimsby on the Sunday ?—Yes.

59,965. Did you stay in Hull till after the election, or did you go back again ?—I stayed until after the election was over.

59,966. And you did not come over with these men to vote on the polling day ?—No.

59,967. And never went back until afterwards ?—No ; I never went back until the day after the election.

James Marshall.

James Marshall sworn, and examined.

59,968. What is your business ?—A blacksmith.

59,969. Where ?—In Trinity House Lane.

59,970. What rent do you pay ?—I do not pay any rent at present ; it is my own property.

59,971. What are you rated at ?—£18.

59,972. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder ?—I have been there twenty-three years the 3d of last July.

59,973. Are you also a freeman of this borough ?—No.

59,974. Did you vote at the election of 1841 ?—Yes.

59,975. Who did you vote for ?—I voted for the orange party right away, and for the blues the last time.

59,976. Did you vote for Clay and Thompson in 1841 ?—Yes.

59,977. Did you get anything then ?—No.

59,978. In 1847 who did you vote for ?—I am sure I could not say who it was. It was the orange party. I voted for Mr. Clay.

59,979. James Marshall, of Trinity House Lane, voted for Clay and Baines ; is that you ?—Yes.

59,980. Did you get anything for your vote then ?—No.

59,981. In 1852 I believe you voted the other way, for Moore and Butler ?—Yes.

59,982. How came that to occur ?—I do not know how it came to occur, I got nothing for voting for them.

59,983. Do you know Mr. Barkworth ?—Yes, I do.

59,984. Did you have an interview with Mr. Barkworth about your vote ?—No.

59,985. Did he not speak to you about your vote ?—I knew nothing at all about him any further than working for him.

59,986. You work for Mr. Barkworth ?—Yes.

59,987. Did his foreman say something to you ?—No.

59,988. Tell me in your own way, without putting too many questions to you, how you came to vote for the blues ?—I expected I was at liberty to do just as I thought proper to vote.

59,989. I want to know how you were influenced to vote for the blues ?—I was not influenced in it. I used my own judgment. It is not to be said, because I voted for the orange all the time, that I was always to vote for them.

59,990. We generally suspect some reason had arisen for the change ?—I had no interest in getting money, that I am confident of.

59,991. Perhaps you might have thought your situation was in some danger if you had not ?—No, I should not, because it is my own property.

59,992. Your employment ?—No ; I never studied my employment whatever.

59,993. We are told you got some money, is it true or not ?—I never got a farthing at any election.

59,994. Were you canvassed by the orange party ?—Yes.

59,995. Did they not tell you you had always voted orange, and ask if you should vote again ?—I had Mr. Clay and Lord Goderich call on me.

James Marshall.

26th July 1853.

59,996. Did you not tell Mr. Clay you had voted for him twice before, and would vote for him again?—I told them I got an anonymous letter, but what it meant I did not know—whether I meant to have voted for them—I got an anonymous letter from one party.

59,997. Was it the letter that made you vote blue?—I do not know that it was the letter; I had made up my mind to vote blue.

59,998. What did the anonymous letter say to you?—I cannot tell what it said; I made away with the letter.

59,999. It promised you some money?—No. I can tell you a part of it, but I cannot tell you the whole.

60,000. Tell us the whole?—In the letter it said that they hoped the orange party would take all their custom away from me.

60,001 If you voted for them?—It did not say what for, neither for them nor against them.

60,002. Do I understand you this, that you voted orange twice before, and then the orange people say "If you do it again you will lose our custom"?—I do not know what they meant by it; that is what the letter expressed—the latter part of it.

60,003. Was there anything about money in it?—No.

60,004. Putting your name down?—No.

60,005. Did the letter say anything about that you ought to vote for the people who employed you?—No, it did not.

William Martin.

WILLIAM MARTIN sworn, and examined.

60,006. What is your business?—A house and sign painter.

60,007. Where do you live?—62, Francis Street.

60,008. What rent do you pay?—Nine guineas.

60,009. Are you a freeman?—Yes.

60,010. How long have you been a freeman?—From 1839.

60,011. Was your freedom taken up by the orange party?—I do not know who it was taken up by; I never knew.

60,012. I see your freedom taken up and paid for by Mr. Clay; is that so?—I am not aware of it.

60,013. You did not pay for it yourself?—No.

60,014. Thistleton has told us that he did. You do not know that, do you? It has been stated, and I have got a list of those whose freedoms were paid for by Mr. Clay?—I do not believe that Mr. Clay ever paid for it. I do not believe Mr. Clay's name was ever mentioned or heard of when it was taken up.

60,015. You did not pay for it yourself?—No.

60,016. Who did?—I do not know. I never knew. I never was told who paid for it.

60,017. Then how can you say Mr. Clay did not, when the gentleman has been here, who says he got the money from Mr. Clay for the purpose?—Of course Mr. Clay at that time had not been heard of in this borough as a candidate.

60,018. You did not pay for it yourself?—If you will allow me I will tell you my motive for thinking that Mr. Clay did not pay for it.

60,019. We will hear you?—I think it was Mr. Thistleton called upon me some time in 1839, and told me if I would go down to the Mansion House on a certain day, that they had my name along with 200 or 300 others; that they would have their freedoms taken up free of any expense. I said well, I have applied for it some years before this, and they have refused it through the register which I got, and they said it was an incorrect register. I was not of age, and when afterwards I applied for it, they wanted to fine me 30*s*. I said I never would take it up; I did not care about taking it up. Thistleton came and told me I might have it taken up. I then went on those grounds, that I would not pay a farthing for it. I did not care about having it taken up, as they had put me off at a former period.

60,020. That does not show that Thistleton had not had the money for the purpose, and that he paid for your freedom with it?—Not on the day my freedom was taken up.

Thomas Wilde.

THOMAS WILDE recalled, and examined.

60,021. Do you know anything about what this witness states?—He is one of those who came under my notice. I know he signed the document for Clay and Thompson at the time, and I know further that I was very much vexed with him that he should vote for the blues after he had got Mr. Clay's money.

60,022. Is he the person whose freedom was taken up by Mr. Clay?—His name is returned so, and so it appears from an examination of this book.

WILLIAM MARTIN recalled, and examined.

William Martin

26th July 1853.

60,023. You understand that Mr. Wilde says you signed the paper, and undertook to vote for Mr. Clay, when your freedom was taken up?—No, Sir. On the day my freedom was taken up I was told I might go away for an hour and come back again, and then I might receive my burgess oath. I was taken into a room; we were called up one after the other. When I went in there was a paper lying on the table, and I was told I was to sign that before I could take my burgess oath. I signed the paper; I did not know what it contained at all afterwards; it was a trepan.

60,024. Now we will try it this way, whether you were trepanned or not?—The paper stated the party was to poll for Mr. Jalland and Colonel Thompson, and another gentleman who should be brought forward at some convenient season. That I did not know till some time afterwards.

60,025. You knew the paper contained a promise to vote for somebody?—No; not when I signed it.

60,026. When did you find it out?—Some days afterwards I was told of it.

60,027. When you found out some days afterwards that it did, did you pay the money back your freedom had cost?—No; I did not know who to pay it to.

60,028. You did not know where Thistleton was?—Certainly; I knew where he was.

60,029. Mr. Wilde was present, and you might have asked him to pay the money back; did you not?—No; I never had any further conversation, I was so disgusted with the system.

60,030. Did you ask anybody who you were to pay the money back to?—No.

60,031. Who did you vote for in 1841?—Hanmer and James.

60,032. Did you get any money?—I think about three months probably after the election I was told by a person named Conkerton to call and receive it, and when I went I received a sovereign as a present in Medlay Street.

60,033. Was Conkerton one of the agents for the blue party at the election of 1841?—I am not certain whether he was or not; he might.

60,034. What is your opinion?—That it is probable he might; I do not know.

60,035. Have you the least doubt about it?—Not any whatever.

60,036. You did call upon him, and he gave you something?—I called at his house about seven o'clock in the evening, and there was a person there who gave me a sovereign.

60,037. Who was that person?—I did not know; I should not know him if I saw him; he was a perfect stranger to me.

60,038. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Clay and Baines.

60,039. What did you get then?—Nothing.

60,040. Not from either of the candidates?—No.

60,041. From either of the committees or canvassers?—No.

60,042. In 1852 who did you vote for; when Moore and Butler and Clay and Lord Goderich came down, you voted for Moore and Butler?—Yes.

60,043. How much did you get the last time?—About a month after the election a party called upon me, and said he had brought me a present for what work I had done.

60,044. How much?—Three sovereigns.

60,045. How much did you get paid before?—Not anything.

60,046. As a present for what you had done, was it?—For what work I had done.

60,047. You do not know what it was for?—Not further than what they said; it was for work that I had done. I was not aware I was going to be paid for the little work I had done.

60,048. At the election?—Yes.

60,049. You had been very ill?—I was very ill, but I assisted on the morning of the polling day.

60,050. The work you did was for the blues?—I never received any money with any such understanding, nor did I have any understanding with any of the parties.

60,051. As to the work that you did, did you do anything for the blues but vote for them?—I attended the committee room as much as I could daily for a week previous to the election, upwards of a week.

60,052. As much as your health would permit?—Yes.

60,053. How much was that?—Sometimes I was there probably for two hours, or three hours, sometimes it may be four hours in a day; sometimes I was not there at all until the after part of the day, five or six o'clock.

60,054. What did you do when you were there? attend on the committee?—I did anything that they requested me to do, in directing voting papers, and anything of that sort.

60,055. Who paid you the 3*l.*?—A young man; I think it was Charles Brown.

60,056. Where were you paid?—He brought it to my own house.

60,057. Where does he live?—He lives somewhere on the Barmston Drain, I think. It is generally called Cottingham Terrace.

60,058. Was the place where you did attend when you were able to go to the com-

William Martin.

26th July 1853.

mittee room, in West Sculcoates?—Yes; at the corner of Saville Street, Mr. Stuart's, the tobacconist.

60,059. Did you make any payment for the blue party in West Sculcoates?—No.

60,060. You did not do any job of that sort?—No.

60,061. Did you have any money to make payments with?—No; not a farthing.

Thomas Newlove.

THOMAS NEWLOVE sworn, and examined.

60,062. What is your business?—A grocer.

60,063. Where do you live?—No. 3, Neptune Street.

60,064. What rent do you pay?—£10.

60,065. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder?—Four years.

60,066 Are you a freeman?—No.

60,067. Who did you vote for the last election?—Moore and Butler.

60,068. Do you remember before the election you were rather in want of some pigs?—No; I was not.

60,069. Were you not?—No.

60,070. Did not Dr. Bell promise you some pigs?—No; I had some of my own.

60,071. Tell us all about it?—They were my own pigs.

60,072. What were your own pigs?—I have had pigs for these six or seven years.

60,073. There was a particular litter that you got money to buy from some one?—No.

60,074. Who gave you the money to buy those pigs?—No one; I bought the pig when she was in young, and kept her till she had pigs.

60,075. Who gave you the money to buy the sow?—No one; I had to work for it myself.

60,076. Do you not remember saying whichever party would find the money should have your vote?—No.

60,077. For a pig, or some pigs?—No.

60,078. How came you to tell about the pigs?—I cannot tell you.

60,079. Do you not know what I allude to? Have you not heard it before?—I saw it in the newspapers.

60,080. Was that the first you heard of it?—Yes.

60,081. Did Mr. Bell canvass you?—No.

60,082. Did you get anything for your vote?—No.

60,083. Were you promised anything?—No.

60,084. Do you remember being canvassed by the orange party, and saying you would vote for them?—No, Sir; I never promised any of them.

60,085. Did they not canvass you for your vote?—I believe they did, about three weeks before the election. I do not know who it was that came; some of them came; I did not know who they were.

60,086. Did you not give them to understand you were rather inclined that way?—No.

60,087. Did you tell them they might set your name down?—No.

60,088. Did they ask you to do so?—Most likely they would ask me; if they had, it would be of no use.

60,089. Did you not say they might do as they liked?—No.

G. B. Newton.

GEORGE BEEFORTH NEWTON sworn, and examined.

60,090. What is your business?—A grocer, I think you must call me. I might give myself another calling. You cannot give me more than one calling, so say a grocer.

60,091. Where do you live?—No. 10, Worship Street.

60,092. What rent do you pay?—£16.

60,093. How long have you been entitled to vote as a householder?—Perhaps ten years. I cannot tell exactly. I think about that time; ten years.

60,094. Are you a freeman?—I am a burgess.

60,095. How long have you been free?—I think since 1835. I am not quite certain.

60,096. Who did you vote for in 1841?—Which election was that?

60,097. Hanmer and James, and Clay and Thompson?—I voted for Hanmer and James.

60,098. Had you anything to do with the arrangements of the election?—Not that time.

60,099. Did you either give or pay any money?—No.

60,100. After the election, did you give or pay any money?—No, never gave or paid any money.

60,101. Were you present when any money was paid?—No; I never took an active part in the election since—you are not inquiring prior to that, so it is of no use.

60,102. Since when?—Since Wilberforce and James were returned.

G. B. Newton.

26th July 1853.

60,103. Who did you vote for in 1847?—I am not certain whether I voted at all that election. If I voted, I should vote for Brown and Baines, or Baines alone.

60,104. Do you know whether you did or not?—I am not certain whether I did or not, that election. I never thought it worth thinking about; not elections.

60,105. You voted for Baines and Brown?—I thought I should have voted that way, if I voted at all.

60,106. Did you pay or receive any money then?—No.

60,107. Were you present when any was paid?—No.

60,108. Were you a member of any committee?—No, not one.

60,109. Were you in 1841?—No, never since Wilberforce and James.

60,110. Who did you vote for last year?—Moore and Butler.

60,111. What part did you take in the election then?—Not any part, except I might ask for a vote; several I dare say I did, and should do, but I was not a member of any committee.

60,112. You canvassed for Moore and Butler?—Partially.

60,113. Did you meet with many persons who refused to promise?—Oh, I have met with individuals, but I was not employed.

60,114. I ask you whether you did meet with them?—I have met with parties that would not promise, but it was very few I had to do with.

60,115. Did you refer any of them to any committee to have their names set down?—I went to one committee, to try to get a man's name set down; that was at a house in Worship Street.

60,116. What was the name?—Watson.

60,117. What was his Christian name?—I do not know but it was Thomas, John, or William.

60,118. Was his name set down?—No, they would not set the name down.

60,119. Why not?—I cannot give you a reason; I do not remember the reason now.

60,120. What did you say?—I cannot explain exactly. I think I should say this, most likely: if he got his name set down, they might look on him as being a voter. I cannot tell the reason, not expecting to be asked.

60,121. Where does Watson live?—Kelsey Buildings. He is a tenant of mine.

60,122. Where does he live?—Kelsey Buildings, North Street.

60,123. You canvassed him; did you tell him you would try to get him set down?—I think I should.

60,124. Have you any doubt about it that you did?—Which way?

60,125. That you did say you would have his name set down?—I should not have said I should have his name set down; I should most likely tell him I should try to get him set down, because he had always been on the orange side.

60,126. You told him you would try and have his name set down?—I should not tell him I would have his name set down. I did not tell him I would have his name set down. I could not do that. I told him I should try.

60,127. You did try?—I did, and failed.

60,128. What did they say to you when they refused?—I am sure I cannot tell you. I do not remember anything about it, because I am not of his way of thinking.

60,129. You stated to the committee, if they put Watson's name down, probably he would vote for them?—They did not put him down.

60,130. Why not?—I cannot say. I had nothing to do with them. I only thought, if I could get his vote, I should serve the cause.

60,131. His name was set down by the blue party?—I was not aware of it.

60,132. Did they say they would not set his name down?—I think they said this: I remember now that they said they had so many, that they could not pretend to set any more down. I think that is the answer they gave me, and so I never tried them again.

60,133. Did they say they had so many applicants that they could not set them all down?—They had so many applicants they could not set them all down.

60,134. Was it this: they had so many applicants that they could not employ them?—It might be.

60,135. That is a very different thing?—I am bound to give every word; of course I cannot remember all.

60,136. What do you think, taxing your memory: was it refusing to set him down altogether, or merely that they would not employ him?—No; I cannot say really anything about it.

60,137. You cannot say which; your memory is not clear about it?—It is not clear about either, therefore I should not like to say anything. I do not remember anything further.

60,138. Did they say that they had so many set down that they could not employ them; but they would employ him if they should want him afterwards?—I cannot tell you that.

60,139. Will you say they did not?—No; I will not say anything about it.

60,140. Did you see him afterwards before the election?—I do not think I did.

60,141. Do you know that Watson is a man who has been employed by the blues?—I do not know that ever he has been employed by the blues.

60,142. You said he was orange the last time?—I think I have heard he was orange.

G. B. Newton.

26th July 1853.

60,143. Your belief was he was orange?—Yes, I believe so.

60,144. Did you try to get anybody else's name set down?—I do not remember that I did.

60,145. What is Watson's Christian name?—I do not know whether it is John or Thomas.

60,146. Thomas, was it?—It may be.

60,147. Did you try to get any other names set down?—I think not.

60,148. Did you send any persons to any of the committee rooms to have their names set down?—I do not remember doing anything of the sort either.

60,149. Did you pay any money to anybody?—Not a farthing piece.

60,150. At the committee room?—No; I had nothing to do with any committee room.

60,151. Did you get any applications for committee rooms attended to?—No; I do not remember ever being applied to, to attend any committee room.

60,152. I mean sham committee rooms?—I took no active part in the election at all; I had nothing to do with it; I merely tendered my vote, and I did nothing further than what I have told you already.

Thomas Petch.

THOMAS PETCH sworn, and examined.

60,153. What is your business?—A lathrender.

60,154. Where do you live or carry on your business?—In the Groves.

60,155. What rent do you pay?—30*s.* a year for the place I have.

60,156. For a house?—No, a shop; I am a freeman.

60,157. How long have you been a freeman?—I think I took my freedom up in 1820.

60,158. Who did you vote for in 1841?—Hanmer and James, in 1841.

60,159. Did you get any money then?—Yes.

60,160. How much?—I think 1*l.*

60,161. Was it paid after the election?—After the election.

60,162. How soon after?—About a week or so.

60,163. Who paid it?—I am sure I cannot tell you; Mr. Hammond.

60,164. Was Mr. Hammond very active?—Very active; yes, he took an active part.

60,165. Was he one of the committee for Hanmer and James?—I think he was.

60,166. Where were you paid?—At Andrew Hare's.

60,167. Was it at a committee room?—Yes.

60,168. For Hanmer and James?—Yes.

60,169. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Baines and Brown.

60,170. How much did you get then, if anything?—£1.

60,171. Was it for Mr. Brown's vote?—For both.

60,172. Who paid it?—Mr. Hammond.

60,173. Where?—In Witham.

60,174. Whereabouts; in the committee room?—No; I believe it was at a blacksmith's shop.

60,175. Was it paid through a window?—No; through a door.

60,176. Are you sure you are speaking of 1847?—Yes.

60,177. How do you know it was Mr. Hammond?—He was there.

60,178. You saw him there?—Yes.

60,179. You got the wrong side of the door?—No; I got the right side of the door.

60,180. Who else did you see there?—I cannot say particularly who I saw there; there were so many, the room was crowded.

60,181. Crowded with people waiting to be paid?—All waiting to get paid.

60,182. Who did you see paying besides Mr. Hammond?—I am sure I cannot say there was anybody else that took an active part.

60,183. Last year who did you vote for, Moore and Butler?—Yes.

60,184. How much did you get then for your vote; 15*s.* we are told?—I was set down as a runner.

60,185. That is pretty much the same thing, is it not?—Yes; I received 44*s.* I believe in all.

60,186. How much did you get before you voted, and how much after?—The first week I was on three days as a runner, and I received 7*s.* 6*d.*; they paid me a day short; the next day I received 1*l.* 0*s.* 6*d.*; the week following I received 17*s.*

60,187. They kept you one day short to take care of the vote?—It was a mistake, I suppose, so Mr. Todd told me.

60,188. To take care of the vote they tell us. The first week was, how much?—7*s.*

60,189. Was it after the election or before?—After the election, 17*s.*

60,190. Who paid it?—Mr. Todd.

60,191. Are you sure, because he has told us he paid nobody; he went away the night of the election?—He paid before he went away.

60,192. He went off to York Castle?—I got paid; he paid me in the committee room before I went, I believe; he went away in fact the week following.

Thomas Petch.

26th July 1853.

60,193. Did you get any money from Mr. Ward?—No.

60,194. Did anybody pay you besides Mr. Todd?—No; that is all I got. I never got any more at any time.

60,195. Were they all paid then by Mr. Todd?—Yes.

60,196. Who set your names down?—Stephen West, I believe.

60,197. Who told you to go and get your name set down?—Peacock came 60,198. What Peacock is that?—Benjamin Peacock.

60,199. Did Mr. West canvass you, and send you to have your name set down?—No; he never did.

60,200. Did he ever speak to you about it?—No.

60,201. Did you ever see him upon the subject of the election?—No; I never had an interview with him before respecting the election.

60,202. Do you mean Charles Hammond paid you?—Thomas Hammond.

60,203. Who paid you in 1847, that is?—Who paid me both times; 1841 and 1847 and all.

C. Popplewell.

CHARLES POPPLEWELL sworn, and examined.

60,204. What is your business?—A tailor.

60,205. Where do you live, or carry on business?—No. 18, Kingston Street.

60,206. Wt rent do you pay?—£17.

60,207. How long have you been qualified as a householder?—About twelve years.

60,208. Are you also a freeman?—No.

60,209. Did you vote in 1841?—No, I did not.

60,210. Not entitled?—I think not.

60,211. Who did you vote for in 1847?—Baines and Clay, I believe.

60,212. Had you anything to do with that election?—No, nothing.

60,213. Neither paid nor received money?—No.

60,214. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

60,215. Or present when any money was paid or received?—No.

60,216. Who did you vote for last year?—Clay and Goderich.

60,217. Do you know anything of the proceedings of the election?—No; not particularly.

60,218. We are told you can let us into some secrets?—I do not know any secrets.

60,219. Can you tell us any of the goings on of the blues?—No.

60,220. Were you not amongst them the night of the election?—No.

60,221. Did you not go to some of the blue houses?—I was in what they call a blue house; I used to frequent the house, a sort of committee room for the blues previous to the election.

60,222. What house was it?—It was one of a person of the name of Mawer, I think; he calls it the Commercial Inn.

60,223. Did you see blue voters there?—Those I saw I believe were voters.

60,224. Tell us all you heard?—I only saw some of them; I suppose they would be voters, I did not ask them.

60,225. We have been told you can give us some information respecting what you saw or heard?—I cannot give any information I know particularly of any importance.

60,226. We will judge of the importance of it if you will tell us all you know?—I do not know anything particular.

60,227. You said just now you knew nothing important; then that you knew nothing particular. Tell us what you do know and we can understand whether it is important?—I never saw any money pass.

60,228. Did you hear parties talking about intending to get money and expecting it?—Not in that house.

60,229. Anywhere?—Parties spoke to me in the street about some money.

60,230. Who was it?—A person named Nicholson.

60,231. William Henry Nicholson?—I do not know his name.

60,232. What did he tell you?—He asked me if I wanted my name put down, something like that, in the list he had.

60,233. Did you understand how many he had on the list?—He said he had a good many on the list.

60,234. A hundred?—Perhaps he might.

60,235. Do you believe he had down there 100?—I do not know the exact amount.

60,236. You have heard of the proceeding, that he assembled an immense gang at the Pilot Boy?—Yes; I have heard of that.

60,237. He asked you if you would not have your name set down?—Yes.

60,238. Did he say he was securing people for the purpose of being paid?—Yes.

60,239. Paid for their votes for the blue party?—I did not understand.

60,240. Tell us all he said?—He said all those there he would get 4*l.* apiece for. I said it was rather an odd sum; better make it 5*l.*, and then there would be a five pound note.

C. Popplewell.

26th July 1853.

60,241. Did you understand he was going then for the blue party?—Yes.

60,242. What did he say to that?—He said he would see me after about it.

60,243. Did he write your name down?—I did not tell him to do so.

60,244. You did not tell him?—Not at that time.

60,245. He said he would see about it?—Yes.

60,246. Did you see him after?—Yes.

